

cab·bage /ˈkæbɪdʒ/ noun, pl -bag·es

1 [count, noncount] : a leafy vegetable that has several forms; especially : one that grows in a tight round shape (called a head) — see color picture on page C4
2 [count] Brit, informal : VEGETABLE 2

cab·bie or cab·by /ˈkæbi/ noun, pl -bies [count] informal : CABDRIVER

cab·driv·er /ˈkæb,draɪvə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who drives a taxi

cab·in /ˈkæbən/ noun, pl -ins [count]

1 : a small, simple house made of wood • a cabin in the woods • a log cabin [=a cabin made of logs]
2 a : a room that you can sleep in on a ship or boat b : the part of an airplane in which the passengers sit • Don't unbuckle your seat belt until the flight attendant says it is safe to move around the cabin.

cabin cruiser noun, pl ~ -er [count] : CRUISER 3

cab·i·net /ˈkæbnɪt/ noun, pl -nets [count]

1 : a piece of furniture that is used for storing things and usually has doors and shelves • a kitchen/medicine cabinet — see also FILE CABINET
2 or Cabinet : a group of people who give advice to the leader of a government • the British cabinet • a member of the President's Cabinet ♦ In British English, cabinet in this sense is sometimes used with a plural verb. • The Cabinet are meeting now.

cab·i·net·mak·er /ˈkæbnɪt,meɪkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who makes fine wooden furniture
— cab·i·net·mak·ing /ˈkæbnɪt,meɪkɪŋ/ noun [noncount]

cabin fever noun [noncount] : an unhappy and impatient feeling that comes from being indoors for too long • She suffered from cabin fever during the long winter. • a bad case of cabin fever

1 cable /ˈkeɪbəl/ noun, pl ca·bles

1 a : a thick, strong rope made of wires that are twisted together [count] The bridge is held up by cables. [noncount] Their company supplied cable for the project. b [count] : a wire that moves a part in a machine • a brake cable
2 : a group of wires, glass fibers, etc., covered in plastic or rubber and used to carry electricity or electrical signals [count] battery cables • computer cables • a fiber-optic cable [noncount] We need more cable to hook up the computers.
3 [count] : a message sent by telegraph : TELEGRAM
4 [noncount] : CABLE TELEVISION • Does our hotel room have cable? • The game will be shown on cable. • cable news • the big cable networks/companies • a cable box [=a box that sends television signals from a cable into the television]

2 cable verb cables; ca·bled; ca·bling : to send a message by telegraph : TELEGRAPH [+ obj] She cabled the news to the United States. • She cabled her parents for money. [no obj] The soldiers cabled back to headquarters.

cable car noun, pl ~ cars [count]

1 : a vehicle that hangs in the air from a cable that pulls it up and down mountains • The skiers took a cable car to the top of the mountain.
2 : a vehicle that is pulled along tracks by a cable • Tourists packed the cable cars on the hilly streets of San Francisco.

cable modem noun, pl ~ -dems [count] : a device that connects a computer to a network (such as the Internet) through the same kind of cable used for cable television cable television noun [noncount] : a system in which television signals are sent through cables rather than through the air — called also cable, cable TV

ca·boo·dle /kəˈbuːdl/ noun

the whole (kit and) caboodle US, informal : EVERYTHING • Her father owned 5 houses and 12 cars, and when he died he left her the whole caboodle. • You can buy one of the books every month, or buy the whole kit and caboodle at the same time.

ca·boose /kəˈbuːs/ noun, pl -boos·es [count] US : a part of a train that is attached at the back end and is used by people who work on the train — called also (Brit) guard's van

ca·cao /kəˈkaʊ/ noun [noncount] : the dried seeds of a tropical tree that are used to make cocoa and chocolate • a farmer who grows cacao • a cacao-producing region — often used before another noun • cacao seeds/beans [= (more commonly) cocoa beans] • a cacao tree

cache /ˈkæʃ/ noun, pl cach·es [count]

1 : a group of things that have been hidden in a secret place because they are illegal or have been stolen • a weapons cache used by terrorists • Police found a cache of stolen cars in the woods.

2 technical : a part of a computer's memory where information is kept so that the computer can find it very quickly • Her new laptop has one megabyte of cache. — called also cache memory

ca·chet /ˌkæˈʃeɪ/ noun — used to say that someone or something is liked or respected by people [noncount] a movie director with great artistic cachet • social cachet [singular] His research in Antarctica gave him a certain cachet among other scientists.

cack·hand·ed /ˈkæk,hændəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] Brit, informal : clumsy or awkward • a cack-handed [=ham-handed] attempt at being funny

cack·le /ˈkækəl/ verb cack·les; cack·led; cack·ling [no obj]

1 of chickens, geese, etc. : to make loud, unpleasant sounds • The hens were cackling in the henhouse. • Geese cackled by the pond in the park.

2 : to laugh noisily • I could hear my aunts cackling in the next room.

— cackle noun, pl cackles [count] • a cackle of laughter/delight • the cackle of a chicken

ca·coph·o·ny /kəˈkɑːfəni/ noun [singular] : unpleasant loud sounds • The sounds of barking dogs and sirens added to the cacophony on the streets. — usually + of • a cacophony of voices

— ca·coph·o·nous /kəˈkɑːfənəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a cacophonous birthday party

cac·tus /ˈkæktəs/ noun, pl cac·ti /ˈkæk,tai/ or cac·tus·es also US cactus [count] : a plant that lives in the desert and that has many sharp points (called spines) — see color picture on page C6 cad /ˈkæd/ noun, pl cads [count] old-fashioned : a rude and selfish man • He is a cad, not a gentleman.

— cad·dish /ˈkædɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] • caddish behavior • her caddish husband

ca·dav·er /kəˈdævə/ noun, pl -ers [count] formal : a dead body : CORPSE

ca·dav·er·ous /kəˈdævərəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : looking very thin and pale : resembling a corpse • A tall, cadaverous man led us into the library. • We saw a cadaverous [=emaciated] heroin addict sitting in the park.

1 cad·die or cad·dy /ˈkædi/ noun, pl -dies [count] : a person who carries a golfer's clubs on the golf course

2 caddie or caddy verb caddies; cad·died; cad·dy·ing [no obj] : to carry a golfer's clubs on the golf course • I cad-died for Mr. Brewer yesterday.

cad·dy /ˈkædi/ noun, pl -dies [count] : a small box or chest • an antique tea caddy [=a small box to keep tea in] ca·dence /ˈkeɪdn̩s/ noun, pl -denc·es

1 : a regular beat or rhythm [count] the steady cadence of the drums [noncount] Oars moved back and forth in smooth cadence.

2 [count] : the way a person's voice changes by gently rising and falling while he or she is speaking • He speaks with a soft Southern cadence.

3 [count] : an ending part of a piece of music

ca·den·za /kəˈdenzə/ noun, pl -zas [count] : a difficult part of a piece of classical music that is performed by only one person near the end of the piece

ca·det /kəˈdet/ noun, pl -dets [count] : a student at a military school who is preparing to be an officer • a naval cadet — see also SPACE CADET cadge /ˈkædʒ/ verb cadg·es; cadged; cadg·ing [+ obj] : to persuade someone to give you (something) for free • He spent his time trying to cadge [=beg, bum, scrounge] drinks from the customers. • She cadged money from her sister.

cad·mi·um /ˈkædmijəm/ noun [noncount] : a bluish-white metal that is used especially in protective coatings and in batteries

caesarean, caesarean section variant spellings of CE-SAREAN, CESAREAN SECTION

ca·fé also ca·fe /kæˈfeɪ, Brit ˈkæ,feɪ/ noun, pl -fés also -fes [count] : a small restaurant where you can get simple meals and drinks (such as coffee)

sidewalk café or Brit pavement café : a café that has tables and chairs outside near the street

caf·e·te·ria /ˌkæfəˈtɪriə/ noun, pl -rias [count] : a place (such as a restaurant or a room in a school) where people get food at a counter and carry it to a table for eating • a school cafeteria

caff /ˈkæf/ noun, pl caffs [count] Brit, informal : CAFÉ

caf-fein-at-ed /'kæfə,nertəd/ adj : containing caffeine • caffeinated beverages — opposite DECAFFEINATED

caf-feine /kæ'fi:n, Brit 'kæ,fi:n/ noun [noncount] : a substance that is found especially in coffee and tea and that makes you feel more awake • Her doctor told her to avoid caffeine. • caffeine-free [=decaffeinated] coffee/soda caf-fe lat-te /'kɑ:fər'lɑ:tər, Brit 'kæfər'lætər/ noun, pl ~-tes [count] : a drink that is made by mixing a type of strong coffee (called espresso) with hot milk — called also latte

caf-tan or kaf-tan /'kæf,tæn/ noun, pl -tans [count] : a long piece of clothing with long sleeves that is worn by men in countries that are just east of the Mediterranean Sea cage /'keɪdʒ/ noun, pl cag-es [count] : a box made of wire or metal bars in which people keep animals or birds • a hamster/monkey/parrot cage — see also BIRDCAGE, RIB CAGE rattle someone's cage informal : to make someone feel worried or upset • Don't worry about what he said. He was just trying to rattle your cage.

caged /'keɪdʒd/ adj : kept in a cage • a caged lion • He felt like a caged animal at his old job.

ca-gey also ca-gy /'keɪdʒi/ adj ca-gi-er; -est

1 : not willing to say everything that you know about something — often + about • Officials are cagey about saying who met with the mayor.

2 : careful to avoid being trapped or tricked • a cagey [=crafty] lawyer • cagey [=savvy] consumers • a cagey old farmer

3 : very clever • a cagey prisoner • a cagey move

— ca-gi-ly /'keɪdʒəli/ adv — cag-i-ness noun [noncount]

ca-hoots /kə'hu:ts/ noun

in cahoots informal : working together or making plans together in secret — usually + with • He was robbed by a man who was in cahoots with the bartender.

Cain see raise Cain at ¹RAISE

cairn /'keən/ noun, pl cairns [count] : a pile of stones that marks a place (such as the place where someone is buried or a battle took place) or that shows the direction of a trail

ca-jole /kə'dʒoʊl/ verb -joles; -joled; -jol-ing [+ obj] : to persuade someone to do something or to give you something by making promises or saying nice things — often + into • She had to cajole [=coax] her husband into going with her. • My roommate cajoled me into lending him money for pizza. — often + from • My roommate cajoled [=wheedled] money from me. • The reporter cajoled information from the hospital staff.

¹Ca-jun /'keɪdʒən/ noun, pl -juns [count] : a person from Louisiana whose ancestors were French Canadian

²Cajun adj

1 : made by or relating to the Cajuns • Cajun music • Cajun culture

2 : prepared in a cooking style developed by the Cajuns and usually including spicy seasonings • Cajun chicken • Cajun food/cuisine

¹cake /'keɪk/ noun, pl cakes

1 : a sweet baked food made from a mixture of flour, sugar, and other ingredients (such as eggs and butter) [count] I made/baked three cakes for the party. • He blew out the candles on his birthday cake. • a wedding cake [noncount] a slice/piece of chocolate cake — often used before another noun • (US) a cake pan = (Brit) a cake tin • cake mix [=a combination of all the dry ingredients needed to make a cake] — see picture at BAKING; see also FRUITCAKE, POUND CAKE, SPONGE CAKE, TEA CAKE, UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

2 [count] : a mixture of food that has been shaped into a ball or a flat round shape and baked or fried • crab/clam/rice cakes • potato cakes — see also FISH CAKE, PANCAKE

3 [count] : something that is shaped like a rectangular block • a cake of soap = a soap cake

4 [noncount] US, informal : something that is very easy to do • That test was cake. — see also PIECE OF CAKE

a slice of the cake Brit : a portion or share of something • My business partner agreed to split the profits equally, but I know he wanted a bigger slice of the cake. [=piece/slice/share of the pie] have your cake and eat it too (US) or Brit have your cake and eat it : to have or enjoy the good parts of something without having or dealing with the bad parts • They seem to think they can have their cake and eat it too by having excellent schools for their son without paying high taxes.

icing on the cake see ICING

take the cake chiefly US : to win the prize in a contest — used to describe something that is extremely surprising, foolish, annoying, etc. • You've done some silly things, but this one really takes the cake! [= (Brit) takes the biscuit] [=this is the silliest thing you have ever done]

²cake verb cakes; caked; cak-ing

1 [+ obj] : to cover something with an outer layer that becomes hard as it dries — usually used as (be) caked • Mud was caked all over the sides of his truck. = The sides of his truck were caked [=covered] in/with mud.

2 [no obj] : to become dry and hard • The mud had caked on his boots.

cake-hole /'keɪk,həʊl/ noun, pl -holes [count] Brit, informal : someone's mouth • Shut your cakehole! [= (US) pie hole]

cake-walk /'keɪk,wɑ:k/ noun [singular]

1 : an easy contest to win • She expected the election to be a cakewalk.

2 : an easy task : PIECE OF CAKE • Reducing the state budget is not going to be a cakewalk.

cal-a-mine /'kælə,məɪn/ noun [noncount] : a pink liquid that is used to treat skin that is sore, itchy, sunburned, etc. — called also calamine lotion

ca-lam-i-tous /kə'læmətəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : causing great harm or suffering : DISASTROUS • a calamitous oil spill • the calamitous state of the nation's economy

ca-lam-i-ty /kə'læməti/ noun, pl -ties formal : an event that causes great harm and suffering : DISASTER [count] floods, earthquakes, and other calamities • an economic calamity [noncount] He predicted calamity for the economy.

cal-ci-um /'kælsijəm/ noun [noncount] : a substance that is found in most plants and animals and that is especially important in people for strong healthy bones • Her doctor said she should eat more foods that are high in calcium, such as milk and cheese.

cal-cu-late /'kælkjə,leɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing [+ obj]

1 : to find (a number, answer, etc.) by using mathematical processes • calculate the volume of a cylinder • calculate mass/area/distance/speed • I need to calculate how long it will take me to drive to Chicago. • We calculated the cost of new carpeting for the whole house.

2 : to get a general idea about the value, size, or cost of (something) : ESTIMATE • We need to calculate our chances of success before we invest more money in the business.

cal-cu-lat-ed /'kælkjə,leɪtəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : carefully planned for a particular and often improper purpose • The TV ads were a calculated [=deliberate] attempt to deceive voters. ♦ A calculated risk is one that is accepted after careful thought about the possible good and bad results of a particular action. • The army took a calculated risk when it attacked the enemy's capital without using planes.

cal-cu-lat-ing /'kælkjə,leɪtɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : carefully thinking about and planning actions for selfish or improper reasons • a cold and calculating [=scheming] criminal cal-cu-la-tion /'kælkjə'leɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : a process or result of calculating something [count] According to experts' calculations, that star will explode within two billion years. • The computer can do millions of calculations each second. [noncount] Careful calculation is required to determine the required amount of fuel.

2 : careful thought and planning that is done usually for selfish reasons [count] The book reveals the cold calculations that were behind the government's policies. [noncount] His positions are based on political calculation of what voters want to hear.

cal-cu-la-tor /'kælkjə,leɪtər/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a small electronic device that is used for adding, subtracting, etc. • a pocket calculator [=a calculator that can fit in a shirt pocket] — see picture at OFFICE

cal-cu-lus /'kælkjələs/ noun [noncount] : an advanced branch of mathematics that deals mostly with rates of change and with finding lengths, areas, and volumes

caldron variant spelling of CAULDRON

cal-en-dar /'kæləndər/ noun, pl -dars [count]

1 : a document, chart, etc., that shows the days, weeks, and months of a year • a wall/desk calendar • an appointment/engagement calendar

2 : a list or schedule of events or activities that occur at different times throughout the year • The university's academic calendar runs from September to May.

3 : a particular system for organizing the days of the year by month • the Jewish calendar • the Mayan calendar calendar year noun, pl ~ years [count] : the period of time from January 1 to December 31 — compare FISCAL YEAR

¹calf /'kæf, Brit 'kɑ:f/ noun, pl calves /'kævz, Brit 'kɑ:vz/ [count]

- 1 : a very young cow
- 2 : the young of various other large animals (such as the elephant or whale)
- compare ²CALF

²calf noun, pl calves [count] : the muscular back part of the leg below the knee — see picture at HUMAN — compare ¹CALF

calf-skin /'kæf,skɪn, Brit 'kɑ:f,skɪn/ noun [noncount] : leather made from the skin of a calf • Her boots are made of calf-skin. • calfskin gloves

cal-i-ber (US) or Brit cal-i-bre /'kæləbə/ noun, pl -bers

- 1 [noncount] : level of excellence, skill, etc. • The school will only hire teachers of the highest caliber. [=will only hire the best teachers] • I was impressed by the high caliber of the team's work. • It is exciting to meet a writer of his caliber. [=a writer as good/skillful as he is] • The two colleges are not of the same caliber. [=one of the colleges is better than the other]

- 2 [count] : a measurement of the width of a bullet or a gun barrel • a .22-caliber bullet [=a bullet that is 22 hundredths of an inch in diameter] • a high-caliber bullet

cal-i-brate /'kælə,breɪt/ verb -brates; -brat-ed; -brat-ing [+ obj]

- 1 : to adjust or mark (something, such as a measuring device) so that it can be used in an accurate and exact way • calibrate a thermometer
- 2 : to measure (something) in an exact and precise way • carefully calibrate the dosage of a medicine
- cal-i-bra-tion /,kælə'breɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount]

cal-i-co /'kæli,kou/ noun, pl -coes or -cos

- 1 [noncount] US : a light, printed cotton cloth
- 2 [noncount] Brit : a heavy, plain white cotton cloth
- 3 [count] US : a cat that has white, brown, and black fur — called also calico cat
- calico adj • a calico dress

cal-i-per (US) or Brit cal-li-per /'kæləpə/ noun, pl -pers

- 1 [count] : a tool that has two narrow legs which can be adjusted to measure the thickness or width of something — usually plural • a pair of calipers
- 2 callipers [plural] Brit : metal devices that are worn to support legs that have been weakened by injury or disease • recovered enough to walk without callipers [= (US) braces]

ca-liph or ca-lif /'keɪlɪf/ noun, pl -liphs or -lifs [count] : an important Muslim political and religious leader

cal-is-then-ics (chiefly US) or Brit cal-lis-then-ics /,kæləs'thenɪks/ noun [plural] : physical exercises that are done without special equipment • The players warmed up for the game by doing calisthenics.

— cal-is-then-ic (chiefly US) or Brit cal-lis-then-ic /,kæləs'thenɪk/ adj • calisthenic exercises

¹call /'kɑ:l/ verb calls; called; call-ing

- 1 a always followed by an adverb or preposition : to speak in a loud voice [no obj] He called to passersby for help. • She called up to her husband, who was at the top of the stairs. • Her husband called back down to her. • She saw her friends across the street and called over/across to them. [+ obj] He called her name in his sleep. — see also CALL OUT 1 (below)
- b [+ obj] : to announce or read (something) in a loud voice • call the roll • call (off) a row of figures • They're calling [= announcing] our flight: it's boarding at gate 57. — see also CALL OUT 1 (below)
- c [no obj] of a bird or animal : to make the sound that is usual for a particular type of bird or animal • The birds were calling as the sun rose.
- 2 : to make a telephone call [no obj] I call once a week to talk to my parents. • Where are you calling from? • May I say who's calling? • Thank you for calling. • Please call back/again later. • She called long-distance. [+ obj] I try to call my parents at least once a week. • She called me long-distance. • I called the office to get some information. • Please call us back/again later. • Don't call us—we'll call you. • In an emergency you should call [= dial] 911. • Call me when you get back from your vacation. — see also CALL 3b (below), CALL IN 1 (below), CALL UP 1 (below)
- 3 [+ obj] a : to tell, order, or ask (someone or something) to come • I called the waiter over (to my table) and asked for the check, and then I called him back to order something else. • My dog comes running when he's called. • She was called to court to testify. • He was called to the office for an interview. • soldiers who have been called to active duty • He's not home because he was called away on business. b : to make a telephone call to tell, order, or ask (someone or something) to come • We had to call an ambulance. • He called a taxi but it still hasn't come. • He called a taxi for me. = He called me a taxi. — see also CALL 2 (above)

4 [+ obj] a : to give a name to (someone or something) • Her parents called [= named] her Katherine after/for her grandmother. • The immigrants settled along the river and called their new town "Brookhaven." b : to talk to or refer to (someone or something) with a specified name • Her name is Katherine but her friends all call her "Kitty." • This part of the city is called "The Old Town." • It's important to call things by their right names. • Human beings belong to a large group of animals called "mammals." • The other children called him (bad) names. [=the other children spoke to him with cruel and insulting words in place of his name] — see also NAME-CALLING c : to regard or think of (someone or something) in a certain way • Some people say he's a good man, but I call him a fool. [=I consider him to be a fool] • She went out in the rain without an umbrella? I call that pretty foolish. • He's not what you would call a generous man. [=he's not a generous man] • Her sense of humor is what you might call subtle. [=she has a subtle sense of humor] • (You can) Call me foolish if you like, but I still think people are basically good. • It costs 99 cents: let's call it an even dollar for simplicity's sake. • You may not agree with him, but he calls them like he sees them! [=he states his opinion in an open, honest, and direct way] • You did me a favor and I did you a favor, so let's call it even.

5 [+ obj] : to give the order for (something, such as a meeting) • call [= convene] a meeting • call an election • The union has threatened to call a strike against the company. • The chairman called a halt to [= stopped] the discussion.

6 [no obj] : to make a brief visit • He called to pay his respects. • We're planning to call [= stop] at a friend's house on the way home. — see also CALL AT (below), CALL FOR 2 (below), CALL IN 2 (below), CALL ON 5 (below)

7 [+ obj] : to say or guess what the result of something will be • Nobody else thought the election would turn out as it did, but he called [= predicted] it exactly right! • You called it! [=you correctly said what would happen] • call the toss of a coin • We flipped a coin; he called heads, and heads it was! • The election is still too close to call. [=the election is too close to say who will win]

8 [+ obj] sports a : to stop or cancel (something, such as a baseball game) because of bad conditions • The game was called on account of rain. b : to make an official ruling or decision about (something, such as a pitched ball or a player's action) • Only the umpire has the right to call balls and strikes. • The pitch was called a strike. [=the umpire said that the pitch was a strike] • The umpire called the runner safe/out. • call a serve in/out • She was called for being offside. [=the official said that she was offside] c American football : to say or decide what kind of play will be used • The quarterback called a running play.

9 poker : to require (a player) to show a hand by making an equal bet [+ obj] I call you. [no obj] I call.

call a spade a spade see SPADE

call at [phrasal verb] call at (a place) of a boat or ship : to stop at (a place) briefly • The ship called at the port.

call down [phrasal verb] call down (something) or call (something) down literary : to pray or ask God to do something to someone • He called down a blessing/curse on the king. [=he prayed that the king would be blessed/cursed] call for [phrasal verb] 1 call for (something) a : to say or demand publicly that something is needed or should be done • The opposition has called for an investigation. • The government has called for [= asked for] calm and restraint. b : to indicate that something is needed or should be done • The plan calls for three windows to be added. • You've won! That calls for a celebration! [=we should celebrate because you've won] c : to require or demand (something) as necessary or proper • The job calls for typing skills. [=you must have typing skills to do the job] • Action is urgently called for [= needed] in order to avert catastrophe! • These new problems call for [= require] further investigation. • His rude behavior was not called for. [=his behavior was uncalled-for/inappropriate] 2 call for (someone or something) : to go to a place to get (someone or something) • I'll call for you (at your house) after dinner.

call forth [phrasal verb] call forth (something) or call (something) forth : to bring (a memory, image, etc.) into the mind • These events call forth [=elicit, evoke] strong feelings.

C

call in [phrasal verb] 1 a : to make a telephone call to a place (such as the place where you work) • She called in sick yesterday. [=she telephoned the place where she works to say that she was sick and would not be coming to work] b : to make a telephone call to a radio or television program • Thousands of people called in (to the show) with questions about the new law. — see also CALL-IN c call (something) in or call in (something) : to deliver (something, such as a message) by making a telephone call • He called in an order for pizza. 2 : to go in somewhere to make a visit — often + on • I called in on an old friend [=I visited an old friend] while I was in New York on business. 3 call (something) in or call in (something) a : to say that something that has been given or sent should be returned • The manufacturer has called in all its defective products. b : to demand payment of (a loan) • The bank has called in the loan. 4 call (someone) in or call in (someone) : to ask for the help or services of (someone) • They may have to call in a mediator to settle the strike. • Rescue workers have been called in to help search for survivors.

call into action see ACTION

call into question also US call into doubt : to make people doubt something • His report calls into question the earlier reports we had. [=his report makes us feel not certain that the earlier reports were true] • This news calls her loyalty into question. [=makes people doubt that she is loyal] call it a day/night : to stop an activity (such as work) for the remainder of the day or night • We've done enough work for now; let's call it a day. • It's getting late. I think we should call it a night.

call it quits see QUITTS

call off [phrasal verb] 1 call off (something) or call (something) off : to stop doing or planning to do (something) • We had to call off [=cancel] our trip. • The police have decided to call the investigation off. [=to stop the investigation] 2 call off (someone or something) or call (someone or something) off : to cause or tell (a person or animal) to stop attacking, chasing, etc. • The dog was barking and growling at me until its owner called it off.

call on/upon [phrasal verb] 1 call on/upon (someone or something) : to ask (someone or something) to do something : to say that someone or something should do something — followed by to + verb • The opposition has called on/upon the governor to resign. [=the opposition has said that the governor should resign] • You may be called upon to do several jobs. • Universities are called upon to produce trained professionals. [=it is the job of universities to produce trained professionals] 2 call on/upon (someone) : to ask for help from (someone) • Is there anyone you can call on in an emergency? 3 call on/upon (something) : to use (something, such as a talent or skill) • She had to call on/upon all her reserves of strength and skill to meet the challenge. 4 call on (someone) : to ask for a response from (someone, such as a student) • I was hoping the teacher wouldn't call on me, because I didn't know the answer. 5 call on (someone) : to make a brief visit to (someone) • I'm planning to call on an old friend after I leave here. 6 call (someone) on (something) US, informal : to directly criticize (someone) for (something, such as bad behavior) • He's incredibly rude, but no one ever calls him on it. [=no one ever tells him that he should stop being so rude]

call out [phrasal verb] 1 call out or call (something) out or call out (something) : to speak in a loud voice • He called out to passersby for help. • He called out in his sleep. : to say (something) in a loud voice • He called out her name in his sleep. • He called out a cry for help. : to announce or read (something) in a loud voice • call out a number 2 call out (someone) or call (someone) out a : to order or tell (a group of people, such as soldiers) to come or go somewhere • The governor has called out troops to help control the riot. • Emergency workers were called out to help with efforts to control the flood. b : to order or tell (workers) to go on strike • Factory workers are expected to be called out on strike if a new contract isn't signed by tomorrow.

call (someone) on the carpet see ¹CARPET

call (something) to order see ¹ORDER

call the shots see ¹SHOT

call the tune see ¹TUNE

call time see ¹TIME

call to account see ¹ACCOUNT

call to mind see ¹MIND

call up [phrasal verb] 1 call (someone) up or call up (someone) chiefly US : to make a telephone call to (someone) • I haven't spoken to her in years, but I called her up last night and we talked for hours. • Call me up when you get back from your vacation. • I called up my doctor and made an appointment. 2 call (something) up or call up (something) a : to bring (something, such as a memory) into the mind • The sound of the ocean called up [=brought back] memories of my childhood. b : to bring (strength, courage, etc.) from within yourself • He will have to call up all his reserves of strength to meet this challenge. c : to get (something) from the memory of a computer and show it on the screen • call up an old document for revision 3 call (someone) up or call up (someone) a : to order or tell (someone) to come or appear • The prisoner was called up before a magistrate. b : to bring (an athlete) to a higher league • a minor-league player who is being called up to the major leagues c : to order (soldiers) to come for active military duty • call up the reserves — see also CALL-UP

call your bluff see ²BLUFF

²call noun, pl calls

1 [count] : an act of using the telephone : an act of calling someone on the telephone • a phone/telephone call • A local call costs less than a long-distance or an international call. • If there are any calls for me during the meeting, say that I'll call back later. • I got a call from my brother last night. • incoming/outgoing calls • "There's someone on the phone for you, sir." "Tell them I can't take their call now [=I can't speak to them on the phone now] but I'll return their call [=I'll call them back] as soon as I can." • Give me a call when you get back from your trip. [=call me when you get back] — see also TOLL CALL, TRUNK CALL, WAKE-UP CALL

2 [count] a : an act of calling with the voice : a loud cry or shout • He gave a call to passersby for help. b : the sound made by an animal or bird • We heard a bird that had a very loud and unusual call. c : an imitation of the sound made by a bird or animal • He's an expert at doing bird calls. d : a device that is used to imitate the sound made by a bird • He has a large collection of duck calls. e : a loud sound or signal made with a musical instrument • a bugle call • the call of a trumpet

3 a [count] : a public request or statement that asks or tells people to do something • The government has issued a call to its supporters to defend it and hopes they will answer/heed its call. • issue a call = put out a call • The campaigners renewed their calls for reform. • Their calls have gone unheeded. • The political party has issued a call to action. — see also CLARION CALL, CURTAIN CALL, call to arms at ²ARM b : a request for something [count] We get many calls for Christmas stories. [noncount] There's not much call for ice cream at this time of year. [=not many people want ice cream at this time of year] • There is very little call for his services during the summer. c [noncount] : a reason for doing something — used in negative statements to criticize someone's behavior • There was no call for your rudeness. = There was no call for you to behave so rudely. [=you were wrong to behave so rudely; your rudeness was uncalled-for]

4 [count] : a brief visit • I made/paid a brief social call on an old friend. = I paid an old friend a brief social call. • The ship made a call at Newport [=the ship stopped briefly at Newport] before proceeding to New Orleans. • The doctor was on a call when her patient came to the office. — see also HOUSE CALL, PORT OF CALL

5 [count] : something that is called or announced • I flipped a coin, and the call was heads.; especially : an announcement telling passengers to get on a plane, train, etc., that will be leaving soon • This is the last call for Flight 139, now boarding at Gate 57. = This is the last call for passengers to board Flight 139 at Gate 57. — see also LAST CALL

6 [count] a : a decision made by an official in a sports contest • The runner was called out at home plate, and the manager came out to argue about the call. b chiefly US : a decision • "Should we stay or go?" "I don't know. It's a tough call (to make)." • I'll let you make the call. • "How should we deal with this problem?" "I don't know: it's your call." [=you can decide how we should deal with this problem] — see also CLOSE CALL, JUDGMENT CALL

7 [singular] : the appeal or attraction of something that makes a person want to go somewhere • sailors who cannot resist the call of the open ocean • He heard the call of the wild. [=he felt the desire to go out to wild places far away]

from most people] — see also CALL OF NATURE

8 [count] : something that requires a person's attention or effort — + on • There are many calls [=demands] on the time of a busy housewife. [=there are many things that a busy housewife must spend time doing]

at someone's beck and call see ¹BECK

on call : available to be called when needed : ready to come when needed • a doctor who is on call throughout the day

call-back /'kɑ:l,bæk/ noun, pl -backs [count]

1 : a return telephone call • She got constant callbacks from the salesman even after she asked him to stop calling.

2 : an official request or order for someone or something to return: such as a : a call for employees to come back to work • With the latest callback, the factory will employ 30,000 workers. b : a request to a worker to come back and fix problems • If he used better materials, he wouldn't have so many callbacks.

call box noun, pl ~ boxes [count]

1 US : a telephone that is located on the side of a road and that is used for reporting emergencies

2 Brit : a public telephone booth

call-er /'kɑ:lə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who calls: such as a : a person who makes a telephone call • The police have received information from an anonymous caller. b : a person who comes to visit someone • She's had several callers at her house in the past few days.

caller display noun [noncount] Brit : CALLER ID

caller ID noun [noncount] : a service that allows you to see who is calling before you answer a telephone call • a phone system with caller ID — called also (Brit) caller display

call forwarding noun [noncount] : a service that allows you to have a telephone call sent to a different number

call girl noun, pl ~ girls [count] : a prostitute who arranges to meet with men who call her on the telephone cal·lig·ra·phy /kə'liɡrəfi/ noun [noncount] : the art of making beautiful handwriting • Arabic calligraphy

— cal·lig·ra·pher /kə'liɡrəfə/ noun, pl -phers [count]

call-in /'kɑ:l,ɪn/ noun, pl -ins [count] US : a radio or television show in which telephone calls from members of the audience are included as part of the broadcast — usually used before another noun • a call-in radio show — called also (chiefly Brit) phone-in; see also call in 1b at ¹CALL

call-ing /'kɑ:lɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count]

1 : a strong desire to spend your life doing a certain kind of work (such as religious work) • He had always felt a calling to help others. • He experienced a calling to enter the priesthood. • For Mary, teaching wasn't a job, it was a calling. [=vocation]

2 : the work that a person does or should be doing • She discovered architecture as her true calling [=vocation] while in college. • He feels he missed his calling [=did not have the career he should have] by not becoming a doctor.

calling card noun, pl ~ cards [count] US

1 : a plastic card that allows a person to charge telephone calls to an account — called also phone card

2 old-fashioned : a small card presented when making a formal visit to someone that has the name and sometimes the address of the visitor — often used figuratively to describe something that identifies a particular person or group • The young actor's bright smile is his calling card. — called also (Brit) visiting card

call letters noun [plural] : CALL SIGN

call number noun, pl ~ -bers [count] : a combination of numbers and letters that is used to show where a book is located in a library

call of nature noun

the call of nature humorous : the need to use a toilet • He had to leave suddenly to answer/obey the call of nature.

cal·lous /'kæləs/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : not feeling or showing any concern about the problems or suffering of other people • a selfish and callous young man • a callous refusal to help the poor • a very callous remark

— cal·lous·ly adv • Some of us were treated callously.

— cal·lous·ness noun [noncount] • callousness toward the poor

cal·loused /'kæləst/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having hard and thick skin : having calluses • calloused hands/feet

cal·low /'kæləu/ adj cal·low·er; -est [also more ~; most ~] often disapproving — used to describe a young person who does not have much experience and does not know how to behave the way adults behave • a callow [=immature] youth • training callow [=inexperienced] recruits for the army

— cal·low·ness noun [noncount]

call sign noun, pl ~ signs [count] : a combination of letters and numbers that is used to identify someone or something in a radio broadcast

call-up /'kɑ:l,ʌp/ noun, pl -ups

1 [count] sports a : a decision to bring an athlete to play in a higher league • a minor-league baseball player who is hoping for a call-up to the major leagues b : a player who is brought up to a higher league • The pitcher in tonight's game is a recent call-up from the minors.

2 : an order telling someone to report for military service [count] military call-ups [noncount] He opposes the call-up of more troops. — often used before another noun • They received their call-up notices. — see also call up at ¹CALL

cal·lus /'kæləs/ noun, pl -lus-es [count] : a hard and thickened area on the skin and especially on the hands or feet

call waiting noun [noncount] : a service that makes it possible for someone who is speaking on the telephone to receive another call without ending the first one • Do you have call waiting?

¹calm /'kɑ:m/ adj calm·er; -est

1 : not angry, upset, excited, etc. • The teacher asked us to remain/stay calm after the fire alarm went off. • The capital city was calm despite rumors of a possible terrorist attack. [=people in the city behaved in the usual way; there was not a lot of excited or fearful activity in the city] • Let's try to have a calm discussion about your grades. • My brother is always calm, cool, and collected. [=he never gets very upset]

2 — used to describe weather that is not windy, stormy, etc. • a calm day • They're predicting calm winds today. • a calm sea [=a sea that has no waves or only very small waves]

— calm·ly adv [more ~; most ~] • The coach calmly told her players what to do next. — calm·ness noun [noncount] • I suddenly had a great feeling of calmness.

²calm noun

1 : a quiet and peaceful state or condition [noncount] After two days of violent protests, the mayor appealed/pleaded for calm. • The calm was broken by another terrorist bombing. • the calm of a church • Police tried to restore calm after the riot. [singular] A quiet calm settled over the city.

2 [count] : a peaceful mental or emotional state — usually singular • The coach was able to keep his calm during the game. • Everyone noticed her outward calm at the funeral. the calm before the storm see ¹STORM

³calm verb calms; calmed; calm-ing

1 : to become or to cause (someone) to become less upset, emotional, excited, etc. [+ obj] The mayor tried to calm [=quiet, settle] the protesters. • His words were effective in calming her fears. — often + down • The mayor tried to calm down the crowd. [no obj] — + down • The mayor asked the protesters to calm down so he could speak. • He needs to calm down enough to tell police about the accident.

2 : to become or to cause (something) to become less active, violent, forceful, etc. [no obj] The winds calmed overnight. — usually + down • The winds calmed down overnight. • The dispute over the new factory has finally calmed down. [+ obj] The medicine helped calm her breathing. — often + down • We need to calm the situation down a little.

cal·o·rie /'kæləri/ noun, pl -ries [count] : a unit of heat used to indicate the amount of energy that foods will produce in the human body • foods with high/low calories • You should try to eat fewer calories [=eat less food with high calories] and exercise more. • a low-calorie diet • No dessert for me—I'm watching/counting my calories. [=being careful not to eat too much]

— ca·lo·ric /kə'lorɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • caloric intake/restriction/values • caloric foods [=foods that contain many calories] — cal·o·rif·ic /,kælə'rɪfɪk/ adj, technical • the calorific content of fat

cal·um·ny /'kæləmni/ noun, pl -nies [count] formal : an untrue statement that is made to damage someone's reputation • They uttered calumnies against him.; also [noncount] : the act of making such statements • He was the target of calumny for his unpopular beliefs.

calve /'kæv/ verb calves; calved; calv-ing [no obj] of a cow : to give birth to a calf • The cow calved in the barn.

calves plural of CALF

Cal·vin·ism /'kælvə,nɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : a Christian set of beliefs that is based on the teachings of John Calvin and that stresses God's power and the moral weakness of human beings

C

– Cal·vin·ist /'kælvənɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count]
 – Calvinist adj – Cal·vin·ist·ic /,kælvə'nɪstɪk/ adj

ca·lyp·so /kə'lɪpsou/ noun, pl -sos [noncount] : a lively musical style from the West Indies that usually has humorous lyrics concerning current topics (such as politics); also [count] : a song of this style cal·zone /kæl'zoun/ noun, pl calzone or cal-zones [count] chiefly US : a food originally from Italy that consists of baked or fried dough folded over and filled with tomato sauce, cheese, etc.

cam /'kæm/ noun, pl cams [count] technical : a part of a machine (such as an engine) that changes circular motion into another type of motion (such as forward motion)

ca·ma·ra·de·rie /kam'rɑ:dəri, Brit ,kæmə'rɑ:dəri/ noun : a feeling of good friendship among the people in a group [noncount] There is great camaraderie among the teammates. [singular] They have developed a real camaraderie after working together for so long.

cam·ber /'kæmbə/ noun, pl -bers [count] : a slight downward curve from the middle to the sides of a surface (such as a road)

cam·bric /'keɪmbɪk/ noun [noncount] : a light, thin, white linen or cotton cloth

cam·cord·er /'kæm,kɔ:də/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a small video camera for personal use

came past tense of ¹COME

cam·el /'kæmə/ noun, pl -els [count] : a large animal of Africa and Asia that has a long neck and one or two large humps on its back and that is often used for desert travel the straw that breaks the camel's back see STRAW

camel

Cam·em·bert

/'kæmə,beə/ noun [noncount] : a type of soft yellow cheese from France

cam·eo /'kæmi,ou/ noun, pl -eos [count]

1 : a small role in a movie, play, etc., that is performed by a well-known actor • He has a brief cameo in the film. • a cameo role

2 : a piece of jewelry that has a carved design shown against a background of a different color — see color picture on page C11

cam·era /'kæmrə/ noun, pl -er-as [count] : a device that is used for taking photographs or for making movies, television programs, etc.

off camera : away from a television or movie camera : not on television or in a movie • He is a different person (when he's) off camera.

on camera : within the range of a television or movie camera : on television or in a movie • He looks very relaxed (when he's) on camera. • His attempt to break into the store was caught on camera. [=a camera recorded his attempt to break into the store]

camera

cam·era·man /'kæmrə,mæn/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : someone (especially a man) who uses a camera to film something (such as a movie or television show)

cam·era·per·son /'kæmrə,pəsn/ noun, pl -peo·ple /-pi:pəl/ [count] : a cameraman or camerawoman cam·era·wom·an /'kæmrə,wʊmən/ noun, pl -wom·en /-wɪmən/ [count] : a woman who uses a camera to film something (such as a movie or television show)

cam·i·sole /'kæməsoul/ noun, pl -soles [count] : a light piece of clothing for women that is worn on the top part of the body, does not have sleeves, and is often worn alone or under a blouse — see color picture on page C13

camo /'kæmou/ noun [noncount] US, informal : ¹CAMOUFLAGE — often used before another noun • a camo jacket • camo pants

camomile variant spelling of CHAMOMILE

¹cam·ou·flage /'kæmə,flɑ:ʒ/ noun

1 [noncount] a : a way of hiding something (such as military equipment) by painting it or covering it with leaves or branches to make it harder to see • The army tanks were painted green and brown for camouflage. b : the green and brown clothing that soldiers and hunters wear to make them harder to see • Troops in full camouflage. — often used before another noun • a camouflage jacket • camouflage pants • camouflage gear

2 : something (such as color or shape) that protects an animal from attack by making the animal difficult to see in the area around it [singular] The rabbit's white fur acts as a camouflage in the snow. [noncount] Rabbits use their white fur as camouflage in the snow.

3 : behavior that is meant to hide something or convince another of something that is not true [singular] Her so-called charity work was a camouflage for her own self-interest. [noncount] His tough attitude served as camouflage.

²camouflage verb -flag-es; -flaged; -flag-ing [+ obj] : to hide (something) by covering it up or making it harder to see • The swimming pool was camouflaged [=hidden] by a hedge. • The makeup camouflages blemishes. • camouflaged soldiers/animals • She camouflaged [=hid] her feelings well. • It was impossible to camouflage the facts.

¹camp /'kæmp/ noun, pl camps

1 a : a place that is usually far away from cities and that has tents, small houses, etc., that people can live in for a short period of time [count] Fishing camps are located all along the river. • army camps • a refugee camp [noncount] The soldiers were confined to camp. • The hikers decided to pitch/make camp just before sunset. • They set up camp for the night. — see also BOOT CAMP, CONCENTRATION CAMP, DEATH CAMP, LABOR CAMP, PRISON CAMP b : a town that has been set up so people can live there and work nearby • a logging/mining camp

2 a : a place usually in the mountains or by a lake where young people can do different activities during the summer [noncount] With the kids away at camp, the house is very quiet. • The children have fond memories of summer camp. [count] a music camp • There are several day camps [=camps where children spend the day and then return home at the end of the day] in the area. — often used before another noun • a camp counselor/director b : a place where athletes train before the beginning of a season [count] The sports writer visited a few training camps. [noncount] Our star pitcher injured his arm in camp this spring.

3 [count] : a group of people who support or believe in certain ideas • There are two proposals to consider, one from each camp. • the Democratic/Republican camp • Even within the conservative camp, there is quite a wide range of opinion. • We are in the same camp. [=we have the same opinions, ideas, etc.]

break camp : to take down the tents and other parts of a camp in order to leave • The soldiers broke camp at dawn. — compare ³CAMP

²camp verb camps; camped; camp-ing [no obj] : to sleep outdoors usually in a tent • The hikers camped by the lake.

camp out [phrasal verb] 1 : to sleep outdoors usually in a tent • We camped out [=camped] under the stars. • Fans camped out [=spent the night outside] in huge numbers to purchase tickets in the morning. — see also CAMPOUT 2 informal a : to live in a place for a short period of time • I camped out at a friend's apartment until I found a place of my own. b US : to stay in a place for a period of time • He camped out in the library for the afternoon.

— compare ⁴CAMP

³camp noun [noncount] — used of art and entertainment when qualities that are normally considered bad (such as excessive emotion and bad acting) are exaggerated so much that they become interesting and funny • movie-goers who appreciate camp — compare ¹CAMP

— camp adj • We went to see the movie for its camp value. • The performance has become a camp classic. — camp·i·ly /'kæmpəli/ adv • The movie was campily outrageous.

– camp-i-ness /'kæmpinəs/ noun [singular] • the campi-ness of the movie – campy /'kæmpi/ adj camp-i-er; -est US • a campy comedy/movie

camp verb camped; camped; camping
camp it up informal : to act with exaggerated speech or gestures • He really camped it up on stage.
– compare ²CAMP

cam-paign /kæm'peɪn/ noun, pl -paigns [count]
1 : a series of activities designed to produce a particular result • an election campaign [=a campaign to win a political election] • a presidential campaign • The group launched/mounted/led a campaign to protect the area from commercial development. • the campaign against drugs • an expensive advertising campaign • The university is organizing a campaign to attract a more diverse student population. — often used before another noun • campaign contributions • She kept/broke her campaign promises. • a campaign slogan
2 : a series of military battles, attacks, etc., designed to produce a particular result in a war • a bombing campaign

campaign verb -paigns; -paigned; -paign-ing [no obj]
: to lead or take part in a campaign to support or oppose someone or something or to achieve something • She campaigned to save the town library. • He campaigned hard to get more funding. • a time when women were campaigning for the right to vote • I campaigned for/against her when she ran for governor. • He campaigned for president/governor/mayor. = He campaigned for the presidency/governorship/mayorality. [=he tried to be elected president/governor/mayor]
– cam-paign-er noun, pl -ers [count] • civil rights campaigners – campaigning noun [noncount]

cam-pa-ni-le /kæmpə'nɪli/ noun, pl -les [count] : a tall tower with a bell in it

camp bed noun, pl ~ beds [count] Brit : COT 1

camp-er /'kæmpə/ noun, pl -ers [count]
1 : a person who sleeps outdoors, in a tent, or in a simple shelter usually for enjoyment for a short period of time • Rangers warned campers that leaving food outside might attract bears. • A careless camper accidentally started a fire in the woods. — see also HAPPY CAMPER
2 US : a type of vehicle or special trailer that people can live and sleep in when they are traveling or camping — called also (Brit) camper van, (Brit) caravan

3 : a young person who goes to a camp during the summer to do different activities

camp-fire /'kæmp,fajə/ noun, pl -fires [count] : a fire that is built outdoors at a camp or picnic area • We gathered around a campfire and shared stories.

Camp Fire girl noun, pl ~ girls [count] US : a girl who is a member of a national organization for young people from ages 5 to 18

camp follower noun, pl ~ -ers [count]
1 : a person who spends time with or near a group or person in order to gain some advantage • media camp followers • the famous boxer and his camp followers
2 : a person who follows a group of soldiers as they move to different areas and sells goods and services to them

camp-ground /'kæmp,graund/ noun, pl -grounds [count] chiefly US : an area or place that is used for camping : a place where people can put up a tent or park a camper and that usually has toilets and showers for campers to use cam-phor /'kæmfə/ noun [noncount] : a white substance with a strong smell that is used in medicine and to keep insects away camping noun [noncount] : the activity of sleeping outdoors in a tent usually for enjoyment • Camping is one of our favorite things to do. • She likes to go camping on weekends.

– camping adj • camping equipment/gear • a camping trip

camp meeting noun, pl ~ -ings [count] US : a religious meeting that is held outdoors and is often attended by people who camp nearby camp-out /'kæmp,aʊt/ noun, pl -outs [count] US : an occasion when people go camping together • our annual campout in Vermont — see also camp out at ²CAMP

camp-site /'kæmp,sart/ noun, pl -sites [count]
1 US : a place where people can put up a tent • The campsite includes a picnic table and a grill for cooking.
2 Brit : CAMPGROUND

cam-pus /'kæmpəs/ noun, pl -pus-es : the area and buildings around a university, college, school, etc. [count] Visitors crowded the campus on graduation day. • Rallies were held on college/university campuses across the country. • We walked around the campus on our first day. [noncount] How do you like living on campus? [=in the dormitories/housing provided by the school] • She prefers living off campus. [=she prefers not living in the dormitories/housing provided by the school] • (US, somewhat old-fashioned) The quarterback of the football team is a real big man on campus. [=he is important and well-known] — often used before another noun • campus events/life • campus politics

C

camping

cam·shaft /'kæm,ʃæft, Brit 'kæm,ʃɑ:ft/ noun, pl -shafts [count] technical : a metal shaft or bar to which a cam is attached — see picture at ENGINE

can /kən, 'kæn/ verb, past tense could /kəd, 'kud/ present tense for both singular and plural can; negative can-not /'kænat, kə'nɑ:t, Brit 'kænət/ or can't /'kænt, Brit 'kɑ:nt/ [modal verb]

1 : to be able to (do something) • I don't need any help. I can do it myself. • I can't decide what to do. • All we can do [=the only thing we can do] now is wait. : to know how to (do something) • She can read, can't she? • I can whistle. : to have the power or skill to (do something) • A weight lifter can lift a very heavy weight. • She can play the piano. • Only Congress can do that. : to be designed to (do something) • a car that can hold five people [=a car that has enough room for five people] • How fast can [=does, will] the car go? — sometimes used without a following verb • I visit her whenever I can. • I don't know if I'll be able to fix the problem, but I'll do what I can. • Please help us if you can.

2 — used to describe what someone sees, feels, thinks, etc. • "Can you see him yet?" "Yes, I can see him clearly." • I can barely hear you. • Can [=do] you remember/understand how to do it?

3 a — used to say that something is or is not possible • Do you think he can still be alive? [=do you think it is possible that he is still alive?] • I don't think he can still be alive. [=I think he must be dead] • These problems can be dealt with more easily at the local level. • You can't always get what you want in life. • At this time of year many birds can be found on the island. [=there are many birds on the island at this time of year] • If you don't tell me what the problem is, I can't help you. • You can't be very smart [=you aren't very smart] if you believe that! • He was supposed to be here an hour ago. Where can he (possibly) be? [=where is he?] — sometimes used in the emphatic phrase as... as can be • I want a cake as big as can be! [=I want the biggest cake possible] • They seemed as happy as can be [=they seemed extremely happy] when I last saw them. b — used in speech to express surprise or disbelief • You must be joking! You can't/cannot (possibly) be serious! • He can't really have meant that. [=I don't believe that he meant that] • You can't (possibly) believe that! • The price is $50? That can't be right. [=that must be wrong]

4 a : to have permission to (do something) • You can do it tomorrow if you like. • "Can I leave now?" "No, you can't." • You can't leave until you finish washing the dishes. — compare MAY 4 b — used in speech to make a request or suggestion • Can [=could] I have another cookie? • Can [=could] you open the window a little more, please? • You can sit here if you like. • If you're not sure what to do, you can always ask for help. • We can leave early if you're feeling tired. — compare MAY 3

5 a — used to say what should or should not be done • You can't leave now! The party is just getting started! • Why can't you be more polite? [=you should be more polite; why aren't you more polite?] b — used in angry speech to tell someone to do something • If you don't like it here, you can just leave!

6 a — used to describe the way a person sometimes behaves • She can be very rude at times. [=she is sometimes very rude] b — used to describe something that sometimes or often happens • In this part of the country the weather can change quickly. [=the weather often changes quickly] usage Could is used as the past tense of can to describe an ability that someone had in the past or to say that something was possible in the past. • I could run fast when I was young, but I can't run fast now. • It used to be that you could drive for miles here without seeing another person, but now there are houses and people everywhere. To describe a specific occurrence in the past, use was/were able to instead of could. • By working long hours, we were able to finish the project on time. In the future tense, will be able to is used. • If you keep practicing, you'll be able to play the piano someday. • She believes that someday people will be able to vote at home on their computers. Can can be used to suggest something that might happen in the future. • If we save enough money, we can go to Hawaii for our vacation next year.

no can do informal + humorous — used in speech to say that you cannot do something that you have been asked or told to do • "Can you give me a ride to work tomorrow?" "Sorry—no can do. My car is in the shop."

— compare ³CAN

²can /'kæn/ noun, pl cans [count]

1 a : a closed metal container that is usually shaped like a cylinder and that holds food or drink • Open a can [= (Brit) tin] of beans. • a can of tomatoes • a soda/beer can b : the food or drink that is in a can • He ate the whole can of beans.

2 a : a metal or plastic container that has a removable top and that is used for holding liquid, trash, etc. • a can of oil = an oil can • a garbage can • a trash can b : SPRAY CAN • a can of deodorant can of worms : a complicated situation in which doing something to correct a problem leads to many more problems • We thought the project would be simple, but it turned out to be a real can of worms. • Our boss is reluctant to change the policy now because she doesn't want to open a can of worms.

carry the can Brit, informal : to accept blame or responsibility for something that you did not cause • He made the error, but she was left to carry the can. • Taxpayers will carry the can for the renovations.

in the can of a film, recording, etc. : completed and ready to be released • a movie that is in the can the can US, informal 1 : the part of the body that you sit on : BUTTOCKS • If you ask me, what he needs is a good kick in the can. 2 a : a room with a toilet : BATHROOM • He locked himself in the can and wouldn't come out. b : TOILET • sitting on the can 3 : a prison or jail • The cops threw him in the can.

— can-ful /'kæn,fʊl/ noun, pl -fuls • a canful of beans

³can /'kæn/ verb cans; canned; can-ning [+obj]

1 chiefly US : to preserve food by putting it in a metal or glass container • a factory where meats are canned [= (Brit) tinned] • canning tomatoes

2 US, informal : to dismiss (someone) from a job • He got canned [=fired, sacked] for being late to work.

3 US, informal : to stop or end (something) • The boss angrily told him to can the jokes. [=to stop making jokes] • Just can it! [=stop talking; shut up]

— compare ¹CAN; see also CANNED

— can-ner noun, pl -ners [count] — canning noun [non-count] • The tomatoes are fine for canning. • a canning jar

Can·a·da goose /'kænədə-/ noun, pl ~ geese [count] : a goose of North America that is mostly gray and brown with a black head and neck — see color picture on page C9

Ca·na·di·an /kə'neɪdɪən/ noun, pl -ans [count] : a person born, raised, or living in Canada — see also FRENCH CANADIAN

— Canadian adj • the Canadian government • a Canadian accent • a Canadian artist/author/film

Canadian bacon noun [noncount] US : bacon from the back part of a pig that has little fat and that is cut into round slices

Canadian football noun [noncount] : a game that is like American football and is played on a field between two teams of 12 players each

ca·nal /kə'næl/ noun, pl -nals [count]

1 : a long narrow place that is filled with water and was created by people so that boats could pass through it or to supply fields, crops, etc., with water • irrigation canals • the Panama Canal

2 medical : a tube or passageway in the body — see also BIRTH CANAL, ROOT CANAL

can·a·pé /'kænəpi, 'kænəpeɪ/ noun, pl -pés [count] : a small piece of bread or a cracker that has cheese, meat, fish, etc., on top of it and that is often served at a party • platters of canapés

ca·nard /kə'nɑ:d/ noun, pl -nards [count] formal : a false report or story : a belief or rumor that is not true • The book repeats some of history's oldest canards. • the widespread canard that every lawyer is dishonest can

ca-nary /kə'neri/ noun, pl -nar-ies [count] : a small usually yellow or green tropical bird that is often kept in a cage like the cat that ate the canary see CAT

ca-nas-ta /kə'næstə/ noun [noncount] : a type of card game that is played with two decks of cards

can-can /'kæn,kæn/ noun, pl -cans [count] : a woman's dance of French origin that involves kicking the legs while holding up the front of a full skirt can-cel /'kænsəl/ verb -cels; US -celed or Brit -celled; US -cel-ing or Brit -cel-ling

1 : to stop doing or planning to do (something) : to decide that something (such as a game, performance, etc.) will not happen [+ obj] The event was canceled at the last minute when the speaker didn't show up. • We canceled our dinner reservation. • My flight was canceled because of the storm. • She canceled her appointment with the dentist. [no obj] I'm sorry, but I have to cancel. Can we meet next week?

2 : to cause (something) to end or no longer produce a certain effect : to stop (something) from being effective or valid [+ obj] He canceled his insurance policy last month. • We canceled our magazine subscription when we moved. • Please cancel my order. • The bank canceled my credit card. [no obj] If you subscribe online, you can cancel at any time.

3 [+ obj] : to put a mark with a set of ink lines on something (such as a stamp) so that it cannot be used again • a canceled stamp cancel out [phrasal verb] cancel out (something) or cancel (something) out : to reduce the effect of (something) : to be equal to (something) in force or importance but have an opposite effect • The costs cancel out the benefits. • The two arguments cancel each other out.

can-cel-la-tion also US can-cel-a-tion /,kænsə'leɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : a decision to stop doing or planning to do something : the act of canceling something (such as a game, performance, etc.) [count] The storm caused delays and flight cancellations. [noncount] In case of cancellation, the game will be played at a later date. [=if the game is canceled, it will be rescheduled for later]

2 : the act of causing something to end or no longer produce a certain effect : a decision to stop something from being effective or valid [noncount] Notice of cancellation should be given 30 days in advance. • There is a fee for cancellation. [count] Cancellations increased when rates doubled. — often used before another noun • cancellation fees • The contract includes a cancellation clause.

can-cer /'kænsər/ noun, pl -cers

1 : a serious disease caused by cells that are not normal and that can spread to one or many parts of the body [noncount] breast/lung cancer • He was diagnosed with cancer. • She learned that she has cancer. • Eating certain foods may help reduce the risk of cancer. [count] Advanced cancers are more difficult to treat. — often used before another noun • cancer patients • cancer prevention • cancer treatments

2 [count] : something bad or dangerous that causes other bad things to happen — usually singular • Her jealousy was a cancer that slowly destroyed her marriage. • Drugs and violence have become a cancer in the city.

3 Cancer a [noncount] : the fourth sign of the zodiac that comes between Gemini and Leo and has a crab as its symbol — see picture at ZODIAC b [count] : a person born under the sign of Cancer : a person born between June 22nd and July 22nd • I'm a Taurus, but my best friend is a Cancer.

— can-cer-ous /'kænsərəs/ adj • a cancerous growth/lump • The tumor is not cancerous.

can-de-la-bra /,kændə'la:brə/ noun, pl -bras [count] : an object with several branches for holding candles or lights can-de-la-brum /,kændə'la:brəm/ noun, pl -bra /-brə/ also -brums [count] : CANDELABRA can-did /'kændəd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : expressing opinions and feelings in an honest and sincere way • He was quite candid about his past. • a candid confession • a refreshingly/remarkably candid interview • She gave us her candid opinion on the matter.

2 photography : showing people acting in a natural way because they do not know that they are being photographed • a candid snapshot

— can-did-ly adv • He stated his opinion candidly. • She spoke candidly about some of the difficulties she had been experiencing. — can-did-ness noun [noncount] • He responded to the question with surprising candidness. [= (more commonly) candor] can-di-da-cy /'kændədəsi/ noun, pl -cies [count, noncount] : the position of a person who is trying to be elected : the state of being a candidate • He withdrew his candidacy after the scandal damaged his reputation. — often + for • She is expected to announce her candidacy for president.

can-di-date /'kændə,dert, 'kændədət/ noun, pl -dates [count]

1 : a person who is trying to be elected • a presidential candidate • the leading Democratic/Republican candidates — often + for • a candidate for governor

2 a : a person who is being considered for a job, position, award, etc. • Candidates can apply in person or send a resume. — often + for • He seemed like an unlikely candidate for the job. • Our son is a candidate for the Player of the Year award. b : a person who meets all the requirements for something — often + for • She is a good candidate for laser surgery. [=she meets all the conditions to have laser surgery]

3 : a student in the process of meeting final requirements for a degree • a Ph.D. candidate in linguistics • The program has several doctoral candidates.

4 Brit : someone who is taking an exam • Three out of four candidates passed the exam.

can-di-da-ture /'kændədə,tʃə/ noun, pl -tures [count] Brit : CANDIDACY can-died /'kændid/ adj, always used before a noun : cooked in or covered with sugar • candied fruit/ginger • candied yams can-dle /'kændl/ noun, pl candles [count] : wax that has been formed into a stick or another shape and has a string in the middle that can be burned

burn the candle at both ends see ¹BURN

hold a candle to : to be on the same level as or as good as (something or someone) — used in negative statements • The new movie doesn't hold a candle to [=it is not as good as] the original version.

not worth the candle chiefly Brit, old-fashioned : not worth the necessary effort, cost, or trouble • The car is so old that replacing the engine is not worth the candle. [=the effort isn't worth the cost]

can-dle-hol-der /'kændl,houldə/ noun, pl -ders [count] US : CANDLESTICK can-dle-light /'kændl,lait/ noun [noncount] : the light of a candle • We dined/read by candle-light.

can-dle-lit /'kændl,lɪt/ adj : lit with the light of candles • a romantic candlelit dinner • Candlelit tables [=tables with lit candles] created a warm atmosphere.

can-dle-stick /'kændl,stɪk/ noun, pl -sticks [count] : an object with a small hole in the middle for holding a candle • a pair of candlesticks

can-do /'kæn'du:/ adj, always used before a noun, informal : having or showing an ability to do difficult things • I admire her for her energy and can-do attitude. • can-do spirit can-dor (US) or Brit can-dour /'kændə/ noun [noncount] : the quality of being open, sincere, and honest • She spoke with candor about racism. • I was impressed by the candor of his statement.

can-dy /'kændi/ noun, pl -dies US : a sweet food made with sugar or chocolate [noncount] a box/bowl/piece of candy • The children are fond of candy. [= (Brit) sweets] • The cough syrup tastes like candy. [count] chewy candies — often used before another noun • a candy bar — see also COTTON CANDY, ROCK CANDY candy apple noun, pl ~ apples [count] US : an apple that is covered with a sugary mixture that becomes hard candy cane noun, pl ~ canes [count] US : a stick of hard red and white candy with a curve at the top

candy floss noun [noncount] Brit : COTTON CANDY

candy-striped adj : having a pattern of colored stripes and white stripes that look like the stripes on some sticks of candy • a candy-striped shirt candy strip-er /-'straɪpə/ noun, pl ~ -ers [count] US : a usually female teenage volunteer who works at a hospital ✧ The word comes from the candy striper's striped uniform, which looks like the stripes on some sticks of candy. Candy stripers are not as common in hospitals today as they once were, and they are less likely to wear the striped uniform.

¹cane /'keɪn/ noun, pl canes

candle

C

- 1 [count] : a short stick that often has a curved handle and is used to help someone to walk • a wooden cane
- 2 the cane : a form of punishment in which a person is hit with a cane or stick • In the past, some teachers would resort to the cane when students misbehaved.
- 3 [noncount] : the hard hollow stem of a plant (such as bamboo or reed) that is used to make furniture and baskets • The chair seat is made of cane. • woven strips of cane
- 4 [count] : SUGARCANE
- ²*cane* verb canes; caned; can-ing [+ obj] : to hit (someone) with a cane or stick as a form of punishment • In the past, some teachers would cane students who misbehaved.
- cane sugar* noun [noncount] : sugar from sugarcane
- ¹*ca-nine* /'keɪnəm/ adj : of or relating to dogs • canine behavior • canine loyalty • the police department's canine unit [=the part of a police department that has dogs that are trained for various purposes] • a canine companion [=a dog that is kept as a pet]
- ²*canine* noun, pl -nines [count]
- 1 formal : a dog • poodles and other canines
- 2 : a pointed tooth — called also canine tooth
- can-is-ter* /'kænəstə/ noun, pl -ters [count]
- 1 : a container with a lid that is used for keeping dry products • a flour/sugar/tea canister
- 2 : a plastic or metal container that is used for keeping a roll of film • a film canister
- 3 : a metal case that contains gas or chemical substances and that bursts when it is fired from a gun • tear gas canisters
- can-ker* /'kæŋkə/ noun, pl -kers [count]
- 1 : something that causes bad things to happen — usually singular • Poverty is the can-ker of this neighborhood.
- 2 : any of various plant diseases
- canker sore* noun, pl ~ sores [count] US : a small painful sore inside the mouth — called also mouth ulcer
- can-na-bis* /'kænəbəs/ noun [noncount] : a drug (such as marijuana or hashish) that comes from the hemp plant and is smoked illegally
- canned* /'kænd/ adj
- 1 : preserved in a metal or glass container • canned [= (Brit) tinned] goods • canned food • canned soup • canned tomatoes • canned tuna • canned beans
- 2 a : prepared or recorded at an earlier time for use in television, radio, etc. • canned laughter b US : not original or special • a canned speech • The salesperson kept using the same canned phrases.
- can-nel-lo-ni* /'kænə'louni/ noun [noncount] : tubes of pasta that are filled with meat, fish, cheese, or vegetables and baked in a sauce
- can-nery* /'kænəri/ noun, pl -ner-ies [count] : a factory where food is put into cans
- can-ni-bal* /'kænəbəl/ noun, pl -bals [count] : a person who eats the flesh of human beings or an animal that eats its own kind
- can-ni-bal-ism /'kænəbə'lɪzəm/ noun [noncount] — can-ni-bal-is-tic /'kænəbə'lɪstɪk/ adj
- can-ni-bal-ize* also Brit can-ni-bal-ise /'kænəbə'lɑɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] : to remove parts from a machine, car, etc., to repair or build another one • He cannibalized one washing machine to fix another. • Many parts of the engine were cannibalized from older cars.
- can-no-li* /kə'nouli/ noun, pl cannoli or can-no-lis [count] : a type of pastry filled with sweetened cheese
- ¹*can-non* /'kænən/ noun, pl can-nons or cannon [count]
- 1 : a large gun that shoots heavy metal or stone balls and that was once a common military weapon — see also CANNON FODDER, LOOSE CANNON
- 2 : a large automatic gun that is shot from an aircraft
- ²*cannon* verb, always followed by an adverb or preposition -nons; -noned; -non-ing [no obj] Brit : to suddenly and forcefully hit or move into or against someone or something • The ball cannoned off the goalpost and into the net.
- can-non-ade* /'kænə'neɪd/ noun, pl -ades [count] : an attack with cannons that continues for a long time • The French directed a cannonade at the British for three hours.
- can-non-ball* /'kænən'bɔ:l/ noun, pl -balls [count] : a cannon

- heavy metal or stone ball that is shot from a cannon
- cannon fodder* noun [noncount] : soldiers who are sent into battle even though it is likely that they will die • The poorly trained forces are little more than cannon fodder. — sometimes used figuratively • The tabloids have been using her love life as cannon fodder for years.
- can-not* /'kænət, kə'nɑ:t, Brit 'kænət/ — used as the negative form of can • We cannot [= can't] allow that to happen. • I cannot [= can't] believe that he would do such a thing.
- usage* In speech, can't is much more common than cannot. In formal writing, cannot is much more common than can't.
- can-ny* /'kæni/ adj can-ni-er; -est : very clever and able to make intelligent decisions : SHREWD • a canny lawyer • can-ny investors/investments
- can-ni-ly /'kænəli/ adv — can-ni-ness /'kæninəs/ noun [noncount]
- ¹*ca-noe* /kə'nu:/ noun, pl -noes [count] : a long narrow boat that is pointed at both ends and that is moved by a paddle with one blade — see picture at BOAT
- ²*canoe* verb -noes; -noed; -noe-ing : to go or travel in a canoe [no obj] He canoeed down the river to the camp. [+ obj] They canoeed part of the Colorado River this summer.
- canoeing noun [noncount] • In the summers we like to swim and go canoeing. — ca-noe-ist /kə'nu:wɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] • an experienced canoeist — canoer noun, pl -ers [count] US • an experienced canoer
- ca-no-la oil* /kə'noulə-/ noun [noncount] chiefly US + Canada : a type of oil that is obtained from the seeds of a plant (called the rape plant) and used for cooking
- ¹*can-on* /'kænən/ noun, pl -ons [count]
- 1 formal : an accepted rule or guide about how people should behave or about how something should be done • Anyone who violates every canon of decency as she has done should be dismissed immediately. • the canons of good taste • By the canons of science, the experiment was not valid.
- 2 a : a group of books, poems, plays, etc., that are traditionally considered to be very important • the canon of American literature = the American literary canon • She argues that the canon excludes too many women and minority writers. b : the group of books, poems, plays, etc., that a particular author is known to have written • the small canon of Alcott novels c : a list of books that are considered to be part of a religion's official text • writings that are outside the Jewish canon
- 3 : a piece of music in which the same melody is started at different times by each of the different groups of voices or instruments
- compare ²CANON
- ²*canon* noun, pl -ons [count] : a Christian priest who works in a cathedral — compare ¹CANON
- ca-non-i-cal* /kə'nɑ:nɪkəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]
- 1 : connected with or allowed by the laws of the Christian church • canonical procedures
- 2 a : of or relating to the books that are considered to be part of a religion's official text • canonical scriptures • the Jewish canonical texts b : of or relating to the group of books, plays, poems, etc., that are traditionally considered to be very important • canonical literature
- ca-non-i-cal-ly /kə'nɑ:nɪkli/ adv
- can-on-ize* also Brit can-on-ise /'kænə'nɑɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] in the Roman Catholic Church : to officially give a dead person a special status as someone very holy : to declare (someone) to be a saint • She died 100 years ago and was canonized in Rome last year.
- can-on-i-za-tion also Brit can-on-i-sa-tion /'kænənə'zeɪʃən, Brit 'kænə'nɑɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • a saint's canonization
- canon law* noun [noncount] : the laws of a religion • a marriage valid under Catholic canon law
- ca-noo-dle* /kə'nu:dl/ verb -noo-dles; -noo-dled; -noo-dling [no obj] informal + old-fashioned : to hug and kiss another person in a sexual way • Two lovers were canoodling on a park bench.
- can opener* noun, pl ~ -ers [count] chiefly US : a device that is used in the kitchen to open cans of food — see picture at KITCHEN
- can-o-py* /'kænapɪ/ noun, pl -pies [count]
- 1 : a piece of cloth that hangs over a bed, throne, etc., as a decoration or shelter • A canopy hung over the altar. • a canopy bed [= a bed that has a piece of cloth above it like a roof]

2 a : something that hangs or spreads out over an area • A crowd had gathered under the theater canopy. [=the part of the theater building that extends over the sidewalk] — sometimes used figuratively • the canopy of the sky b : the highest layer of branches in a forest or on a tree • the jungle's thick canopy

3 : a clear section that covers the part where the pilot sits in some airplanes

— can-o-pied /'kænəpid/ adj • a canopied bed/throne • a canopied forest

cant /'kænt/ noun [noncount] : words that are supposed to sound like serious statements about important issues (such as religion or morality) but that are not honest or sincere • I think the people are sick of hypocrisy and cant from their leaders.

cant verb cants; cant-ed; cant-ing : to lean : to be positioned at an angle [no obj] The legs cant slightly to increase the chair's stability. [+ obj] — usually used as (be) canted • The legs of the chair are canted slightly to increase stability. • the chair's slightly canted legs can't /'kænt, Brit 'kɑ:nt/ — used as a contraction of cannot • I can't do it. usage see CANNOT can-ta-loupe also can-ta-loup /'kæntə,loup, Brit 'kæntə,lʊ:p/ noun, pl -loupes also -louns [count, noncount] : a type of large fruit (called a melon) that has a hard, rough skin and orange flesh — see color picture on page C5

can-tan-ker-ous /kæn'tæŋkərəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : often angry and annoyed • a cantankerous [=cranky] old man can-ta-ta /kæn'tɑ:tə/ noun, pl -tas [count] : a piece of music for singers and instruments that usually has several parts (called movements) and often has a religious subject can-teen /kæn'ti:n/ noun, pl -teens [count]

1 : a store in a camp, school, etc., in which food, drinks, and small supplies are sold

2 a chiefly US : a place where drinks and entertainment are provided for soldiers at a military base or camp b chiefly Brit : a place where food is served in a factory, school, etc. • the school canteen [= (US) cafeteria]

3 : a small container for carrying water or other liquids • a hiker's canteen — see picture at CAMPING

4 Brit : a box for storing knives, forks, spoons, etc.

can-ter /'kæntə/ noun, pl -ters

1 [singular] : the way a horse moves when it is running fairly fast • He set off at a canter towards the stable.

2 [count] : a ride or run at a canter — usually singular • a canter through the fields — compare ¹GALLOP, ²TROT can-ter verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing [no obj]

1 of a horse : to run fairly fast : to run at a canter • The horses cantered across the grass.

2 : to ride on a horse that is running fairly fast : to ride a horse at a canter • We cantered off toward the lake.

can-ti-cle /'kæntikəl/ noun, pl -ti-cles [count] : a song that has words from the Bible and that is used in Christian church services can-ti-le-ver /'kæntə,li:və/ noun, pl -vers [count] : a long piece of wood, metal, etc., that sticks out from a wall or other structure to support something above it (such as a balcony or bridge) • The porch is supported by steel cantilevers. • a cantilever bridge [=a bridge that uses cantilevers to support the main part]

cantilever verb -vers; vered; ver-ing

1 [+ obj] : to support (something) with a cantilever — usually used as (be) cantilevered • cantilevered beams/floors

2 [no obj] of a structure : to extend out over an area • The balcony cantilevers over the terrace below.

can-to /'kæntou/ noun, pl can-tos [count] : a major section of a long poem • the first canto of Dante's "Inferno" can-ton /'kæntn/ noun, pl -tons [count] : one of the sections into which some countries (such as Switzerland) are divided can-tor /'kæntə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

1 : a person who sings and leads people in prayer in a Jewish religious service

2 : a person who leads a group of singers in a church

Ca-nuck /kə'nʌk/ noun, pl -nucks [count] informal : a person born, raised, or living in Canada : a Canadian can-vas /'kænvəs/ noun, pl -vas-es

1 : a strong, rough cloth that is used to make bags, tents, sails, etc. [noncount] a tent made of canvas • a canvas chair/bag • canvas shoes [count] Use a canvas to cover the boat.

2 [count] a : a specially prepared piece of cloth on which a picture can be painted by an artist • a fresh/blank canvas b : a painting made on a piece of cloth • The museum has several canvases by Rubens.

under canvas chiefly Brit : in a tent • a night under canvas [=a night sleeping in a tent]

can-vass /'kænvəs/ verb -vass-es; -vassed; -vass-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to ask (the people in an area) what they think about a candidate, project, idea, etc. • A team of volunteers is canvassing the city for the Republican Party. • We go to every house to canvass voters. b : to talk to the people in an area in order to get them to support a candidate, project, idea, etc. [no obj] She is canvassing for one of the presidential candidates this year. [+ obj] The group has been canvassing neighborhoods to ask people to vote for him.

2 [+ obj] somewhat formal : to look at or consider (something) carefully • The company canvassed several sites for a new factory.

— can-vass-er noun, pl -ers [count] • a paid canvasser for a senate candidate

can-yon /'kænjən/ noun, pl -yons [count] : a deep valley with steep rock sides and often a stream or river flowing through it • the Grand Canyon

1 cap /'kæp/ noun, pl caps [count]

1 a : a small, soft hat that often has a hard curved part (called a visor) that extends out over your eyes • a Harvard University cap [=a cap that has the name or symbol of Harvard University on it] • a knit/knitted cap • his wool/tweed cap — see also BASEBALL CAP b : a covering for a person's head that is worn for a special purpose • a shower/bathing cap [=a head covering that people wear to keep their hair dry when they are showering/swimming] — see also THINKING CAP c : a hat that people with particular jobs wear while working • a painter's cap • a surgeon's cap, gown, and gloves

2 : a part or object that covers the end or top of something • a bottle cap • a lens cap • a pill bottle with a childproof cap • Put the cap back on the marker when you are done using it. 3 : a part that forms the top of something • a bird with a black cap [=a black section of feathers on the top of its head] • a mushroom cap [=the top part of a mushroom]

4 : a limit on the amount of money that can be spent, given, charged, etc., for something • a spending cap • a cap on political donations • a cap on doctor's fees

5 : a paper or metal container that holds an explosive substance • a blasting cap

6 informal : a capital letter — usually plural • e-mails written in all caps • She signed the letter with her name in caps: KIM.

7 : a hard substance that is shaped to look like a healthy tooth and used to cover a damaged tooth

8 Brit, sports a : an opportunity to play for your school or country • He won his first cap against Columbia when he was 22. b : a player chosen to play for a country's team

9 Brit : DIAPHRAGM 3

a feather in your cap see ¹FEATHER

cap in hand see ¹HAND

if the cap fits or if the cap fits, wear it Brit — used to say that something said about a person is true and the person should accept it as true • They may not like being called careless, but if the cap fits, wear it. [= (US) if the shoe fits, wear it]

tip your cap see ¹TIP

2 cap verb caps; capped; cap-ping [+ obj]

1 : to cover the top or end of (something) • a pipe capped at one end • a mountain capped with snow = a snow-capped mountain : to put a cap on (something) • Be sure to cap the pen/marker when you are done using it.

2 a : to end (something) in usually an exciting or impressive way • The report caps a ten-year study of lung cancer among nonsmokers. — often + off in U.S. English • The band capped off the show with an extended version of their classic hit. • The victory caps off the career of a coach who's brought her team to the championships five times. b : to follow (something) with something that is better, worse, etc. • a concert capped by a fantastic fireworks display • The car was filthy when he returned it to me, and to cap it off [=to top it off], there was almost no fuel left in the tank.

3 a : to prevent (something) from increasing : to put an upper limit on (something) • If the teams don't cap player salaries, the league won't survive. • capping interest rates • The law would cap legal immigration. b Brit : to put a limit on the amount of money that can be spent by (a group) • The government wants to cap councils that spend too much.

4 : to cover (a tooth) with a hard material that is shaped to look like a healthy tooth : to put a cap on (a tooth) • He had two of his teeth capped.

5 Brit, sports : to choose (someone) to play for a national team — usually used as (be) capped • He was first capped for Ireland at age 22.

ca·pa·bil·i·ty /ˈkeɪpəˈbɪləti/ noun, pl -ties [count] : the ability to do something • The device has the capability of recording two television channels at once. • That kind of job is beyond my capability. [=it is too difficult for me] • The company doesn't have any manufacturing capability. [=capacity] • The country's military capability is unclear. [=the country's ability to fight a war is unclear] • The country does not have nuclear capability. [=does not have nuclear weapons] — often plural • Students are expected to participate in sports according to their capabilities. [=abilities] • a computer program's search capabilities • a cell phone with video game and Internet capabilities

ca·pa·ble /ˈkeɪpəbəl/ adj

1 : able to do something : having the qualities or abilities that are needed to do something — + of • a new train capable of (reaching) very high speeds • Many new cell phones are capable of connecting to the Internet. • He is not capable of making those medical decisions himself. [=he cannot make the decisions by himself because he cannot think clearly, he is too sick, etc.] • I don't believe that she's capable of murder. [=that she is the kind of person who could murder someone] • a storm capable of (causing) widespread destruction

2 [more ~; most ~] : skilled at doing something : able to do something well • She is one of the most capable [=skilled] and versatile actresses in Hollywood. • a capable student • a very capable pilot ♦ Something that is in capable hands is being done or dealt with by someone who has the skill and knowledge to do it well. • I will leave the store in your capable hands while I am gone.

— ca·pa·bly /ˈkeɪpəbli/ adv • He was assisted capably by one of the other students.

ca·pa·cious /kəˈpeɪʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : able to hold or contain a lot : large in capacity • the museum's capacious [=spacious] rooms • The van is capacious [=roomy] enough to hold eight passengers easily.

— ca·pa·cious·ness noun [noncount]

ca·pac·i·tor /kəˈpæsətər/ noun, pl -tors [count] technical : a device that is used to store electrical energy

ca·pac·i·ty /kəˈpæsəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 a [count] : the ability to hold or contain people or things — usually singular • The restaurant has a large seating capacity. [=many people can sit in the restaurant; it has many seats] • What is the hard drive's storage capacity? b : the largest amount or number that can be held or contained [count] The nightclub has a 1,000-person capacity. • a bottle with a capacity of two liters [noncount] The prison has reached capacity. [=the prison is full] • The auditorium was filled to capacity. [=was completely full]

2 : the ability to do something : a mental, emotional, or physical ability [noncount] Some species of birds do not have the capacity [=ability] to fly. • Does he have the capacity to handle this job? • The disease causes a deterioration of breathing capacity. [count] the machine's computational capacities [=capabilities] — usually singular • a character with a great capacity for love [=a character who is able to love people very deeply]

3 [count] : a usually official position or job : ROLE • He was acting in his capacity as judge. • She's worked for the company in various capacities over the years. [=she has had various jobs at the company] • serving in a supervisory capacity

4 [noncount] : the amount of something that can be produced or managed by a factory, company, etc. • a plan to double the factory's capacity • We can't hire more people because we lack the training capacity. • the nation's oil refining capacity; also : the largest amount that a factory, company, etc., can produce or manage • The factory is currently running at three-quarter capacity. [=the factory is producing three quarters of what it can produce] • The airport is not expected to reach capacity [=the highest number of planes it can deal with] for several years.

¹cape /ˈkeɪp/ noun, pl capes [count]

1 : a large area of land that sticks out into a sea, bay, etc. — often used in proper names • the Cape of Good Hope • Cape Cod

2 US : a small house that has one or one-and-a-half levels and a steep roof — called also Cape Cod cottage — compare ²CAPE

²cape noun, pl capes [count] : a piece of clothing that does not have sleeves and that fits closely at the neck and hangs over the shoulders, arms, and back : a short cloak • a superhero's mask and cape — compare ¹CAPE — caped /ˈkeɪpt/ adj • a caped superhero

¹ca·per /ˈkeɪpər/ noun, pl -pers [count]

1 informal : an illegal or improper activity that is usually seen as amusing or not very serious • She has a long record of small-time capers [=crimes] that include everything from shoplifting to fraud. • a jewelry *cap*er [=theft, heist]

2 : an amusing movie, story, etc., about tricks or crimes • a crazy *cap*er about a bank robbery that goes wrong

3 : a lively jump or dance • He was so happy, he *cut a cap*er. [=did a short dance] on the steps of Town Hall.

— compare ²CAPER

²caper noun, pl -pers [count] : a small flower bud that comes from a kind of bush and that is preserved in vinegar and used to flavor food • a pasta salad made with artichokes, olives, and capers — compare ¹CAPER

³caper verb -pers; -pered; -per-ing [no obj] : to jump around in a lively way • a young goat *cap*ering in its pen cap·il·lary /ˈkæpələri, Brit kəˈpɪləri/ noun, pl -lar-ies [count] : one of the many very small tubes that carry blood within the body : the smallest kind of blood vessel capita see PER CAPITA

¹cap·i·tal /ˈkæpətəl/ adj

1 of a letter : in the form A, B, C, etc., rather than a, b, c : UPPERCASE • capital letters • a capital D • His handwritten *cap*ital S's look a lot like lowercase/small s's. — sometimes used informally to give emphasis to a description • He is conservative with a capital C! [=he is very conservative] • The sauce is spicy with a capital S. [=it is very spicy]

2 : having the main offices of a government • the state's *cap*ital city

3 of a crime : having death as a possible punishment • Homicide that occurs during the course of an attempted kidnapping is a capital crime in some states. • capital murder/rape charges — see also CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

4 chiefly Brit, old-fashioned : EXCELLENT • a capital idea

²capital noun, pl -tals

1 [noncount] a : money, property, etc., that is used to start or operate a business • Does he have the capital to start a new business? — see also VENTURE CAPITAL b : the money, property, etc., that a person or business owns • capital accumulation = the accumulation of capital • Like most home owners, her house is her biggest capital asset. — sometimes used figuratively • The governor wasted his political *cap*ital on an unpopular issue. • She's been accused of trying to make capital out of the tragedy. [=of trying to use the tragedy to her advantage; of trying to benefit from the tragedy] — see also CAPITAL GAINS, CAPITAL GOODS, WORKING CAPITAL

2 [count] : a letter in the form A, B, C, etc. : a capital letter

3 [count] a : a city in which the main offices of a government are located : a capital city • the state/provincial *cap*ital • Austin is the capital of Texas. • Beijing is China's capital. b : the most important city for an activity or product • New York City is the media capital of the United States. • This town is the region's cultural capital.

Do not confuse capital with capitol.

capital gains noun [plural] : money that you get by selling property at a higher price than the price that you paid to buy it • Stock sales resulted in millions of dollars in capital gains for the company. • the capital gains tax capital goods noun [plural] business : products (such as factory equipment and tools) that are used to make other products — compare CONSUMER GOODS capital-intensive adj [more ~; most ~] business : requiring the payment or investment of a very large amount of money • a capital-intensive industry • The airport expansion is a very capital-intensive project. — compare LABOR-INTENSIVE

cap·i·tal·ism /ˈkæpətəlɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : a way of organizing an economy so that the things that are used to make and transport products (such as land, oil, factories, ships, etc.) are owned by individual people and companies rather than by the government — compare COMMUNISM, SOCIALISM

¹cap·i·tal·ist /ˈkæpətəlɪst/ also cap·i·tal·is·tic /ˈkæpətəlɪstɪk/ adj : of or relating to capitalism • a capitalist society • capitalist values • capitalist ideology : using capitalism as an economic system • the world's capitalist nations capitalist noun, pl -ists [count]

1 : a person who has a lot of money, property, etc., and who uses those things to produce more money • a wealthy capitalist

2 : a person who believes that capitalism is the best kind of economic system

cap-i-tal-ize also Brit cap-i-tal-ise /'kæpətə,laɪz/ verb -izes; -ized; -izing [+ obj]

1 a : to use a capital letter to write, print, or type (a letter of the alphabet) • Remember to capitalize the I in Internet. b : to begin (a word or name) with a capital letter • Capitalize the first word of your sentence. • She rarely capitalizes her name when she signs her e-mails.

2 a : to provide the money that is needed to start or develop (a business) • They're seeking investors (in order) to capitalize the business. • The venture was capitalized with a loan of one million dollars. b : to sell (something valuable, such as property or stock) in order to get money : to convert (something) into capital • You can capitalize your investment at any time.

capitalize on [phrasal verb] capitalize on (something) : to use (something, such as an event or situation) in a way that helps you : to get an advantage from (something) • They were able to capitalize on [=take advantage of] our mistakes. • She capitalized on her new fame by writing a book.

— cap-i-tal-i-za-tion also Brit cap-i-tal-i-sa-tion /,kæpətələ'zeɪʃən, Brit ,kæpətə,laɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • Please check your spelling, punctuation, and capitalization. [=use of capital letters] capital punishment noun [noncount] : punishment by death : the practice of killing people as punishment for serious crimes • an opponent of capital punishment

cap-i-tol /'kæpət/ noun, pl -tols

1 [count] : the building in which the people who make the laws of a U.S. state meet • the dome of the state capitol

2 the Capitol : the building in which the U.S. Congress meets in Washington, D.C.

Do not confuse capitol with capital.

Capitol Hill noun [singular] : the group of people who make the federal laws in the United States : the U.S. Congress • The organization is lobbying Capitol Hill to increase funding for AIDS research. ♦ The U.S. Congress is called Capitol Hill because that is the name of the area in Washington, D.C., where the Capitol building is located. • an apartment near/on Capitol Hill

ca-pit-u-late /kə'pɪtʃə,leɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing [no obj] formal

1 : to stop fighting an enemy or opponent : to admit that an enemy or opponent has won : SURRENDER • The country still refuses to capitulate despite its weakening army and dwindling resources.

2 : to stop trying to fight or resist something : to agree to do or accept something that you have been resisting or opposing • The teacher refused to capitulate; no calculators were to be used during the exam. — often + to • The company capitulated [=gave in] to the labor union to avoid a strike. • Officials eventually capitulated to the protesters' demands.

— ca-pit-u-la-tion /kə'pɪtʃə'leɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount]

ca-pon /'keɪ,pɑ:n/ noun, pl -pons [count] : a male chicken whose sex organs have been removed cap-puc-cino /,kæpə'tʃi:nou/ noun, pl -nos : a drink of strong coffee (called espresso) that has a bubbly layer of hot milk on top [noncount] She loves cappuccino. [count] We stopped for dessert and cappuccinos.

ca-price /kə'pri:s/ noun, pl -pric-es : a sudden change [count] the caprices of the weather; especially : a sudden change in someone's mood or behavior [count] Employees have complained of being at the mercy of the manager's every whim and caprice. [noncount] policy changes that seem to be motivated by nothing more than caprice

ca-pri-cious /kə'prɪʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal

1 : changing often and quickly • capricious weather/winds; especially : often changing suddenly in mood or behavior • employees who are at the mercy of a capricious manager

2 : not logical or reasonable : based on an idea, desire, etc., that is not possible to predict • The court ruled that the punishment was arbitrary and capricious.

— ca-pri-cious-ly adv • a manager who acts capriciously

— ca-pri-cious-ness noun [noncount]

Cap-ri-corn /'kæprɪ,kɔ:n/ noun, pl -corns

1 [noncount] : the 10th sign of the zodiac : the sign of the zodiac that comes between Sagittarius and Aquarius and that has a goat as its symbol — see picture at ZODIAC

2 [count] : a person born under the sign of Capricorn : a person born between December 22 and January 19 • I'm a Capricorn. What are you?

ca-pri pants /kə'pri:-/ noun [plural] : close-fitting women's pants that end above the ankle — called also capris; see color picture on page C14

cap-size /'kæp,saɪz/ verb -siz-es; -sized; -siz-ing of a boat : to turn over : to turn so that the bottom is on top [no obj] The canoe suddenly capsized. [+ obj] They were fooling around and accidentally capsized the canoe.

cap-stan /'kæpstən/ noun, pl -stans [count] : a machine that turns so that rope or a cable can wind around it and move or lift heavy weights (such as a ship's anchor)

cap-sule /'kæpsəl, Brit 'kæp,sju:l/ noun, pl -sules [count]

1 a : a very small container that is filled with medicine and swallowed whole b : a small glass or plastic container that has something (such as a liquid) inside of it

2 : a small part of a spacecraft that is separate from the rest of the spacecraft and that is where people live and work — see also TIME CAPSULE

capsule adj, always used before a noun : very short • a capsule [=brief] history of the world • capsule biographies

Capt. abbr captain

cap-tain /'kæptən/ noun, pl -tains [count]

1 : a person who is in charge of a ship or an airplane • The captain has turned off the "fasten seat belt" sign. • Captain Ahab

2 : an officer of high rank in some branches of the military • an army/navy captain

3 chiefly US : an officer of high rank in a police or fire department

4 : an athlete who is chosen to be the leader of a team • She was the captain of our team. = She was our team captain.

2 captain verb -tains; -tained; -tain-ing [+ obj] : to be the captain of (something): such as a : to be in charge of (a ship or airplane) • The ship was captained by John Smith. b : to lead (a team) • She captained last year's team.

cap-tain-cy /'kæptənsɪ/ noun, pl -cies

1 : the position of being captain of a team [noncount] In college sports, captaincy is usually given to seniors. [count] He was promoted to a captaincy.

2 [count] : the period of time during which someone is a captain — usually singular • Under/during his captaincy, the team won nearly every game.

captain of industry noun, pl captains of industry [count] : someone who owns or manages a large, successful business or company cap-tion /'kæpʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : a sentence or group of words that is written on or next to a picture to explain what is being shown • The caption on the picture says "This year's contest winners."

— caption verb -tions; -tioned; -tion-ing [+ obj] — usually used as (be) captioned • The picture is captioned "This year's contest winners."

cap-ti-vate /'kæptə,veɪt/ verb -vates; -vat-ed; -vat-ing [+ obj] : to attract and hold the attention of (someone) by being interesting, pretty, etc. • The play has been captivating audiences for years. — often used as (be) captivated • We were captivated by her beauty.

captivating adj [more ~; most ~] : attractive and interesting in a way that holds your attention • a captivating [=fascinating] story • a captivating smile

cap-tive /'kæptɪv/ adj

1 : captured and kept in a prison, cage, etc. • The captive soldiers planned their escape. • captive animals • Enemy forces took/held them captive. [=took or kept them as prisoners]

2 always used before a noun : forced to watch or listen to something because you cannot leave • The passengers on the plane were a captive audience. [=the passengers on the plane could not leave and had to listen to what was being said]

2 captive noun, pl -tives [count] : someone who is captured and kept as a prisoner • They set their captives free.

cap-tiv-i-ty /kæp'tɪvəti/ noun [noncount] : the state of being kept in a place (such as a prison or a cage) and not being able to leave or be free : the state or condition of being captive • The prisoners were released from captivity. • The lions were bred in captivity. [=while living in a zoo]

cap·tor /'kæptə/ noun, pl -tors [count] : someone who has captured a person and is keeping that person as a prisoner • The men fought their captors and escaped.

cap·ture /'kæptʃə/ verb -tures; -tured; -tur·ing [+ obj]

1 a : to take and hold (someone) as a prisoner especially by using force • They were captured by enemy soldiers. b : to catch (an animal) • using traps to capture mice

2 a : to get control of (a place) especially by using force • The city was captured by the Romans. b : to win or get (something) through effort • She captured 60 percent of the vote in the last election. • The company plans on capturing a larger segment of the market.

3 : to get and hold (someone's attention, interest, etc.) • The show has captured the attention/interest of teenagers. • The story captured our imaginations. [=the story was very interesting and exciting]

4 : to describe or show (someone or something) in a very accurate way by using writing, painting, film, etc. • The story captures the essence of the holiday. • The biography captured her perfectly. • The beauty of the landscape was captured perfectly by the artist.

5 a : to record (something) in a picture, film, etc. • The robbery was captured (on film) by the security cameras. b : to get and put (information) into a form that can be read or used by a computer • The system is used to capture data relating to the buying habits of young people. • a digital camera that captures 1.2 million pixels

6 : to take (something, such as a chess piece) by following the rules of a game • In the game of chess, the goal is to capture your opponent's king.

capture lightning in a bottle see ¹LIGHTNING

2 capture noun [noncount] : the act of capturing someone or something; such as a : the act of taking and holding someone as a prisoner or of being taken as a prisoner • They avoided/eluded/escaped capture. b : the act of getting control of something • the capture of the city by enemy forces c : the act of putting information in a form that a computer can use or read • data/image capture

car /'kɑː/ noun, pl cars

T : a vehicle that has four wheels and an engine and that is used for carrying passengers on roads [count] I'll wait in the car. • He got into the car and drove away. • She bought a new car. • drive/park a car [noncount] We can go by car or by bus. [=we can travel in a car or in a bus] — often used before another noun • a car manufacturer/dealer/accident/crash — called also (US) automobile

2 [count] US : a separate section of a train • a railroad car • The train has 20 cars. [= (Brit) carriages, coaches] — see also CABLE CAR, DINING CAR, SLEEPING CAR, TROLLEY CAR

ca·rafe /kə'reɪf/ noun, pl -rafes [count] : a glass container that has a wide mouth and that is used to serve drinks (such as water or wine) during a meal; also : the amount in a carafe • We drank a carafe of wine.

car·a·mel /'kɑːməɪl, 'kerəməɪl/ noun, pl -mels

1 : a light brown candy made from butter, sugar, and milk or cream [noncount] a piece of caramel [count] a bag of caramels

2 [noncount] : sugar that is cooked until it is burnt and that is used to give color and flavor to food — see also CRÈME CARMEL

3 [noncount] : a light brown color

car·a·mel·ize also Brit car·a·mel·ise /'kɑːməˌlaɪz, 'kerəməˌlaɪz/ verb -iz·es; -ized; -iz·ing

1 : to cook (something, such as a fruit or vegetable) slowly until it becomes brown and sweet [+ obj] She caramelized the apples. • caramelized onions [no obj] The onions will take five minutes to caramelize.

2 : to change (sugar) into caramel by cooking it [+ obj] Car-ame-lize two cups of sugar. [no obj] Continue stirring until the sugar caramelizes.

car·a·pace /'kerəˌpeɪs/ noun, pl -pac·es [count] technical : a hard shell on the back of some animals (such as turtles or crabs)

1 car·at /'kerət/ noun, pl -ats [count] : a unit for measuring the weight of jewels (such as diamonds) that is equal to 200 milligrams

2 carat chiefly Brit spelling of KARAT

1 car·a·van /'kerəˌvæn/ noun, pl -vans [count]

1 a : a group of people or animals traveling together on a long journey especially through the desert b : a group of vehicles (such as cars or wagons) traveling together

2 Brit : CAMPER 2

2 caravan verb -vans; -vaned or -vanned; -van·ing or -van·ing [no obj] US : to travel from one place to another in a group of vehicles • We caravanned to the campsite.

caravanning noun [noncount] Brit : the activity of taking a vacation in a trailer or camper • Camping and caravanning are popular in this area.

car·a·way /'kerəˌweɪ/ noun [noncount] : the seeds of a plant related to the carrot that are used to flavor foods • caraway seeds

carb /'kɑːb/ noun, pl carbs [count] US, informal : CARBOHYDRATE • a diet low in carbs = a low-carb diet car·bine /'kɑːbiːn, 'kɑːbaɪn/ noun, pl -bines [count] : a short, light rifle car·bo·hy·drate /ˌkɑːbouˈhaɪˌdreɪt/ noun, pl -drates : any one of various substances found in certain foods (such as bread, rice, and potatoes) that provide your body with heat and energy and are made of carbon, hydrogen, and oxygen [count] Pasta has a lot of carbohydrates. [= (US) carbs] • He's trying to lose weight by cutting down on carbohydrates. [=foods that contain a lot of carbohydrates] [noncount] a food that is low in protein but high in carbohydrate car bomb noun, pl ~ bombs [count] : a bomb that is hid-

hatchback

race car (US), racing car (Brit)

sports car

convertible

station wagon (US), estate car (Brit)

limousine

minivan,
people carrier (Brit)

SUV, sport-utility vehicle

sedan (US), saloon (Brit)

car

den inside or underneath a vehicle

car·bon /'kɑ:bən/ noun, pl -bons

1 [noncount] : a chemical element that forms diamonds and coal and that is found in petroleum and in all living plants and animals

2 [count] : CARBON COPY 1 • a carbon of the document

car·bon·ated /'kɑ:bə,neɪtəd/ adj, of a liquid : having many tiny bubbles that rise to the top : containing carbon dioxide • soda and other carbonated beverages

— car·bon·ation /,kɑ:bə'neɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • a bottle of water with no carbonation

carbon copy noun, pl ~ copies [count]

1 : a copy of a document, letter, etc., that is made by using carbon paper • I'll need a carbon copy of that receipt.

2 : a person or thing that is very similar to another person or thing • She's a carbon copy of her mother.

carbon dating noun [noncount] technical : a scientific way of finding the age of something that is very old (such as a dinosaur bone) by measuring the amount of certain forms of carbon in it carbon dioxide noun [noncount] : a gas that is produced when people and animals breathe out or when certain fuels are burned and that is used by plants for energy carbon mon·ox·ide /-mə'nɒk,səɪd/ noun [noncount] : a poisonous gas that is formed when carbon is not completely burned and especially when gasoline is burned in car engines

carbon paper noun [noncount] : paper with a dark substance on one side that is placed between two other pieces of paper and used to make copies of documents car boot sale noun, pl ~ sales [count] Brit : a sale in which people gather to sell items that they bring to the sale in their cars car·bun·cle /'kɑ:bʌŋkəl/ noun, pl -bun·cles [count]

1 : a large painful swelling under the skin

2 : a jewel (such as a garnet) that is cut into a rounded shape car·bu·re·tor (US) or Brit car·bu·ret·tor /'kɑ:bə,reitə, Brit ,kɑ:bju'retə/ noun, pl -tors [count] : the part of an engine in which gasoline is mixed with air so it will burn and provide the engine with power car·cass also Brit car·case /'kɑ:kəs/ noun, pl -cass·es [count]

1 : the body of a dead animal

2 informal + humorous : a person's body • It was almost noon before he finally hauled his carcass out of bed. [=before he finally got out of bed]

3 : the remaining parts of an old vehicle, structure, etc. • the rusting carcass of an old truck car·cin·o·gen /kɑ:'sɪnədʒən/ noun, pl -gens [count] medical : a substance that can cause cancer • Cigarette smoke contains known carcinogens.

car·ci·no·gen·ic /,kɑ:sənou'dʒenɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] medical : likely or able to cause cancer • a carcinogenic substance/compound/chemical • the carcinogenic effects of this chemical car·ci·no·ma /,kɑ:sə'noumə/ noun, pl -mas medical : a type of cancer [noncount] four deaths attributable to carcinoma [count] cervical carcinomas [=tumors]

¹card /'kɑ:d/ noun, pl cards

1 a [count] : a small piece of stiff paper that is marked with symbols or pictures to show its value, comes in a set, and is used for playing games (such as poker) • Each player is dealt five cards. • Shuffle the cards. • card tricks • He bought a deck/pack of cards. • poker and other card games [=games that use a deck of cards] — called also playing card; see also CARDSHARP, CARD TABLE, FACE CARD, HOUSE OF CARDS, PICTURE CARD b cards [plural] : a game played with a deck of cards : a card game • Do you want to play (a game of) cards? • We played cards until midnight. c [count] — used figuratively to refer to something that gives you an advantage when you are trying to make a deal or reach an agreement • The fact that he was supported by big firms was his strongest/best card during the negotiations. d [singular] — used figuratively to refer to an emotional issue (such as race) that is mentioned in a particular situation in order to give you an advantage • She used/played the gender card and said we didn't hire her because she's a woman. • She was accused of playing the race card to defend her client. [=she was accused of saying that her client was treated unfairly because of his race]

2 [count] a : a thick piece of paper that is usually folded in half and decorated on one side and that contains a greeting, an invitation, etc. • He sent me a card for my birthday. = He sent me a birthday card. • a get well card • a card shop/store — see also CHRISTMAS CARD, GREETING CARD b : POSTCARD • She sent us a card from Japan.

3 [count] : a rectangular piece of plastic that is used to buy goods or services or to get money from a bank or a machine • “Will you be paying cash?” “No, please put it on my card.” [=I will pay for it using my credit/debit card] • an ATM card • Insert your card into the machine. = Swipe/Pass your card through the machine.

4 [count] a : a rectangular piece of paper or plastic with information about a person written on it • a membership/library/appointment card • Let me give you my card. [=business card] b : a small piece of paper that is used for writing down information • He wrote his notes on 3 x 5 cards. [=cards that are 3 inches tall and 5 inches wide] • You may use note cards [=cards with notes on them] during your speech.

5 [count] : TRADING CARD • a collection of baseball/football/basketball cards

6 [count] : a thin, hard board that has small electronic devices on it and that can be added to the inside of a computer to make the computer perform different tasks • a memory/sound/video card • an expansion card [=a device that allows a computer to do more things than it originally could]

7 [count] : a list of the individual competitions that will happen at a sports event : a sports program • a racing card [=a list of races] • a boxing card [=a list of boxing matches] • Three fights are on the card tonight.

8 [count] old-fashioned : a funny or amusing person • He's such a card!

9 [noncount] Brit : CARDBOARD • a piece of card

get your card or be given your card Brit : to be told that you no longer have a job • Thousands of factory workers have been given their cards [=have been laid off; have lost their jobs] in recent months.

hold (all/all of) the cards : to be in control of a situation and have the power to make decisions • It's your decision. You're holding all the cards.

in the cards (US) or Brit on the cards : certain or likely to happen in the future • No one knows what's in the cards for the economy next year. [=what will happen to the economy next year] — often used in negative statements • It's not in the cards for him to win the election. [=he's not going to win the election] • Success just wasn't in the cards for her. [=she wasn't meant/supposed to succeed]

lay/put (all/all of) your cards on the table : to be honest with other people and to tell them your thoughts, plans, etc., in a very open way • Before we can talk further, you need to put all your cards on the table. [=you need to tell me what you are really thinking]

overplay your cards see OVERPLAY

play/hold/keep your cards close to the/your chest/vest : to keep your plans, ideas, etc., hidden from other people • No one knows if he's going to run for reelection. He's still playing his cards close to his chest.

play your cards right : to do things in an intelligent and well-planned way • If I play my cards right, I'll be able to graduate next year.

²card verb cards; card·ed; card·ing [+ obj]

1 US, informal : to ask (someone) to show a form of identification (such as a driver's license) in order to prove that the person is old enough to do something (such as to drink alcohol) • We all got carded. [=someone asked to see our IDs] • He carded me when I bought cigarettes/beer.

2 : to achieve (a score) in golf • She carded [=scored] a 75. • He carded a birdie on the second hole.

car·da·mom /'kɑ:dəmə/ noun [noncount] : the seeds of an Asian plant that are used as a spice in cooking and baking • a tablespoon of ground cardamom

¹card·board /'kɑ:d,bɔ:d/ noun [noncount] : a stiff and thick kind of paper that is used especially for making boxes • Cover the windows with cardboard. • a piece of cardboard

²cardboard adj

1 : made out of cardboard • cardboard boxes

2 : not acting or seeming real : having an obviously false or fake quality • The play had cardboard characters.

card·car·ry·ing /'kɑ:d,kerɪjɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun : known as an active member of a group or organization • a card-carrying liberal/conservative • a card-carrying union member card catalog noun, pl ~ -logs [count] US : a set of cards in a library that have information about books, journals, etc., written on them and are arranged in alphabetical order — called also (Brit) card index card·hold·er /'kɑ:d,houldə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : someone who has a credit card • Cardholders are required to make a minimum payment each month.

car·di·ac /'kɑ:di,æk/ adj, always used before a noun, medical : of or relating to the heart • cardiac problems/disease/surgery • cardiac patients [=people with heart disease or heart problems] • She went into cardiac arrest [=her heart stopped beating]

car·di·gan /'kɑ:diɡən/ noun, pl -gans [count] : a sweater that opens like a jacket and that is fastened in the front with buttons — called also (US) cardigan sweater; see color picture on page C15

¹car·di·nal /'kɑ:danəl/ noun, pl -nals [count]

1 : a priest of the Roman Catholic Church who ranks immediately below the Pope • The Pope appointed two new cardinals this year. • Cardinal Newman

2 : a common North American bird ♦ The male cardinal is red and the female is mostly light brown. — see color picture on page C9

²cardinal adj, always used before a noun, formal : basic or most important • the cardinal principles of news reporting • My cardinal rule is to always be honest. • The cardinal points [=the four main directions] on a compass are North, South, East, and West.

cardinal number noun, pl ~ -bers [count] : a number (such as 1, 2, or 3) that is used in simple counting and shows quantity — compare ORDINAL NUMBER cardinal sin noun, pl ~ sins [count] : a very bad or serious sin in Christianity — often used figuratively or humorously • Giving false information is a cardinal sin in news reporting. • He committed the cardinal sin of criticizing his boss.

card index noun, pl ~ -dexes [count] chiefly Brit : a set of cards that have information written on them and are arranged in alphabetical order; especially : CARD CATALOG car·dio /'kɑ:diə/ noun [noncount] US, informal : any type of exercise that causes the heart to beat faster and harder for a period of time • After weightlifting, she does 40 minutes of cardio. — often used before another noun • cardio [=cardiovascular] exercises/fitness • a cardio workout cardio- combining form, medical : heart : cardiac • cardiology • cardiopulmonary [=relating to the heart and the lungs]

car·di·ol·o·gy /,kɑ:di'ɑ:lədʒi/ noun [noncount] medical : the study of the heart and of diseases that affect the heart • a doctor who specializes in cardiology

— car·di·ol·o·gist /,kɑ:di'ɑ:lədʒist/ noun, pl -gists [count] car·dio·pul·mo·nary resuscitation /,kɑ:diəu'pulmənri-/ noun [noncount] medical : CPR

car·dio·vas·cu·lar /,kɑ:diəu'væskjələ/ adj

1 medical : of or relating to the heart and blood vessels • the cardiovascular system • cardiovascular disease

2 : causing the heart to beat faster and harder for a period of time • running, swimming, and other cardiovascular exercises • a cardiovascular workout card·play·er /'kɑ:d,plejə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : someone who plays card games card·sharp /'kɑ:d,ʃəp/ noun, pl -sharps [count] : someone who makes money by cheating at card games — called also card shark card table noun, pl ~ tables [count] : a small table that is used for playing card games and that often has legs that fold up

¹care /'keə/ noun, pl cares

1 [noncount] : effort made to do something correctly, safely, or without causing damage • She used care in selecting a doctor for her son. • a box marked "Handle With Care" [=handle carefully]

2 [noncount] a : things that are done to keep someone healthy, safe, etc. • The children have inadequate medical care and little formal education. • We need to provide poor people with better dental care. • He is under a doctor's care. [=is being treated by a doctor] • The boys were in the care of [=being looked after by] their grandparents. — see also DAY CARE, HEALTH CARE, INTENSIVE CARE, PRIMARY CARE, acute care at ACUTE b : things that are done to keep something in good condition • She wrote a book about car care. • With proper care, the machine should last a decade or more. • She is an expert on skin/hair care. • She knows a lot about the care and feeding of horses. • These machines don't need a lot of care and feeding. [=maintenance]

3 [count] : something that causes you to feel worried or unhappy • He acts as if he doesn't have a care in the world. [=as if he has no worries] • She looks as if all the cares of the world are on her shoulders.

care of : at the address of • You can write to him care of his fan club. [=you can write to him by sending a letter to his fan club] — abbr. c/o in/into care Brit — used to describe children who are being cared for by a government organization because their parents have died or are unable to care for them properly • The children had to be taken into care because of parental failure. • The youngest child was in care for several years.

take care : to be careful : to use caution • He took care not to upset anyone. • Take care when you cross the street. — often used informally to express good wishes when someone is leaving or at the end of a letter • I'll see you next week. Take care!

take care of 1 : to do the things that are needed to help or protect (someone) or to keep (something) in good condition : to care for (someone or something) • He takes care of [=looks after] his brother after school. • They took care of a ten-room house without help. • He is home taking care of a sick child. • Each worker takes care of [=is responsible for] three machines. • Their family doctor has been taking care of them for 20 years. • You really ought to take better care of yourself. If you don't get some rest and start eating better, you are bound to get sick. • I'm old enough to take care of [=look out for] myself. 2 : to deal with or do (something that requires effort or attention) • My assistant takes care of [=makes] all our travel arrangements. • Don't worry about that mess. I'll take care of it. [=I'll clean it up] • He offered to take care of [=pay] the bill.

²care verb cares; cared; car·ing

1 : to feel interest in something : to be interested in or concerned about something [no obj] He doesn't care if he gets fired. — often + about • I don't care about your little problems. • He cares deeply about religion. [+ obj] I care what happens to her.

2 [no obj] : to feel affection for someone • On Valentine's Day, send her flowers to show that you care. • I didn't know you cared.

3 [no obj] somewhat formal : to want to do something or to be something • I wouldn't care [=like] to have to make that decision. • I wouldn't care to be in your shoes right now. • I'm going for a walk. Would you care to join me? • He'll show the photos to anyone who cares to see them. • More factors influenced her decision than she cares to admit.

as if I cared informal — used in angry speech to say that you do not care at all about something • "She says she doesn't want to talk to you." "As if I cared!"

care a damn see ³DAMN

care for [phrasal verb] 1 care for (someone or something) : to do the things that are needed to help and protect (a person or animal) : to look after (someone or something) • She cares for [=takes care of] elderly patients. • Who is car·ing for your son while you are at work? • I cared for his cat while he was away. 2 care for (someone) : to feel affection for (someone) • He sent flowers to show that he cares for you. • I got the feeling he never really cared for me. 3 care for (something) somewhat formal a : to like or enjoy (something) — often used in negative statements • I don't care for [=like] jelly beans. • He doesn't care for sports. • I don't care for your tone of voice. b : to want (something) • Would you care for some pie? • I don't care for any more coffee.

could/couldn't care less informal ♦ If you could care less (US) or couldn't care less, you are not at all concerned about or interested in something. • I could care less what happens. [=I don't care what happens] • He says he couldn't care less if he gets fired.

for all (someone) cares informal — used to say that someone does not care at all about something • For all I care, he can leave today. [=I don't care if he leaves today] • She could quit the whole thing, for all he cares.

see if I care informal — used in angry speech to say that you do not care at all about something • Go ahead and call her. See if I care!

what does (someone) care? informal — used to say that you do not think someone should have any interest in something • "She said we should go." "Well, what does she care?" who cares? informal — used to stress that something is not important. • He can't carry a tune, but who cares? He's having fun and that's what matters. • Who cares what she says? [=what she says is not important]

ca·reen /kə'ri:n/ verb -reens; -reened; -reen-ing [no obj] US : to go forward quickly without control • The car ca-reened [=careered] down the hill.

¹ca·reer /kə'riə/ noun, pl -reers [count]

1 : a job or profession that someone does for a long time • I want to make teaching my career. = I want to have a career as a teacher. [=I want to be a teacher] • She hopes to pursue a career in medicine. — often used before another noun • He was a career diplomat/soldier. [=he was a diplomat/soldier for all or most of his working life]

2 : a period of time spent in a job or profession • My career as a waitress lasted one day. • During his long career in advertising he won numerous awards and honors.

²career verb -reers; -reered; -reer-ing [no obj] : CAREEN

ca·reer·ism /kə'riə,izəm/ noun [noncount] disapproving : an attitude or way of behaving that involves trying to do whatever you can to make more money or get promoted at your job • She was appalled by his careerism.

— ca·reer·ist /kə'riərist/ noun, pl -ists [count] • a ruthless careerist

care·free /'keə,fri:/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having no worries or problems : free from care • She has a carefree attitude toward life. • They spent a carefree day at the lake.

care·ful /'keəfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : using care • He is a careful driver. • You can never be too careful about these things. • Be careful! The stove is hot! • They are very careful with their money. [=they only spend what they can afford] • She was careful of their feelings. • The police were careful to leave the room exactly as they found it. — see also (be) careful what you wish for at ¹WISH

2 always used before a noun : made, done, or said with care • Police made a careful examination of the scene. • We kept careful [=meticulous] records of the project. • They produced a careful study of the building.

— care·ful·ly adv • He opened the door carefully. • She carefully picked up the vase. • Drive carefully. — care·ful·ness noun [noncount]

care·giv·er /'keə,givə/ noun, pl -ers [count] US : a person who gives help and protection to someone (such as a child, an old person, or someone who is sick) • When she got sick her husband became her primary caregiver. — called also (Brit) carer

care·less /'keələs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not using care : not careful • He is a careless worker. • She was careless with my things.

2 : done, made, or said without enough thought or attention • It was a careless mistake. • I made a careless [=rude, thoughtless] remark. • a newspaper known for careless reporting — care·less·ly adv • She carelessly left the stove on. — care·less·ness noun [noncount] • The mistake was the result of carelessness.

care package noun, pl ~ -ages [count] US : a package of useful or enjoyable items (such as candy or baked goods) that is sent or given as a gift to someone who is away from home

car·er /'kerə/ noun, pl -ers [count] Brit : CAREGIVER

¹ca·ress /kə'res/ noun, pl -resses [count] : a gentle or loving touch • She gave the baby's cheek a gentle caress.

²caress verb -resses; -ressed; -ress-ing [+ obj] : to touch (someone or something) in a gentle way • She caressed the baby's cheek. • A warm breeze caressed her face.

¹care·tak·er /'keə,teikə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who takes care of buildings or land while the owner is not there • We have a caretaker who watches the place for us while we are away.

2 chiefly US : a person who gives physical or emotional care to someone (such as a child, an old person, or someone who is sick) • I asked her caretaker [=caregiver] if there was anything I could do to help.

3 Brit : JANITOR

²caretaker adj, always used before a noun : doing a job for a short time before another is chosen to take the job officially • a caretaker [=interim, temporary] government • the caretaker President care worker noun, pl ~ -ers [count] Brit : a person whose job is to give care to people who are ill, disabled, etc.

care·worn /'keə,wɔ:n/ adj [more ~; most ~] : looking sad, tired, or worried • He has a careworn face. • He looks tired and careworn.

car·fare /'kɑ,feə/ noun, pl -fares [count] : the money a person pays to travel by bus, taxi, etc.

car·go /'kɑgou/ noun, pl -goes also -gos : something that is carried from one place to another by boat, airplane, etc. [count] The ship was carrying a cargo of crude oil. [non-count] Workers unloaded cargo [=freight] quickly on the dock. — often used before another noun • a cargo ship/plane • Her new minivan has a lot of cargo space.

Ca·rib·be·an /,kerə'bi:jən, kə'ribijən/ adj : of or relating to the Caribbean Sea or its islands or to the people of the islands • the Caribbean islands • Caribbean food/customs car·i·bou /'kerə,bu:/ noun, pl -bou or -bous [count] : a large type of deer that lives in northern parts of the world • a herd of caribou ♦ The word caribou is used especially to refer to these animals when they live in North America. The word reindeer is used for these animals when they live in other parts of the world. — see picture at DEER

¹car·i·ca·ture /'kerikə,tʃə/ noun, pl -tures [count]

1 : a drawing that makes someone look funny or foolish because some part of the person's appearance is exaggerated • An artist was doing caricatures in the park.

2 : someone or something that is very exaggerated in a funny or foolish way • His performance in the film was a caricature of a hard-boiled detective. • The interview made her into a caricature of a struggling artist.

— car·i·ca·tur·ist /'kerikə,tʃərist/ noun, pl -ists [count] • an artist who's a talented caricaturist

²caricature verb -tures; -tured; -tur-ing [+ obj] : to do a caricature of (someone or something) : to draw or describe (someone or something) in a funny or exaggerated way • The press caricatured him as clumsy and forgetful.

car·ies /'keriz/ noun [noncount] technical : tooth decay

caring adj

1 [more ~; less ~] : feeling or showing concern for other people • a caring parent/child/teacher • a caring gesture

2 always used before a noun, Brit : of or relating to work that involves helping people • the caring professions car·jack·ing /'kɑ,ʤækɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count] : the crime of using violence or threats to steal a car from its driver or to force the driver to take you someplace • The police are investigating another carjacking.

— car·jack /'kɑ,ʤæk/ verb -jacks; -jacked; -jacking [+ obj] • She claimed to have been carjacked. — car·jack·er /'kɑ,ʤækə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • Police apprehended the carjackers.

car·load /'kɑ,ləʊd/ noun, pl -loads [count] : the amount of people or things that will fit in a car : a car full of people or things • She brought home a carload of books. • People were arriving by the carload.

car·mak·er /'kɑ,meikə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a company that makes and sells cars • American carmakers [= (US) automakers] face stiff competition from Japan.

car·nage /'kɑ:nɪdʒ/ noun [noncount] : the killing of many people • Years of violence and carnage [=bloodshed] have left the country in ruins. • Reporters described the highway accident as a scene of carnage.

car·nal /'kɑ:n/ adj, formal : of or relating to the body : sexual or sensual • carnal desires/pleasures — often used in the phrase carnal knowledge to refer to sexual intercourse • carnal knowledge of a woman [=sexual intercourse with a woman]

car·na·tion /kɑ'nɛɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : a pink, white, yellow, or red flower that has a sweet smell • The groom wore a carnation in his buttonhole. — see color picture on page C6

car·ni·val /'kɑ:nəvəl/ noun, pl -vals

1 or Carnival [count, noncount] : a festival held before Lent that includes music and dancing [=count] • Will you be in town for (the) Carnival this year?

2 [count] US a : a form of entertainment that travels to different places and includes rides and games you can play to win prizes • Are you going to the carnival [= (Brit) funfair] this weekend? b : an event where many people gather to celebrate something : FESTIVAL • the school's annual winter carnival

3 [count] : a time or place that is exciting, lively, colorful, etc. • That part of town is a carnival on Friday and Saturday nights. • There is a carnival atmosphere in the office. • The garden became a carnival of color.

car·ni·vore /'kɑ:nə,vɔ:/ noun, pl -vores [count] : an animal that eats meat : a meat eater — sometimes used humor-ously to refer to people who eat meat • Many of my friends are vegetarians, but I'm a carnivore.

— car·niv·o·rous /kəˈnɪvərəs/ adj • a carnivorous animal car·ob /ˈkerəb/ noun [noncount] : the fruit of a Mediterranean tree that can be prepared to taste similar to chocolate and is used in various foods — often used before another noun • carob beans/pods • carob powder

¹car·ol /ˈkerəl/ noun, pl -ols [count] : a song sung during the Christmas season • We sang our favorite carols while we decorated the tree. — called also Christmas carol

²carol verb -ols; US -oled or chiefly Brit -olled; US -ol-ing or chiefly Brit -ol-ling [no obj] : to go from place to place singing Christmas carols • Last night, we went caroling with our friends.

— carol·er (US) or chiefly Brit carol·ler /ˈkerələ/ noun, pl -ers [count] • Christmas carolers making their rounds

ca·rot·id artery /kəˈrɑːtɪd-/ noun, pl ~ -teries [count] medical : either one of the two arteries in the neck that supply blood to the head

ca·rouse /kəˈraʊz/ verb -rous-es; -roused; -rous-ing [no obj] : to drink alcohol, make noise, and have fun with other people • My brother and his friends went out carousing last night.

car·ou·sel also car·rou·sel /ˌkerəˈsel/ noun, pl -sels [count]

1 : MERRY-GO-ROUND 1 • He loves to ride on the carousel at the park.

2 : a machine or device with a moving belt or part that carries things around in a circle • the luggage carousel at the airport • a dessert carousel • a CD player with a six-disk carousel

¹carp /ˈkɑ:p/ verb carps; carped; carp-ing [no obj] : to complain in an annoying way • He's always carping about his boss. • He's tired of always being carped at by his critics.

— carping noun [noncount] • I'm tired of all his carping.

— carping adj • carping critics

²carp noun, pl carp or carps [count] : a type of large fish that lives in rivers and lakes and is often used for food car·pal tunnel syndrome /ˈkɑ:pəl-/ noun [singular] medical : a condition that causes pain and weakness in the wrist, hand, and fingers car park noun, pl ~ parks [count] Brit

1 : PARKING LOT

2 : PARKING GARAGE

car·pen·ter /ˈkɑ:pəntə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a person whose job is to make or fix wooden objects or wooden parts of buildings

car·pen·try /ˈkɑ:pəntri/ noun [noncount] : the skill or work of making or fixing wooden objects or wooden parts of buildings : the skill of a carpenter or the work done by a carpenter • He learned carpentry from his father. • When the carpentry is finished, the cabinets will be installed. — see picture on next page

¹car·pet /ˈkɑ:pət/ noun, pl -pets

1 : a heavy fabric cover for a floor [count] We bought a new carpet for the bedroom. [noncount] Which brand of carpet did you choose? — compare RUG; see also MAGIC CARPET

2 [count] : a thick covering : a thick layer of something • The ground was covered by a carpet of leaves/snow/grass.

call (someone) on the carpet US, informal : to criticize someone for doing something wrong • He was/got called on the carpet for missing the deadline.

sweep (something) under the carpet see ¹SWEEP

²carpet verb -pets; -pet-ed; -pet-ing [+ obj]

1 : to put a carpet on the floor of a room • We decided to carpet the bedroom. • carpet the floor

2 : to cover (something) with a thick layer • Leaves carpeted the lawn. = The lawn was carpeted with leaves.

3 Brit, informal : to criticize (someone) for doing something wrong — often used as (be) carpeted • He was carpeted for missing the deadline.

— carpeted adj • a carpeted room

car·pet·bag·ger /ˈkɑ:pət,bægə/ noun, pl -gers [count] disapproving

1 : a person from the northern United States who went to the South after the American Civil War to make money

2 : a political candidate who runs for office in a place where he or she has lived only for a short time carpet-bomb verb -bombs; -bombed; -bomb-ing [+ obj] : to drop many bombs in order to cause great destruction over (an area) • a city that was carpet-bombed during World War II — often used figuratively • Television viewers are being carpet-bombed with political advertisements as election day approaches.

— carpet-bombing noun [noncount] • a city destroyed by carpet-bombing

car·pet·ing /ˈkɑ:pətɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 [noncount] : carpets or the material used for carpets • The house has wall-to-wall carpeting in the bedrooms.

2 [count] Brit, informal : an act of criticizing someone for doing something wrong • The boss gave him a good carpeting [= scolding] for missing the deadline.

carpet slipper noun, pl ~ -pers [count] Brit, old-fashioned : SLIPPER

carpet sweeper noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a device with a long handle and a rolling brush that is used for cleaning carpets car pool noun, pl ~ pools [count] : a group of people who regularly share a car when they are going to and from their jobs or who take turns driving each other other's children to school, activities, etc.

— car·pool /ˈkɑ:pʊl/ verb -pools; -pooled; -pool-ing [no obj] • She carpools to work every day with her neighbor. — car·pool·er noun, pl -ers [count] car·port /ˈkɑ:pɔ:t/ noun, pl -ports [count] : a shelter for a car that has open sides and that is usually attached to the side of a building — compare ¹GARAGE car·riage /ˈkerɪdʒ/ noun, pl -riages

1 : a large vehicle with four wheels that is pulled by a horse and that carries people [count] They rode to the city in carriages. [noncount] They rode by carriage. — called also coach

2 [count] : a wheeled structure that is used to carry and move something heavy (such as a large gun) • an artillery carriage

3 [count] US : BABY CARRIAGE • I took the baby to the park in the carriage.

4 [count] Brit : a separate section of a train • a passenger carriage [= (US) car, (Brit) coach]

5 [count] : a moving part of a machine that supports or carries some other movable object or part • a typewriter carriage

6 [noncount] somewhat old-fashioned : the way in which a person's body is positioned when the person is moving, standing, etc. • a dancer noted for her elegant carriage [= posture]

7 [noncount] Brit : the process or cost of carrying or transporting goods • the carriage of goods • payment of carriage charges car·ri·er /ˈkerɪə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : someone or something that carries something: such as a : MAIL CARRIER b : a container used to move something from one place to another • I put the pet carrier in the car. • The equipment comes with its own carrier. [= carrying case]

c : AIRCRAFT CARRIER — see also PEOPLE CARRIER, PERSONNEL CARRIER

2 : a company that moves people or goods from one place to another • The airline is the nation's largest carrier.

3 : a person or animal that can give a disease or a gene to others but is not affected by it • Mosquitoes can be carriers of malaria.

4 US : a company that provides a specified service (such as insurance or long-distance telephone service) • We switched to a different long-distance carrier to save money on our phone bill.

5 Brit : CARRIER BAG

carrier bag noun, pl ~ bags [count] Brit : a bag that a store gives you to carry any items you have bought there • a plastic carrier bag from the supermarket carrier pigeon noun, pl ~ -geons [count] : a type of pigeon that is trained to carry messages car·ri·on /ˈkerɪjən/ noun [noncount] : the flesh of dead animals • Vultures live chiefly on carriion.

car·rot /ˈkerət/ noun, pl -rots

1 : the long orange root of a plant that is eaten as a vegetable [count] She chopped some carrots for the soup. [noncount] He added some grated carrot to the soup. — see color picture on page C4

2 [count] informal : something that is offered as a reward or advantage to persuade a person to do something • The company offered a carrot in the form of additional vacation time to workers who met their deadlines. ✧ This sense of carrot is often contrasted with stick, which suggests a punishment for not doing something. • He'll have to choose between the car-

carpentry

rot and the stick. • The administration was criticized for its carrot-and-stick approach to foreign policy.

car·rot·top /ˈkerət,tɑ:p/ noun, pl -tops [count] informal : a person with red hair : REDHEAD

car·ry /ˈkeri/ verb -ries; -ried; -ry·ing

1 [+ obj] : to move (something) while holding and supporting it • She helped me carry [=transport] the boxes out to my car. • I'll carry your luggage to your room. • He was carrying his baby daughter in his arms. • For two months, I carried the book around with me everywhere I went. • The waitress carried away our empty dinner plates. • The wind carried the smoke away from the campsite. • These planes can carry up to 300 passengers. • a ship carrying thousands of gallons of oil — sometimes used figuratively • Your talent will carry you far. [=it will make you very successful] • She intended the play to carry audiences toward a sense of peace and understanding. • She still carries the memories of an unhappy childhood. • The song carries me back to [=it makes me remember] my first year of college.

2 [+ obj] : to contain and direct the flow of (water, electricity, etc.) • Oil is carried to the factory through these pipes. We installed gutters that will carry water away from the house. • blood vessels that carry blood to the heart • These cables carry electricity to hundreds of homes. • The bridge carries traffic in two directions.

3 [+ obj] : to have (something) with you or on your body • Do police officers carry guns when they're off duty? • This bus driver doesn't carry change, so please have the exact fare ready. • I always carry $20 in case of an emergency. • tourists carrying cameras

4 [+ obj] : to be able to give (a disease or a gene) to others even though you may not be affected by it • One percent of the population now carries the virus, and one in three will suffer symptoms of the disease.

5 [+ obj] : to be pregnant with (a baby) • She's carrying her second child.

6 [+ obj] : to hold (your body or your head) in a particular way • He's over 80 years old and still carries himself erect/upright like a soldier. • Be proud of yourself. Walk tall and carry your head high! • She always carries [(more formally) comports] herself with dignity and grace.

7 [+ obj] a : to have (something) in a store and ready to be sold : to keep (something) in stock • Our grocery store carries a good selection of wines. • We no longer carry that brand. b : to have (someone or something) on a list or record • The company carries nearly 200 employees on its payroll.

8 [+ obj] a : to have (something) as a quality or characteristic • All of our products carry a lifetime guarantee. • Your promises would carry more weight [=they would be more meaningful] if you didn't break them so often. b : to be marked or labeled with (something) • Cigarettes are required to carry a government health warning. • men who carry the physical scars of war

9 [+ obj] : to have (something) as a result or consequence • Such crimes carry [=entail, involve] a heavy penalty. • The surgery does carry certain risks. — often + with • You must understand that the job carries with it great responsibility.

10 [+ obj] : to have (something) as a duty or responsibility • I'm carrying a full course load this semester. • He carries the weight of the world on his shoulders. [=he feels much pressure because he has great responsibilities]

11 [+ obj] : to be responsible for the success of (something or someone) • He's a player that's capable of carrying a team on his own. • Her spectacular performance as Carmen carried the opera.

12 a [+ obj] : to make (something) continue • They carried [=took, extended] the game into the 10th inning. • The newspaper carried the story over to the following page. • The design calls for the columns to be carried all the way up to the top of the building. • carrying the war to another continent b [no obj] : to travel a long distance • His deep voice carries well. • Baseballs don't carry well in cold weather.

13 [+ obj] : to continue (something) beyond a normal or acceptable limit • He realized that he had carried the joke too far and hurt her feelings. — see also carry (something) to extremes at ²EXTREME

14 [+ obj] : to sing (a tune) correctly • I've never been able to carry a tune.

15 [+ obj] : to present (a story, sports event, TV show, etc.) to the public • Channel 9 will carry the game. • Every local newspaper carried [=ran] the photograph. • The trial was carried live [=broadcast as it was happening] on television.

16 a : to cause (a bill or an official proposal) to be passed or adopted [+ obj] — often used as (be) carried • The bill was carried in the Senate by a vote of 75–25. [no obj] He called for a motion to stop debate, but the motion did not carry. • The motion carried unanimously. [=everyone voted to pass it] b [+ obj] chiefly US : to win a majority of votes in (a state, legislature, etc.) • The bill carried the Senate by a vote of 75–25. • In the presidential election of 1936, Franklin D. Roosevelt carried [=won, took] all the states except Maine and Vermont.

17 [+ obj] : to move (a number) from one column to another when you are adding numbers together • When you added these two numbers, you forgot to carry the 1.

be/get carried away : to be so excited that you are no longer in control of your behavior • I shouldn't have behaved like that. I just got carried away. • Just relax! There's no need to get carried away. • They allowed themselves to be carried away by fear.

carry all/everything before you literary : to be completely successful • This young boxer has the talent to carry all before him.

carry a torch for see ¹TORCH

carry coals to Newcastle see COAL

carry into effect see ¹EFFECT

carry off [phrasal verb] carry off (something) or carry (something) off 1 : to do (something difficult) successfully : to achieve or accomplish (something) • He tried to look cool but couldn't carry it off. [=pull it off] • She's the only actress I know with enough talent to carry this off. 2 : to win (something) • We carried off the prize.

carry on [phrasal verb] 1 : to continue to do what you have been doing • I didn't mean to interrupt you—please carry on. • She carried on as if nothing had happened. : to continue despite problems • I know it's difficult, but you need to carry on as best you can. 2 : to behave or speak in an excited or foolish way • They laughed and carried on like they were old friends. • We were embarrassed by the way he was carrying on. • She's always carrying on [=talking in an excited way] about her neighbors. • screaming, crying, and carrying on — see also CARRYINGS-ON, CARRY-ON 3 carry on (something) a : to manage or participate in (an activity) • She carried on an affair with her boss. • It's too noisy in here to carry on a conversation. • The police are carrying on [=conducting] an investigation into his murder. • carrying on a campaign against illegal drug use b : to continue doing (something) • The money allows us to carry on our research. • Although the teacher spoke to them, they just carried on [=went on, kept on] talking. c : to cause (something, such as a tradition) to continue • We were the only ones left to carry on the tradition. • carrying on the family name 4 carry on with (something) : to continue doing or participating in (an activity) • Please carry on with what you were doing. • They carried on with their conversation. 5 carry on with (someone) chiefly Brit, old-fashioned : to have an often immoral sexual relationship with (someone) • I found out that he had been carrying on with [(more commonly) fooling around with] my sister.

carry out [phrasal verb] carry (something) out or carry out (something) 1 : to do and complete (something) • We carried out several experiments to test the theory. • An investigation carried out several years ago revealed no new information. 2 : to act on (a promise, plan, etc.) : to do something that you said you would do or that someone has asked you to do • She failed to carry out [=fulfill] her promise. • The town has plans to build a new school, but it currently lacks the money to carry them out. • You'll be paid when you've carried out [=executed] your instructions/orders/duties. — see also CARRYOUT carry over [phrasal verb] 1 : to continue to exist or be seen in another place or situation • His unhappiness at home carried over into/to his work. • Her abilities in singing didn't carry over to acting. 2 carry (something) over or carry over (something) : to cause or allow (something) to continue in another place or situation • People can carry bad eating habits learned in childhood over to/into adulthood. — see also CARRYOVER

carry the ball see ¹BALL

carry the can see ²CAN

carry the day see DAY

carry the torch see ¹TORCH

carry through [phrasal verb] 1 a : to continue to exist or happen — usually + to • The yellow and blue theme in the kitchen carries through to the rest of the house. • Our conversation carried through to dessert. b : to continue to do something — usually + to • Though extremely tired, she managed to carry through to the finish. 2 carry through with/on (something) US : to do (something that you said you would do) • The mayor carried through [=followed through] on her promise to clean up the city. • We're beginning to carry through with [=carry out] our plans. 3 carry (something) through : to successfully finish or complete (something that you have begun or said you will do) • Whatever project you begin, you must carry it through to completion. 4 a carry (someone) through : to help or allow (someone) to survive or continue • We had enough supplies to carry us through (until spring). • His faith carried him through. b carry (someone) through (something) : to help or allow (someone) to survive or continue during (a period of time) • We had enough supplies to carry us through the winter. • His faith carried him through a difficult time in his life. • I borrowed a few more books to carry me through the summer.

fetch and carry see FETCH

²carry noun, pl -ries [count] American football : the act of running with the ball • He averaged four yards per carry this season.

car-ry-all /'keri,ɑ:l/ noun, pl -alls [count] US : a large bag or carrying case — called also (Brit) holdall; see picture at BAG car-ry-cot /'keri,kɑ:t/ noun, pl -cots [count] Brit : a small bed that is used for carrying a young baby carrying case noun, pl ~ cases [count] : a container that usually has a handle and that is made for carrying something with your hand • The guitar had a plastic carrying case.

carryings-on noun [plural] : foolish, excited, or improper actions • the questionable carryings-on of politicians • the carryings-on of teenage boys — see also carry on at ¹CARRY

¹car-ry-on /'keri,ɑ:n/ noun, pl -ons

1 [count] US : a small piece of luggage that a passenger can carry onto an airplane • I packed the book in my carry-on.

2 [singular] Brit, informal : a moment of excitement or silly behavior • She makes such a big carry-on [=fuss, stir] about everything. • What a carry-on! — see also carry on at ¹CARRY

²carry-on adj, always used before a noun : small enough to be carried onto an airplane by a passenger • carry-on baggage/luggage

car-ry-out /'keri,aut/ noun, pl -outs chiefly US

1 [noncount] : TAKEOUT 1 • We ordered Chinese carryout.

2 [count] : TAKEOUT 2 • She works in a Chinese carryout.

— carryout adj, chiefly US • carryout food • a carryout restaurant car-ry-over /'keri,ɔvə/ noun, pl -overs [count] : something that existed in one time or place and continues in another • His tendency to eat everything on his plate is a carry-over [=holdover] from his childhood. • superstitions that are carryovers from ancient times — see also carry over at ¹CARRY car seat noun, pl ~ seats [count] : a special seat for a baby or a small child that can be attached to an automobile seat and that holds the child safely car-sick /'kɑ:sɪk/ adj : feeling sick while riding in a car because of the movement of the vehicle

— car-sick-ness noun [noncount]

¹cart /'kɑ:t/ noun, pl carts [count]

1 : a wagon with two wheels that is pulled by an animal (such as a horse or donkey)

2 : a small wheeled vehicle that is pushed: such as a US : a metal basket on wheels used to hold groceries while you are shopping • a grocery cart — called also shopping cart, (Brit) trolley b US : a table with wheels used especially for serving food • a dessert cart — called also (Brit) trolley put the cart before the horse : to do things in the wrong order : to do something first instead of waiting until something else has been done • People are putting the cart before the horse by making plans on how to spend the money before we are even certain that the money will be available.

3 : GOLF CART

upset the apple cart see ²UPSET

²cart verb carts; cart-ed; cart-ing [+ obj]

1 : to carry or move (something) in a cart • We carted some dirt to the garden.

2 : to carry or move (something) • I carted all the books home. • He carted the bags away.

3 : to take (someone) away by force — usually + off • They carted him off to jail.

carte blanche /,kɑ:t'blɑ:nʃ/ noun [noncount] : permission to do something in any way you choose to do it • We gave the decorator carte blanche to furnish the house.

car-tel /kɑ:t'tel/ noun, pl -tels [count] : a group of businesses that agree to fix prices so they all will make more money • an illegal drug cartel car-ti-lage /'kɑ:təlɪdʒ/ noun [noncount] : a strong but flexible material found in some parts of the body (such as the nose, the outer ear, and some joints) • She fell and damaged some cartilage in her knee.

— car-ti-lag-i-nous /,kɑ:tə'lædʒənəs/ adj • cartilaginous tissue car-tog-ra-pher /kɑ:t'ɑ:grəfə/ noun, pl -phers [count] : a person who makes maps car-tog-ra-phy /kɑ:t'ɑ:grəfi/ noun [noncount] : the process or skill of making maps • She studied cartography in college.

— car-tog-ra-phic /,kɑ:tə'græfɪk/ adj • cartographic skills • cartographic data car-ton /'kɑ:tən/ noun, pl -tons [count]

1 : a light box or container usually made of cardboard or plastic • She got a carton of ice cream out of the freezer. • a carton of orange juice • a milk carton

2 US : a box containing things that have been packed together so they can be sold or moved • He bought a carton of cigarettes. • Several cartons of books arrived yesterday.

car-toon /kɑ:t'u:n/ noun, pl -toons [count]

1 a : a drawing in a newspaper or magazine intended as a humorous comment on something • a political cartoon b : a series of drawings that tell a story : COMIC STRIP • She enjoys reading the cartoons in the Sunday paper.

2 : a film or television show made by photographing a series of drawings : an animated film or television show • The kids are watching cartoons. • a cartoon character

3 technical : a design, drawing, or painting made by an artist as a model for the finished work

— car-toon-ist /kɑ:t'u:nɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count]

car-tridge /'kɑ:tɾɪdʒ/ noun, pl -tridg-es [count]

1 : a tube which you put into a gun and which contains a bullet and explosive material

2 : a case or container that you put into a machine to make it work • a video game cartridge • The printer needs a new ink cartridge.

¹cart-wheel /'kɑ:t,wɪ:l/ noun, pl -wheels [count] : an athletic movement in which you move sideways by placing one hand and then the other on the ground, lifting your feet into the air, and then landing on one foot and then the other foot • The children turned/did cartwheels and somersaults on the grass.

²cartwheel verb -wheels; -wheeled; -wheel-ing [no obj]

1 : to do a cartwheel • She cartwheeled across the floor.

2 : to spin or turn over in a violent and uncontrolled way • The car hit the pole and then cartwheeled across the road.

carve /'kɑ:v/ verb carves; carved; carv-ing

1 [+ obj] : to make (something, such as a sculpture or design) by cutting off pieces of the material it is made of • We carved an ice sculpture. • a carved object — often + out of or from • He carved the sculpture out of marble. • She carves figures from wood.

2 [+ obj] a : to cut (something, such as a pattern or design) into a surface — often + into or on • He carved his name on/into the table. • Their initials are carved into the tree. b : to create (something) by cutting into a surface — often + out • The Colorado River carved out the Grand Canyon.

3 : to cut (cooked meat) into pieces or slices [+ obj] Who is going to carve the turkey? • Would you carve me another slice of turkey, please? = Would you carve another slice of turkey for me? [no obj] He carved while I made the gravy.

4 [+ obj] : to create (a job, a fortune, a way of life, etc.) for yourself usually through hard work • He carved a new life for himself after the divorce. — often + out • She worked hard to carve out a career in education.

carved in stone see ¹STONE carve up [phrasal verb] carve up (something) or carve (something) up usually disapproving : to divide something into small parts • The once beautiful countryside has been carved up by developers.

— carv-er noun, pl -vers [count] • a talented carver

carv-ing /'kɑ:vɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 [count] : a carved object, design, or figure • She bought a small wooden carving of a Buddha.

2 [noncount] : the act or skill of creating carved objects, designs, or figures • an ancient people proficient in stone carving — see also WOOD CARVING carving knife noun, pl ~ knives [count] : a sharp knife that is used to cut cooked meat car wash noun, pl ~ washes [count]

1 : an area or building with equipment for washing cars • a drive-through car wash

2 US : an event at which people pay to have their cars washed in order to raise money for some purpose • Our church is having a car wash tomorrow from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Ca-sa-no-va /,kæzə'nouvə/ noun, pl -vas [count] : a man who has many lovers • He has a terrible reputation as a Casanova.

¹cas-cade /kæ'skeɪd/ noun, pl -cades [count]

1 : a small, steep waterfall; especially : one that is part of a series of waterfalls

2 : a large amount of something that flows or hangs down • a cascade of water • Her hair was arranged in a cascade of curls.

3 : a large number of things that happen quickly in a series • That decision set off a cascade of events.

²cascade verb -cades; -cad-ed; -cad-ing [no obj] : to flow or hang down in large amounts • The water cascades over the rocks. • Her hair cascaded down around her shoulders.

case /'keɪs/ noun, pl cas-es

1 [count] : a situation or occurrence that is an instance or example of something • That was true in all three cases. [=in-stances] • We usually ask for a 100-dollar deposit, but in this case we'll make an exception. • They might not let you buy the tickets yet, in which case [=and if that is true] you should try again tomorrow. • It was a case of mistaken identity. [=a situation in which someone or something is mistakenly thought to be someone or something else] • a classic case [=a typical example] of sibling rivalry

2 [count] : a situation that is being investigated or managed by someone (such as a police officer or social worker) in an official way • Her disappearance is a case for the police. • Detectives are on the case. • a murder/rape/kidnapping case • The abused child's case was turned over to state authorities.

3 [count] grammar : a form of a noun, pronoun, or adjective showing its relationship to other words in a sentence • The word "child's" in "a child's shirt" is in the possessive case.

4 the case : what actually exists or happens • A lot of people have had trouble working with him, and that was certainly the case with me. [=I also had trouble working with him] • She had expected him to come home, but that was not to be the case. [=but that didn't happen] • The doctor may or may not have been at fault, but whatever the case (may be) [=either way] the patient almost died. • Is it not the case [=isn't it true] that she took the car without permission?

5 [count] law : a situation that will be talked about and decided in court • a court case • a civil/criminal case • The lawyer agreed to take/handle the case. ♦ The phrase I rest my case can be used to say that you have finished an argument or to suggest that something proves that what you are saying is true. • I said that it wouldn't work and it didn't. I rest my case. — see also TEST CASE

6 [count] : a convincing argument • He makes a good case for cutting expenses.

7 [count] a : an occurrence of a disease or an injury • an AIDS case • He has a bad/severe/slight case of the flu. b : an occurrence of discomfort, fear, etc. • She had a bad case of the nerves/jitters/butterflies [=she was very nervous] before she gave her report.

8 [singular] : a particular person and his or her condition or character • You are a sad case. — see also BASKET CASE, HEAD CASE in any case — used to indicate that something is true or certain regardless of what else has happened or been said • I'm not sure if I'll be at the next meeting, but I'll see you Sunday in any case. [=I may or may not see you at the next meeting, but I'll definitely see you Sunday] • In any case, you still owe me five dollars.

in case 1 : for the purpose of being ready for something that might happen • Bring an umbrella in case it rains. • We brought extra money just in case. 2 — used to talk about something that might have happened or that might be true • Today is our anniversary, in case you've forgotten. • In case [=if] you're wondering, I'm looking for my glasses.

in case of : if (something) happens • That door is for use in case of [=in the event of] fire.

in that case : when that is considered : because of that • "The traffic could be heavy tomorrow." "In that case, we better leave early."

on/off your case informal ♦ Someone who is always or frequently criticizing you or telling you what to do is on your case and won't get off your case. • Her brother is always on her case about the clothes she wears. • Get off my case! I'm working as hard as I can!

— compare ²CASE

case noun, pl cases [count]

1 : a box or container to hold something • a cigarette/pencil case — see also CARRYING CASE

2 : the contents of a box • They drank a case [=four six-packs; 24 bottles] of beer.

— compare ¹CASE

3 case verb cases; cased; cas-ing [+ obj] : to study or watch (a house, store, etc.) with plans to rob it — often used in the phrase case the joint • A couple of robbers decided to case the joint.

case history noun, pl ~ -ries [count] : a record that shows a person's past illnesses, treatments, and other information for use by doctors, social workers, etc. • The patient's case history showed recurring fits of depression.

case in point noun [singular] : a specific example used to show that something you have said is true • He spends a lot of money on unnecessary things. A case in point is his collection of rare sports cars.

case law noun [noncount] : law that is based on decisions that judges have made in past cases • Case law says that a person has a right to privacy.

case-load /'keɪs,ləʊd/ noun, pl -loads [count] : the number or amount of cases handled by a court, social worker, etc. • We have a heavy/light caseload today.

case-ment /'keɪsmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count] : a window that opens on hinges like a door — called also casement window; see picture at WINDOW case study noun, pl ~ -ies [count] : a published report about a person, group, or situation that has been studied over time • a case study of prisoners; also : a situation in real life that can be looked at or studied to learn about something • The company's recent history is a case study in bad management.

case-work /'keɪs,wɜːk/ noun [noncount] : the work done by a social worker to help fix the problems of a person or family — case-work-er /'keɪs,wɜːkə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

cash /'kæʃ/ noun [noncount]

1 : money in the form of coins and bills • The vending machine only accepts cash. • The fine may be paid by check or in cash. • He offered to pay cash for the truck. — often used before another noun • cash payments/prizes/sums

2 : money along with other things (such as stocks) that can be quickly changed into money • The company has $4 million in cash.

2 cash verb cash-es; cash-ed; cash-ing [+ obj] : to give or get cash for (a check) • The store wouldn't cash the check. • He cash-ed his paycheck at the bank.

cash in [phrasal verb] 1 cash in (something) or cash (something) in : to obtain money for (something that you own) • She cash-ed in her stocks. • cash in an insurance policy 2 a cash in on (something) : to take advantage of something in order to make money • The magazine is planning to cash in on the hype surrounding the celebrity's wedding by publishing exclusive photos of the ceremony. • Carpenters cash-ed in on the construction boom. • stores cashing in on Christmas b cash in : to make money from something • He is going to cash in big [=make a lot of money] when he sells his house at the beach.

cash-and-car-ry /,kæʃn'keri/ noun, pl -ries [count] : a store where businesses and other customers can pay cash for goods at low prices and take them away instead of having them delivered

— cash-and-carry adj, always used before a noun • items sold on a cash-and-carry basis

cash bar noun, pl ~ bars [count] : a place at a party where guests can buy drinks • They had a cash bar at their wedding reception.

cash card noun, pl ~ cards [count] Brit : a card that is used to get money from an ATM : an ATM card — compare BANK CARD cash cow noun, pl ~ cows [count] : someone or something that makes a lot of money for a business, organization, etc. • The football team was a cash cow for the university. • The movie studio saw the actress as a cash cow.

cash crop noun, pl ~ crops [count] : a crop (such as tobacco or cotton) that is grown to be sold rather than for use by the farmer

cash desk noun, pl ~ desks [count] Brit : a checkout counter in a store : the place in a store where you pay for the things you are buying cash dispenser noun, pl ~ -ers [count] Brit : ATM

cash-ew /'kæʃu, kə'ʃu/ noun, pl -ews [count] : a type of roasted nut that has a curved shape — called also cashew nut; see picture at NUT cash flow noun : the movement of money in and out of a business [singular] We were able to maintain a steady cash flow. [noncount] The company is looking at new ways to generate cash flow.

1 cash-ier /kæ'ʃiə/ noun, pl -iers [count] : a person whose job is to take in or give out money in a store, bank, etc.

2 ca-shier /kæ'ʃiə/ verb -shiers; -shiered; -shier-ing [+ obj] : to remove (a person) from a position for doing something wrong • He was cashiered from the army.

cashier's check noun, pl ~ checks [count] : a check that is written by a bank and signed by a cashier — compare BANK DRAFT

cash machine noun, pl ~ -chines [count] Brit : ATM

cash-mere /'kæʒ,miə, 'kæʃ,miə/ noun [noncount]

1 : fine wool from a kind of goat from India

2 : a soft fabric made from cashmere wool — often used before another noun • a cashmere sweater

cash-point /'kæʃ,point/ noun, pl -points [count] Brit : ATM

cash register noun, pl ~ -ters [count] : a machine used in a store, restaurant, etc., that calculates the amount of cash due for a sale and has a drawer for holding money

cas-ing /'keɪsɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count]

1 : a layer on the outside of something that covers and protects it • a sausage casing • a casing for a shotgun shell

2 : a frame around a door or window

ca-si-no /kə'si:nou/ noun, pl -nos [count] : a building or room that has games (such as roulette or blackjack) for gambling cask /'kæsk, Brit 'kɑ:sk/ noun, pl casks [count] : a container that is shaped like a barrel and is used for holding liquids • an oak cask for wine; also : the contents of a cask • They drank a cask of wine.

cas-ket /'kæskət, Brit 'kɑ:skət/ noun, pl -kets [count]

1 chiefly US : COFFIN

2 : a small chest or box for jewelry or other valuable things
✧ This sense is no longer common in U.S. English.

cas-sa-va /kə'sɑ:və/ noun, pl -vas [count, noncount] : a tropical plant with thick roots that are used to make small white grains (called tapioca) that are used in cooking

cas-se-rol /'kæsə,roul/ noun, pl -roles

1 : food (such as meat, noodles, and vegetables) baked together and served in a deep dish [count] a seafood casserole [noncount] I made tuna casserole for dinner.

2 [count] : a deep dish used for baking • meat and noodles served in a casserole — called also casserole dish

cas-sette /kə'set/ noun, pl -settes [count] : a thin case that holds audio tape or videotape and in which the tape passes from one reel to another when being played • a cassette player/recorder • The songs are available on cassette. — see also VIDEOCASSETTE

cas-sock /'kæsək/ noun, pl -socks [count] : a long gown worn by a priest

¹cast /'kæst, Brit 'kɑ:st/ verb casts; cast; cast-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to throw or move (something) in a forceful way • cast [=throw, toss] a stone • Seaweed was cast up by the waves. b : to throw (a fishing line, hook, etc.) into the water by using a fishing pole

2 a : to send or direct (something) in the direction of someone or something • He cast a glance toward the door. [=he glanced at the door] • The witch cast [=put] a spell on him. b : to send (something) out or forward • The fire casts [=gives off] a warm glow. • The tree cast a long shadow on the lawn. — often used figuratively • The trial casts a harsh light on [=reveals bad things about] the banking industry. • Their argument cast a pall on the party. [=gave the party an unhappy mood] • The incident casts doubt on her honesty.

3 : to make (a vote) formally • How many votes were cast? • cast a ballot

4 a : to assign roles for (a play, movie, etc.) to actors • cast a play b : to assign (an actor or actress) a role in a film, play, etc. • She was cast as a college professor who becomes a spy. — see also TYPECAST

5 a : to shape (a substance) by pouring it into a mold and letting it harden • The metal was cast into candlesticks. • molds used for casting steel b : to form (something, such as a sculpture) by casting metal, plaster, etc. • The statue will be cast in bronze.

6 : to arrange (something) into parts or into a proper form • He cast the story in the form of a diary.

7 : to talk about or think of (someone or something) in a particular way • The war was cast as a battle against terrorism. • Health care issues are often cast in economic terms.

cast about/around for [phrasal verb] cast about/around for (something) : to look in many places for (something) • They cast about for new ways to make money on the farm. • She is still casting around for [=seeking] someone to watch her son while she is at work.

cast a (dark) cloud see ¹CLOUD

cast adrift [phrasal verb] 1 cast (a boat) adrift : to cause (a boat) to float on the water without being tied to anything or controlled by anyone — often used as (be) cast adrift • a small lifeboat cast adrift in the open sea 2 cast (someone) adrift : to cause (someone) to float on the water in a boat that is not tied to anything or controlled by anyone — often used as (be) cast adrift • They were cast adrift in a small, leaky boat. — often used figuratively • I was cast adrift in a sea of confusion.

cast aside [phrasal verb] cast aside (something) or cast (something) aside : to stop thinking about (something) • She tried to cast aside her worries and enjoy the party.

cast aspersions see ASPERSIONS

cast away [phrasal verb] cast away (someone) or cast (someone) away : to leave (someone) alone somewhere (such as on an island) as a result of a storm, shipwreck, etc. — usually used as (be) cast away • The crew was cast away on a desert island. — see also CASTAWAY cast caution to the wind see ¹CAUTION

cast light on see ¹LIGHT

cast lots see LOT

cast off [phrasal verb] 1 cast off (something) or cast (something) off : to get rid of (something) • The snake casts off [=sheds] its skin. • They wanted to cast off their fears. — see also CASTOFF, CAST-OFF 2 : to untie the rope that is holding a boat near the land • We decided to cast off and head out to sea. 3 : to remove stitches from a knitting needle in a way that does not cause them to become loose • When I finish this row, can you show me how to cast off?

cast on [phrasal verb] : to place stitches on a knitting needle • I was having trouble casting on, but I think I have it now.

cast out [phrasal verb] cast out (someone or something) or cast (someone or something) out : to force (someone or something) to go away • He was cast out of [=expelled from] the tribe. • They tried to cast out the spirits from the haunted house.

cast pearls before swine see PEARL

cast your eye over see ¹EYE

cast your lot see LOT

cast your mind back see ¹MIND

cast your net wide see ¹NET

the die is cast see ²DIE

²cast noun, pl casts

1 [count] : the actors in a play, film, or television show • members of the cast = cast members • The show features an all-star cast [=a cast that includes many famous actors] • a strong supporting cast [=the actors other than the main stars] ✧ The phrase cast of characters is sometimes used to refer to a group of people who have important roles in a book, story, or event. • The cast of characters includes President Johnson and his top advisers during the Vietnam War.

2 [count] : a hard covering that is put on an arm, leg, etc., so that a broken bone can heal • She has a cast on her arm. — called also plaster cast

3 [count] : a container that is used to give its form or shape to something that is poured or pressed into it : MOLD; also : an object that is made by using such a container • They made a mask from a wax cast of her face.

4 [singular] literary : the shape or appearance of something • His face had a rugged cast.

5 [singular] : a slight bit of color • old photographs with a reddish cast

6 [singular] : a characteristic of a person or thing : a distinctive quality • She has a skeptical cast of mind. [=she tends to be skeptical]

7 [count] : the act of throwing a fishing line into water with a pole

cas-ta-nets /,kæstə'nets/ noun [plural] : a musical instrument that consists of two small, round parts that are clicked together by the fingers cast-away /'kæstə,wei, Brit 'kɑ:stə,wei/ noun, pl -aways [count] : a person who is left alone in a place (such as an island) as a result of a storm, shipwreck, etc. — see also cast away at ¹CAST caste /'kæst, Brit 'kɑ:st/ noun, pl castes

1 [count] : one of the classes into which the Hindu people of India were traditionally divided

2 : a division of society based upon differences of wealth, rank, or occupation [count] He was from a higher caste. [noncount] a system of caste = a caste system cast-er (US) or Brit cas-tor /'kæstə, Brit 'kɑ:stə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a small wheel attached to the bottom of something (such as a piece of furniture) to make it easier to move cas-ti-gate /'kæstə,geɪt/ verb -gates; -gat-ed; -gat-ing [+obj] formal : to criticize (someone) harshly • The author castigated the prime minister as an ineffective leader. — often + for • The judge castigated the lawyers for their lack of preparation. • He was castigated in the media for making millions of dollars while the company went bankrupt.

cast

— cas-ti-ga-tion /,kæstə'geɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

cast-ing /'kæstɪŋ, Brit 'kɑːstɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count] : something made from material that hardens in a mold • The workers make metal castings for truck engines.

cast iron noun [noncount] : a very hard type of metal that is made into different shapes by being melted and poured into special containers (called casts or molds) • The fence is made of cast iron.

cast-iron adj

1 : made of cast iron • a cast-iron stove
 2 : very strong or tough • I have a cast-iron stomach. [=I can eat anything spicy, hot, etc.] • a cast-iron will 3 Brit : not likely to fail or be broken • You had better have a cast-iron [= (US) airtight] excuse for missing the meeting. • a cast-iron promise

cas-tle /'kæsl, Brit 'kɑːsl/ noun, pl cas-tles [count]

1 : a large building usually with high, thick walls and towers that was built in the past to protect against attack castle in the air also castle in Spain : a dream, plan, or idea that can never become real — usually plural • He's just building castles in the air if he thinks he can open a restaurant without any money.

2 informal : a large expensive house • Millionaires built their castles along the lake.

3 : a piece in the game of chess that looks like a castle tower : ROOK — see picture at CHESS

cast-off /'kæst,ɑːf, Brit 'kɑːst,ɒf/ noun, pl -offs [count] : something or someone that is thrown out or replaced • The books were mostly castoffs from other schools. • He assembled a bunch of castoffs [=players fired by other teams] into a good football team. • a social castoff [=reject] — see also cast off 1 at ¹CAST cast-off /'kæst,ɑːf, Brit 'kɑːst,ɒf/ adj : thrown or given away • She had to wear her sister's cast-off clothes. • cast-off players — see also cast off 1 at ¹CAST

castor Brit spelling of CASTER

cas-tor oil /'kæstər-, Brit 'kɑːstər-/ noun [noncount] : a thick oil made from a tropical plant and used in the past as a medicine cas-trate /'kæstreɪt, Brit kə'streɪt/ verb -trates; -trat-ed;

-trat-ing [+obj] : to remove the testes of (a person or animal) • Farmers castrated the bull calf. • a castrated horse

— cas-tra-tion /kæ'streɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

ca-su-al /'kæzəwəl/ adj

1 always used before a noun : happening by chance : not planned or expected • a casual encounter on the sidewalk

2 [more ~; most ~] : designed for or permitting ordinary dress, behavior, etc. : not formal • casual clothes • a casual restaurant • The atmosphere at the meeting was quite casual.

✧ Casual days are days (such as casual Fridays) when a company allows workers to dress in casual clothes.

3 [more ~; most ~] a : done without much thought, effort, or concern • She takes a casual [=nonchalant] approach to her homework. • He made a casual remark about her shoes.

b : not involving a close or serious relationship • casual sex • They are only casual acquaintances. [=they know each other but not very well] • Their relationship was casual. c : having some interest but not a lot : not serious • He's a casual sports fan.

4 : happening at certain times but not on a regular basis • She found only casual work.

— ca-su-al-ly adj • I looked casually down at my watch. • He was dressed casually in jeans and a sweatshirt. — ca-su-al-ness noun [noncount]

ca-su-al-ty /'kæzəwəlti/ noun, pl -ties [count]

1 : a person who is hurt or killed during an accident, war, etc. • a low number of casualties • The army suffered/took/sustained heavy casualties [=many soldiers were killed or wounded] in the town. • casualty rates [=the number of people or wounded killed each day]

2 : a person or thing that is harmed, lost, or destroyed : VICTIM — usually + of • The tree was a casualty of the high winds. • The factory was a casualty of the depression.

cat /'kæt/ noun, pl cats [count]

1 a : a small animal that is related to lions and tigers and that is often kept by people as a pet • I have two dogs and a cat. — often used before another noun • cat food — see also TOMCAT b : a lion, tiger, leopard, or similar wild animal

2 old-fashioned slang : a man • He's a cool cat. • You cats are crazy! — see also FAT CAT, HEPCAT, SCAREDY-CAT

Cat got your tongue? informal — used to ask someone why he or she is not saying anything • “You’ve been unusually quiet tonight,” she said. “What’s the matter? Cat got your tongue?”

curiosity killed the cat see CURIOSITY

fight like cats and dogs see ¹FIGHT

let the cat out of the bag : to reveal a secret • We wanted cat

leopard

lynx

cougar, puma, mountain lion

cheetah

domestic cat

jaguar

lion

tiger

the party to be a surprise, but he let the cat out of the bag.
like something the cat brought/dragged/drug in ♦ If you look or feel like something the cat brought/dragged/drug in, you are very dirty or untidy. • I need to take a shower—I look like something the cat dragged in.

like the cat that ate/got/swallowed the canary (US) or Brit like the cat that got the cream — used to say that someone looks very proud or satisfied about something he or she has done • After pointing out his teacher's mistake, he smiled like the cat that ate the canary.

Look what the cat dragged in! informal — used to call attention to someone who has entered the room or area

rain cats and dogs see ²RAIN

the cat's meow (US) or the cat's pajamas or Brit the cat's whiskers old-fashioned + informal — used to say that someone or something is very appealing • That car is the cat's meow. [=I really like that car] • Going to the movies was the cat's pajamas when I was a kid.

– cat-like /'kæt,laɪk/ adj • a catlike appearance • catlike movements cat-a-clysm /'kætə,klɪzəm/ noun, pl -clysms : something that causes great destruction, violence, etc. [count] floods, earthquakes, and other cataclysms • The country barely survived the cataclysm of war. [noncount] The revolution could result in worldwide cataclysm.

– cat-a-clys-mic /,kætə'klɪzmɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a cataclysmic event

cat-a-comb /'kætə,kəʊm, Brit 'kætə,ku:m/ noun, pl -combs [count] : an underground place where people are buried — usually plural • ancient Roman catacombs

¹cat-a-log (chiefly US) or cat-a-logue /'kætə,lɑːg/ noun, pl -logs or -logues [count]

1 : a book containing a list of things that you can buy, use, etc., and often pictures • She ordered clothes from a (mail-order) catalog. • a college/course catalog — see also CARD CATALOG

2 : a group of similar or related things • The band played many songs from their catalog of hits. • a catalog of failures/disasters/mistakes

²catalog (US) or catalogue verb -logs or -logues; -logged or -logued; -log-ing or -logu-ing [+ obj] : to list or describe (something) in an organized way • They use the computer to catalog books. • The chart catalogs the results of each test.

– cat-a-log-er (US) or cat-a-logu-er noun, pl -ers [count] • a book cataloger

cat-a-lyst /'kætələst/ noun, pl -lysts [count]

1 technical : a substance that causes a chemical reaction to happen more quickly

2 : a person or event that quickly causes change or action • The bombing attack was the catalyst for war. • She was proud to be a catalyst for reform in the government.

cat-a-lyt-ic converter /,kætə'lytɪk-/ noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a part of an automobile exhaust system that removes harmful chemicals — see picture at CAR

cat-a-ma-ran /,kætəmə'ræn/ noun, pl -rans [count] : a boat with two hulls — see picture at BOAT

cat and mouse noun [noncount] : behavior that is like the way a cat chases a mouse or plays with a mouse before killing it — used especially to describe a situation in which someone says or does different things to deceive or control other people, to avoid being caught, etc.; usually used with play • The governor has been playing (a game of) cat and mouse with the media, refusing to say definitely whether he will run for reelection. • The thieves played cat and mouse with the police for several days before they were caught.

– cat-and-mouse adj • a cat-and-mouse routine

¹cat-a-pult /'kætə,pʌlt/ noun, pl -pults [count]

1 a : an ancient weapon used for throwing large rocks b Brit : SLINGSHOT

2 : a device for launching an airplane from the deck of an aircraft carrier

²catapult verb -pults; -pult-ed; -pult-ing

1 [+ obj] : to throw (something) with a catapult • They catapulted rocks toward the castle.

2 a [+ obj] : to cause (someone or something) to quickly move up or ahead or to a better position • The publicity catapulted her CD to the top of the charts. • The novel catapulted him from unknown to best-selling author. b [no obj] : to quickly move up or ahead : to quickly advance to a better position • He catapulted to fame after his first book was published. • Her career was catapulting ahead.

cat-a-ract /'kætə,rækt/ noun, pl -racts [count]

1 medical : a condition in which a part of your eye (called the lens) becomes cloudy and you cannot see well — often plural • His grandmother developed cataracts.

2 literary : a large waterfall

ca-tarrh /kə'tɑːr/ noun, pl -tarrhs [count] medical : a condition in which the nose and air passages become filled with mucus

ca-tas-tro-phe /kə'tæstrəfi/ noun, pl -phes : a terrible disaster [count] The oil spill was an environmental catastrophe. • Experts fear a humanitarian catastrophe if food isn't delivered to the refugees soon. • a global/nuclear/economic catastrophe [noncount] an area on the brink of catastrophe

– cat-a-stroph-ic /,kætə'strɔːfɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • The effect of the war on the economy was catastrophic. • a catastrophic drought – cat-a-stroph-i-cal-ly /,kætə'strɔːfɪkli/ adv • The dam failed catastrophically, flooding the entire valley.

cat-bird seat /'kæt,bɜːd-/ noun

(sitting) in the catbird seat US, informal : in a very good position • The team was (sitting) in the catbird seat after winning 10 games in a row.

cat burglar noun, pl ~ -lars [count] : a thief who enters buildings by climbing up a wall and going in through a window without being seen cat-call /'kæt,kɔːl/ noun, pl -calls [count] : a sound or noise that someone (such as an audience member) makes toward a speaker, performer, athlete, etc., that he or she does not like • The pitcher heard angry catcalls as he walked off the field.

¹catch /'kæʃ, 'keɪʃ/ verb catch-es; caught /'kɑːt/; catch-ing

1 a : to use your hands to stop and hold (an object that is moving through the air) [+ obj] Catch the ball and throw it to first base. • She caught the ball with one hand. • I dropped the book but managed to catch it before it hit the ground. [no obj] I'll throw you the keys. Ready? Catch! b [+ obj] : to use your hands to grasp and hold onto (someone or something) • He caught [=grabbed, seized] her by the wrist. • He caught hold of her wrist.

2 [+ obj] : to capture and not allow (a person, animal, or fish) to escape • The police are working hard to catch the criminals and put them in jail. • "I bet you can't catch me!" she yelled to her brother. • I once caught 10 fish in a single day. • In the summer, we would catch fireflies and put them in jars. • catching mice in traps • lions catching their prey

3 [+ obj] a : to manage to find, meet, or reach (someone) at a particular time or in a particular state or condition • I caught her just as she was leaving for work. • I'm afraid you've caught me at a bad time. b : to find (someone who is doing something wrong) • The police caught him trying to steal the painting. • My teacher caught me cheating on a test. • Her father caught her smoking in the basement. • You'd never catch me doing that! [=I would never do that] • They caught him in the act (of stealing the painting). = He was caught red-handed.

4 [+ obj] : to affect (someone) in a sudden and surprising way • They were caught unprepared by the crisis. = The crisis caught them unawares. [=they were not prepared when the crisis occurred] • The announcement caught me by surprise. [=I was surprised by the announcement]

5 [+ obj] a : to suddenly stop (yourself) before you do something • Luckily, he caught himself before he gave away the secret. b : to suddenly become aware that you are doing something • He caught himself staring at her.

6 [+ obj] : to cause (someone) to be stopped, delayed, etc. — usually used as (be/get) caught • We got caught in a rain storm and had to find shelter. • I'm sorry I'm late. I was caught in traffic. • We got caught up in traffic and were late for our flight. — see also CAUGHT UP IN 1 (below)

7 : to cause (something) to become stuck and unable to move [+ obj] I caught my sleeve on a nail. • The kite got caught [=tangled] in the tree. • She tried to stand up, but her foot was caught in the strap. [no obj] My sleeve caught on a nail.

8 [no obj] : to have the parts connect firmly • I tried to lock the door, but the lock wouldn't catch.

9 [+ obj] a : to stop and hold (falling water) • They kept a bucket outside to catch the rain. b : to become covered with (something that moves through the air) • These curtains catch a lot of dust.

10 [+ obj] a : to hit or touch (someone or something) • The bullet caught him in the leg. • His last punch caught me in the jaw. • Isn't it beautiful the way the setting sun catches the tips of the trees? b : to be hit or touched by (something) • He caught a bullet in the leg. • The tips of the trees catch the light as the sun sets.

11 [+ obj] : to become affected with (a sickness or disease) • We both caught [=contracted] the flu. • I seem to catch a cold every winter. • children catching colds from each other ✧ When people say that you will catch your death (of cold), they mean that you will become sick or catch a very bad cold. • It's freezing! You'll catch your death if you go out without a coat! — see also CATCHING

12 [+ obj] : to begin to feel excitement or interest about something • I haven't caught the holiday spirit yet this year. • People are getting really interested in the sport. The whole country is starting to catch the fever.

13 [+ obj] : to attract and hold (someone's attention, interest, etc.) • I tried to catch the waiter's attention, but I guess he didn't see me. • The show is more likely to catch the interest of an older audience. • Her books have caught the imagination of children from around the world. [=children find her books very exciting and enjoyable] ✧ If someone or something catches your eye, you notice that person or thing. • There was one dress in particular that caught my eye. — see also EYE-CATCHING

14 [+ obj] : to see, smell, or notice (something) • I caught [=got] a faint whiff of her perfume. • While you're in Hollywood, you might catch a glimpse of some movie stars. • I caught sight of his red shirt and started calling to him.

15 [+ obj] informal : to hear or understand (something) • What was that again? I didn't quite catch [=hear, get] what you said. • I didn't catch your name. • Do you catch my drift? [=do you understand what I mean?]

16 [+ obj] : to become aware of (something, such as an illness) • The disease is curable if caught [=detected] early.

17 [+ obj] : to have or do (something) • You can catch [=take] a quick nap on the train.

18 [+ obj] : to get (something) through effort • I managed to catch [=get] a ride into town with some friends.

19 [+ obj] informal : to meet with (someone) • "See you soon." "Yup. Catch you later."

20 [+ obj] : to move fast enough to be next to or in front of (someone) • She caught [=overtook] the leader in the final meters of the race. • He left before I did so I had to hurry to catch him. [=to catch up with him]

21 [+ obj] : to get on a bus, train, etc., before it leaves • If you miss the first bus, you can catch the next one in 15 minutes. • If you'll excuse me, I have a plane to catch.

22 [+ obj] : to see or hear (a show, game, etc.) • I only caught the last few minutes of the game. • Did you catch the show on Channel 4 last night?

23 [+ obj] : to describe or show (someone or something) in an accurate way in art • The new portrait catches her likeness perfectly. • The novel successfully catches the atmosphere of 19th-century Paris.

24 [no obj] baseball : to play the position of catcher • He catches for the New York Yankees. • If you pitch, I'll catch.

catch at [phrasal verb] catch at (something) : to reach for and try to hold (something) • The baby caught at my dress as I walked past.

catch fire 1 or US catch on fire : to begin to burn • Newspaper catches fire [=ignites] easily. • Their house caught fire and burned to the ground. • Don't leave the towel on the stove. It could catch fire. 2 : to become very popular or effective • The idea failed to catch fire. • The singer hasn't caught fire in this country yet. • a new technology that has caught fire with the public

catch hell see HELL

catch it chiefly Brit, informal : to be punished or scolded • He's really going to catch it [= (US) catch hell] (from his boss) if he comes in late again!

catch lightning in a bottle see ¹LIGHTNING

catch on [phrasal verb] 1 : to become popular • This trend is catching on with/among college students. • Soccer is finally starting to catch on in America. 2 : to learn or understand something • Once you start playing the game, the kids will catch on pretty quickly. • It took her a while to catch on, but she eventually got the joke.

catch out [phrasal verb] catch (someone) out chiefly Brit : to show that (someone) does not know something or is doing something bad • She loved catching teachers out by asking tough questions. • The police tried to catch him out in a lie.

catch (someone) dead see ¹DEAD

catch up [phrasal verb] 1 : to move fast enough to join someone or something that is in front of you • They went so fast we couldn't catch up. — often + with or to • Slow down so that I can catch up with you. • She ran as fast as she could, but she couldn't catch up with her brother. = (US) She couldn't catch up to him. — often used figuratively • In order to catch up with its competitors in the industry, the company will need to start using more advanced technologies. • She missed several months of school and may never catch up with the other children in her class. = (US) She may never catch up to them. 2 : to learn about recent events • We haven't seen each other in such a long time; we've got lots of catching up to do! • catching up with old friends — often + on • He reads the newspaper on Sunday mornings to catch up on the news. 3 catch up on (something) : to do (something) that you could have done earlier • She has to catch up on her homework. • I hope to catch up on some much-needed sleep this weekend. 4 catch (someone) up Brit : to join someone who is ahead of you • He was ahead of me for most of the race, but I caught him up [=I caught up with him] at the end. • Go on ahead: I'll catch you up later. 5 catch up with (someone) a : to begin to affect (someone) usually in a bad way • All those late nights are really starting to catch up with me! • Old age catches up with everyone in the end. b : to find and arrest (someone) • The police eventually caught up with him in Texas. c informal : to meet with (someone) • I've got to go. I'll catch up with you later.

catch your breath see BREATH

caught in the middle see ²MIDDLE

caught short 1 : not having enough of something • Don't be caught short! Make sure you stock up on supplies before you set out on your trip. 2 Brit, informal : having a sudden urge to use the toilet caught up in 1 : involved in (a difficult or confusing situation) • Several members of Congress were caught up in the scandal. • How did you get caught up in this mess? — see also ¹CATCH 6 (above) 2 : excited about something and having trouble thinking about anything else • Everyone was caught up in the excitement. • Try not to get too caught up in the moment.

— catch-able /'kætʃəbəl, 'ketʃəbəl/ adj • a catchable ball

²catch noun, pl catch-es

1 [count] : a hidden problem that makes something more complicated or difficult to do — usually singular • The phone only costs $20, but there's a catch: you have to sign a two-year contract with the phone company. • He said he would let me borrow his car, but I knew there had to be a catch. • What's/Where's the catch?

2 a [count] : the act of stopping a moving object (such as a ball) and holding it in your hands : the act of catching something • Great catch! • The shortstop made a tough catch. b [noncount] : a game in which two or more people throw and catch a ball • She used to play catch with her dad. • Let's play a game of catch.

3 [count] : an amount of fish that has been caught • a catch of about 20 fish • She ordered the catch of the day. [=the fish offered on a particular day at a restaurant]

4 [count] old-fashioned : a person who would be very desirable as a husband or wife • He was an excellent catch.

5 [count] : something that holds an object or stops the parts of an object from moving • She fastened the catch on her purse. • The catch on my grandmother's pin broke. • a safety catch on a gun

6 [singular] : a short, sharp change or stop in a person's voice or breath while speaking • I could hear the catch in his voice when he said his dead wife's name.

catch-all /'kætʃ,ɑ:l, 'ketʃ,ɑ:l/ noun [singular] : something that holds or includes many different things • They used the drawer as a catchall for kitchen items. • "The arts" is a catch-all for a variety of activities from painting to music. — often used before another noun • a catchall phrase/term catch-er /kætʃə, 'ketʃə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : someone or something that catches something • a dog catcher • The cat is a good mouse catcher.

2 baseball : the player who plays behind home plate and catches the pitches thrown by the pitcher catching adj, not used before a noun : able to be passed quickly from one person or animal to another : CONTAGIOUS • "I have a cold." "Is it catching?" • His enthusiasm is catching. — see also EYE-CATCHING catchment area /'kætʃmənt-, 'ketʃmənt-/ noun, pl ~ areas [count]

1 technical : the area from which water flows into a river, stream, etc.

2 chiefly Brit : the area that a school, hospital, etc., provides a service to catchphrase /'kætʃ, freiz, 'kɛʃ, freiz/ noun, pl -phrases [count] : a word or phrase that is easy to remember and is commonly used to represent or describe a person, group, idea, etc. • popular catchphrases like “politically correct” • The politician asked his writers to come up with new catchphrases. [=slogans]

catch-22 or Catch-22 /'kætʃ, twenti'tu:, 'kɛʃ, twenti'tu:/ noun, pl -22's or -22s [count] : a difficult situation for which there is no easy or possible solution • I'm in a catch-22: to get the job I need experience, but how do I get experience if I can't get the job? — often used before another noun • a catch-22 dilemma/situation

catch-up /'kætʃ, ʌp, 'kɛʃ, ʌp/ noun

play catch-up : to try to reach the same position, score, etc., as a competitor after you have fallen behind • The team fell behind in the second inning and has had to play catch-up ever since. • The company has been trying to play a difficult game of catch-up ever since its competitor introduced the new product. — see also catch up at ¹CATCH catchword /'kætʃ, wəd, 'kɛʃ, wəd/ noun, pl -words [count] : CATCHPHRASE

catchy /'kætʃi, 'kɛʃi/ adj catch-i-er; -est : appealing and easy to remember • I can't think of a catchy name/title for my blog. • The new slogan isn't as catchy as the old one. • a catchy song/tune cat-e-chism /'kætə, kɪzəm/ noun, pl -chisms

1 [noncount] : a collection of questions and answers that are used to teach people about the Christian religion • They went to school to learn their catechism. • He taught catechism at Sunday school.

2 [count] : a book that explains the beliefs of the Christian religion by using a list of questions and answers cat-e-gor-i-cal /,kætə'gorɪkəl/ also cat-e-gor-ic /,kætə'gorɪk/ adj : said in a very strong, clear, and definite way • He issued a categorical denial about his involvement in the deal. • a categorical statement

— cat-e-gor-i-cal-ly /,kætə'gorɪkli/ adv • She categorically denied the accusation. • The statement is categorically false/untrue.

cat-e-go-rize also Brit cat-e-go-rise /'kætɪgə, raɪz/ verb -riz-es; -rized; -riz-ing [+ obj] : to put (someone or something) into a group of similar people or things : to put (people or things) into categories • This software lets you categorize your photographs in many different ways. • Would you categorize [=classify] this book as science fiction? • Their opinions can be categorized as conservative. • Birds are categorized by type in this field guide.

— cat-e-go-ri-za-tion also Brit cat-e-go-ri-sa-tion /,kætɪgərə'zeɪʃən, Brit ,kætɪgə, raɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount] cat-e-go-ry /'kætə, gori, Brit 'kætəgri/ noun, pl -ries [count] : a group of people or things that are similar in some way • The cars belong to the same category. • Taxpayers fall into one of several categories. • She competed for the award in her age category.

ca-ter /'keɪtə/ verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing : to provide food and drinks at a party, meeting, etc., especially as a job [no obj] The restaurant caters for parties/banquets/receptions. [+ obj] A local restaurant catered the banquet/meal/reception. • The awards ceremony will be a catered event/affair.

cater to (chiefly US) or chiefly Brit cater for [phrasal verb] cater to/for (someone or something) : to provide what is wanted or needed by (someone or something) • The inn caters exclusively to foreign tourists. • The library caters to [=serves] scientists. • That store caters to middle-class taste. • The hotel caters to your every need. [=the hotel provides everything that you need] • (disapproving) As a child he was spoiled by parents who catered to his every need.

— ca-ter-er /'keɪtərə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • a successful cook and caterer • The party was serviced by the best caterer in the area. — catering noun [noncount] • Who did the catering for the party? • She runs a catering business.

cat-er-cor-ner /'kæti, kɔənə/ adv, US : KITTY-CORNER

cat-er-pil-lar /'kætə, pɪlə/ noun, pl -lars [count] : a small creature that is like a worm with many legs and that changes to become a butterfly or moth cat-er-waul /'kætə, wɔ:l/ verb -wauls; -wauled; -waul-ing [no obj]

1 : to make a very loud and unpleasant sound • Some animal was caterwauling in my backyard last night.

2 : to protest or complain noisily • He continues to caterwaul about having to take the blame.

— caterwaul noun, pl -wauls [count] cat-fight /'kæt, faɪt/ noun, pl -fights [count] informal : an angry fight or argument between two women

cat-fish /'kæt, fɪʃ/ noun, pl cat-fish [count, noncount] : a type of fish that has a large head and long thin parts that look like a cat's whiskers around its mouth — see color picture on page C8 cat-gut /'kæt, gʌt/ noun [noncount] : a tough cord made from the intestines of animals (such as sheep) and used as strings for musical instruments, tennis rackets, etc.

ca-thar-sis /kə'thɑːsɪs/ noun, formal : the act or process of releasing a strong emotion (such as pity or fear) especially by expressing it in an art form [noncount] Acting is a means of catharsis for her. [singular] Painting/music/writing is a catharsis for me.

— ca-thar-tic /kə'thɑːtɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a cathartic experience

ca-the-dral /kə'thiːdrəl/ noun, pl -drals [count] : the main church of an area that is headed by a bishop cathedral ceiling noun, pl ~ -ings [count] : a high ceiling that has two sides that slant downwards from a pointed top

Cath-er-ine wheel /'kæθɪn-/ noun, pl ~ wheels [count] Brit : PINWHEEL 2

cath-e-ter /'kæθətə/ noun, pl -ters [count] medical : a thin tube that is put into the body to remove or inject a liquid or to keep a passage open

— cath-e-ter-i-za-tion also Brit cath-e-ter-i-sa-tion /,kæθətərə'zeɪʃən, Brit ,kæθətə, raɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [noncount] The patient underwent cardiac catheterization. [count] The surgeon has performed hundreds of catheterizations over the years.

cath-ode /'kæ, θoud/ noun, pl -odes [count] technical : the part of an electrical device (such as a battery) where electrons enter — compare ANODE

cathode-ray tube noun, pl ~ tubes [count] : a large tube that shows a picture on a screen (such as a television or computer screen) — abbr. CRT

cath-o-lic /'kæθlɪk/ adj

1 Catholic : of or relating to the Roman Catholic Church • a Catholic bishop/nun/priest • My son goes to a local Catholic school. [=a school run by the Roman Catholic Church]

2 formal : including many different things • She is a novelist who is catholic in her interests. • He has catholic tastes in art and music. [=he likes many different things in art and music]

Cath-o-lic /'kæθlɪk/ noun, pl -lics [count] : a person who is a member of the Roman Catholic Church

Ca-thol-i-cism /kə'thɑːlɪsɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : the Roman Catholic religion • He converted to Catholicism.

cat-house /'kæt, haus/ noun, pl -hous-es [count] US slang : a place where prostitutes are available : BROTHEL cat-kin /'kætkən/ noun, pl -kins [count] : a bunch of flowers that grow in close rows on the branches of trees (such as willows or birches) cat-nap /'kæt, næp/ noun, pl -naps [count] : a short period of sleep : a brief nap • He took/had a catnap.

— cat-nap verb -naps; -napped; -nap-ping [no obj] • She closed her eyes to catnap while her friend drove the car.

cat-nip /'kæt, nɪp/ noun [noncount] : a type of mint that has a strong smell which is attractive to cats

CAT scan /'kæt-/ noun, pl ~ scans [count] medical : a picture of the inside of a part of your body that is made by a computerized machine — called also CT scan — CAT scanner noun, pl ~ -ners [count]

cat's cradle noun

1 [noncount] : a game played with a string that is wrapped around your fingers in complex patterns

2 [singular] : something that is very complicated • a cat's cradle of government regulations cat's-eye /'kæts, aɪ/ noun, pl -eyes [count]

1 : a jewel that has a pale stripe running down its middle which makes it look like the eye of a cat

2 US : a marble with round circles that look like eyes

Cats-eye /'kæts, aɪ/ trademark, Brit — used for an object caterpillar

that is placed on the surface of a road and which reflects light from a car's headlights to make the road easier to see cat-suit /'kæt,su:t/ noun, pl -suits [count] : a tight piece of clothing that covers the body and legs and sometimes the arms

cat-sup /'kɛtʃəp/ noun [noncount] US : KETCHUP

cat-tail /'kæt,tɛɪl/ noun, pl -tails [count] US : a tall plant that has long flat leaves and that grows in wet areas — called also (Brit) bulrush

cat-tery /'kætəri/ noun, pl -ter-ies [count] chiefly Brit : a place where cats are kept while their owners are away — compare KENNEL cat-tle /'kæt/ noun [plural] : cows, bulls, or steers that are kept on a farm or ranch for meat or milk • a herd of cattle • His family used to raise cattle. • The people in the crowd were treated like cattle as they tried to leave the stadium. — often used before another noun • cattle feed • a cattle herd • the cattle industry • My uncle has a cattle ranch.

cattle call noun, pl ~ calls [count] US, informal : an audition for actors in a movie, television show, etc.

cattle guard noun, pl ~ guards [count] US : a set of bars placed over a shallow hole that is used to stop cattle from crossing a road — called also (Brit) cattle grid

cat-tle-man /'kæt|mən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] chiefly US : a person who raises or takes care of cattle cattle prod noun, pl ~ prods [count] : a device that is used to make cattle move by giving them an electric shock cat-ty /'kæti/ adj cat-ti-er; -est disapproving : unkind or critical — used especially to describe a comment made by a woman • She said something catty about the way they were dressed. • catty comments/remarks

— cat-ti-ly /'kætəli/ adv — cat-ti-ness /'kætinəs/ noun [noncount] cat-ty-corner /'kæti,kɔənə/ or cat-ty-cornered /'kæti,kɔənəd/ adv, US : KITTY-CORNER

CATV abbr cable television

cat-walk /'kæt,wɔ:k/ noun, pl -walks [count]

1 : a narrow structure for people to walk on along a bridge or high up on the side of a building

2 : the raised structure that models walk along in a fashion show

Cau-ca-sian /kə'keɪzən, Brit kə'keɪziən/ noun, pl -sians [count] : a person who has white or pale skin : a white person • The disease is largely associated with Caucasians.

— Caucasian adj • The police were looking for a Caucasian [=white] male.

¹cau-cus /'kɑ:kəs/ noun, pl -cus-es [count]

1 : a meeting of members of a political party for the purpose of choosing candidates for an election • a presidential caucus [=a meeting to decide who the party's candidate for the presidential election will be]

2 : a group of people (such as members of the U.S. Congress) who meet to discuss a particular issue or to work together for a shared, usually political goal • the Congressional Arts Caucus • the National Women's Political Caucus

²caucus verb -cuses; -cused; -cus-ing [no obj] US : to meet in a caucus • Democrats/Republicans caucused last week to choose their candidates.

caught past tense and past participle of ¹CATCH

caul-dron also US cal-dron /'kɑ:ldrən/ noun, pl -drons [count] : a large pot • a witch's cauldron — often used figuratively • The area was a cauldron of violence. • a seething cauldron of intense emotions

cau-li-flow-er /'kɑ:li,flawə/ noun, pl -ers [count, noncount] : a vegetable that is grown for its head of white flowers — see color picture on page C4

cauliflower ear noun, pl ~ ears [count] : an ear that is permanently damaged and swollen after being hit many times

caulk /'kɑ:k/ verb caulks; caulked; caulk-ing [+ obj] : to fill the cracks or holes in (something) with a substance that keeps out water • He carefully caulked the area around the windows.

— caulk noun [noncount] • He filled the cracks with caulk.

caus-al /'kɑ:zəl/ adj, formal

1 : relating to or showing the cause of something • No causal connection/relationship between the events was found. • There is a causal link between poverty and crime.

2 : making something happen : causing something • The causal [=causative] agent of the disease is a fungus.

— caus-al-ly adv • The events are causally related.

cau-sal-i-ty /kə'zæləti/ noun [noncount] formal

1 : the relationship between something that happens or exists and the thing that causes it • Scientists found no causality between the events.

2 : the idea that something can cause another thing to happen or exist • the principle of causality

cau-sa-tion /kə'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] formal

1 : the act or process of causing something to happen or exist • the role of heredity in the causation of cancer

2 : the relationship between an event or situation and a possible reason or cause • He claimed that the accident caused his injury, but the court ruled that he did not provide sufficient evidence of causation.

caus-a-tive /'kɑ:zətɪv/ adj, formal : making something happen or exist : causing something • A virus was found to be the causative agent of smallpox. • Speed was a causative factor in the accident. [=speed helped to cause the accident]

¹cause /'kɑ:z/ noun, pl caus-es

1 [count] : something or someone that produces an effect, result, or condition : something or someone that makes something happen or exist • His symptoms had no apparent physical causes. • She is the cause of all their problems. • He died of/from natural causes. [=he died because of old age or an illness] — often + of • The doctor determined the cause of death. • The exact cause of the accident/fire is not known.

2 : a reason for doing or feeling something [noncount] The medicine was prescribed without good cause. — often + for • There is some cause for concern. [=some reason to be concerned/worried] [singular] Their marriage was a cause for celebration. — see also PROBABLE CAUSE

3 [count] : something (such as an organization, belief, idea, or goal) that a group or people support or fight for • I can support a cause that means something to me. • I'm willing to donate money as long as it's for a good/worthy cause.

lost cause : a person or thing that is certain to fail • She decided her acting career was a lost cause. • I'm a lost cause when it comes to anything technical.

make/find common cause formal : to join together with someone in order to achieve a shared goal • He has made common cause with political rivals to defeat the proposed new law.

²cause verb causes; caused; caus-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (something) happen or exist : to be the cause of (something) • He swerved and caused an accident. • The flood caused great hardship. • The illness is caused by a virus.

2 : to make (someone) feel, have, or do something • The flood caused the town great hardship. • You caused us a lot of extra work. — often followed by to + verb • His boss caused him to resign. [=his boss made him resign] • His nervous behavior caused me to question his innocence.

¹cause /'kɑ:z, kəz/ conj : BECAUSE — used in informal speech • “Why did he do that?” “‘Cause I told him to.”

cause cé-lè-bre also cause ce-le-bre /,kɑ:zə'lebrə/ noun, pl causes cé-lè-bres also causes ce-le-bres /,kɑ:zə'lebrə/ [count] formal : a legal case or an event that a lot of people become interested in — usually singular • The case became a cause célèbre for/among environmentalists.

cause-way /'kɑ:z,weɪ/ noun, pl -ways [count] : a raised road or path that goes across wet ground or water • The island is linked by a causeway to the mainland.

caus-tic /'kɑ:stɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : able to destroy or burn something by chemical action • The chemical was so caustic that it ate through the pipes.

2 : very harsh and critical • caustic film reviews • She wrote a caustic report about the decisions that led to the crisis. • caustic humor/wit

— caus-ti-cal-ly /'kɑ:stɪkli/ adv

caustic soda noun [noncount] chiefly Brit : LYE

cau-ter-ize also Brit cau-ter-ise /'kɑ:tə,raɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] medical : to burn (something, such as a wound) with heat or a chemical substance in order to destroy infected tissue • The doctors cauterized the wound.

— cau-ter-i-za-tion also Brit cau-ter-i-sa-tion /,kɑ:tərə'zeɪʃən, Brit ,kɑ:tə,raɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

¹cau-tion /'kɑ:ʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : care taken to avoid danger or risk : a careful attitude or way of behaving • You should use caution when operating the electric saw. • He injected a note/word of caution in his talk. • Her financial adviser urged caution before investing in the project. • Investors should exercise caution. • The roads are slippery: drive with extreme caution.

2 : a warning telling someone to be careful [count] Her comments were intended as a caution to us to protect our property. [noncount] A note/word of caution be sure that the electricity is off before you install the ceiling fan.

3 [count] Brit, law : a spoken official warning given to someone who has done something illegal but has not committed a serious crime • She was given a caution by the magistrate.

throw/flip/cast caution to the wind : to stop being careful and do something that is dangerous or that might result in failure • After thinking about it for years, he finally threw/flung/cast caution to the wind, quit his job, and started his own company.

²caution verb -tions; -tioned; -tion-ing

1 : to warn or tell (someone) about a possible danger, problem, etc. [+ obj] She cautioned me not to decide too quickly. = She cautioned (me) that I shouldn't decide too quickly. • Officials are cautioning that the war may continue for years. • "Don't decide too quickly," she cautioned. [no obj] — + against • I would caution against getting involved with him.

2 [+ obj] Brit, law : to give a caution to (someone) • He was cautioned for speeding.

cau-tion-ary /'kɑ:ʃə,neri, Brit 'kɑ:ʃənri/ adj : giving a warning about a possible danger, problem, etc. • The story is a cautionary tale of what can happen when greed takes over.

cau-tious /'kɑ:ʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : careful about avoiding danger or risk • Any cautious tourist will guard her passport. • You cannot be overly/too cautious when you're driving in snow. • He answered the question with a cautious reply.

— cau-tious-ly adv [more ~; most ~] • She cautiously moved down the dark hall. — cau-tious-ness noun [noncount] • They proceeded with cautiousness. [=caution]

cav-al-cade /,kævəl'keɪd/ noun, pl -cades [count]

1 : a line of riders, vehicles, etc., moving along in the same direction • The cavalcade arrived at the hotel. • a cavalcade of antique cars

2 literary : a series of related things • the cavalcade of years • a cavalcade of natural disasters

cav-a-lier /,kævə'liə/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : having or showing no concern for something that is important or serious • They are too cavalier in their treatment of others. • The writer is very cavalier [=careless] about the truth. • She has a cavalier attitude about/towards spending money. • He has a cavalier disregard for the rights of others. — cav-a-lier-ly adv • He cavalierly disregarded their advice.

cav-al-ry /'kævəlri/ noun : the part of an army that in the past had soldiers who rode horses and that now has soldiers who ride in vehicles or helicopters [noncount] Cavalry is used to perform reconnaissance. [plural] The cavalry were brought in to support the mission. — often used before another noun • cavalry forces/officers/troops — compare INFANTRY

cav-al-ry-man /'kævəlrimən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a soldier who is in the cavalry

¹cave /'keɪv/ noun, pl caves [count] : a large hole that was formed by natural processes in the side of a cliff or hill or under the ground

²cave verb caves; caved; cav-ing

cave in [phrasal verb] 1 a : to fall down or inward • We need to keep the walls from caving in. [=collapsing] • The roof caved in on them. b cave (something) in or cave in (something) : to cause (something) to fall down or inward • The weight of the snow caved in the roof. 2 informal : to stop trying to resist or oppose something : to give in or submit to pressure • We kept asking her to come and she finally caved in. • He caved in to the pressure to resign. — sometimes used in U.S. English without in • We kept asking her to come and she finally caved. — see also CAVE-IN ca-ve-at /'kævi,ɑ:t, Brit 'kæviæt/ noun, pl -ats [count] formal : an explanation or warning that should be remembered when you are doing or thinking about something • His investment advice comes with a caveat: that the stock market is impossible to predict with absolute accuracy.

ca-ve-at emp-tor /'kævi,ɑ:t'emptə/ noun [noncount] law : the principle that a person who buys something is responsible for making sure that it is in good condition, works properly, etc.

cave-in /'keɪv,ɪn/ noun, pl -ins [count] : an occurrence in which something (such as the roof or walls of a building or cave) suddenly falls down or inward • There are important safety procedures to prevent cave-ins in mines. • They explored the area of the cave-in. — see also cave in at ²CAVE cave-man /'keɪv,mæn/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count]

1 : a person who lived in a cave in ancient times

2 informal : a man who acts in a very rude and aggressive way cav-er /'keɪvə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who explores caves : SPELUNKER

cav-ern /'kævən/ noun, pl -erns [count] : a large cave cav-ern-ous /'kævənəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] of a building or room : resembling a large cave : very large • We toured the cavernous airplane hangar. • The dance was held in a cavernous hall. • a cavernous auditorium

cav-i-ar /'kævi,ɑ:/ noun [noncount] : the eggs of a large fish (such as the sturgeon) that are salted and eaten as food cav-il /'kævəl/ verb cav-ils; US cav-iled or Brit cav-illed; US cav-il-ing or Brit cav-il-ling [no obj] formal : to complain about things that are not important • I don't intend to cavil or compromise. • A customer caviled about/over/at the price.

— cavil noun, pl -ils [count] The reviewer had only a few cavils [=small criticisms] about the book. [noncount] The need for these changes is beyond cavil. [=cannot be doubted or argued about]

cav-ing /'keɪvɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the sport of exploring caves : SPELUNKING

cav-i-ty /'kævəti/ noun, pl -ties [count]

1 : a hole or space inside something • Some birds nest in tree cavities. • the abdominal/chest/nasal cavity

2 : a hole formed in a tooth by decay • I had two cavities filled at the dentist's.

ca-vort /kə'voʊt/ verb -vorts; -vort-ed; -vort-ing [no obj]

1 : to jump or move around in a lively manner • Otters ca-vorted in the stream.

2 : to spend time in an enjoyable and often wild or improper way — usually + with • The governor has been criticized for cavorting with celebrities.

caw /'kɑ:/ noun, pl caws [count] : the loud sound made by a crow or a similar bird

— caw verb caws; cawed; caw-ing [no obj] • Crows cawed in the trees. — cawing noun [noncount] • I heard the cawing of a crow.

cay /'ki:, 'keɪ/ noun, pl cays [count] : a low island made of sand or coral cay-enne pepper /,kai'en-, ,keɪ'en-/ noun [noncount] : a red powder that is made from hot peppers and that is used as a spice to give a hot taste to food • a dash/pinch of cayenne pepper

CB /,si:'bi:/ noun [noncount] : a range of radio frequencies that people and especially truck drivers use to talk to each other over short distances often while driving — often used before another noun • a CB radio; also : a radio that uses this range of frequencies • We heard the truckers talking on the CB. ♦ CB is an abbreviation of "citizens band."

CBS abbr Columbia Broadcasting System ♦ CBS is one of the major television networks in the U.S.

¹cc abbr 1 cubic centimeter • a 250cc engine 2 carbon copy — used to show that a copy of a business letter or an e-mail is also being sent to someone else • to Meg Thomas, cc Ben Phipps

²cc /,si:'si:/ verb cc's; cc'd; cc'ing [+ obj] : to send a copy of a business letter or an e-mail to someone in addition to the person addressed • Please cc the letter to me. • He cc'd the entire staff.

CCTV abbr closed-circuit television

¹CD /,si:'di:/ noun, pl CDs : a small plastic disk on which information (such as music or computer data) is recorded [count] The singer released her new CD [=a new set of songs recorded on CDs for people to buy] last month. • a four-CD set • The car stereo includes a CD player. [noncount] The band's early albums are now available on CD. — called also compact disc — compare ²CD

²CD noun, pl CDs [count] : CERTIFICATE OF DEPOSIT — compare ¹CD

CD-ROM /,si:,di:'rɑ:m/ noun, pl -ROMs : a small plastic disk on which large amounts of information (such as books, pictures, or computer programs) are stored in a form that cannot be changed [count] The dictionary comes with a free CD-ROM. [noncount] The dictionary is available on CD-ROM. ♦ CD-ROM is an abbreviation of "compact disc read-only memory." — see picture at COMPUTER

CE or chiefly US C.E. abbr Christian Era; Common Era — used to refer to the years that come after the birth of Jesus Christ • the first century C.E. • 883 C.E. ♦ C.E. has the same meaning as A.D. C.E. is now often used instead of A.D. especially in scientific writing. — compare A.D., B.C., B.C.E.

cease /'si:s/ verb ceas-es; ceased; ceas-ing formal
1 [no obj] : to stop happening : to end • The fighting along the border has temporarily ceased. • The conversation abruptly ceased. [=halted] • The noise ceased [=stopped] altogether. • when the weary cease from their labors [=when people who are very tired stop working] • The company was ordered by the court to cease and desist from selling the photographs. [=was ordered to immediately stop selling the photographs] — see also CEASE AND DESIST ORDER

2 [+ obj] : to stop doing (something) • The factory ceased operations last year. • The child would not cease his constant whining/complaining. • The soldiers were ordered to cease fire. [=to stop shooting their weapons] — often followed by to + verb • The program would cease to exist without private funding. • He had long ceased to have any regrets. • Her courage never ceases to amaze me. [=I am always amazed by her courage] — see also CEASE-FIRE

wonders never cease see ¹WONDER

cease and desist order noun, pl ~ -ders [count] law
 : an official order to stop doing something immediately • A cease and desist order was issued by the state.

cease-fire /'si:s'fajə/ noun, pl -fires [count] : an agreement to stop fighting a war for a period of time so that a permanent agreement can be made to end the war : TRUCE • The countries each sent representatives to negotiate a cease-fire. • a cease-fire agreement cease-less /'si:sləs/ adj, somewhat formal : seeming to never stop : continuous or constant • her ceaseless efforts to build and improve the business • his ceaseless complaints — cease-less-ly adv • He complained ceaselessly. [=constantly, endlessly]

ce-dar /'si:də/ noun, pl -dars

1 [count] : a very tall evergreen tree
2 [noncount] : the hard, reddish, and pleasant-smelling wood of a cedar • a chair made of cedar — often used before another noun • cedar shingles • a cedar chest/closet

cede /'si:d/ verb cedes; ced-ed; ced-ing [+ obj] formal : to give control of (something) to another person, group, government, etc. • Russia ceded Alaska to the U.S. in 1867. • The state had to cede [=relinquish] part of their territory. • The country had no choice but to cede [=surrender] control of the canal. • They ceded their authority.

ce-dil-la /sɪ'dɪlə/ noun, pl -las [count] : a mark • placed under the letter c (as in façade) to show that it is pronounced like s and not k ♦ In English, the cedilla is mostly used in words that come from French.

ceil-ing /'si:lɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count]

1 : the inside surface at the top of a room • The house has low ceilings. • a plaster ceiling • a ceiling fan [=a fan that hangs from the ceiling of a room] — sometimes used figuratively • a ceiling of stars/clouds — opposite FLOOR

2 : an upper limit — usually singular • a price ceiling • The government has put/set/imposed a ceiling on automobile emissions. • Fuel prices are going through the ceiling. [=fuel prices are quickly getting much higher] — opposite FLOOR; see also GLASS CEILING

3 technical : the greatest height at which an aircraft can fly • The airplane has a ceiling of 32,000 feet.

hit the ceiling see ¹HIT

— ceilinged adj — used in combination • a high-ceilinged room [=a room with a high ceiling]

ce-leb /sə'leb/ noun, pl -lebs [count] informal : CELEBRITY
2 • Hollywood celebs

cel-e-brant /'seləbrənt/ noun, pl -brants [count] formal

1 a : a person who performs or leads a religious ceremony • The bishop will be the main celebrant. • the celebrant of the service/Mass b : a person who participates in a religious ceremony • The celebrants lit their candles.

2 US : a person who celebrates something • The city streets were crowded with celebrants. [=more commonly] revelers, celebrators]

cel-e-brate /'seləbreɪt/ verb -brates; -brat-ed; -brat-ing

1 : to do something special or enjoyable for an important event, occasion, holiday, etc. [+ obj] We are celebrating my birthday by going out to dinner. • The family gathered to celebrate Christmas. • We are celebrating our anniversary next week. • They are celebrating the birth of their third child. [no obj] We won! Let's celebrate!

2 [+ obj] formal : to praise (someone or something) : to say that (someone or something) is great or important • The book celebrates the movies of the past. • Her lecture celebrated the genius of the artist. • We should celebrate diversity. • He is celebrated for his contributions to modern science.

3 [+ obj] formal : to perform (a religious ceremony) • A priest celebrates Mass at the church daily.

— cel-e-bra-tor /'seləbreɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count] • The dance floor was packed with celebrators. [=revelers] • a celebrator of fine wine — ce-leb-ra-to-ry /'seləbrə'tori, Brit 'selə'breɪtri/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal • The tone of the article was celebratory. • a celebratory drink/dinner celebrated adj [more ~; most ~] : known and praised by many people : FAMOUS • He is one of today's most celebrated young writers. • a celebrated book

cel-e-bra-tion /,selə'breɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a party or other special event that you have for an important occasion, holiday, etc. • a victory/birthday/holiday celebration • the town's bicentennial celebrations

2 [noncount] : the activity of doing special, enjoyable things for an important occasion, achievement, etc. : the activity of celebrating • It was a night of celebration. • We're having a dinner in celebration of their anniversary. [=as a way of celebrating their anniversary] • Your promotion is (a) cause for celebration.

3 [count] : the performance of a religious ceremony — usually singular • a celebration of Mass

célèbre see CAUSE CÉLÈBRE

ce-leb-ri-ty /sə'lebrəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] formal : the state of being famous or celebrated : FAME • The actress lived a life of celebrity.

2 [count] : a person who is famous • There were many celebrities at the party. • She's become something of a local celebrity. [=someone who everyone in the area knows or recognizes] — often used before another noun • a celebrity chef [=a chef who is famous] • celebrity interviews [=interviews with famous people]

cel-ery /'seləri/ noun [noncount] : a vegetable that is grown for its long light green stems ♦ Celery is eaten raw or cooked. • a stalk of celery — see color picture on page C4

ce-les-tial /sə'lestʃəl, Brit sə'lestiəl/ adj

1 : of or relating the sky • stars, planets, asteroids, and other celestial bodies • Sailors still use celestial navigation. [=they still navigate by using the positions of the sun and stars in the sky]

2 : of or relating to heaven : HEAVENLY • Angels are celestial beings. • The late afternoon sunlight gave the room a celestial glow. • celestial music cel-i-bate /'seləbət/ adj — used to describe a person who is not married and does not have sex • celibate monks and nuns • They have chosen to lead celibate lives. • He was celibate for many years following the death of his wife.

— cel-i-ba-cy /'seləbəsi/ noun [noncount] • a vow of celibacy
 — celibate noun, pl -bates [count] • The monks and nuns are celibates.

cell /'sel/ noun, pl cells [count]

1 a : a room in a prison, jail, etc., where prisoners live or are kept • a prison/jail cell • The suspect was in the police station's holding cell overnight. b : a small room that one person (such as a monk or a nun) lives in

2 : any one of the very small parts that together form all living things • blood/brain cells • cancer cells — often used before another noun • The nucleus splits during cell division. • Her white blood cell count is low. • the cell walls of plants

3 : any one of many similar sections that together form a larger structure • a honeycomb cell

4 technical a : a container for holding substances that are used for producing electricity by chemical action • dry cell battery • a fuel cell b : a device for changing light (such as sunlight) into electricity • a solar cell

5 : a small group of people who work together secretly as part of a larger organization or group • terrorist cells

6 US, informal : CELL PHONE

7 computers : a space where information can be entered in an organized arrangement of rows and columns : a unit in a table or spreadsheet — see picture at TABLE

— celled /'sɛld/ adj — used in combination • single-celled organisms

cel-lar /'selə/ noun, pl -lars [count]

1 : the part of a building that is entirely or partly below the ground : BASEMENT • The cellar has a dirt floor. — see also ROOT CELLAR

2 : the wines that are stored in a restaurant, in someone's home, etc. : WINE CELLAR • a restaurant with an impressive cellar

cellblock noun, pl -blocks [count] : a group of prison cells that make up a section of a prison

cel-list /'tʃelɪst/ noun, pl -lists [count] : a person who plays the cello cell-mate /'sɛl,mert/ noun, pl -mates [count] : someone who shares a prison cell with another prisoner

cel-lo /'tʃelou/ noun, pl -los [count] : a large musical instrument like a violin that is held between the player's knees while the player sits — see picture at STRINGED INSTRUMENT

cel-lo-phane /'sɛlə,feɪn/ noun [noncount] : a thin transparent material that is used for wrapping things • He wrapped the gift basket in cellophane.

cell phone noun, pl ~ phones [count] chiefly US : a small telephone that people can take with them and use outside their homes • Call me on my cell phone. — called also mobile phone, (chiefly US) cellular phone, (US, informal) cell, (Brit) mobile; see picture at TELEPHONE

cel-lu-lar /'sɛljələ/ adj

1 : of, relating to, or made of the cells of living things • Researchers are observing the course of the disease at the cellular level. • a cellular membrane

2 : relating to a system that uses radio waves instead of wires to send telephone signals • a cellular network • cellular telephone service

cellular phone noun, pl ~ phones [count] chiefly US : CELL PHONE

cel-lu-lite /'sɛljə,lait/ noun [noncount] : fat that is close to the surface of the skin and that makes the skin slightly bumpy

cel-lu-loid /'sɛljə,lɔɪd/ noun [noncount]

1 : a tough kind of plastic that was used in the past to make photographic film and other products

2 : the film used to make movies • The event was captured on celluloid. [=was filmed] — often used before another noun to refer to movies in general • The new movie is about the celluloid stars of the past. • a celluloid portrait of an aging athlete [=a movie about an aging athlete]

cel-lu-lose /'sɛljə,lous/ noun [noncount] : a substance that is the main part of the cell walls of plants and that is used in making various products (such as paper)

Cel-si-us /'sɛlsɪjəs/ adj : relating to or having a scale for measuring temperature on which the boiling point of water is at 100 degrees and the freezing point of water is at 0 degrees • the Celsius scale • The temperature reached 23 degrees Celsius. — abbr. C; compare FAHRENHEIT

Celt /'kɛlt, 'sɛlt/ noun, pl Celts [count]

1 : a member of a group of people (such as the Irish or Welsh) who lived in ancient Britain and parts of western Europe • The Celts defended their lands against the Romans.

2 : a person whose ancestors were Celts

Celt-ic /'kɛltɪk, 'sɛltɪk/ adj : of or relating to the Celts or their languages • Celtic music/history • Celtic languages

ce-ment /sɪ'ment/ noun [noncount]

1 a : a soft gray powder that is mixed with water and other substances to make concrete • a bag of cement • cement mix

b : the hard substance that is made when cement is mixed with water and allowed to dry : CONCRETE • There is a layer of cement under the bricks. • cement blocks • a cement floor

2 : a substance that is used to make things stick together : GLUE • rubber cement — sometimes used figuratively • Tradition is the cement that holds this community together.

ce-ment verb -ments; -ment-ed; -ment-ing [+ obj]

1 : to join (things) together with cement — usually used as (be) cemented • The parts are then cemented together. • A thick post was cemented to the floor.

2 : to make (something) stronger • A win would cement her reputation as a strong competitor. • The many hours they spent working together helped to cement their relationship. [=to make their relationship strong] cement mixer noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a truck that has a large container which turns when it is filled with wet cement so that the cement will not become hard — called also (Brit) concrete mixer; see picture at CONSTRUCTION

cem-e-tery /'semə,teri, Brit 'semətri/ noun, pl -ter-ies [count] : a place where dead people are buried : GRAVEYARD

ceno-taph /'sɛnə,tæf, Brit 'sɛnə,tɑ:f/ noun, pl -taphs [count] : a special structure or statue that is built to remind people of a dead person who is buried somewhere else; especially : a structure built to honor the people who were killed in a war cen-sor /'sɛnsə/ noun, pl -sors [count] : a person who examines books, movies, letters, etc., and removes things that are considered to be offensive, immoral, harmful to society, etc. • Government censors deleted all references to the protest.

cen-sor verb -sors; -sored; -sor-ing [+ obj] : to examine books, movies, letters, etc., in order to remove things that are considered to be offensive, immoral, harmful to society, etc. • The station censored her speech before broadcasting it. • His report was heavily censored. • The government censored [=removed] all references to the protest.

Do not confuse censor with censure.

cen-so-ri-ous /'sɛn'sorɪjəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : having or showing a tendency to criticize someone or something severely : very critical • The stunt earned her the scorn of her censorious older sister. • I was surprised by the censorious tone of the book review.

cen-sor-ship /'sɛnsə,ʃɪp/ noun [noncount] : the system or practice of censoring books, movies, letters, etc. • censorship of the press/media • They oppose government censorship.

cen-sure /'sɛnʃə/ noun [noncount] formal : official strong criticism • The country faces international censure for its alleged involvement in the assassination.

cen-sure verb -sures; -sured; -sur-ing [+ obj] formal : to officially criticize (someone or something) strongly and publicly • He was censured by the committee for his failure to report the problem.

Do not confuse censure with censor.

cen-sus /'sɛnsəs/ noun, pl -sus-es [count] : the official process of counting the number of people in a country, city, or town and collecting information about them • According to the latest census, the racial makeup of the town has changed dramatically in the last 50 years. — often used before another noun • census figures/data cent /'sɛnt/ noun, pl cents [count] : a unit of money that is equal to $\frac{1}{100}$ of the basic unit of money in many countries : one percent of a dollar, euro, rupee, etc. • A dime is worth 10 cents. • The car isn't worth a cent. [=the car is not worth anything]

not one red cent informal : no money at all • I would not pay one red cent for that car. [=I would not pay any money at all for that car]

two cents US, informal : someone's opinion about something • He's always ready to offer his two cents on any topic, whether he knows anything about it or not. • Can I put/throw in my two cents? [=can I give my opinion?] • If I can, I'd like to offer my two cents' worth. [=my opinion]

cent. abbr century

cen-taur /'sɛn,tɔə/ noun, pl -taurs [count] : a creature in Greek mythology that is part human and part horse cen-te-nar-i-an /,sɛntə'nerɪjən/ noun, pl -ans [count] : a person who is 100 years old or older cen-ten-a-ry /sɛn'tenəri, Brit sɛn'ti:nri/ noun, pl -ries [count] Brit : CENTENNIAL • This year marks the centenary of the building's construction.

— centenary adj, always used before a noun • a centenary year/celebration

cen-ten-ni-al /sɛn'teniəl/ noun, pl -als [count] US : the 100th anniversary of something (such as an important event) • We're celebrating the museum's centennial [= (Brit) centenary] this summer. [=celebrating the fact that it is 100 years old] • Next year will be the centennial of the town's founding. [=the day/year 100 years after the town was officially begun] — compare BICENTENNIAL

— centennial adj, always used before a noun • a centennial year/celebration

cen-ter (US) or Brit cen-tre /'sɛntə/ noun, pl -ters

1 [count] : the middle point or part of something • the center of the room/circle • The candies have a soft center. [=middle] • The staircase is in the center of the building. — often used before another noun • the center aisle/lane

2 [singular] a : a person or thing that is causing a lot of interest, argument, etc. • The proposed memorial has become a center of controversy. [=there is a lot of controversy about the proposed memorial] • He likes to be the center of attention. [=he likes to be noticed and watched by many people]

b : the position of a person or thing that is causing a lot of interest, argument, etc. • They are at the center of a furious debate over whether or not to expand the city's public transportation system. ✧ If you are at the center of things, you are closely involved in things that are happening. • He always likes to be at the center of things.

3 [count] : a building or set of buildings used by the people of a city, town, area, etc., for a particular purpose • a communications/conference center • a day-care center • The vaccine is being tested at several medical centers around the country. — see also COMMUNITY CENTER

4 [count] : a place where a particular activity happens • the financial/business/cultural center of the city • The university is becoming a center of excellence for genetic engineering. [=becoming a place where genetic engineering is done very well] — see also NERVE CENTER, SHOPPING CENTER

5 [count] : an area where many people live • a population/urban center

6 [count] : the main part of a town or city where there are many stores, restaurants, offices, etc. • the town/city center • efforts to rebuild the city's center [=downtown]

7 [singular] : the political position of people who support ideas that are not extreme : a moderate political position between the positions of people who are conservative and liberal • The party's new policies show a shift toward the center. • His political views are slightly right/left of center. [=are slightly conservative/liberal]

8 [count] sports : someone who plays a middle position on a team in sports like basketball, hockey, football, and soccer front and center see ²FRONT

left, right, and centre see ²LEFT

center (US) or Brit centre verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing

1 [+ obj] : to place (something) in the middle of something • Center the picture on the wall. — often used as (be) centered • The sign isn't centered. Move it a little to the left. • The pain is centered around/in his lower back.

2 a [no obj] : to be mainly concerned about or involved with someone or something — usually + around, round, on, or upon • Her life centers on/around her children. [=her children are the most important part of her life] • The story centers on/upon a teenage girl. • The investigation has centered [=focused] mainly on/upon the alleged misuse of public funds. b [+ obj] : to cause (something) to be mainly concerned about or involved with something — usually + around, round, on, or upon • She centers her life on/around her children. = Her life is centered on/around her children. • You should center your attention on the most important problems. • The group is centering its efforts on getting food to the poor.

3 [+ obj] : to have the main or most important part of (something, such as an organization or activity) in or at a specified place — usually used as (be) centered • an industry that is centered in the country's north • The organization has members worldwide but is centered in Cairo. • a series of arts events centered at the city park — see also CENTERED

cen-tered (US) or Brit cen-tred /'sentəd/ adj

1 : mainly concerned about or involved with something specified — used in combination with a noun • a family-centered hotel • a nature-centered religion — see also SELF-CENTERED

2 : having a specified kind of center — used in combination with an adjective • a dark-centered flower

3 [more ~; most ~] : emotionally healthy and calm • She struggled with depression for years, but she's more centered now and able to live a full life.

center field (US) or Brit centre field noun [noncount] : the part of the baseball outfield between right field and left field • a fly ball to center field; also : the position of the player defending center field • She used to be a shortstop but now she plays center field.

— center fielder (US) or Brit centre fielder noun, pl ~-ers [count] • a good center fielder

cen-ter-fold (US) or Brit cen-tre-fold noun, pl -folds /'sentə,fould/ [count]

1 : the pages that face each other in the middle of a magazine or newspaper

2 a : a picture of a person (such as a woman who is not wearing clothes) that is in the centerfold of a magazine b : a person whose picture is the centerfold of a magazine center forward (US) or Brit centre forward noun, pl ~-wards [count] : someone who plays in the middle of the front line of players in field hockey, soccer, and other sports center ice (US) or Brit centre ice noun [noncount] : the middle section of an ice hockey rink • She skated back to center ice.

center of gravity (US) or Brit centre of gravity noun [singular] : the point at which the entire weight of something can be balanced • Its low center of gravity makes the car very stable.

cen-ter-piece (US) or Brit cen-tre-piece /'sentə,pi:s/ noun, pl -piec-es

1 [count] : a decoration (such as a group of flowers) that is placed in the center of a table

2 [noncount] : the most important part of something — usually + of • He made tax reform the centerpiece of his speech. • Her voting record is the centerpiece of her campaign.

center stage (US) or Brit centre stage noun [singular]

1 : the middle section of a theater's stage • The actor stood alone at center stage.

2 : a main or very important position • As we wrap up work on the old project, a new one moves to center stage. • The issue is expected to take center stage in the elections.

cen-ti- /'sentə/ combining form

1 : hundred • centipede

2 : one hundredth part of something • centimeter

cen-ti-grade /'sentə,greɪd/ adj : CELSIUS

cen-ti-gram /'sentə,græm/ noun, pl -grams [count] : a weight equal to 1/100 gram

cen-ti-li-ter (US) or Brit cen-ti-li-tre /'sentə,li:tə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a unit for measuring the volume of a liquid or gas that is equal to 1/100 liter or 10 cubic centimeters cen-ti-me-ter (US) or Brit cen-ti-me-tre /'sentə,mi:tə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a length equal to 1/100 meter

cen-ti-pede /'sentə,pi:d/ noun, pl -pedes

[count] : a small creature that is like an insect and that has a long, thin body and many legs

¹cen-tral /'sentrəl/ adj

1 always used before a noun : in the middle of something : located in the center of a thing or place • The country is in central Africa. [=the area that is in the middle of Africa] • The house has four rooms and a central chimney. • City planners are looking for a central location for the new hospital.

2 : main or most important • The novel's central [=main] character is an orphan. • The professor has become a central [=key] figure in the controversy. • The evidence was central to the defense's case. • a central belief/claim

3 always used before a noun : controlling all other parts : having power over the other parts • The country's schools are financed by both local and central governments. • The central authority of the company's board is being challenged. 4 : designed to reach all parts of a building • The apartment has both central air-conditioning and central heating.

— cen-tral-i-ty /sen'træləti/ noun [noncount] • We should emphasize the centrality of this evidence to our case.

— cen-tral-ly /'sentrəli/ adv • The new hospital will be centrally located.

²central noun [singular] US, informal : a place where an activity takes place or a group meets : a place that is a center for an activity or group • The resort is party central for college students on spring break. [=college students on spring break have many parties at the resort] • Our family room becomes kid central on weekends.

central bank noun, pl ~ banks [count] : a bank that does business with other banks and with the government and that controls a country's money supply and interest rates

— central banker noun, pl ~-ers [count]

central casting noun [noncount] informal : the department at a movie company that chooses which actor will play each part ✧ Someone who is said to be from/out of central casting is a person whose appearance, behavior, or nature seem to be typical for their job or position. • The physics professor looks like he's right out of central casting: his white hair is disheveled, his suit rumpled, and he looks a little lost.

central city noun, pl ~ cities [count] : the center part of a large city • The central city is losing population, while the suburbs are expanding.

cen-tral-ism /'sentrə,lɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : a way of organizing a political or educational system in which a single authority has power and control over the entire system

— centralist adj

cen-tral-ize also Brit cen-tral-ise /'sentrə,ləɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj]

1 : to bring (things that are in different places) together at a single point or place • The city's hospitals hope to centralize [=consolidate] medical records in a single database. • All shipping operations have been centralized at the Miami office.

centipede

2 : to bring (something) under the control of one authority • centralize control • The controversial reforms could be used to further centralize power in the hands of one party. • a centralized authority/government — opposite DECENTRALIZE

— cen-tral-i-za-tion also Brit cen-tral-i-sa-tion /,sentrə-lə'zeɪʃən, Brit /,sentrə,lai'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

central locking noun [noncount] Brit : an electronic system that locks all the doors of a car at the same time central nervous system noun, pl ~ -tems [count] : the part of the nervous system that includes the brain and spinal cord central processing unit noun, pl ~ units [count] : CPU central reservation noun, pl ~ -tions [count] Brit : MEDIAN STRIP centre Brit spelling of CENTER

-cen-tric /'sentrik/ adj combining form

1 : having (something) at the center • The solar system is heliocentric, meaning that the sun is at its center.

2 : having (something) as a central interest, influence, subject, etc. • a Eurocentric way of thinking [=a way of thinking that treats Europe and Europeans as most important] — sometimes hyphenated • (informal) a kid-centric movie [=a movie for children]

cen-trif-u-gal /sen'trifjəgəl, Brit /,sentri'fju:gəl/ adj, technical : moving away from a center : acting in a direction away from a center

centrifugal force noun, pl ~ forces [count, noncount] physics : a force that causes an object moving in a circular path to move out and away from the center of its path — compare CENTRIPETAL FORCE

cen-tri-fuge /'sentrə,fju:dʒ/ noun, pl -fug-es [count] : a machine that uses centrifugal force to separate substances or parts of substances ♦ A centrifuge spins substances inside a container around very fast, causing the heavier substances to move to the bottom or sides of the container.

cen-trip-e-tal /sen'tripət/ adj, technical : moving toward a center : acting in a direction toward a center

centripetal force noun, pl ~ forces [count, noncount] physics : a force that pulls an object moving in a circular path toward the center of its path — compare CENTRIFUGAL FORCE

cen-trist /'sentrist/ noun, pl -trists [count] : a person whose political opinions are not extreme : a person whose beliefs fall between those of liberals and conservatives • The candidate hopes to appeal to centrists nationwide.

— centrist adj • centrist political views

cen-tu-ry /'sentʃəri/ noun, pl -ries [count]

1 : a period of 100 years • It took more than a century to complete the cathedral. • This photograph was taken half a century [=50 years] ago. • The herb has been used to treat headaches for centuries. [=hundreds of years] • a centuries-old tradition

2 : a period of 100 years counted from the beginning of the Christian era • Millions of people celebrated the beginning of the 21st century on January 1, 2000. • the third century A.D. • The pottery dates back to the sixth century B.C.E. • When the prince got married, it was called the wedding of the century.

CEO /si:ɪ'ou/ noun, pl CEOs [count] : the person who has the most authority in an organization or business ♦ CEO is an abbreviation of "chief executive officer."

ce-ram-ic /sə'ræmɪk/ adj : made of clay that has been heated to a very high temperature so that it becomes hard • a ceramic bead/bowl • ceramic tiles

ce-ram-ics /sə'ræmɪks/ noun

1 [noncount] : the art of making things out of clay • She studied ceramics in Japan. • a ceramics class

2 [plural] : things made out of hardened clay : ceramic objects • the museum's collection of ancient Greek ceramics

ce-re-al /'sɪrɪjəl/ noun, pl -als

1 [count] : a plant (such as a grass) that produces grain that can be eaten • Wheat and barley are common cereals.

2 : a breakfast food made from grain ♦ Cereal is usually eaten in a bowl with milk poured over it. [noncount] a bowl of cereal • Some kinds of cereal have a lot of added sugar. [count] Some cereals have a lot of added sugar. • breakfast cereals

cer-e-bel-lum /,serə'beləm/ noun, pl -lums or -la /-lə/ [count] medical : the back part of the brain that controls balance and the use of muscles

ce-re-bral /sə'ri:brəl, 'serəbrəl/ adj

1 always used before a noun, medical : of or relating to the brain • the cerebral cortex/hemisphere • a cerebral hemorrhage

2 [more ~; most ~] : related to the mind rather than to feelings : intellectual and not emotional • He's a very cerebral comedian. • The novel was a little too cerebral [=highbrow] for me.

cerebral palsy noun [noncount] medical : a disease that causes a person to have problems moving and speaking ce-re-brum /sə'ri:brəm, 'serəbrəm/ noun, pl -brums or chiefly Brit -bra /-brə/ [count] medical : the front part of the brain that is believed to be where thoughts occur

¹cer-e-mo-ni-al /,serə'mounijəl/ adj

1 a : used in or done as part of a ceremony • The tribe has different ceremonial masks for each ceremony. • a ceremonial dance b : including a ceremony : marked by a ceremony • a ceremonial occasion

2 : without real power or influence • His new position is largely ceremonial because all the decisions are actually made by a committee.

— cer-e-mo-ni-al-ly adv • The swords are now used only ceremonially. [=only as part of a ceremony]

²ceremonial noun, pl -als [count] : a special ceremony • a number of religious ceremonials

cer-e-mo-ni-ous /,serə'mounijəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : formal and serious : suitable for a ceremony • She read the announcement in a very ceremonious way. • a ceremonious entrance — compare UNCEREMONIOUS

— cer-e-mo-ni-ous-ly adv

cer-e-mo-ny /'serə,mouni/ noun, pl -nies

1 [count] : a formal act or event that is a part of a social or religious occasion • graduation/wedding ceremonies • There will be a ceremony honoring the town's veterans next week. — see also MASTER OF CEREMONIES

2 [noncount] : very polite or formal behavior • With great ceremony, the children presented each of the visitors with a gift. • He told them abruptly and without ceremony that they would have to leave.

stand on ceremony : to insist on doing the things that are usual or expected in polite or formal behavior — usually used in negative statements • He doesn't stand on ceremony, he gets the job done.

cert /'sæt/ noun [singular] Brit, informal : someone or something that is sure to be successful • I've got a cert [=sure thing] for the next race. • He's a dead cert [=sure bet] for player of the year.

¹cer-tain /'səʔn/ adj

1 not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : not having any doubt about something : convinced or sure • Are you certain [=sure] you want to leave today? • I feel less than certain about it. [=I am not sure about it] • She's certain (that) she can do the job despite her lack of experience. • I'm fairly certain that I'll be on time.

2 — used with it to say that something is known to be true or correct • Although little is known about these ancient people, it is certain that they grew a number of crops. • It's not certain [=definite] that the company will lay off workers. [=the company may lay off workers, but it also may not] • It seems certain that the jury will convict him.

3 — used to say that something will definitely happen or that someone will definitely do something • Before the game was half over our team's defeat was nearly certain. • Contact with the poison means certain death. • Her victory seems certain. — often followed by to + verb • As technology develops, the rates of success with the procedure are certain to improve. • Health-care costs are certain [=sure] to increase in coming years. • She is almost certain to win. • He's all but certain to say no. [=he will almost surely say no]

4 always used before a noun — used to refer to something or someone that is not named specifically • Each employee will receive a certain share of the profits. • Building even a simple bookcase takes a certain amount of skill. [=takes some skill] • Certain people are always late for dinner. • On certain days there is no parking on the street. • The new technology has certain limitations. • Students must fulfill certain requirements to graduate. • She's allergic to certain [=particular] foods. • The contract can be extended under certain circumstances. [=in some special cases] • To a certain extent [=up to a point] he's right. • The movie will appeal to people of a certain age. [=people who are no longer young] a certain 1 — used to refer to a quality that is noticed but that is difficult to explain or describe • She has a certain elegance about her. • The house has a certain charm. 2 formal — used with the name of a person you do not know • In 1889, a certain Mr. Kelly made a large donation to the church.

for certain : without a doubt : definitely or certainly • No one knows for certain what the outcome will be. • We'll need more than an hour to get there for certain. [=for sure] make certain : to do something or find out something so that you have no doubt about whether something is true, correct, will happen, etc. • Make certain (that) you lock the door when you leave. = Make certain to lock the door when you leave. • We must make certain [=make sure] this doesn't happen again. • She made certain she thanked each of them for coming. — sometimes + of • Make certain of your flight times [=be sure that you definitely know your flight times] before you leave for the airport.

certain pronoun, formal : certain ones : particular members of a group : SOME — + of • Certain of his assumptions are simply not true. • We know that certain of his classmates walk to school every day.

cer-tain-ly /'sətnli/ adv

1 : without doubt : DEFINITELY • It will certainly rain tomorrow. • This year's festival was certainly much better than last year's. • Certainly [=surely] you can do a better job than that! • I'm certainly going to try. • The new version is most certainly easier to use. • The snake that bit her was almost certainly poisonous. — sometimes used for emphasis • He didn't get the raise he was hoping for, but he's certainly not complaining. • I certainly didn't mean to offend anyone.

2 : of course — used to answer questions • "Can I speak to you for a moment?" "Certainly." • "Did I offend you?" "Oh, certainly not" [=no, you did not offend me at all] • "May I join you?" "You most certainly may."

cer-tain-ty /'sənti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the state of being or feeling certain about something • Scientists still do not know with any degree of certainity why the disease spread so quickly. • We cannot predict the outcome with absolute/any certainity. • There was no certainity that the package would arrive in time. • Her certainity about these complex moral issues is surprising. • It is difficult to say with certainty [=in a certain or definite way] which of the plays was written first.

2 [count] : something that is certain : a fact about which there is no doubt • We live in a world without certainities. [=a world in which things are not certain] • His victory in the election is almost a certainty. [=it is nearly certain/definite that he will win the election]

cer-ti-fi-able /'sətə,fajəbəl/ adj

1 informal : crazy or insane • Anyone who would run in front of a car like that is certifiable. • certifiable behavior

2 always used before a noun, chiefly US : real or genuine : AUTHENTIC • We called in a certifiable expert on legal issues. • A handful of cinema's certifiable masterpieces are in need of restoration. • a certifiable liar

cer-tif-i-cate /sə'tɪfɪkət/ noun, pl -cates [count]

1 : a document that is official proof that something has happened — see also BIRTH CERTIFICATE, DEATH CERTIFICATE, MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE

2 : a document that is official proof that you have finished school or a course of training • She has a certificate in midwifery. • He earned his teaching certificate last year.

3 : a document which shows that you own something • a stock certificate — see also GIFT CERTIFICATE

cer-tif-i-cat-ed /sə'tɪfɪ,ketəd/ adj, Brit : CERTIFIED 1 • a certificated teacher certificate of deposit noun, pl certificates of deposit [count] chiefly US : an official document in which a bank promises to pay a specified amount of interest when you deposit money in the bank for a specified period of time — called also CD

cer-ti-fi-ca-tion /sə'təfə'keɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the act of making something official : the act of certifying something • the certification of the vote • She had to wait until her certification as a nurse before she could start her new job.

2 : official approval to do something professionally or legally [count] The certifications of nine teachers were revoked. [noncount] instructor certification • The school offers scuba diving certification.

cer-ti-fied /'sətə,faid/ adj

1 : having met the official requirements that are needed to do particular type of work • a certified instructor • You must be certified in order to practice medicine. • The carpentry work must be done by someone who is certified for the job. • nationally certified [= (Brit) certificated] teachers • a board-certified doctor [=a doctor whose qualifications have been approved by an official group]

2 chiefly US a : officially approved as having met a standard • The food/restaurant is certified kosher. • certified organic vegetables b informal : real or genuine • a certified celebrity • Her boyfriend's a certified weirdo.

certified check (US) or certified cheque noun, pl ~ checks [count] : a check that is guaranteed by a bank certified mail noun [noncount] US : mail for which a person must sign an official document stating that it has been received • He sent the contract by certified mail. — called also (Brit) recorded delivery; compare REGISTERED MAIL certified public accountant noun, pl ~tants [count] US : an accountant who has finished the schooling or tests required by law — abbr. CPA — called also (Brit) chartered accountant

cer-ti-fy /'sətə,fai/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj]

1 : to say officially that something is true, correct, or genuine • A judge must certify the contract. • The document has been certified by the court.

2 : to say officially that something or someone has met certain standards or requirements • The car dealer certifies each car before it is sold. • Has your doctor been certified?

3 chiefly Brit : to say officially that someone is insane and in need of treatment — often used as (be) certified • They were both certified and spent the next year in hospital.

cer-ti-tude /'sətə,tu:d, Brit 'sətə,tju:d/ noun [noncount] : the state of being or feeling certain : freedom from doubt • moral certitude

cer-vi-cal /'səvɪkəl/ adj, medical

1 : of or relating to a cervix of the uterus • cervical cancer

2 : of or relating to the neck • cervical vertebrae cervical smear noun, pl ~ smears [count] Brit : PAP SMEAR

cer-vix /'səvɪks/ noun, pl -vi-ces /-və,sɪ:z/ or -vix-es [count] medical : the narrow end at the opening of a woman's uterus

ce-sar-e-an or cae-sar-e-an /sɪ'zerɪjən/ noun, pl -ans [count] medical : CESAREAN SECTION

— cesarean or caesarean adj • a cesarean birth cesarean section also caesarean section noun, pl ~tions [count] medical : a surgical operation for giving birth in which a cut is made in the mother's body so that the baby can be removed through the opening — called also C-section ces-sa-tion /sɛ'seɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions formal : a stopping of some action : a pause or stop — often + of [count] With news of the treaty came a cessation of hostilities. [=fighting stopped when the treaty was announced] [noncount] Relapses after cessation of treatment are common.

ces-sion /'sɛʃən/ noun, pl -sions formal : the act of giving up something (such as power, land, or rights) to another person, group, or country [count] territorial cessions from one state to another • a temporary cession [=yielding] of local control [noncount] The law required cession of the land to the heirs.

cess-pit /'sɛs,pɪt/ noun, pl -pits [count] chiefly Brit : CESS-POOL

cess-pool /'sɛs,pu:l/ noun, pl -pools [count]

1 : an underground hole or container for holding liquid waste (such as sewage) from a building

2 : a place or situation that is very dirty, evil, or corrupt • The region had become a cesspool of pollution. • a cesspool of corruption — called also (chiefly Brit) cesspit

ce-ta-cean /sɪ'teɪʃən/ noun, pl -ceans [count] technical : a mammal (such as a whale, dolphin, or porpoise) that lives in the ocean

— cetacean adj

cf abbr compare — used to direct a reader to another idea, document, etc. • This article takes a new approach to the problems of today's inner cities. (Cf Smith's earlier article on the topic.) ♦ Cf comes from the Latin conferre, which means "to compare."

CFC abbr chlorofluorocarbon

CFO abbr chief financial officer

CFS abbr chronic fatigue syndrome

cg abbr centigram

ch abbr chapter

Cha·blis /ʃæˈbli:/ noun, pl Chablis [count, noncount] : a type of white wine from France cha-cha /ˈtʃɑːtʃɑː/ noun, pl -chas [count] : a fast dance from Latin America — called also cha-cha-cha

chafe /ˈtʃeɪf/ verb chafes; chafed; chaf-ing

1 [no obj] : to become irritated or annoyed : to feel impatient — usually + against, at, or under • After working outdoors for years, he chafed at being stuck in an office all day. • Local builders are chafing under the new regulations. • She chafed against the strict policies of the school.

2 a : to cause soreness or damage by rubbing against something (such as your skin) [+ obj] When the strap is too tight, it chafes the baby's skin. [no obj] If my boots aren't laced up tight they chafe. b [no obj] : to become sore or damaged from rubbing • The baby's skin will chafe if the strap is too tight.

chaff /ˈtʃæf, Brit ˈtʃɑːf/ noun [noncount] : the seed coverings and other plant parts that cannot be eaten and are removed from grain

separate the wheat from the chaff see ²SEPARATE

chaf-finch /ˈtʃæfɪntʃ/ noun, pl -finches [count] : a small European bird

chaf-ing dish /ˈtʃeɪfɪŋ-/ noun, pl ~ dishes [count] : a dish that is used for cooking or warming food at the table

cha-grin /ʃəˈgrɪn, Brit ˈʃægrɪn/ noun [noncount] : a feeling of being frustrated or annoyed because of failure or disappointment • The fact that he'd been unable to attend the funeral was a source of chagrin for Ted. • She had gained five pounds over the winter, much to her chagrin. • He decided to get a tattoo, to the chagrin of his parents.

cha-grined also cha-grinned /ʃəˈgrɪnd, Brit ˈʃægrɪnd/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : frustrated or annoyed : feeling chagrin • They were chagrined to find (that) no more rooms were available at the hotel.

¹chain /ˈtʃeɪn/ noun, pl chains

1 a : a series of usually metal links or rings that are connected to each other in a line and used for supporting heavy things, for holding things together, for decoration, etc. [count] The neighbor's dog is kept on a chain. [=is connected to a chain that keeps it from getting away] • She wore a beautiful gold chain [=necklace] around her neck. • the ship's anchor chain • a bicycle chain [noncount] We'll need 25 feet of chain for the pulley. — see pictures on page C11 and at BICYCLE; see also CHOKE CHAIN, KEY CHAIN b [count] : a chain that is attached to the arms or legs of a prisoner — usually plural • The prisoners were kept in chains while being transferred to the new jail. — often used figuratively • The contract would keep the employees in chains, unable to leave the company for at least five years. — see also BALL AND CHAIN

2 [count] : a series or group of things or people that are connected to each other in some way • a chain of islands • The world's longest mountain chain [=group of mountains that form a long line] is the Andes. • The new book chronicles the chain of events leading up to the crime. • Protesters formed a human chain [=they stood next to each other with their arms linked] around the ancient tree to prevent it from being cut down. — see also DAISY CHAIN, FOOD CHAIN

3 [count] : a group of businesses (such as stores, restaurants, or hotels) that have the same name and basic appearance and sell the same products or services • They own a chain of organic grocery stores. • fast-food/clothing chains; also : the company that owns such a group of businesses • The hotel chain recently opened a new hotel in Hong Kong. — see also CHAIN STORE

4 [count] Brit : a number of people who each want to buy a house but must first sell their current house before moving to the next one — usually singular • Both houses are currently vacant so there is no chain to worry about.

pull the chain Brit : to flush a toilet pull/yank someone's chain US, informal : to deceive someone in a friendly or playful way • I thought he really won the lottery but he was only pulling my chain. [=he was only playing a joke on me]

²chain verb chains; chained; chain-ing [+ obj] : to fasten, hold, or connect (someone or something) with a chain • She chained her bicycle to the post and went inside. — often used as (be) chained • The neighbor's dog is kept chained (up) in the yard. • The prisoners were chained together. — often used figuratively • Many office workers spend the day chained to the computer. [=they work with a computer all day] • He hopes to spend less time chained to his desk.

chain gang noun, pl ~ gangs [count] : a group of prisoners who are chained together while they do work outside the prison chain letter noun, pl ~ -ters [count] : a letter that is sent to a certain number of people and that asks each of those people to send a copy of the letter to the same number of people chain-link fence noun, pl ~ fences [count] : a fence of heavy steel wire that is woven to form a pattern of large diamond-shaped spaces

chain mail noun [noncount] : a kind of protective clothing (called armor) that is made up of many tiny metal rings that are linked together and that was worn by knights and soldiers in the Middle Ages chain of command noun, pl chains of command [count] : a series of positions of authority or rank within an organization that are ordered from lowest to highest • In the United States, the President as the commander in chief is at the head of the military chain of command.

chain reaction noun, pl ~ -tions [count]

1 : a series of events in which each event causes the next one : a series of events caused by one single event • Increased oil prices could trigger a chain reaction in the economy.

2 technical : a chemical or nuclear change that causes other changes of the same kind to happen chain saw noun, pl ~

saws [count] : a tool that cuts wood with a circular chain that is driven by a motor and made up of many connected sharp metal teeth chain-smoke

/ˈtʃeɪn,smoʊk/ verb

-smokes; -smoked;

-smoking : to smoke

cigarettes continuously one after another [no obj] He chain-smokes when he's under a lot of stress. [+ obj] She's been chain-smoking cigarettes for years.

- chain-smok-er noun, pl -ers [count]

chain store noun, pl ~ stores [count] : a store that has the same name and basic appearance as other stores that sell the same kind of goods and are owned by the same company

¹chair /ˈtʃeə/ noun, pl chairs

1 [count] : a seat for one person that has a back and usually four legs • a chair by the window • We'll need a table and four chairs for the dining room. • Please pull up a chair [=bring a chair to where we are] and join us.

2 [count] a : the person who is the leader of a department at a college or university • He is now chair of the English department. b : the person who is the leader of a meeting, organization, committee, or event • She's chair of the school board this year. • Address any questions to the committee chair. — see also CHAIRMAN, CHAIRPERSON, CHAIRWOMAN

3 the chair US, informal : ELECTRIC CHAIR • a murderer who was sentenced/sent to the chair

²chair verb chairs; chaired; chair-ing [+ obj] : to be in charge of a meeting, organization, committee, or event : to be the chairperson of (something) • He's been chosen to chair the task force on school violence.

chair-lift /ˈtʃeə,lɪft/ noun, pl -lifts [count] : a series of seats that hang from a moving cable and that carry people (such as skiers) up and down a mountain chair-man /ˈtʃeəməɪn/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count]

1 : the person (especially a man) who is in charge of a meeting, committee, or event • He's the new chairman [=chair, chairperson] of the task force on school violence.

2 : the person who is in charge of a company or organization • the chairman of the airline company chair-man-ship /ˈtʃeəməɪnʃɪp/ noun, pl -ships [count]

: the position of a chairperson : the position of being the leader of an organization, committee, etc. • He volunteered for the committee chairmanship. • She took over the chairmanship of the company from her father.

chair-per-son /ˈtʃeə,pərsən/ noun, pl -sons [count] : the person who leads a meeting, organization, committee, or event : CHAIR • A new chairperson for the committee has not yet been appointed.

chair-wom-an /ˈtʃeə,wʊmən/ noun, pl -wom-en /-,wɪmən/ [count] : a woman who leads a meeting, organization, committee, or event : CHAIR chain saw

chaise longue /'ʃeɪz-
'lɑːŋ/ noun, pl chaise longues or chaises longues /'ʃeɪz'lɑːŋ/[count]

chaise longue

1 : a long low chair with a back along half its length and one arm

2 US : a long chair with a back that can be moved so that you can sit up or lie down — called also (US) chaise lounge

chalet /ʃæ'leɪ/ noun, pl
-lets [count]

chalet

1 : a type of house that has a steep roof that extends past the walls • We stayed overnight at a ski chalet. ♦ Chalets were originally built in Switzerland and are common where there are mountains and a lot of snow.

2 Brit : a small house often in a group of similar houses where people go for vacations

chal-ice /'ʃæləs/ noun, pl chal-ic-es [count] : a special cup for holding wine; especially : the cup used in the Christian ceremony of Communion

poisoned chalice chiefly Brit : something that seems attractive at first but becomes unpleasant • Working as store manager was a poisoned chalice as it became more and more difficult to be the boss of her friends.

¹chalk /'tʃɑːk/ noun, pl chalks

1 [noncount] : a type of soft, light-colored rock ♦ Chalk is a kind of limestone.

2 a [noncount] : a substance that is made into white or colored sticks and used for writing or drawing • The teacher handed her a piece of chalk and asked her to write the answer on the chalkboard. • He put chalk marks on the stage to show the actors where they should stand. • a chalk drawing [=a drawing done with chalk] b [count] : a piece of chalk •
They drew pictures on the sidewalk with colored chalks.

not by a long chalk Brit : not at all • Our work isn't done yet, not by a long chalk. [= (US) not by a long shot; we still have a lot more work to do]

— chalky /'tʃɑːki/ adj chalk-i-er; chalk-i-est [also more ~; most ~] • chalky white [=the color of white chalk] • chalky soil [=soil that has chalk in it]

²chalk verb chalks; chalked; chalk-ing [+ obj]

1 : to write or draw (something) with chalk • She chalked a message on the side of the barn.

2 : to mark (something) with chalk • He chalked the stage to show the actors where they should stand.

chalk up [phrasal verb] chalk (something) up or chalk up (something) 1 : to earn or achieve (something) : to accumulate (something) • As a runner, he's chalked up about 1,000 miles on the track. • The company has chalked up huge losses this quarter. 2 Brit : to charge (the cost of drinks or food) to your account to be paid for later • Chalk up these drinks to my account, please. 3 chalk (some- thing) up to (something) chiefly US : to explain (something) by stating its cause : to say that (something) was caused by (something) • Chalk it up to bad timing. • Her early mistakes can be chalked up to inexperience.

chalk-board /'tʃɑːk,bɔəd/ noun, pl -boards [count] chiefly US : BLACKBOARD

¹chal-lenge /'ʃæləndʒ/ verb -leng-es; -lenged; -leng-ing [+ obj]

1 : to say or show that (something) may not be true, correct, or legal : DISPUTE • A number of doctors are challenging the study's claims. • The new lawsuit challenges the lower court's decision. • The new data challenges many old assumptions.
[=the new data gives people reasons to doubt many old assumptions]

2 a : to question the action or authority of (someone) • She's been challenged on her handling of the problem. • None of them were willing to challenge the referee on the call. b law
: to question whether (someone) should serve on a jury • challenge a juror

3 : to test the ability, skill, or strength of (someone or something) : to be difficult enough to be interesting to (someone)

• It's a game that will challenge a child's imagination. • The work doesn't challenge him anymore, and he's often bored.

4 : to invite (someone) to compete in a game, fight, etc. — usually + to • I challenge you to a game of chess. • The duke challenged him to a duel.

5 : to order (someone) to stop and prove who he or she is •
The sentry challenged the stranger at the gate.

— chal-leng-er noun, pl -ers [count] • He hopes to be the governor's challenger in the next election. [=the candidate running against the governor] • The boxing match pitted the two-time champion against his challenger.

²challenge noun, pl challenges

1 : a difficult task or problem : something that is hard to do [count] The next major challenge for the company is to improve its distribution capabilities. • Teaching adolescents can be quite a challenge. • The band feels ready for new challeng- es. • If he takes on the new project he will face the greatest challenge of his career. • Passing the test was hardly a chal- lenge [=was very easy] for her. • The coach is confident that you will rise to the challenge. [=the coach is confident that you will succeed] • Management is seeking ways to better meet the challenge of future growth. [noncount] The ski slope offers a high degree of challenge.

2 [count] : an action, statement, etc., that is against something : a refusal to accept something as true, correct, or legal — often + to • The lawsuit is a challenge to the lower court's decision. • Both teachers have had to deal with many chal- lenges to their authority.

3 [count] a : an invitation to compete in a game, fight, etc. •
Do you accept my challenge to a game of chess? b : an attempt to defeat someone in a competition • The senator may face a challenge from within her own party.

4 [count] : an order to someone to stop and say who he or she is • The intruder fled at the sentry's challenge.

challenged adj, chiefly US : having a physical or mental problem that makes it difficult to do things as easily as other people do — used as a polite way to say that a person has a disability • She has worked as an advocate for the mentally and physically challenged. [=disabled] — sometimes used in a joking way • People call me short, but I prefer the term “vertically challenged.”

chal-leng-ing /'ʃæləndʒɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : difficult in a way that is usually interesting or enjoyable • I find the job challenging and fun. • Teaching is challenging but rewarding work. • It's a challenging book that requires careful reading. • The slope was challenging for even the most experienced climbers.

— chal-leng-ing-ly adv

cham-ber /'tʃeɪmbə/ noun, pl -bers [count]

1 : a small space inside something (such as a machine or your body) • He put three bullets into the chamber of the gun. • the chambers of the heart

2 : a usually large room where members of a government group (such as a legislature) have meetings • We waited for the senator outside the Senate chamber.

3 : a group of people who form part of a government • The U.S. legislature is separated into two chambers: the Senate and the House of Representatives. • the upper and lower chambers of the British Parliament [=the House of Lords and the House of Commons] — see also CHAMBER OF COM-MERCE

4 : a room where a judge goes to do official business or to discuss cases with lawyers outside of the courtroom — usually plural • the judge's chambers

5 formal + old-fashioned : a person's bedroom or other private room • the queen's personal chambers • a bridal cham- ber [=a bedroom used by two people who have just been married] • the temple's inner chambers

6 : a room used for a special purpose • the burial chambers inside an Egyptian pyramid • a torture chamber — see also GAS CHAMBER

— cham-bered /'tʃeɪmbəd/ adj • a six-chambered gun [=a gun with six chambers]

cham-ber-maid /'tʃeɪmbə,meɪd/ noun, pl -maids [count]
: a woman who cleans bedrooms in hotels chamber music noun [noncount] : classical music written for a small number of musicians chamber of commerce noun, pl chambers of com- merce [count] : a group of businesspeople who work together to try to help businesses in their town or city • The event is sponsored by your local chamber of commerce.

chamber orchestra noun, pl ~ -tras [count] : a small group of musicians who play classical music together chamber pot noun, pl ~ pots [count] : a container that is kept in a bedroom and that is used as a toilet cha-me-leon /kə'mi:ljən/ noun, pl -leons [count]

1 : a type of lizard that can change the color of its skin to look like the colors that are around it

2 usually disapproving : a person who often changes his or her beliefs or behavior in order to please others or to succeed • She's a political chameleon. [=she often changes her political beliefs]

cham-ois noun, pl chamois

1 /ʃæm'wa:/ [count] : a small animal that looks like a goat and that lives on mountains in Europe and western Asia

2 /'ʃæmi/ a [noncount] : soft leather that is made from the skin of goats, sheep, or chamois — called also (Brit) chamois leather b [count] : a piece of chamois used especially for cleaning windows and cars • a bucket of water and a chamois

3 /'ʃæmi/ [noncount] US : a type of cotton cloth that looks or feels like soft leather — often used before another noun • a chamois shirt

cham-o-mile or cam-o-mile /'kæmə,majəl/ noun [non-count] : a plant that has a strong smell and small white and yellow flowers that are often used in making tea and medicine • chamomile tea

¹champ /'tʃæmp/ noun, pl champs [count] informal : CHAMPION • this year's national basketball champs

²champ verb champs; champed; champ-ing : to bite and chew on (something) in a noisy way : CHOMP [+ obj] He champed his pipe angrily. • The horse was champing its bit. [no obj] He champed on his pipe angrily.

champing at the bit : waiting in an impatient way to do something • We've all been champing at the bit to get started on the project.

cham-pagne /ʃæm'peɪn/ noun, pl -pagnes [count, non-count] : a French white wine that has many bubbles and that people often drink on special occasions

cham-pers /'ʃæmpəz/ noun [noncount] Brit, informal : CHAMPAGNE • a glass of chambers

¹cham-pi-on /'tʃæmpiən/ noun, pl -ons [count]

1 : someone or something (such as a team or an animal) that has won a contest or competition especially in sports • tennis champions • the heavyweight boxing champion of the world • Our team will play the defending/reigning/current champions next week. • the newly crowned national/world/Olympic champions — often used before another noun • a champion boxer/skier/swimmer • champion racehorses

2 : someone who fights or speaks publicly in support of a person, belief, cause, etc. • He was a champion for the working classes. — often + of • She was a lawyer and a champion of children's rights.

²champion verb -ons; -oned; -on-ing [+ obj] : to fight or speak publicly in support of (a person, belief, cause, etc.) • She is a lawyer who champions children's rights. • Our senator championed the idea of lowering taxes.

cham-pi-on-ship /'tʃæmpiən,ʃɪp/ noun, pl -ships [count]

1 : an important competition that decides which player or team is the best in a particular sport, game, etc. • the heavyweight boxing championship — often plural • We made it to the basketball championships this year, but we lost in the final game. — often used before another noun • a championship game/race/match/competition

2 : the title of champion in a sport or game • The team hasn't won a championship in 30 years. • This year she'll be defending the championship. = She'll try to win the championship again.

¹chance /'tʃæns, Brit 'tʃɑ:ns/ noun, pl chances

1 : an opportunity to do something : an amount of time or a situation in which something can be done [count] I wanted to call you, but I never got/had the chance (to). • I go to the beach every chance I get. [=I go whenever I can] • This is the chance of a lifetime! • You missed your chance. • Everyone deserves a fair chance of winning the award. • If you give me a chance, I know I can do a good job. • He doesn't give second chances [=opportunities to try something again after failing one time] • If given half a chance [=if given some opportunity], she could show everyone how talented she is. — often followed by to + verb • Here's your chance to try something new. • Give me a chance to explain. • You have to give the wound a chance to heal. [=you have to allow time for the wound to heal] [noncount] We didn't have much chance to talk about it. ✧ To jump/leap/grab at the chance to do something is to have an opportunity to do something and to say in an excited way that you will do it or to do it in a very eager way. • She jumped at the chance to go to New York City. ✧ If you have a fighting chance to do something, you may be able to do it by making a great effort. • The patient still has a fighting chance to survive. • Their help gave us a fighting chance to finish the project on time.

2 : the possibility that something will happen [count] There's a good chance that we'll finish on time. • There's still a slim chance [=a small possibility] that we can win. • There's an outside chance [=a small possibility] that something could go wrong. • Chances are [=it is very likely that] she has already heard the news. — often + of • It increases/reduces the chance of getting the disease. • There's a 50 percent chance of rain this afternoon. • (Brit, informal) The challenger may not have much experience, but I still think he's in with a chance of winning. [=he has a possibility of winning] — often plural • What are the chances [=how likely is it] that we'll have nice weather today? • I think her chances of winning the election are good. • “How do you think the team will do this year?” “I like their chances.” [=I think they have a good chance of succeeding/winning] [noncount] If you are free tonight, is there any chance you could join me for dinner? — often + of • If you want to have any chance of getting the job, you'll have to dress nicely. • The prisoners had little/no chance of escape/escaping. ✧ The phrase by any chance is used when asking questions in a polite way. • Are you free tonight, by any chance? ✧ The informal phrases fat chance and not a chance are used as a forceful way of saying that there is no possibility that something will happen. • “He says that he'll get here on time.” “Fat chance!” • “Do you think they'll win?” “Not a chance!” • Fat chance of that happening!

3 [noncount] : the way that events happen when they are not planned or controlled by people : LUCK • There is an element of chance [=luck] to winning a card game. • Which cards you're given is simply a matter of chance. • We planned for everything and left nothing to chance. [=we prepared for everything possible] • That's not the kind of thing you want to leave to chance. [=that's not the kind of thing you don't want to plan or prepare for] ✧ If something happens by chance, people have not planned it or tried to make it happen. • By (pure/sheer) chance, I saw him again at the grocery store. • We found the house entirely by chance. ✧ The phrase as chance would have it is used to say that something happened because of good or bad luck. • Our car broke down on the road, but as chance would have it [=as it turned out], there was a garage nearby. ✧ A game of chance is a game (such as a dice game) in which luck rather than skill decides who wins. • Games of chance are illegal in some states.

chance would be a fine thing Brit, informal — used to say that something good or desirable is not likely to happen • This candidate promises to solve all the country's financial problems in six months. Chance would be a fine thing! [=if only that were possible] on the off chance — used to talk about something that might happen or be true but that is not likely • I called his office on the off chance that he would still be there [=I called because I thought there was a slight chance that he would still be there], but he had already left.

stand a chance : to have a possibility of succeeding • The team stands a chance of doing well this year. • I think she stands a good chance of winning the election. — often used in negative statements • He doesn't stand a chance against the champion. • She stands no chance of winning. [=she has no chance of winning] take a chance : to do something that could have either good or bad results • She's trying to find a publisher who will take a chance on her book. [=will publish her book without knowing for certain that it will succeed] • It might not work, but it's a chance we'll have to take. • I'm not willing to take that chance. • He said he couldn't afford to take any chances. • He's not afraid to take chances. [=to do things that are risky or dangerous] • She was taking no chances = She wasn't taking any chances. • “You might not succeed.” “I know, but I'll take my chances anyway.”

²chance verb chances; chanced; chanc-ing

1 [+ obj] : to accept the danger of (doing something) : RISK • We knew that the trip was dangerous, but we decided to chance it. [=we decided to go on the trip] • He couldn't chance playing with a broken toe.

2 [no obj] formal — used to describe something that happens because of luck or chance; followed by to + verb • It chanced [=more commonly happened] to rain that day. • We chanced to arrive at the same time. • a conversation that chanced to take place outside my apartment chance upon also chance on [phrasal verb] chance upon/ on (someone or something) formal : to find (something) or meet (someone) by chance • She chanced upon an original copy of the book in her grandfather's attic. • We chanced upon a good restaurant.

chance your arm Brit, informal : to take a chance : to do something that could have bad results • The newspaper chanced its arm by printing the story.

³chance adj, always used before a noun : happening without being planned or controlled by people : happening by chance • It was a chance encounter/meeting between the two men. • a chance event/occurrence/discovery

chan·cel /'tʃænsəl, Brit 'tʃɑːnsəl/ noun, pl -cels [count] : the part of a church that contains the altar and seats for the priest and choir

chan·cel·lery or chan·cel·lory /'tʃænsələri, Brit 'tʃɑːnsələri/ noun, pl -ler-ies or -lor-ies [count]

1 : the department of a chancellor or the building where a chancellor's office is located • The prime minister will speak at the State Chancellery this afternoon.

2 : the people who work in the department of a chancellor • greeted by members of the chancellery

chan·cel·lor /'tʃænsələ, Brit 'tʃɑːnsələ/ noun, pl -lors [count]

1 : the highest government official in Germany and Austria • Germany's Chancellor Helmut Kohl

2 a : the head of some U.S. universities • the new chancellor of the university b : the head of a British university who represents the school but who does not have many responsibilities

3 Brit : CHANCELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER

4 : a judge in some U.S. courts

Chancellor of the Exchequer noun, pl Chancellors of the Exchequer [count] : an official in the British government who is in charge of taxes and the money that the government spends chanc·er /'tʃænsə, Brit 'tʃɑːnsə/ noun, pl -ers [count] Brit, informal + disapproving : someone who takes chances and often does improper things to get an advantage over other people chan·cery /'tʃænsəri, Brit 'tʃɑːnsəri/ noun [singular]

1 : a government office where public documents are kept

2 a : a type of court in the U.S. b Chancery : a part of the High Court in England and Wales

3 : the office of a group of people who represent their country in a foreign country : the office of an embassy chancy /'tʃænsi, Brit 'tʃɑːnsi/ adj chanc-i·er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal : possibly having a bad result : involving chance or risk : RISKY • Building your own home is a chancy business. • Opening a new restaurant can be chancy.

chan·de·lier /ˌʃændəˈliə/ noun, pl -liers [count] : a large, decorated light that hangs from a ceiling and has branches for holding many light bulbs or candles • the dining room chandelier — see picture at LIGHTING

¹change /'tʃeɪndʒ/ verb chang-es; changed; chang-ing

1 a [no obj] : to become different • Her mood changes every hour. • He's changed in appearance. = His appearance has changed. • The leaves change (in color) from green to red in the fall. • The cars were stopped, waiting for the light/lights to change (from red to green). • My, how you've changed! • He changed from an optimist to/into a pessimist. • The town has changed little in recent years. • the changing times • the ever-changing [=constantly changing] fashions of teenagers b [no obj] : to make (someone or something) different • These events have changed me in my attitude to/toward life. • He's changed his appearance with a new haircut. = His new haircut has changed his appearance. • You can't change human nature. • Life changed him from an optimist into a pessimist. • The leaves change color from green to red in the fall. — sometimes + up in informal U.S. English • She changed up her daily routine. • We need to change things up a little. c [no obj] : to become something else — usually + to or into • Winter changed to/into spring. • The magician made the rope change into a ribbon and then change back into a rope.

2 a : to replace one thing or person with another [no obj] She changed her name when she got married. • We'll have a better view if we change our seats for better ones. [=if we move to better seats] • Could you change my appointment (from Monday) to Friday? • change a record/CD • France has changed its monetary unit from the franc to the euro. • She's thinking about changing jobs/dentists. [=about leaving her current job/dentist and going to a new one] • change the channel on the TV • change a (flat) tire [=replace a flat tire with one that is not flat] • Let's change the subject. [=let's talk about a different subject] • I've changed my opinion/ views on that subject. [=my opinion on that subject is different now from what it was before] • The police did not believe her because she had changed her story. [=she said something different from what she had said before] [no obj] While watching TV, he would constantly change from one channel to another. • France has changed from the franc to the euro. • The U.S. has been slow to change to the metric system. b : to move from one position, place, etc., to another [no obj] Mary changed [=exchanged, switched] places/seats with John. = John and Mary changed places/seats (with each other). • He may be rich and famous but I wouldn't change places with him for anything in the world. • He was opposed to the project at first, but then he changed sides and voted in favor of it. [no obj] Neither of them liked his seat so they changed with each other.

3 [no obj] a : to exchange one kind of money for another kind • change money from dollars into pounds = change dollars into/pounds b : to exchange a larger bill for an equal amount in smaller bills or coins • I need to change [=break] a $10 bill: can you give me a five and five ones?

4 a : to put on different clothes [no obj] Let me change out of this suit into something more comfortable. • Do they still change (to more formal clothes) for dinner? • I'll need a few minutes to change before we go out. [no obj] I'll need a few minutes to change my clothes before we go out. b [no obj] : to put clean clothes on (a baby) • change a baby = change a baby's diaper [=remove a baby's dirty diaper and replace it with a clean one] c [no obj] : to put a fresh covering on (a bed) • change a bed = change the sheets on a bed [=remove dirty sheets from a bed and replace them with clean ones]

5 : to move from one plane, train, etc., to another in order to continue a journey [no obj] We'll have to change planes in Chicago. [=we'll have to get on another plane in Chicago] [no obj] On the bus trip he had to change twice.

change around or Brit change round [phrasal verb] change (something) around/round or change around/round (something) : to change the order or positions of the parts of (something) • When I got back everything in my office had been changed around. • The schedule has been changed around a little.

change down [phrasal verb] Brit : to change to a lower gear in a motor vehicle : DOWNSHIFT • Change down to go uphill.

change gear/gears see ¹GEAR

change hands : to go from one owner to another • The property has changed hands many times in recent decades. [=the property has been sold many times] • The restaurant recently changed hands. [=the restaurant was recently bought by a new owner]

change horses in midstream see ¹HORSE

change over [phrasal verb] change over or change (something) over or change over (something) : to go from one system, method, etc., to another or to change (one system, method, etc.) to another • It will take a week to change over from the old computer network to the new one. • It will take a week to change the old computer network over to the new one. — see also CHANGEOVER

change someone's/your mind see ¹MIND change up [phrasal verb] Brit : to change to a higher gear in a motor vehicle : UPSHIFT • Change up on the highway. — see also ¹CHANGE 1b (above)

change your tune see ¹TUNE

change your ways see ¹WAY

— chang·er noun, pl -ers [count] • a CD changer • a money changer

²change noun, pl changes

1 : the act, process, or result of changing: such as a : the act of becoming different or of causing someone or something to become different [noncount] There has been little if any change in her daily routine. • You shouldn't be afraid of change. Change is a natural part of life. • The terms of this contract are subject to change without notice. [=the terms can be changed at any time] [count] The years have brought many changes to the town's economy. • We need to make some changes in/to the system. • Many voters believe that it's time for a change. • We've had to make a slight change in the schedule. • There has been a change in/to our plans. = There's been a change of plan. [=we have changed our plans] • a change for the better [=an improvement] • a change for the worse — see also SEA CHANGE b [count] : the act of replacing one thing with another • a change of address/name • changes of mood/attitude/tone • I enjoy the change of seasons every year. [=I enjoy seeing the seasons change from winter to spring, etc.] • The car needs an oil change. [=needs to have the old, dirty oil removed and replaced with clean oil] c [count] : the act of moving from one plane, train, etc., to another in order to continue a journey • If you take this flight you'll need to make a change (of planes) in Chicago. [=you'll need to change planes in Chicago]

2 [singular] : something that is different from what is usual or expected • We've been so busy that a quiet day at home was a welcome change. • We eat at home a lot, so dining out sometimes is/makes a nice change. • (chiefly Brit) So you've done the cooking for once in your life! Well, that makes a change! • I've been stuck here in the city for months. I could really use a change of scene/scenery. = (chiefly Brit) I could really use a change of air. [=I would like to go somewhere else for a time] — see also FOR A CHANGE (below)

3 [noncount] a : smaller bills or coins that are given for a larger bill • Have you got change for a $10 bill? b : the money returned when a payment is more than the amount needed • It cost $9 and I gave you $10, so I should be getting $1 in change. • "It costs $9." "Here's $10. You can keep the change." • (US) Can you make change for a twenty? [=can you give me change if I pay with a $20 bill?] c : money in the form of coins • I've got a $10 bill and about $3 in change. [=coins] • a pocketful of loose change • The beggar asked us if we had any spare change. [=a small amount of money that we did not need] — see also CHANGE PURSE, SMALL CHANGE d US, informal : MONEY — used in the phrase chunk of change • She inherited a large/hefty/nice chunk of change [=a large amount of money] from her aunt.

4 [count] : a clean set of clothes that someone can wear if they are needed • For a weekend in the country you'll need several changes of clothes. • The only extra clothes he took with him were a pair of socks and a change of underwear.

5 [count] baseball, informal : CHANGEUP • The batter struck out on a straight change.

6 the change informal + old-fashioned : CHANGE OF LIFE • women who are going through the change and change US, informal : and a very small additional amount • There's only six minutes and change left in the game. [=there's only a little more than six minutes left in the game] for a change : as something different from what is usual • Let's eat out for a change. • Why don't you help me out for a change instead of me always helping you?!

ring the changes see ³RING change-able /'tʃeɪndʒəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : able to change or to be changed • The terms of this contract are easily changeable.

2 : changing often or suddenly • changeable weather • changeable and unreliable people — change-abil-i-ty /,tʃeɪndʒə'bɪləti/ also change-able-ness /'tʃeɪndʒəbəlɪnəs/ noun [noncount] • the changeability of the weather change-less /'tʃeɪndʒləs/ adj : never changing : always staying the same • the changeless [=unchanging] rhythms of nature • changeless [=constant] values

— change-less-ly adv — change-less-ness noun [noncount]

change-ling /'tʃeɪndʒlɪŋ/ noun, pl -lings [count] in stories : a baby that is secretly left to replace another baby change of heart noun [singular] : an important change in the way a person feels or thinks about something • He had planned to retire but he had a sudden change of heart and decided to continue working.

change of life noun

the change of life somewhat old-fashioned : MENOPAUSE • women approaching or going through the change of life

change of pace noun, pl changes of pace [count]

1 : a new activity or situation that comes after another activity or situation which has lasted for long time — usually singular • He took a few days off work to give himself a welcome and much-needed change of pace.

2 baseball : CHANGEUP — usually singular • The batter struck out on a change of pace.

change-over /'tʃeɪndʒ,əʊvə/ noun, pl -overs [count] : a change from one condition, system, method, etc., to another • Were there any problems during the changeover from the franc to the euro? — see also change over at ¹CHANGE change purse noun, pl ~ purses [count] US : a very small bag for carrying coins change-up /'tʃeɪndʒ,ʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count] baseball : a slow pitch that is thrown with the same motion as a fastball in order to fool the batter • The batter struck out on a changeup.

changing room noun, pl ~ rooms [count] : a room where people can change their clothes in a public place (such as a store); especially, Brit : LOCKER ROOM changing table noun, pl ~ tables [count] : a table used for changing a baby's clothes or diapers

¹chan-nel /'tʃæn/ noun, pl -nels [count]

1 : a television or radio station • The TV program airs at 8:00 p.m. on Channel 5. • Change the channel, please. • What is your favorite radio channel? • a movie/news/sports channel

2 a : a system used for sending something (such as information or supplies) from one place or person to another • E-mail is a channel of communication. — often plural • To make a complaint, you will need to go through (the) official/proper channels. • the ordinary channels of trade • the army's distribution/supply channels b : a way of expressing your ideas, feelings, etc., to other people • Art provides a channel for creativity. • Music became a channel for her emotions.

3 : a path, tube, or long narrow place where water flows • A system of irrigation channels brings water to the fields.

4 : a deep part of a river, harbor, or other body of water where ships can go • a narrow channel of the Mississippi River

5 : a narrow area of the sea between two large areas of land that are close together • We took a ferryboat across the English Channel to France.

²channel verb -nels; US -neled or Brit -nelled; US -nel-ing or Brit -nel-ling [+ obj]

1 : to express (your ideas, thoughts, feelings, energy, etc.) through a particular behavior or action • She's started channeling her anger towards me. — often + into • His aggression was channeled into playing football. • Actors learn how to channel their own emotions into their characters.

2 : to send (food, money, etc.) to someone or something • He channeled millions of dollars into/to the program. — often + through • Food, clothes, and money were channeled through churches to the poor people of the village.

3 : to carry and move (something, such as water) in or through a tube, passage, etc. • Their irrigation system channels water to the corn fields.

4 : to allow (the spirit of a dead person) to enter your body in order to talk with living people • She said that she was channeling my father and that he had a message for me.

channel surfing noun [noncount] : the activity of using a remote control to change television stations quickly as you look for something to watch — called also channel-hopping

¹chant /'tʃænt, Brit 'tʃɑːnt/ verb chants; chant-ed; chant-ing

1 : to say (a word or phrase) many times in a rhythmic way usually loudly and with other people [+ obj] The crowd began chanting her name. • They chanted "Sara, Sara" until she came back on stage. [no obj] Protesters were chanting outside the governor's home.

2 : to sing words and especially religious prayers by using a small number of musical notes that are repeated many times [no obj] They were chanting in Arabic/Latin/Hebrew/Sanskrit. [+ obj] Priests chanted the Catholic Mass in Latin.

²chant noun, pl chants

1 [count] : a word or phrase that is repeated in a rhythmic way usually loudly and by a group of people • Our chant was "Peace now, peace now!"

2 : a kind of singing using a small number of musical notes that are repeated many times [count] a religious chant [noncount] Chant is often used as a form of meditation and prayer. — see also GREGORIAN CHANT chan-tey or chan-ty /'tʃænti/ noun, pl chan-teys or chan-ties [count] US : SHANTY 2

Chanukah variant spelling of HANUKKAH

cha-os /'keɪ,ɑːs/ noun [noncount]

1 : complete confusion and disorder : a state in which behavior and events are not controlled by anything • The loss of electricity caused chaos throughout the city. • When the police arrived, the street was in total/complete/absolute chaos. • The country had descended into economic chaos.

2 : the state of the universe before there was any order and before stars and planets were formed cha-ot-ic /keɪ'ɑːtɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] : in a state of complete confusion or disorder • a chaotic political race • After he became famous, his life became even more chaotic.

— cha·ot·i·cal·ly /ker'ɑ:tikli/ adv

chap /'tʃæp/ noun, pl chaps [count] chiefly Brit, informal + somewhat old-fashioned : a man • He's a friendly sort of chap. [=fellow, guy] • Don't worry old chap. It'll be all right.
— see also CHAPS

chap. abbr chapter

chap-ar·ral /'ʃæpə'ræl/ noun [noncount] US : an area of dry land especially in southern California that is covered with bushes and short trees

chap·el /'tʃæpəl/ noun, pl -els

1 [count] : a small church • a country chapel • a wedding chapel in Las Vegas

2 [count] : a room or small building that is used for private church services or prayer by a family or group • school/hospital/prison chapels • the family's private chapel

3 [count] : a room or area in a church that is used for prayer or small religious services • Church services will be held in the chapel this week.

4 [noncount] : Christian religious services held in a chapel • At our school, we always went to chapel twice a day.

chap·er·one also chap·er·on /'ʃæpə,roun/ noun, pl -ones also -ons [count]

1 US : someone (such as a teacher or parent) who goes with children on a trip or to a school dance to make sure that the children behave properly • I was a chaperone on one of my son's school trips.

2 : a person in the past who went with a young unmarried woman to social events in order to make sure that the woman behaved properly chaperone also chaperon verb -ones or -ons; -oned; -on-ing [+ obj] : to be a chaperone to or for (someone or something) • Two parents chaperoned the children. • My mom always chaperoned the school dances.

chap·lain /'tʃæplən/ noun, pl -lains [count] : a priest or other Christian religious leader who performs religious services for a military group (such as the army) or for a prison, hospital, etc.

chap·lain·cy /'tʃæplənsi/ noun, pl -cies [count]

1 : the position or work of a chaplain • He accepted the chaplaincy.

2 : the place where a chaplain works chapped /'tʃæpt/ adj [more ~; most ~] of the skin or lips : red, dry, and cracked usually because of cold air or wind • chapped lips/skin chaps /'ʃæps, 'tʃæps/ noun [plural] : leather coverings for the legs that cowboys and cowgirls wear over their pants when they ride horses • a pair of chaps

chap·ter /'tʃæptə/ noun, pl -ters [count]

1 : one of the main sections of a book • Chapter three deals with the country's economy. • Please read the first two chapters of your textbook for our next class.

2 : a period of time that is very different from the period of time before it • Becoming a parent opened up a whole new chapter in my life. • a difficult chapter in European history

3 : the people in a certain area who make up one section of a large organization • local/regional chapters [=branches] of the American Red Cross

a chapter of accidents Brit, informal : a series of bad or unfortunate events chapter and verse : exact information or details about something • He can give chapter and verse about/on the dangers of smoking.

char /'tʃɑ:/ verb chars; charred; char·ring : to burn or cook (something) until it is black [+ obj] Thousands of trees were charred in the fire. • Dad charred the hamburgers on the grill. [no obj] The hamburgers charred on the grill.
— see also CHARRED — compare ²CHAR

char verb chars; charred; charring [no obj] Brit, old-fashioned : to work as a cleaner especially in a large house or building — compare ¹CHAR

char noun, pl chars [count] Brit, old-fashioned : CHARWOMAN

char·ac·ter /'kerɪktə/ noun, pl -ters

1 [count] : the way someone thinks, feels, and behaves : someone's personality — usually singular • He rarely shows his true character—that of a kind and sensitive person. • This is a side of her character that few people have seen. • the different aspects/facets of her character — often used before another noun • Certain character traits are helpful in the teaching profession. • Pride, his one character flaw, caused his downfall.

2 [count] : a set of qualities that are shared by many people in a group, country, etc. — usually singular • the character of the American people • the character of a nation • the French/Japanese/Mexican national character

3 a : a set of qualities that make a place or thing different from other places or things [count] the wine's distinctive character • the unique character of the town/city/region [noncount] The building is very simple in character. ♦ If something is in character with something else, it has the same qualities or characteristics as something else. • This room is not really in character with the rest of the house. b [noncount] : the qualities or characteristics that make something interesting or special • The room lacks character. [=there's nothing special about the room] • Their house has a lot of character.

4 [count] : a person who appears in a story, book, play, movie, or television show • The film's main characters are a woman in her late 30s and her elderly neighbor. • She plays the film's lead/main/central character. • a fictional character [=a character in a work of fiction] • a popular cartoon character • the title character of the book Tom Sawyer [=the character named Tom Sawyer] — see also cast of characters at ²CAST

5 [count] informal a : a particular type of person • He's a strange/interesting character. b : a person who says or does funny or unusual things • That husband of yours is a real character! • She's quite a character.

6 [noncount] a : the good qualities of a person that usually include moral or emotional strength, honesty, and fairness • She's a kind and honest person of good character. • They believe that going to church will improve the moral character of their children. • He is admired for his strength of character in stressful situations. • Playing sports is seen as a way to build character in young people. = Playing sports is seen as character-building for young people. ♦ A test of (your) character is something that is difficult and that requires you to show that you are a good and emotionally strong person. • These past few days have been a real test of my character. b : the usually good beliefs or opinions that most people have about a particular person • They defended the character [=reputation] of their friend. • an attack on his character

7 [count] : a symbol (such as a letter or number) that is used in writing or printing • the Chinese character for “water” • The line is 30 characters long.

in character, out of character — used to say that some action or behavior is or is not like someone's usual way of behaving • It was entirely in character for a generous person like her to give him the money. • His rudeness was completely out of character. [=he is not usually rude]

character actor noun, pl ~ -tors [count] : an actor who is known for playing many different and unusual characters character assassination noun [noncount] : the act of saying false things about a person usually in order to make the public stop liking or trusting that person • None of those rumors are true. She's been the victim of character assassination.

char·ac·ter·ful /'kerɪktəfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] chiefly Brit : having interesting or unusual qualities : having character • a characterful old house char·ac·ter·is·tic /,kerɪktə'rɪstɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] : typical of a person, thing, or group : showing the special qualities or traits of a person, thing, or group • He responded to their comments with characteristic good humor. • the herb's characteristic flavor — often + of • Such behavior is not characteristic of a good neighbor.

— char·ac·ter·is·ti·cal·ly /,kerɪktə'rɪstɪkli/ adv • She was characteristically modest when she accepted the reward.

characteristic noun, pl -tics [count] : a special quality or trait that makes a person, thing, or group different from others • physical/genetic characteristics — often + of • What are some of the characteristics of this breed of dog? • the distinctive/unique characteristics of the population

char·ac·ter·i·za·tion /,kerɪktərə'zeɪʃən, Brit ,kærɪktə-,raɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 somewhat formal : the act of describing the character or qualities of someone or something [count] The reporter was criticized for his characterization of the people of the town as poor and uneducated. [noncount] News reporting requires accurate characterization.

2 : the way a writer makes a person in a story, book, play, movie, or television show seem like a real person [count] The class discussed the author's characterization of the boy as someone who wanted to be accepted by others. [non-count] The story has good characterization.

char·ac·ter·ize also Brit char·ac·ter·ise /'kerɪktə,raɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] somewhat formal

1 [+ obj] : to describe the character or special qualities of (someone or something) • How would you characterize the situation/problem? • I would characterize this as a positive change for our company. • She had difficulty characterizing their relationship. • His personality is hard to characterize. • The newspaper article characterizes [=portrays] the people of the town as poor and uneducated.

2 : to be a typical feature or quality of (someone or something) • Humor and intelligence characterize [=mark, distinguish] his writing. • Farms and large flat fields characterize most of the area. • the beliefs that characterized Europe in the 15th century — often used as (be) characterized • The disease is characterized by a rise in blood pressure.

char·ac·ter·less /'kerɪktələs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not having any interesting or unusual qualities : lacking character • rows of characterless houses • Their food is bland and characterless.

cha·rade /ʃə'reɪd, Brit ʃə'rɑ:d/ noun, pl -rades

1 [count] : something that is done in order to pretend something is true when it is not really true • Her concern was just a charade. [=she pretended to be concerned but she was not] • We've grown tired of your charades. • an empty charade

2 charades [plural] : a game in which players try to guess a word or phrase from the actions of another player who is not allowed to speak • Let's play charades! • a game of charades char·broil /'ʃɑ:broɪəl/ verb -broils; -broiled; -broil-ing [+ obj] US : to cook (something) on a rack above charcoal • I am going to charbroil the chicken.

— charbroiled adj • charbroiled steak/chicken/salmon

char·coal /'ʃɑ:kəʊl/ noun [noncount]

1 : a hard black material that is made by burning wood with a small amount of air ♦ Charcoal is burned for cooking food and is also made into sticks that are used for drawing pictures. • hamburgers cooked over charcoal • a charcoal grill • charcoal drawings

2 : a dark gray color — see color picture on page C2

chard /'ʃɑ:d/ noun [noncount] : a plant with large leaves that are eaten as a vegetable — called also Swiss chard; see color picture on page C4

Char·don·nay /ʃɑ:dən'eɪ/ noun, pl -nays [count, non-count] : a type of dry white wine

¹charge /'tʃɑ:dʒ/ verb charg-es; charged; charg-ing

1 [+ obj] : to give an amount of electricity to (something) : to put electricity into a battery so that a machine or device will run • We tried to charge the car's battery. • My cell phone needs to be charged. = The battery in my cell phone needs to be charged.

2 [+ obj] formal : to give a job or responsibility to (a person or group) : to make (a person or group) responsible for something — usually used as (be) charged; usually + with • The board was charged with deciding where to build a new school. • the department charged with helping war veterans

3 [+ obj] a : to formally accuse (someone) of a crime — usually + with • They charged him with theft. • She was charged with murder. b : to say that someone has done something wrong • The government charged that he had not paid taxes for five years. • It is not clear if he violated the rules, as his critics have charged. c : to say that a player has broken the rules in a game • The basketball player was charged with a foul.

4 a [+ obj] : to rush toward (a person, place, etc.) • The bull charged the matador. • Fans charged [=rushed] the stage but were stopped by the security guards. b [no obj] : to rush in a particular direction • People charged toward the stage. • She came charging into the room. • The bull charged right at me. • a charging rhinoceros

5 [+ obj] : to create a record of an amount of money that is owed • The clerk charged the purchase to my account. • The expenses were charged against the company's earnings.

6 a : to ask for money in return for providing or doing something [no obj] Do you charge for fixing flat tires? [+ obj] They charge a fee for late payment. • charge tuition b [+ obj] : to ask for (a specific amount of money) as a price, rate, or fee • The shop charged $100 for repairs. • The bank charged eight percent interest on the loan. c [+ obj] : to ask for payment from (a customer, client, etc.) • They charged me $500 to fix the engine. • She charged the city thousands of dollars for her work.

²charge noun, pl charges

1 [count] a : an amount of electricity • an electrical charge b : the amount of an explosive material (such as dynamite) that is used in a single blast • He set off a charge that destroyed the mountain. — compare DEPTH CHARGE

2 [noncount] : the responsibility of managing or watching over something • He has charge of the building. • He wanted to take charge [=take control] of the organization.

3 [count] : an amount of money that someone asks for in return for providing or doing something : the price charged for something • There is no charge for fixing the tire. • a delivery charge for the refrigerator • a monthly charge • an admission charge at the fair • The concert at the school is free of charge. [=costs nothing to attend] • A second member of your family can join at no charge. [=without paying] synonyms see ¹PRICE

4 [count] a law : a formal accusation that someone committed a crime • a charge of burglary • They dropped the charges against him. • She pleaded guilty to a lesser charge. • He decided not to bring/press charges. [=to formally accuse someone of a crime] • Will she face charges? [=will she be charged?] b : a statement that criticizes someone or says that someone has done something wrong : an accusation or criticism • The senator rejects charges that he is too liberal. • She responded to the charges of plagiarism.

5 [count] formal : a person (such as a child) that another person must guard or take care of • She loved to play with her young charges at the day-care center.

6 [count] : a judge's instructions to a jury before it begins deciding a verdict • The judge delivered his charge to the jury.

7 [count] : an act of running or rushing forward especially in order to make an attack • a cavalry charge • Tennyson's poem "The Charge of the Light Brigade"

8 [singular] US, informal : a feeling of joy or excitement • The children got a charge out of [=were amused by] the juggler. • He gets a charge out of teasing his sister.

in charge : having control of or responsibility for something • She is in charge of hiring new employees. • I am not sure who is in charge at the restaurant.

reverse the charges see ¹REVERSE

charge·able /'tʃɑ:dʒəbəl/ adj

1 : able to be charged • The business lunch was chargeable to the company. • chargeable interest

2 : able to be treated as a crime • an act chargeable under federal law • a chargeable offense charge account noun, pl ~ -counts [count] US : an arrangement in which a bank, store, etc., allows a customer to buy things with a credit card and pay for them later — called also (Brit) credit account

charge card noun, pl ~ cards [count] : CREDIT CARD

charged /'tʃɑ:dʒd/ adj

1 technical : having an amount of electricity • a charged particle

2 [more ~; most ~] : showing or causing strong feelings • The singer gave an emotionally charged interview. • a politically charged subject — often + up • The crowd was all charged up [=was very excited] during the game.

char·gé d'af·faires /ʃɑ:ʒeɪdə'feə/ noun, pl char·gés d'af·faires /ʃɑ:ʒeɪdə'feə/ [count]

1 : a person who takes the place of an ambassador when the ambassador is away

2 : a person with a lower rank than an ambassador who works as a diplomat in countries where no ambassador is assigned charge nurse noun, pl ~ nurses [count] : a nurse who is in charge of one section of a hospital

charg·er /'tʃɑ:dʒə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a device that is used to add electricity to batteries

2 literary : a horse that a knight or soldier rides in battle charge sheet noun, pl ~ sheets [count] Brit : RAP SHEET • The suspect already has a long charge sheet.

char·i·ot /'tʃerɪjət/ noun, pl -ots [count] : a carriage with two wheels that was pulled by horses and was raced and used in battle in ancient times • a chariot race

char·i·o·teer /,tʃerɪjə'tiə/ noun, pl -teers [count] : a driver of a chariot cha·ris·ma /kə'rɪzmə/ noun [noncount] : a special charm or appeal that causes people to feel attracted and excited by someone (such as a politician) • The candidate was lacking in charisma. • His success is largely due to his charisma.

char·is·mat·ic /,kerəz'mætɪk/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : having great charm or appeal : filled with charisma • He is a charismatic leader.

2 — used to describe Christian religious groups whose members believe that they can communicate directly with God to receive help and guidance and the power to heal others • charismatic sects char-i-ta-ble /ˈtʃerətəbəl/ adj

1 : done or designed to help people who are poor, sick, etc. • She makes a charitable donation/contribution every year. • He performs charitable work to help the poor. • charitable organizations • They give money to charitable causes.

2 [more ~; most ~] : showing kindness in talking about or judging other people : not very critical • She has tried to be charitable about her sister's problems. • They tried to find a charitable explanation for his actions. [=an explanation that assumes that there was a good reason for his actions] • Half of the class has a chance at passing the test, and that is a charitable estimate.

— char-i-ta-bly /ˈtʃerətəbli/ adv • His paintings could charitably be described as unique. [=they are unique even though they are not very good] • To put it charitably, she is not the most talented actress I've ever seen. [=she is not a talented actress]

char-i-ty /ˈtʃerəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the act of giving money, food, or other kinds of help to people who are poor, sick, etc. • The holidays are a time for charity and good will; also : something (such as money or food) that is given to people who are poor, sick, etc. • She refused to accept charity. ♦ The phrase charity begins at home means you should take care of yourself and your family before helping others.

2 a [count] : an organization that helps people who are poor, sick, etc. • The dinner was held to raise funds for several charities. • She runs a local charity that gives books to children. b [noncount] : the organizations that help people in need • All the money will go to charity. — often used before another noun • a charity concert/dinner/event [=a concert/dinner/event held to raise money for a charity]

charity shop noun, pl ~ shops [count] Brit : a store that sells used clothes, goods, etc., in order to raise money for people who are poor, sick, etc. — compare THRIFT SHOP

char-la-tan /ˈʃælətən/ noun, pl -tans [count] : a person who falsely pretends to know or be something in order to deceive people • Some people thought he was a great leader, but others saw him as just a charlatan. [=fake, fraud]

Charles-ton /ˈtʃælstən/ noun

the Charleston : a lively dance that became popular in the 1920s char-ley horse /ˈtʃæli-/ noun, pl ~ horses [count] US : a painful cramp in the front of the thigh charm /ˈtʃæm/ noun, pl charms

1 [count] : something that is believed to have magic powers and especially to prevent bad luck • He keeps a horseshoe as a good luck charm.

2 [count] : a small object that is worn on a chain or bracelet • a gold charm • a charm bracelet — see color picture on page C11

3 : a quality that causes someone or something to be very likeable : an attractive quality [count] He fell under the spell of her charms. • The resort has many charms. • The inn has a quaint charm. [noncount] The island possesses great charm. • The new curtains add charm to the room. • The sea-side location is a big part of the house's charm. • He won her over with his charm.

the third time is the charm see THIRD work like a charm : to produce a desired result very easily and effectively : to work very well • The cleaning fluid worked like a charm on the carpet stain.

— charm-less adj [more ~; most ~] • The new building is completely charmless. [=unattractive]

charm verb charms; charmed; charm-ing [+ obj]

1 : to put a spell on (someone or something) • The snake was charmed by the music.

2 a : to cause (someone) to like you or to do what you want by being nice, friendly, etc. • He was known for his ability to charm voters. • She charmed [=captivated] everyone with her warm smile. • He charmed the committee into approving his proposal. b : to attract (someone) by being beautiful or welcoming • I was charmed by the cozy country inn.

— charm-er noun, pl -ers [count] • Your little girl is a real charmer. [=she is sweet, cute, etc.] • a snake charmer charmed /ˈtʃæmd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very lucky : having good luck • She has always lived/led a charmed life.

charmed circle noun, pl ~ circles [count] : a group of people who are special or powerful in some way • a famous writer and her charmed circle in Paris charm-ing /ˈtʃæmɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very pleasing or appealing : full of charm • a charming little café by the sea • a charming young man

— charm-ing-ly adv • a charmingly decorated room

charred /tʃæd/ adj : made black from burning • The remains of the house were charred. • charred wood — see also CHAR

chart /tʃæt/ noun, pl charts [count]

1 a : information in the form of a table, diagram, etc. • a chart showing the number of cars sold each month — see also BAR CHART, FLOW CHART, PIE CHART b : a record of information about a medical patient • The doctor consulted the patient's chart. — see picture at HOSPITAL

2 : a map of an area (such as the sky or ocean) used by pilots, sailors, etc.

3 : a list that shows which music recordings have sold the most during a recent period of time • a chart-topper [=a recording that is bought more than any other recording during a particular time] — usually plural; usually used with the • The record went to the top of the charts. • the country music charts

chart verb charts; chart-ed; chart-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make a chart of (an area) • They charted the bay; also : to mark (something) on a chart • They charted the course of the ship.

2 : to make a plan for (something) • She wanted to chart her own career path. • He will try to chart a new course for the company.

3 : to note the changes, progress, etc., in (something) • a book that charts [=chronicles] the rise and fall of the Roman Empire • analysts charting trends in the stock market char-ter /ˈtʃætə/ noun, pl -ters [count]

1 : a document issued by a government that gives rights to a person or group • The charter allows for unrestricted trading.

2 a : a document which declares that a city, town, school, or corporation has been established • the town charter • a corporate charter b : a document that describes the basic laws, principles, etc., of a group • the United Nations Charter

charter verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing [+ obj]

1 : to give a charter to (a government, corporation, etc.) • a royally chartered bank • The city was chartered in 1837.

2 : to hire (a ship, bus, etc.) for temporary use • The team chartered a plane. • charter a flight charter adj, always used before a noun : hired for temporary use • a charter flight • a charter plane chartered adj, always used before a noun, Brit : allowed to work in a certain job because you have passed a test or qualified in some other way • a chartered engineer chartered accountant noun, pl ~ -tants [count] Brit : CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT charter member noun, pl ~ -bers [count] US : FOUNDING MEMBER charter school noun, pl ~ schools [count] US : a school that is established by a charter, is run by teachers, parents, etc., and uses tax money but does not have to be run according to the rules of a city or state char-wom-an /ˈtʃæ,wʊmən/ noun, pl -wom-en /-,wɪmən/ [count] old-fashioned : a woman who cleans houses or office buildings chary /ˈtʃeri/ adj char-i-er; -est : cautious about doing something — + about or of • She is chary about spending money. • He is chary of expressing his emotions.

chase /tʃeɪs/ noun, pl chases

1 [count] : the act of following and trying to catch a person, animal, etc. • Police caught the bank robbers after a high-speed chase on the highway. • a car chase

2 [singular] : an eager attempt to get something • Though she has repeatedly failed to capture the world record, she refuses to give up the chase. [=she keeps trying] • He was always trying to find a new girlfriend and seemed to enjoy the thrill of the chase. — see also WILD GOOSE CHASE

3 [count] chiefly Brit : STEEPLECHASE

cut to the chase : to go directly to the important points of a story, argument, etc., • She urged him to skip the details and cut to the chase. [=get to the point]

give chase : to chase someone or something • The officer saw the thief and gave chase. — often + to • Police gave chase to the suspect as he fled the scene.

chase verb chases; chased; chase-ing

1 : to follow and try to catch (someone or something) [+ obj] The cops chased the thief. • a child chasing a balloon [no obj] — + after • My dog chases after butterflies.

2 a : to try very hard to get (someone or something) : [+ obj] a journalist who is chasing a big story [no obj] — + after • He's been chasing after the world record all season. b : to try to attract (someone) for a romantic or sexual relationship [+ obj] He was always chasing women half his age. [no obj] — + after • He was always chasing after women half his age.

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition [+ obj] : to cause (someone or something) to go away • She chased a dog off the lawn. • He chased the kids away from his new car. • She chased the cats out of her garden. • Our last mayor was chased from office by political enemies. • Her reassuring letter helped to chase away my fears.

chase down [phrasal verb] chase (someone or something) down or chase down (someone or something) 1 : to follow and catch (someone or something) • Police chased down the robber in an alley. 2 : to search for and find (someone or something) • I finally chased down [=tracked down, found, (Brit) chased up] that recipe I promised you.

chase up [phrasal verb] Brit 1 chase (something) up or chase up (something) : to search for and find (someone or something) • Can you chase up those files for me? 2 chase (someone) up or chase up (someone) : to contact or find (someone) usually in order to get something • His landlord had to chase him up for his rent.

chas·er /'tʃeɪsə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a different alcoholic drink that is drunk immediately after you have drunk a stronger or weaker one • He ordered whiskey with a beer chaser. • beer with a whiskey chaser

chasm /'kæzəm/ noun, pl chasms [count] 1 : a deep hole or opening in the surface of the earth : GORGE 2 : a major division, separation, or difference between two people, groups, etc. • Leaders tried to bridge a chasm [=split, divide] between the two religious groups. • a racial/cultural/economic chasm

chas·sis /'tʃæsi, 'jæsi/ noun, pl chas·sis /'tʃæsɪz, 'jæsɪz/ [count] : a frame upon which the main parts of an automobile are built chaste /'tʃeɪst/ adj chast·er; -est [also more ~; most ~] 1 old-fashioned : not having sex • a chaste young woman 2 : morally pure or decent : not sinful • a chaste kiss on the cheek 3 : simple or plain • a chaste design — chaste·ly adj • a chastely dressed girl

chas·ten /'tʃeɪsn/ verb -tens; -tened; -ten·ing [+ obj] : to cause (someone) to feel sad or embarrassed about something that has happened — usually used as (be) chastened • He was chastened [=humbled] by his team's defeat. — chastening adj [more ~; most ~] • Having her proposal criticized was a chastening [=humbling] experience.

chas·tise /'tʃæ'staɪz/ verb -tis·es; -tised; -tis·ing [+ obj] formal : to criticize (someone) harshly for doing something wrong • The waiter was chastised for forgetting the customer's order. • The coach is always chastising the players for minor mistakes. — chas·tise·ment /'tʃæ'staɪzmənt/ noun [noncount]

chas·ti·ty /'tʃæstəti/ noun [noncount] : the state of not having sex with anyone : the quality or state of being chaste • The priest took a vow of chastity [=made a promise never to have sex]

1 chat /'tʃæt/ verb chats; chat·ted; chat·ting [no obj] 1 : to talk with someone in a casual way • We chatted about our plans for the summer. • called him up to chat 2 : to talk over the Internet by sending messages back and forth in a chat room • She stayed up all night chatting with her friends online.

chat up [phrasal verb] chat (someone) up or chat up (someone) informal : to talk informally with (someone, such as someone you are attracted to) • He tried to chat up a girl at the dance.

2 chat noun, pl chats 1 [count] : a light and friendly conversation • We enjoyed a chat over coffee. 2 : a talk held over the Internet by people using a chat room [count] live chats [noncount] software used for e-mail and chat — often used before another noun • chat sessions • chat software — see also CHAT ROOM

châ·teau /ʃæ'təu, Brit 'ʃætəu/ noun, pl châ·teaus or châ·

teaux /ʃæ'təu, Brit 'ʃætəu/ [count] : a castle or a large house especially in France chat line noun, pl ~ lines [count] Brit : a telephone service that people call in order to speak with other people about a certain topic chat room noun, pl ~ rooms [count] : a Web site or computer program that allows people to send messages to each other instantly over the Internet chat show noun, pl ~ shows [count] Brit : TALK SHOW

chat·tel /'tʃætəl/ noun, pl -tels old-fashioned : something (such as a slave, piece of furniture, tool, etc.) that a person owns other than land or buildings [count] personal chattels [noncount] slaves treated as chattel

1 chat·ter /'tʃætə/ verb -ters; -tered; -ter·ing [no obj] 1 : to talk in a quick or casual way • Children chattered in the middle of the playground. • He was chattering [=jabbering] away on a cell phone. 2 : to make clicking sounds by knocking together rapidly • My teeth were chattering from the cold. 3 : to make fast and usually high-pitched sounds • Birds chattered in the trees.

2 chatter noun [noncount] 1 : casual talk that is usually not important or interesting • He couldn't stand their endless chatter [=prattle] about celebrities and movies. • the chatter of schoolchildren 2 : a series of fast usually high-pitched sounds • heard the chatter of squirrels chat·ter·box /'tʃætə'bɒks/ noun, pl -box·es [count] informal : a person who talks a lot • That little girl is a chatterbox.

chattering classes noun the chattering classes Brit, disapproving : educated people who like to talk about politics, culture, society, etc.

chat·ty /'tʃæti/ adj chat·ti·er; -est 1 : tending to talk a lot : fond of chatting • a chatty neighbor • I'm feeling chatty today. 2 : having an informal style that is similar to friendly speech • a chatty book about his life in politics • She writes with a chatty [=casual] style. — chat·ti·ly /'tʃætəli/ adv [more ~; most ~] • She remarked chattily about the weather. — chat·ti·ness noun [noncount] • He was known for his chattiness.

1 chauff·eur /'ʃoufə, ʃou'fə/ noun, pl -feurs [count] : a person whose job is to drive people around in a car — chauffeured adj • We rented a chauffeured limousine. [=a limousine driven by a chauffeur]

2 chauffeur verb -feurs; -feured; -feur·ing 1 : to drive (someone) around in a car as a job : to work as a chauffeur [no obj] He chauffeurs for a millionaire. [+ obj] He chauffeurs a millionaire. 2 [+ obj] : to drive (someone) in a car to a certain place • She was chauffeured to the airport. • He chauffeured his client to the hotel. • They have to chauffeur [=drive] their children to soccer games every week.

chau·vin·ism /'ʃouvə'nɪzəm/ noun [noncount] disapproving 1 : an attitude that the members of your own sex are always better than those of the opposite sex • male chauvinism [=a belief that men are superior to women] 2 : the belief that your country, race, etc., is better than any other • American chauvinism

chau·vin·ist /'ʃouvənɪst/ or chau·vin·is·tic /'ʃouvənɪstɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : believing that your country, sex, etc., is better than any other : showing or filled with chauvinism • She called him a chauvinist pig. • chauvinist attitudes — chauvinist noun, pl -ists [count] • a male chauvinist

chaw /'tʃɑ:/ noun, pl chaws US, informal : a piece or amount of chewing tobacco [count] enjoyed a chaw of tobacco [noncount] a lump of chaw

1 cheap /'tʃi:p/ adj cheap·er; -est 1 a : not costing a lot of money • I always buy the cheapest brand of cereal. • a place where you can get a cheap [=inexpensive] meal • Rent isn't cheap here. • cheap imported goods — see also DIRT CHEAP b : of low quality : not worth a lot of money • curtains made of cheap material • He wears a cheap watch that's always breaking. • cheap perfume 2 : charging low prices • This gas station is cheaper than the one by the highway. • We ate at a cheap [=inexpensive] restaurant. 3 : not willing to share or spend money • He was too cheap [=stingy] to pay for the dinner. • Don't be cheap—buy good quality tires for your car. — often + with • My uncle is cheap with his money.

4 : not hard to do or get • It was a cheap [=easy] victory over a lousy team. • He likes to harass the neighbor's dog as a cheap thrill. [=a minor thing done for entertainment]

5 : having little or no self-respect : ashamed of being used, abused, etc., by other people • He felt cheap letting other people treat him like that.

on the cheap informal : at the lowest possible cost : in a cheap way • The movie was made on the cheap. • They built the house on the cheap.

— cheap·ly adv [more ~; most ~] • It is not easy to live cheaply in this city. • The radio was cheaply made and didn't last long. — cheap·ness noun [noncount] • The cheapness of the stock made it an appealing buy. • My mother-in-law's cheapness [=stinginess] can be annoying.

cheap adv : at a low cost • They were able to build a house cheap. [=cheaply] • The film was made cheap. : for a low price • The house sold cheap.

come cheap : to be available at a low price — usually used in negative statements • His services don't come cheap. [=his services are not cheap; his services are expensive] • These materials don't come cheap.

cheap·en /'tʃi:pən/ verb -ens; -ened; -en-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause (something) to be of lower quality • Using plastic instead of steel will cheapen [=lower] the quality of the car. • products cheapened by sloppy workmanship

2 : to cause (something) to have or to seem to have less value, meaning, or importance • Using the national flag in advertising only cheapens it. • Poor marketing can cheapen a brand name. • I thought that the show cheapened the lives of the people it portrayed. • The wedding ceremony was cheapened by the best man's tasteless jokes.

cheap·ie /'tʃi:pi/ noun, pl -ies [count] informal : something that is cheap and usually of low quality • Her first camera was a cheapie.

— cheapie adj • The camera was a cheapie model.

cheapo /'tʃi:pou/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal : ¹CHEAP • a cheapo radio • a cheapo horror film

cheap shot noun, pl ~ shots [count] disapproving

1 sports : an unfair hit made against an opponent • He took a cheap shot at the quarterback. • a cheap shot to the back of the head

2 : something that one person says about another that is not kind or fair : a critical and unfair comment • The remark about his weight was a cheap shot.

cheap·skate /'tʃi:p,sket/ noun, pl -skates [count] informal : a person who does not like to spend money • He is a cheapskate [=miser, skinflint] who almost never gives tips.

1 cheat /'tʃi:t/ verb cheats; cheat-ed; cheat-ing

1 [no obj] : to break a rule or law usually to gain an advantage at something • The players were accused of cheating. • I had to cheat in order to solve the puzzle. — often + on or at • She was caught cheating on a test. • They cheated on their taxes. • He cheats at cards.

2 [+ obj] a : to take something from (someone) by lying or breaking a rule • The store cheats its customers through false advertising. — usually + out of • He cheated [=tricked, swindled] the elderly couple out of their property. • I was cheated out of 20 dollars. b : to prevent (someone) from having something that he or she deserves or was expecting to get • They cheated him out of a fair deal. — usually used in the phrase feel cheated • Tourists felt cheated when they arrived and found out the cathedral was closed.

3 [+ obj] : to avoid (something bad, dangerous, etc.) by being clever or lucky • a heroin addict who has cheated death many times • They tried to cheat fate. [=they took a risk and hoped be lucky] cheat on [phrasal verb] cheat on (someone) informal : to break a promise made to (someone, such as your wife or husband) by having sex with someone else • He cheated on his wife/girlfriend.

— cheat·er noun, pl -ers [count]

2 cheat noun, pl cheats [count] : a person who cheats • He's a liar and a cheat. [=cheater] • tax cheats

1 check /'tʃek/ verb checks; checked; check-ing

1 : to look at (something) carefully to find mistakes, problems, etc., or to make sure there is nothing wrong with it [+ obj] Make sure to check your spelling. • She checked her makeup in the mirror. • We should check the equipment to make sure that it's working properly. • I checked the tires for wear. [=to see if they are worn down/out] • The guards checked my passport. [no obj] — + for • Be careful to check for any mistakes. • The border guards checked in my luggage

for contraband. — see also CROSS-CHECK, DOUBLE-CHECK, SPOT-CHECK

2 a : to get information by looking at something, asking about something, etc. [+ obj] He checked his watch and saw that it was almost noon. • I'll just check the map to see where we are. • I'll check the newspaper to see when the movie starts. [no obj] We were out of milk last time I checked. [=looked] • "Do you have these shoes in a larger size?" "I don't know. Let me check." [=take a look] • I think the door is locked, but I'll have to check (to be sure). — often followed by to + verb • Did you check to see where the movie was playing? • I checked to make sure the door was locked. b : to look at or in (a place) in order to find or get something or someone [+ obj] If you're looking for a spoon, check the top drawer. • I checked his office but he wasn't there. [no obj] If you're looking for the umbrella, check in the closet. c [+ obj] : to find out if you have any (mail, messages, etc.) • Did you check the mail yet today? • She checked [=listened to] her phone messages when she got home. • He logged on and checked [=read] his e-mail.

3 : to talk with someone in order to get approval, information, etc., about something [no obj] I'll have to check with the manager before I can let you in. • Check with your doctor to find out which drugs are safe. [+ obj] I'm not sure when you should arrive. I'll have to check that with my wife.

4 [+ obj] a : to slow or stop (something or someone) from doing something • She started to speak but then checked [=stopped] herself. • The batter checked his swing. [=the batter started to swing and then stopped] b hockey : to stop or hit (an opponent) in order to steal the ball or puck, defend the goal, etc. • He was checked by the defender.

5 [+ obj] US a : to leave (something you own) with a worker at a restaurant, hotel, etc., who keeps it in a special area or room (called a checkroom) while you are there • I checked my hat and coat in the restaurant's checkroom. b : to give (your bags, suitcases, etc.) to a worker so that they can be loaded onto a plane or train • We checked our bags before boarding. c : to take (someone's bags, suitcases, etc.) to load them onto a plane or train • The airline checked our bags before we boarded. — see also CHECK IN 3 (below)

6 [+ obj] US : to mark (something) with a check (✓) to show that it has been done, approved, etc. • You should check [=chiefly Brit] tick each item on the list after you've completed it. — often + off • You should check off [=chiefly Brit] tick off each item on the list after you've completed it.

7 [no obj] US, informal : to be proven to be true, accurate, etc. — usually used in negative statements • Her story didn't check. [=the evidence did not support her story] — see also CHECK OUT 2 (below)

check back [phrasal verb] informal : to return to a place, person, etc., in order to try something again or to get additional information • We are not hiring today, but check back next month. • I'll check back with you [=talk to you again] in about a week.

check in [phrasal verb] 1 : to report to someone when you arrive at a place (such as an airport or convention) to let them know you are there • Passengers must check in one hour before the flight leaves. • Where do I have to check in?; especially : to arrive at and be given a room in a hotel, motel, etc. • check in [=register] at a hotel • Guests cannot check in before 4:00 PM. — see also CHECK-IN 2 US, informal : to talk with someone in order to report or find out new information • I'm just checking in to see how things are going. — usually + with • I have to go to a meeting now, but I'll check in with you later. 3 check (something) in or check in (something) : to leave or take bags, suitcases, etc., so that they can be loaded onto a plane or train • We checked our bags in at the station. • The airline checked in our luggage.

check into [phrasal verb] check into (something) 1 : to arrive at and be given a room in (a hotel, motel, etc.) • We checked into a hotel. 2 : to look for information about (something) : to find out the truth about (something) by getting information • The police are checking into [=checking on, checking up on] his activities. [=the police are investigating his activities] • A problem like that should really be checked into carefully.

check off on [phrasal verb] check off on (something) US, informal : to give official approval for (something) • My boss will have to check off on [=authorize, approve] my decision.

check on [phrasal verb] check on (someone or something) 1 : to look at or examine (someone or something) to see if there are any problems • The nurse checked on the patients regularly. 2 : to look for information about (someone or something) : to find out the truth about (someone or something) by getting information • The police are checking on [=checking up on] him. • I asked the waiter to check on [=find out what was happening with] my order.

check out [phrasal verb] 1 a : to leave and pay for your room at a hotel, motel, etc. • We checked out (of the hotel) early. — see also CHECKOUT b US, informal : to die • There are still a lot of things I want to accomplish in life before I finally check out. 2 US, informal a : to be proven to be accurate, true, etc. • I didn't believe her at first, but her story checked out. • The description checked out when we compared it with the photograph. [=we saw that the description was accurate when we compared it with the photograph] b check out (something) or check (something) out : to find out if (something) is true • The police are still trying to check out [=investigate, confirm] his alibi. 3 check out (something or someone) or check (something or someone) out a : to look at (something or someone) in order to find problems, mistakes, etc. • We carefully checked out the car for defects. • He had problems with his computer and asked the technician to check it out. • He needs to get checked out by a doctor. b informal : to look at (someone or something that is attractive or interesting) • When she walked into the room, all the guys were checking her out. • Just check out his new car! • We're going to the mall to check out that new clothing store. — often used in the phrase check it out to direct someone's attention to something • Check it out—they've got that new book in stock. 4 check out (something) or check (something) out a : to borrow (something) from a library • He checked out [=took out, borrowed] a book on farming. b US : to add up the cost of the goods that someone buys in a store (such as a supermarket) and accept payment for them • She got a job checking out groceries at the supermarket.; also : to pay for the goods that you buy in a store • There was a long line of people waiting to check out their groceries. • She was able to check out quickly using her debit card. — see also CHECKOUT check over [phrasal verb] check (something or someone) over or check over (something or someone) : to look at (something or someone) in a careful way to find problems, mistakes, etc. • checking the new cars over • The doctors checked him over for bruises. • Be sure to check over each item on the list for any mistakes. • She checked herself over [=she looked at herself carefully] in the mirror before going to the party.

check through [phrasal verb] check through (something) : to look at the parts of (a group of things) • I checked through all his letters but found nothing useful.

check up on [phrasal verb] check up on (someone or something) : to find or look for information about (someone or something) often in order to find out the truth • My parents are always checking up on me. • The police are checking up on his alibi.

— check-able adj • an easily checkable fact

²check noun, pl checks

1 [count] : the act or process of looking at or examining something to find out information or see if there is anything wrong with it • Please give the schedule a check to see if the times are correct. • I gave the ingredients list a quick check to see if the cereal contained any sugar. • She ran/did a quick check of the computer to make sure it was working properly. • They did a sound check [=tested the sound equipment] before the concert. • All government employees are subject to a security check. [=all government employees are investigated to see if they can be trusted] • You should keep a close check on your blood pressure. [=you should watch your blood pressure closely] • The police ran a check on the license plate and found out that the car had been stolen.

2 [count] a : something that stops or limits another thing — usually + on • a system that acts/serves as a check on the governor's power [=a system that limits the governor's power] • The store hired a guard to put a check on shoplifting. [=to reduce or stop shoplifting] • The government has lowered interest rates in an attempt to put a check on inflation. — see also CHECKS AND BALANCES b hockey : an act of hitting or stopping a player in order to steal the ball or puck, defend a goal, etc. • He was penalized for an illegal check. • a hip check [=an act of hitting by bumping with the hips]

3 US check or Brit cheque [count] : a piece of paper that is used to make a payment to someone using the money in a bank account • He made out the check to me and signed it, and I deposited it in my account. • Do you want to pay in cash, by check, or by credit card? • write/cash/draw a check — compare MONEY ORDER; see also BLANK CHECK, TRAVELER'S CHECK

4 [count] US : a bill for the food and drinks that are served in a restaurant • She asked the waiter for the check.

5 a [count] US : a mark ✓ that is used to show that something (such as an item on a list) has been noted, done, etc. — called also (US) check mark, (chiefly Brit) tick b informal — used in speech to say that something has been noted, done, etc. • “So you'll be here at 6 o'clock on the dot.” “Check.” [=yes, I will be here at 6 o'clock] • “Do you have the camera?” “Check.” “The umbrella?” “Check.”

6 [count] US a : a room in a restaurant, theater, etc., where you can leave something that you do not want to carry or wear • He left his coat at the coat check. [=checkroom, coat-room, (chiefly Brit) cloakroom] • a hat check • When she was younger she worked as a coat-check/hat-check girl. [=a woman whose job is to take and return the things that people leave in a checkroom] b : a ticket that is given to you when you leave something (such as a hat or a coat) that you will return for later • a baggage check — see also RAIN CHECK

7 [noncount] : a situation in the game of chess in which a player's king can be captured on the opponent's next turn and must be protected or moved • He moved his bishop and said, “Check!” to show that my king was in check.

— compare CHECKMATE

cut a check see ¹CUT

in check : under control — used with keep or hold • He's trying to hold his emotions in check. [=he is trying to control his emotions] • The government has lowered interest rates in an attempt to keep inflation in check.

— compare ³CHECK

³check noun, pl checks [count] : a pattern of squares in different colors • a fabric with a blue and yellow check — often used before another noun • a check [=checked, checkered] fabric • a tablecloth with a check [=checked, checkered] pattern — compare ²CHECK

check-book (US) or Brit cheque-book /'tʃek,bʊk/ noun, pl -books [count] : a book containing checks for use with a checking account checked adj : having a pattern made up of squares of different colors • a checked shirt • a checked [=checkered] pattern/fabric/tablecloth — see color picture on page C12

¹check-er /'tʃekə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 US : a person in a store whose job is to add up the cost of customers' purchases and take payment for them • a grocery/supermarket checker

2 : someone or something that looks at things to find errors or problems • She is a careful checker of details. • a fact checker [=a person whose job is to make sure that the facts in a book, magazine, etc., are correct] • The word processing software includes a grammar checker. [=a feature that finds grammatical errors] — see also SPELL-CHECKER

— compare ²CHECKER

²checker noun, pl -ers [count] US : any one of the round pieces that are used in the game of checkers — called also (Brit) draught — compare ¹CHECKER

check-er-board /'tʃekə,bɔəd/ noun, pl -boards [count] US

1 : a board that is marked with squares of two different colors (such as white and black) and that is used in various games (such as checkers) — called also (Brit) draughtboard

2 : something that has a pattern or arrangement of squares that looks like a checkerboard • The fields formed a checkerboard of light and dark squares. • a checkerboard pattern

check-ered (chiefly US) or Brit che-quered /'tʃekəd/ adj

1 : having a pattern made up of squares of different colors • a checkered [=checked] pattern/fabric/tablecloth

2 a : including good parts and bad parts • He has had a checkered career with many ups and downs. b [more ~; most ~] : including many problems or failures • The senator has a checkered past. [=he has done bad things or been in trouble in the past] • When it comes to labor relations, the company has a somewhat checkered history. [=the company has sometimes had problems with labor relations]

check-ers /'tʃekəz/ noun [noncount] US : a game played on a board (called a checkerboard) by two players who each have 12 round pieces called checkers — called also (Brit) draughts; see also CHINESE CHECKERS

check-in /'tʃek,ɪn/ noun, pl -ins

1 [noncount] : the act or process of reporting that you have arrived at a hotel, an airport, etc. : the act or process of checking in • Check-in was delayed.; also : the time when people are allowed to check in • When is check-in? = When is check-in time?

2 [count] : the place where people go when they arrive at a hotel, airport, etc. • When we got to the airport there was a long line at the check-in. — often used before another noun • the check-in desk/counter — see also check in at ¹CHECK checking account noun, pl ~ -counts [count] US : a bank account from which you can take money by writing checks — called also (Brit) current account

check-list /'ʃɛk,lɪst/ noun, pl -lists [count]

1 : a list of things to be checked or done • Before takeoff the pilot went down/through his checklist of safety precautions. • I still have one thing left to do on my checklist.

2 : a list that includes many or all things of a certain kind • a checklist of bird species

check mark noun, pl ~ marks [count] US : ²CHECK 5a

check-mate /'ʃɛk,mert/ noun, pl -mates : a situation in chess in which a player loses the game because that player's king is in a position from which it cannot escape [noncount] a brilliant move that resulted in checkmate [count] The challenger can force a checkmate with his next move. — compare ²CHECK 7, STALEMATE 2

— check-mate verb -mates; -mat-ed; -mat-ing [+ obj] • The challenger checkmated the champion and won the tournament. • His king was checkmated.

check-out /'ʃɛk,aʊt/ noun, pl -outs

1 a : the action or an instance of leaving your room in a hotel, motel, etc., after you are finished staying there [non-count] She paid for the room at checkout. [count] an early checkout — often used before another noun • the checkout desk b [noncount] : the time by which you must leave your room when you have finished staying in a hotel, motel, etc. • When is checkout? = When is checkout time? • Checkout is at 11:00. — see also check out 1a at ¹CHECK

2 [count] : the place or area where goods are paid for in a store (such as a supermarket) • There was a long line at the checkout. — often used before another noun • the checkout counter — see also check out 4b at ¹CHECK

check-point /'ʃɛk,pɔɪnt/ noun, pl -points [count] : a place where people, cars, etc., are searched by someone (such as a police officer) before being allowed to continue • Our car was stopped at a police checkpoint before we were permitted to cross the border. • a military/security checkpoint

check-room /'ʃɛk,rʊ:m/ noun, pl -rooms [count] US : a room in a restaurant, theater, etc., where you can leave something that you do not want to carry or wear while you are there • I got my bag out of the checkroom when the performance ended. — called also (chiefly Brit) cloakroom, (US) coatroom; compare ²CHECK 6

checks and balances noun [plural] : a system in which the different parts of an organization (such as a government) have powers that affect and control the other parts so that no part can become too powerful check-up /'ʃɛk,ʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count] : an examination of a person made by a doctor to make sure the person is healthy • She goes for a checkup every year. • The doctor/dentist gave me a checkup.; also : an instance of looking at the parts of a machine to make sure it is working properly • She brought in her car for a 30,000-mile checkup.

ched-dar /'ʃɛdər/ noun, often Cheddar [noncount] : a type of hard yellow, white, or orange cheese that is smooth cheek /'ʃi:k/ noun, pl cheeks

1 [count] : the part of the face that is below the eye and to the side of the nose and mouth • rosy/chubby cheeks • He kissed her on the cheek. • They were sitting/dancing/posing cheek to cheek. [=with their cheeks touching] — see picture at FACE; see also TONGUE IN CHEEK

2 Brit : an attitude or way of behaving that is rude and does not show proper respect [noncount] He had the cheek [=nerve] to complain that our gift was cheap. [singular] He's got a cheek ignoring us like that.

3 [count] informal : one of the two parts of the body that a person sits on : BUTTOCKS

cheek by jowl : very close together • We sat cheek by jowl [=side by side] with the city's elite. • cheap knickknacks displayed cheek by jowl with fine antiques turn the other cheek : to choose not to try to hurt or insult someone who has hurt or insulted you cheek-bone /'ʃi:k,bəʊn/ noun, pl -bones [count] : a bone of the face that is located below the eye • He suffered a broken cheekbone. • She has high cheekbones, like her father.

cheeky /'ʃi:ki/ adj cheek-i-er; -est chiefly Brit, informal : rude and showing a lack of respect often in a way that seems playful or amusing • cheeky humor • a cheeky grin — cheek-i-ly /'ʃi:kəli/ adv — cheek-i-ness /'ʃi:kinəs/ noun [noncount]

cheep /'ʃi:p/ verb cheeps; cheeped; cheep-ing [no obj] of a bird : to make a quick high sound • chicks cheeping for food

— cheep noun, pl cheeps [count] • the cheeps of newly hatched chicks

¹cheer /'ʃiə/ noun, pl cheers

1 [count] : a shout of praise or encouragement • The audience let out a cheer. • Loud cheers were coming from the bleachers. • The star was greeted with cheers. • Three cheers for our team! [=hooray for our team]

2 [noncount] somewhat formal : a happy feeling or attitude • faces full of cheer • Let's spread a little holiday cheer. • Be of good cheer. [=be happy]

3 [count] : a special song or chant that is performed to encourage a team during a game in sports like American football and basketball • The cheerleaders did/led a cheer for the home team. — see also BRONX CHEER

²cheer verb cheers; cheered; cheer-ing

1 a : to shout with joy, approval, or enthusiasm [no obj] The crowd cheered as he crossed the finish line. • We were cheering for you all the way! [+ obj] The crowd cheered him as he crossed the finish line. • Their fans cheered them to victory. b [+ obj] : to express enthusiastic approval of or support for (something) • Supporters cheered the court's decision.

2 [+ obj] : to cause (someone) to feel happier or more hopeful • Investors were cheered by good economic news.

cheer on [phrasal verb] cheer (someone) on or cheer on (someone) : to encourage (someone) with shouts or cheers • Their fans cheered them on from the sidelines.

cheer up [phrasal verb] 1 cheer up or cheer (someone) up or cheer up (someone) : to become happier or to make (someone) happier • They cheered up at the mention of her name. • Cheer up—things will get better! • We tried our best to cheer her up. 2 cheer (something) up or cheer up (something) : to make (something) more cheerful or pleasant • Bright colors really cheer up a room.

cheer-ful /'ʃiəfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : feeling or showing happiness • a cheerful face/person • She has a cheerful outlook on life. • He seems a little more cheerful today. b : feeling or showing that you are willing to do something without complaining • cheerful obedience

2 a : causing good feelings or happiness • cheerful words/news b : bright and pleasant to look at • cheerful colors • a sunny cheerful room

— cheer-ful-ly adv • He cheerfully admitted that he was wrong. • She greeted us cheerfully. — cheer-ful-ness noun [noncount]

cheer-io /,ʃiri'ou/ interj, Brit, informal + somewhat old-fashioned : ¹GOODBYE cheer-lead-er /'ʃiə,li:dər/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who is a member of a group (typically a group of young women) who shout out special songs or chants to encourage the team and entertain the crowd during a game in sports like American football and basketball

2 : a person who encourages other people to do or support something • a politician who is a cheerleader for the government's new economic plan

— cheer-lead-ing noun [noncount] • She participates in both soccer and cheerleading at school. — often used before another noun • cheerleading tryouts/practice • a cheerleading team/squad cheer-less /'ʃiələs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not causing happiness or warm feelings : bleak or gloomy • a cheerless day/place • The room was surprisingly bare and cheerless.

cheers /'ʃiəz/ interj

1 — used as a toast to wish everyone happiness • Drink up, everybody. Cheers!

2 Brit a — used as an informal way to say “thank you” b — used as an informal way to say “goodbye” cheery /'ʃiri/ adj cheer-i-er; -est : having or causing happy feelings : CHEERFUL • cheery words/colors

— cheer-i-ly /'ʃirəli/ adv — cheer-i-ness /'ʃirinəs/ noun [noncount] cheese /'ʃi:z/ noun, pl chees-es : a yellow or white solid food that is made from milk [noncount] a piece of cheese • Sprinkle the casserole with cheese. • grated/melted cheese [count] imported cheeses • a mild cheese — often used before another noun • cheese sandwiches/omelets • a cheese [=cheesy] sauce/spread say cheese ✧ If you say the word “cheese” in an exaggerated way, you look like you are smiling, so someone who is taking your photograph and wants you to smile will tell you to say cheese.

— see also BIG CHEESE

cheese-burg-er /ˈtʃi:z,bərgə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a hamburger with a piece of cheese on top of the meat cheese-cake /ˈtʃi:z,keɪk/ noun, pl -cakes

1 [count, noncount] : a cake with a sweet filling usually made of cheese, eggs, and sugar

2 [noncount] informal : pictures of attractive young women who are wearing little clothing • advertisers who rely on cheesecake to sell products — often used before another noun • cheesecake photos/posters/calendars — compare BEEFCAKE

cheese-cloth /ˈtʃi:z,kləθ/ noun [noncount] : a very thin cotton cloth that is used especially in preparing food cheesed off /ˈtʃi:zdˈɑ:f/ adj [more ~; most ~] Brit, informal : angry or annoyed • feeling a bit cheesed off

cheese-steak /ˈtʃi:z,steɪk/ noun, pl -steaks [count] US : a sandwich made with thin slices of beef and melted cheese

cheesy /ˈtʃi:zi/ adj chees-i-er; -est

1 a : resembling cheese; especially : looking or smelling like cheese • a cheesy texture/odor b : containing cheese • a cheesy sauce

2 informal : of poor quality : lacking style or good taste • a cheesy [=cheap, shabby] motel • a cheesy movie • cheesy [=corny] pop songs

chee-tah /ˈtʃi:tə/ noun, pl -tahs [count] : a large wild cat that lives in Asia and Africa and that can run very fast — see picture at CAT

chef /ˈʃɛf/ noun, pl chefs [count]

1 : a professional cook who usually is in charge of a kitchen in a restaurant • The hotel's chef trained at the finest culinary institutes in Europe. • He's the head chef at a five-star restaurant. • a celebrity chef with her own TV show

2 : a person who prepares food for people to eat : COOK • My friend is an excellent chef.

¹chem-i-cal /ˈkɛmɪkəl/ adj

1 : of or relating to chemistry • a chemical analysis • chemical elements/bonds • They studied the compound's chemical structure/composition/properties. • a chemical laboratory

2 : working by means of chemicals • chemical pesticides/weapons/agents — see also CHEMICAL WARFARE

— chem-i-cal-ly /ˈkɛmɪkli/ adv • The wood is chemically treated. • drugs that are chemically related

²chemical noun, pl -cals [count] : a substance (such as an element or compound) that is made by a chemical process • toxic/hazardous/industrial chemicals

chemical engineering noun [noncount] : a type of engineering that deals with the use of chemistry in industry

— chemical engineer noun, pl ~-neers [count]

chemical reaction noun, pl ~-tions [count] : REACTION 5a chemical warfare noun [noncount] : the use of chemical substances (such as poisonous gases) as weapons in a war

che-mise /ʃəˈmi:z/ noun, pl -mis-es [count]

1 : a piece of clothing that looks like a light, loose dress and that is worn by women as underwear or in bed

2 : a loose dress that hangs straight chem-ist /ˈkɛmɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count]

1 : a person who studies or does research in the science of chemistry

2 Brit : PHARMACIST

chem-is-try /ˈkɛməstri/ noun [noncount]

1 : a science that deals with the structure and properties of substances and with the changes that they go through • a professor of chemistry — see also INORGANIC CHEMISTRY, ORGANIC CHEMISTRY

2 : the structure and properties of a substance : the way a substance changes and reacts with other substances • studying the chemistry of gasoline/iron • blood/body chemistry

3 a : a strong attraction between people • They tried dating, but there was no chemistry between them. b : the way the people in a group work together and feel about each other • the chemistry of the office • The team lacks chemistry.

chemistry set noun, pl ~ sets [count] : a set of equipment that a child can use to learn about chemistry by doing simple experiments che-mo-ther-a-py /ˌki:mouˈθerəpi/ noun [noncount] medical : the use of chemicals to treat or control a disease (such as cancer) • She underwent (a course of) chemotherapy.

che-nille /ʃəˈni:l/ noun [noncount] : a thick, soft cloth • a chenille bedspread cheque Brit spelling of ²CHECK 3

cheque-book Brit spelling of CHECKBOOK

cheque card noun, pl ~ cards [count] Brit : a card that you show when you pay for something with a cheque to prove that the bank will pay the amount of the cheque

che-quered Brit spelling of CHECKERED

cher-ish /ˈtʃerɪʃ/ verb -ish-es; -ished; -ish-ing [+ obj]

1 : to feel or show great love for (someone or something) • She cherishes her friends/family. • a book cherished by many synonyms see APPRECIATE

2 : to remember or hold (an idea, belief, etc.) in a deeply felt way • I will always cherish that memory.

— cherished adj [more ~; most ~] • a cherished friend • my most cherished and deeply held beliefs

Cher-o-kee /ˈtʃerəki/ noun, pl -kee or -kees [count] : a member of a Native American people originally from Tennessee and North Carolina

cher-ry /ˈtʃeri/ noun, pl -ries

1 a [count] : a small round fruit that is usually red or black — see color picture on page C5 b [count] : a tree on which this fruit grows — called also cherry tree c [noncount] : the wood of a cherry tree • The kitchen cabinets are made of cherry. — called also cherry wood

2 [noncount] : a bright red color — called also cherry red; see color picture on page C3

— cherry adj • cherry juice/pie • a cherry table [=a table made of cherry wood] • cherry [=red] lips

cherry bomb noun, pl ~ bombs [count] US : a round firecracker that makes a loud noise when it explodes cher-ry-pick /ˈtʃeri,pɪk/ verb -picks; -picked; -pick-ing

: to pick or accept the best people or things in a group [+ obj] Hollywood's biggest stars can cherry-pick the best projects and directors. [no obj] elite colleges that can cherry-pick from the best students available

cherry tomato noun, pl ~ -toes [count] : a very small red or orange tomato or a plant that produces such tomatoes

cher-ub /ˈtʃerəb/ noun [count]

1 pl cherubs or cherubim : a type of angel that is usually shown in art as a beautiful young child with small wings and a round face and body

2 pl cherubs : someone (such as a child) who is thought of as being like a small angel • My little cherub! — sometimes used in combination • a cherub-faced toddler — che-ru-bic /tʃəˈru:bɪk/ adj • a child with a cherubic face cher-vil /ˈtʃəvəl/ noun [noncount] : an herb that is often used in cooking and salads chess /ˈtʃes/ noun [noncount] : a game for two players in which each player moves 16 pieces across a board and tries to place the opponent's king in a position from which it cannot escape • We played (a game of) chess. — often used before another noun • a chess player/champion • a chess match/tournament chess-board /ˈtʃes,bɔəd/ noun, pl -boards [count] : a board used in chess that has 64 squares in two colors chess-man /ˈtʃes,mæn/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : any of the playing pieces used in chess : a chess piece

chest /ˈtʃest/ noun, pl chests [count]

1 : a container (such as a box or case) for holding things or moving them from place to place • a linen chest • a tool chest • a treasure chest • a medicine chest [=a cabinet on a bathroom wall that is used for storing medicine and small items] — see also CHEST OF DRAWERS, HOPE CHEST, WAR CHEST

2 : the front part of the body between the neck and the stomach • He has a broad chest. • The pain is in my upper chest. — often used before another noun • the chest cavity • a chest X-ray • She's been complaining of chest pains. — see picture at HUMAN

close to your chest see ²CLOSE

get (something) off your chest : to tell someone about something that has been making you upset or unhappy • You've been a little cold to me lately. Is there something you'd like to get off your chest?

chess

— chest-ed /ˈtʃɛstəd/ adj — used in combination • flat-chested • bare-chested

¹chest-nut /ˈtʃɛs,nʌt/ noun, pl -nuts

1 a [count] : a type of tree that produces large, sweet nuts that can be eaten — called also chestnut tree b [count] : the nut of a chestnut tree • roasted chestnuts — see picture at NUT c [noncount] : the wood of a chestnut tree — see also HORSE CHESTNUT, WATER CHESTNUT

2 [count] : a brown or reddish-brown horse

²chestnut adj : of a reddish-brown color • chestnut hair • a chestnut stallion

chest of drawers noun, pl chests of drawers [count] : a piece of furniture that contains drawers for storing clothes — called also (US) bureau

chev·ron /ˈʃɛvrən/ noun, pl -rons [count]

1 : a shape, pattern, or object in the form of a V or an upside-down V

2 : a piece of cloth that is shaped like a V and that is worn on the sleeve of a military or police uniform to show a person's rank

¹chew /tʃu:/ verb chews; chewed; chew-ing

1 a : to use your teeth to cut food into small pieces before you swallow it [+ obj] We were taught to chew our food thoroughly before swallowing. [no obj] He chews with his mouth open. b : to bite on (something) repeatedly with the teeth [+ obj] You're not allowed to chew gum in class. • chew tobacco • Stop chewing [=biting] your nails. [no obj] A mouse chewed through the cord. — often + on • The dog was chewing on a bone.

2 [+ obj] : to make (something, such as a hole) by chewing • The dog chewed a hole in the rug.

bite off more than you can chew see ¹BITE

chew off [phrasal verb] chew off (something) or chew (something) off : to remove (something) by chewing • The dog chewed the doll's eyes off.

chew on [phrasal verb] chew on (something) informal : to think about (something) • Chew on it for a while before you decide. • That should give you something to chew on. — see also ¹CHEW 1b (above) chew out [phrasal verb] chew (someone) out or chew out (someone) US, informal : to speak in an angry and critical way to (someone) • I got chewed out [=reprimanded] for leaving early. • The coach chewed him out.

chew over [phrasal verb] chew (something) over or chew over (something) informal : to think about (something) • He chewed the problem over in his mind. • Chew it over for a while before you decide.

chew the fat also chew the rag informal : to talk together in a friendly and casual way • They would sit for hours and chew the fat. [=chat, shoot the breeze] chew up [phrasal verb] chew (something) up or chew up (something) 1 : to destroy (something) by chewing it • My new puppy chewed up my shoes. 2 informal : to destroy or defeat (someone or something) • The truck chewed up the grass. • The gears got all chewed up. • They chewed up the competition. • Don't mess with her—she'll chew you up and spit you out.

— chew·able /ˈtʃu:wəbəl/ adj • chewable vitamins — chew·er noun, pl -ers [count] • gum chewers

²chew noun, pl chews [count]

1 : the act of chewing something • a quick chew

2 : something that a person or animal chews • a chew of tobacco • a rawhide chew chewing gum noun [noncount] : a type of soft candy that you chew on but do not swallow • a piece/stick of chewing gum chewing tobacco noun [noncount] : a type of tobacco that is chewed rather than smoked chew toy noun, pl ~ toys [count] US : a toy that is designed to be chewed by a dog

chewy /tʃu:wi/ adj chew·i·er; -est [also more ~; most ~] : requiring a lot of chewing • chewy meat • a chewy candy/cookie

Chey·enne /ʃar'æn/ noun, pl -ennes [count] : a member of a Native American people of the western U.S.

Chi·an·ti /ki'a:nti, Brit ki'aenti/ noun, pl -tis [count, non-count] : a dry red wine from Italy chi·ca·nery /ʃi'keɪnəri/ noun [noncount] formal : actions or statements that trick people into believing something that is not true : deception or trickery • He wasn't above using chicanery to win votes.

¹chic /tʃi:k/ adj [more ~; most ~] : following the current fashion or style : fashionable and appealing • chic clothes • The café has a chic new look. • She looked very chic.

²chic noun [noncount] : fashionable style • French chic • It's the height of chic this year.

Chi·ca·na /tʃi'ka:nə/ noun, pl -nas [count] : an American woman or girl whose parents or grandparents came from Mexico

— Chicana adj • a Chicana writer

Chi·ca·no /tʃi'ka:nou/ noun, pl -nos [count] : an American (especially a man or boy) whose parents or grandparents came from Mexico

— Chicano adj • Chicano artists • the Chicano community chi·chi /tʃi:ʃi:/ adj [more ~; most ~] usually disapproving : fashionable or showy especially in a way that is meant to impress people or to attract attention • a chichi restaurant/nightclub

chick /tʃɪk/ noun, pl chicks [count]

1 : a baby bird • eagle chicks, especially : a baby chicken • a mother hen and her chicks

2 informal : a woman or girl • a cute chick ♦ This sense of chick is somewhat old-fashioned and is now sometimes considered offensive.

chick·a·dee /tʃɪkə,di:/ noun, pl -dees [count] : a common, small American bird — see color picture on page C9

¹chick·en /tʃɪkən/ noun, pl -ens

1 a [count] : a bird that is raised by people for its eggs and meat b [noncount] : the meat of the chicken used as food • We had chicken for dinner. • fried/roasted/grilled chicken — often used before another noun • chicken soup/broth • chicken salad

2 [count] informal : a person who is afraid : COWARD • It's just a spider, you chicken! • Don't be such a big chicken.

count your chickens ♦ If you count your chickens or (US) count your chickens before they hatch or (Brit) before they're hatched, you believe that something you want to happen will definitely happen before you know for certain that it really will. • Don't count your chickens before they hatch—we don't know yet if she will accept our offer.

your chickens come home to roost see ²ROOST

— see also SPRING CHICKEN

²chicken adj, not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] informal : too afraid to do something • He's too chicken [=cowardly] to stand up to them. • You're chicken, aren't you?

³chicken verb -ens; -ened; -en-ing

chicken out [phrasal verb] informal : to decide not to do something because you are afraid • He was going to ask her on a date, but he chickened out at the last minute.

chicken-and-egg adj — used to describe a situation in which it is difficult to tell which of two things happened first • a chicken-and-egg situation/dilemma chicken feed noun [noncount] informal : an amount of money that is too small to be considered important • The project cost almost a million dollars, which isn't exactly chicken feed. • Ten bucks? That's chicken feed!

chick-en-fried steak /'tʃɪkən'fraɪd-/ noun, pl ~ steaks [count, noncount] US : a steak that is coated with flour, fried, and served with gravy chicken pox noun [noncount] : a disease that often affects children and that causes a fever and red spots on the skin chick-en-shit /'tʃɪkən,ʃɪt/ adj [more ~; most ~] US slang, offensive : weak and cowardly • That guy likes to make threats but he's too chickenshit to act on them.

— chickenshit noun, pl -shits US slang, offensive [count] a bunch of chickenshits. [=cowards] [noncount] a load of chickenshit [=nonsense, bullshit]

chicken wire noun [noncount] : a type of strong wire that is used especially to make fences chick flick noun, pl ~ flicks [count] informal : a movie that is intended to appeal to women chick-pea /'tʃɪk,pi:/ noun, pl -peas [count] : a pale round seed that is cooked and eaten as a vegetable — called also (US) garbanzo, (US) garbanzo bean

chic-o-ry /'tʃɪkəri/ noun, pl -ries [count, noncount] : a European plant that has bitter-tasting leaves that are often used in salads ♦ The dried, ground root of the chicory plant is sometimes used as a flavoring in or substitute for coffee. — compare BELGIAN ENDIVE chide /'tʃaɪd/ verb chides; chid-ed /'tʃaɪdəd/; chid-ing /'tʃaɪdɪŋ/ [+ obj] : to express mild disapproval of (someone) : to scold (someone) gently • She chided us for arriving late. • "You really should have been here on time," she chided.

¹chief /'tʃi:f/ noun, pl chiefs [count] : the person who is the leader of a group of people, of an organization, etc. • She's the chief of surgery [=the doctor who is in charge of the surgical department] at the hospital. • the police chief = the chief of police • the fire chief [=the head of a department of firefighters] • an Indian chief [=the leader of a tribe of Native Americans]

²chief adj, always used before a noun

1 : highest in rank or authority • the chief engineer on the project • the company's chief executive — see also COMMANDER IN CHIEF, EDITOR IN CHIEF

2 : most important : MAIN • Her job is their chief source of income. • their chief accomplishment • our chief competitor • He has many concerns, chief among them his health.

chief constable noun, pl ~ -stables [count] Brit : a police officer who is in charge of a police force chief executive noun, pl ~ -tives [count]

1 : CEO

2 a : the president of a country • The President is the chief executive of the U.S. b : the governor of a U.S. state chief executive officer noun, pl ~ -cers [count] : CEO chief justice or Chief Justice noun, pl ~ -tices [count] : the most important and powerful judge of a court of law and especially of the U.S. Supreme Court chief-ly /'tʃi:fli/ adv : mainly or mostly — used to identify the most important part of something, reason for something, etc. • We're chiefly concerned with protecting the environment. • His greatest works—chiefly those written between 1640 and 1685—are still read today. • an animal that hunts chiefly by smell • The disease occurs chiefly in children. • The rock is composed chiefly of quartz.

chief of staff noun, pl chiefs of staff [count]

1 : a person of high rank in the U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marines who advises the person in charge of military operations — see also JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF

2 : a person of high rank who advises a leader (such as the U.S. President) on important matters • the White House Chief of Staff

chief of state noun, pl chiefs of state [count] : a person who is formally recognized as the leader of a country • a meeting with foreign chiefs of state chief-tain /'tʃi:ftən/ noun, pl -tains [count] : a leader of a tribe or clan chif-fon /ʃɪ'fɑ:n, 'ʃɪ,fɑ:n/ noun [noncount] : a very thin cloth made especially of silk • a chiffon dress/scarf

chig-ger /'tʃɪgə/ noun, pl -gers [count] US : a small insect that bites people and causes painful swelling on the skin chi-gnon /'ʃi:n,jɑ:n/ noun, pl chi-gnons [count] : a way of arranging a woman's hair by twisting it into a round shape at the back of the head or neck

Chi-hua-hua /tʃə'wa:wa/ noun, pl -huas [count] : a type of very small dog with large ears and usually short hair — see picture at DOG

chil-blain /'tʃɪl,bleɪn/ noun [count] : a red and painful swollen area on the feet, hands, etc., that is caused by being exposed to cold — usually plural child /'tʃaɪld/ noun, pl chil-dren /'tʃɪldrən/ [count]

1 : a young person • the birth of a child • She's pregnant with their first child. • a play for both children and adults • I went there once as a child [=when I was a child] — often used before another noun. • a child prodigy • a child actor • child development • child psychologists

2 : a son or daughter • All of their children are grown now. • an elderly couple and their adult children

3 : an adult who acts like a child : a childlike or childish person • I'm a child when it comes to doing taxes. [=I need to be told or shown what to do] • Men are such children sometimes.

4 : a person who has been strongly influenced by a certain place or time or by the events happening during that time • She's a child of her time. • a child of the Depression children should be seen and not heard — used to say that children should be quiet and well-behaved with child old-fashioned : PREGNANT • She found herself with child. [=she discovered that she was pregnant]

— see also BRAINCHILD

child-bear-ing /'tʃaɪld,berɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the process of giving birth to children • women who delay childbearing

— childbearing adj • women of childbearing age [=women who are old enough to give birth to children]

child benefit noun, pl ~ -fits [count] Brit : money that the government pays to families with children child-birth /'tʃaɪld,bɜ:θ/ noun, pl -births : the act or process of giving birth to children [count] the total number of childbirths [(more commonly) births] [noncount] advocates of natural childbirth

child-care /'tʃaɪld,keə/ noun [noncount] : the things that are done to take care of children especially when their parents are away or at work • The cost of childcare can be expensive. • Childcare is available for children under five. — often used before another noun • childcare centers/workers

child-hood /'tʃaɪld,hud/ noun, pl -hoods : the period of time when a person is a child [noncount] I remember this place from (my) childhood. • diseases that can occur in childhood [count] Both men had unhappy childhoods. — often used before another noun • childhood heroes/friends/memories • my childhood home — see also SECOND CHILDHOOD child-ish /'tʃaɪdlɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : of a child or typical of a child • She has a childish face. • a letter written in childish scrawl • He opened the gifts with childish delight; especially, disapproving : having or showing the unpleasant qualities (such as silliness or lack of maturity) that children often have • a childish prank • We're tired of their childish games. • I find his humor very childish. — compare CHILD-LIKE — child-ish-ly adv • a childishly simple idea — child-ish-ness noun [noncount] • She was annoyed by the childishness of his behavior.

child-less /'tʃaɪldləs/ adj : having no children • childless couples

— child-less-ness noun [noncount]

child-like /'tʃaɪld,lark/ adj [more ~; most ~] : resembling or suggesting a child : like that of a child • a childlike drawing/voice • a grown woman with a childlike face; especially : having or showing the pleasing qualities (such as innocence) that children often have • childlike faith/enthusiasm • We gazed at it in childlike wonder. • She took a childlike glee in describing every detail. — compare CHILDISH child-mind-er /'tʃaɪld,maɪndə/ noun, pl -ers [count] Brit

: a person who is paid to take care of children usually in his or her home while the parents are at work • a registered childminder

¹child-proof /'tʃaɪld,pru:f/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : made so that a child cannot open it • a childproof bottle
2 : made safe for children • a childproof home [=a home where dangerous objects, chemicals, etc., have been removed or placed where children cannot get them]

²childproof verb -proofs; -proofed; -proof-ing [+ obj]
: to make (a place) safe for children • The article has tips on how to childproof a home.

child-rearing noun [noncount] : the process of taking care of and raising children • Her husband is actively involved in child-rearing. — often used before another noun • child-rearing practices/methods

children plural of CHILD child's play noun [noncount] : something that is very easy to do • Landing a job should be child's play for someone with his skills.

child support noun [noncount] : money that a former husband or wife must pay regularly to help raise a child — called also (Brit) maintenance

chili (US) or Brit chil-li also US chile /'tʃɪli/ noun, pl chilies also chil-es or Brit chil-lies

1 [count, noncount] : a small pepper with a very hot flavor — called also chili pepper

2 [noncount] : a spicy dish made of ground beef, hot peppers or chili powder, and usually beans • a bowl of chili — called also chili con carne /-,kɑ:n'kɑ:ni/chili dog noun, pl ~ dogs [count] US : a hot dog with chili on top of it chili powder (US) or Brit chilli powder noun [noncount] : a dry powder that is made of chilies and other spices and that is used to give food a hot flavor

chili sauce noun [noncount] US : a spicy sauce that is made with tomatoes and hot red and green peppers

¹chill /'tʃɪl/ noun, pl chills

1 [singular] : a cold feeling : a degree of cold that can be felt and that is usually unpleasant • There was a chill in the autumn air. • He closed the windows to keep out the chill. • I'll turn on the heat for a bit, just to take the chill off. [=raise the temperature slightly to a comfortable level] — see also WINDCHILL

2 [count] a : a feeling of being cold • Her symptoms include chills and a fever. b : an illness that makes you feel cold • He caught a chill that turned into a bad cold.

3 [count] : a sudden feeling of fear • I feel a chill (of fear) every time I look at the photograph. • The novel's final scene gave him the chills. • Her words sent chills down my spine.

4 [singular] a : a cold and unfriendly quality • I felt the chill of my opponent's stare. b : a change that causes less friendly relations between people, countries, etc. • There has been a chill in diplomatic relations. [=diplomatic relations have grown colder]

²chill verb chills; chilled; chill-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to make (someone or something) cold or cool • Chill the dessert for one hour before serving it. — often used as (be) chilled • The spectators were chilled by the cold wind. • chilled wine • a chilled soup • I was chilled to the bone/marrow. [=very cold] b [no obj] : to become cold or cool • Let the dessert chill for one hour before serving it.

2 [+ obj] : to cause (someone) to feel afraid • Here's a ghost story that will chill you. • Her screams chilled me to the bone/marrow. • a horrible sight that chilled my bones/blood

3 [no obj] informal a : to become more relaxed : to become less tense, anxious, or angry • He thinks his parents are way too uptight and says they should just chill. — often + out • They should just chill out. — often used as a command • Chill (out), man. b : to spend time in a relaxed manner • I decided to stay home and chill. — often + out • She's been chilling out with her girlfriends.

³chill adj, somewhat formal : unpleasantly cold : CHILLY • The nights grew chill. • The chill weather kept us indoors. • a chill wind

chilli chiefly Brit spelling of CHILI

chill-ing /'tʃɪlɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very disturbing or frightening • a chilling tale

— chill-ing-ly adv • chillingly cruel • a chillingly accurate description of the murderer chilly /'tʃɪli/ adj chill-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : noticeably cold • a chilly morning • a chilly breeze • It's a little chilly outside.

2 : feeling cold • I was getting chilly. • You must be chilly without a coat on.

3 : noticeably unfriendly • They gave him a chilly reception. — chill-i-ness noun [noncount] the chilliness of the air [singular] She felt a chilliness in his voice.

¹chime /'tʃaɪm/ noun, pl chimes [count]

1 : a device that produces a sound like the sound made by a set of bells • The clock chime struck four. — usually plural • We bought a set of door chimes. — see also WIND CHIME

2 : the sound made by a set of bells • the chime of church bells — usually plural • We awoke to the chimes of a nearby church.

²chime verb chimes; chimed; chim-ing

1 [no obj] : to make the sound of a ringing bell • The door bell chimed.

2 of a clock : to make a ringing sound that indicates the time [+ obj] The clock chimed midnight. [no obj] The clock chimed.

3 [no obj] : to agree : to be in harmony • The music and the mood chimed well together. — often + with • His opinion doesn't chime with mine.

chime in [phrasal verb] 1 : to add your comment or opinion to a conversation or discussion that you have been listening to • He kept chiming in with his opinions. • "He left hours ago," Janet chimed in. 2 : to be in agreement or harmony with something • The illustrations chimed in perfectly with the story.

chi-me-ra /kai'mɪrə/ noun, pl -ras [count]

1 Chimera : a monster from Greek mythology that breathes fire and has a lion's head, a goat's body, and a snake's tail

2 formal : something that exists only in the imagination and is not possible in reality • Economic stability in that country is a chimera.

— chi-mer-i-cal /kai'merəkəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • chimerical [=imaginary] dreams of economic stability chi-mi-chan-ga /,tʃɪmi'tʃɑ:ŋgə/ noun, pl -gas [count] : a food that consists of a tortilla which is wrapped around a filling (such as seasoned meat) and deep-fried chim-ney /'tʃɪmni/ noun, pl -neys [count]

1 : a part of a building through which smoke rises into the outside air; especially : the part that sticks up above the roof — see picture at HOUSE; see also smoke like a chimney at ²SMOKE

2 : a tall narrow opening through a large piece of rock (such as a cliff) that can be used for climbing the rock chimney breast noun, pl ~ breasts [count] Brit : a part of a wall that extends out into a room to cover a chimney

chim-ney-piece /'tʃɪmni,pi:s/ noun, pl -piec-es [count] Brit : MANTELPIECE 1 chimney pot noun, pl ~ pots [count] chiefly Brit : a clay or metal pipe on top of a chimney chimney stack noun, pl ~ stacks [count] Brit

1 : the part of a chimney that is above the roof of a building

2 : SMOKESTACK

chimney sweep noun, pl ~ sweeps [count] : a person who cleans the insides of chimneys

chimp /'tʃɪmp/ noun, pl chimps [count] : CHIMPANZEE

chim-pan-zee /,tʃɪm,pæn'zi:/ noun, pl -zees [count] : an intelligent animal that is a type of ape and that lives mostly in trees in Africa — see picture at APE

chin /'tʃɪn/ noun, pl chins [count] : the part of the face below the mouth and above the neck — see picture at FACE; see also DOUBLE CHIN

keep your chin up : to stay cheerful and hopeful during difficult times • He's still keeping his chin up despite all his health problems. • (Keep your) chin up! Everything will work out for the best.

take it on the chin informal 1 US : to be badly damaged or affected by something : to be hit hard by something • Many investors took it on the chin yesterday as the stock market dropped sharply. 2 Brit : to accept something difficult or unpleasant without complaining • The criticism was harsh but he took it on the chin and didn't try to blame anyone else.

chi-na /'tʃaɪnə/ noun [noncount]

1 : a hard white material that is made of baked clay and used to make plates, bowls, etc. • This vase is (made of) china. — often used before another noun • a china teapot — see also BONE CHINA

2 : plates, bowls, cups, etc., that are made of china • She uses her good china when she has company for dinner.

a bull in a china shop see ¹BULL

Chi-na-town /ˈtʃaɪnə,taʊn/ noun, pl -towns : the area of a city where many Chinese people live [noncount] We had dinner in Chinatown. [count] — usually singular • There is a Chinatown in San Francisco.

chi-na-ware /ˈtʃaɪnə,weə/ noun [noncount] : CHINA 2 chin-chil-la /tʃɪnˈtʃɪlə/ noun, pl -las

1 [count] : a small South American animal that has soft gray fur

2 [noncount] : the fur of a chinchilla • The collar of the coat is chinchilla.

¹Chi-nese /tʃaɪˈniːz/ noun

1 the Chinese : the people of China : Chinese people • the customs of the Chinese

2 [noncount] : any one of a group of closely related languages that are spoken in China • He is learning to speak Chinese.

²Chinese adj : of or relating to China, its people, or their languages • Chinese history/food • She is Chinese. • The custom is Chinese. • the Chinese writing system

Chinese cabbage noun [noncount]

1 : BOK CHOY

2 : a type of cabbage from Asia that has a long head and pale, wrinkled leaves

Chinese checkers (US) or Brit Chinese chequers noun [noncount] : a game in which players move marbles from one hole to another across a playing surface that is shaped like a star

Chinese whispers noun [noncount] Brit : a situation in which a piece of information is passed from one person to the next and is changed slightly each time it is told

¹chink /tʃɪŋk/ noun, pl chinks [count]

1 : a small crack : a narrow opening or space — usually + in • We peeked through a chink in the fence.

2 chiefly Brit : a small amount of light shining through a crack • a chink of daylight chink in someone's or something's armor see ARMOR

— compare ²CHINK

²chink noun, pl chinks [count] : the short sharp sound made when objects made of metal or glass hit each other • We heard the chink of coins from the slot machine. • the chink [=clink] of her glass against mine — compare ¹CHINK

Chink /tʃɪŋk/ noun, pl Chinks [count] informal + offensive : a Chinese person ✧ The word Chink is very offensive and should be avoided.

chi-nos /tʃiːnouz/ noun [plural] : pants that are made of a somewhat stiff fabric and that are usually very light brown in color chintz /tʃɪnts/ noun [noncount] : a shiny cotton fabric with a flowery pattern printed on it — often used before another noun • chintz curtains • a chintz sofa chintzy /tʃɪntsi/ adj chintz-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 US, informal a : not showing good taste : not tasteful or stylish • The decorations were very chintzy. [=tacky] b

: poorly or cheaply done or made : of low quality • chintzy toys • a chintzy low-budget film

2 US, informal : not willing to spend money or give anything away : stingy or cheap • The boss is chintzy about raises.

3 chiefly Brit : decorated in or covered with chintz • a chintzy cottage • chintzy furniture chin-up /tʃɪn,ʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count] US : PULL-UP chin-wag /tʃɪn,wæg/ noun [singular] Brit, informal : a friendly conversation : CHAT • My mother and aunt were having a chin-wag in the kitchen.

¹chip /tʃɪp/ noun, pl chips [count]

1 : a small piece that has been broken off from something larger • wood chips • chips of stone

2 : a place where a small piece of something has broken off • The cup has a chip in/on it.

3 : a small piece of candy or chocolate used in baking • chocolate chips • chocolate chip cookies [=cookies with small bits of chocolate in them]

4 a : a thin, hard, and usually salty piece of food • tortilla chips; especially, US : POTATO CHIP • a bag of chips — see also CORN CHIP b Brit : FRENCH FRY — see also FISH AND CHIPS

5 : a small, flat, round piece of plastic that is used to represent an amount of money in gambling games like poker — see also BARGAINING CHIP

6 : a very small piece of hard material (called silicon) in a computer or other device that contains many electronic circuits • computer/silicon chips — see also MICROCHIP

7 US, informal : a piece of dried waste matter from an animal • buffalo/cow chips

8 : CHIP SHOT 1, 2

chip off the old block informal : someone who looks or behaves like his or her parent • His son is a real chip off the old block.

have a chip on your shoulder informal : to have an angry or unpleasant attitude or way of behaving caused by a belief that you have been treated unfairly in the past • He has had a chip on his shoulder ever since he didn't get the promotion he was expecting.

let the chips fall where they may US, informal : to allow events to happen without trying to change them ✧ This phrase usually suggests that you are willing to accept a result, whatever it may be. • I will run the best campaign I can, then let the chips fall where they may.

when the chips are down informal : in a difficult situation : when things are not good • True friends will stand by you when the chips are down.

²chip verb chips; chipped; chip-ping

1 a [+ obj] : to break off a small piece from (something) • I bit into something hard and chipped my tooth. • He fell and chipped a bone in his knee. • She chipped a nail. [=she broke a small piece of hardened nail polish off a fingernail] • a chipped cup/tooth b [no obj] : to break or come off in small pieces • China chips easily. • The paint had chipped off/away.

2 a always followed by an adverb or preposition [+ obj] : to break off (something) especially with a tool • He chipped away the ice from the car's windshield. • The sculptor chipped away/off bits of stone. • The geologist chipped [=cut] the specimen out of the rock face. b [no obj] : to hit something with a tool in order to break off small pieces — usually + away • The sculptor chipped away at the stone/marble. — often used figuratively • There have been endless efforts to chip away at [=gradually reduce] social prejudice. • His failures chipped away at his self-confidence.

3 : to hit or kick (a ball) so that it goes a short distance : to hit or kick a chip shot [+ obj] The golfer chipped the ball onto the green. • She chipped the soccer ball over the goalie's head. • He chipped a pass to his teammate. [no obj] The golfer chipped onto the green. • She chipped in for par. [=she made a par by hitting a chip shot that went into the hole]

chip in [phrasal verb] 1 chip in or chip in (something) : to give something (such as money) to help a person, group, or cause • We all chipped in [=contributed] to buy him a gift. • If we all chip in [=help (out)], the work will get done quickly. • We each chipped in 10 dollars. 2 chiefly Brit : to add your comment or opinion to a conversation or discussion • "He left hours ago," Sue chipped in. [= chimed in] chip-board /tʃɪp,bɔəd/ noun [noncount]

1 : PARTICLEBOARD

2 US : a type of cardboard made from paper that had been thrown away chip-munk /tʃɪp,mʌŋk/ noun, pl -munks [count] : a small North American animal that is related to the squirrel — see picture at RODENT chip-o-la-ta /tʃɪp'la:tə/ noun, pl -tas [count] Brit : a small thin sausage chipped beef noun [noncount] US : smoked dried beef that is sliced thin

¹chip-per /tʃɪpə/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal + somewhat old-fashioned : cheerful and lively • My, you're looking chip-per this morning. • She greeted me in a chipper voice.

²chipper noun, pl -pers [count] : a piece of equipment that is used to cut wood (such as tree branches) into small pieces • a wood chipper

chip-py also chip-pie /tʃɪpi/ noun, pl -pies [count] Brit, informal : CHIP SHOP

chip shop noun, pl ~ shops [count] Brit : a restaurant that sells fish and chips and other fried foods for people to take away and eat somewhere else

chip shot noun, pl ~ shots [count]

1 golf : a very short shot that is made from an area near the green • She hit a chip shot onto the green.

2 soccer + rugby : a short kick that lifts a ball high in the air • He kicked a chip shot over the goalie's head.

3 American football : a short and easy field goal chi-rop-o-dist /kəˈrɒ:pədɪst/ noun, pl -dists [count] chiefly Brit : PODIATRIST chi-ro-prac-tic /ˈkaɪrə,præktɪk/ noun [noncount] : a method of treating people who are sick or in pain by pushing and moving bones in the spine and joints

— chiropractic adj • chiropractic care • chiropractic adjustments of/to the spine — chi-ro-prac-tor /ˈkaɪrə,præktər/noun, pl -tors [count] • My sister goes to a chiropractor for her back pain.

chirp /ˈtʃɜp/ verb chirps; chirped; chirp-ing
1 [no obj] : to make a short high-pitched sound • The birds were chirping in the trees. • We heard the crickets chirping.
2 [+ obj] : to say (something) in a cheerful and lively way • “Good morning!” she chirped.
– chirp noun, pl chirps [count] • the chirps of the birds chirpy /ˈtʃɜpi/ adj chirp-i-er; -est [or more ~; most ~] informal : cheerful and lively • a chirpy, bright-eyed student – chirp-i-ly /ˈtʃɜpəli/ adv – chirp-i-ness /ˈtʃɜpinəs/ noun [noncount]

chir-rup /ˈtʃɜrəp/ verb -rups; -rured; rup-ing [no obj] : CHIRP
– chirrup noun, pl -rups [count]

¹chis-el /ˈtʃɪz/ noun, pl -els [count] : a metal tool with a flat, sharp end that is used to cut and shape a solid material (such as stone, wood, or metal) — see picture at CARPENTRY

²chisel verb -els; US -eled or Brit -elled; US -el-ing or Brit -el-ling [+ obj] : to cut or shape (something) with a chisel • She chiseled the stone/wood/marble. • He chiseled off a corner of the block. • Letters were chiseled into a wall.

chis-eled (US) or Brit chis-elled /ˈtʃɪzɪd/ adj [more ~; most ~]
1 : having an attractive well-formed shape — used especially to describe a man’s face and its features • a handsome actor’s chiseled face/jaw/nose
2 : having a strong, muscular body or form • a chiseled body-builder • He has the chiseled body of an athlete.

chit /tʃɪt/ noun, pl chits [count] : an official note that shows an amount of money that is owed or gives someone permission to have or do something chit-chat /ˈtʃɪt,tʃæt/ noun, informal : friendly conversation about things that are not very important [noncount] We exchanged some chitchat about the weather. [singular] I just had a chitchat [=chat] with my neighbor.

– chitchat verb -chats; -chat-ted; -chat-ting [no obj] • I was just chitchatting [=chatting] with my neighbor.

chit-ter-lings or chit-lins /ˈtʃɪtlɪnz/ noun [plural] chiefly US : the intestines of hogs eaten as food chi-val-ric /ʃəˈvælɹɪk/ adj : of or relating to the knights who fought in the Middle Ages • chivalric adventures/codes chiv-al-rous /ˈʃɪvəlɹəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : behaving in an honorable or polite way especially toward women • a kind and chivalrous man
2 : showing respect and politeness especially toward women • chivalrous behavior • a chivalrous act
– chiv-al-rous-ly adv • He acted chivalrously.

chiv-al-ry /ʃɪvəlɹi/ noun [noncount]
1 : the system of values (such as loyalty and honor) that knights in the Middle Ages were expected to follow • Medieval chivalry • the knight’s code of chivalry
2 : an honorable and polite way of behaving especially toward women • He paid her fare as an act of chivalry.

chive /ˈtʃaɪv/ noun, pl chives
1 [count] : a plant that is related to the onion
2 chives [plural] : the long thin leaves of the chive plant that are cut into small pieces and used for flavoring food • Do you want chives on your baked potato?
– chive adj, always used before a noun • chive sauce/butter chiv-vy /ˈtʃɪvi/ verb chiv-vies; chiv-vied; chiv-vy-ing [+ obj] Brit, informal : to try to make (someone) do something more quickly especially in an annoying way • The parents chivvied the children along. • They chivvied us to finish the job quicker.

chlo-ride /ˈkloʊ,aɪd/ noun, pl -rides [count, noncount] technical : a chemical compound of chlorine with another element or group • sodium chloride

chlo-ri-nate /ˈkloʊ,neɪt/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing [+ obj] technical : to add chlorine to (something, such as water) • chlorinated water – chlo-ri-na-tion /ˌkloʊəˈneɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • Chlorination will kill the bacteria in the water.

chlo-rine /ˈkloʊ,i:n/ noun [noncount] : a chemical that in its natural form is a greenish-yellow gas and has a strong smell ✧ Chlorine in a liquid or solid form is often added to water (such as the water in a swimming pool) to keep it clean.

chlo-ro-flu-o-ro-car-bon /ˌkloʊ,florouˈkɑbən/ noun, pl -bons [count] technical : a gas that was once commonly used in various products (such as aerosols) but that is believed to cause damage to the ozone layer in the Earth’s atmosphere • Many nations have banned the production of chlorofluorocarbons. — abbr. CFC

chlo-ro-form /ˈkloʊə,foʊəm/ noun [noncount] : a colorless poisonous liquid ✧ In the past, chloroform was used to make patients unconscious during medical operations. It is now usually used to dissolve other substances.
– chloroform verb -forms; -formed; -form-ing [+ obj] • The doctor chloroformed the patient.

chlo-ro-phyll /ˈkloʊə,fɪl/ noun [noncount] : the green substance in plants that makes it possible for them to make food from carbon dioxide and water

choc /ˈtʃɑ:k/ noun, pl chocs [count] Brit, informal : CHOCOLATE 2 • a box of chocs chock-a-block /ˈtʃɑ:kə,blɑ:k/ adj, not used before a noun : very full — usually + with • The shelves are chockablock with books.

chock-full or chock-ful /ˈtʃɑ:kˈfʊl/ adj, not used before a noun : completely full — usually + of • This book is chock-full of good information.

choc-o-hol-ic also choc-a-hol-ic /ˌtʃɑ:kəˈhɑ:lɪk/ noun, pl -ics [count] informal : a person who likes to eat chocolate very much

choc-o-late /ˈtʃɑ:klət/ noun, pl -lates
¹ [noncount] : a food that is made from cacao beans and that is eaten as candy or used as a flavoring ingredient in other sweet foods • a bar of chocolate • chocolate-covered raisins • The cake recipe calls for four squares of chocolate. — see also DARK CHOCOLATE, HOT CHOCOLATE, MILK CHOCOLATE, WHITE CHOCOLATE
2 [count] : a candy made or covered with chocolate • She gave me a box of chocolates for my birthday.
3 [noncount] : a dark brown color — called also chocolate brown; see color picture on page C3
– chocolate adj • a chocolate cake with chocolate frosting • chocolate ice cream • chocolate sauce/milk – choc-o-laty also choc-o-lat-ey /ˈtʃɑ:kləti/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a chocolaty flavor

chocolate-box adj, always used before a noun, Brit, informal : pretty in a way that seems too perfect to be true or real • a chocolate-box house

choc-o-la-tier /ˌtʃɑ:kləˈtiə/ noun, pl -tiers [count] : a person who makes or sells chocolate candy

Choc-taw /ˈtʃɑ:ktɑ/ noun, pl -taws [count] : a member of a Native American people of Mississippi, Alabama, and Louisiana

¹choice /tʃɔɪs/ noun, pl choic-es
¹ [count] : the act of choosing : the act of picking or deciding between two or more possibilities • He knew he had to make a choice. [=choose one thing or another] • He has some important choices to make. • You made a good/bad choice. • She was faced with a difficult choice. • You can either accept the job or not. It’s your choice. • I read about the various options so that I could make an informed choice.
2 : the opportunity or power to choose between two or more possibilities : the opportunity or power to make a decision [singular] Given the choice, I’d rather stay home tonight. • He had no choice in the matter. = He did not have a choice in the matter. • You leave me (with) no choice. • They gave/offered me a choice between an automatic or standard transmission. [noncount] A flexible health insurance plan gives patients more choice about doctors and coverage. • He had little choice in the matter. = He did not have much choice in the matter. — see also HOBSON’S CHOICE
3 a : a range of things that can be chosen [singular] — often + of • The plan has a wide choice of options. [=there are many options that can be chosen] • You have the choice of coffee or tea. [noncount] The menu does not have much choice. [=selection] • (chiefly Brit) Customers are spoiled for choice [=customers have a lot of choices] when buying a new car.
b [count] : one of the things that you can choose • She wanted pizza, but that wasn’t a choice. [=option] • There is a wide range of choices. • Other choices on the menu looked equally tempting. — see also MULTIPLE-CHOICE 4 [count] : the person or thing that someone chooses • He is happy with his choice. • She is my first choice for the job. [=she is the one I most want for the job] • I don’t like her choice of friends. • Selling our car was the right choice.
by choice also out of choice ✧ If you do something by choice or out of choice, you choose to do it. • I live here by choice. [=I live here because I want to] • No one forced them to do it. They acted out of choice.
of choice : favorite or most liked : chosen most often •

Wine was his beverage of choice.

of your choice ✧ A person or thing of your choice is a person or thing that you have chosen. • They said I could bring a guest of my choice to the party. • The meal is served with a beverage of your choice.

²choice adj, always used before a noun choic-er; -est

1 : very good • The store sells only the choicest [=best] fruits.

2 US, of meat : of a quality that is good but not the best • Choice beef is not as expensive as prime beef.

3 of words or phrases : carefully chosen especially for the purpose of expressing anger or disapproval • I had a few choice words for him. [=I said a few angry words to him]

choir /'kwajə/ noun, pl choirs [count]

1 : a group of singers especially in a church

2 : the part of a church where the singers sit preach to the choir see PREACH

choir-boy /'kwajə,boi/ noun, pl -boys [count] : a boy who is a member of a church choir

choir-mas-ter /'kwajə,mæstə, Brit 'kwajə,mɑ:stə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : the director of a choir

¹choke /'tʃouk/ verb chokes; choked; chok-ing

1 [no obj] : to become unable to breathe usually because something gets stuck in your throat or because the air is not good for breathing • Chew your food well so you don't choke. • She choked to death. = She died by choking. • We were choking on fumes.

2 [+ obj] a : to cause (someone) to stop breathing by squeezing the throat • The murderer choked his victim (to death). b : to make (someone) unable to breathe in a normal way • The thick smoke was choking me. ✧ If you or your voice is choked with emotion, rage, etc., you are feeling emotion in such a strong way that it is hard for you to talk. • When she was presented with the award, she was so choked with emotion that she couldn't say her thank-you speech.

3 [+ obj] : to stop (something) from growing or developing • The flowers were choked by the weeds. — often + out • The flowers were choked out by the weeds.

4 [+ obj] : to fill (something) completely so that movement is stopped or slowed • Leaves choked [=clogged, blocked] the drain. • The streets were choked with traffic. — often + up • Logs were choking up the stream.

5 [no obj] informal : to fail to do something well because you are very nervous • When the pressure was on, the tennis star choked and lost the match.

choke back [phrasal verb] ✧ If you are choking back tears, rage, anger, etc., you are finding it very hard not to cry or express emotion. • He was choking back tears as he talked about his late wife. • She struggled to choke back her anger as she listened to their criticisms.

choke down [phrasal verb] choke down (something) or choke (something) down informal : to eat (something) with difficulty or without enjoyment • The meal was overcooked, but I managed to choke down a few bites.

choke off [phrasal verb] choke off (something) also choke (something) off 1 : to make (something) smaller, weaker, or less powerful : to cause (something) to slow down or stop • Rising interest rates may choke off consumer spending. • Attempts have been made to choke off debate on the issue. 2 : to prevent (something) from flowing or getting through • A growth on the artery wall is choking off the blood supply.

choke out [phrasal verb] choke (something) out or choke out (something) : to say (something) with difficulty because of strong emotion • She tearfully choked out an apology.

choke up [phrasal verb] 1 ✧ If you choke up or get/become (all) choked up, you are almost crying and have trouble talking because of strong emotion. • He chokes up whenever he tries to talk about the accident. • She got all choked up when she saw her daughter in her wedding dress. 2 baseball : to move your hands to a higher position on a baseball bat — often + on • He choked up on the bat and took a short swing.

²choke noun, pl chokes [count] : a part in a vehicle that controls the flow of air into the engine

choke chain noun, pl ~ chains [count] : a chain for controlling a dog that is put around the dog's neck and that tightens when the end of the chain is pulled — called also choke collar

choke hold noun, pl ~ holds [count] chiefly US

1 : a method of holding someone by putting your arm around the person's neck with enough pressure to make breathing difficult or impossible • He put the suspect in a choke hold. = He used/placed a choke hold on the suspect.

2 : a force or influence that stops something from growing or developing : STRANGLEHOLD — usually singular • The state has a choke hold on the city's finances. • The tariffs have put a choke hold on the economy.

chok-er /'tʃoukə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a necklace that fits closely around the neck

2 informal : a person who fails to do something because of nervousness : a person who chokes • They called him a chok-er when he missed the shot that would have won the game.

chol-era /'kɑ:lərə/ noun [noncount] : a serious disease that causes severe vomiting and diarrhea and that often results in death

cho-ler-ic /'kɑ:lərɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : made angry easily : HOT-TEMPERED • a choleric temperament

cho-les-ter-ol /kə'lestə,rɑ:l/ noun [noncount] : a substance that is found in the bodies of people and animals • Did your doctor check your cholesterol? • She is on medication to lower her cholesterol. = She is on medication to lower her cholesterol level. [=to lower the amount of cholesterol in her blood] • My doctor told me that high cholesterol [=having too much cholesterol in your blood] can lead to serious medical problems such as heart attacks and strokes.

chomp /'tʃɑ:mp/ verb chomps; chomped; chomp-ing informal : to chew or bite on something [no obj] — often + on • He was chomping on a bagel. • The dog chomped down on its bone. — often + away • The children were sitting at the table, happily chomping away. • The bug chomped away at the leaf. — sometimes used figuratively • Lawmakers have been chomping away at the state budget. [+ obj] They were chomping burgers at a picnic.

chomping at the bit : waiting in an impatient way to do something • We've all been chomping [=champing] at the bit to get started on the project.

choo choo /'tʃu:,tʃu:/ noun, pl ~ choos informal

1 [count] : ¹TRAIN 1 — used by young children or by adults speaking to young children • Here comes the choo choo! — called also choo choo train

2 [noncount] : the sound a train makes — used by young children or by adults speaking to young children

choose /'tʃu:z/ verb chooses; chose /'tʃouz/; cho-sen /'tʃouzn/; choos-ing

1 : to decide that a particular person or thing is the one that you want [+ obj] The political party chose a leader. • They chose her as the team captain. • We've chosen a different time to go. • He was chosen because he's qualified for the job. • She was chosen from a long list of people. • He chose his words carefully. • Which shirt would you choose? [no obj] How do I choose when there's so much available? • Let everyone choose for themselves. • You can choose from among a number of alternatives. • You'll have to choose between the two of them. • There are several books available to choose from.

2 : to make a choice about what to do : DECIDE [+ obj] — usually followed by to + verb • They chose to go by train. • They chose not to believe it. • They chose to keep quiet. • She chooses to work in the city. [no obj] You can do as you choose. [=you can do what you want to do] choose sides : to divide a group into two teams that will play against each other • When we chose sides in gym class, I was always the last person to be picked to be on a team. — often used figuratively • They are forcing us to choose sides in the dispute.

pick and choose see ¹PICK

— choos-er noun, pl -ers [count] • a careful chooser — see also beggars can't be choosers at BEGGAR

choosy also choos-ey /'tʃu:zi/ adj choos-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] : very careful in choosing : liking only certain things • She's pretty choosy [=picky] about her clothes/friends. • You can't be too choosy if you want a job right away. • We could afford to be as choosy as we wanted to be.

¹chop /'tʃɑ:p/ verb chops; chopped; chop-ping [+ obj] : to cut (something) into pieces by hitting it with the sharp edge of an ax, knife, etc. • She's in the kitchen chopping vegetables. • They chopped wood for the fireplace. — often used figuratively • They intend to chop [=lower] prices for the sale. • Our budget was chopped [=cut] in half. [=it is now half of what it was]

chop and change Brit, informal : to keep changing your mind, your way of doing something, etc. • You have to make a decision and stick with it. You can't chop and change all the time.

chop down [phrasal verb] chop (something) down or chop down (something) : to cut (a tree, bush, etc.) at the bottom so that it falls to the ground • He chopped the tree down. • She chopped down some thick grape vines.

chop off [phrasal verb] chop (something) off or chop off (something) : to remove (something) by cutting • She'd had her ponytail chopped off. • He used his knife to chop off a hunk of bread.

chop up [phrasal verb] chop (something) up or chop up (something) : to cut (something) into small pieces • She chopped up the nuts and added them to the cookie dough.

— chopped adj • two cups of chopped onions

²chop noun, pl chops [count]

1 : a small piece of meat that usually includes a bone from an animal's side • lamb/pork chops

2 a : the act of hitting something with the sharp edge of an ax, knife, etc. • He cut off the branch with a single chop. b : the act of hitting someone or something with the side of your hand • He broke the boards with a karate chop.

for the chop Brit, informal — used to say that someone is going to lose a job or that something is being stopped or canceled • More than 100 jobs are for the chop. [=are going/likely to be eliminated] • social programs that are for the chop [= (US) on the chopping block]

get the chop Brit, informal : to lose your job • The employees with less experience got the chop. [=were fired; got the ax]

give (someone) the chop Brit, informal : to take someone's job away • His boss gave him the chop. [=his boss fired him; his boss gave him the ax] chop-chop /ˈtʃɑ:pˈtʃɑ:p/ interj, informal — used to tell someone to hurry • Let's go! Chop-chop!

chop house /ˈtʃɑ:pˈhaʊs/ noun, pl ~ houses [count] chiefly US, informal : a restaurant that serves steaks, chops, and other meats — compare STEAK HOUSE chopped liver noun [noncount] US slang : someone or something that is not important or appealing • “Wow, she's gorgeous!” “And what am I . . . chopped liver?”

chop-per /ˈtʃɑ:pə/ noun, pl -pers

1 [count] : someone or something that chops something • a food/wood chopper

2 [count] informal : HELICOPTER • The sound of choppers filled the sky. • a chopper pilot

3 [count] chiefly US, informal : a motorcycle that has a front wheel which is farther forward than the handlebars — called also chopper bike

4 choppers [plural] chiefly US slang : TEETH • The dentist checked my choppers and said they look fine.

chopping block noun, pl ~ blocks [count] US : a hard wooden block on which things (such as meat, wood, or vegetables) are chopped or cut — compare CUTTING BOARD on the chopping block informal : likely to be fired, removed, etc. • There were several government programs on the chopping block. [=several government programs that were going to be cut/eliminated]

chopping board noun, pl ~ boards [count] chiefly Brit : CUTTING BOARD chop-py /ˈtʃɑ:pi/ adj chop-pi-er; -est

1 : rough with small waves • The lake was choppy. • choppy conditions/seas/waters

2 : marked by sudden stops and starts : not connected smoothly • She tended to write in short choppy sentences. • The video appeared choppy and jerky. • He walked with quick choppy strides.

— chop-pi-ness noun [noncount]

chops /ˈtʃɑ:ps/ noun [plural]

1 a : the part of an animal's face that covers the jaws • The dog was licking its chops. b informal : a person's jaw • I'm going to break/bust your chops if you do that again. — often used figuratively • My brother likes to bust my chops. [=he teases me; he criticizes me in a playful way]

2 chiefly US, informal : skill or excellence in a particular field or activity (such as acting or playing music) • It's a challenging role that will give him a chance to show off his acting chops. [=to show his talents as an actor]

lick your chops see ¹LICK

chop-stick /ˈtʃɑ:pˈstɪk/ noun, pl -sticks [count] : either one of a pair of thin sticks that are used especially by people in Asia to pick up and eat food chop su-ey /ˈtʃɑ:pˈsu:wi/ noun [noncount] : a combination of vegetables and meat or fish that is served with rice • Chop suey is mainly served in Chinese restaurants and was probably invented in the U.S. by Chinese immigrants to suit American tastes.

cho-ral /ˈkɔrəl/ adj : of or relating to a choir or chorus • a choral group • choral singing : sung by a choir or chorus • choral music

cho-rale /kəˈræl, Brit kɔˈrɑ:l/ noun, pl -rales [count]

1 : a song that is sung in a church service by a large group of singers

2 : a chorus or choir

¹chord /ˈkɔəd/ noun, pl chords [count] : a group of three or more musical notes that are played or sung at the same time — compare ²CHORD

²chord noun, pl chords [count] mathematics : a straight line that joins two points on a curve strike/touch a chord ♦ If something strikes/touches a chord in/with you, you think that it is true and have strong feelings about it. • Her comments about political corruption clearly struck a chord with many voters.

— compare ¹CHORD

chore /ˈtʃɔə/ noun, pl chores [count]

1 : a small job that is done regularly • The children were each assigned different household chores. • farm chores • I liked the simple chore of bringing in the firewood. synonyms see ¹TASK

2 : a dull, unpleasant, or difficult job or experience • Doing taxes can be a real chore. • That movie is a chore to sit through.

cho-reo-graph /ˈkɔriəˌgræf, Brit ˈkɔriəˌgrɑ:f/ verb -graphs; -graphed; -graph-ing [+ obj] : to decide how a dancer or group of dancers will move during a performance • She was hired to choreograph the ballet routines. — often used figuratively • He carefully choreographed the meeting. [=he arranged the details of the meeting very carefully] • The group had choreographed all aspects of the banquet.

— cho-re-og-ra-pher /ˌkɔriəˌgræfə/ noun, pl -phers [count]

cho-re-og-ra-phy /ˌkɔriəˌgræfi/ noun [noncount] : the art or job of deciding how dancers will move in a performance • She studied choreography. • He has an interest in choreography.; also : the movements that are done by dancers in a performance • a show with excellent choreography

— cho-re-o-graph-ic /ˌkɔriəˌgræfɪk/ adj

cho-ris-ter /ˈkɔrəstə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a singer in a choir

cho-ri-zo /tʃəˈri:zou/ noun, pl -zos [count, noncount] : a spicy pork sausage chor-tle /ˈtʃɔəl/ verb chor-tles; chor-tled; chor-tling : to laugh because you are amused or pleased by something [no obj] She chortled [=chuckled] with delight. [+ obj] He chortled, “You're going to love this.”

— chortle noun, pl chortles [count] • The gift was received with chortles of delight.

¹cho-rus /ˈkɔrəs/ noun, pl -rus-es [count]

1 a : a group of singers and dancers in an ancient Greek play who take part in or talk about the things that are happening on stage b : a group of singers and dancers in a modern play, musical show, etc. c : a large group of singers : CHOIR

2 a : a part of a song that is repeated between verses : REFRAIN b : a piece of music that is sung by a large group of singers • Handel's “Hallelujah Chorus”

3 a : a sound made by many people or animals at the same time • We awoke to a chorus of birdsong. • The announcement was met by a loud chorus of boos. [=people booed when they heard the announcement] b : a group of people or animals that are all heard at the same time • The President's policies have been questioned by a growing chorus of critics. • a chorus of frogs in chorus : all together : all at the same time • The phones in the room rang in chorus.

²chorus verb -ruses; -rused; -rus-ing [+ obj] : to say (something) all together : to say (something) in chorus • The class chorused “Good morning!”

chorus girl noun, pl ~ girls [count] : a girl or young woman who sings or dances in a chorus chose past tense of CHOOSE

¹chosen past participle of CHOOSE

²cho-sen /ˈtʃouzn/ adj : selected to do or receive something special • Only the/a chosen few will get to go on the trip.

chopsticks

[=only a few people will get to go]

¹chow /'tʃaʊ/ noun [noncount] informal : FOOD 1 • Ample chow will be available. • Let's grab some chow.

²chow verb chows; chowed; chow-ing

chow down [phrasal verb] US, informal : EAT 1 • It's time to chow down. — often + on • The kids chowed down on hamburgers and french fries.

chow chow /'tʃaʊ,tʃaʊ/ noun, pl ~ chows [count] : a type of dog that has thick fur and a short curled tail — called also chow

chow-der /'tʃaʊdə/ noun, pl -ders [count, noncount] : a thick soup or stew made of seafood or corn with potatoes and onions and milk or tomatoes • a bowl of clam chowder chow-der-head /'tʃaʊdə,hed/ noun, pl -heads [count] US, informal : a stupid person • Any chowderhead [=idiot, knucklehead] could have told you the answer.

— chowd-er-head-ed /'tʃaʊdə,hedəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] chow-hound /'tʃaʊ,haʊnd/ noun, pl -hounds [count] US, informal : a person who likes to eat • My dad doesn't eat much, but my brother is a real chowhound. [=a big eater]

chow mein /'tʃaʊ'mein/ noun [noncount] : a combination of meat, mushrooms, and vegetables with fried noodles that is served in Chinese restaurants in the U.S. — compare LO MEIN

Christ /'kraɪst/ noun [singular] : JESUS CHRIST

— Christ-like /'kraɪst,lak/ adj — Christ-ly adj

chris-ten /'krisɪn/ verb chris-tens; chris-tened; chris-ten-ing [+ obj]

1 : to baptize (someone) • He was christened when he was three months old.

2 a : to name (someone) at baptism • They christened the baby Anna. b : to officially give (something, such as a ship) a name in a ceremony that often involves breaking a bottle of champagne • The politician was chosen to christen a new ship. c : to give (someone or something) a nickname or an unofficial title • The newspaper has christened her as the reigning Queen of Tennis.

3 : to use something for the first time • They christened the new ball park with a win.

Chris-ten-dom /'krisɪndəm/ noun [noncount]

1 : people who are Christians

2 : the part of the world where most people are Christians — sometimes used in the old-fashioned phrase in all of Christendom • You will not find a better man in all of Christendom. [=anywhere]

chris-ten-ing /'krisɪnɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count]

1 : the ceremony of baptizing and naming a child • The whole family was invited to the christening.

2 : the official ceremony in which something (such as a ship) is named • a ship's christening

¹Chris-tian /'krisʃən/ noun, pl -tians [count] : a person who believes in the teachings of Jesus Christ

²Christian adj

1 : of or relating to Jesus Christ or the religion based on his teachings • Christian scriptures • Christian ethics • a Christian burial

2 : of, relating to, or being Christians • a Christian country • a Christian household • Many of my friends are Christian.

3 [more ~; most ~] : treating other people in a kind and generous way • He showed a very Christian concern for others.

Christian era noun [noncount] : the time starting from the birth of Jesus Christ — abbr. CE

Chris-ti-an-i-ty /,krisʃi'ænəti/ noun [noncount] : the religion that is based on the teachings of Jesus Christ

Christian name noun, pl ~ names [count] : a person's first name : the name given to a person when the person is born or christened • Her Christian name is Anna.

Christ-mas /'krɪsməs/ noun, pl -mas-es : a Christian holiday that is celebrated on December 25 in honor of the birth of Jesus Christ or the period of time that comes before and after this holiday [noncount] We're spending Christmas with my parents. [count] We had a very happy Christmas this year. • I wish you all a merry Christmas. — often used before another noun • a Christmas present • She finished her Christmas shopping. • What are you serving for Christmas dinner? • the rush of the Christmas season [=the time of year when people are getting ready for Christmas]

Christmas cake noun, pl ~ cakes [count, noncount] Brit : a cake that contains nuts and fruits and that is served at Christmas

Christmas card noun, pl ~ cards [count] : a greeting card sent at Christmastime

Christmas carol noun, pl ~ -ols [count] : ¹CAROL

Christmas cracker noun, pl ~ -ers [count] Brit : a paper tube that has a toy or other small object inside it and makes a loud sound when its ends are pulled apart

Christmas Day noun, pl ~ Days [count, noncount] : the day on which Christmas is celebrated : December 25

Christmas Eve noun, pl ~ Eves [count, noncount] : the day before Christmas : December 24

Christmas pudding noun, pl ~ -dings [count] Brit : PLUM PUDDING

Christmas stocking noun, pl ~ -ings [count] : STOCKING 3

Christ-mas-sy also Christ-masy /'krɪsməsi/ adj [more ~; most ~] : typical of or suitable for Christmas • The house looks more Christmassy now that the decorations are up.

Christ-mas-time /'krɪsməs,taim/ noun [noncount] : the time of year when people get ready for and celebrate Christmas : Christmas day and the days and weeks before it • It's fun to be in a large city at Christmastime. [=during the Christmas season]

Christmas tree noun, pl ~ trees [count] : an evergreen tree that is decorated in people's houses at Christmastime • We hung the lights on the Christmas tree.

chro-mat-ic /krou'mætɪk/ adj, music : of or relating to a musical scale that has all semitones • chromatic harmonies/notes • the chromatic scale — compare DIATONIC

— chro-mat-i-cal-ly /krou'mætɪkli/ adv

chrome /'kroum/ noun [noncount] : a type of metal that is used to cover other metals in order to make them shiny

chro-mi-um /'kroumɪjəm/ noun [noncount] : a blue-white metallic element that is combined with other metals and used to cover other metals with a shiny surface chro-mo-some /'kroumə,soum/ noun, pl -somes [count] : the part of a cell that contains the genes which control how an animal or plant grows and what it becomes

— chro-mo-som-al /,kroumə'souməl/ adj • a test to detect chromosomal abnormalities

chron-ic /'krɑ:nɪk/ adj

1 medical : continuing or occurring again and again for a long time • a chronic disease • He suffers from chronic arthritis/pain. • chronic health problems — compare ACUTE

2 a : happening or existing frequently or most of the time • chronic [=habitual] lateness • a chronic need for attention • Inflation has become a chronic condition in the economy. • chronic warfare b : always or often doing something specified • He is a chronic complainer/grumbler. [=he complains/grumbles all the time] • a chronic gambler/offender

3 Brit, informal : very bad • Don't bother seeing that film—it's chronic.

— chron-i-cal-ly /'krɑ:nɪkli/ adv • She has a chronically bad knee. • He is chronically short of money.

chronic fatigue syndrome noun [noncount] medical : an illness that makes you feel very tired for a very long time and that often includes other symptoms such as headaches and weakness — abbr. CFS

¹chron-i-cle /'krɑ:nɪkəl/ noun, pl -i-cles [count] : a description of events in the order that they happened : HISTORY • early medieval chronicles • a chronicle of the American Civil War • a chronicle of the President's years in office

²chronicle verb -icles; -i-cled; -i-cling [+ obj] : to describe a series of events in the order that they happened • The book chronicles the events that led to the American Civil War. • She intends to chronicle the broad social changes that have occurred in this part of the country. • a magazine that chronicles the lives of the rich and famous

— chron-i-cler noun, pl -clers [count]

chro-no-graph /'krɑ:nə,græf/ noun, pl -graphs [count] : a device (such as a stopwatch) that is used for measuring and recording time in a very exact way

chro-no-log-i-cal /,krɑ:nə'lɑ:ɒlɒgɪkəl/ adj

1 : arranged in the order that things happened or came to be • His art is displayed in roughly chronological order. • a chronological account of their trip • a chronological list/table

2 : using time as a measurement • His chronological age is five, but his mental age is three. [=he is five years old but he thinks and behaves like a three-year-old] — chron-o-log-i-cal-ly /,krɑ:nə'lɑ:ɒlɒgɪkli/ adv • The book treats the subject chronologically. • The events were discussed chronologically.

chro·nol·o·gy /krəˈnɔ:lədʒi/ noun, pl -gies

1 a [noncount] : the order in which a series of events happened • We tried to reconstruct the chronology of the accident. b [count] : a record of the order in which a series of events happened • The book provides a chronology of the events leading up to the American Civil War.

2 [noncount] : a science that deals with measuring time and finding out when events happened

chro·nom·e·ter /krəˈnɔ:mətə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a watch or clock that measures time very exactlychrys·a·lis /ˈkrɪsələs/ noun, pl chry·sal·i·ses also chrys·a·lid·es /krɪˈsælə,diːz/ [count] biology

1 : a moth or butterfly at the stage of growth when it is turning into an adult and is enclosed in a hard case

2 : a hard case that protects a moth or butterfly while it is turning into an adult — compare ¹COCOON 1

chry·san·the·mum /krɪˈsænθəməm/ noun, pl -mums [count] : a plant that has brightly colored flowers and that is often grown in gardens; also : the flower of this plant — called also (US) mum; see color picture on page C6chub·by /ˈtʃʌbi/ adj chub·bi·er; -est : somewhat fat • He was always chubby as a child. • a baby with chubby [=plump, full] cheeks

— chub·bi·ness /ˈtʃʌbinəs/ noun [noncount]

¹chuck /ˈtʃʌk/ verb chucks; chucked; chuck·ing [+ obj] informal

1 : to throw or toss (something) • Someone chucked a snowball at me. • She chucked the papers into the wastebasket.

2 : to get rid of (something) • You can save some of it, but chuck the rest. — sometimes + out • She finally chucked out her old college notebooks. — see also CHUCK OUT (below)

3 : to give up (something) • He decided to chuck [=abandon, leave] his career/job. — often + in • He grew tired of his job and decided to just chuck it (all) in. [=quit, give it up]

4 : to touch or tap (someone) in a light and gentle way • He affectionately chucked her under the chin.

chuck out [phrasal verb] chuck (someone) out or chuck out (someone) : to force (someone) to leave • If they don't pay their rent, the landlord will have to chuck them out. • He was chucked out of the bar for being too noisy. — see also ¹CHUCK 2 (above)

²chuck noun, pl chucks

1 [noncount] : a piece of beef that comes from the area of a cow's neck and shoulders • I'll get some chuck for dinner. • a chuck roast

2 [count] : a part of a machine that holds something so that it does not move • To remove the drill bit, loosen the chuck. — see picture at CARPENTRY

chuck·hole /ˈtʃʌk,hoʊl/ noun, pl -holes [count] US : a hole in a road : POTHOLEchuck·le /ˈtʃʌkl/ verb chuck·les; chuck·led; chuck·ling [no obj] : to laugh in a quiet way • She chuckled at the memory of what he had said.

— chuckle noun, pl chuckles [count] • I got a chuckle out of the joke. • He said it with a chuckle. = He gave a chuckle when he said it.

chuck·le·head /ˈtʃʌkl,hed/ noun, pl -heads [count] US, informal : a stupid person • Who was the chucklehead [=idiot] who came up with this idea?

— chuck·le·head·ed /ˈtʃʌkl,hedəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] • He made a chuckleheaded decision.

chuck wagon noun, pl ~ -ons [count] US, old-fashioned : a wagon carrying a stove and food for cooking for a group of people (such as cowboys)chuffed /ˈtʃʌft/ adj [more ~; most ~] Brit, informal : very pleased : DELIGHTED • She's (feeling) quite/very chuffed.¹chug /ˈtʃʌg/ verb, always followed by a preposition or adverb chugs; chugged; chug·ing [no obj] : to move or go while making a sound like the engine on a train • The train chugged up the hill. • The boats were chugging across the bay. • The car chugged down the street. — sometimes used figuratively • Business is chugging along quite nicely. — compare ²CHUG²chug verb chugs; chugged; chugging [+ obj] US, informal : to drink all the beer, soda, etc., in a can or bottle without stopping • He chugged a few beers at the party. — compare ¹CHUGchug·a·lug /ˈtʃʌgə,lʌg/ verb -lugs; -lugged; -lug·ing [+ obj] US, informal : ²CHUG • He chugalugged a few beers.¹chum /ˈtʃʌm/ noun, pl chums [count] informal + old-fashioned : a close friend • They were talking together like a couple of old chums. [=pals] — compare ³CHUM²chum verb chums; chummed; chum·ing [no obj] chiefly US, informal : to spend time with someone as a friend — usually + around • a politician who is often seen chumming around [=palling around] with celebrities chum up [phrasal verb] Brit, informal : to become friendly — often + to • businessmen chumming up to [= (US) buddy-ing up to] politicians to get their support

— compare ⁴CHUM

³chum noun [noncount] : pieces of fish thrown off a boat as bait to attract other fish — compare ¹CHUM⁴chum verb chums; chummed; chum·ing [no obj] US : to throw pieces of fish off a boat as bait to attract other fish — often + for • They were chumming for sharks. [=throwing chum into the water to attract sharks] — compare ²CHUM chum·my /ˈtʃʌmi/ adj chum·mi·er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal + old-fashioned : very friendly • She was getting chummy with the reporters.

chump /ˈtʃʌmp/ noun, pl chumps [count] informal : a person who is easy to trick : a stupid or foolish person • Don't be a chump.

chump change noun [noncount] US, informal : a small amount of money : an amount of money that is not important or impressive • His share of the profits was chump change. [=his share of the profits was not very big] chunk /ˈtʃʌŋk/ noun, pl chunks [count]

1 : a thick piece of something • She cut the fruit into large chunks. • chunks of meat/ice/wood/pineapple

2 somewhat informal : a large amount or part of something • She spends a good chunk of her day on the phone. • He devoted a large chunk of time to the project. • (US) He spent a big/hefty chunk of change [=a lot of money] on that car.

chunky /ˈtʃʌŋki/ adj chunk·i·er; -est

1 : heavy, thick, and solid • She wore chunky earrings. • The shoes have chunky heels.

2 a : somewhat fat • She was a bit chunky [=chubby, overweight] as a child. b : having a short and strong body • an athlete with a chunky build • a chunky [=stocky] defensive lineman

3 : full of chunks : containing many solid pieces • chunky peanut butter

church /ˈtʃɜ:tʃ/ noun, pl church·es

1 a [count] : a building that is used for Christian religious services • This is the oldest church in town. • They would like to be married in a church. — often used before another noun • church bells/weddings/services b [noncount] : religious services held in a church • They go to church [=attend church services] every Sunday. • I didn't see you at/in church last Sunday.

2 or Church [count] : a particular Christian group • He is a member of the Catholic/Baptist/Anglican Church. • What church do you belong to?

3 [noncount] : the Christian religion seen as an organization : the institution of the Christian religion • the church's attitude toward divorce • the separation of church and state church·go·er /ˈtʃɜ:tʃ,ɡowə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : someone who regularly goes to church

— church·go·ing adj • churchgoing people — church·going noun [noncount] • a decline in churchgoing

church·man /ˈtʃɜ:tʃmən/ noun, pl -men [count]

1 : a man who is a priest, minister, etc. : CLERGYMAN

2 : a man who is a member of a church

Church of England noun

the Church of England : the official state church in England church·war·den /ˈtʃɜ:tʃ,wɔ:ɹdn/ noun, pl -dens [count] Brit : someone who is in charge of the property and money of an Anglican churchchurch·wom·an /ˈtʃɜ:tʃ,wʊmən/ noun, pl -wom·en /-,wɪmən/ [count] : a woman who is a member of a church church·yard /ˈtʃɜ:tʃ,jɑ:ɹd/ noun, pl -yards [count] : a piece of land that belongs to and is usually close to a church and that is often used as a place to bury people

churl·ish /ˈtʃɜ:liʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : not polite : RUDE • It would be/seem churlish not to congratulate him. • churlish behavior

¹churn /ˈtʃɜ:n/ verb churns; churned; churn·ing

1 : to stir or mix something (such as water or mud) with force [+ obj] The motorboats churned the water. — often + up • The horse's hooves churned up the sod. [no obj] The water churned all around us.

2 [no obj] : to move in a circle : TURN • The wheels/gears began to slowly churn.

3 [+ obj] : to make (butter) by stirring or shaking cream in a churn • He showed them how to churn butter.

4 [no obj] : to experience a lot of confused activity • My mind was churning as I tried to think of what to say. • Her emotions were churning inside her. ✧ If your stomach churns or something churns your stomach, you feel sick from nervousness, disgust, etc. • Just thinking about the test made my stomach churn. • The violence in the movie churned my stomach.

churn out [phrasal verb] churn out (something) or churn (something) out informal + often disapproving : to produce (something, especially something of low quality) quickly as part of a continuous process • He churns out [=grinds out] a new novel every year. • the latest graduates churned out by the college

²churn noun, pl churns [count] : a container in which cream is stirred or shaken to make butter

chute /'ʃu:t/ noun, pl chutes [count]

1 : a narrow tube or passage that things and people go down or through • She dropped the towels into the laundry chute. • a mail chute • children sliding down a water chute • The skiers came racing down the chute.

2 informal : ¹PARACHUTE • His chute opened automatically. out of the chute US, informal : since the very beginning • He was successful (right) out of the chute.

chut·ney /'ʃʌtni/ noun, pl -neys [count, noncount] : a thick sauce that is made from fruits, vinegar, sugar, and spices chutz·pah /'hʊtpə/ noun [noncount] approving : personal confidence or courage that allows someone to do or say things that may seem shocking to others • It took a lot of chutzpah [=nerve] to stand up to him the way she did.

CIA abbr Central Intelligence Agency • The group is being investigated by the CIA. • a CIA agent ✧ The Central Intelligence Agency is a part of the U.S. federal government that is responsible for collecting information about other countries or foreign groups.

ciao /'ʃɔ:/ interj, informal : ¹GOODBYE — usually spoken • "See you later." "Ciao."

ci·ca·da /sə'keɪdə, sə'kɑ:də/ noun, pl -das [count] : a large insect ✧ The male cicada makes a loud, high-pitched sound. — see color picture on page C10

ci·der /'saɪdə/ noun, pl -ders [count, noncount] : a drink made from apples • a cup of apple cider ✧ In U.S. English, cider when used by itself usually refers to a drink that does not contain alcohol. In British English, cider refers to an alcoholic drink, which is usually called "hard cider" in U.S. English.

cider vinegar noun [noncount] : a type of vinegar that is made from apple cider

cig /'sɪg/ noun, pl cigs [count] informal : CIGARETTE

ci·gar /sɪ'gɑ:/ noun, pl -gars [count] : a roll of tobacco leaves that is longer and thicker than a cigarette and that is smoked close but no cigar see ²CLOSE

cig·a·rette /sɪgə'ret/ noun, pl -rettes [count] : a small roll of paper that is filled with cut tobacco and smoked • a pack of cigarettes — often used before another noun • a cigarette butt/holder/lighter • cigarette smoke cigarette paper noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a small, thin piece of paper that is used for making a cigarette

cig·gie or cig·gy /'sɪgi/ noun, pl -gies [count] Brit, informal : CIGARETTE

ci·lan·tro /sɪ'lɑ:ntrou, sɪ'læntrou/ noun [noncount] US : leaves of the coriander plant that are used in cooking especially in Asian and Mexican food — see color picture on page C6

C in C abbr commander in chief

¹cinch /'sɪntʃ/ noun, pl cinches

1 [singular] informal : something that is very easy to do • This recipe is a cinch. • This dish is a cinch to make.

2 [singular] chiefly US, informal — used to say that something will certainly happen or that someone will easily do something • It's a cinch that he'll win the election. = He's a cinch to win the election.

3 [count] US : a strap that holds a saddle on a horse

²cinch verb cinches; cinched; cinch·ing [+ obj] US

1 : to fasten (something, such as a belt or strap) tightly around someone or something • He cinched his belt. • The coat is cinched at the waist. • The rider cinched the saddle.

2 informal : to make (something) certain to happen • The candidate cinched the nomination by winning the major primary elections. • The home run cinched the victory.

Cinco de Mayo /,sɪŋkəʊdə'majou/ noun [noncount] US : a Mexican and Mexican-American holiday on May 5 that celebrates the Mexican army's victory over the French in 1862

cin·der /'sɪndə/ noun, pl -ders [count] : a very small piece of burned material (such as wood or coal) • Cinders from the campfire floated through the air. • The house was burned to a cinder. [=was completely destroyed by fire]

cinder block noun, pl ~ blocks [count] US : a block that is made of cement and coal cinders and that is used in building — called also (Brit) breeze-block

Cin·der·el·la /,sɪndə'relə/ noun, pl -las [count] ✧ Cinderella is the name of a girl in a fairy tale who is treated badly by her stepmother and stepsisters but who marries a prince in the end.

1 : someone or something that is ignored but that deserves attention or credit • a company that is the Cinderella of the computer industry

2 chiefly US : someone or something (such as a sports team) that is not expected to do well but that succeeds or wins in a very exciting way • The team is the Cinderella of the tournament. — often used before another noun • a Cinderella team that surprisingly took the championship • Their win was a classic Cinderella story

cin·e·ma /'sɪnəmə/ noun, pl -mas

1 [noncount] a : the film industry • She had a long career in (the) cinema. b : the art or technique of making movies • a student of French cinema

2 [count] chiefly Brit : a movie theater • We drove by the cinema to see what was playing. • They are going to the cinema [= (US) going to the movies] tonight.

cin·e·mat·ic /,sɪnə'mætɪk/ adj : of or relating to movies • a common cinematic [=film] technique • the actor's first cinematic [=movie] role • a director who has produced some great cinematic moments — cin·e·mat·i·cal·ly /,sɪnə'mætɪkli/ adv • Cinematically, the film was excellent, but it failed at the box office.

cin·e·ma·tog·ra·phy /,sɪnəmə'tɑ:grəfi/ noun [noncount] : the art, process, or job of filming movies : motion-picture photography • The film's cinematography is breathtaking. • Who did the cinematography for this film?

— cin·e·ma·tog·ra·pher /,sɪnəmə'tɑ:grəfə/ noun, pl -phers [count] • He was one of the best cinematographers in the movie industry.

cin·na·mon /'sɪnəmən/ noun [noncount] : a sweet spice made from the bark of an Asian tree and used in cooking and baking • two teaspoons of cinnamon — often used before another noun • a cinnamon roll/stick ci·pher also chiefly Brit cy·pher /'saɪfə/ noun, pl -phers

1 technical : a way of changing a message to keep it secret : CODE [count] a cipher that can't be decoded [noncount] The message was written in cipher. [=the message was coded]

2 [count] formal + disapproving : a person who has no power or is not important • She was nothing more than a cipher.

cir·ca /'səkə/ prep, formal : about or around • He was born circa 1600. — abbr. c., ca.

cir·ca·di·an /sə'keɪdɪən/ adj, always used before a noun, technical : relating to the regular changes in a person or thing that happen in 24-hour periods • circadian rhythms in activity

¹cir·cle /'səkəl/ noun, pl circles [count]

1 a : a perfectly round shape : a line that is curved so that its ends meet and every point on the line is the same distance from the center • She drew a circle around the correct answer. — see picture at GEOMETRY b : a path that goes around a central point • She walked (around) in a circle — often used figuratively • We've been walking/driving in circles [=along the same path or course] for hours! • We've been trying to decide how to improve the system, but we just keep going around in circles [=we are not making any progress toward making a decision] • I feel like I have been running around in circles with this project. • The company has come up with some new products that will run circles around the competition. [=that will be much better than the competition; that will easily beat the competition] • Those little kids can ski circles around me. [=can ski much better than I can] — see also FULL CIRCLE, TRAFFIC CIRCLE, VICIOUS CIRCLE, WINNER'S CIRCLE

cigar

2 a : an arrangement of people or things that forms a circle • She arranged the stones in a circle. = She made a circle out of/with the stones. • a circle of stones • We formed a circle around the campfire. b : something that is shaped like part of a circle • He looked old and tired, with dark circles under his eyes.

3 : a group of people who do something together, are friends, belong to the same profession, etc. • a sewing circle • She has a large/wide circle of friends. • the family circle [=the people in a family] • She is well-known in banking/literary/professional/political circles. — see also CHARMED CIRCLE, INNER CIRCLE

4 chiefly Brit : a balcony or upper level of seats in a theater

2 circle verb cir·cles; cir·cled; cir·cling

1 a : to form a circle around (something) [+ obj] There are trees circling [=encircling, surrounding] our little house. • He circled his arms around his wife's waist. [no obj] His arms circled around his wife's waist. b [+ obj] : to draw a circle around (something) • She circled the correct answer.

2 : to move or go around (someone or something) in a circle [+ obj] The pilot circled the airport before landing. • We had to circle [=go around] the block again to find the house. [no obj] The hawk circled overhead. • The halfback circled to the left. • I circled back [=returned] to the house to get my briefcase.

circle the/your wagons see WAGON

cir·clet /'səklət/ noun, pl -clets [count] : a band made of metal, flowers, etc., that is usually worn on the head

cir·cuit /'səkət/ noun, pl -cuits [count]

1 : a series of performances, sports events, lectures, etc., that are held or done at many different places — usually singular • She will be on a lecture circuit [=she will be traveling from place to place giving lectures] promoting her new book. • He is one of the most popular drivers on the (racing) circuit. • the women's tennis circuit

2 : a path or trip around something • It takes a year for the Earth to make one circuit around the sun. — often + of • She made a circuit of the museum.

3 : the complete path that an electric current travels along • electric/electronic circuits • a 120-volt circuit. — see also CLOSED-CIRCUIT, INTEGRATED CIRCUIT, PRINTED CIRCUIT, SHORT CIRCUIT

4 US, law a or Circuit : a legal district that is established within a state or within the federal judicial system • She was appointed chief judge for the circuit. • The case will be heard by a court in the Third Circuit. b Circuit : a court of appeals for a particular circuit in the federal judicial system • The Second Circuit ruled today against the plaintiff.

circuit board noun, pl ~ boards [count] : a board that has many electrical circuits and that is used in a piece of electronic equipment (such as a computer)

circuit breaker noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a switch that automatically stops the flow of electricity to a place or device if the current becomes too strong or another dangerous problem occurs circuit court noun, pl ~ courts [count] US, law : a court of law that meets at two or more places within a particular area circuit judge noun, pl ~ judges [count] US, law : a judge who hears and tries cases in a circuit court cir·cu·i·tous /sə'kju:wətəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal

1 : not straight, short, and direct • He took a circuitous [=roundabout] route to town.

2 : not said or done simply or clearly • a circuitous explanation • Their logic seems a bit circuitous.

— cir·cu·i·tous·ly adv

cir·cuit·ry /'səkətri/ noun [noncount] : a system or group of electric circuits • computer circuitry

1 cir·cu·lar /'səkjələ/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : shaped like a circle or part of a circle • a circular [=round] table • They have a circular driveway. [=their driveway is curved like part of a circle] • That planet has a more circular orbit than our planet does.

2 : moving or going around in a circle • circular motion • A circular [=spiral] staircase leads up to the loft.

3 [more ~; most ~] : incorrectly using a statement that may not be true to prove an idea or thought that would be false if the original statement was not true • He used circular logic/reasoning/thinking. • a circular argument/explanation

— cir·cu·lar·i·ty /sə'kjə'lerəti/ noun [noncount] • the circularity of her argument

2 circular noun, pl -lars [count] : a printed sheet (such as an advertisement) that is given or sent to many people at the same time • According to the circular, eggs are on sale this week.

circular file noun, pl ~ files [count] US, informal + humorous : WASTEBASKET • I tossed/throw his letter in the circular file. [=I threw away his letter]

circular saw noun, pl ~ saws [count] : a tool used for cutting wood that has a sharp round blade which is spun quickly by a motor — see picture at CARPENTRY cir·cu·late /'səkjə,leɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing

1 : to move without stopping through a system, place, etc. [no obj] Blood circulates through the body. • Steam circulates in the pipes. [+ obj] A pump circulates the water through the filter. • Fans circulate the air.

2 a [no obj] : to go or spread from one person or place to another • Rumors are circulating around town. • The report circulated among the students. b [+ obj] : to cause (something) to go or spread from one person or place to another • Stories were circulated about mismanagement. • He is circulating a petition asking for a new election.

3 [no obj] : to go from group to group at a party or social gathering in order to talk to different people • She circulated among her guests.

cir·cu·la·tion /,sə'kjə'leɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] a : the movement of blood through the body that is caused by the pumping action of the heart • He has bad circulation in his legs. • The drug improves blood circulation. b : movement of air, water, etc., through the different parts of something • The attic has poor air circulation. • the circulation of ocean waters • Let's open the windows to get some circulation in here.

2 [noncount] : the act of passing something (such as money, information, etc.) from person to person or place to place • This memo is not meant for circulation. : the state of being passed from person to person or place to place • The coins have recently entered circulation. • That rumor has been in circulation [=has been going around] for a long time. • The magazine has been taken out of circulation. [=the magazine will no longer be made and sold]

3 [noncount] : the state of being actively involved in social activities (such as parties or dates) • She's finally getting back in/into circulation after her divorce. [=she has started dating and going out again after her divorce] • He'll be out of circulation [=unable to go out socially] for a while after the surgery.

4 [count] : the average number of copies of a newspaper, magazine, etc., that are sold over a particular period • The newspaper has the largest circulation in the country. • The magazine has a weekly circulation of about 70,000 subscribers nationwide.

cir·cu·la·to·ry /'səkjələ'tori, Brit 'sə'kjə'leɪtri, 'sə'kjələtri/ adj, always used before a noun, medical : of or relating to the circulation of blood through the body • the circulatory system • circulatory failure/problems cir·cum·cise /'səkəm,saɪz/ verb -cis-es; -cised; -cis-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cut off the skin (called the foreskin) at the end of the penis of (a man or boy) — often used as (be) circumcised • He was circumcised in accordance with religious practice.

2 : to cut off the clitoris or outer sexual organs of (a woman or girl) — often used as (be) circumcised • Most of the girls in the village were circumcised.

— cir·cum·ci·sion /'səkəm,sɪʒən/ noun, pl -sions [non-count] Circumcision is an important rite in some religions. [count] How many circumcisions has he performed?

cir·cum·fer·ence /sə'kəmfərəns/ noun, pl -enc-es

1 : the length of a line that goes around something or that makes a circle or other round shape [count] Calculate the circle's circumference. • What is the circumference of the Earth at the equator? [noncount] The circle is 38 inches in circumference. — see picture at GEOMETRY

2 [count] : the outer edge of a shape or area • The fence marks the circumference of the field.

cir·cum·flex /'səkəm,flɛks/ noun, pl -flex-es [count] : a mark ^ used in some languages (such as French) to show how a vowel should be pronounced cir·cum·lo·cu·tion /,səkəmlou'kju:ʃən/ noun, pl -tions formal : the use of many words to say something that could be said more clearly and directly by using fewer words [noncount] He was criticized for his use of circumlocution. [count] I'm trying to avoid circumlocutions in my writing.

cir·cum·nav·i·gate /,səkəm'nævə,ɡert/ verb -gates; -gated; -gat-ing [+ obj] formal : to travel all the way around (something) in a ship, airplane, etc. • The ship circumnavigated the world.

– circumnavi-gation /ˌsəkəm,nævəˈgeɪʃən/ noun [count, noncount]

circumscribe /ˌsəkəm,skraɪb/ verb -scribes; -scribed; -scribing [+ obj]

1 formal : to limit the size or amount of (something) — usually used as (be) circumscribed • His role as president was carefully circumscribed by the board. • plants that are found only in a circumscribed [=limited] area

2 technical : to draw a shape around (another shape) • The circle is circumscribed by a square.

circumspect /ˌsəkəm,spekt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : thinking carefully about possible risks before doing or saying something • They are circumspect [=cautious] in all their business dealings.

– circumspec-tion /ˌsəkəmˈspekʃən/ noun [noncount] • a scholar known for her circumspection — circum-spect-ly /ˌsəkəm,spektli/ adv

circum-stance /ˌsəkəm,stæns/ noun, pl -stances

1 [count] : a condition or fact that affects a situation • I can't imagine a circumstance in/under which I would do that. — usually plural • If our business is to survive, we must be able to adapt to changing circumstances. • It is impossible under these circumstances to meet our deadline. • Do not, under any circumstances open that door. = Under no circumstances are you to open that door. [=no matter what happens, do not open that door] • Due to circumstances beyond our control [=things that have happened that we cannot change or influence], the flight is canceled. • There is nothing we can do under the circumstances [=in this specific situation] • Given the circumstances I think we did well. [=when you consider how everything went, I think we did well]

2 circumstances [plural] : the way something happens : the specific details of an event • The circumstances of his death are suspicious.

3 : an event or situation that you cannot control [noncount] She says that her client is a victim of circumstance and should not be blamed for the accident. [plural] He was a victim of circumstances

4 circumstances [plural] : the conditions in which someone lives • Their circumstances changed dramatically after she lost her job. • I don't know anything about his financial circumstances [=about how much money he has] • They have been forced to live in reduced circumstances [=to live with less money]

pomp and circumstance see POMP circum-stan-tial /ˌsəkəmˈstænfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 law : based on information which suggests that something is true but does not prove that it is true • The evidence is purely circumstantial. • The case against him is circumstantial.

2 formal : providing or including the details of a particular situation or event • a circumstantial account of the meeting circum-vent /ˌsəkəmˈvent/ verb -vents; -vented; -venting [+ obj] formal : to avoid being stopped by (something, such as a law or rule) : to get around (something) in a clever and sometimes dishonest way • We circumvented the problem by using a different program. • He found a way to circumvent the law.

– circum-ven-tion /ˌsəkəmˈvenʃən/ noun [noncount] • The circumvention of tax laws is illegal.

circus /ˈsəkəs/ noun, pl -cus-es [count]

1 : a traveling show that is often performed in a tent and that typically includes trained animals, clowns, acrobats, etc. • He worked for a small circus. • We're going to the circus. • She always wanted to join the circus. [=to become a performer in a circus] — often used before another noun • circus clowns/animals/performers

2 informal : a situation or event that is very busy, lively, and confusing and that attracts a lot of attention — usually singular • The town meeting quickly became a circus. • The trial has become a media circus — see also THREE-RING CIRCUS

3 Brit : a circular area where several streets meet — usually used in proper names • Piccadilly Circus in London

4 : a large outdoor theater in ancient Rome where shows and sports events were held • the Circus Maximus

cir-rho-sis /səˈrouəs/ noun [noncount] medical : a serious disease of the liver that can be caused by drinking too much alcohol cir-rus /ˈsirəs/ noun [noncount] technical : a thin type of cloud that forms high in the sky

cissy Brit spelling of Sissy

cis-tern /ˈsɪstən/ noun, pl -terns [count] : a container that holds a supply of water: such as a US : an underground container that is used for collecting and storing rainwater b Brit : a tank that holds the water for a toilet c Brit : a tank on the roof of a building that holds water for the building

cit-a-del /ˈsɪtəd/ noun, pl -dels [count] : a castle or fort that in past times was used to protect the people of a city if the city was attacked • We visited a medieval citadel in Italy. — often used figuratively • The magazine has become a citadel [=stronghold] of liberalism/conservatism. • the citadels of power ♦ In the U.S., The Citadel is the name of a well-known military college.

ci-ta-tion /saɪˈteɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count]

1 US : an official order to appear before a court of law : SUMMONS • He was issued a citation. • He received a citation for reckless driving.

2 : a formal public statement that praises a person for doing something good or brave • gave her a citation for bravery

3 : a line or short section taken from a piece of writing or a speech • She includes citations [=quotations] from the article in her report.

cite /saɪt/ verb cites; cit-ed; cit-ing [+ obj]

1 : to write or say the words of (a book, author, etc.) : QUOTE • The article cites several experts on the subject.

2 : to mention (something) especially as an example or to support an idea or opinion • The museum had often been cited as an example of successful fund-raising. • He cited evidence suggesting she was in the area when the crime was committed.

3 law : to order (someone) to appear before a court of law • She was cited for reckless driving.

4 : to officially and publicly honor (someone) for something done • She was cited for bravery.

cit-i-zen /ˈsɪtəzən/ noun, pl -zens [count]

1 : a person who legally belongs to a country and has the rights and protection of that country • She was a United States citizen but lived most of her life abroad. • a group of Japanese citizens • I've been treated like a second-class citizen [=someone who is not given the same rights as other people]

2 : a person who lives in a particular place • the citizens of Boston — see also SENIOR CITIZEN

cit-i-zen-ry /ˈsɪtəzənri/ noun, pl -ries [count] formal : all the citizens of a place — usually singular • an educated citizenry • the citizenry of Boston citizen's arrest noun, pl ~ -rests [count] : an arrest made by a citizen rather than by the police citizens band noun [noncount] : CB

cit-i-zen-ship /ˈsɪtəzənʃɪp/ noun [noncount]

1 : the fact or status of being a citizen of a particular place • She applied for Polish citizenship. • He was granted U.S. citizenship. • the rights of citizenship • She has dual citizenship [=she is a citizen of two countries]

2 : the qualities that a person is expected to have as a responsible member of a community • The students are learning the value of good citizenship. • She is an example of what true citizenship is all about. [=her behavior is an example of how a good citizen should act]

cit-ric acid /ˈsɪtrɪk-/ noun [noncount] : an acid that occurs naturally in the juices of oranges, lemons, limes, etc., and that can also be made from sugar

cit-ron /ˈsɪtrən/ noun, pl -rons [count] : a fruit that is like a large lemon

cit-ro-nel-la /ˈsɪtrəˈnelə/ noun [noncount] : an oil that smells somewhat like lemons and that is used in candles, lamps, etc., to keep bugs away • a citronella candle

cit-rus /ˈsɪtrəs/ noun, pl citrus or cit-rus-es [count] : a juicy fruit (such as an orange, grapefruit, or lemon) that has a thick skin and that comes from a tree or shrub that grows in warm areas — often used before another noun • citrus trees/fruits/farmers

– cit-rusy /ˈsɪtrəsi/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a citrusy flavor

city /ˈsɪti/ noun, pl cit-ies

1 [count] : a place where people live that is larger or more important than a town : an area where many people live and work • major/big cities like London, Tokyo, and Rome • ancient/modern cities • the city of Boston • city dwellers/streets • a city government • We spent the weekend in the city. [=in the nearest big city] ♦ This sense is sometimes used in the name of a city. • New York City • Mexico City • Kansas City

2 a [count] : the people in a city — usually singular • I think the entire city has heard the news by now. • The whole city was excited about the football game. b the city : the government of a city • The city is working to make the streets safer. • a lawsuit against the city

3 the City : the section of London that is Great Britain's financial and business center

4 [noncount] chiefly US, informal — used to describe a place where there is a lot of a particular thing or activity • Their house was pet city. [=there were a lot of pets in their house] • It was celebration city [=there was a lot of celebration going on] at campaign headquarters last night!

the big city — used to refer to a particular city without naming it • I grew up on a farm, so my move to the big city was a big change. • life in the big city — see also BIG-CITY city centre noun, pl ~ centres [count] Brit : the main or central part of a city : the part of a city where there are tall buildings, stores, offices, etc. — compare DOWNTOWN, TOWN CENTRE city council noun, pl ~ -cils [count] : the group of people who make and change the laws of a city • He's running for city council.

city desk noun, pl ~ desks [count]
1 US : the area in a newspaper's office where stories about local news are written and edited

2 Brit : the area in a newspaper's office where stories about financial news are written and edited city editor noun, pl ~ -tors [count]

1 US : a newspaper editor who is responsible for stories about local news

2 Brit : a newspaper editor who is responsible for financial news city father noun, pl ~ -thers [count] somewhat old-fashioned : someone who works for a city government — usually plural • The city fathers have banned smoking in public places.

city hall or City Hall noun, pl ~ halls or ~ Halls US
1 [count] : a city government's main building — usually singular • The mayor will be giving a speech on the steps of City Hall this afternoon.

2 [noncount] : the government of a city • You can't fight city hall. [=the city government always wins]

cityscape /'sɪtɪskeɪp/ noun, pl -scapes [count]
1 : the area where a city is and the way it looks • The cityscape is cluttered with factories. • the cityscape of Philadelphia

2 : a picture that shows part or all of a city • a photographer who does mostly cityscapes

city slicker noun, pl ~ -ers [count] informal + often disapproving : someone who lives in a city and does not understand what life outside a city is like • city slickers who've never seen a real farm

city-state /'sɪtɪstet/ noun, pl -states [count] : a state that has its own government and consists of a city and the area around it • the city-states of ancient Greece city-wide /'sɪtɪwaɪd/ adj : including or involving all parts of a city • a citywide blackout • The ban on smoking in public places is citywide.

civ-et /'sɪvət/ noun, pl -ets
1 [count] : a wild animal that is like a cat and that has a long body, short legs, and a long tail ✧ Civets live in parts of Africa, southern Europe, and Asia. — called also civet cat

2 [noncount] : a substance from the body of the civet that has a strong smell and is sometimes used to make perfume

civ-ic /'sɪvɪk/ adj, always used before a noun
1 : of or relating to a city or town or the people who live there • Recent improvements to the downtown area are a point of civic pride. • the library association and other civic groups/organizations/institutions • civic leaders

2 : relating to citizenship or being a citizen • Voting is your civic duty/responsibility.

civic center (US) or Brit civic centre noun, pl ~ -ters [count]
1 US : a large public building for sports events, concerts, etc.

2 Brit : a section of a city or town where the public buildings are civ-ic-mind-ed /,sɪvɪk'maɪndəd/ adj : tending to do things that help your city or town and the people who live there • Town officials are hoping that some civic-minded person will volunteer to organize the parade. • civic-minded businesses/organizations/individuals

— civ-ic-mind-ed-ness noun [noncount]

civ-ics /'sɪvɪks/ noun [noncount] chiefly US : the study of the rights and duties of citizens and of how government works • Students will be studying civics this semester. — often used before another noun • a civics class/project

civ-il /'sɪvəl/ adj
1 always used before a noun : of or relating to the people who live in a country • civil liberties/duties • a period of civil unrest [=a time when groups of people in a country fight one another] — see also CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE, CIVIL WAR

2 always used before a noun : of or relating to the regular business of the people in a city, town, state, etc. : not connected to the military or to a religion • They got married in a civil ceremony at city hall. • civil institutions

3 not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : polite but not friendly : only as polite as a person needs to be in order to not be rude • It was hard to be civil when I felt so angry. • She was barely civil to me. — opposite UNCIVIL

4 [more ~; most ~] : caring about art, science, government, people's well-being, etc. • She argues that a civil [(more commonly) civilized] society takes care of its weakest members. — opposite UNCIVIL

5 always used before a noun, law : relating to laws that describe a person's rights rather than to laws about crime • The couple filed a civil suit against the company that made the crib. • civil cases • rules of civil procedure — compare ¹CRIMINAL 2; see also CIVIL LAW, CIVIL LIBERTY, CIVIL RIGHTS

— civ-il-ly /'sɪvəli/ adv • The couple couldn't even discuss things civilly [=politely] anymore. • "Thank you for helping me, sir," she said civilly.

civil defense (US) or Brit civil defence noun [noncount] : a group of people who are not part of the military but are trained to protect and help people if an enemy attacks their country or if there is a natural disaster (such as a flood or earthquake) • She's in training to be part of the local civil defense. • the head of civil defense civil disobedience noun [noncount] : refusal to obey laws as a way of forcing the government to do or change something • In an act of civil disobedience, the family sent its tax money to an antiwar organization. • A student organization is encouraging civil disobedience as a way to get the university to change its policies.

civil engineering noun [count] : a type of engineering that deals with the science of designing and building roads, bridges, large buildings, etc. • He has a degree in civil engineering. — civil engineer noun, pl ~ -neers [count] ci-vil-ian /sə'vɪljən/ noun, pl -ians [count] : a person who is not a member of the military or of a police or firefighting force • The bomb injured 12 civilians.

— civilian adj, always used before a noun • civilian casualties • She left the army and began a civilian career as an airplane mechanic for a commercial airline.

ci-vil-i-ty /sə'vɪləti/ noun, pl -ties formal
1 [noncount] : polite, reasonable, and respectful behavior • Everyone should be treated with civility. [=courtesy, politeness] • codes/standards of civility

2 civilities [plural] : polite actions and words • They greeted each other with the usual exchange of civilities.

civ-i-li-za-tion also Brit civ-i-li-sa-tion /,sɪvələ'zeɪʃən, Brit ,sɪvɪ,lai'zeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the condition that exists when people have developed effective ways of organizing a society and care about art, science, etc. • modern civilization • the impact of technical advancements on civilization

2 : a particular well-organized and developed society [count] ancient/modern civilizations [noncount] We are studying ancient Greek/Egyptian civilization.

3 [noncount] : all the societies of the world • a book about life on the planet after wars have destroyed civilization

4 [noncount] informal : a place that has the things that modern cities and towns have : a place where there is electricity, hot water, etc. • He was sick of camping with his family and wanted to get back to civilization and his video games.

civ-i-lize also Brit civ-i-lise /'sɪvəlaɪz/ verb -liz-es; -lized; -liz-ing [+ obj]

1 : to teach (a person or group of people) to behave in a way that you think is more polite and gentle • Her parents hoped that boarding school might civilize her some. • a teacher who had a civilizing influence on the students

2 : to make (something) more gentle, fair, reasonable, etc. • He is credited with civilizing the treatment of people with mental illnesses. • efforts to civilize the health-care system

3 : to cause (a group of people) to have a more highly organized and modern way of living • They believed it was their duty to civilize the native people.

civilized also Brit civilised adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : marked by well-organized laws and rules about how people behave with each other • A civilized society must respond to crime with fairness and justice. • a more civilized culture • a person known throughout the civilized world [=everywhere people live in well-organized and developed societies] — opposite UNCIVILIZED

2 : polite, reasonable, and respectful • Stop yelling. We have to be more civilized about this. • a civilized conversation • Try to act like a civilized human being! • civilized behavior — opposite UNCIVILIZED

3 a : pleasant and comfortable • With my new job, I'll be able to start my day at a more civilized hour. [=at a time that is not so early in the morning] • a civilized way to spend the evening b : showing concern for what is correct according to social rules • They lived in a more civilized era. [=a time when people were more concerned with what was proper] — opposite UNCIVILIZED

civil law noun [noncount] : laws that deal with the rights of people rather than with crimes — compare CRIMINAL LAW civil liberty noun, pl ~ -ties [count] : the right of people to do or say things that are not illegal without being stopped or interrupted by the government • Freedom of speech is a civil liberty. — usually plural • Opponents said the law would threaten civil liberties.

civil marriage noun, pl ~ -riages [count] : a marriage performed by a person (such as a justice of the peace) who is not a religious leader • a mayor who has officiated at several civil marriages this year civil rights noun [plural] : the rights that every person should have regardless of his or her sex, race, or religion • Martin Luther King, Jr., fought for civil rights. • The U.S. civil rights movement achieved equal rights legislation for African-Americans.

civil servant noun, pl ~ -vants [count] : a person who works for the government : a person who works in the civil service

civil service noun

the civil service : the part of a government that takes care of the government's basic business : the administrative part of a government — often used before another noun • a civil service employee • the civil service system • I took the civil service exam. [=I took a test to get a job in the civil service]

civil union noun, pl ~ unions [count] US : a legal relationship between two people of the same sex that gives them some of the same rights and responsibilities that married people have civil war noun, pl ~ wars : a war between groups of people in the same country [count] a region that has had many civil wars [noncount] The country is on the brink of civil war. ♦ Civil war is capitalized when it refers to a specific war. • the Spanish/American/Greek Civil War • a Civil War battlefield [=a battlefield of the American Civil War]

civ·vies /'sɪvɪz/ noun [plural] informal : clothing worn by people who are not on military duty : clothing that is not part of a military uniform • I didn't recognize the general in his civvies.

civ·vy street /'sɪvi-/ noun [noncount] Brit, informal : civilian life : life outside the military • He was trying to make some money in civvy street.

CJD noun [noncount] : CREUTZFELDT-JAKOB DISEASE

cl abbr centiliter

clack /'klæk/ verb clacks; clacked; clack·ing : to make or cause something to make a short sharp sound or series of short sharp sounds [no obj] I heard her heels clacking down the hall. • An old fan clacked (away) somewhere in another room. [+ obj] He clacked his teeth together.

— clack noun, pl clacks [count] — usually singular • the clack of typewriter keys • the clack of her heels

1 clad /'klæd/ adj [more ~; most ~] literary + formal 1 : covered with something specified — usually used in combination • ivy-clad buildings • snow-clad mountains

2 — used to describe the way someone is dressed • graduating students clad in black robes • scantily clad dancers — often used in combination • denim-clad cowboys • the team's red-clad fans

2 clad past tense and past participle of CLOTHE clad·ding /'klædɪŋ/ noun [noncount] chiefly Brit : SIDING 1

1 claim /'kleɪm/ verb claims; claimed; claim·ing [+ obj]

1 : to say that (something) is true when some people may say it is not true • The man claimed (that) he was a long-lost relative. • They claim (that) the drug prevents hair loss. • She claims (that) the landlord owes her money. — often followed by to + verb • He claims to know nothing about the robbery. • He claims to be an expert.

2 a : to say that you have (something) • He claims a connection to British royalty. • The organization claims 10,000 members. • He claimed ignorance of the robbery. [=he said that he had no knowledge about the robbery] b : to say that (something) belongs to you or that you deserve (something) • The terrorist group claimed responsibility for the attack. • New Yorkers proudly claim the artist as one of their own. • Both of them claimed credit for the idea. • No one ever claimed authorship for the poem.

3 : to say that you have a legal right to be given (something) • You should claim compensation for the hours you worked. • No heirs came forward to claim the inheritance. • They claimed asylum. • You can claim these expenses as tax deductions. [=you can say that you should be able to pay less money in taxes because of these expenses]

4 : to take (something that belongs to you or that you deserve) • She claimed her baggage and left the airport. • The exiled king returned to claim his rightful place on the throne.

5 — used to say that someone's attention, time, etc., is being given to something • An urgent message claimed [=required, demanded] his attention. • This issue has already claimed too much of our time. [=we have already spent too much time on this issue]

6 : to cause the end of someone's life • The accident claimed seven victims. [=seven people were killed in the accident] • the fatal illness that claimed her life [=caused her death]

— claim·able /'kleɪməbəl/ adj • claimable expenses

2 claim noun, pl claims [count]

1 : a statement saying that something happened a certain way or will happen a certain way : a statement saying that something is true when some people may say it is not true • She makes the claim that sea levels will actually go down. • He made false claims about his past job experience. • The book makes some extravagant claims. [=it includes statements that many people will not agree with] • She disputes/denies the claim [=she says it isn't true] that she was unfaithful to her husband. • I make no claim to be an expert. [=I don't say that I am an expert]

2 : an official request for something (such as money) that is owed to you or that you believe is owed to you • You'll need to file an insurance claim to pay for the damage. • make a claim on your insurance policy • All claims must be made in writing. • Please fill out this claim form. [=a document with information about why you should be given money]

3 : a right to have something — usually + on or to • The bank has a claim on/to their house and land. • The book would have little claim on our attention if not for the fact that its story is true. • the family's claim to the name ♦ To lay claim to (something) is to say that it belongs to you or that you have a right to it. • She laid claim to the ring. • The community lays claim to (the honor of) being the oldest city in the country. [=it claims to be the oldest city in the country]

4 : an area of land that you take as your own often for a specified use • a mining/timber claim

baggage claim or baggage claim area : the area in an airport or bus station where you pick up your luggage after traveling • Call when your plane gets in and I'll meet you at (the) baggage claim. • at the baggage claim area claim to fame : something that someone or something is famous for or that makes someone or something important or interesting • His claim to fame is the invention of the stapler. • The restaurant's claim to fame is its barbecue sauce.

stake (out) a claim see 2 STAKE

claim·ant /'kleɪmənt/ noun, pl -ants [count] formal : a person who believes that he or she has a right to something (such as an amount of money) : a person who claims something • They are claimants to the dead man's estate. • Claimants will need to fill out the appropriate paperwork. • a dispute between two claimants to the throne

clair·voy·ance /,kleə'vɔjəns/ noun [noncount] : an ability to communicate with dead people, to predict future events, or to know about things that you did not actually see happen or hear about • I don't believe in clairvoyance, but I can't explain how he knew those things about my grandmother.

— clair·voy·ant /,kleə'vɔjənt/ adj • clairvoyant powers • a clairvoyant man/woman — clairvoyant noun, pl -ants

[count] • psychics and clairvoyants

clam /'klæm/ noun, pl clams

1 [count] : a type of shellfish that lives in sand or mud, has a light-colored shell with two parts, and is eaten both cooked and raw • steamed clams • clam chowder — see color picture on page C8

2 clams [plural] US slang, somewhat old-fashioned : dollars • He won 20 clams [(more commonly) bucks] playing poker. (as) happy as a clam US, informal : very happy • She spent the afternoon reading and was as happy as a clam.

clam verb clams; clammed; clam-ming

clam up [phrasal verb] informal : to stop talking • They clammed up when the detectives started asking questions. : to refuse to talk • A bunch of people saw what happened, but they all clammed up about it.

clam-bake /'klæm,beik/ noun, pl -bakes [count] US : an outdoor party especially on a beach where clams and other foods are cooked and eaten clam-ber /'klæmbə/ verb, always followed by an adverb or preposition -bers; -bered; -ber-ing [no obj] : to climb or crawl in an awkward way • The children clambered over the rocks. • We clambered up the steep hill. • The passengers clambered aboard.

clam-my /'klæmi/ adj clam-mi-er; -est : unpleasantly wet and cold • His hand was cold and clammy. • clammy air

— clam-mi-ness noun [noncount] • the clamminess of the air

clam-or (US) or Brit clam-our /'klæmə/ noun

1 : a loud continuous noise (such as the noise made when many people are talking or shouting) [singular] A clamor outside woke them in the night. • a clamor of voices • a clam-or of bells [noncount] city streets filled with clamor

2 : a loud or strong demand for something by many people [singular] a public clamor for an arrest in the case [noncount] There is growing clamor for reform.

clamor (US) or Brit clamour verb -ors; -ored; -or-ing [no obj]

1 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to be loud and noisy • The children clamored around them, singing songs and laughing.

2 : to ask for or demand something in a loud way • Everyone clamored to know what he had decided to do. — usually + for • Fans clamored for autographs outside the stadium. • People were clamoring for news about the trial.

— clam-or-ous /'klæmrəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a clamorous [=noisy] restaurant • clamorous customers/children

clamp /'klæmp/ noun, pl clamps [count]

1 : a device that holds or presses parts tightly together • a hose clamp — see picture at CARPENTRY

2 Brit : DENVER BOOT

clamp verb clamps; clamped; clamp-ing [+ obj]

1 : to hold or press (things or parts of a thing) tightly together with a device : to fasten or tighten (something) with a clamp • The surgeon clamped the vein. • He clamped the two pieces of wood together.

2 : to press or squeeze (something) • The bit was clamped firmly between the horse's teeth. • He clamped his mouth shut and refused to speak.

3 Brit : ²BOOT 4

clamp down on [phrasal verb] clamp down on (someone or something) : to try harder to punish (people who are doing something that is not legal or proper) • Customs officials are clamping down on [=cracking down on] smugglers. • The school should clamp down on students who cut classes. : to work harder to stop (a crime) • The state is clamping down on [=cracking down on] drug trafficking. — see also CLAMPDOWN

clamp on [phrasal verb] chiefly US clamp (something) on (something or someone) : to officially set (a limit, rule, punishment, etc.) for (someone or something) • The mayor clamped [=imposed] a curfew on the area after the riots. • The new law clamps limits on the amount of money candidates can spend on election campaigns.

clamp-down /'klæmp,daʊn/ noun, pl -downs [count] : an increased effort to make sure that people obey laws and rules — usually singular • a security clampdown in the city's subway system — usually + on • a clampdown on drug trafficking • a clampdown [=crackdown] on weapons smugglers — see also clamp down on at ²CLAMP clan /'klæn/ noun, pl clans [count]

1 : a large group of people who are related • The tribe is divided into clans. • rival clans ♦ People in clans often have the same last name. • the McDonald clan

2 informal : a large family • The whole clan gets together for the holidays.

3 informal : a group of people who are similar or who are interested in the same thing • the country club clan [=people who are members of country clubs]

clan-des-tine /klæn'destən/ adj, formal : done in a private place or way : done secretly • a clandestine [=secret] meeting • a clandestine marriage • the spy's clandestine [=covert] operation — clan-des-tine-ly adv • spies working clandestinely [=in secret, covertly]

clang /'klæŋ/ verb clangs; clanged; clang-ing : to make or cause (something) to make the loud, ringing sound of metal hitting against something [no obj] His fork clanged against the plate. • The bells clanged. • The pots clanged together. • The prison door clanged shut. [+ obj] children clanging cowbells • The guard clanged the door shut.

— clang noun, pl clangs [count] — usually singular • a dull clang • the clang of cymbals — clanging noun [singular] • the clanging of pots and pans in the kitchen

clang-er /'klæŋə/ noun, pl -ers [count] Brit, informal : a bad and embarrassing mistake : BLUNDER • a verbal clanger • They lost the game after a defensive clanger. — see also drop a clanger at ²DROP

clank /'klæŋk/ verb clanks; clanked; clank-ing : to make or cause (something) to make the loud, sharp sound of metal hitting against something solid [no obj] The radiator hissed and clanked. • The empty can clanked along the sidewalk. • the factory's clanking machinery [+ obj] a ghost clanking its chains

— clank noun, pl clanks [count] — usually singular • The hammer fell with a clank on the floor. • We heard the clank of chains. — clanking noun [singular] • We heard the clanking of chains.

clan-nish /'klæniʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] often disapproving : not showing interest in people who are not part of your group or who are not similar to you • a clannish fishing community • The college faculty can be pretty clannish, so it's difficult to be an outsider there.

clans-man /'klænz,mən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a person (especially a man) who is a member of a clan (sense 1)

clans-wom-an /'klænz,wʊmən/ noun, pl -wom-en /-wɪmən/ [count] : a woman who is a member of a clan (sense 1)

¹clap /'klæp/ verb claps; clapped; clap-ping

1 : to hit the palms of your hands together usually more than once ♦ People often clap to show approval or pleasure. [no obj] They cheered and clapped [=applauded] for the band. • She clapped in delight when she heard the news. • The audience clapped to the beat of the music. [+ obj] Clap your hands! • The conductor clapped her hands twice, and the musicians stopped talking and prepared to play.

2 [+ obj] : to suddenly put the palm of your hand on someone or something • He clapped his friend on the shoulder. • He clapped his hand over his mouth when he realized what he had said.

3 [+ obj] : to quickly or forcefully put someone or something in a place or position • He clapped his hat on his head and went out the door. • He clapped the book shut. [=he closed the book quickly or forcefully] • She clapped a muzzle on the dog. • The prisoners were clapped in irons/chains.

4 : to hit (something, such as two hard surfaces) together in a way that makes a loud noise [+ obj] She clapped [=banged] the two boards together. [no obj] The tree branches clapped against the house.

5 [+ obj] informal : to suddenly put (someone) in prison, jail, etc. • The police clapped him in jail for drug smuggling.

clap eyes on see ¹EYE

— clapping noun [noncount] • The clapping [=applause] increased as the lead actors bowed to the audience.

²clap noun, pl claps

1 [count] a : a sound made by clapping your hands • a series of drum beats and hand claps b : a loud, sharp sound • The board fell with a clap on the floor. • a clap of thunder

2 [count] : a friendly hit with the palm of your hand — usually singular • He gave his friend a clap on the back.

3 [singular] Brit : the act of hitting the palms of your hands together again and again to show approval or pleasure • They gave the speaker a long clap. [=round of applause] — compare ³CLAP the clap slang : GONORRHEA • He got the clap.

³clap noun

— compare ²CLAP

clap-board /'klæbəd, 'klæp,bəəd/ noun, pl -boards chiefly US

1 [count] : a narrow board that is thicker at one edge than at the other and that is used to cover the outsides of buildings — called also (Brit) weatherboard

2 [noncount] : a set of narrow boards covering the outside of a building • the house's decaying clapboard

— clapboard adj, always used before a noun • clapboard siding • a clapboard house/building [=a house/building that is covered in clapboards]

clapped-out /'klæpt'au/ adj, Brit, informal : old or damaged from being used too much • a clapped-out [=worn-out] car/machine • clapped-out [=tired, hackneyed] clichés clap-per /'klæpə/ noun, pl -pers [count] : a metal ball that hangs inside a bell and hits the inside of the bell to make it ring like the clappers Brit, informal : very fast • We drove/ran like the clappers.

clap-trap /'klæp,træp/ noun [noncount] informal : words, ideas, etc., that are very foolish or stupid : NONSENSE • His entire speech was nothing but claptrap. • I'm tired of hearing all that claptrap about how hard her life is. • romantic clap-trap

clar-et /'klerət/ noun, pl -ets [count, noncount]

1 : a type of red wine made in Bordeaux, France

2 : a dark purplish-red color

— claret adj • a claret gown • a claret-colored coat

clar-i-fy /'klerə,fai/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj] : to make (something) clear or clearer; such as a : to make (something) easier to understand • Can you clarify exactly what it is you're proposing? • Her explanation did not clarify matters much. • The president was forced to clarify his position on the issue. • The committee clarified the manager's duties. b : to make (a liquid) purer or easier to see through • a substance used to clarify wine

— clar-i-fi-ca-tion /'klerəfə'keɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [noncount] Your argument needs some clarification. [count] The newspaper printed a clarification [=a statement making the facts clearer] about yesterday's story. — clarified adj • clarified butter [=butter that is made purer by a process that involves heating it] — clar-i-fi-er /'klerə,fajə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • water clarifiers

clar-i-net /'klerə'net/ noun, pl -nets [count] : a musical instrument that is shaped like a tube and that is played by blowing into the top of the tube through a special mouthpiece — see picture at WOODWIND

— clar-i-net-ist or clar-i-net-tist /'klerə'netɪst/ noun, pl -ists or -tists [count]

clar-i-on call /'klerɪjən-/ noun, pl ~ calls [count] : a strong request for something to happen — usually singular • He used his speech to sound a clarion call for affordable health care. • the leader's clarion call to action

clar-i-ty /'klerəti/ noun [noncount] : the quality of being clear; such as a : the quality of being easily understood • The essays are edited for clarity. • There is a lack of clarity in many legal documents. b : the quality of being expressed, remembered, understood, etc., in a very exact way • She remembered what happened that day with surprising clarity. • I'm looking for greater clarity about what is expected of our students. • The committee lacked clarity of purpose. [=the committee did not have a clearly stated purpose] • a moment of clarity [=a time when you suddenly understand something] c : the quality of being easily seen or heard • The clarity of the photographs was amazing. • The DVD has excellent clarity of sound. • visual clarity d : the quality of being easily seen through • the clarity of the lake's water • glass with exceptional clarity e : a lack of marks or spots • The vitamin is believed to improve skin clarity.

¹clash /'klæʃ/ verb clash-es; clashed; clash-ing

1 [no obj] : to be in a situation in which you are fighting or disagreeing : to come into conflict with someone • Police and protesters clashed yesterday. • The brothers often clash [=argue] over politics. — often + with • Protesters clashed with the police yesterday.

2 [no obj] a : to look bad or ugly together • Some colors clash. • The sofa and the chair clash. • She wore clashing colors. — often + with • This shirt clashes with these pants. b : to be very different in a way that makes being or working together difficult • Their personalities clash. • clashing personalities/ideas — often + with • So many of his ideas clash with mine.

3 : to make or cause (something) to make the loud sound of a metal object hitting another metal object [no obj] The cymbals clashed. • Their swords clashed. [+ obj] She ended the song by clashing the cymbals.

4 [no obj] of events : to happen at the same time so that you cannot do or see both — usually + with • The time of the picnic clashes [(more commonly) conflicts] with another picnic I'm invited to.

²clash noun, pl clashes [count]

1 a : a short fight between groups of people • Hundreds were killed in ethnic clashes in the region last month. — often + between or with • Clashes broke out between the police and protesters. • Several protesters were injured in a recent clash with the police. • violent clashes between the factions b : an argument or disagreement between people — often + between or with • a clash between the two leaders • The company has had many clashes with environmentalists.

2 : a difference that makes it difficult for people or things to be together or work together • a clash of opinions/cultures • We have a personality clash. [=we often annoy each other or disagree; we do not get along] — often + of • a clash of opinions/cultures

3 : a loud sound made by hitting a metal object against another metal object • the clash of swords/cymbals

4 : a situation in which two events happen at the same time so that you cannot do or see both • The date of the debate had to be changed because of scheduling clashes. [(more commonly) conflicts]

¹clasp /'klæsp, Brit 'kla:sp/ noun, pl clasps [count]

1 : a device for holding together objects or parts of something (such as a purse, necklace, belt, etc.) • Can you fasten the clasp on this bracelet for me? • a tie clasp — see color picture on page C11

2 : a strong hold with your hands or arms — usually singular • She took her son's hand in a gentle/firm clasp.

²clasp verb clasps; clasped; clasp-ing [+ obj]

1 : to fasten (something) with a clasp • She clasped her purse shut. • He clasped the keys to his belt.

2 : to hold (someone or something) tightly with your hands or arms • He clasped her hand gently/firmly. • She clasped her son in her arms. • She clasped her hands tightly in her lap. = Her hands were clasped tightly in her lap. [=she held her hands tightly together in her lap]

¹class /'klæs, Brit 'kla:s/ noun, pl class-es

1 a [count] : a group of students who meet regularly to be taught a subject or activity • There are 20 students in the class. • Several people in the class are absent today. ✧ In U.S. English, class is used with a singular verb. • The class is going on a field trip. In British English, class can also be used with a plural verb. • The class are going on a field trip. b [count] : a series of meetings in which students are taught a particular subject or activity : a course of instruction • This class is really difficult. • He will be teaching an American history class next semester. • The college offers classes in computer programming and engineering. • She is taking a class on psychology. • taking dance class • What classes are you taking this semester? c : one of the meetings in which students are taught a particular subject or activity [count] I have an English class this morning. • My class got out early today. • I have already missed two classes. • Read chapters 10 through 20 for the next class. [noncount] I'm late for class. • Let's meet after class. • Class starts at 8:00 a.m. • What did you learn in class today? • He got in trouble for talking during/in class. d [count] US : a group of students who finish their education at a particular school at the same time : students who graduate together • She's a member of the class of 2006. • the freshman class [=the group of students who are freshmen this year and will eventually graduate together] • She's running for class president.

2 a [count] : a group of people in a society who are at the same economic and social level • the ruling/professional class • the higher/lower social classes — often used before another noun • class distinctions • a class struggle b [noncount] : the way people in a society are divided into different social and economic groups • a discussion about class and race

3 [noncount] a : a quality that makes something or someone seem special and attractive • The hotel has class. [=it is very elegant] • The candles on the table added a touch of class. — see also FIRST-CLASS, HIGH-CLASS, WORLD-CLASS b : a quality that makes someone seem very good, kind, etc.

• She showed a lot of class by donating her prize money to charity. — see also CLASS ACT, CLASSY

4 [count] a : a group of people or things that are similar in some way • Do you have a license to drive this class of vehicle? • a new class [=kind, type] of nuclear submarine • There are many good players here, but she is in a different class altogether. [=she is far better than the other good players] ♦ If you are in a class by yourself or in a class of your own, you are very different from others in a good or bad way. • There have been a lot of corporate scandals but this one is in a class by itself. [=worse than all the others] • As an architect, she is in a class by herself. [=she has exceptional talent as an architect] b : one of the sections of seats on an airplane, train, etc. • I am traveling business class. [=in a section of an airplane that is more comfortable and expensive than the main section but less comfortable and expensive than first class] — see also FIRST CLASS, SECOND CLASS, THIRD CLASS, TOURIST CLASS

5 [count] Brit : one of the levels of a university degree

2 class verb classes; classed; class-ing [+ obj] : to decide that (someone or something) belongs to a particular group : CLASSIFY — usually used as (be) classed; often + as • The animal has been classed as a fish by some scientists and as a reptile by others. • He was classed as a part-time worker.

class act noun, pl ~ acts [count] informal : someone who is admirable and usually very fair or polite • She's a real class act on and off the soccer field.

class action noun, pl ~ -tions [count] US, law : a lawsuit in which many people join together to sue because they all say they were harmed by the same person or group

— class-action adj, always used before a noun • a class-action suit against a car company class-conscious adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing a lot of awareness about which economic or social level a person is in : thinking that a person's economic or social class is important • She was never very class-conscious, so it surprised her when her classmates talked about the "rich kids" and "poor kids" on campus. • We live in a class-conscious society.

— class-consciousness noun [noncount]

1 class-sic /'klæsɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a — used to say that something has come to be considered one of the best of its kind • classic novels/movies • a classic case study on hysteria • He collects classic cars. b — used to say that something is an example of excellence • His winning goal was classic. c — used to describe something that has been popular for a long time • classic board games • The recipe is a new version of a classic dish. • a radio station that plays classic rock [=rock music from the past that is still popular]

2 : having a graceful design with simple lines • She prefers classic furniture designs. • It's a classic suit that won't go out of style. • I like the car's classic contours.

3 : very typical • The battle was a classic example/case of poor planning. • a classic error • (informal) She lost the tickets? How classic. [=it is not surprising that she lost the tickets; she often loses things]

2 classic noun, pl -sics

1 [count] : something that has been considered to be excellent for a long time • That car is a classic. • film/literary classics • I like to read the classics. • Their latest album is destined to become a classic. [=it is very good and will still be admired many years from now]

2 classics [noncount] : the study of the literature, language, and culture of ancient Greece and Rome • He teaches classics at the local university. • She studied classics in college. • an interest in the classics

3 [count] : a traditional event • The football game is a Thanksgiving classic.

clas-si-cal /'klæsɪkəl/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : of a kind that has been respected for a long time • the classical [=traditional] idea of beauty • classical ballet

2 : of or relating to the ancient Greek and Roman world and especially to its language, literature, art, etc. • the classical [=ancient] and medieval worlds • classical literature/art • the classical tradition • a classical scholar

3 : relating to music in a European tradition that includes opera and symphony and that is generally considered more serious than other kinds of music • classical music/composers

4 : teaching ideas about literature, art, science, etc., rather than practical skills • a classical curriculum/education

5 : very typical : CLASSIC • a classical example of propaganda • the classical symptoms of the disease

— clas-si-cal-ly /'klæsɪkli/ adv • a classically trained actress [=an actress who was trained in traditional methods of acting] • a classically furnished house • Symptoms classically include fatigue and muscle soreness.

clas-si-cism /'klæsəˌsɪzəm/ noun [noncount] formal

1 : the ideas and styles that are common in the literature, art, and architecture of ancient Greece and Rome • Roman classicism • a return to classicism in modern architecture

2 : a traditional style of art, literature, music, architecture, etc., that is usually graceful and simple with parts that are organized in a pleasing way • French classicism • classicism in literature • the classicism of the building

clas-si-cist /'klæsəsɪst/ noun, pl -cists [count] formal

1 : an expert in ancient Greek and Roman language, literature, art, architecture, or culture

2 : someone who prefers a traditional and usually graceful and simple style in art, literature, music, architecture, etc. : a person who favors classicism

clas-si-fi-ca-tion /ˌklæsəfəˈkeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the act or process of putting people or things into groups based on ways that they are alike • a system of classification • the classification of diseases/drugs • biological classification • the classification of new species

2 [count] : an arrangement of people or things into groups based on ways that they are alike • job classifications for government workers • racial/ethnic classifications

1 clas-si-fied /'klæsəˌfaɪd/ adj

1 : arranged in groups with similar things • a classified directory

2 : kept secret from all but a few people in the government • classified documents • The memo is classified. • The part of the report that includes classified information was removed before the report was made public.

2 classified noun, pl -fieds [count] : a small advertisement that is grouped with others that are like it in a special section of a newspaper or magazine or on a Web site — usually plural • I've been looking through the classifieds for a car I can afford. • job/online classifieds — called also classified ad, classified advertisement, (Brit) small ad; compare WANT AD

clas-si-fy /'klæsəˌfaɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj]

1 : to arrange (people or things) into groups based on ways that they are alike • Students will be learning about the ways scientists classify animals. • The online system can classify books by subject. — often used as (be) classified • Drugs are classified into different categories. • classified according to size/weight

2 : to consider (someone or something) as belonging to a particular group • As a singer, she is hard to classify. = It is hard to classify her as a singer [=to decide what type of singer she is] — often + as • The movie had some funny parts, but I wouldn't classify it as a comedy. — often used as (be) classified • The vehicle is classified as a truck.

— clas-si-fi-able /ˌklæsəˈfajəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • She's one of those singers who are not easily classifiable.

class-ism /'klæsɪzəm, Brit 'klaːsɪzəm/ noun [noncount]

: unfair treatment of people because of their social or economic class • a society plagued by racism and classism

— class-ist /'klæsɪst, Brit 'klaːsɪst/ adj [more ~; most ~] • classist views class-less /'klæsləs, Brit 'klaːsləs/ adj

1 : without social or economic classes : not grouping people according to their social or economic level • the goal of a classless society

2 : not connected to a particular social or economic class • classless foods like pizza and ice cream

3 : rude in a way that is annoying • classless behavior

— class-less-ness noun [noncount]

class-mate /'klæsˌmeɪt, Brit 'klaːsˌmeɪt/ noun, pl -mates

[count] : a member of the same class in a school, college, or university ♦ Classmate can refer to someone who is taking the same class as you or to someone who will graduate from your school or college in the same year as you. • We were classmates in high school. • She invited all of her classmates to her birthday party.

class-room /'klæsˌruːm, Brit 'klaːsˌruːm/ noun, pl -rooms

[count] : a room where classes are taught in a school, college, or university class-work /ˌklæsˌwɜːk, Brit 'klaːsˌwɜːk/ noun [noncount]

: the part of a student's work that is done in a class and not at home • All of the students have finished their classwork for today. — compare HOMEWORK classy /'klæsi, Brit 'kla:si/ adj class-i-er; -est [or more ~; most ~]

1 : having qualities that make someone or something special and attractive • a classy [=fancy, high-class, upscale] hotel • the classiest nightclub in Madrid • The spa boasts some very classy clients.

2 : showing impressive character : very good, kind, etc. • a classy guy • Donating her salary bonus to charity was a really classy thing to do.

— class-i-ness noun [noncount] • the hotel's classiness

clat-ter /'klætə/ verb, always followed by an adverb or preposition -ters; -tered; -ter-ing [no obj] : to make a quick series of short loud sounds • The shutters clattered against the house. • He heard dishes clattering in the kitchen. • The box dropped and dozens of marbles clattered across the floor. • The wagon clattered down the road.

— clatter noun, pl -ters [count] — usually singular • the clatter of dishes — clattering noun [singular] • the clattering of dishes

clause /'kla:z/ noun, pl clause-es [count]

1 grammar : a part of a sentence that has its own subject and verb • The sentence "When it rained they went inside" consists of two clauses: "when it rained" and "they went inside."

2 : a separate part of a legal document • a clause in a will/contract — see also GRANDFATHER CLAUSE

claus-tro-pho-bia /,kla:stɹə'foubijə/ noun [noncount]

1 : a fear of being in closed or small spaces • She doesn't go in elevators because of her claustrophobia. — compare AGORAPHOBIA

2 : an unhappy or uncomfortable feeling caused by being in a situation that limits or restricts you • the claustrophobia of small-town life

claus-tro-pho-bic /,kla:stɹə'foubik/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 of a room, space, etc. : not having enough space for people to feel comfortable : causing claustrophobia • The theater can be a little claustrophobic when it's full.

2 : having a fear of being in closed or small spaces : having claustrophobia • She doesn't go in elevators because she is claustrophobic.

3 : not having or providing enough freedom • a very claustrophobic relationship

— claus-tro-pho-bi-cal-ly /,kla:stɹə'foubikli/ adv • a claustrophobically small room

clav-i-chord /'klævə,kɔəd/ noun, pl -chords [count] : a musical instrument that is similar to a piano and was played mostly in the past before the piano was invented clav-i-cle /'klævikəl/ noun, pl clav-i-cles [count] medical : COLLARBONE — see picture at HUMAN

¹claw /'kla:/ noun, pl claws [count]

1 : a sharp curved part on the toe of an animal (such as a cat or bird) • The eagle was carrying a mouse in its sharp claws. • the bear's claws — often used figuratively • They've only been dating for a few months and already she's got her claws into him! [=she already has control over him] • (chiefly Brit) The press has been getting its claws into him. [=has been attacking/criticizing him] • They're still trying to get their claws on her money. [=to get her money]

2 : a body part of an animal (such as a lobster or crab) that is used for gripping and holding things

3 : a part on a tool or machine that is used for gripping, digging, etc. • The excavating machine's claw dug into the earth. • the claw of a hammer — see picture at CARPENTRY

— see also BEAR CLAW

— clawed /'kla:d/ adj • a clawed foot

²claw verb claws; clawed; claw-ing : to scratch, grip, or dig with claws or fingers [no obj] — usually + at • The cat claws at the door when she wants to go outside. • The dog was clawing at the dirt. • She desperately clawed at her attacker's face. [+ obj] How can we stop the cat from clawing the drapes/curtains? • The dog clawed a hole in the carpet. • She tried to claw his face with her fingernails.

claw back [phrasal verb] claw (something) back or claw back (something) chiefly Brit : to get back (something, such as money or business) by acting in a forceful way or by doing something that requires a lot of effort • With budget cuts looming, the government is trying to claw back some of the money it promised to state agencies.

claw your way : to move ahead slowly by grabbing onto things • The climbers clawed their way up the steep terrain. — often used figuratively • The company is clawing its way out of bankruptcy. • He clawed his way to the top of his profession.

claw hammer noun ~ -mers [count] : a hammer with a head that is curved and partially split in the back so that it can be used for pulling out nails

clay /'klei/ noun, pl clays [count, noncount] : a heavy, sticky material from the earth that is made into different shapes and that becomes hard when it is baked or dried ♦ Clay is used to make pots, bricks, tiles, etc. — often used before another noun • a clay pot/pipe/tablet

feet of clay see ¹FOOT

— claylike adj [more ~; most ~] • a claylike substance

clay-ey /'kleji/ adj : containing a lot of clay • a clayey soil

clay pigeon noun, pl ~ -geons [count] : a circular object made of baked clay that people throw into the air and shoot at to practice their shooting skills

¹clean /'kli:n/ adj clean-er; -est

1 : free from dirt, marks, etc. : not dirty • a clean floor • This table isn't clean. There's a sticky spot where something spilled. • He keeps a very clean house. • The janitor does a good job of keeping the office clean. • clean laundry/socks/towels/sheets • I wiped the baby's face clean.

2 : tending to keep clean • He's a clean young man. • Cats are very clean animals.

3 a : free from pollution or other dangerous substances • clean air/water b : not causing pollution • Solar power provides clean energy. • a clean fuel

4 a : not yet used • a clean [=blank, fresh] piece/sheet of paper b of a document : not having any mistakes • We need a clean copy of the document.

5 : not infected • a clean wound

6 : pleasingly simple • I like the clean simplicity of the chair's design. • She wore a formal wool suit with clean lines.

7 : having edges that are straight and smooth • a clean cut • The vase was broken, but it was a clean break and easily repaired with a little glue.

8 : completely and quickly done • The bank robbers made a clean getaway. • When he left home, he made a clean break with the past. [=he completely separated himself from everything that had been part of his life]

9 sports : done in a skillful and impressive way without mistakes or awkwardness • a clean dive/catch/hit • The gymnast made a clean landing.

10 : not showing evidence of any broken rules or laws • She has a clean driving record. — see also CLEAN SLATE (below)

11 a : not connected with or involving anything illegal or morally wrong • a clean candidate • They believe in hard work and clean living. • The party was good, clean fun. b : not referring to anything sexual or offensive • Only clean jokes, please. There are children here. • clean language

12 not used before a noun : no longer using drugs : not addicted to drugs • He's been clean for five years. • clean and sober

13 not used before a noun, informal : not carrying any weapons, drugs, etc. • All visitors to the prison are searched to make sure they're clean. • I checked her; she's clean.

clean as a whistle see ¹WHISTLE

clean slate also Brit clean sheet 1 : a person's record (as from a school or a job) that shows no evidence of any problems, broken rules, etc. : a clean record • Everyone who comes to this school starts with a clean slate. 2 clean sheet Brit : a game in which the opposing team is prevented from scoring • The team's star goalie has had five clean sheets [= (US) shutouts] this season. [=has prevented the other team from scoring in five games]

clean sweep 1 : a victory in which one side or team wins every game, contest, etc. • The Red Sox won the series in a clean sweep. • The election was a clean sweep for local Democratic candidates. 2 : a complete change in something • The new governor has made a clean sweep of the staff in the governor's mansion. [=the new governor completely replaced the former governor's staff]

come clean informal : to tell the truth about what happened : to stop hiding the truth • Eventually she came clean and helped the police recover the goods she'd stolen. • He's finally come clean about his role in the scandal.

give (someone or something) a clean bill of health see ¹BILL

keep your nose clean see ¹NOSE

make a clean breast of see ¹BREAST

wipe the slate clean see ¹WIPE

— clean-ness /'kli:nnəs/ noun [noncount] • the cleanness of the image

²clean verb cleans; cleaned; clean-ing

1 a : to make (something) clean : to remove dirt, marks, etc., from (something) [+ obj] The carpet needs to be cleaned. • clean your fingernails • clean [=brush] your teeth • clean [=wash] the windows [no obj] They divide household duties so that she cleans and her husband cooks. — see also CLEAN UP 1a (below) b [no obj] : to become clean • The pan has a surface that cleans easily. [=that is easy to clean] 2 [+ obj] : to make (something, such as a room) neat and orderly • Clean your room. — see also CLEAN OUT 1 (below), CLEAN UP 1b (below)

3 [+ obj] : to remove the organs from the inside of (an animal) before cooking • They cleaned the fish and cooked them on the campfire. • skin and clean a rabbit/deer

clean house see ¹HOUSE

clean out [phrasal verb] 1 clean (something) out or clean out (something) : to remove unwanted things from (a room, closet, etc.) • We spent the weekend cleaning out the garage. [=clearing unwanted items from the garage] • I need to clean out my purse. 2 clean (someone or something) out or clean out (someone or something) informal : to steal or take everything from (someone or something) • The thieves broke in and cleaned out the store. • She fell for the scheme and was cleaned out. [=all her money was taken] 3 clean (someone) out or clean out (someone) informal : to use up all or most of someone's money • Buying the house really cleaned us out. Now we're broke.

clean up [phrasal verb] 1 clean (something) up or clean up (something) a : to remove (dirt, spilled substances, etc.) • Would you mind cleaning up the spilled milk? • It will only take a moment to clean this mess up. b or clean up : to make (a room or space) clean and orderly • Would you mind helping me clean up the kitchen after dinner? • We stayed late to help them clean up. ♦ To clean up after someone is to make a place clean after someone has made it dirty or messy. • His mother is always cleaning up after him. • You should learn to clean up after yourself. c : to remove pollution from (something) • The city has cleaned up the bay in recent years. — see also CLEANUP 2 clean up or clean (yourself) up : to make yourself clean : to wash your face and hands • I'm sure you'll want to clean up after a full day of traveling. • I just need a few minutes to clean myself up before dinner. • The children are inside getting cleaned up. 3 clean (something) up or clean up (something) a : to remove whatever is illegal or immoral from (something) • The new mayor has really cleaned up city hall. [=has made the city government less corrupt] b : to make (something) clearer or more acceptable • We were able to clean up the sound on the recording using special equipment. • He's cleaned up his image since his early rock music days. 4 clean (something) up or clean up (something) informal : to eat all of (something) • The teenagers cleaned up [= (more commonly) polished off] the pizza in a matter of minutes. 5 informal : to make a large amount of money • She really cleaned up last year in the stock market. 6 clean up your act informal : to behave in a way that is more acceptable • After years of drug abuse, she finally got treatment and cleaned up her act.

clean your plate : to eat all the food on your plate • The children were not allowed to have dessert until they had cleaned their plates. usage see CLEANSE

³clean adv, informal : all the way : completely or entirely • Somehow, the top of the machine came clean off. • The nail went clean through the wall. • The fish were jumping clean out of the water.

⁴clean noun [singular] informal : an act of removing dirt from something • She gave the tub a good clean. [=she cleaned the tub thoroughly]

clean-cut /'kli:n'kʌt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having a neat appearance that suggests you are someone who does not break rules or cause trouble • a polite, clean-cut young man clean-er /'kli:nə/ noun, pl -ers

1 [count] : a person whose job is to clean something • street/window cleaners • They have hired a house cleaner. [=a person whose job is to keep the rooms in a house or apartment clean]

2 [count] : a substance used for cleaning things • He recommends using baking soda as a general household cleaner.

3 [count] : a device or machine used for cleaning things • an air cleaner — see also PIPE CLEANER, VACUUM CLEANER

4 the cleaners or the cleaner's : a shop where clothes are cleaned : DRY CLEANER • I took my suit to the cleaners.

take (someone) to the cleaners informal : to get all or most of someone's money or possessions usually in a dishonest or unfair way • I heard that his ex-wife really took him to the cleaners [=cleaned him out] in the divorce.

cleaning noun [noncount] : the act or process of cleaning something • She needs someone to help her with the cleaning [=housecleaning] while she is recovering from surgery.

cleaning lady noun, pl ~ ladies [count] : a woman whose job is to clean offices or houses — called also cleaning woman cleaning person noun, pl ~ -sons [count] : a woman or man whose job is to clean offices or houses clean-li-ness /'klenlinəs/ noun [noncount]

1 : the state of being clean • The restaurant's kitchen is regularly inspected for cleanliness.

2 : the practice of keeping yourself and your surroundings clean • the virtues of cleanliness and honesty clean-ly /'klenli/ adv [more ~; most ~] : in a clean manner; such as a : easily and completely • A sharp knife will cut through the skin of a tomato cleanly. b : without causing pollution • This fuel burns more cleanly than other fuels.

clean room noun ~ rooms [count] : a room that is kept extremely clean so that certain products can be made in it • The microchips are manufactured in a clean room.

cleans /'klenz/ verb cleans-es; cleansed; cleans-ing [+ obj] : to make (someone or something) clean • The cut should be cleansed gently with mild soap and water. • cleansed of all impurities — see also ETHNIC CLEANSING usage The verbs clean and cleans both mean “to make (something or someone) clean.” Cleans usually refers to making the body or part of the body clean. • cleansing the skin • The herb is believed to cleans the body of toxins. It can also refer to making a person's mind, soul, reputation, etc., clean. • The ceremony is meant to cleans people of their guilt and sin. • Try to cleans your mind through meditation. Clean is more common than cleans and its use is less specific.

cleans-er /'klenzə/ noun, pl -ers : a substance (such as a powder or cream) that is used for cleaning something [count] a skin cleanser [noncount] Sprinkle some cleanser on the floor and let it sit for a while before you start scrubbing.

clean-shaven adj, of a man : having a shaved face : having no beard or mustache • The waiters were clean-shaven.

¹clean-up /'kli:n,ʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count] : the process of cleaning something • The children helped with the cleanup [=helped to clean up] after the meal. — often used before another noun • The cleanup costs of the oil spill will be in the millions of dollars. • The company's cleanup efforts have been applauded by the town.

²cleanup adj, always used before a noun : fourth in the batting order of a baseball team • a cleanup hitter — cleanup adv • He's batting cleanup.

¹clear /'kliə/ adj clear-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : very obvious : not causing or allowing doubt • The show was a clear failure. [=it was clearly a failure; there is no doubt that the show was a failure] • There are clear differences between the two candidates. • She's the clear favorite to win the election. • I'm not completely happy with the plan, but I see no clear alternative. • He was the clear winner. • It has become clear [=evident] to me that changes are necessary. • She has made it abundantly/painfully/very clear that she does not support us. • It's not clear how much longer we'll have to wait. • She made (it) clear to me that she was unhappy. [=she told/showed me in a very definite way that she was unhappy] • “Changes will have to be made.” “Yes, that's clear.” • The sign said/read “Keep Out” as clear as day/daylight/anything. [=the sign very clearly said “Keep Out”] — sometimes used in spoken phrases that express anger • I want this work finished by this afternoon. Do I make myself clear? [=do you understand me?] • The work needs to be finished by this afternoon. Is that clear? • Let's get one thing perfectly clear: I want this work finished by this afternoon.

2 : easily understood • She's a clear writer. [=she writes clearly] • Her writing has a clear style. • a clear definition/explanation • a clear message • The instructions weren't very clear about when we were supposed to begin. • (informal) The explanation was as clear as mud. [=extremely unclear]

3 a : free from doubt or confusion • I think I have a clear understanding of the problem. • Are you clear on/about what you need to do? [=do you understand what you need to do?]

• He has clear ideas about what he hopes to accomplish. b : able to think in an accurate way without confusion • She's a clear thinker. • This job requires someone with a clear head [=someone who can think clearly] — see also CLEAR-HEADED

4 : easily seen : having small parts and details that can be easily seen and identified • This picture is blurry, but that one is clear. • Our TV has a beautifully clear picture/image.

5 : easily heard • a very clear sound : easily heard and understood • clear pronunciation • The teacher has a very clear speaking voice.

6 : easily seen through • clear [=transparent] glass • a clear liquid • a glass of cool, clear water • clear plastic bags • clear soup/broth • clear air • The water in the lake is crystal clear. = The water in the lake is (as) clear as crystal

7 : not blocked by anything • I had a clear view of the accident. [=I was able to see the accident clearly] • The aisles must be kept clear during the show. [=no people or things can be in the aisles during the show] • a clear path : not covered by anything • You should keep your work area clear. — often + of • You should keep your work area clear of clutter. • Don't try to cross the street until it's clear of traffic. [=until there is no traffic on the street] — see also CLEAR OF (below), the coast is clear at ¹COAST, clear sailing at SAILING

8 of weather or the sky : not having any clouds, fog, etc. • It was a beautifully clear, sunny day. • a clear blue sky • You can see thousands of stars on a clear night.

9 a : free of marks or spots • an actress with beautifully/perfectly clear healthy skin b : having a distinct and bright color • She has clear blue eyes. c medical : free of abnormal signs or symptoms • After treatment, all his tests were clear. [=his tests did not show any problems]

10 : free from feelings of guilt or blame — used with conscience • The accident wasn't my fault. My conscience is clear. = I have a clear conscience. ♦ If your conscience is clear, you do not feel guilty because you do not believe that you have done anything wrong.

11 finance — used to describe the amount that remains after costs, taxes, etc., have been paid • We made a clear [=net] profit of $500.

12 : not having any planned or scheduled activities • Wednesday afternoon is clear [=free], so let's meet then. • I like to keep my schedule clear on Friday afternoons.

(as) clear as a bell : very clear • It was clear as a bell that morning—not a cloud in the sky. • The water was as clear as a bell. • Clear as bell, I heard him say my name. • a sound as clear as a bell clear of : away from (something dangerous, harmful, etc.) • Keep/Stay clear of [=out of] trouble! • Stand clear of the closing doors! • We'll pick up speed once we get clear of the heavy traffic. — see also ¹CLEAR 7 (above)

see your way clear see ¹SEE

steer clear (of) see ²STEER

— clear-ness noun [noncount] • I was impressed by the clearness [= (more commonly) clarity] of his explanation. • the clearness of the water

²clear verb clears; cleared; clear-ing

1 [no obj] : to become clear: such as a of weather or the sky : to change so that there are no clouds, fog, etc. • The sky cleared after the rain. • The weather is cloudy now, but it's clearing gradually. — see also CLEAR UP (below) b of clouds, fog, smoke, etc. : to go away • The clouds cleared (from the sky) after the rain. • The morning fog gradually cleared. • When the smoke cleared, we could see that the building had been completely destroyed. c of a liquid : to change by becoming easier to see through : to become transparent or more transparent • The water cleared after the mud had settled. d of the skin : to become free of marks or spots • My skin cleared when I started using the cream. — see also CLEAR UP (below) e ♦ When your head clears or when something clears your head, you become more awake or alert and are able to think in a normal way without confusion. • My head cleared after a good night's sleep. = A good night's sleep cleared my head. [=I was able to think clearly again after a good night's sleep] f ♦ When your vision/eyesight clears you become able to see things correctly. • When I woke up everything was blurry at first, but then my vision gradually cleared.

2 a [+ obj] : to remove something entirely from an area or place • He used a shovel to clear the snow off/from the driveway. = He used a shovel to clear the driveway of snow. • They cleared timber from/off the land. • She cleared everything out of the closet. • I'll clear those books out of the/your way.

• She cleared [=removed] the dishes from the table. = She cleared the table (of dishes). b : to cause the people in an area or place to leave [+ obj] clear a room of unwanted visitors = clear unwanted visitors from a room • The alarm cleared [=emptied] the room (of people). [no obj] The room cleared quickly when the alarm sounded. [=the people in the room left quickly when the alarm sounded] c [+ obj] : to leave (an area or place) so that it is empty • The police ordered the crowd to clear the area.

3 [+ obj] : to make (a path, road, open space, etc.) by removing things that block or cover an area or surface • The guide cleared a path for us through the jungle. • I cleared a space on the desk for my new computer.

4 [+ obj] : to go over, under, or past (something) without touching • The horse cleared [=jumped over] the fence easily. • The pole-vaulter cleared 15 feet on his first try. • The boat's sail just/narrowly cleared [=passed under] the bottom of the bridge.

5 [+ obj] : to prove that (someone) is not guilty of a crime • The investigation cleared him officially of all the charges against him. • He says he's innocent and he wants an opportunity to clear himself = He wants an opportunity to clear his name [=to prove that he is innocent]

6 [+ obj] a : to get approval for (something) • You should clear the article with your boss before trying to get it published. b : to give approval for (something) • Her boss cleared [=approved] the article for publication. c : to say that (someone) has official permission to do something • The head of the agency has cleared her to see classified information. • The flight/plane/pilot was cleared to land. = The flight/plane/pilot was cleared for landing. [=the flight/plane/pilot was given official permission/clearance to land] • We were cleared (to go) through customs. = We cleared customs d : to be passed or officially approved by (a group) • The bill has finally cleared the Senate. [=the Senate has finally passed the bill]

7 [+ obj] finance a : to pay all the money that is owed for (a debt or loan) • clear a debt b : to gain (an amount of money) after paying all costs, taxes, etc. • After paying our expenses we cleared almost 1,000 dollars on the deal. • clear a profit c ♦ When a check clears or is cleared, it goes through the process of being reviewed and accepted by a bank, and the money for the check is taken from the bank's account. • Checks can take up to four days to clear. = Checks can take up to four days to be cleared. • The check failed to clear. [=the check bounced]

clear away [phrasal verb] clear (something) away or clear away (something) : to remove (something) from an area or surface • Just give me a moment to clear away all these papers, then we can sit down at the table. — sometimes used figuratively • They had a long talk and were able to clear away [=clear up, resolve] all their misunderstandings.

clear off [phrasal verb] 1 clear off (something) or clear (something) off (something) : to remove things from (an area or surface) • It took her a few minutes to clear off the dinner table. • It took her a few minutes to clear the dishes off the dinner table. • I'll clear off my desk so that you can use it. 2 chiefly Brit, informal a : to go away or run away : to leave quickly • When we heard the night watchman, we cleared off as quickly as we could. • I told him to clear off [=get lost] and leave me alone. b clear off (a place) : to leave (a place) quickly • I ordered the hikers to clear off [=get off] my land at once.

clear out [phrasal verb] 1 : to leave quickly • He cleared out without paying his rent. 2 clear (something) out or clear out (something) : to remove unwanted things from (an area or place) • clear out a cluttered closet — see also CLEAROUT

clear the air see ¹AIR

clear the deck/decks see ¹DECK

clear up [phrasal verb] 1 : to become clear: such as a of weather or the sky : to change so that there are no clouds, fog, etc. • The sky cleared up after the rain. • It's cloudy now, but it's clearing up gradually. b of the skin : to become free of marks or spots • My skin cleared up when I started using the cream. 2 clear up or clear (something, up or clear up (something)) : to go away or cause (something) to go away • My symptoms cleared up once I started using the cream. • The cream has cleared up my symptoms. 3 clear (something) up or clear up (something) a : to make (something) clear by explaining it • clear up a mystery b : to cause the end of (something) by talking about it or dealing with it • We need to clear up [=resolve] these misunderstandings. • If we try I'm sure we can clear up these problems quickly. 4 Brit : to make an area clean or tidy • Let's clear up [=clean up, tidy up] before we leave.

clear your throat : to make a noise in your throat for attention or to be able to speak more clearly • He cleared his throat and began to speak.

clear adv

1 : in a clear manner — used in the phrase loud and clear • “Can you hear me now?” “Loud and clear.” [=I can hear you very clearly]

2 chiefly US, informal : all the way : completely or entirely • We drove clear across the state. • The ball rolled clear across the street.

free and clear see ²FREE

clear noun

in the clear : free from guilt or suspicion • The investigation/jury considered all the charges against him and concluded that he was in the clear. [=that he was not guilty] • He's not in the clear yet. The police still consider him a suspect.

clear-ance /'klɪərəns/ noun, pl -ances

1 a : an official decision saying that someone has permission to do something [noncount] You'll have to get clearance [=approval] from management to go ahead with the project. • The documents are only available to people with security clearance [=special permission given only to people who are approved to know or see secret things] from the government. [count] She has a security clearance that allows her to see the classified information. b : official permission for an aircraft, pilot, etc., to do something [noncount] The pilot got clearance to land. • That flight has not received clearance for landing/takeoff. [count] a clearance for landing/takeoff

2 : the amount of space between two things [noncount] There was only 10 inches of clearance between the car and the side of the tunnel. [count] The car has a road/ground clearance of seven inches. [=the bottom of the car is seven inches above the road/ground] • a bridge with a 100-foot clearance above the water

3 [noncount] : the act or process of removing things (such as trees or old buildings) from an area • the clearance of forests for farming • slum clearance to make room for new housing clearance sale noun, pl ~ sales [count] : a sale in which prices are lowered in order to sell things quickly and make room for new items • The store is having/holding a clearance sale this weekend.

clear-cut /'kliə'kʌt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very obvious and sharp • a clear-cut distinction : free from doubt or uncertainty : very definite • a clear-cut victory/decision • The difference between their views on this issue is not clear-cut.

clear-cut /'kliə,kʌt/ noun, pl -cuts [count] US : an area of land in which all the trees have been cut down • The law limits the size of clear-cuts.

clear-cut verb -cuts; -cut; -cut-ting [+ obj] US : to cut down all the trees in (an area) • Ten years ago the lumber company clear-cut this hillside.

— clear-cutting noun [noncount] • Clear-cutting has led to mudslides in many regions.

clear-eyed /'kliə,aɪd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing an ability to think clearly • She provided a clear-eyed [=clear-sighted, clearheaded] assessment of the problem.

clear-head-ed /'kliə,hɛdəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing an ability to think clearly • He remains calm and clearheaded in tense situations. • a clearheaded analysis — clear-head-ed-ly adv — clear-head-ed-ness noun [noncount]

clear-ing /'klɪrɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 [noncount] : the act or process of making something clear or of becoming clear • the clearing of the table • the clearing of wood and brush from part of the forest

2 [count] : an open area of land in which there are no trees • We found a clearing in the forest.

clearing bank noun, pl ~ banks [count] Brit : any bank that uses a clearinghouse clear-ing-house /'klɪrɪŋ,haʊs/ noun, pl -houses [count]

1 : a business that banks use to exchange checks and money between them

2 : an organization that collects and gives out information about a specific thing • an online clearinghouse for information on museums around the world

clear-ly /'kliəli/ adv [more ~; most ~]

1 : in a clear manner : in a way that is easy to see, hear, or understand • You should try to speak more clearly. • She writes very clearly. • The mountain was clearly visible in the distance.

2 : in a way that is certain : without doubt : OBVIOUSLY • The project was clearly a failure. [=the project was a clear failure] • The problem is very clearly getting worse. • Clearly, a new approach is needed. = A new approach is clearly needed. [=it is clear that a new approach is needed] • “A new approach is needed.” “Clearly.” • “The current method isn't working.” “Clearly not.”

clear-out /'kliə,aʊt/ noun, pl -outs [count] Brit : the act of removing all unwanted material from a place • We gave the house the first thorough clearout it's had/gotten for years. — see also clear out 2 at ²CLEAR clear-sight-ed /'kliə,saitəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing an ability to think clearly • He provided a clear-sighted [=clear-eyed, clearheaded] appraisal of the problem. • a clear-sighted commentator

— clear-sight-ed-ness noun [noncount]

clear-way /'kliə,weɪ/ noun, pl -ways [count] Brit : a major road on which cars are not usually allowed to stop

cleat /'kli:t/ noun, pl cleats

1 [count] : a metal or wooden object that is attached to something (such as a boat or dock) and around which a rope can be tied

2 a [count] : a piece of rubber, wood, or metal that is fastened to the bottom of a shoe or boot to prevent slipping — usually plural • cleats on a football shoe b cleats [plural] US : shoes that have cleats on them • a football player wearing cleats

cleav-age /'kli:vɪdʒ/ noun, pl -ages

1 [noncount] informal : the space between a woman's breasts especially when it can be easily seen • The dress is cut low enough to reveal a lot of cleavage.

2 : a division between two things or groups [noncount] the cleavage between the rich and poor [count] social cleavages

3 [count] technical : the act of splitting apart • the cleavages of an egg as an embryo develops

1 cleave /'kli:v/ verb cleaves; cleaved /'kli:vd/ also cleft /'kleft/ or clove /'kloʊv/; cleaved also cleft or clo-ven /'kloʊvən/; cleav-ing formal + literary

1 a : to split (something) by hitting it with something heavy and sharp [+ obj] The ax easily cleaves the log. [no obj] The wood is old and cleaves [=splits] easily. b : to pass easily and quickly through (something) [+ obj] The bow of the ship cleaved the water. • The darkness was cleft by the lantern's beam. [no obj] The ship's bow cleaved through the water.

2 [+ obj] : to separate (something) into parts • The country was cleaved [=divided] in two by civil war.

— compare ²CLEAVE

2 cleave /'kli:v/ verb cleaves; cleaved /'kli:vd/ or clove /'kloʊv/; cleaved; cleav-ing

cleave to [phrasal verb] formal + literary 1 cleave to (someone) : to stay very close to (someone) • children cleaving to their families 2 cleave to (something) : to stick closely to (something) — usually used figuratively • He continued to cleave to the beliefs of his childhood.

— compare ¹CLEAVE

cleav-er /'kli:və/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a heavy knife with a wide blade used for cutting up large pieces of meat clef /'klef/ noun, pl clefs [count] music : a sign that is placed at the beginning of a line of written music to show the pitch of the notes • the treble/bass clef

cleft /'kleft/ noun, pl clefts [count]

1 : a narrow space in the surface of something • The river begins as a trickle of water from a cleft in the rock.

2 : a narrow area that looks like a small dent in someone's chin • He has a distinctive cleft in his chin.

— cleft adj • The plant has deeply cleft leaves. • a cleft chin cleft lip noun, pl ~ lips [count] medical : a split in the upper lip that some people are born with cleft palate noun, pl ~ -ates [count] medical : a split in the roof of the mouth that some people are born with clem-a-tis /'klemətəs/ noun, pl -tis-es [count, noncount] : a climbing plant that has large pink, purple, red, or white flowers

clem-en-cy /'klemənsi/ noun [noncount] : kind or merciful treatment of someone who could be given harsh punishment • The judge ignored the prisoner's pleas for clemency. [=mercy] • The President has granted clemency to several people this month.

clem-ent /'klemənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : not too hot or too cold • The country is known for its clement

[=(more commonly) mild] weather. — compare INCLEMENT
clem-en-tine /'klɛmən,tɪn/ noun, pl -tines [count] : a kind of orange that is small and sweet clench /'klɛntʃ/ verb clench-es; clenched; clench-ing

1 : to set (something) in a tightly closed position [+ obj] He clenched his teeth and continued to look straight ahead. • He clenched his fists in anger. • She was angry and spoke quietly through clenched teeth. [no obj] His jaw/fists clenched and unclenched as he listened to the speech.

2 [+ obj] : to hold (something) tightly • She danced alone, with a rose clenched in her teeth. • He was clenching a cigarette in his teeth.

clere-sto-ry /'kliə,storɪ/ noun, pl -ries [count] technical : the upper part of a wall that rises above a roof and that has windows

cler-gy /'klɛdʒi/ noun [plural] : people (such as priests) who are the leaders of a religion and who perform religious services • Local clergy have been invited to participate in an interfaith service. • a member of the clergy ♦ Clergy is used most often to refer to priests and ministers in a Christian church. — compare LAITY

cler-gy-man /'klɛdʒimən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a man who is a member of the clergy especially in a Christian church

cler-gy-per-son /'klɛdʒi,pɜːsn/ noun, pl -sons [count] : a person who is a member of the clergy especially in a Christian church

cler-gy-wom-an /'klɛdʒi,wʊmən/ noun, pl -wom-en /-wɪmən/ [count] : a woman who is a member of the clergy especially in a Christian church cler-ic /'klerɪk/ noun, pl -ics [count] : a member of the clergy in any religion

cler-i-cal /'klerɪkəl/ adj

1 : of or relating to a clerk or office worker • She spent the summer doing clerical work for a lawyer. • a member of our clerical staff • The mistake was due to a clerical error.

2 : of or relating to members of the clergy • clerical celibacy • a clerical collar [=a narrow and stiff white collar that is worn by some clergy]

1 clerk /'klɜːk, Brit 'klɑːk/ noun, pl clerks [count]

1 : a person whose job is to keep track of records and documents for a business or office • a bank/office clerk • a law clerk [=a person whose job is to assist a judge]

2 : an elected or appointed official whose job is to take care of official papers and business for a court or government • Have the court clerk file your request with the judge. • a city/town clerk [=a person whose job is to record what happens at city or town meetings and to keep special information about the city or town]

3 US a : a person who works in a store • He works as a clerk in a local pet store. • a grocery clerk • a sales clerk at a women's clothing store b : a person who works at the main desk of a hotel assisting the people who are staying there • a hotel clerk = a desk clerk

2 clerk verb clerks; clerked; clerk-ing [no obj] US : to work as a clerk — usually used of law clerks • After graduating from law school, she clerked for a judge for several years.

cle-ver /'kleɪvə/ adj cle-ver-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : intelligent and able to learn things quickly • A few clever [=smart, bright] students have started a business recycling old computers. • Some cats are clever enough to figure out how to operate doorknobs.

2 : showing intelligent thinking • a clever design/invention • That's the cleverest idea I've heard yet! • She found a clever hiding place for the letter. — often used in a joking or ironic way to describe a foolish idea, action, etc. • Whose clever idea was it to leave the window open?

3 : funny in a way that shows intelligence • I enjoyed the play's clever [=witty] dialogue.

4 Brit, informal : talking in a rude way that is meant to show you are smart • Don't you start getting clever [(US) fresh] with me! [=don't speak to me in a disrespectful way]

5 : good at doing things with your hands : SKILLFUL • Even as a little boy playing with blocks he was clever with his hands. • a clever machinist

6 Brit, informal — used in various negative expressions to suggest that someone is not feeling well • I'd had a few drinks and wasn't feeling very clever. • For someone who hasn't been feeling too clever lately, he just played a great round of golf.

too clever by half chiefly Brit, informal : clever in a way that is annoying or that causes problems • an arrogant poli-itician who is too clever by half • a complex computer program that is too clever by half

— cle-ver-ly adv • a cleverly designed gadget • cleverly written dialogue — cle-ver-ness noun [noncount] • the cleverness of the idea • a cat's cleverness clever dick noun, pl ~ dicks [count] Brit, informal + disapproving : a person who is clever in a way that is annoying — called also clever clogs

cli-ché /kli'ʃeɪ, 'kliː,ʃeɪ/ noun, pl -chés [count]

1 : a phrase or expression that has been used so often that it is no longer original or interesting • a speech filled with clichés about "finding your way" and "keeping the faith"

2 : something that is so commonly used in books, stories, etc., that it is no longer effective • The macho cop of Hollywood movies has become a cliché.

— cli-chéd /kli'ʃeɪd/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a clichéd phrase • The movie's characters are clichéd and uninteresting.

1 click /'klik/ verb clicks; clicked; click-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to cause (something) to make a short, sharp sound • He clicked his heels together and saluted the officer. b [no obj] : to make a short, sharp sound : to make a click • Her heels clicked on the marble floor. • a clicking noise/sound • Press the door until you hear the latch click. • The last piece of the puzzle clicked [=snapped] into place.

2 computers : to press a button on a mouse or some other device in order to make something happen on a computer [+ obj] To open the program, point at the icon and click the left mouse button. • click the icon [no obj] Click here to check spelling in the document. — often + on • Click on the icon to open the program. • I got to the Web site by clicking on a link at another site. — see also RIGHT-CLICK

3 [no obj] informal : to become friends : to like and understand each other • They met at a party and clicked [=hit it off] right away. • I know him fairly well, but we've never really clicked.

4 [no obj] informal : to get the attention or interest of people — usually + with • This is the issue that has really clicked with the voters this year.

5 [no obj] informal — used to describe what happens when you suddenly understand or remember something • I worked on the problem for days, until finally one day something clicked and I knew what I had to do.

— click-able /'klikəbəl/ adj, computers • The names in the list are all clickable. [=you can click on the names with your mouse to cause something to happen] • a clickable image on a Web page

2 click noun, pl clicks [count]

1 : a short, sharp sound • the click of her heels on marble • There was a click as the door closed behind him.

2 : the act of selecting something on a computer screen by pressing a button on a mouse or some other device • You can order movie tickets on the Internet with just a few clicks of your mouse.

click-er /'klikə/ noun, pl -ers [count] chiefly US, informal : REMOTE CONTROL

cli-ent /'klajənt/ noun, pl -ents [count]

1 : a person who pays a professional person or organization for services • a lawyer's clients • The accountant is meeting with another client right now, but she'll be able to see you later this afternoon.

2 : a customer in a shop or hotel • the spa's wealthy clients

3 computers : a computer in a network that uses the services provided by a server

cli-en-tele /,klajən'tel/ noun [singular] : the group of people who are regular customers at a particular business • The restaurant generally attracts an older clientele. • the boutique's wealthy clientele client state noun, pl ~ states [count] : a country that depends on another country for military, economic, or political support cliff /'klɪf/ noun, pl cliffs [count] : a high, steep surface of rock, earth, or ice • Standing at the edge of the cliff, we watched the waves crash on the shore far below. • rock climbers scaling steep cliffs — see color picture on page C7 cliff-hang-er /'klɪf,hæŋə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a story, contest, or situation that is very exciting because what is going to happen next is not known • The election was a real cliff-hanger. No one knew who was going to win until the very end.

cli-mac-tic /klaɪ'mæktɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] : most exciting and important : forming a climax • At the climactic moment, the main character of the novel finds herself face to face with the thief. • the movie's climactic chase scene

Do not confuse climactic with climatic.

cli-mate /'klaɪmət/ noun, pl -mates [count]

1 a : a region with particular weather patterns or conditions • living in a cold/dry/mild/hot climate • These trees only grow in humid climates. b : the usual weather conditions in a particular place or region • The country's climate is ideal for growing grapes. • the humid climate of Malaysia • increasing concerns about climate change [=changes in the Earth's weather patterns]

2 : the usual or most widespread mood or conditions in a place • A climate of fear prevails in the city. • the country's changing economic/political climate • The company is trying to develop a positive climate for innovation.

— cli-mat-ic /klaɪ'mætɪk/ adj • The climatic conditions in the region make it an ideal place to grow grapes.

Do not confuse climatic with climactic.

cli-ma-tol-o-gy /,klaɪmə'tɔ:lədʒi/ noun [noncount] : the scientific study of climates

— cli-ma-tol-o-gist /,klaɪmə'tɔ:lədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count]

cli-max /'klaɪ,mæks/ noun, pl -max-es [count]

1 a : the most exciting and important part of a story, play, or movie that occurs usually at or near the end • The movie's climax is a fantastic chase scene. • At the novel's climax, the main character finds herself face to face with the thief. b : the most interesting and exciting part of something : the high point • the tournament's climax • the climax of her career • The protest in May was the climax of a series of demonstrations in the nation's capital.

2 : the most intense point of sexual pleasure : ORGASM • able/unable to reach climax climax verb -maxes; -maxed; -max-ing

1 a [no obj] : to reach the most exciting or important part in something • The movie climaxes with a fantastic chase scene. b [+ obj] : to occur at the end as the most exciting or important part of (something) • The May protest climaxed a series of demonstrations in the nation's capital.

2 [no obj] : to have an orgasm • able/unable to climax

climb /'klaɪm/ verb climbs; climbed; climb-ing

1 [+ obj] : to move or go up (something) using your feet and often your hands • climb a ladder/tree • climb the stairs

2 : to go up mountains, cliffs, etc., as a sport [+ obj] He dreams of climbing Kilimanjaro. • It took them six days to climb the mountain. [no obj] She has climbed seriously for several years now.

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to move yourself in a way that usually involves going up or down • The actors were climbing down from the stage. • He climbed over the fence. • The passengers of the sailboat climbed aboard. • The pilot climbed into the cockpit. • I think she climbed in through the window. • He climbed out of the car with a box in his hands. • The players climbed into their uniforms [=put on their uniforms] and headed for the field.

4 a [no obj] : to go higher : to go upward • The plane rapidly climbed up above the clouds. • We watched the smoke climb [=rise] into the night sky. • The trail climbs steeply as it nears the summit of the mountain. b : to move to a higher position in a ranking or list [no obj] The book has climbed to number 2 on the bestsellers list. [+ obj] Their second album is climbing the charts. c : to move to a social or professional position that is more respected or powerful [no obj] The book describes how the senator climbed [=rose] to power. [+ obj] He was hired right out of business school and started climbing the corporate ladder.

5 [no obj] : to increase in amount, value, or level • Divorce rates have climbed in recent decades. • The company's earnings have climbed 13 percent this year. • The temperature keeps climbing.

6 of plants : to grow up or over something [+ obj] There is ivy climbing the walls of the old building. [no obj] a climbing plant [=a plant that attaches itself to something, such as a wall, as it grows up it]

climb down [phrasal verb] chiefly Brit : to admit that you have made a mistake and change your position or opinion • His statement is seen as an attempt to climb down [=back away] from the strong denial he made yesterday. — see also CLIMBDOWN climbing the walls informal : feeling very anxious or frustrated because you have a lot of energy but are unable to do something you want to do • Being stuck at home all weekend had me climbing the walls.

— climbing noun [noncount] • She enjoys mountain climbing. • We're going to go climbing this weekend. — see also ROCK CLIMBING

2 climb noun, pl climbs [count] : the act of climbing: such as a : the act or process of climbing a mountain, hill, etc. • It's a 20-minute climb to the ridge from here. • He's planning to attempt one of the most difficult climbs in South America this summer. b : the act or process of moving upward • The plane made a steep climb [=ascent] to 30,000 feet. c : the act or process of going to a higher level or position • The book chronicles her climb [=ascent] to political power. • The book made a rapid climb to the top of the best-seller list.

climb-down /'klaɪm,daʊn/ noun [singular] Brit : an act of admitting that you have made a mistake and are changing your position or opinion • His statement is seen as a climb-down from the strong denial he made yesterday. — see also climb down at ¹CLIMB climb-er /'klaɪmə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : someone who climbs mountains, cliffs, etc., as a sport • a mountain climber

2 : an animal that climbs a lot or very well • Chimpanzees are excellent climbers and spend a lot of their lives in trees.

3 : a plant that grows up walls, poles, etc., • climbers like clematis and ivy

— see also SOCIAL CLIMBER

climbing frame noun, pl ~ frames [count] Brit : PLAY STRUCTURE climbing wall noun, pl ~ walls [count] : a wall that is specially designed to be climbed and that is used to develop the skills needed for climbing mountains and cliffs clime /'klaɪm/ noun, pl climes [count] literary : a climate : a place with a particular climate — usually plural • They traveled south in search of warmer climes.

1 clinch /'klɪnʃ/ verb clinch-es; clinched; clinch-ing

1 [+ obj] a : to make (something) certain or final • His home run clinched the victory. • The new evidence clinches the case. • Her work on the project should clinch her a promotion. • The photos of the city have clinched it for me. I have to visit Prague. b : to make certain the winning of (something) • If they win tonight's game they'll clinch the pennant.

2 [no obj] : to hold each other closely during a fight • The boxers clinched.

2 clinch noun, pl clinches [count] : a position in which two people (such as two boxers) are holding each other very closely • The referee told the boxers to break their clinch. • The movie ended with the hero and heroine locked in a passionate clinch. [= (more commonly) embrace] clinch-er /'klɪnʃə/ noun [singular] informal : a fact or statement that makes something certain or final • This delicious soup is bound to impress guests. And here's the clincher: it's very easy to make. [=the fact that the soup is easy to make makes it especially appealing]

cling /'klɪŋ/ verb clings; clung /'klʌŋ/; cling-ing [no obj]

1 : to hold onto something or someone very tightly • The children clung together under the little umbrella waiting for the storm to pass. — usually + to or onto • The little cat clung to the narrow branch. • The boy clung onto his mother's hand as they walked through the crowd. • The little boy clung to his mother when it was time for her to leave.

2 often disapproving : to stay very close to someone for emotional support, protection, etc. • a clinging child — usually + to • parents who cling to their children instead of allowing them to be independent • He clung to his friends for support.

3 : to stick to something or someone — usually + to • The shirt clung to his wet shoulders.

4 : to continue to believe in or depend on something — + to • He is still clinging to the idea that his marriage can be saved.

5 : to try very hard to keep something that you are in danger of losing — usually + to • an aging leader clinging to power

— clingy /'klɪŋi/ adj cling-i-er; -est • a clingy dress • He was a clingy child.

cling film noun [noncount] Brit : PLASTIC WRAP

clin-ic /'klɪnɪk/ noun, pl -ics [count]

1 : a place where people get medical help • The clinic is offering free screening for diabetes. • a family-planning clinic • He checked into a drug rehab clinic.

2 : an event at which a doctor is available to talk to people about a particular health matter • The hospital is holding/having a pain clinic on Tuesday night for anyone interested in learning how to deal with chronic pain.

3 : a meeting during which a group of people learn about a particular thing or work on a particular problem • a reading clinic • A local club is giving a fishing clinic on Saturday.

4 : a place where professional services are offered to people for a lower cost than is usual • A legal clinic in the city provides poor families with advice on legal matters.

put on a clinic US, informal : to perform or play extremely well • The quarterback really put on a clinic in the second half, throwing four touchdown passes.

clin-i-cal /'klɪnɪkəl/ adj

1 always used before a noun : relating to or based on work done with real patients : of or relating to the medical treatment that is given to patients in hospitals, clinics, etc. • Both experimental and clinical evidence show that the treatment is effective. • She enjoys her clinical practice but is looking forward to working in a laboratory. • Three hundred patients were involved in the clinical study. • a drug that is undergoing clinical trials [=scientific tests to see the effect of a drug by using it with real patients] • He's a clinical psychologist [=a psychologist who works with patients] and professor of psychology at the university.

2 : requiring treatment as a medical problem • Clinical depression [=depression that is a medical condition] is more serious than the occasional bouts of sadness that most people deal with.

3 always used before a noun : of or relating to a place where medical treatment is given : of or relating to a clinic • clinical offices • She has been the clinical director [=the director of a clinic] here for five years.

4 [more ~; most ~] : not showing emotion or excitement • Her voice was calm, almost clinical [=cold], as she told us what happened.

5 : very exact or skillful • He did the work with clinical precision.

— clin-i-cal-ly /'klɪnɪkli/ adv • clinically depressed patients

cli-ni-cian /kli'niʃən/ noun, pl -cians [count] : a person (such as a doctor or nurse) who works directly with patients rather than in a laboratory or as a researcher ¹clink /'klɪŋk/ verb clinks; clinked; clink-ing : to make or cause (something) to make a short, sharp sound that is made when glass or metal objects hit each other [no obj] The bottles clinked together. [+ obj] When she'd completed the toast, they clinked glasses.

— clinking noun [noncount] • I could hear the clinking of glasses coming from the dining room.

²clink noun, pl clinks [count] : a short, sharp sound made when glass or metal objects hit each other • the clink of glasses — compare ³CLINK

³clink noun
the clink slang : a jail or prison • I spent a night in the clink. [=in jail]
— compare ²CLINK

clink-er /'klɪŋkə/ noun, pl -kers [count] US, informal

1 : something that fails completely • All his recent movies have been real clinkers. [=flops]

2 : a wrong note in a musical performance • Somebody in the orchestra hit a clinker.

¹clip /'klɪp/ noun, pl clips [count]

1 : a usually small piece of metal or plastic that holds things together or keeps things in place • hair clips • a tie clip [=a piece of metal that holds together the ends of a necktie] • He uses a money clip instead of a wallet. — see also PAPER CLIP

2 : a container that is filled with bullets and that is placed inside a gun so that the bullets can be fired • an ammunition clip

— compare ³CLIP

²clip verb clips; clipped; clip-ping

1 [+ obj] : to hold (two or more things) together with a clip • clip the papers together

2 : to attach (something) to or onto something else with a clip [+ obj] He clipped the keys to her belt. • Clip this microphone onto your shirt. [no obj] The radio clips to/onto a belt.

— compare ⁴CLIP

³clip noun, pl clips

1 [count] : a short section of a movie, TV show, etc. • Here's a clip from his new movie. • video/audio clips

2 [count] US : an article that has been cut out of a newspaper or magazine : CLIPPING • a pile of press clips about her son

3 [singular] : the speed at which something happens • The market is growing at a clip [=rate] of five percent a year. ♦ If something moves or happens at a fast/rapid/steady/good clip, it moves or happens quickly. • The train was moving at a good clip.

4 [singular] US, informal : one time or instance • He makes up to $1,000 a clip. — usually used in the phrase at a clip • She can bicycle 30 miles at a clip.

5 [singular] Brit, informal : a quick and painful hit with the hand • She gave him a clip round the ear. [=she hit him on the ear]

— compare ¹CLIP

⁴clip verb clips; clipped; clipping [+ obj]

1 : to make (something) shorter or neater by cutting off small pieces • She's outside clipping [=trimming] the hedges/bushes. • clipping the tips of their cigars • closely clipped grass • The bird's wings have been clipped so that it can't fly away.

— see also clip someone's wings at ¹WING

2 : to cut (an article, a picture, etc.) out of a newspaper or magazine • She clipped (out) several recipes from the magazine. • clipping coupons

3 : to hit the side of (something) while going past it • The car skidded off the road and clipped a tree.

— compare ²CLIP

clip-board /'klɪp,bɔəd/ noun, pl -boards [count]

1 : a small board that has a clip at the top for holding papers

2 : a feature of a computer program that holds a copy of some data (such as words or a picture) and allows the user to move the data to another document or program • Copy the sentence to the clipboard and paste it in a new document.

clip-clop /'klɪp,klə:p/ noun [noncount] : the sound made by a horse that is walking on a hard surface • the slow clip-clop of the horses as the parade passed by — clip-clop verb -clops; -copped; -clip-ping [no obj] • The horse-drawn carriage clip-copped down the street.

clip joint noun, pl ~ joints [count] slang : a business (such as a bar or nightclub) that makes its customers pay too much money

clip-on /'klɪp,ɔ:n/ adj, always used before a noun : attached to something with a clip • a clip-on necktie • clip-on earrings clipped adj [more ~; most ~] — used to describe speech that is fast, that uses short sounds and few words, and that is often unfriendly or rude • She answered their questions in a clipped voice/tone. • the police officer's clipped speech

clip-per /'klɪpə/ noun, pl -pers [count]

1 : a device used for cutting something • a hedge clipper — usually plural • fingernail clippers • wire clippers • hedge clippers • She cut his hair with electric clippers.

2 : a person who clips something • a coupon clipper

3 : a very fast type of sailing ship that was used especially in the 1800s

clip-ping /'klɪpɪŋ/ noun, pl -pings [count]

1 chiefly US : something (such as an article or a picture) that has been cut out of a newspaper or magazine • a newspaper/magazine clipping • an old news clipping — called also press clipping, (Brit) cutting

2 : a small piece that has been cut off of something • a fingernail clipping — usually plural • grass clippings

clique /'kɪk, 'kli:k/ noun, pl cliques [count] disapproving : a small group of people who spend time together and who are not friendly to other people • high school cliques

— cliqu-ish /'klɪkɪʃ, 'kli:kɪʃ/ also cliqu-ey /'klɪki, 'kli:ki/ adj [more ~; most ~] • The students in the high school are very cliquish and unfriendly. • cliquish attitudes cli-to-ris /'klɪtərəs/ noun, pl -ri-ses [count] : a female sexual organ that is small, sensitive, and located on the outside of the body in front of the opening of the vagina

— cli-to-ral /'klɪtərəl/ adj

CLLr abbr, Brit councillor

¹cloak /'kloʊk/ noun, pl cloaks

1 [count] : a piece of clothing that is used as a coat, that has no sleeves, and that is worn over the shoulders and attached at the neck

2 [singular] : a thing that hides or covers someone or something • The soldiers began their attack under (the) cloak of darkness. • Their plans were shrouded in a cloak of secrecy.

²cloak verb cloaks; cloaked; cloak-ing [+ obj] literary

1 : to cover (someone or something) — usually used as (be) cloaked • a field cloaked in snow

2 : to hide or disguise (something) — usually used as (be) cloaked • His caring personality was cloaked [=hidden, concealed] by shyness. — usually + in • The plans were cloaked [=shrouded] in secrecy. • a company cloaked in mystery

— cloaked adj • A cloaked figure [=a person wearing a cloak] entered the room.

cloak-and-dagger adj : relating to or showing actions or behavior in which people or governments try to protect their important secrets or try to learn the secrets of others ▪ a cloak-and-dagger novel ▪ cloak-and-dagger [=undercover, secret] operations cloak-room /'kloʊk,ru:m/ noun, pl -rooms [count]

1 Brit : a room in a public building that has toilets and sinks ▪ The ladies' cloakroom [= (US) bathroom, restroom] is down the hall.

2 chiefly Brit : CHECKROOM ▪ We left our things in the cloak-room.

¹clobber /'kloʊbər/ verb -bers; -bered; -ber-ing [+ obj] informal

1 : to hit (someone) very hard ▪ Some guy was clobbering [=beating] him in the parking lot. ▪ If you say anything I'll clobber you.

2 : to defeat (a person or team) very easily in a competition ▪ We clobbered them in our last game. ▪ She was/got clobbered in the election. [=she lost by a large number of votes]

3 : to have a very bad effect on (someone or something) ▪ Businesses are being/getting clobbered by the bad economy.

²clobber noun [noncount] Brit, informal : someone's clothes, supplies, or equipment ▪ Just dump your clobber anywhere.

¹clock /'kloʊk/ noun, pl clocks

1 [count] : a device that shows what time it is and that is usually placed in a room or attached to a wall ▪ She looked/glanced at the clock on the wall. It was now 2:30. ▪ the hands/face of the clock ▪ a digital clock — often used before another noun ▪ a clock tower [=a tower with a clock on at least one of its sides] ▪ a clock face — compare WATCH; see also ALARM CLOCK, ATOMIC CLOCK, BIOLOGICAL CLOCK, BODY CLOCK, CUCKOO CLOCK, GRANDFATHER CLOCK

2 the clock : a clock that is used in sports and that shows how much time remains for a particular part of a game ▪ They were winning by 2 points with 10 seconds (left) on the clock. ▪ They stopped the (game) clock with eight seconds remaining. ♦ In U.S. English, to eat up the clock or run out the clock or kill the clock is to keep control of the ball or puck near the end of a game so that your opponent will not have a chance to score. ▪ We kept moving the ball to try to eat up the clock. ▪ If we can run out the clock, we can keep our lead and win. — see also SHOT CLOCK

3 the clock : TIME CLOCK ▪ I punched the clock at 8:45 and started working right away.

4 the clock chiefly Brit, informal : a device that shows how far a vehicle has traveled. : ODOMETER ▪ a car with 100,000 miles on the clock against the clock 1 : in order to do or finish something before a particular time ▪ On our last project, we were working/racing against the clock. ▪ It was a race against the clock to finish the job on time. 2 ♦ If a race is against the clock, the time of each racer is measured and the racer with the fastest time wins. ▪ One by one the skiers sped downhill, racing against the clock.

around the clock also round the clock : throughout the entire day and night : every hour of the day ▪ Our stores are now open around the clock. [=our stores are open 24 hours a day] ▪ Reporters worked around the clock to cover the story.

beat the clock : to do or finish something quickly before a particular time ▪ In a desperate attempt to beat the clock, I raced to mail my tax return before midnight.

put/turn back the clock also put/turn the clock back : to return to a condition that existed in the past ▪ This new decision has effectively turned back the clock on 20 years of progress. ▪ I wish that we could turn back the clock and start all over again.

²clock verb clocks; clocked; clock-ing

1 [+ obj] a : to measure the amount of time it takes for (a person) to do something or for (something) to be completed — usually + at ▪ She clocked [=timed] her first mile at 5 minutes and 20 seconds. ▪ He clocked me at 30 seconds. b : to finish a race in (an amount of time) ▪ He clocked 3 hours and 15 minutes in his last marathon.

2 a [+ obj] : to measure or show (the speed of something) with a measuring device ▪ His fastest pitch was clocked at 91 miles per hour. ▪ The cop said she clocked me going 95 miles per hour. b [no obj] : to have a particular speed or to continue for a particular amount of time — + in ▪ The movie clocked in at just under three hours. [=the movie was almost three hours long]

3 [+ obj] informal : to hit (someone or something) very hard ▪ I was so angry I wanted to clock him.

4 [+ obj] Brit, informal : to look at or notice (someone or something) ▪ Just clock [=get a load of] that new motor of his. clock in/on [phrasal verb] chiefly Brit : to record on a special card the time that you start working ▪ What time did you clock on? ▪ I clocked in [= (US) punched in] 10 minutes late.

clock off/out [phrasal verb] chiefly Brit : to record on a special card the time that you stop working ▪ What time did you clock off yesterday? ▪ I clocked off [= (US) punched out] 10 minutes late.

clock up [phrasal verb] clock up (something) chiefly Brit : to gain or reach (a particular number or amount) ▪ Our company clocked up a record number of sales this year.

clock radio noun, pl ~ -dios [count] : a radio that includes a clock and that can be set so that the radio turns on at a particular time clockwise /'kloʊk,wəɪz/ adv : in the direction that the hands of a clock move when you look at it from the front ▪ Turn the screw clockwise to tighten it. — opposite COUNTERCLOCKWISE

— clockwise adj ▪ in a clockwise direction

clockwork /'kloʊk,wəɪk/ noun [noncount]

1 : the system of moving wheels inside something (such as a clock or an old-fashioned toy) that makes its parts move ▪ the clockwork inside a mechanical toy soldier

2 — used to describe something that happens or works in a very regular and exact way ▪ Every morning, like clockwork, customers line up outside the front door of the bakery. ▪ Their wedding went (off) like clockwork. [=their wedding went very smoothly; everything in the wedding happened the way they planned] ▪ The birds return each year, (as) regular as clockwork. — often used before another noun ▪ The work was done with clockwork precision. ▪ They return with clockwork regularity. ▪ a clockwork operation clod /'kloʊd/ noun, pl clods [count]

1 : a lump of dirt or clay

2 informal : a person who is stupid and dull ▪ Her husband's such a clod.

— clod-dish /'kloʊdɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] ▪ his typically cloddish behavior clod-hopper /'kloʊd,hɒ:pər/ noun, pl -ers [count] informal

1 : a person from the country who is clumsy or who has bad manners

2 : a large heavy shoe or boot — usually plural ▪ a pair of old clodhoppers

¹clog /'kloʊg/ verb clogs; clogged; clog-ging : to slowly form a block in (something, such as a pipe or street) so that things cannot move through quickly or easily [+ obj] The sink was clogged by/with dirt and grease. ▪ Traffic starts clog-ging (up) the streets at around five o'clock. ▪ Something's clogged (up) the pipes. [no obj] The drain clogs easily because the opening is so small. ▪ His arteries clogged (up) again five years after his surgery. — often used figuratively ▪ There are too many legal cases clogging up the court system.

— clogged adj ▪ a clogged pipe ▪ clogged pores ▪ clogged arteries ▪ clogged blood vessels

²clog noun, pl clogs [count]

1 : a shoe or sandal that has a thick usually wooden sole ▪ a pair of clogs — see picture at SHOE

2 : something that blocks or clogs a pipe ▪ There's a clog in the kitchen sink. ▪ a liquid chemical that gets rid of clogs

clois-ter /'kloɪstər/ noun, pl -ters [count]

1 : a place where monks or nuns live : a monastery or convent

2 : a covered path or hall with arches that is on the side of a building (such as a monastery or church) and that has one open side usually facing a courtyard

clois-tered /'kloɪstəd/ adj

[more ~; most ~] : separated from the rest of the world ▪ She leads a private, cloistered life in the country. : protected from the problems and concerns of everyday life ▪ He spent most of his adult life clois-tered in universities.

clomp /'kloʊmp/ verb clomps; clomped; clomp-ing [no obj] chiefly US : to walk with loud, heavy steps ▪ He was clomping [=clumping] around in his big rubber boots.

cloister

¹clone /'kloun/ noun, pl clones [count]

1 biology : a plant or animal that is grown from one cell of its parent and that has exactly the same genes as its parent • the clone of an adult female sheep

2 : a product (such as a computer) that is a copy of another product produced by a well-known company • a company that manufactures computer clones = a clone-maker

3 : a person or thing that appears to be an exact copy of another person or thing • I am not a clone [=duplicate] of my father. He and I are very different people.

²clone verb clones; cloned; cloning : to make an exact copy of (a person, animal, or plant) : to make a clone of (something or someone) [+ obj] Do you think scientists should clone humans? [no obj] a plant produced by *cloning¹close /'klouz/ verb close-s; closed; closing ♦ The opposite of close is open in every sense except senses 3b and 9.

1 : to move (a door, window, etc.) so that things cannot pass through an opening : SHUT [+ obj] Please close the door. • We had better close the windows; it looks like it's going to rain. • I forgot to close the gate. • She was having trouble closing the drawer. • Close the lid on the box tightly. [no obj] The door opened and closed so quietly that I didn't notice he had come in the room. • The box's lid closed with a bang.

2 [+ obj] : to cover the opening of (something) : SHUT • Remember to close the box of cereal when you're done.

3 a : to bring together the parts or edges of (something open) [+ obj] Please close your books and put them under your desks. • Close your mouth. • Close your eyes and go to sleep. • I closed my fists and got ready to fight. • close an umbrella [no obj] This suitcase just won't close! • Her eyes closed, and she drifted off to sleep. • My throat closed and I felt like I couldn't breathe. b : to bring together the edges of (a wound) so that it can heal [+ obj] It took 10 stitches to close the wound on his head. [no obj] The cut eventually closed [=closed up, healed over] on its own.

4 : to not allow (a road, park, etc.) to be used for a period of time [+ obj] The city closed [=closed off] the beach during the storm. • They closed the bridge to traffic. [=they did not allow cars to use the bridge] [no obj] The park closes every evening at dusk.

5 a : to stop the services or activities of (a business, school, etc.) for a period of time [+ obj] They closed the school today because of the storm. • We'll be closing the theater while we make the necessary repairs. [no obj] The store closes for lunch from 1 to 2 p.m. • The airport closed for two hours yesterday due to icy conditions. • The bank closes at noon on Saturdays. • What time does the library close? b : to stop the services or activities of (a business, school, etc.) permanently [+ obj] They closed [=closed down, shut down] the school/factory/office last year. [no obj] The restaurant has closed for lack of business. • The play closed [=it stopped being performed] after 112 performances.

6 : to end (something) [+ obj] The minister closed [=concluded] the services with a short prayer. • She closed the meeting by thanking everyone for their help. • Investigators closed the case after concluding that his death was an accident. [no obj] The services closed [=concluded] with a short prayer. • I'd like to close by thanking you all for your help.

7 [+ obj] : to stop keeping money in (an account at a bank) • I closed [=closed out] my savings account and opened up a new one at another bank.

8 [+ obj] : to end the use of (a file, document, or program) on a computer • Remember to save the file before closing it.

9 [+ obj] : to formally accept (an agreement) • They just closed a deal to take ownership of a new restaurant. • the custom of closing a deal by shaking hands — see also CLOSE ON (below)

10 [no obj] : to reach a specified price or level at the end of the day • The stock opened at $19 a share and closed at $22. • Stocks opened weak but closed strong.

11 : to reduce the amount of distance or difference between two things, people, or groups [+ obj] The challenger has closed [=narrowed] the champion's lead to within two points. • closing the distance to the lead runner • These changes will help close the gap between the richest and the poorest countries. [no obj] She has closed to within two points of the champion.

close down [phrasal verb] 1 a : to permanently stop operating : CLOSE • The factory closed down in the 1980s. b Brit : to stop broadcasting from a radio or television station for the day • We're closing down for the night; tune in again tomorrow morning! 2 close down (something) or close (something) down : to permanently stop the services or activities of (a business, school, etc.) • They closed down [=closed, shut down] the school due to financial problems. — see also CLOSEDOWN close in [phrasal verb] : to come or move nearer or closer • The storm is closing in [=approaching] fast. • Enemy troops are closing in all around us! • The lions closed in for the kill. • I felt that the world was closing in around me. • The air became colder as night/darkness closed in. [=as darkness fell, as the night became dark] — often + on • The fire was closing in on their neighborhood. • The camera slowly closed in on the actor's face. • Police were closing in on the two men. • Researchers are closing in on [=they are close to finding] a cure for the disease. • She's closing in on 40. [=she is almost 40 years old]

close off [phrasal verb] close off (something) or close (something) off : to not allow (something) to be used for a period of time : CLOSE • The city closed off the beach to tourists. • closing off a road with barriers • Half of the museum was closed off while they made the changes. — sometimes used figuratively • He closes himself off to new experiences. [=he does not allow himself to have new experiences]

close on [phrasal verb] close on (something) US : to formally and legally agree to and complete (an important financial arrangement, such as the purchase of a house) • We're going to close on our house next Friday. • They closed on the deal. — see also ¹CLOSE 9 (above) close out [phrasal verb] close out (something) 1 US : to quickly sell (all of a particular type of product in a store) at a lower price • We're closing out our entire stock of children's clothing! Come and pick up some bargains! — see also CLOSEOUT 2 : to stop keeping money in (a bank account) • She withdrew all her money and closed out [=closed] her account. 3 : to end (something) in a specified way • The team closed out the series with a 2–1 win over New York. • She closed out her remarkable career with a final grand performance.

close ranks see ¹RANK

close the door on see DOOR

close up [phrasal verb] 1 a : to close and lock all the doors of a building usually for a short period of time • Businesses closed up [=closed] early so employees could attend the parade. • We've closed up for the day. Please come back tomorrow. b close (something) up or close up (something) : to close and lock all the doors of (a house, store, etc.) • They closed up the house and left town. ♦ To close up shop is to go out of business forever or stop performing all services or activities for a period of time. • Rather than closing up shop entirely, the company laid off half of its workers. • The restaurant has already closed up shop for the winter. 2 : to move closer together • The troops closed up and prepared to begin the attack. 3 of a wound : to become completely healed • The cut eventually closed up [=closed] on its own. 4 : to become quiet : to stop talking about your thoughts or emotions with other people • She closes up when people ask her about her parents. 5 close (something) up or close up (something) : to bring (people or things) closer together • Close up the spaces between the lines.

close your doors see DOOR

close your eyes to see ¹EYE

²close /'klouz/ adj close-r; -est

1 : near in space : not far away or distant • We're not there yet, but we're getting close. • We stood close together to stay warm. — often + to • New York is much closer to Chicago than it is to Los Angeles. • Don't get too close to the fire. • Stay close to me, children! • Let's try to sit close to the front. • The trees were planted in close proximity to [=near] the building. • The gun is made for shooting at close range. [=from a short distance] • We were able to observe their behavior at close quarters. [=from a short distance] • Over 200 people lived in close quarters [=very close together] on the ship. — see also close encounter at ²ENCOUNTER

2 : near in time • Christmas is getting closer and will soon be here. • She had her two children very close together. [=her second child was born soon after her first] — often + to • You shouldn't snack so close to dinnertime. • It's getting close to midnight. • My birthday is close to Thanksgiving.

3 not used before a noun : very similar : almost the same • Their daughters are close in age. • close in size and shape — often + to • a sound close to the sound of breaking glass • He bears a close resemblance to his father. [=he looks very much like his father]

4 not used before a noun : almost correct • "I'd guess that you're 29 years old." "You're close. I'm 30." • It's not exactly right, but it's close. • You're way off! Not even close! [=you are completely wrong] ✧ The informal phrase close but no cigar is used to say that a guess was almost correct or that an effort was almost good enough. • "Was I right?" "Close, but no cigar." • We were close but no cigar.

5 a — used to say that someone or something has almost reached a particular condition; + to • He was close to death when they brought him to the hospital. • These rare birds are close to extinction. • His reply left her close to tears. [=his reply almost made her cry] b : almost doing something — + to • She was close to crying. • The bridge came dangerously close to collapsing. [=the bridge almost collapsed]

6 — used to say that something bad almost happened • That was close! We almost missed our plane. • That was a close one. [=close call, close shave] — see also too close for comfort at ¹COMFORT

7 — used to describe the people you are most directly related to (such as your parents, children, sisters, brothers, etc.) • She had no close relatives nearby. • We're only inviting close family members to our wedding. — compare DISTANT

8 — used to describe people who know each other very well and care about each other very much • They were close friends in high school, but they've since grown apart. • My sister and I have always been very close. • We have a very close relationship. — often + to • We've always felt very close to each other. • He's very close to his grandparents.

9 : connected in a direct way • Sources close to the president say that he is willing to make a deal. • She stays in close touch/contact with her friends back home. • Authorities claim he has close ties to terrorist organizations. — sometimes used figuratively • This idea lies close to the heart of Democracy. [=it has an important connection to Democracy] • Animal rights is a cause that is close to my heart. [=I care very much about animal rights]

10 : very careful, complete, or precise • It's important to pay close attention to the details. • Take a closer look at the evidence. • On closer examination, it appeared that something was missing. • We worked under the close supervision of a trained professional. • a close study of the Greek classics • a close reading of a text • Keep (a) close watch on the baby. = Keep a close eye on the baby. [=watch the baby closely]

11 — used to describe a race, contest, game, etc., in which one person, group, or team defeats the other or is leading the other by only a small amount • That was a close game. We only beat them by one point. • It was the closest election in recent history. • a close race • At this point, the election is too close to call. [=it is not clear who will win] ✧ When you are a close second, there is a small difference between you and the winner. • Vanilla is the most popular flavor while chocolate is/finishes/runs a close second. • She won the race while her teammate came in a close second. [=her teammate finished soon after her]

12 : very short or near to the skin • a close haircut/shave

13 : fitting tightly : having no extra space • I think there's enough room in the car for all of us, but it'll be a close [=tight] fit. — see also CLOSE-FITTING

14 : warm in an uncomfortable way : not having enough fresh air • It's very close in here: let's open a window.

close to home ✧ If something is close to home, it affects you in a strong and personal way. • I'm a teacher, so their criticisms of our educational system hit close to home. • People are usually not concerned about crime until it comes close to home. [=until it affects them directly] close to the bone ✧ If something is close to the bone, it is very honest and deals with sensitive issues that can shock people or hurt their feelings. • His joke about racism in America cut pretty close to the bone.

close to the edge see ¹EDGE

close to the mark see ¹MARK

close to your chest or US close to the vest ✧ If you hold, keep, or play something close to your chest or close to the vest, you do not tell other people about it. • It's better to hold such information close to the vest. • She tends to keep her opinions close to her chest.

— close-ly adv [more ~; most ~] • Don't drive too closely behind the car in front of you. • The houses on our street are crowded very closely together. • She closely resembles her mother. • The suspects were watched closely by the police. • We've been studying their behavior very closely. • closely related family members — close-ness noun [noncount] • the closeness of the election results • the closeness felt by a parent and child

³close /'kloʊs/ adv close-er; -est : at or to a short distance or time away • Don't drive so close to the car in front of you. • He told me to stay/keep close as we walked through the crowd. • Come close, everyone. • Look close [=closely] and tell me what you see. • She drew me close (to her) and held me. • The time for a decision is drawing closer. • My teammate came in third, and I finished close behind. • They sat close together at the dinner table.

close at hand : near in time or place • I always keep a few tissues close at hand [=near me] just in case. • The time for us to leave was close at hand.

close by : at a short distance away • Don't worry: if anything happens I'll be (standing) close by (you). • They're building a school close by.

close on Brit : almost or nearly • We walked for close on [=close to] five miles.

close to 1 : almost or nearly • They spent close to half a million dollars on the project. • Our company employs close to a thousand workers. • I haven't seen her in close to a year. • I sat there for close to an hour. 2 Brit : from a short distance • She's even more beautiful when seen close to. [=close up] close up or up close : from a short distance : at close range • You have to look at the painting close up to really appreciate its detail. • It looks very different up close. — see also CLOSE-UP come close 1 : to almost do something • We didn't win, but we came close. — often + to • The band came very close to breaking up. • We came close to winning the championship this season. 2 : to be similar to something or as good as expected • She said they taste just like real hot dogs, but they don't even come close (to the real thing).

cut it close see ¹CUT

⁴close /'kloʊz/ noun [singular] formal : the end of an activity or a period of time • Students vote for their favorite teacher at the close of each year. • At the close of trading, the stock market was two percent lower than yesterday. • As the year drew to a close, the debate over the new project grew more intense. • The war finally appears to be coming to a close. • She brought the show to a close with a performance of her most famous song. — see also COMPLIMENTARY CLOSE — compare ⁵CLOSE

⁵close /'kloʊs/ noun, pl close-es [count] Brit

1 : the area and buildings that are around a cathedral • a cathedral close

2 : a road that is closed at one end — used in street names • Turn into Bloomhill Close.

— compare ⁴CLOSE

close call /'kloʊs-/ noun, pl ~ calls [count] : an escape that was almost not successful • We nearly didn't get out of the burning building. It was a pretty close call, let me tell you! — called also close shave close-cropped /'kloʊs,kra:pt/ adj : cut very short • his close-cropped hair • the close-cropped grass of the golf course

closed /'kloʊzd/ adj

1 : covering an opening • All the windows in the house are closed. [=shut] : having an opening that is covered • Keep your eyes closed. • He looked at me through half-closed eyes. • a closed container • a closed umbrella

2 : not operating or open to the public • The store is closed for lunch between 1 and 2 p.m. • The beach is closed this time of night. • These restrooms are closed for cleaning. • a closed road/bridge

3 a : having ended : not being worked on anymore • The case is closed. b : no longer able to be discussed • The question is closed. • The chairman declared the discussion closed and allowed no further speeches.

4 : including only people from a particular group • There was a closed circle of advisers protecting the President. • clubs with closed memberships

5 : happening in private : not allowing the public to participate or know what is being said or done • The meeting was closed to the public. • The Prime Minister said that today's closed meeting with the President was particularly constructive. • a closed session of Congress

6 : not willing to listen to or accept different ideas or opinions • closed societies • I had a closed mind at first, but now I understand the need for change.

behind closed doors : in a private room or place : in private • All of their meetings are held behind closed doors. • They seemed like the perfect couple, but you never know what goes on behind closed doors. • The decisions are made behind closed doors.

with your eyes closed see ¹EYE closed-cap-tioned /'kloʊzd'kæpfənd/ adj., of a television show or movie : having written words that appear on the screen to describe what is being said for people who do not hear well and that can only be seen if you are using a special device

— closed-cap-tion-ing /'kloʊzd'kæpfənɪŋ/ noun [non-count]

closed-cir-cuit /'kloʊzd'səkət/ adj., always used before a noun — used to describe a television system that sends its signal through wires to a limited number of televisions • The store uses closed-circuit television to monitor the activities of shoppers.

closed-door /'kloʊzd'doə/ adj., always used before a noun : held secretly or privately • The council held a closed-door session in Washington. • closed-door meetings closed-mind-ed /'kloʊzd'maɪndəd/ adj. [more ~; most ~] chiefly US, disapproving : not willing to consider different ideas or opinions : having or showing a closed mind • He's becoming increasingly closed-minded in his old age. • a closed-minded refusal to listen — opposite OPEN-MINDED

— closed-mind-ed-ly adv. — closed-mind-ed-ness noun [noncount] closed-mouthed /'kloʊzd'maʊθt/ adj. [more ~; most ~] US : CLOSE-MOUTHED • He remains closed-mouthed about his plans.

close-down /'kloʊzdaʊn/ noun, pl -downs

1 [count] chiefly Brit : an occurrence or situation in which work is stopped for a long time or permanently in a business, factory, etc. : SHUTDOWN • plant closedowns • a government closedown

2 [singular] Brit : the end of television or radio broadcasts for the day — see also close down at ¹CLOSE close-fit-ting /'kloʊs'fɪtɪŋ/ adj. [more ~; most ~] of clothes : fitting tightly to the body : not baggy or loose • a close-fitting pair of pants close-knit /'kloʊs'nɪt/ adj. [more ~; most ~] — used to describe a group of people who care about each other and who are very friendly with each other • a close-knit family • close-knit communities/towns close-mind-ed /'kloʊz'maɪndəd/ adj. [more ~; most ~] US : CLOSED-MINDED • close-minded people • a very close-minded attitude close-mouthed /'kloʊs'maʊθt/ adj. [more ~; most ~] US : not saying very much especially about a secret or about a particular subject • close-mouthed officials • They've been close-mouthed [=secretive] about the settlement.

close-out /'kloʊz,aʊt/ noun, pl -outs [count] US

1 a : a sale in which a store tries to sell all of its products because the store is going out of business • a store closeout b : a sale to sell all of the old models of a product so that a store can sell the new models

2 : a product that is being sold at a closeout • a store that sells closeouts — see also close out at ¹CLOSE

clos-er /'kloʊzə/ noun, pl -ers [count] baseball : a pitcher who specializes in finishing games close-set /'kloʊs'set/ adj. [more ~; most ~] of eyes : close together • her close-set eyes close shave noun, pl ~ shaves [count] : CLOSE CALL • I've had a few close shaves in my lifetime, but this one was the scariest.

¹clo-set /'kla:zət/ noun, pl -ets

1 [count] chiefly US : a usually small room that is used for storing things (such as clothing, towels, or dishes) • The sheets and blankets are in the hall closet. • He has a closet full of new clothes. • broom/coat closets • a walk-in closet [=a large closet usually for clothes] — see also WATER CLOSET

2 [noncount] : a state in which someone will not talk about something or admit something; especially : a state in which someone will not admit being a homosexual — usually used in the phrases in the closet or out of the closet • He's still in the closet. [=he has not told people that he is gay] • She came out of the closet in college.

skeleton in the/your closet see ¹SKELETON

²closet adj., always used before a noun : hiding the fact that you are a particular type of person • She's a closet racist. [=she does not want people to know that she is a racist] • Some people think he's a closet homosexual.

³closet verb -ets; -et-ed; -et-ing [+ obj]

1 : to put (yourself) in a room in order to be alone • He closeted himself in his apartment for several days.

2 : to bring (someone) into a room in order to talk privately — usually used as (be) closeted • The manager was closeted with one of her employees for several hours.

close-up /'kloʊs,ʌp/ noun, pl -ups : a photograph or movie picture taken very close to an object or person [count] "Move in for a close-up," said the film's director. • a close-up of her face [noncount] The scene was shot in close-up.

— close-up /'kloʊs'ʌp/ adj., always used before a noun • Get a close-up shot of them kissing.

¹clos-ing /'kloʊzɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count]

1 : a situation or occurrence in which a business or organization shuts down and stops its operations • factory/plant/store closings • the closing of the local school/hospital

2 : the last part of a letter or speech • a very brief/abrupt closing

3 : a meeting in which the owners of a house formally give ownership of the house to other people • We met with our lawyer before the closing on our new house. • closing costs [=the extra amounts of money that people need to pay when they buy a house] in closing formal : at the end of a speech, letter, etc. • "Thank you all for your help, and for making the fair such a big success," she said in closing. — used to introduce the final remarks in a speech, letter, etc. • In closing [=in conclusion], I would like to make one final point.

²closing adj., always used before a noun : forming the last part or end of something • the book's closing chapters/pages/lines • the closing days/years of his life • In her closing arguments, the lawyer repeated that her client was not guilty. • his closing remarks in the debate • the closing ceremonies of the Olympics • His name's listed in the movie's closing credits.

closing date noun, pl ~ dates [count] Brit : the last day that something (such as applying for a job or entering a contest) can be done : DEADLINE • The closing date for entries is October 1st.

closing price noun, pl ~ prices [count] : the price of a stock or bond at the end of a day • the previous day's closing price

closing time noun [noncount] : the time when businesses (such as banks and bars) close for the day

clo-sure /'kloʊzə/ noun, pl -sures

1 [count] : a situation or occurrence in which something (such as a business or factory) closes forever • business closures [=closings] • a school closure = the closure of a school • The government forced the closure of the factory.

2 [noncount] a : a feeling that something has been completed or that a problem has been solved • I need to talk to him and get some closure on this issue. b : a feeling that a bad experience (such as a divorce or the death of a family member) has ended and that you can start to live again in a calm and normal way • Going to the memorial service for his late wife made it possible for him to achieve closure. • We all felt a sense of closure after our sister's murderer was sent to jail. • trying to bring closure to the victim's family

3 [count] : the way that something (such as a jacket) is closed together — usually singular • The coat has a zipper closure. [=the coat is closed with a zipper]

¹clot /'kla:t/ noun, pl clots [count]

1 : BLOOD CLOT • We were told that his stroke was caused by a clot in his brain.

2 Brit, informal : a stupid person • That stupid little clot!

²clot verb clots; clot-ted; clot-ting : to become thick and partly solid : to develop clots [no obj] medications that prevent blood from clotting [+ obj] substances that help to clot blood

— clotted adj. • clotted blood • clotted arteries [=arteries that are blocked by blood clots] — sometimes used figuratively • The streets are clotted [=clogged] with traffic. — see also CLOTTED CREAM — clotting noun [noncount] • I take a drug to prevent (blood) clotting.

cloth /'kla:θ/ noun, pl cloths /'kla:ðz, 'kla:θs/

1 : material that is made by weaving together threads of cotton, wool, nylon, etc., and that is used to make clothes, sheets, etc. [noncount] a piece of cloth [=fabric] [count] The dress is made out of a beautiful silk cloth. — often used before another noun • cloth napkins/diapers • a cloth bag

2 [count] : a piece of cloth that is used for a particular purpose (such as cleaning things) • Wipe the surface with a clean dry cloth. • a damp/wet cloth — see also DISHCLOTH, FACE-

CLOTH, LOINCLOTH, TABLECLOTH, WASHCLOTH

3 the cloth : Christian priests and ministers : CLERGY • He has great respect for the cloth. • a man of the cloth [=a priest or minister] cut from the same cloth ✧ If people or things are cut from the same cloth, they are very similar to each other. • Our mothers were cut from the same cloth. • The country's new president is cut from the same cloth as his predecessor.

out of whole cloth US, informal ✧ If something is created out of whole cloth, it is invented in order to trick someone into believing something. • He would make up stories out of whole cloth just to stir up trouble.

clothe /'kloʊð/ verb clothes; clothed also clad /'kʰlæd/; cloth-ing [+ obj]

1 : to provide (someone) with clothes • the cost of feeding and clothing your children

2 formal : to dress (someone) in a particular type of clothing • people who clothe themselves in designer fashions [=people who wear expensive clothes]

clothed adj

1 : wearing clothes • He fell into the swimming pool fully clothed. • scantily clothed [(more commonly) clad] young women — often + in • The men were clothed entirely in black. • She answered the door clothed only in her bathrobe.

2 : covered in something • The land is clothed in dense green forests. • a bird clothed in bright yellow feathers clothes /'kloʊz/ noun [plural] : the things that people wear to cover their bodies and that are usually made from cloth • heavy winter clothes [=clothing] • I need some new clothes for the summer. • My sister and I borrow each other's clothes all the time. • Always wear your best clothes for interviews. • dress clothes [=fancy or formal things to wear] • work clothes [=items that are appropriate to wear at work] • He changed his clothes. • I bought a new clothes dryer/washer. • a clothes hamper — see also plain clothes at ¹PLAIN synonyms see CLOTHING clothes hanger noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : COAT HANGER clothes-horse /'kloʊz,hoʊs/ noun, pl -hors-es [count] informal + sometimes disapproving : a person who likes to wear stylish clothing • My teenage daughter's a real clotheshorse.

clothes-line /'kloʊz,lain/ noun, pl -lines [count] : a piece of rope or a wire that people hang wet clothes on to dry clothes-pin /'kloʊz,pin/ noun, pl -pins [count] US : a small object used for holding clothes on a clothesline — called also (Brit) clothes peg cloth-ier /'kloʊdʒə/ noun, pl -iers [count] somewhat old-fashioned : a person or business that makes or sells clothing • the city's finest clothiers

cloth-ing /'kloʊdɪŋ/ noun [noncount]

: the things that people wear to cover their bodies • an expensive article/item/piece of clothing • winter clothing • women's/men's/children's clothing [=clothes] • We're collecting food and clothing for the poor. • Only people wearing protective clothing may enter the room. — often used before another noun • clothing stores • a clothing company/manufacture • the clothing industry — see pictures of clothing starting on page C13

a wolf in sheep's clothing see ¹WOLF

clothespin

synonyms CLOTHING and CLOTHES both refer to the things that people wear to cover their bodies. Clothing tends to be used when discussing a particular type of clothes or talking about clothes in general. • a shop that sells vintage clothing • Food, clothing, and shelter are things that every person needs. Clothes is usually used when you are talking about the things that someone is wearing. • I need to put on some clean clothes. • He's wearing fancy clothes today. Clothing is somewhat more formal than clothes and is not used in speech as often as clothes. There is no singular form of clothes, but you can talk about an article/piece/item of clothing if you want to refer to one thing that you wear.

clotted cream noun [noncount] : a very thick kind of cream that is made and eaten especially in England

1 cloud /'klaʊd/ noun, pl clouds [count]

1 : a white or gray mass in the sky that is made of many very small drops of water • The sun is shining and there's not a cloud in the sky. • a rain cloud • flying high above the clouds • It stopped raining and the sun poked through the clouds. •

Thick cloud cover [=a large number of clouds in the sky] hid the moon. — see also MUSHROOM CLOUD, STORM CLOUD

2 a : a large amount of smoke, dust, etc., that hangs in the air • a cloud of cigarette smoke • clouds of steam/gas • dust clouds • b : a large number of things (such as insects) that move together through the air in a group • a cloud [=swarm] of bees

3 : a feeling or belief that a person or organization has done something wrong • The company remains under a cloud of suspicion. [=people believe the company did something wrong] • The team has been under a cloud since its members were caught cheating. • There's a cloud of controversy/uncertainty/doubt hanging over the election.

cast a (dark) cloud : to cause people to stop trusting something • The scandal cast a cloud over his presidency. [=people thought the President did something wrong] • Several problems have cast a cloud on the program's future.

cloud on the horizon : a problem that could appear in the future • The only cloud on the horizon for the team is the age of its key players.

every cloud has a silver lining see SILVER LINING

in the clouds ✧ If you are in the clouds or you have your head in the clouds, you spend too much time thinking about love or about ideas that are not practical. • Since he met Sara, he's been walking around with his head in the clouds.

on cloud nine informal : very happy • He's been on cloud nine ever since she agreed to marry him.

2 cloud verb clouds; cloud-ed; cloud-ing

1 [+ obj] : to confuse (a person's mind or judgment) • The alcohol must have clouded my judgment. [=made me unable to think clearly] • greed clouding the minds of men

2 [+ obj] : to make (something, such as an issue or situation) difficult to understand • These new ideas only cloud the issue further.

3 [+ obj] : to affect (something) in a bad way • a scandal that continues to cloud [=tarnish, taint] his reputation • The final years of her life were clouded by illness.

4 [no obj] of the sky : to become covered with clouds — usually + over • The sky had clouded over, and it was beginning to rain.

5 [+ obj] : to cover or fill (a room, the sky, etc.) with large amounts of smoke, dust, etc. • The room was clouded with cigarette smoke. • smog clouding the sky

6 [+ obj] : to cover (glass, a window, etc.) with many very small drops of water • Steam clouded [=fogged up] the bathroom mirror. • clouding the camera lens

7 [no obj] of a person's face or eyes : to show that someone is worried or unhappy • Her face clouded with concern. • Her eyes clouded over with tears.

cloud-burst /'klaʊd,bɜːst/ noun, pl -bursts [count] : a brief time when it rains very hard : a sudden downpour • A cloud-burst caused the river to flood.

cloud-cuckoo-land noun [noncount] chiefly Brit, informal : LA-LA LAND 1 • If he really thinks he can win the election, he's living in cloud-cuckoo-land. [=he's crazy or foolish] cloud-less /'klaʊdləs/ adj : without clouds • a cloudless [=clear] blue sky cloudy /'klaʊdi/ adj cloud-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : having many clouds in the sky • Tomorrow will be cloudy and cold. • a cloudy day • cloudy weather : covered with clouds • partly cloudy skies

2 : not clean or clear • a puddle of cloudy [=dirty, murky] water • cloudy eyes

— cloud-i-ness noun [noncount] • We'll have clear skies in the morning with increasing cloudiness in the afternoon.

1 clout /'klaʊt/ noun, pl clouts

1 [noncount] : the power to influence or control situations • She used her political clout to have another school built. • the country's economic/financial clout

2 [count] chiefly Brit, informal : a hit especially with the hand — usually singular • When she was naughty, she would get a clout from her mother.

2 clout verb clouts; clout-ed; clout-ing [+ obj]

1 baseball : to hit (the ball) very hard • He clouted 19 home runs last year.

2 chiefly Brit : to hit (someone or something) hard especially with your hand • He'll clout me around the head if he finds out what I've done.

1 clove /'kloʊv/ noun, pl cloves [count] : any one of the small sections that are part of a large head of garlic • a garlic clove

= a clove of garlic — see color picture on page C4 — compare ²CLOVE

²clove noun, pl cloves [count] : a small, dried flower bud that is used in cooking as a spice • two teaspoons of ground cloves • Add four whole cloves. — compare ¹CLOVE

³clove past tense of CLEAVE

cloven past participle of ¹CLEAVE

cloven hoof noun, pl ~ hooves also ~ hoofs [count] : a foot of some animals (such as sheep, goats, or cows) that is divided into two parts

clo-ver /'kloʊvə/ noun, pl -vers : a small plant that has usually three leaves on each stem and that usually has round flowers that are white, red, or purple [noncount] a field of clover [count] It's good luck to find a four-leaf clover. [=a clover with four leaves instead of three]

¹clown /'klaʊn/ noun, pl clowns [count]

1 : someone who performs in a circus, who wears funny clothes and makeup, and who tries to make people laugh • a circus clown • Those big shoes make you look like a clown! • a rodeo clown [=a person in a rodeo who dresses like a circus clown] — sometimes used before another noun • She came dressed in a clown suit/costume. • a big red clown nose

2 : someone who often does funny things to make people laugh • His classmates remember him as the class clown. [=a student who tried to make other students laugh] • He was always playing the clown. [=trying to make people laugh]

3 informal : a rude or stupid person • Who's the clown standing in the middle of the road? • those clowns at the state capital

²clown verb clowns; clowned; clown-ing [no obj] : to act like a clown : to say funny things or act in a silly way — often + around • Stop clowning around. We've got work to do.

clown-ish /'klaʊnɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : like a clown • his clownish red nose : acting in a silly or funny way • clownish behavior • her clownish coworkers clay-ing /'kloɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : too sweet, pleasant, or emotional • a claying romantic comedy • After a while, the softness of his voice becomes claying.

— clay-ing-ly adv • a clayingly sweet wine • clayingly cute pink dresses

¹club /'klʌb/ noun, pl clubs

1 [count] a : a group of people who meet to participate in an activity (such as a sport or hobby) • an exclusive social/men's club • Do you belong to any clubs? • My friends and I formed/started a chess club. [=a group of people who play chess together] • She's the club president. = She's the president of the club. — see also FAN CLUB, GLEE CLUB, GOLF CLUB 2 b : the place where the members of a club meet • I'll see you at the club. — see also COUNTRY CLUB, HEALTH CLUB

2 [count] : a sports team or organization • the president of a major-league baseball club • He spent five years with the club. • a ball club • a boxing/football/hockey club

3 [count] : an organization in which people agree to buy things (such as books or CDs) regularly in order to receive a benefit (such as lower prices) • Join our movie club now and receive four free DVDs. — see also BOOK CLUB

4 [count] : a business that provides entertainment (such as music, dancing, or a show) and that usually serves food and alcohol : NIGHTCLUB • a dance club • jazz clubs • comedy clubs [=clubs in which people perform comedy shows] • They went club-hopping. [=they went to several different clubs in one night] — often used before another noun • club owners • club music [=dance music that is played in clubs] — see also STRIP CLUB

5 [count] : a special metal stick used for hitting a golf ball : GOLF CLUB • I just bought a new set of clubs.

6 [count] : a heavy usually wooden stick that is used as a weapon • In battle, they used swords and wooden clubs. — see also BILLY CLUB

7 a [count] : a playing card that is marked with a black shape that looks like three round leaves • one heart, two diamonds, and two clubs — see picture at PLAYING CARD b clubs [plural] : the suit in a deck of playing cards that consists of cards marked by a black shape that looks like three round clown

leaves • the nine of clubs — compare DIAMOND, HEART, SPADE

8 [count] informal : CLUB SANDWICH • She ordered a turkey club with French fries.

in the club Brit, informal : PREGNANT

join the club also welcome to the club informal — used to say that the problems or feelings someone is having are problems or feelings that you have had yourself • If you don't understand the rules, join the club: no one else does either! — often used to suggest that a person's problems or feelings are not unusual and do not deserve much sympathy • So you think you deserve to be paid more money for your work? Well, join the club. [=lots of people think they deserve more money] • “My son won't do what I tell him to do.” “Join the club. I can't get my daughter to obey me, either.”

²club verb clubs; clubbed; club-bing [+ obj] : to hit (a person or animal) with a heavy stick or object • They clubbed him with a baseball bat. • He was clubbed to death. [=killed by being hit him with a heavy object] club together [phrasal verb] Brit : to combine your money with the money of other people ♦ If a group of people club together to do something, each member of the group gives some money to pay for something. • We clubbed together to buy him a new watch.

club-bing /'klʌbɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the activity of going to nightclubs in order to dance, drink alcohol, etc. • a night of clubbing — often used in the phrases go clubbing or go out clubbing • Friday night, we went out clubbing in the city.

— club-ber /'klʌbə/ noun, pl -bers [count] • A line of clubbers [=people who go to nightclubs] was waiting at the door.

club-by /'klʌbi/ adj club-bi-er; -est US : friendly only to people who belong to a high social class • the restaurant's clubby [=exclusive, elite] atmosphere • the clubby world of New York's social elite

— club-bi-ness noun [noncount]

club-foot /'klʌb,fʊt/ noun, pl -feet [count] : a foot that does not have a normal shape : a badly twisted or deformed foot that someone is born with; also [noncount] : the medical condition of having such a foot • clubfoot and other major birth defects

— club-foot-ed /'klʌb,fʊtəd/ adj

club-house /'klʌb,haʊs/ noun, pl -houses [count]

1 : a building used by a club for its activities

2 : a building that has lockers and showers and that is used by a sports team

3 : a building at a golf course that usually has a locker room, a store that sells golf equipment, and a restaurant club sandwich noun, pl ~ -wiches [count] : a sandwich that has three slices of bread with two layers of meat (such as turkey) and other cold foods (such as lettuce, tomato, and mayonnaise) between them

club soda noun [noncount] US : SODA WATER

¹cluck /'klʌk/ noun, pl clucks [count]

1 a : a short, low sound that is made by a chicken b : a short, low sound that is used to show disapproval or sympathy • clucks of disapproval

2 US, informal : a stupid or foolish person • Don't be such a dumb cluck.

²cluck verb clucks; clucked; cluck-ing

1 [no obj] of a chicken : to make a low sound • The hen clucked at her chicks.

2 : to make a low sound with the tongue [no obj] The driver clucked at the horses to get them moving. • She clucked in sympathy/disappointment. [+ obj] He clucked his tongue.

3 [no obj] informal : to talk about something in an excited and often disapproving way • Commentators have been clucking over/about his lack of experience.

— clucking noun [noncount] • the clucking of chickens in the coop

¹clue /'klu:/ noun, pl clues

1 [count] : something that helps a person find something, understand something, or solve a mystery or puzzle • The book gives the reader plenty of clues to solve the mystery. • Science gives us clues about the origin of the universe. • “Guess who I met today.” “Can you give me a clue?” • It gives a clue as to how to proceed. • a crossword puzzle clue

2 [singular] informal : an understanding of something : knowledge about something : IDEA • Get a clue! [=don't be so stupid or clueless] — usually used in negative statements • I had no clue what he meant. [=I didn't understand what he meant at all] • He doesn't have a clue when it comes to fixing cars. [=he knows nothing about fixing cars] • Do you have any clue about what's going on here? • When it comes to computers, I don't have a clue. [=I'm clueless]

2 clue verb clues; clued; clue-ing or clu-ing

clue in [phrasal verb] clue (someone) in also clue in (someone) informal : to give information to (someone) • The public should be clued in to what's happening. [=should be told about what's happening] — often + on • She'll clue you in on the latest news. — often used as clued in • He's totally clued in on [=he knows a lot about] the latest computer developments.

clued up adj [more ~; most ~] Brit, informal : having a lot of information about something • He's totally clued up [=clued in] (on/about the latest computer developments).

clue-less /'klu:ləs/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal : not having knowledge about something : unable to understand something • When it comes to computers, I'm clueless. • her clueless kid brother • They were clueless about what to do.

1 clump /'klʌmp/ noun, pl clumps [count]

1 a : a small ball or mass of something • a clump of roots/grass/mud b : a group of things or people that are close together • There is a clump of bushes/trees at the edge of the field. • a clump of spectators

2 : a loud, heavy sound made by footsteps • I could hear the clump of his footsteps as he came down the stairs.

2 clump verb clumps; clumped; clump-ing

1 : to form a mass or clump [no obj] The virus causes the cells to clump (together). [+ obj] The virus clumps the cells together.

2 [no obj] : to walk with loud, heavy steps • I could hear him clumping [=clomping] down/up the stairs.

clumpy /'klʌmpi/ adj clump-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] : having many small clumps • clumpy soil clum-sy /'klʌmzi/ adj clum-si-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : moving or doing things in a very awkward way and tending to drop or break things • I'm sorry about spilling your wine—that was very clumsy of me. • I have very clumsy hands and tend to drop things. • He is very clumsy. = He is a very clumsy person.

2 : badly or awkwardly made or done • She made a clumsy attempt at a joke.

3 : hard to use : awkward to handle • a clumsy tool

— clum-si-ly /'klʌmzəli/ adv • They dealt with the situation clumsily. — clum-si-ness /'klʌmzinəs/ noun [noncount] • It was my own clumsiness that caused the accident.

clung past tense and past participle of CLING

clunk /'klʌŋk/ noun, pl clunks [count] : a loud, dull sound that is made when a heavy object hits another object or a surface • The book hit the floor with a loud clunk.

— clunk verb clunks; clunked; clunk-ing [no obj] The car door clunked shut. [+ obj] The ball clunked [=hit] him on the head.

clunk-er /'klʌŋkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] chiefly US, informal 1 : an old car or machine that does not work well • My first car was an old clunker that kept breaking down.

2 : something that is a complete failure • That joke was a real clunker. • The director's recent films have all been clunkers.

clunky /'klʌŋki/ adj clunk-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal

1 : large and awkward in form or appearance • clunky shoes

2 : old and not working well • I drive a clunky old station wagon. • a clunky old computer

3 : badly or awkwardly made or done • His act was full of clunky one-liners. • clunky dialogue

1 clus-ter /'klastə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a group of things or people that are close together • a flower cluster • a cluster of cottages along the shore • A small cluster of people had gathered at the scene of the accident. • clusters of grapes

2 cluster verb, always followed by a preposition or adverb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing [no obj] : to come together to form a group • The children clustered around the storyteller.

cluster bomb noun, pl ~ bombs [count] : a type of bomb that is dropped from an airplane and that contains many small bombs

1 clutch /'klʌtʃ/ verb clutch-es; clutched; clutch-ing

1 [+ obj] : to hold onto (someone or something) tightly with your hand • I had to clutch the counter to keep from falling. • The child clutched her mother's hand firmly. • He had a book clutched in his hand.

2 [no obj] : to try to hold onto someone or something by reaching with your hand — usually + at • She clutched at his shoulder.

clutch at straws see STRAW

2 clutch noun, pl clutches [count]

1 : the act of holding or gripping something or someone tightly — usually plural • She struggled to escape his clutches. [=he was holding her and she struggled to get away] • The hawk had the mouse in its clutches. [=in its claws] — often used figuratively • They were powerless to oppose them. He had them in his clutches. [=he had control of them]

2 a : a pedal that is pressed to change gears in a vehicle • I have to learn how to let the clutch out smoothly. — see picture at CAR b : the part of a vehicle that is controlled by a clutch • The car needs a new clutch.

3 : CLUTCH BAG

in the clutch US : in a very important or critical situation especially during a sports competition • He is known for his ability to come through in the clutch. • She scored a basket in the clutch.

— compare 4 CLUTCH

3 clutch adj [more ~; most ~] US

1 always used before a noun : happening during a very important or critical time especially in a sports competition • She scored a clutch basket. • a clutch hit/play/goal • a clutch performance/situation

2 : able to perform well in a very important or critical situation especially in a sports competition • He is a clutch hitter/player. = He is clutch.

4 clutch noun, pl clutches [count]

1 a : a group of eggs that is laid by a bird at one time • a clutch of eggs b : a group of young birds produced by a single group of eggs • a clutch of chicks

2 : a small group of things or people • a clutch of buildings/onlookers

— compare 2 CLUTCH

clutch bag noun, pl ~ bags [count] : a small bag that women use especially on formal occasions : a small handbag

1 clut-ter /'klatə/ verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing [+ obj] : to fill or cover (something) with many things : to fill or cover (something) with clutter • Tools cluttered the garage. • The garage was cluttered with tools. • Try to avoid cluttering your desk with books and papers. — often + up • Too many signs were cluttering up the street corner.

— cluttered adj [more ~; most ~] • a very cluttered attic/desk/office/room

2 clutter noun [noncount] : a large amount of things that are not arranged in a neat or orderly way : a crowded or disordered collection of things • There's a lot of unnecessary clutter in the house. • a pile of clutter • desktop clutter

Clydes-dale /'klaɪdz,deɪl/ noun, pl -dales [count] : a type of very large, heavy horse that is used to pull wagons

cm abbr centimeter

Cmdr. abbr commander

c'mon /kə'ma:n/ informal — used in writing to represent the sound of the phrase come on when it is spoken quickly • C'mon, everybody, let's go! — see come on 3 at 1 COME for situations in which c'mon is used

CNN abbr Cable News Network

C-note /'si:,nəʊt/ noun, pl -notes [count] US, informal : a 100-dollar bill

co. abbr 1 company 2 county

CO abbr 1 Colorado 2 commanding officer

c/o abbr care of ♦ This abbreviation is used in addresses when you are sending a letter or package to a person by using someone else's address or the address of a company. • The letter was addressed to "John Smith c/o Merriam-Webster, Inc."

co- prefix

1 : with : together • coexist

2 : associated with another • coworker • coauthor • copilot

1 coach /'kəʊtʃ/ noun, pl coach-es

1 [count] a : a person who teaches and trains an athlete or performer • a track/tennis star who has been working with a new coach • a vocal/voice/drama coach b : a person who teaches and trains the members of a sports team and makes decisions about how the team plays during games • a football/basketball/soccer coach

2 [count] Brit : a private teacher who gives someone lessons in a particular subject

3 : a large four-wheeled vehicle that is pulled by horses : CARRIAGE [count] In those days, people usually traveled long distances in coaches. [noncount] traveling by coach

— see also STAGECOACH

4 chiefly Brit : a large bus with comfortable seating that is used for long trips [count] The company hired two coaches for the trip. [noncount] We traveled by coach to London. — often used before another noun • a coach driver/tour/party
5 [noncount] US : the section of least expensive seats on an airplane or train • We reserved two seats in coach. • I usually fly coach, but on this trip I'm flying first-class. — often used before another noun • coach fares/passengers/seats
6 [count] Brit : a separate section of a train • a passenger coach [= (US) car, (Brit) carriage]

²coach verb coaches; coached; coach-ing

1 a : to teach and train (an athlete or performer) [+ obj] She coaches young actors/singers. • He coaches the tennis star. [no obj] He coaches in singing. b : to teach, train, and direct (a sports team) [+ obj] He has coached the team for several years. • She coached the U.S. gymnastics team at the Olympics. • He coaches football and basketball. [=he coaches football and basketball teams] [no obj] He has coached at the college level for many years.

2 [+ obj] chiefly Brit : to teach (a student) privately rather than in a class

3 [+ obj] : to give (someone) instructions on what to do or say in a particular situation • The lawyer admitted to coaching the witness. • It was clear that the witness had been coached by her lawyer on how to answer the questions.

— coaching adj • a coaching job/career • the team's coaching staff — coaching noun [noncount] • She got into coaching a couple years ago. • He can pass the test with a little coaching. • The lawyer's coaching helped the witness.

coach-able /'koutʃəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : capable of being easily taught and trained to do something better • The player/singer is very coachable.

coach-load /'koutʃ,ləʊd/ noun, pl -loads [count] Brit : a large group of people that fills a coach (sense 4) • two coach-loads [= (chiefly US) busloads] of tourists coach-man /'koutʃmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] in the past : a man whose job was driving a carriage pulled by horses

co-ag-u-late /kou'ægjə,leɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing : to become thick and partly solid [no obj] The blood coagulated. • The eggs coagulate when heated. [+ obj] The medicine helps coagulate blood.

— co-ag-u-la-tion /kou,ægjə'leɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

coal /'kəʊl/ noun, pl coals

1 [noncount] : a black or brownish-black hard substance within the earth that is used as a fuel • a bin of coal • The furnace burns coal. • a lump of coal — often used before another noun • a coal bin/mine/bed/stove • the coal industry

2 [count] a : a piece of coal or charcoal especially when burning • When the coals are red, they are very hot. b US : a glowing piece of wood from a fire : EMBER • I toasted one last marshmallow over the coals of the campfire.

carry/take coals to Newcastle Brit : to take something to a place where it is not needed because a large amount of it is already there haul/rake (someone) over the coals informal : to criticize (someone) very severely • I arrived late for the meeting and was immediately hauled over the coals by my boss.

co-a-lesce /,kəwə'les/ verb -lesc-es; -lesc-ed; -lesc-ing [no obj] formal : to come together to form one group or mass • a group of young reformers who gradually coalesced into a political movement • The ice masses coalesced into a glacier over time.

— co-ales-cence /,kəwə'lesns/ noun [noncount] a glacier formed by coalescence of ice masses [singular] a coalescence of forces coal-face /'kəʊl,feɪs/ noun, pl -fac-es [count] Brit : the place inside a mine where the coal is cut out of the rock

at the coalface Brit : at the place where the actual work of an activity is done • teachers working at the coalface in inner-city schools coal-field /'kəʊl,fi:ld/ noun, pl -fields [count] : a large area where there is a lot of coal under the ground

co-a-li-tion /,kəwə'liʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a group of people, groups, or countries who have joined together for a common purpose • The groups united to form a coalition. • A multiparty coalition ruled the country. • a coalition of businesses — often used before another noun • coalition forces • a coalition government/party

2 [noncount] : the action or process of joining together with another or others for a common purpose • The group is working in coalition with other environmental groups.

coal tar noun [noncount] : a black, sticky liquid made from coal that is used as a fuel and to make various products (such as soap)

coarse /'kɔəs/ adj coars-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : made up of large pieces : not fine • coarse sand/salt

2 : having a rough quality • coarse wild grass • The dog has a thick, coarse coat. • The fabric varies in texture from coarse to fine. • He has coarse hands.

3 : rude or offensive • a coarse joke • coarse behavior • coarse [=vulgar] language — coarse-ly adv • coarsely chopped vegetables • coarsely ground pepper — coarse-ness noun [noncount] • We were shocked by the coarseness of his behavior.

coars-en /'kɔəsn/ verb -ens; -ened; -en-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to make (something) rough or rougher • Coarsen [=roughen] the surface with a file before you apply the glue. • Her hands were coarsened by years of hard work. b [no obj] : to become rough or rougher • His hands coarsened [=roughened] from years of hard work.

2 a [+ obj] : to cause (someone or something) to become rude or offensive • He was coarsened by his time in prison. • offensive words that coarsen the English language b [no obj] : to become rude or offensive • The book describes how popular culture has coarsened in recent decades.

¹coast /'kəʊst/ noun, pl coasts

1 : the land along or near a sea or ocean [count] sea/rocky coasts [=shores] • the west/east coast • He lives on the coast. [noncount] We drove along a long stretch of coast. [=shore]

2 the Coast US, informal : the area along or near the Pacific Ocean • He's flying out to the Coast tomorrow.

from coast to coast : from one coast to the other coast of a country or continent • They traveled from coast to coast across the U.S. • The space shuttle launch was on television stations from coast to coast. [=throughout the country]

— see also COAST-TO-COAST

the coast is clear ♦ When the coast is clear you can go somewhere or do something without being caught or seen because no one is in the area. • OK, the coast is clear—you can come out now!

— coast-al /'kəʊstəl/ adj • coastal areas/regions/waters • coastal mountains

²coast verb coasts; coast-ed; coast-ing [no obj]

1 a : to move forward using no power or very little power • The car coasted to a stop. • The airplane coasted down the runway. b : to move downhill by the force of gravity • The children coasted on sleds down the snowy hill. • They came coasting down the hill on bicycles.

2 : to progress or have success without special effort • After taking a big lead, the team coasted to victory. • He was accused of trying to coast through school. • She decided she could coast along without a job for the next few months. • The company is coasting on its good reputation.

coast-er /'kəʊstə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a small, flat object on which a glass, cup, or dish is placed to protect the surface of a table • Set the glass on a coaster.

2 chiefly US : ROLLER COASTER 1

3 : a ship that sails along a coast or that is used in trade between ports of the same country

coast guard (US) or Brit coast-guard noun, pl ~ guards

1 US the Coast Guard or Brit the Coastguard : an organization that has the job of guarding the area along a country's coast and helping people, boats, and ships that are in danger on the sea ♦ The U.S. Coast Guard is a military organization. • Their son joined the Coast Guard last year. — often used before another noun • Coast Guard officials

2 [count] Brit : a member of the Coastguard coast-guards-man /'kəʊst,gædzmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] US : a member of the Coast Guard coast-line /'kəʊst,lain/ noun, pl -lines : the land along the edge of a coast [count] a rocky/sandy coastline [=shoreline] • The plane flew along the eastern coastline. [noncount] miles of beautiful coastline

coast-to-coast /'kəʊstə'kəʊst/ adj

1 : going across an entire nation or continent from one coast to another • a coast-to-coast flight/broadcast

2 US, informal a : going from one end of a playing surface (such as a basketball court) to the other • a coast-to-coast play b : resulting from a coast-to-coast play • a coast-to-coast layup — coast-to-coast adv • The event was televised coast-to-coast.

1 coat /'kəʊt/ noun, pl coats [count]

1 a : an outer piece of clothing that can be long or short and that is worn to keep warm or dry • She put on her coat, hat, and gloves, and then she went outside. • a winter/fur/wool coat b chiefly US : a piece of clothing that is worn over a shirt as part of a suit : JACKET • He was wearing a coat and tie. • a sport coat

2 : the outer covering of fur, hair, or wool on an animal • The dog has a thick/smooth/shaggy coat.

3 : a thin layer of paint covering a surface • a coat of paint • The house needed three coats to cover the original paint.

— coatless adj • a shivering, coatless child

2 coat verb coats; coat-ed; coat-ing [+ obj] : to cover (something or someone) with a thin layer of something • Rock dust coated his hair. • My shoes are coated with mud. • Ice coated the deck. • Coat the chicken with flour.coat hanger noun, pl ~ -ers

[count] : a device that is used for hanging clothes in a closet : HANGER

coat-ing /'kəʊtɪŋ/ noun, pl

-ings [count] : a thin layer or covering of something • The fabric has a coating that prevents liquids from soaking through. • A light coating of snow had fallen. • There was a coating of ice on the pond.

coat of arms noun, pl coats

of arms [count] : a special group of pictures that belong to a person, family, or group of people and that are shown on a shield coat-rack /'kəʊt,ræk/ noun, pl -racks [count] : a stand or pole that has pegs, hooks, or hangers that can be used for hanging coats and other clothescoat-room /'kəʊt,ru:m/ noun, pl -rooms [count] chiefly US : CHECKROOMcoat-tail /'kəʊt,tel/ noun, pl -tails

1 [count] : a long piece of cloth that hangs down at the back of a man's formal coat — usually plural • He caught his coat-tails in the door.

2 coattails [plural] : the help or influence of another person's work, ideas, or popularity • They were elected to Congress by riding (on) the coattails of the President. = They were swept into office on the coattails of the President. [=they were elected because they belong to the same political party as the President, who is very popular]

co-au-thor /'kəʊ'ɑ:θə/ noun, pl -thors [count] : someone who writes a book, article, etc., with another person • He and his colleague were the coauthors of the study.coax /'kəʊks/ verb coax-es; coaxed; coax-ing [+ obj]

1 : to influence or persuade (a person or animal) to do something by talking in a gentle and friendly way • It took almost an hour to coax the cat down from the tree. — often + into • He wanted to stay home, but I coaxed him into going out. • Can we coax her into singing? — sometimes followed by to + verb • The ad coaxes customers to try the new product.

2 : to get (something) by talking in a gentle and friendly way • She tried to coax a raise from her boss. • He was unable to coax an answer out of her.

3 : to cause (something) to do something by making a careful and continual effort • He coaxed the fire to burn by blowing on it. • The plant is difficult to coax into bloom.

— coaxing noun [noncount] • He agreed to go after a little gentle coaxing.

co-ax-i-al cable /kəʊ'æksijəl-/ noun, pl ~ cables [count] technical : a type of electric cable that is used to send telegraph, telephone, and television signals

cob /'kɑ:b/ noun, pl cobs [count]

1 : CORNCOB • She used a knife to cut the corn from the cob. • We had corn on the cob.

2 : a type of horse that has short legs

3 : a male swan

co-balt /'kəʊ,bɑ:lt/ noun [noncount] : a hard, shiny, silver-white metal that is often mixed with other metalscobalt blue noun [noncount] : a deep blue color — see color picture on page C2cob-ber /'kɑ:bə/ noun, pl -bers [count] Australia + New Zealand, informal : a male friend • remembering his mates and cobbers back home1 cob-ble /'kɑ:bəl/ verb cob-bles; cob-bled; cob-bling [+ obj]

1 : to make (something) by putting together different parts in a quick way — usually + together or up • The diplomats rushed to cobble together a treaty. • The speech was cobbled together from papers and lectures. • They worked quickly to cobble up a temporary solution.

2 old-fashioned : to make or repair (shoes) • expensive leather shoes cobbled in Italy

2 cobble noun, pl cobbles [count] : COBBLESTONE • a street paved with cobbles

cobbled adj : covered with cobblestones • a cobbled street

cob-bler /'kɑ:blə/ noun, pl -blers

1 [count] old-fashioned : a person who makes or repairs shoes

2 [count, noncount] US : a dessert made of cooked fruit covered with a thick crust • peach cobbler

cob-ble-stone /'kɑ:bəl,stəʊn/ noun, pl -stones [count] : a round stone that is used in paving streets

— cob-ble-stoned /'kɑ:bəl,stəʊnd/ adj • cobblestoned streets

co-bra /'kəʊbrə/ noun, pl -bras

[count] : a very poisonous snake found in Asia and Africa

cob-web /'kɑ:b,web/ noun, pl

-webs [count] : the threads of old spider webs that are found in areas that have not been cleaned for a long time • Dirt and cobwebs filled the corners of the room. • The barn is filled with cobwebs. — sometimes used figuratively • She took a walk to clear the cobwebs from her mind. [=to clear her mind]

— cob-webbed /'kɑ:b,webd/ adj • a cobwebbed attic

co-caine /kəʊ'keɪn/ noun [noncount]

: a powerful drug that is used in medicine to stop pain or is taken illegally for pleasure — called also (informal) coke

coc-cyx /'kɑ:ksɪks/ noun, pl coc-cy-ges /'kɑ:ksə,dʒɪ:z/ also coc-cyx-es /'kɑ:ksɪksəz/ [count] technical : the small bone at the end of the spine : TAILBONEco-chlea /'kəʊklijə, 'kɑ:klijə/ noun, pl co-chle-as or co-chle-ae /'kəʊkli:, 'kɑ:kli:i:/ [count] technical : the part of the inner ear that contains the endings of the nerve that carries information about sound to the brain

— coch-le-ar /'kəʊklijə, 'kɑ:klijə/ adj • the cochlear canal/duct/nerve • a cochlear implant [=an electronic device that allows people with hearing loss to hear some sounds]

1 cock /'kɑ:k/ noun, pl cocks [count]

1 : an adult male chicken : ROOSTER • The cock was crowing.

2 : a device for stopping or slowing the flow of a liquid or gas through a pipe : STOPCOCK

3 informal + impolite : PENIS

cock of the walk ♦ A man who is described as (the) cock of the walk is very proud and successful or acts in a very proud way. • He was strutting around like the cock of the walk after he got a promotion.

2 cock verb cocks; cocked; cock-ing [+ obj]

1 : to pull back the hammer of (a gun) to get ready to shoot • He cocked the pistol/weapon.

2 : to pull or bend back (something) to get ready to throw or hit a ball • The quarterback was tackled just as he cocked his arm to throw the ball. • The hitter stood with the bat cocked, waiting for a pitch.

3 : to turn, tip, or raise (part of your body or face) upward or to one side • He cocked his head to one side. • She cocked an eyebrow in disbelief. • The dog sat with one ear cocked. ♦ If you cock an ear/eye or cock your ear/eye, you listen to or look at someone or something with a lot of attention. • If the politicians would cock an ear to/toward what voters are saying, they'd realize that the new law isn't working.

4 : to move (a hat) so that it is tilted on your head • His hat was cocked to one side.

cock a snook at Brit, informal : to show that you do not respect or value (something) • He never misses a chance to cock a snook at [=thumb his nose at] modern art.

cock up [phrasal verb] Brit, informal 1 : to make a mistake : to do something incorrectly • Someone had cocked up [=screwed up, messed up] badly, and the party was a disaster. 2 cock up (something) or cock (something) up : to make mistakes in doing or making (something) • Someone coat hanger

cobra

had cocked up [=screwed up, messed up] the arrangements.
— see also COCK-UP

— see also HALF-COCKED

cock·ade /kɑˈkeɪd/ noun, pl -ades [count] : a decoration that is worn on a hat especially as part of a uniform to show a person's status, rank, etc.

cock-a-doo-dle-do /ˌkɑːkəˈduːdl̩ˈduː/ noun [singular] : the loud sound that a rooster makes • I was awakened by the rooster's cock-a-doodle-do at dawn.

cock-a-hoop /ˌkɑːkəˈhuːp/ adj, not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] chiefly Brit, informal : very excited and happy about something done • The team was cock-a-hoop about/over winning the game.

cock-a-ma-my or cock-a-ma-mie /ˌkɑːkəˈmeɪmi/ adj [more ~; most ~] US, informal : ridiculous or silly • Who dreamed up this cockamamie idea/scheme? • What cockamamie excuse will he come up with this time?

cock-and-bull story /ˈkɑːkənˈbul-/ noun, pl ~ stories [count] informal : a ridiculous story that is used as an explanation or excuse • Do you think I'm going to fall for that cock-and-bull story?

cock-a-tiel /ˈkɑːkəˈtiːl/ noun, pl -tiels [count] : a type of small parrot from Australia that has a yellow head and is often kept as a pet cock-a-too /ˈkɑːkəˈtuː/ noun, pl -toos [count] : a type of large parrot from Australia that has a large colorful bunch of feathers on top of its head cocked hat /ˈkɑːkt-/ noun, pl ~ hats [count] old-fashioned : a hat with the edges turned up on two or three sides into a cocked hat informal 1 US : into a state of confusion, ruin, etc. • The discovery has knocked/thrown all our old assumptions into a cocked hat. [=has completely destroyed all our old assumptions] 2 Brit — used to say that one person or thing is much better than another • The old design was good, but this new one knocks/beats it into a cocked hat.

cock·er·el /ˈkɑːkərəl/ noun, pl -els [count] : a young male chicken cocker spaniel noun, pl ~ -iels [count] : a type of small dog that has long ears and long fur — see picture at DOG cock-eyed /ˈkɑːkˌaɪd/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal

1 : turned or tilted to one side : not straight • The windows of the house look cockeyed. • a cockeyed grin

2 : crazy or foolish • Where did you get those cockeyed ideas? • She is full of cockeyed optimism.

cock·fight /ˈkɑːkˌfaɪt/ noun, pl -fights [count] : a fight between roosters that people watch for entertainment

— cock·fight·ing /ˈkɑːkˌfaɪtɪŋ/ noun [noncount] • Many countries have outlawed cockfighting.

cock·le /ˈkɑːkəl/ noun, pl cock·les [count] : a type of shellfish with a shell that has two parts and is shaped like a heart warm the cockles of your heart ✧ If something warms the cockles of your heart, it makes you have warm and happy feelings. • It is a story with a happy ending to warm the cockles of your heart.

cock·le·shell /ˈkɑːkəlˌʃɛl/ noun, pl -shells [count] : the shell of a cockle

cock·ney or Cock·ney /ˈkɑːkni/ noun, pl -neys

1 [count] : a person from the East End of London

2 [noncount] : the way of speaking that is typical of cockneys

— cockney adj • He has a cockney accent. • cockney slang cock·pit /ˈkɑːkˌpɪt/ noun, pl -pits [count] : the area in a boat, airplane, etc., where the pilot or driver sits — see picture at AIRPLANE cockpit voice recorder noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a device that records the voices of the pilots and crew in the cockpit of an airplane ✧ If an airplane crashes, its cockpit voice recorder can be used to help find out what caused it to crash.

cock·roach /ˈkɑːkˌrouʃ/ noun, pl -roach-es [count] : a black or brown insect that is sometimes found in people's homes — called also (US) roach; see color picture on page C10 cock·suck·er /ˈkɑːkˌsʌkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] informal + offensive : a very stupid or annoying person (especially a man) ✧ This is a very offensive word that should be avoided.

cock·sure /ˈkɑːkˌʃʊə/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing confidence in a way that is annoying to other people • a cocksure, know-it-all attitude • cocksure arrogance

cock·tail /ˈkɑːkˌteɪl/ noun, pl -tails

1 [count] : an alcoholic drink that is a mixture of one or more liquors and other ingredients (such as fruit juice) • We had cocktails before dinner. — often used before another noun • a cocktail waiter/waitress/bar • a cocktail glass • A cocktail hour [=an hour when people drink cocktails] preceded the dinner.

2 [count] : a mixture of different things • The disease is being treated with a cocktail of powerful drugs. • a dangerous cocktail of chemicals — see also MOLOTOV COCKTAIL

3 [count, noncount] : a small dish of a particular food that is served usually at the beginning or end of a meal • a shrimp cocktail • fruit cocktail

cocktail dress noun, pl ~ dresses [count] : a usually short dress that is suitable for formal occasions cocktail lounge noun, pl ~ -lounges [count] : a room in a hotel, restaurant, etc., where cocktails and other drinks are served cocktail party noun, pl ~ -ties [count] : a usually formal party at which alcoholic drinks are served — called also (Brit) drinks party

cock-up /ˈkɑːkˌʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count] Brit, informal : a situation that is complicated, unpleasant, or difficult to deal with because of someone's mistake • an administrative/bureaucratic cock-up [=mess] — see also cock up at ²COCK cocky /ˈkɑːki/ adj cock·i·er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal : having or showing confidence in a way that is annoying to other people • a cocky young athlete • Don't get too cocky about your chances of getting the job.

— cock·i·ly /ˈkɑːkəli/ adv • She's cockily confident about getting the job. — cock·i·ness /ˈkɑːkinəs/ noun [noncount]

co·coa /ˈkɒkə/ noun, pl -coas

1 [noncount] : a brown powder made from roasted cocoa beans that is used to give a chocolate flavor to foods • The recipe calls for three tablespoons of cocoa. — called also cocoa powder

2 [count, noncount] : a hot drink of milk or water mixed with cocoa • a cup of cocoa

cocoa bean noun, pl ~ beans [count] : the seed of a tropical tree (called the cacao) that is used in making cocoa, chocolate, and cocoa butter cocoa butter noun [noncount] : a pale fat made from cocoa beans that is used in making chocolate and in various products (such as soaps and skin lotions)

co·co·nut /ˈkɒkəˌnʌt/ noun, pl -nuts

1 [count] : a large fruit that has a thick shell with white flesh and liquid inside it and that grows on a palm tree — see color picture on page C5

2 [noncount] : the white flesh of a coconut • The pastry is covered with shredded coconut. • a piece of coconut

coconut milk noun [noncount] : the liquid that is inside a coconut coconut oil noun [noncount] : an oil taken from coconuts that is used especially in making soaps and food products

coconut shy noun [noncount] Brit : an outdoor game in which players throw balls at coconuts set up on poles in order to knock them down

¹co·coon /kəˈkuːn/ noun, pl -coons [count]

1 : a covering usually made of silk which some insects (such as caterpillars) make around themselves to protect them while they grow

2 : something that covers or protects a person or thing • The child was wrapped in a cocoon of blankets. • The movie star was surrounded by a protective cocoon of bodyguards.

²cocoon verb -coons; -cooned; -coon·ing

1 [+ obj] : to cover or protect (someone or something) completely — usually used as (be) cocooned • We were comfortably cocooned in our sleeping bags.

2 [no obj] chiefly US : to spend time at home instead of going out for other activities • Americans are spending more time cocooning at home in recent years.

— co·coon·ing /kəˈkuːnɪŋ/ noun [noncount] • Americans are doing more cocooning in recent years.

cod /ˈkɑːd/ noun, pl cod [count, noncount] : a large fish that lives in the northern Atlantic Ocean and is often eaten as food

COD or C.O.D. abbr cash on delivery; collect on delivery — used to indicate that payment must be made when something is delivered • The merchandise was shipped C.O.D.

co·da /ˈkɒdə/ noun, pl -das [count] formal

1 : an ending part of a piece of music or a work of literature or drama that is separate from the earlier parts • The movie's coda shows the main character as an adult 25 years later.

2 : something that ends and completes something else — often + to • In a fitting coda to his career, he served as ambassador to China.

cod·dle /'kɑ:dɪ/ verb cod·dles; cod·dled; cod·dling [+ obj] disapproving : to treat (someone) with too much care or kindness • She coddles [=pampers] her children. • The judges were accused of coddling criminals.

1 code /'kəʊd/ noun, pl codes

1 [count] a : a set of laws or regulations • the state's criminal code • the tax code • the city's plumbing/electrical/building codes • The school has a dress code [=rules about what a person can wear] — see also PENAL CODE b : a set of ideas or rules about how to behave • a moral code • Everyone in the organization has to follow its code of ethics. • The army has a strict code of conduct/behavior.

2 a : a set of letters, numbers, symbols, etc., that is used to secretly send messages to someone [count] The enemy was unable to break/crack the army's secret code. [noncount] The message was sent in code. — see also MORSE CODE b [count] : a set of letters, numbers, symbols, etc., that identifies or gives information about something or someone • Every item in the store has a product code. • Enter your security code to access the computer. • Each employee is given a code number. — see also AREA CODE, BAR CODE, DIALING CODE, POSTCODE, ZIP CODE

3 [noncount] : a set of instructions for a computer • He was hired to write programming code. • lines of code

2 code verb codes; cod·ed; cod·ing [+ obj]

1 : to put (a message) into the form of a code so that it can be kept secret • The message was coded. • The general sent a coded message. — compare DECODE

2 : to mark (something) with a code so that it can be identified • Each product has been coded. • The trails on the mountain are all color coded [=each trail is marked by a particular color]

3 : to change (information) into a set of letters, numbers, or symbols that can be read by a computer • Programmers coded the data.

co·deine /'kəʊ,di:n/ noun [noncount] : a drug used to reduce pain code name noun, pl ~ names [count] : a name that is used to keep someone's or something's real name a secret • Every secret agent has a code name.

— code·name /'kəʊd,neɪm/ verb -names; -named; -nam·ing [+ obj] • The military operation is code-named "Clean Sweep."

co·de·pen·den·cy /,kəʊdrɪ'pendənsi/ noun [noncount] : a psychological condition in which someone is in an unhappy and unhealthy relationship that involves living with and providing care for another person (such as a drug addict or an alcoholic)

— co·de·pen·dent /,kəʊdrɪ'pendənt/ adj • the codependent spouse of an alcoholic — codependent noun, pl -dents [count] • providing help for codependents

cod·er /'kəʊdər/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a computer programmer code word noun, pl ~ words [count] : a word or phrase that has a secret meaning or that is used instead of another word or phrase to avoid speaking directly • The code word "conflict" has been used for what some people are calling a war.

cod·ger /'kɑ:ɔʒər/ noun, pl -gers [count] informal : an old man • Her father is a feisty old codger.

cod·i·cil /'kɑ:dəsəl, Brit 'kəʊdəsɪl/ noun, pl -cils [count] law : a document that adds or changes something in a will cod·i·fy /'kɑ:də,faɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy·ing [+ obj]

1 : to put (laws or rules) together as a code or system • The convention codified the rules of war.

2 : to put (things) in an orderly form • The author tries to codify important ideas about language.

— cod·i·fi·ca·tion /,kɑ:dəfə'keɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount]

cod-liver oil noun [noncount] : an oil from the liver of cod that is used in medicine as a source of vitamin A and D cods·wal·lop /'kɑ:dz,wɑ:ləp/ noun [noncount] Brit, informal : NONSENSE • That is a load of codswallop.

1 co·ed /'kəʊ,əd/ noun, pl -eds [count] US, somewhat old-fashioned : a female student at a college that has both male and female students

2 coed adj

1 : COEDUCATIONAL • a coed university/dormitory • The college became/went coed this year.

2 US : having or including both men and women • The softball team is coed. • a coed health club co·ed·u·ca·tion·al /kəʊ,ɛdʒə'keɪʃənɪ/ adj, formal : having both male and female students • a coeducational institution

co·ef·fi·cient /,kəʊə'fɪʃənt/ noun, pl -cients [count]

1 mathematics : a number by which another number or symbol is multiplied • 5 is the coefficient of y in the term 5*y*.

2 physics : a number that is used to measure some property or characteristic of a substance • a coefficient of friction • the metal's coefficient of expansion co·equal /kəʊ'i:kwəl/ adj, formal : equal with each other • coequal branches of government

co·erce /kəʊ'əs/ verb -erc·es; -erced; -erc·ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (someone) do something by using force or threats — usually + into • He was coerced into signing the confession. • Soldiers coerced the residents into giving them food. • The singer was coerced into a contract with the record company.

2 : to get (something) by using force or threats • A confession was coerced from the suspect by police.

— co·er·cion /kəʊ'ɜʒən, kəʊ'ɜʃən/ noun [noncount] • They used coercion to obtain the confession.

co·er·cive /kəʊ'əsɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : using force or threats to make someone do something : using coercion • coercive measures/techniques/policies

— co·er·cive·ly adv

co·ex·ist /,kəʊɪg'zɪst/ verb -ists; -ist·ed; -ist·ing [no obj]

1 : to exist together or at the same time • They found proof that dinosaurs and turtles coexisted (with each other). • The species coexist in the same environment.

2 : to live in peace with each other • Can the two countries peacefully coexist?

— co·ex·is·tence /,kəʊɪg'zɪstəns/ noun [noncount] • the coexistence of dinosaurs and turtles • The countries live in peaceful coexistence.

C of C abbr Chamber of Commerce

C of E abbr Church of England

cof·fee /'kɑ:fi/ noun, pl -fees

1 : a dark brown drink made from ground coffee beans and boiled water [noncount] a cup of coffee • iced/decaffeinated coffee • I'll make/brew some coffee. [count] Would you like another coffee? [=another cup of coffee] — often used before another noun • a coffee cup • coffee mugs • coffee ice cream [=ice cream that has the flavor of coffee]

2 [noncount] : coffee beans • I bought a pound of coffee.

wake up and smell the coffee see ¹WAKE

coffee bar noun, pl ~ bars [count] : a place where coffee and usually other drinks and refreshments are sold coffee bean noun, pl ~ beans [count] : the bean of a tropical tree or bush from which coffee is made coffee break noun, pl ~ breaks [count] : a short period of time in which you stop working to rest and have coffee or some other refreshment

coffee cake noun, pl ~ cakes [count] US : a sweet, rich bread usually made with fruit, nuts, and spices and often eaten with coffee

cof·fee·house /'kɑ:fi,haʊs/ noun, pl -hous·es [count] : a business that sells coffee and usually other drinks and refreshments

coffee machine noun, pl ~ machines [count]

1 : a machine that you can buy cups of coffee from

2 Brit : COFFEEMAKER

cof·fee·mak·er /'kɑ:fi,meɪkər/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a small electrical machine that makes coffee — see picture at KITCHEN

cof·fee·pot /'kɑ:fi,pɑ:t/ noun, pl -pots [count] : a pot that is used for making and pouring coffee coffee shop noun, pl ~ shops [count] : a small restaurant that serves coffee and other drinks as well as simple foods • We bought a muffin at the hotel's coffee shop.

coffee table noun, pl ~ tables [count] : a long, low table that is usually placed in front of a sofa in someone's home — see picture at LIVING ROOM

coffee-table book noun, pl ~ books [count] : a large expensive book with many pictures that is typically placed on a table for people to look at in a casual way

cof·fer /'kɑ:fər/ noun, pl -fers

1 [count] : a box for holding money or other valuable things

2 coffers [plural] : money that is available for spending • the city's coffers [=treasury] • corporate coffers [=funds]

cof·fin /'kɑ:fən/ noun, pl -fins [count] : a box in which a dead person is buried

a nail in the/someone's coffin see ¹NAIL

cog /'kɑ:g/ noun, pl cogs [count]

1 a : any one of the small parts that stick out on the outer edge of a wheel or gear and that allow it to turn along with another wheel or gear b : COG-WHEEL

2 : someone or something that is thought of as being like a part of a machine • He was an important cog on that championship team. — often used to describe someone who is regarded as an unimportant part of a large business or organization • My brother is just a minor cog in the Hollywood machine. He works as an electrician for a film studio. • He's just a cog in the machine.

co·gent /'koudʒənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : very clear and easy for the mind to accept and believe • She offers some cogent [=convincing, persuasive] reasons for building new schools. • a cogent [=reasonable] argument

— co·gen·cy /'koudʒənsi/ noun [noncount] • I was impressed by the cogency of his arguments. — co·gent·ly adv

cog·i·tate /'kɑ:ʒə,teɪt/ verb -tates; -tat·ed; -ta·ting [no obj] formal : to think carefully and seriously about something • I was cogitating about/on my chances of failing.

— cog·i·ta·tion /,kɑ:ʒə'teɪʃən/ noun [noncount] a problem that requires further cogitation [=thought] [count] the cogitations of his mind

co·gnac /'koun,jæk, 'kɑ:n,jæk/ noun, pl -gnacs [count, noncount] : a kind of brandy that is made in France cog·nate /'kɑ:g,neɪt/ adj, linguistics : having the same origin • English “eat” and German “essen” are cognate. • Spanish and French are cognate languages.

— cognate noun, pl -nates [count] • “Eat” and “essen” are cognates.

cog·ni·tion /kɑ:g'nɪʃən/ noun [noncount] technical : conscious mental activities : the activities of thinking, understanding, learning, and remembering • disabilities affecting cognition and judgment cog·ni·tive /'kɑ:gnətɪv/ adj, technical : of, relating to, or involving conscious mental activities (such as thinking, understanding, learning, and remembering) • cognitive development/psychology/impairment

— cog·ni·tive·ly adv • cognitively impaired

cog·ni·zance also Brit cog·ni·sance /'kɑ:gnəzəns/ noun [noncount] formal : knowledge or awareness of something • They seemed to have no cognizance of the crime.

take cognizance of : to notice or give attention to (something) • He should take cognizance of those who disagree with his theory.

cog·ni·zant also Brit cog·ni·sant /'kɑ:gnəzənt/ adj, not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] formal : aware of something • He is cognizant of his duties as a father.

cog·no·scen·ti /,kɑ:njə'fenti/ noun

the cognoscenti : the people who know a lot about something • the jazz cognoscenti • the cognoscenti of the art world

cog·wheel /'kɑ:g,wɪl/ noun, pl -wheels [count] : a wheel with cogs : GEAR co·hab·it /kou'hæbət/ verb -its; -it·ed; -it·ing [no obj] formal : to live together and have a sexual relationship • They cohabited in a small apartment in the city.

— co·hab·i·ta·tion /kou,hæbə'teɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

co·here /kou'hiə/ verb -heres; -hered; -her·ing [no obj] formal : to be combined or united in a logical and effective way • There are several themes in the story but they never cohere (with one another).

co·her·ent /kou'hiərənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : logical and well-organized : easy to understand • He proposed the most coherent plan to improve the schools. • a coherent argument/essay

2 : able to talk or express yourself in a clear way that can be easily understood • The drunk man was not coherent. [=understandable]

3 : working closely and well together • They are able to function as a coherent group/team.

coffin

— co·her·ence /kou'hiərəns/ noun [noncount] • His films are confusing and have little coherence. • You make some interesting points, but the essay as a whole lacks coherence. [=it moves in a disorganized or confusing way from one idea to another] • The team lacks coherence. — co·her·ent·ly adv • The student has trouble expressing his ideas coherently. • They work coherently together.

co·he·sion /kou'hi:ʒən/ noun [noncount] : a condition in which people or things are closely united : UNITY • There was a lack of cohesion in the rebel army. • social cohesion

co·he·sive /kou'hi:sɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : closely united • Their tribe is a small but cohesive group.

2 : causing people to be closely united • Religion can be used as a cohesive social force.

— co·he·sive·ly adv — co·he·sive·ness noun [noncount]

co·hort /'kou,ho:t/ noun, pl -horts [count]

1 often disapproving : a friend or companion • The police arrested the gang's leader and his cohorts.

2 technical : a group of people used in a study who have something (such as age or social class) in common • Depression was a common problem for people in that age cohort.

coif /'kwa:f/ verb coifs; coiffed also coifed; coif·ing also coif·ing [+ obj] : to cut and arrange someone's hair — usually used as coiffed • a carefully coiffed man • her perfectly coiffed hair

coif·ure /kwa'fjuə/ noun, pl -fures [count] formal : a way of cutting and arranging someone's hair : HAIRDO • a fancy/stylish/elaborate coiffure

1 coil /'koɪəl/ verb coils; coiled; coil·ing : to wind (something) into circles [+ obj] She coiled the loose thread around her finger. • The cat coiled herself (up) into a ball on the rug. • A long scarf was coiled around her neck. [no obj] The cat coiled up into a ball. • The snake coiled around its prey.

— coiled adj • coiled wire

2 coil noun, pl coils [count]

1 : a long thin piece of material (such as a wire, string, or piece of hair) that is wound into circles • a coil of wire

2 technical : a wire wound into circles that carries electricity

3 : INTRAUTERINE DEVICE

1 coin /'kɔɪn/ noun, pl coins [count] : a small, flat, and usually round piece of metal issued by a government as money • gold/silver/copper coins • I have a dollar in coins.

the other/opposite/flip side of the coin : a different way of looking at or thinking about a situation • The economy is improving, but the other side of the coin is that inflation is becoming a bigger problem.

toss/flip a coin : to decide something by throwing a coin up in the air and seeing which side is shown after it lands • Let's toss a coin. Heads, we don't go; tails, we do.

two sides of the same coin : two things that are regarded as two parts of the same thing • These problems may seem unrelated but they are really two sides of the same coin.

2 coin verb coins; coined; coin·ing [+ obj]

1 : to create (a new word or phrase) that other people begin to use • The coach coined the phrase “refuse to lose.” • William Shakespeare is believed to have coined many words. ♦ The phrase to coin a phrase is sometimes used in a joking way to say that you know you are using a very common expression. • The couple lived happily ever after, to coin a phrase.

2 : to make (money in the form of coins) • The nation plans to coin more money.

coin it or coin money Brit, informal : to earn a lot of money quickly or easily • They are really coining it/money with their new CD.

coin·age /'kɔɪnɪdʒ/ noun, pl -ages

1 a [noncount] : the act of creating a new word or phrase that other people begin to use • “Blog” is a word of recent coinage. [=a word that was recently created] b [count] : a word that someone has created • The word “blog” is a recent coinage.

2 [noncount] a : money in the form of coins • Coinage was scarce in the colonies. • an expert in Chinese coinage b : the act or process of creating coins • the coinage of money

co·in·cide /,kɔwən'saɪd/ verb -cides; -cid·ed; -cid·ing [no obj]

1 : to happen at the same time as something else • The earthquakes coincided. — often + with • The population increase coincided with rapid industrial growth. • The parade is scheduled to coincide with the city's 200th birthday.

2 : to agree with something exactly : to be the same as something else • The goals of the business partners coincide. — often + with • Her job coincided well with her career goals.

co-in-ci-dence /kou'insədəns/ noun, pl -dences

1 : a situation in which events happen at the same time in a way that is not planned or expected [noncount] It was mere/pure/sheer coincidence that brought them together so far from Chicago. • By coincidence, every man in the room was named Fred. • Our meeting happened by coincidence. [=by chance] [count] "I'm going to Boston this weekend." "What a coincidence! I am too." • It was no coincidence that he quit his job at the bank a day after the robbery. • a series of strange coincidences • By a fortunate/happy coincidence, we arrived at the theater at the same time.

2 [singular] formal : the occurrence of two or more things at the same time • Scientists have no explanation for the coincidence of these phenomena.

3 [singular] formal : the state of two or more things being the same — often + of • There is a coincidence of interests between the companies. [=the companies share the same interests]

co-in-ci-dent /kou'insədənt/ adj, formal : happening at the same time • coincident events — usually + with • Animal hibernation is coincident with the approach of winter.

co-in-ci-den-tal /kou,insə'dentl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : happening because of a coincidence : not planned • The fact that he and his boss went to the same college was purely/entirely/completely coincidental. • a coincidental meeting — co-in-ci-den-tal-ly adv • Not coincidentally, they were both graduates of the same college.

co-i-tus /'kowətəs/ noun [noncount] technical : SEXUAL INTERCOURSE

— co-i-tal /'kowətəl/ adj

co-jo-nēs /kə'hou,neɪs/ noun [plural] US slang

1 : boldness or courage needed to do something • You don't have the/enough cojones [=guts, nerve] to fight me.

2 : a man's testicles • threatened to kick him in the cojones

¹coke /'kouk/ noun [noncount] : a black material made from coal that is used as fuel for heating — compare ²COKE

²coke noun [noncount] informal : COCAINE • He had a great career before he started snorting/using/taking coke. — compare ¹COKE

Coke /'kouk/ trademark — used for a cola drink coke-head /'kouk,həd/ noun, pl -heads [count] informal : a person who uses cocaine as an illegal drug : a cocaine addict

col. abbr column

Col. abbr colonel

co-la /'koulə/ noun, pl -las [count, noncount] : a sweet brown drink that contains many bubbles • a glass of cola

col-an-der /'kɑ:ləndə/ noun, pl -ders [count] : a bowl that has many small holes and that is used for washing or draining food — see picture at KITCHEN

¹cold /'kould/ adj cold-er; -est

1 : having a very low temperature • The water was too cold for swimming. • The weather has been unusually cold this spring. • a country with a cold climate • It was a long, cold winter. • It's cold outside, but the wind makes it feel even colder. • It's bitterly/freezing cold out there! • a cold, rainy day • metal that is cold to the touch • Her hands were icy cold. = They were as cold as ice.

2 : having a feeling of low body heat • Are you cold? I could turn up the temperature if you'd like.

3 a of food : not heated • a bowl of cold cereal • He ate cold pizza for breakfast. • We were happy to eat a hot meal rather than cold sandwiches. • cold meats b of drinks : served at a very low temperature or with ice • They're serving coffee, tea, and cold drinks. • a cold glass of milk • a cold beer

4 : not appealing or pleasant : causing a cold or unhappy feeling • the cold gray sky • the harsh cold lights of the hospital

5 : not friendly or emotional : lacking emotional warmth • Why is he so cold and distant toward me? • She gave me a cold stare and turned away. • I got a cold reception when I came home.

6 : not changed or affected by personal feelings or emotions • Like them or not, these are the cold facts! • It's time they took a cold, hard look at the situation.

7 : learned or memorized exactly — used with have • Keep repeating the lines until you have them (down) cold. [=until you have memorized them perfectly]

8 : unconscious or sleeping very deeply • He passed out cold. — usually used in the phrase out cold • She was out cold by eight o'clock. — see also knock cold at ¹KNOCK

9 : not fresh or strong : no longer easy to follow • The dogs picked up a cold scent. • The police had been hot on the trail of the escaped prisoners, but then the trail went cold.

10 : not close to finding something or solving a puzzle — used especially in children's games • You're getting warmer! You're getting hot! Oh, now you're getting colder!

11 : not having success or good luck • The team was hot in the first half, but their shooting turned cold in the second half. [=they missed a lot of shots in the second half] blow hot and cold see ¹BLOW

cast a cold eye on see ¹EYE

in cold blood see BLOOD

in the cold light of day : in the day when things can be seen clearly rather than at night • The house that had looked so sinister at night seemed much less frightening in the cold light of day. — sometimes used figuratively • She forced me to look at myself in the cold light of day, and I didn't like what I saw.

leave you cold ✧ Something that leaves you cold does not interest or excite you. • His movies leave me cold.

make someone's blood run cold see BLOOD

pour/throw cold water on see WATER

— cold-ly adv • "Your application has been denied," he said coldly. • She looked at me coldly and turned away. — cold-ness noun [noncount] • the icy coldness of winter • Why does he treat me with such coldness and reserve?

²cold noun, pl colds

1 [noncount] : a cold condition • I mind cold more than heat. • They died of exposure to cold. • She was shivering with cold. [=because she was cold]

2 the cold : cold weather • The cold really sets in around late November and doesn't let up until April. • I stood there shivering in the cold. • He waited outside for her in the bitter cold. • Come in out of the cold.

3 [count] : a common illness that affects the nose, throat, and eyes and that usually causes coughing, sneezing, etc. • It's not the flu, it's just a cold. • He got/caught a cold. = He came down with a cold. = (Brit) He went down with a cold. • the common cold — often used before another noun • the cold virus • cold symptoms/remedies — see also HEAD COLD blue with cold, blue from the cold see ¹BLUE

come in from the cold : to become part of a group or of normal society again after you have been outside it • a former spy who has come in from the cold leave (someone) out in the cold : to leave (someone) in a bad position : to not give (someone) the rights or advantages that are given to others • The changes benefit management but leave the workers out in the cold.

³cold adv

1 chiefly US a : in a very clear, complete, and definite way • She turned their offer down cold. [=flat] b : in a sudden way • He was telling me a story but stopped cold [=abruptly] when the door opened.

2 : without practicing or preparing before doing something • She was asked to perform the song cold.

cold-blood-ed /'kould'blədəd/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : showing no sympathy or mercy • cold-blooded [=ruthless] murderers : done in a planned way without emotion • a cold-blooded killing

2 [more ~; most ~] : based on facts : not affected by emotions • A cold-blooded [=cold-eyed, dispassionate] assessment of the situation showed that we had to take harsh measures.

3 biology : having cold blood : having a body temperature that is similar to the temperature of the environment • Reptiles are cold-blooded. — compare WARM-BLOODED

— cold-blood-ed-ly adv — cold-blood-ed-ness noun [noncount] cold call noun, pl ~ calls [count] : a telephone call made by a business to try to sell something ✧ Cold calls are made to people who have not been contacted before and have not asked to be called.

— cold-call verb -calls; -called; -call-ing [+ obj] • I cold-called the people on the list.

cold cash noun [noncount] : money that a person has and can use immediately • He paid $500 for it in cold cash. [=in cash and not with a check or credit card] cold-cock /'kould'ka:k/ verb -cocks; -cocked; -cock-ing [+ obj] US, informal : to hit (someone) very hard : to knock out (someone) with a hard punch • He got coldcocked by some guy in a bar.

cold comfort noun [noncount] : something that is good for a situation but does not make someone happy because the whole situation is still bad • The good news about the economy is cold comfort to people who have lost their jobs.

cold cream noun [noncount] : a cream that people use to clean the face or soften the skin • She uses cold cream to remove her eye makeup.

cold cuts noun [plural] chiefly US : cold cooked meats (such as turkey, roast beef, or ham) that have been cut into thin slices cold-eyed /'kould'aɪd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not affected by emotions • Unlike her sentimental sister, she has a cold-eyed [=cold-blooded, dispassionate] view of reality. • a cold-eyed analysis of the data

2 : having a cold or unfriendly appearance • a cold-eyed businessman cold feet noun [plural] : a feeling of worry or doubt that is strong enough to stop you from doing something that you planned to do • He was going to ask her to marry him, but he got cold feet and couldn't do it.

cold fish noun, pl ~ fish [count] : a cold and unfriendly person • She's a lovely person, but her husband's a bit of a cold fish.

cold frame noun, pl ~ frames [count] : a small wooden or metal frame covered with glass or plastic that is used for growing and protecting plants in cold weather cold front noun, pl ~ fronts [count] : the front edge of a moving mass of cold air • A cold front will move in tomorrow, bringing with it clear skies. — compare WARM FRONT cold-heart-ed /'kould'hɑ:təd/ adj [or more ~; most ~] : lacking kindness, sympathy, or sensitivity • She's a beautiful but coldhearted [=heartless] woman. • a coldhearted criminal • People are criticizing the government's coldhearted plans to stop funding programs for the poor. • a coldhearted refusal — opposite WARMHEARTED

— cold-heart-ed-ly adv — cold-heart-ed-ness noun [noncount]

cold shoulder noun

the cold shoulder : cold and unfriendly treatment from someone who knows you • He got the cold shoulder from his former boss when he saw him at a restaurant. • Most of the other professors gave him the cold shoulder.

— cold-shoul-der verb -ders; -dered; -der-ing [+ obj] • He was cold-shouldered by his former boss.

cold sore noun, pl ~ sores [count] : a small sore area around or inside the mouth that is caused by a virus cold storage noun [noncount] : the state of being kept in a cold place for later use • food that has been taken out of cold storage — often used figuratively • They put/kept the project in cold storage until funds were obtained for it.

cold sweat noun [singular] : a condition in which someone is sweating and feeling cold at the same time because of fear, illness, etc. • The patient feels faint and is in a cold sweat. • I break out in a cold sweat when I think about asking my boss for a pay raise.

cold turkey noun [noncount] informal : the act of stopping a bad habit (such as taking drugs) in a sudden and complete way • I tried lots of ways to stop smoking, even cold turkey.

— cold turkey adv • Instead of trying to quit cold turkey, why don't you slowly decrease the amount that you smoke? • Some people have to go cold turkey to stop.

cold war noun, pl ~ wars

1 the Cold War : the nonviolent conflict between the U.S. and the former U.S.S.R. after 1945 • the era of the Cold War

2 [count] : a conflict or dispute between two groups that does not involve actual fighting • the cold war between the party's more liberal and conservative members

— cold-war or Cold-War adj, always used before a noun • cold-war diplomacy • the Cold-War era cold warrior noun, pl ~ -riors [count] : a person who supported or participated in the Cold War between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R.

cole-slaw /'koul,sla:/ noun [noncount] : a salad made with chopped raw cabbage

col-ic /'kɑ:lɪk/ noun [noncount]

1 : a sharp sudden pain in the stomach

2 : a physical condition in which a baby is very uncomfortable and cries for long periods of time

— col-icky /'kɑ:lɪki/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a colicky baby

col-i-se-um /,kɑ:lə'si:jəm/ noun, pl -ums [count] chiefly US : a large stadium or building for sports or entertainment

co-li-tis /kou'lɪtəs/ noun [noncount] medical : an illness that causes pain and swelling in the colon

col-lab-o-rate /kə'læbə'reɪt/ verb -rates; -rat-ed; -rat-ing [no obj]

1 : to work with another person or group in order to achieve or do something • The two companies agreed to collaborate. — often + on or in • They collaborated on a book about dogs. • The pair collaborated with each other on the film. • Several doctors collaborated in the project. — sometimes followed by to + verb • They collaborated to write a book.

2 disapproving : to give help to an enemy who has invaded your country during a war • He was suspected of collaborating with the occupying army.

— col-lab-o-ra-tion /kə'læbə'reɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] The book is the product of a collaboration between two writers. = The book is a collaboration between two writers. • an artistic collaboration [noncount] The writers worked in collaboration to produce the book. • He worked in close collaboration with French scientists. • He was accused of collaboration with the enemy.

col-lab-o-ra-tive /kə'læbə'reɪtɪv/ adj : involving or done by two or more people or groups working together to achieve or do something • a collaborative project/study/effort • collaborative research

— col-lab-o-ra-tive-ly adv • They worked collaboratively on the project.

col-lab-o-ra-tor /kə'læbə'reɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

1 : a person who works with another person or group in order to achieve or do something • She thanked her collaborators on the project.

2 : a person who helps an enemy who has invaded his or her country during a war • He was accused of being a Nazi collaborator. [=someone who collaborated with the Nazis in World War II]

col-lage /kə'lɑ:ʒ/ noun, pl -lag-es

1 a [count] : a work of art that is made by attaching pieces of different materials (such as paper, cloth, or wood) to a flat surface • We made collages in art class. b [noncount] : the art or method of making collages • an artist known for her use of collage

2 [count] : a collection of different things • The album is a collage of several musical styles.

col-la-gen /'kɑ:lədʒən/ noun [noncount] : a substance that occurs naturally in the bodies of people and animals and is often put into creams and other products that are sold to make a person's skin smoother and less wrinkled

¹col-lapse /kə'læps/ verb -laps-es; -lapsed; -laps-ing

1 [no obj] : to break apart and fall down suddenly • The bridge/building collapsed. • The roof collapsed under a heavy load of snow. • The chair he was sitting in collapsed.

2 [no obj] a : to fall down or become unconscious because you are sick or exhausted • He collapsed on stage during the performance and had to be rushed to the hospital. b : to completely relax the muscles of your body because you are very tired, upset, etc. • She came home from work and collapsed on the sofa. • The crying child ran to his mother and collapsed in her arms.

3 [no obj] a : to fail or stop working suddenly : to break down completely • The civilization collapsed for reasons that are still unknown. • He warned that such measures could cause the economy to collapse. • Negotiations have completely collapsed. b : to lose almost all worth : to become much less valuable • The country's currency collapsed. • Oil prices had collapsed.

4 [no obj] medical : to become flat and empty • a blood vessel that collapsed • a collapsed lung

5 : to fold together [no obj] The stroller collapses easily. [+ obj] You can collapse the stroller easily and store it in the trunk of your car.

— col-laps-ible /kə'læpsəbəl/ adj • a collapsible chair/table/stroller

²collapse noun, pl -lapses

1 : a situation or occurrence in which something (such as a bridge, building, etc.) suddenly breaks apart and falls down [count] — usually singular • a fatal bridge collapse • The earthquake caused the collapse of several homes. • the collapse of the roof [noncount] The structure is in danger of collapse.

2 : a situation or occurrence in which someone suddenly falls down or becomes unconscious because of being sick or exhausted [count] — usually singular • After her collapse she was rushed to the hospital. • He suffered a collapse at work. [noncount] She was on the verge of collapse.

3 : a situation or occurrence in which something (such as a system or organization) suddenly fails : a complete failure or breakdown [count] — usually singular • the collapse of the Soviet Union • the collapse of negotiations • She moved to the city after the collapse of her marriage. [noncount] The country has endured civil war and economic collapse.

4 : a situation or occurrence in which something loses almost all of its worth or value [noncount] The country's currency is in danger of collapse. [count] — usually singular • a collapse in the value of their currency

¹col·lar /'kɑ:lə/ noun, pl -lars [count]

1 : a part of a piece of clothing that fits around a person's neck and is usually folded down • He wore a shirt with a tight-fitting collar. • She grabbed me by the collar. • He loosened his collar. [=unbuttoned the top button of his shirt] — see color picture on page C14; see also BLUE-COLLAR, PINK-COLLAR, WHITE-COLLAR

2 : a band of leather, plastic, etc., worn around an animal's neck • I bought a new collar for the dog. — see also FLEA COLLAR

3 technical : a ring or band used to hold something (such as a pipe or a part of a machine) in place

hot under the collar see ¹HOT

²collar verb -lars; -lared; -lar·ing [+ obj] informal

1 : to catch or arrest (someone) • The police collared the guy a few blocks from the scene.

2 : to stop (someone) in order to talk : to force (someone) to have a conversation • He collared me on my way out the door.

col·lar·bone /'kɑ:lə,boun/ noun, pl -bones [count] : a bone that connects the shoulder to the base of the neck — called also clavicle; see picture at HUMAN

col·lard greens /'kɑ:ləd-/ noun [plural] US : the dark green leaves of a plant that is grown especially in the southern U.S. ♦ Collard greens are cooked and eaten as a vegetable. — see color picture on page C4

col·late /kə'leɪt, 'kɒl,leɪt/ verb -lates; -lat·ed; -lat·ing [+ obj]

1 : to gather together information from different sources in order to study it carefully • They are still collating the data.

2 : to arrange (sheets of paper) in the correct order • The photocopier will collate the pages of the report.

— col·la·tion /kə'leɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount]

¹col·lat·er·al /kə'lætərəl/ noun [noncount] : something that you promise to give someone if you cannot pay back a loan • She put up her house as collateral for the loan. [=she agreed that she would give up her house if she did not repay the loan]

²collateral adj, formal : related but not in a direct or close way • collateral relatives • the collateral effects of the government's policies

collateral damage noun [noncount] : deaths, injuries, and damage to the property of people who are not in the military that happens as a result of the fighting in a war

col·league /'kɑ:li:g/ noun, pl -leagues [count] somewhat formal : a person who works with you : a fellow worker • A colleague of mine will be speaking at the conference.

¹col·lect /kə'lekt/ verb -lects; -lect·ed; -lect·ing

1 [+ obj] a : to get (things) from different places and bring them together • They hope to collect over 1,000 signatures on the petition. • He collected stories from all over the world. • They collected information about the community. • We collected soil samples from several areas on the site. b : to get (one or more things) from a place • We collected our baggage from/at the baggage claim at the airport. • I left my suit at the cleaners and I have to collect it today.

2 : to get (similar things) and bring them together as a hobby [+ obj] He collects postage stamps. • She enjoys collecting antique teapots. [no obj] He has an impressive stamp collection, though he has been collecting for only a few years.

3 [+ obj] : to get control of (your thoughts, emotions, etc.) • I took a minute to collect my thoughts. • She stopped briefly to collect [=calm] herself.

4 a [+ obj] : to ask for and get (money that someone owes you) • I collected the rent from the tenants. • The city collects property taxes. b : to be given or paid (money) [+ obj] She collects social security benefits. [no obj] — + on • He is collecting on his disability insurance.

5 : to ask people to give (money or other things) to a group that helps people, a political candidate, etc. [+ obj] She has begun collecting contributions from supporters. — often + for • We collected $5,000 for the hospital. [no obj] I am col- lecting for the local women's shelter.

6 : to come together in a large amount as time passes [no obj] Junk started collecting in the attic soon after they moved in. • Dust had collected on the dashboard. • Snow was collecting on the driveway. [+ obj] Garbage can collect germs. — see also collect dust at ¹DUST

7 [+ obj] : to go somewhere in order to get (someone you will bring or take to another place) • She collected [=picked up] the children after school. • I'm going to collect him from the airport.

collect up [phrasal verb] collect up (something) or collect (something) up Brit : to gather (things) together • I collected up [=picked up] the dishes and brought them to the kitchen. • The children collected their toys up and put them away.

²collect adj, US, of a telephone call : paid for by the person who is receiving the call • a collect phone call • The operator asked me if I would accept a collect call from John Smith.

— collect adv • You can call me collect. [=you can call me and reverse the charges]

col·lect·ed /kə'lektəd/ adj

1 always used before a noun : brought together in a group • the collected works of Shakespeare

2 not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : calm and in control of your emotions • She seemed completely cool, calm, and collected during her speech.

¹col·lect·ible or chiefly Brit col·lect·able /kə'lektəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : good for a collection : considered valuable by collectors • The shop sells antiques and various collectible items. • That kind of toy is very collectible [=popular with collectors] right now.

²collectible or chiefly Brit collectable noun, pl -ibles [count] : something that is considered valuable by collectors and usually kept as part of a group of similar things : a collectible thing • She displays her collectibles in a glass case.

col·lec·tion /kə'lekʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : the act or process of getting things from different places and bringing them together [noncount] a system of tax collection • The technology makes data collection easier. [count] There will be a trash collection this week.

2 [count] : a group of interesting or beautiful objects brought together in order to show or study them or as a hobby • The museum's collection is one of the best in the country. • his baseball card collection — often + of • He has a huge collection of CDs. • She has an impressive collection of modern art. • He has quite a collection of exercise equipment. — sometimes used figuratively • She has acquired quite a collection of friends/contacts/experiences/stories.

3 [count] : a request for money in order to help people or to pay for something important • We took up a collection for the school renovations; also : the money collected in this way • Ten percent of the collection goes to the city's shelters for homeless people. — often used before another noun • a collection plate/box

4 [count] : a group of clothes that a fashion designer has created • a fashion show featuring his spring collection

5 [count] : a group of different writings that are brought together in one book • You should consider publishing these stories as a collection. — often + of • I have a collection of her short stories.

¹col·lec·tive /kə'lektiv/ adj, always used before a noun : shared or done by a group of people : involving all members of a group • We made a collective decision to go on strike. • The incident became part of our collective memory. • a collective effort • the collective wisdom of generations • a collective noun [=a noun like "team" or "flock" that refers to a group of people or things]

— col·lec·tive·ly adv • the group of languages known collectively as Romance languages

²collective noun, pl -tives [count] : a business or organization that is owned by the people who work there; also : the people who own such a business or organization collective bargaining noun [noncount] : talks between an employer and the leaders of a union about how much a group of workers will be paid, how many hours they will work, etc. • The next round of collective bargaining is scheduled for September. — often used before another noun • the collective bargaining process • collective bargaining talks • a collective bargaining agreement collective farm noun, pl ~ farms [count] : a farm that is run by several farmers and controlled by the government

col·lec·tiv·ism /kə'lektivɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : a political or economic system in which the government owns businesses, land, etc.

— col·lec·tiv·ist /kə'lektivɪst/ adj • collectivist ideology collective noun noun, pl ~ nouns [count] technical : a word (such as family or herd) that names a group of people or things

col·lec·tor /kə'lektər/ noun, pl -tors [count]

1 : a person who collects certain things as a hobby • He is an avid stamp collector. • The painting was purchased by a private collector.

2 : a person whose job is to collect something (such as trash or money) • The trash collectors came early today. • a tax/bill/debt collector collector's item noun, pl ~ items [count] : an object that people want because it is rare or valuable • Her paintings have become collector's items.

col·lege /'kɑ:lɪdʒ/ noun, pl -leges

1 : a school in the U.S. that you go to after high school : a school that offers courses leading to a degree (such as a bachelor's degree or an associate's degree) [count] She teaches art at a local college. • He graduated from one of the country's best colleges. • She attended a business college. [noncount] He attended college for several years, but didn't graduate. • She dropped out of college. • Where did you go to college? [=what college did you attend?] • I went to Mount Holyoke College. • When I was a junior in college, I spent a semester in Spain. — often used before another noun • college students/courses/professors • He is a college graduate. • She was the first in her family to get a college education. • a college campus • college athletic programs — compare UNIVERSITY; see also COMMUNITY COLLEGE, JUNIOR COLLEGE, STATE COLLEGE

2 [count] : a part of an American university that offers courses in a specified subject — often + of • He attended the university's college of dentistry/engineering/medicine.

3 a : a school in Britain that offers advanced training in a specified subject [count] an arts college • the Edinburgh College of Art • the London College of Fashion [noncount] She is attending fashion college. b [count] : a separate part of a large British university where students live and take courses • Balliol College at Oxford

4 [count] formal : an organized group of people who have similar jobs or interests • She is a member of the American College of Cardiology. • the college of cardinals — see also ELECTORAL COLLEGE

col·le·giate /kə'li:ʒət/ adj : of or relating to a college or its students • collegiate athletics

col·lide /kə'laid/ verb -lides; -lid-ed; -lid-ing [no obj]

1 : to hit something or each other with strong force : to crash together or to crash into something • Two football players collided on the field. — often + with • Two football players collided with each other on the field. • The car collided with a truck/tree.

2 — used of situations in which people or groups disagree or are very different from each other • Their ideas for the company often collide. [=clash] • Two worlds collide in a new novel about an American family living in Japan. — often + with • The candidate's opinions sometimes collided with his party's agenda.

col·lie /'kɑ:li/ noun, pl -lies [count] : a large type of dog with long hair and a long pointed nose

col·lier /'kɑ:lɪər/ noun, pl -liers [count] chiefly Brit, old-fashioned : a coal miner

col·liery /'kɑ:lɪəri/ noun, pl -lier-ies [count] chiefly Brit : a coal mine and the buildings that are near it col·li·sion /kə'li:ʒən/ noun, pl -sions [count] : an act of colliding: such as a : a crash in which two or more things or people hit each other • The car was destroyed in the collision. • There was nothing I could do to avoid a head-on collision. [=a crash of two vehicles that are moving directly toward each other] — often + between or with • He was injured in a collision between a car and an SUV. • She hurt her shoulder in a collision with another player. b : a situation in which people or groups disagree : a clash or conflict — often + between • He reported on the latest collision between the two leaders.

collision course noun

on a collision course ♦ Two people or things that are on a collision course are moving and will crash into each other if one of them doesn't change direction. • The two airplanes were on a collision course. • The comet was on a collision course with the planet. — often used figuratively • The decision put us on a collision course with economic disaster.

col·lo·cate /'kɑ:lə,keɪt/ verb -cates; -cat-ed; -cat-ing [no obj] technical : to appear often with another word • The word “college” collocates with “student.”

col·lo·ca·tion /kə'lə'keɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : use of certain words together • patterns of collocation

2 [count] : a particular combination of words • a common collocation

col·lo·qui·al /kə'loukwɪjəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : used when people are speaking in an informal way • a colloquial word/expression

2 : using an informal style • a colloquial writer

— col·lo·qui·al·ly adv • The phrase is used colloquially but not in writing. • The drink is known colloquially as a “brown cow.”

col·lo·qui·al·ism /kə'loukwɪjəlɪzəm/ noun, pl -isms [count] : a word or phrase that is used mostly in informal speech : a colloquial expression • His English is very good, but he has trouble understanding certain colloquialisms.

col·lude /kə'lu:d/ verb -ludes; -lud-ed; -lud-ing [no obj] : to work with others secretly especially in order to do something illegal or dishonest • The two companies had colluded to fix prices. — often + in or with • She colluded in misleading the public. • He is accused of colluding with criminals.

col·lu·sion /kə'lu:ʒən/ noun [noncount] : secret cooperation for an illegal or dishonest purpose • The company was acting in collusion with manufacturers to inflate prices. — often + between • She uncovered collusion between city officials and certain local businesses.

co·logne /kə'loun/ noun, pl -lognes : a liquid that has a light, pleasant smell and that people put on their skin : a light kind of perfume that does not have a strong smell [noncount] She put on some cologne and combed her hair. • a TV commercial for men's cologne [count] TV commercials for men's colognes — called also eau de cologne

¹co·lon /'koulən/ noun, pl -lons [count] medical : the main part of the large intestine • He died of colon cancer. — see picture at HUMAN — compare ²COLON

²colon noun, pl -lons [count] : the punctuation mark : used in writing and printing to direct attention to what follows it (such as a list, explanation, or quotation) — compare ¹COLON

col·o·nel /'kənl/ noun, pl -nels [count] : an officer of high rank in the army, air force, or marines : a military officer who ranks above a major • He retired as a colonel in the air force.

¹co·lo·nial /kə'louniəl/ adj

1 a : of or relating to a colony • colonial possessions/administration • a colonial city b : owning or made up of colonies • The country was a colonial power. • a colonial nation and its colonial empire

2 or Colonial : of or relating to the original 13 colonies forming the United States • The book describes life in Colonial America. • an example of colonial architecture/furniture • The port had been very important in colonial times.

3 : in a style that was popular in the U.S. during the American colonial period (before 1776) • They live in a colonial (style) house.

²colonial noun, pl -nials [count]

1 or Colonial : a two-story house built in a style that was first popular in the U.S. during the American colonial period (before 1776) • They bought a Colonial on a quiet street.

2 : a person who is part of a colony : COLONIST • increasing tension between colonials and the mother country

co·lo·nial·ism /kə'louniəlɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : control by one country over another area and its people

— co·lo·nial·ist /kə'louniəlɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] — colonialist adj • the colonialist past

col·o·nist /'kɑ:lənɪst/ noun, pl -nists [count]

1 : a person who lives in a colony

2 : a person who helps to create a colony • British colonists settled the area in the 18th century.

col·o·nize also Brit col·o·nise /'kɑ:lə,naɪz/ verb -niz-es; -nized; -niz-ing [+ obj]

1 : to create a colony in or on (a place) : to take control of (an area) and send people to live there • England colonized Australia. • The area was colonized in the 18th century.

2 : to move into and live in (a place) as a new type of plant or animal • Weeds quickly colonized the field. • The island had been colonized by plants and animals.

— col·o·ni·za·tion also Brit col·o·ni·sa·tion /,kɑ:lənə-

ˈzeɪfən, Brit ˌkɒləˈnaɪˈzeɪfən/ noun [noncount] • European colonization of Asia — col-o-niz-er also Brit col-o-nis-er noun, pl -ers [count] • Certain plants are prolific colonizers. • the influence of Dutch and French colonizers

col-on-nade /ˌkɑːləˈneɪd/ noun, pl -nades [count] : a row of columns usually holding up a roof • A colonnade surrounds the courtyard.

co-lo-nos-co-py /ˌkɒləˈnɔːskəpi/ noun, pl -pies [count] medical : a medical procedure in which a special tube-shaped instrument is used to take pictures of the inside of someone's colon

col-o-ny /ˈkɑːləni/ noun, pl -nies [count]

1 a : an area that is controlled by or belongs to a country and is usually far away from it • Massachusetts was one of the original 13 British colonies that later became the United States. • a former French colony in Africa b : a group of people sent by a country to live in such a colony • a colony of settlers

2 : a group of plants or animals living or growing in one place • an ant colony • a colony of bacteria

3 : a group of people who are similar in some way and who live in a certain area • an artist colony • a leper colony; also : the land or buildings used by such a group

¹col-or (US) or Brit col-our /ˈkɒlə/ noun, pl -ors

1 : a quality such as red, blue, green, yellow, etc., that you see when you look at something [count] The color of blood is red. • What color are your eyes? • What color paint shall we use? • Blue and green are my favorite colors. • The pillows are all different colors. [noncount] The room needs more color. • In early summer the garden is full of color. • She added color to her outfit with a bright scarf. • The leaves are starting to change color. [=turn from green to orange, yellow, red, etc.] • His eyes were bluish-green in color. • She used red peppers in the salad for color. [=to make it more colorful] — see pictures of colors starting on page C1

2 : something used to give color to something : a pigment or dye [count] She's using a new lip/nail color. • The color bled when I washed the shirt. [noncount] a brand of hair color

3 [noncount] a : the use or combination of colors • a painter who is a master of color b — used to describe a photograph, television picture, etc., that includes colors and that is not black and white • The book includes over 100 photographs in (full) color. [=not black and white] — often used before another noun • a color photograph • color printing/television — see also in living color at LIVING

4 [noncount] : the color of a person's skin as a mark of race • discrimination on the basis of sex or color ♦ A person of color is a person who is not white. • The book is about her experience as a woman of color in a mostly white community.

5 [noncount] : a pink or red tone in a person's face especially because of good health, excitement, or embarrassment • His color is not good. [=he looks ill] • She has some good color in her cheeks. • He could feel the color rising in his cheeks. [=he could feel himself blushing] • The color drained from her face. [=the blood left her face; she became very pale]

6 colors [plural] : something (such as a flag) that shows that someone or something belongs to a specific group • The ship sails under Swedish colors.

7 [noncount] : interest or excitement • Her comments added color to the broadcast. [=made the broadcast more enjoyable or entertaining] — see also LOCAL COLOR, OFF-COLOR show your true colors : to show what you are really like : to reveal your real nature or character • He seemed nice at first, but he showed his true colors during the crisis.

a horse of a different color see ¹HORSE

with flying colors see ¹FLYING

²color (US) or Brit colour verb -ors; -ored; -or-ing

1 [+obj] : to give color to (something) : to change the color of (something) • We colored the water with red ink. • Does she color [=dye] her hair?

2 : to draw with crayons, markers, colored pencils, etc. : to fill in a shape or picture using markers, crayons, colored pencils, etc. [no obj] The children were busy coloring in their coloring books. [+obj] My nephew colored a picture for me. • The child colored the sky blue and the sun yellow. — see also COLOR IN (below)

3 [+obj] : to change (someone's ideas, opinion, attitude, etc.) in some way • He never lets rumors color [=influence, affect] his opinion of anyone. — often used as (be) colored • Her judgment was colored by reports of the student's behavioral problems. • His feelings about divorce are colored by his own experience as a child.

4 [no obj] literary : to become red in the face especially because of embarrassment • She colors [=blushes] easily. — often + at • She colored at the mention of his name.

color in [phrasal verb] color in (something) or color (something) in : to add color to (a shape or picture) by using markers, crayons, colored pencils etc. • She colored in the picture. — see also ²COLOR 2 (above)

col-or-ant (US) or Brit col-our-ant /ˈkɒlərənt/ noun, pl -ants [count, noncount] : COLORING 2

col-or-a-tion (chiefly US) or Brit col-our-a-tion /ˌkɒləˈreɪʃən/ noun

1 [noncount] biology : the color or patterns of color on an animal or plant • the bird's brilliant coloration [=coloring] • the coloration of a flower

2 : the colors of an object (such as a piece of artwork or furniture) [noncount] the bright yellow coloration of the curtains [count] wine glasses with circle designs and blue and green colorations

3 : a quality or characteristic [noncount] the novel's political coloration [count] He attempted to give a religious coloration to the war.

col-or-a-tu-ra /ˌkɒlərəˈtuərə, Brit ˌkɒlərəˈtuərə/ noun, pl -ras

1 [noncount] : a style of singing usually in opera that contains a lot of high notes sung very fast • a performance without much coloratura

2 [count] : a singer who is able to perform this type of music — often used before another noun • a coloratura soprano • coloratura roles

col-or-blind (US) or Brit col-our-blind /ˈkɒləˈblaɪnd/ adj

1 : unable to see the difference between certain colors • Many color-blind people cannot distinguish between red and green.

2 : treating people of different skin colors equally : not affected by racial prejudice • The company claims to be color-blind. • color-blind policies

— color blindness (US) or Brit colour blindness noun [noncount] • He has a common form of color blindness.

co-lo-rec-tal /ˌkɒləʊˈrektəl/ adj, always used before a noun, medical : of or relating to the lower part of the large intestine : of or relating to the colon and the rectum • col-orectal cancer

col-ored (US) or Brit col-oured /ˈkɒləd/ adj

1 : having color : not black or white • We decorated the Christmas tree with colored lights. • colored glass/pencils

2 : influenced by a person's feelings or prejudices • He gave a highly colored account of the events.

3 old-fashioned + sometimes offensive a : of a race other than white; especially : ¹BLACK 2 • a colored man/woman/child • colored people/folks b : of or relating to people who are not white • The town she grew up in had a colored church and a white church. [=a church attended by black people and a church attended by white people]

col-or-fast (US) or Brit col-our-fast /ˈkɒləˌfæst, Brit

ˈkɒləˌfæst/ adj : able to keep the same color even if washed, placed in light, etc. • a colorfast carpet • colorfast printing ink

col-or-ful (US) or Brit col-our-ful /ˈkɒləfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having a bright color or a lot of different colors : full of color • I wore a colorful outfit. • the bird's colorful feathers

2 : interesting or exciting • He gave a colorful account of his travels. • She has a colorful [=bright, cheerful] personality. • He was a colorful character. [=a very unusual person]

3 ♦ If you use colorful language you use words that are usually considered rude or offensive. • He's been known to use some colorful language when he starts talking about politics.

— col-or-ful-ly (US) or Brit col-our-ful-ly /ˈkɒləfli/ adv • The room was colorfully decorated.

color guard (US) or Brit colour guard noun [count] : a person in uniform who holds a flag in a ceremony or parade

col-or-ing (US) or Brit col-our-ing /ˈkɒləɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 [noncount] : the act of adding colors to something (such as a picture in a coloring book) • Her favorite activities include playing with stuffed animals and coloring.

2 : something that produces color [noncount] Our product contains no artificial coloring or flavoring. • She added some blue food coloring to the icing. [count] artificial colorings • (US) a variety of hair colorings [= (Brit) colourants]

3 [noncount] a : the color of a person's skin and hair • This scarf will look great with your coloring. • He has very light coloring. b : the color of an animal or plant • a bird's bright coloring [=coloration]

4 [noncount] : the way color is used • His paintings are notable for their bright coloring.

coloring book (US) or Brit colouring book noun, pl ~ books [count] : a book of pictures that you color in with crayons, markers, etc. • I bought my son a new coloring book.

col-or-ist (US) or Brit col-our-ist /'kælərɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count]

1 : a painter who uses color in interesting and effective ways
2 : a person who dyes people's hair

col-or-less (US) or Brit col-our-less /'kælələs/ adj

1 : lacking color • a colorless liquid/gas

2 [more ~; most ~] : dull or boring : not interesting • colorless writing color line noun, pl ~ lines [singular] US : a set of customs or laws that does not allow black people to do the same things or be in the same places as white people • Jackie Robinson broke American baseball's color line. [=he was the first black man to play professional baseball with white players] — called also (Brit) colour bar color scheme (US) or Brit colour scheme noun, pl ~ schemes [count] : a particular combination of colors • They chose an unusual color scheme for the living room.

co-los-sal /kə'lɑ:səl/ adj : very large or great • a colossal [=gigantic] statue • Their business partnership turned out to be a colossal [=massive] failure. • The meeting was a colossal [=huge, enormous] waste of time.

col-os-se-um /,kɑ:lə'si:jəm/ noun, pl -ums

1 Colosseum [singular] : an outdoor arena built in Rome in the first century A.D.

2 [count] chiefly US : a large stadium or building for sports or entertainment : COLISEUM

co-los-sus /kə'lɑ:səs/ noun, pl -los-si /-'lɑ:,saɪ/ [count]

1 : a huge statue • an ancient Egyptian colossus

2 : a very large or important person or thing • The building is a colossus of steel and glass. • a corporate colossus

colour Brit spelling of COLOR

colour supplement noun, pl ~ -ments [count] Brit : a magazine printed in color that is added to a newspaper usually on a Saturday or Sunday colt /'kəʊlt/ noun, pl colts [count]

1 : a young male horse — compare FILLY, FOAL

2 Brit : a member of a sports team for young people

col-um-bine /'kɑ:ləm,bain/ noun, pl -bines [count, noncount] : a plant that has flowers with five petals that are thin and pointed

Co-lum-bus Day /kə'lʌmbəs-/ noun [singular] : the second Monday in October observed as a legal holiday in many states of the U.S. in honor of the arrival of Christopher Columbus in the Bahamas in 1492

col-umn /'kɑ:ləm/ noun, pl -umns [count]

1 : a long post made of steel, stone, etc., that is used as a support in a building • a facade with marble columns

2 a : a group of printed or written items (such as numbers or words) shown one under the other down a page • Add the first column of numbers. b : any one of two or more sections of print that appear next to each other on a page and are separated by a blank space or a line • The article takes up three columns. • The error appears at the bottom of the second column. — see picture at TABLE

3 : an article in a newspaper or magazine that appears regularly and that is written by a particular writer or deals with a particular subject • a sports/gossip column • She writes a weekly column for the paper. — see also ADVICE COLUMN

4 : something that is tall and thin in shape — often + of • Columns of smoke rose from the chimneys. — see also STEERING COLUMN

5 : a long row of people or things — often + of • a column of troops/cars

col-um-nist /'kɑ:ləmnɪst/ noun, pl -nists [count] : a person who writes a newspaper or magazine column • a gossip/sports columnist

com /'kɑ:m/ abbr commercial organization — used in an Internet address to show that it belongs to a company or business • www.Merriam-Webster.com — compare DOT-COM

co-ma /'kəʊmə/ noun, pl -mas : a state in which a sick or injured person is unconscious for a long time [count] He went into a coma. • She was in a coma for a year. [noncount] patients in (a state of) coma

Co-man-che /kə'mæntʃi/ noun, pl Comanche or Co-

man-ches [count] : a member of a Native American people of the southwestern U.S.

co-ma-tose /'kəʊmə,təʊs/ adj : in a coma • She lay in a comatose state. • comatose patients

1 comb /'kəʊm/ noun, pl combs [count]

1 a : a flat piece of plastic or metal with a row of thin teeth that is used for making hair neat — see picture at GROOMING b : a device that is used for separating or straightening fibers (such as wool fibers)

2 : a soft part on top of the head of some birds (such as chickens) • Roosters have red combs.

3 : HONEYCOMB

go over/through with a fine-tooth comb see FINE-TOOTH COMB

2 comb verb combs; combed; comb-ing

1 [+ obj] : to smooth, arrange, or separate (hair or fibers) with a comb • Go comb your hair. • He combed back his hair. • The wool is combed before being spun into yarn.

2 : to search (something) very thoroughly in order to find something [+ obj] We combed the beach for shells. [no obj] — usually + through • They got the information by combing through old records.

comb out [phrasal verb] comb out (hair) or comb (hair) out : to make (hair) neat and smooth with a comb • She sat in front of the mirror combing out her hair. • Her mother combed the tangles out.

1 com-bat /'kɑ:m,bæt/ noun [noncount] : active fighting especially in a war • troops ready for combat • Some of these soldiers have never seen combat. • He was killed in combat. • armed/unarmed combat — often used before another noun • combat operations/missions • combat boots • a combat zone

2 com-bat /kəm'bæt/ verb -bats; -bat-ed also -bat-ted; -bat-ing also -bat-ting [+ obj]

1 : to try to stop (something) from happening or getting worse • The drug helps combat infection. • She dedicated her life to combating poverty. • Exercise can help combat the effects of stress. • The mayor pledged to combat crime.

2 formal : to fight against (someone) : to engage in combat against (an enemy) • They have been combating the rebels for months.

com-bat-ant /kəm'bætənt, Brit 'kɒmbətənt/ noun, pl -ants [count] : a person, group, or country that fights in a war or battle • Britain was a main/major combatant in World War II. — often used before another noun • combatant ships/nations combat fatigue noun [noncount] : BATTLE FATIGUE

com-bat-ive /kəm'bætrɪv, Brit 'kɒmbætrɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing a willingness to fight or argue • a combative attitude/style • When the police tried to arrest him, he became combative.

— com-bat-ive-ness noun [noncount] • a lawyer known for his combateness

com-bi-na-tion /,kɑ:mbə'neɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a result or product of combining two or more things or people • Water is a combination of hydrogen and oxygen. • The car's interior is available in various/different color combinations. • It's an unusual combination. • A combination of factors led to her decision. • The milkshakes come in chocolate, strawberry, and vanilla, or any combination of these. • He has the right combination of talent and experience. • Together on one team they are a winning combination. [=they work, perform, etc., very well together]

2 : an act of combining two or more things [count] The combination of these two chemicals can cause an explosion. [noncount] The drugs should not be taken in combination. [=should not be taken together] • It can be used by itself or in combination with [=together with] our other products.

3 [count] : a particular series of numbers or letters that is used to open a lock • What is the combination to the safe?

4 — used to describe something that can be used in more than one way • The tool is a combination jackknife and bottle opener. • The book is a combination dictionary and thesaurus.

combination lock noun, pl ~ locks [count] : a lock that can only be opened by using a particular series of numbers or letters combination therapy noun, pl ~ pies [count, noncount] medical : the use of more than one method and especially more than one drug to treat a disease

1 com-bine /kəm'bain/ verb -bines; -bined; -bin-ing

1 [+ obj] : to cause (two or more things) to be together or to work together • We decided to combine both methods/techniques. • The groups have combined forces to lobby for reform. — often + with • The drug may be combined with other treatments.

2 a [+ obj] : to mix (two or more things) together to form a single thing • Combine the ingredients (together) in a large bowl. • combining oxygen and/with hydrogen b [no obj] : to come together and form a single thing or group • Atoms combine [=unite] to form molecules. • The two companies combined [=merged] under his leadership.

combination lock

3 [+ obj] : to have (two or more different things) at the same time • a writer whose novels combine imagination and scholarship • She found it difficult to combine a career and family. • This method of payment combines the advantages of cash with the convenience of a check.

4 [no obj] : to act together • Many factors combined to cause the recession. • All of these elements combine to make a wonderfully entertaining movie.

2 com·bine /'kɑ:m,baɪn/ noun, pl -bines [count]

1 : a group of people or organizations that work together • The teams belong to a combine that scouts new players. • a political combine

2 : a machine that cuts crops (such as corn or wheat) and separates the seeds of the plant from the rest of the plant

com·bined /kəm'baɪnd/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : formed or produced by adding two or more things or amounts together • They've raised a combined total of one thousand dollars. • The combined population of the two cities is over half a million.

2 : acting together • She is suffering from the combined effects of stress and fatigue. • The company succeeded thanks to the combined efforts of all its employees.

combining form noun, pl ~ forms [count] linguistics : a form of a word (such as electro- in electromagnetic or mal- in malodorous) that only occurs as a part of other words

com·bo /'kɑ:mbou/ noun, pl -bos [count]

1 : a small musical group that plays jazz or dance music • a three-piece jazz combo

2 informal : a combination of different things • The carpet design comes in three different color combos. • a washer-dryer combo • I ordered the seafood combo. [=a dish that includes different kinds of seafood]

com·bus·ti·ble /kəm'bastəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : able to be burned easily • combustible gases/materials • The fuel is highly/very combustible. — sometimes used figuratively • a combustible situation [=a situation in which people are angry and could become violent]

— combustible noun, pl -tibles [count] • combustibles such as coal and gasoline

com·bus·tion /kəm'bastʃən/ noun [noncount] technical

1 : the act of burning • Combustion may occur at high temperatures. — see also SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION

2 technical : a chemical reaction that occurs when oxygen combines with other substances to produce heat and usually light • This ratio of air to fuel results in better combustion.

— see also INTERNAL COMBUSTION ENGINE

combustion chamber noun, pl ~ -bers [count] : a closed space inside an engine in which fuel is burned — see picture at ENGINE

1 come /'kɑm/ verb comes; came /'keɪm/; come; com·ing [no obj]

1 : to move toward someone or something • Please come here for a minute. I want to show you something. • Don't come near me. • She came quietly into the room. • He came home late again last night. • The dog began to growl as we came closer. • Here he comes. [=he is approaching us] • The captain of the ship invited us to come aboard. • The dog came running when she called it. [=the dog ran to her when she called it] • If you need me I'll come running. [=I'll come to you very quickly]

2 : to go or travel to a place • People come from all over the country to see him. • Some people came by car while others came by plane. • Why don't you come and/to stay with us for a while? • My parents are coming for a visit. = My parents are coming to visit. • I hope you'll come (to/and) visit us soon. • About a hundred people are coming to the wedding. • People come many miles to visit the shrine. • They came very far [=they traveled a long way] to see you. • My brother is coming down [=traveling south] to visit me this week, and I'll be going up to visit him next month. • She lives uptown and rarely comes down to this part of the city. • My parents are coming up [=traveling north] to visit me this weekend. • She lives downtown and rarely comes up to this part of the city. — often used figuratively • We've come so far [=we've made so much progress]; we can't stop now. • It's remarkable to think of how far she's come since she started her career. — see also COME A LONG WAY (below)

3 of mail : to be delivered to a place • Did/has the mail come yet? • The mail comes every day at four o'clock. • A letter came for you.

4 a : to have or form an opinion, attitude, etc., after time passes — followed by to + verb • I didn't like him at first, but I eventually came to regard him as a friend. • He has come to be considered one of the leading candidates for the job. • They came to believe that no one would help them. • She came to be known [=she became known] as the world's greatest dancer. • The food wasn't as good as I've come to expect. b : to do something specified — followed by to + verb • I don't know how he came to acquire the property. [=I don't know how he acquired the property] • How did you come to have such an idea? [=what caused you to have such an idea?] • How did she come to be there? [=why was she there?]

5 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to reach a specified level, part, etc. • Her dress came (down) to her ankles. • The water came almost up to the window.

6 [linking verb] : to reach a specified state or condition • My shoe came untied. • The screw came loose. • Things will come [=become] clear if we are patient. • The party suddenly came alive [=the party suddenly became lively] • The rent is coming due next week. [=the rent will be due next week]

7 a : to happen or occur • These changes couldn't have come at a better time. • I promise that no harm will come to you. [=I promise that you will not be harmed] • Her success came at a high price. [=she paid a high price for her success] • It's important for children to learn about the people and things that came before us. • Success didn't come easy for her. [=she did not achieve success easily] b : to arrive or happen after time has passed • The days will be longer when spring comes. = Come spring the days will be longer. • She'll be back in school come September. = She'll be back in school when September comes. • This war will end eventually, and when that day comes, we will all be profoundly thankful. • The time has come to stop hesitating and make a decision.

8 not used in progressive tenses, of a product that is being sold a : to be available • This model comes in several sizes. [=this model can be bought in several sizes] • a product that comes in a variety of colors and shapes • when the product first came on the market [=when the product was first being sold] b : to have something as a feature, quality, ability, etc. • The car comes (equipped/complete) with air-conditioning.

9 a : to have a specified position or place in a series • I don't know which came first. • The letter D comes after C and before E. • He cares about his job, but his family comes first. [=his family is more important than his job] b Brit : to end a race or competition in a specified position • Joan won the race and her sister came [=finished, came in] second.

10 somewhat old-fashioned a — used in speech as a mild way to urge someone to do something or to become less upset, angry, etc. • Come, it's not that bad. I'm sure you'll feel better soon. • Come now, there's no reason to be so upset. b — used in speech as a mild way to show that you do not approve of or agree with what someone has said • Come, come. You know as well as I do that he never said that.

11 informal + impolite : to experience an orgasm

as . . . as they come — used to describe someone or something as very good, bad, etc. • Their daughter is as clever as they come. [=their daughter is very clever] • The movie was as boring as they come. [=the movie was extremely boring]

come about [phrasal verb] 1 : to happen • Their meeting came about by accident/chance. • I don't know how it came about that she overheard our conversation. 2 of a boat or ship : to turn to a different direction • The captain gave the order to come about.

come a cropper see CROPPER

come across [phrasal verb] 1 : to seem to have a particular quality or character : to make a particular impression • How did he come across? [=what kind of impression did he make?] — usually + as • He comes across as (being) a good speaker. [=he seems to be a good speaker; people think that he is a good speaker when they hear him talk] • He came across as a nice guy. [=he seemed to be a nice guy] 2 : to be expressed to someone • She says she was trying to be helpful, but that's not what came across when I talked to her. [=I did not get the feeling that she was trying to be helpful when I talked to her] • Her enthusiasm really came across [=came through] when she talked about her job. [=we could see that she was really enthusiastic when she talked about her job] 3 come across (something or someone) : to meet or find (something or someone) by chance • Researchers have come across important new evidence. • As I was walking through the town, I came across a group of street performers. 4 informal : to pay money that someone wants or demands • They threatened to hurt him if he doesn't come across (with the money).

come adrift see ADRIFT

come after [phrasal verb] come after (someone) : to chase (someone) : to try to find or capture (someone you want to hurt or punish) • They're worried that the government might be coming after them.

come again informal — used to ask someone to repeat something that was not heard or understood clearly • “Her name is Hermione.” “Come again? I didn't quite hear you.” “I said her name is Hermione.”

come along [phrasal verb] 1 : to go somewhere with someone • They asked me to come along (with them) on the trip. [=they asked me to go with them on the trip] • I'm going to the museum tomorrow. Would you like to come along? 2 : to make progress : to get better or to proceed in a desired way • The project started slowly, but now the work is coming along. : to proceed in a specified way • The work is coming along well. • The investigation is coming along slowly, and there's still a lot more work to be done. 3 : to happen or appear as someone or something that might be used, chosen, etc. • She says she won't just marry the first man that comes along. • An opportunity like this doesn't come along [=occur] too often.

come a long way 1 : to rise to a much higher level of success : to become very successful • He's come a long way from his days as a young reporter. Now he's one of the country's most respected journalists. 2 : to make a great amount of progress • Medicine has come a long way in recent years.

come and go 1 — used to talk about time that has passed • More than a hundred years have come and gone since the day of that famous battle. 2 — used to talk about people who appear and then leave as time passes • She's seen a lot of employees come and go during her time in the company. • Politicians come and go. They all seem pretty much the same to me.

come apart : to break into parts or pieces • an old house that is coming apart at the seams [=an old house that is in very bad condition] — often used figuratively • a coalition that is coming apart • Their marriage is coming apart at the seams. [=their marriage is failing]

come around or chiefly Brit come round [phrasal verb]

1 : to start to accept and support something (such as an idea) after opposing it : to stop opposing or disagreeing with something or someone • She still says she won't support us, but she'll come around eventually. [=she'll support us eventually] — often + to • She'll come around to our side eventually. • People are starting to come around to the idea. 2 : to become conscious • He took a bad fall and knocked himself out. When he came around [=woke up, came to], he didn't remember what had happened. 3 : to go to visit someone • Why don't you come around [=come over] (to my house) after work today? 4 : to occur in the usual way as time passes • I always feel a little sad when the end of the school year comes around. — see also what goes around comes around at 1 GO 5 of a boat or ship : to turn to a different direction • The sailboat came around [=came about] and began to head east.

come as — used to describe the effect that something has when people first learn about it • Their decision came as a surprise (to me). [=their decision was a surprise to me] • It should come as no surprise that many people oppose the plan. • It came as a shock to me [=I was shocked] to see how old he looks now. • The news of her recovery came as a great relief to all of us.

come at [phrasal verb] 1 come at (someone) a : to move toward (someone) in a threatening or aggressive way • They kept coming at me. b : to be directed at or toward (someone) • The questions kept coming at him so quickly that he didn't know how to respond to them. 2 come at (something) : to begin to deal with or think about (something) • We need to come at [=approach] these problems from a different angle.

come away from [phrasal verb] come away from (something) : to move away from (an area, place, etc.) • The guard told him to come away from the door. — often used figuratively • Most readers come away from the book feeling reassured. [=most readers feel reassured when they finish the book] • It was a difficult experience, but she came away from it a stronger and more confident person.

come back [phrasal verb] 1 : to return to a place • I hope you'll come back and see us again soon. — sometimes used figuratively • a decision that may come back to haunt us [=a decision that may cause problems for us in the future] 2 a : to return to a former good condition : to become strong, successful, or effective again after a time of weakness, failure, etc. • It can be difficult for an athlete to come back [=recover] from an injury like this. • a species that was nearly extinct but that has been coming back b : to become popular or fashionable again • Short skirts were out of fashion for many years, but now they're coming back. c : to be successful in a game, sport, etc., after being behind • The team was trailing after the first half, but they came back and won in the second half. 3 : to return to someone's memory — usually + to • I had forgotten a lot of what I learned about music, but it's all coming back to me now. [=I am beginning to remember it now] 4 : to make a reply or response — usually + with • When questioned about his involvement, he came back with an angry denial. — see also COMEBACK come between [phrasal verb] come between (people or groups) : to cause disagreement between (people or groups) • We shouldn't let these problems come between us.

come by [phrasal verb] 1 : to make a visit to someone • Why don't you come by [=come over] for a while after dinner? 2 come by (something) : to get or acquire (something) • I asked him how he came by the money, but he wouldn't tell me. • A good job is hard to come by. [=it's hard to get a good job]

come cheap see ²CHEAP

come clean see ¹CLEAN

come close see ³CLOSE

come down [phrasal verb] 1 a : to move or fall downward • The crowd erupted in applause as the curtain came down. • One of the tree's branches came down during the storm. b of rain, snow, etc. : to fall from the sky • She stood at the window, watching the rain come down. • The rain was coming down in sheets. [=it was raining very heavily] 2 : to go to a lower level • Stock prices have continued to come down [=fall] this week. = Stocks have continued to come down in price this week. • It's sad to see how he has come down in the world. [=how he has fallen to a lower position or status after being wealthy, successful, etc.] — see also COMEDOWN 3 : to decide or say in an official or public way that you support or oppose someone or something • The committee came down in favor of the proposal. = The committee came down on the side of the proposal. [=the committee approved the proposal] • Some of his former supporters have come down against him. 4 ♦ An announcement or decision that comes down is an announcement or decision from someone who has power or authority. • Word came down that the strike was over. • The decision came down in his favor. 5 ♦ Something that comes down from the past is something that has existed for a very long time. • This is a story that has come down from ancient times. 6 informal : to stop feeling the effect of an illegal drug : to stop being high on a drug • an addict who is coming down from heroin come down on [phrasal verb] 1 come down on (someone) : to criticize or punish (someone) • The governor has promised to come down hard on corrupt officials. [=to severely punish corrupt officials] • Her boss came down on her pretty hard when she didn't finish the report on time. 2 come down on (something) : to make a strong effort to stop or oppose (something) • The governor has promised to come down hard on corruption.

come down to [phrasal verb] come down to (something) : to have (something) as the most important part • People talk about various reasons for the company's failure, but it all comes down to one thing: a lack of leadership. • The election is going to come down to which candidate seems most trustworthy to the voters. [=the candidate who seems most trustworthy will win the election] • It's nice to be rich, but when you come (right) down to it, it's more important to be healthy and happy.

come down with [phrasal verb] come down with (an illness)

: to begin to have or suffer from (an illness) • She came down with [=contracted] measles. • I think I may be coming down with [=getting, catching] a cold.

come forward [phrasal verb] : to say openly or publicly that you are the person who should get something or who can do something • No one has yet come forward to claim the reward. • Several people came forward to offer their assistance.

come from [phrasal verb] 1 come from (something) a : to have (a specified origin or source) • Wine comes from grapes. [=wine is made from grapes] • English words come from a wide variety of sources. b — used to describe a person's family • She comes from a wealthy family. [=her family is wealthy] • He comes from a long line of entertainers. [=the people in his family have been entertainers for many years] c : to be the result of (something) • I'm not surprised that you don't feel well. That's what comes from not eating the right kinds of food. 2 come from (a place) : to be from (a place): such as a of a person : to have been born or raised in (a place) • She comes (originally) from a small southern town. : to live in (a place) • The people who attend the convention come from countries all around the world. — sometimes used figuratively • (informal) I understand where you're coming from. [=I understand why you feel or think the way you do; I understand your point of view] b of a thing : to be produced in (a place) • Where did this wine come from? [=where is this wine from?] • There was a bad smell coming from the basement. • A sob came from her throat. [=she sobbed] 3 come from (someone) : to be said or told by (someone) • This information comes from a person I trust. • (informal) Those comments are pretty surprising, coming from you. [=it is surprising that you would make those comments]

come full circle see FULL CIRCLE

come hell or high water see HELL come home to see ²HOME

come in [phrasal verb] 1 a : to enter a place • Welcome. Please come in. b : to arrive at a place • The store will have some exciting new products coming in next week. 2 : to be received • The election results should start coming in soon. [=we should start receiving/getting the election results soon] • The broadcast was coming in loud and clear. [=we could hear the broadcast very clearly] 3 : to end a race or competition in a specified position • Joan won the race and her sister came in [=finished] second. • He came in first/last. 4 : to have a particular role or function • We're going to need someone to help with the cooking, and that's where you come in. [=your job will be to help us with the cooking] 5 ♦ Something that comes in handy or (less commonly) comes in useful/helpful turns out to be useful when it is needed. • A pocketknife can come in handy. • A little extra money would come in useful right now.

come in/into bloom or come into flower of a plant : to begin to produce flowers : to start to bloom • in early spring, when the forsythias are coming into bloom • The lilacs have begun to come into flower.

come in for [phrasal verb] come in for (something) : to get or be given (something unpleasant, such as criticism) : to be subjected to (something) • The government's policies are coming in for increasing criticism. [=more people are beginning to criticize the government's policies]

come in from the cold see ²COLD

come in on [phrasal verb] come in on (something) informal : to become involved in (something) • He says he'd like to come in (with us) on the deal.

come into [phrasal verb] come into (something) 1 : to enter (a place) • Everyone watched her as she came into the room. 2 : to get (something) as a possession • He came into a fortune when he inherited his father's estate. 3 : to be involved in (something) • Deciding who to hire should be a business decision. You shouldn't allow personal feelings to come into it. [=you shouldn't allow personal feelings to affect your decision]

come into effect see ¹EFFECT

come into your own : to begin to have the kind of success that you are capable of having : to become very skillful, successful, etc. • She has really started to come into her own recently. • The company was struggling for many months, but now it really seems to be coming into its own.

come in/into view/sight : to appear : to begin to be seen • Another ship suddenly came into view. • As we turned the corner, the distant mountains came in sight.

come naturally see NATURALLY come of [phrasal verb] come of (something) : to be the result of (something) • the excitement that comes of meeting people who share your interests • They had discussions about possible new products, but nothing came of it. [=no new products resulted from their discussions]

come of age see ¹AGE

come off [phrasal verb] 1 come off or come off (something) : to stop being attached to something • When I tried to pick up the suitcase, the handle came off. = The handle came off the suitcase. 2 : to produce a desired result : to succeed • His plans to start his own business never came off. 3 : to happen • The meeting came off as scheduled. [=the meeting happened when it was scheduled to happen] 4 : to do or perform well or badly • She came off well in the contest. • He came off badly/poorly in the debate. 5 : to seem to have a specified quality or character — usually + as • He's really just shy, but he comes off as a little arrogant. [=he seems a little arrogant] • He came off as a stuffy old man. 6 come off (something) a US : to have recently completed or recovered from (something) • a company that is coming off a very successful year • an athlete who is coming off a serious injury b : to have recently stopped using (an illegal drug) • an addict who is coming off heroin 7 US, informal — used in phrases like where do you come off? to express anger or annoyance at what someone has said or done • Where do you come off talking to me like that? [=you have no right to talk to me like that; how dare you talk to me like that?] • I don't know where he comes off making those kinds of accusations. [=he has no right to make those kinds of accusations]

come off it informal : to stop talking or acting in a foolish way — usually used as an interjection • "I could be a pro golfer if I really tried." "Oh, come off it! You're not even close to being that good!"

come on [phrasal verb] 1 a : to happen or progress as time passes • Darkness came on rapidly/gradually [=it rapidly/gradually became dark] as the sun went down. b : to begin to happen • Rain came on toward noon. [=it began to rain when it was almost noon] • I feel a headache coming on. • It looks like it might be coming on to rain. [=it looks like it might start to rain soon] 2 a of an electrical machine, light, etc. : to begin to work or function • The lights came on briefly and then went out again. b of a TV or radio program : to start • That program you like is coming on in a few minutes. 3 informal a — used in speech to ask or urge someone to do something • "I don't feel like going out tonight." "Oh, come on! It'll do you good to get out of the house for a while." • "I don't think I can go any further." "Come on! You can do it if you keep trying!" b — used in speech to tell someone to hurry or to go faster • Come on, let's go. c — used in speech to express surprise, disbelief, etc. • "I think she could win the election." "Come on! She doesn't have a chance!" 4 : to have or seem to have a certain quality or nature • He comes on [=comes across] as a conservative.

come on strong 1 : to be very forceful or too forceful in talking to someone or dealing with someone • She didn't like him because she felt that he came on too strong. 2 : to become stronger or more successful in a continuing contest, race, etc. • The team was playing poorly in the early part of the season, but it has been coming on strong lately. • a political candidate who has been coming on strong in the polls as the day of election draws closer come on to [phrasal verb] 1 come on to (someone) informal : to show sexual interest in (someone) : to try to start a sexual relationship with (someone) • She complained that her boss has been coming on to her. 2 come on to (something) Brit : to start to talk about or deal with (something) • We'll come on to [=come to, get to] that question later.

come out [phrasal verb] 1 : to become available : to begin to be produced or sold • A new magazine is coming out next week. • The book/movie comes out next month. 2 a : to become obvious : to be clearly shown • His pride came out in his refusal to accept help. [=his refusal to accept help showed his pride] b : to become known • The truth finally came out. [=people finally learned the truth] • It came out that he had known about these problems all along, but he hadn't said anything. 3 : to say something openly • Why don't you just come out and say what you really think? 4 : to say publicly that you support or oppose someone or something • She came out in favor of the proposal. • Some of his former supporters have come out against him. 5 : to say openly that you are a homosexual

• Many gay entertainers have been reluctant to come out. • Last year she came out (as a lesbian) to her parents. [=she told her parents that she is a lesbian] 6 a : to appear after being hidden • The rain stopped and the sun/moon/stars came out as the clouds cleared away. : to appear in the open • animals that only come out at night b of a flower : to open : to blossom • in the spring, when the flowers are beginning to come out (in bloom) 7 a : to end or finish in a specified way • How did the game come out? [=turn out] [=who won the game?] • Everything came out [=ended up, turned out] all right. • She expects to come out ahead in the end. • He's confident that he'll come out a winner. • He's confident that he'll come out on top [=that he'll win] when all the votes have been counted. b of a photograph : to produce a good picture • Those pictures I took at the game yesterday didn't come out. c — used to describe the quality that something has when it is finished • The picture came out blurry. • The brownies came out a little too dry. 8 : to be said, expressed, or understood in a particular way • That's not what I meant to say. It didn't come out right. • He was trying to make a joke, but it came out wrong.

come out of [phrasal verb] come out of (something) 1 : to result from (something) • It's hard to see how anything good can come out of this. 2 : to go through the experience of (something) • I was lucky to come out of [=come through] the accident alive. 3 ✧ To come out of nowhere is to be very surprising and unexpected or to become successful, popular, etc., in a very sudden and surprising way. • That question came out of nowhere. • a company that has come out of nowhere to become one of the leaders in the industry — see also come out of left field at LEFT FIELD come out with [phrasal verb] come out with (something) 1 : to say or express (something, such as an idea) • She came out with a new proposal. • He's always saying ridiculous things. You never know what he'll come out with next. • Why don't you just come out with it and say what you really think? 2 : to publish or produce (something that will be sold to the public) • a publisher that is coming out with a new series of children's books • a car company that is coming out with several new models next year come over [phrasal verb] 1 : to make a social visit to someone • Why don't you come over [=come around] (to my place) after work? 2 : to change from one side to the other in a disagreement, competition, etc. — usually + to • I've been trying to persuade her to come over to our side, but I haven't convinced her yet. 3 Brit, informal : BECOME • He suddenly came over all bashful. [=he suddenly became very bashful] 4 come over (someone) : to affect (someone) in a sudden and strong way • A sudden feeling of dread came over me. [=I felt a sudden feeling of dread] • He's behaving so strangely. I don't know what's come over him lately. [=I don't know what has caused him to behave so strangely]

come round see COME AROUND (above)

come through [phrasal verb] 1 : to succeed in doing something : to do what is needed or expected • an athlete who is known for coming through in the clutch • "I managed to get the tickets." "Great! I knew you'd come through." 2 a : to be received and understood • The message came through loud and clear. • The signal wasn't coming through. [=we weren't receiving the signal] b : to be expressed to someone • Her enthusiasm really came through [=came across] when she talked about her job. [=we could see that she was really enthusiastic when she talked about her job] 3 : to be given or made official in a formal and final way • We're still waiting for approval of our loan application to come through. 4 come through (something) : to have the experience of living through (something) • It was a very difficult illness, but he came through it in pretty good shape.

come to [phrasal verb] 1 : to become conscious • He took a bad fall and knocked himself out. When he came to [=woke up, came around], he didn't remember what had happened. 2 come to (something) a : to reach (a place) while traveling • We came to a fork in the road. b : to reach (a particular point or step in a process) • Deciding to buy a new car was easy. Now we come to the hard part: finding the money. • I can't believe that it has come to this. c : to approach or reach (a specified condition) • The water came to a boil. [=the water slowly began to boil] • The project suddenly came to a stop/halt. [=the project suddenly stopped] • The work has finally come to an end. [=has finally ended] — see also come to a bad end at ¹END d : to result in (something) — usually used in negative statements • His ambitious plans never came to much. • She talked about learning to fly, but it all came to nothing in the end. [=she never did learn to fly] e : to make or reach (something, such as a decision or an agreement) after thinking or talking • The two sides finally came to an agreement/understanding after many hours of discussion. • I've been thinking about what to do next, and I've come to a decision. [=I've made a decision] • I've come to the conclusion [=I've decided] that we need to try a different method. 3 ✧ People say that they don't know what the world is coming to or they ask What is the world coming to? when they are shocked or disgusted by something that has happened in the world. • I don't know what the world is coming to when so many poor children have to go to bed hungry every night. 4 ✧ The phrase when it comes to is used to identify the specific topic that is being talked about. • When it comes to playing chess, he's the best I know. 5 ✧ The phrase if it comes to that means "if that is necessary." • I'm willing to pay more money if it comes to that. 6 come to (an amount) : to produce (an amount) when added together • The bill came to [=amounted to] 10 dollars. 7 come to (someone) : to be thought of by (someone) : to occur to (someone) • The answer suddenly came to me. [=I suddenly thought of the answer] 8 ✧ Something that is coming to you is something that is owed to you. • I have another dollar coming to me. [=I am owed another dollar] • He wants all the credit that's coming to him. [=he wants all the credit that he deserves] ✧ If you get what's coming to you, you get the punishment that you deserve. • He's a dirty cheat, and I'm going to see that he gets what's coming to him. ✧ If you have it coming (to you) you deserve to get something bad, such as punishment. • I'm not sorry to hear that he lost his job. He had it coming.

come to blows see ³BLOW

come together [phrasal verb] 1 : to join or meet • the place where two rivers come together 2 : to form a group • People from many different areas have come together to try to find a solution. 3 : to begin to work or proceed in the desired way • The project started slowly, but everything is finally starting to come together now.

come to grief see GRIEF

come to grips with see ²GRIP

come to life see ¹LIFE

come to light see ¹LIGHT

come to mind see ¹MIND

come to pass formal + literary : to happen • Many of the things he predicted have come to pass.

come to rest see ²REST

come to terms see ¹TERM

come to think of it — used in speech to say that you have just remembered or thought of something • The meeting is next Tuesday, which, come to think of it, is also the date of my doctor's appointment.

come to your senses see ¹SENSE

come true see ¹TRUE

come under [phrasal verb] come under (something) 1 : to be subjected to (something) • The troops were resting when they suddenly came under attack. [=when they were suddenly attacked] • His policies have been coming under attack/criticism/fire from conservatives. [=conservatives have been attacking/criticizing his policies] • Many people feel that their civil rights are coming under threat. [=are being threatened] • Some of the governor's recent proposals are now coming under increased scrutiny. [=people are now looking more closely and critically at the proposals] • The school is coming under pressure to change its policies. 2 : to be affected, controlled, or influenced by (something) • an area that has come under the control of rebel forces [=an area that is now controlled by rebel forces] • He was 30 years old when he first came under the care of a psychiatrist. [=when he first began to be treated by a psychiatrist] • Many young people have come under his influence. [=many young people have been influenced by him] • areas that come under his authority 3 — used to identify the group or category that something belongs to • These matters come under the heading of classified information.

come up [phrasal verb] 1 : to move near to someone or something : to approach someone or something • He came (right) up (to me) and introduced himself. 2 a : to be mentioned or thought of • That issue never came up. [=arose] • A question has come up about the budget. • I was surprised when his name came up as a possible candidate for the job. b : to occur in usually a sudden or unexpected way • She seems to be ready to deal with any problem that may come up. [=arise] • Something has come up and I won't be able to attend the meeting. • We need to be ready to take action if an opportunity comes up. 3 of the sun or moon : to become visible in the sky : to rise • She was already awake when the sun came up. 4 of a plant : to first appear above the ground • in the spring, when the daffodils and tulips are coming up 5 : to finish in a specified condition or state • I flipped the coin and it came up heads/tails. • The shot came up short. [=the shot did not go far enough] 6 : to move up in rank or status • an officer who came up from/through the ranks [=who started as an ordinary soldier and rose to become an officer] 7 ✧ Something that is coming up will happen soon or will appear soon. • With the election coming up, both candidates are spending all their time on the campaign trail. • Our interview with the mayor is coming (right) up after this commercial. • "I'd like a turkey sandwich and a glass of lemonade, please." "Coming right up!" [=the sandwich and lemonade will be served to you very quickly] come up against [phrasal verb] come up against (something) : to be stopped or slowed by (something) • The proposal has come up against some opposition. [=there is some opposition to the proposal]

come up empty : to fail to get or find something or someone • The police searched the area for clues but came up empty. [=they did not find any clues]

come upon [phrasal verb] somewhat formal 1 come upon (someone or something) : to meet or find (someone or something) by chance • As they turned the corner, they came upon an unexpected scene. • While researching the town's history, she came upon some surprising new information about its first mayor. 2 come upon (someone) of a feeling : to affect (someone) suddenly • An urge to travel suddenly came upon him. [=he suddenly felt an urge to travel]

come up to [phrasal verb] come up to (something) : to be as good as (something) • The movie didn't come up to our expectations. [=was not as good as we expected it to be] come up with [phrasal verb] come up with (something) : to get or think of (something that is needed or wanted) • We finally came up with a solution (to our problem). • He came up with an interesting new method of improving the factory's efficiency. • He'll be in a lot of trouble if he doesn't come up with the money he owes.

come what may : regardless of what happens • He promised to support her, come what may.

easy come, easy go see ²EASY

first come, first served see ²FIRST

how come see ¹HOW

to come : existing or arriving in the future • No one knows what will happen in the days to come. • There will be more trouble to come.

²come noun [noncount] impolite : SEMEN

come-back /'kʌm,bæk/ noun, pl -backs [count]

1 a : a return to a former good position or condition • The species was nearly extinct but is now making/staging a comeback. b : a return to being popular or fashionable • Short skirts were out of fashion for many years, but now they're making/staging a comeback. c : a new effort to win or succeed after being close to defeat or failure • The team was trailing after the first half, but they made/staged a comeback and won in the second half. • The team mounted a comeback in the second half of the season.

2 : a quick reply or response • She seemed to have a clever comeback [=retort] for everything I said. — see also come back at ¹COME

co-me-di-an /kə'mi:dijən/ noun, pl -ans [count]

1 : a person who performs in front of an audience and makes people laugh by telling jokes or funny stories or by acting in a way that is funny : an actor who plays roles that make people laugh

2 : a person who is funny or makes people laugh • You'll like my friend. He's a real comedian.

co-me-dic /kə'mi:dik/ adj, always used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : of, relating to, or like a comedy • She has a lot of comedic talent. • a drama with comedic elements

co-me-di-enne /kə'mi:di'en/ noun, pl -ennes [count] : a woman who is a comedian come-down /'kʌm,daʊn/ noun, pl -downs [count] : a situation in which a person falls to a lower level of importance, popularity, etc. : a fall in status or position • For a man who was once a very popular actor, working in a nightclub is quite a comedown. — see also come down 2 at ¹COME

com-e-dy /'kɑ:mədi/ noun, pl -dies

1 [count] : a play, movie, television program, novel, etc., that is meant to make people laugh • The new comedy is the network's most popular television show. — see also MUSICAL COMEDY, SITUATION COMEDY

2 [noncount] : things that are done and said to make an audience laugh : comic entertainment • The movie includes a lot of physical comedy. • She had always dreamed of a career in comedy. [=a career as a comedian] — often used before another noun • comedy clubs • a comedy show

3 [noncount] : the funny or amusing part of something : HUMOR • We couldn't help laughing out loud at the comedy of the situation.

comedy of manners noun, pl comedies of manners

[count] : a humorous play, movie, novel, etc., about the way a particular group of people behave come-hith-er /kəm'hɪðə/ adj, always used before a noun : attracting someone especially in a sexual way • She gave him a come-hither look.

come-ly /'kʌmli/ adj -li-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] old-fashioned + literary : pleasing in appearance : pretty or attractive — used to describe a girl or woman • a comely young lady come-on /'kʌm,ɔ:n/ noun, pl -ons [count]

1 informal : something that a person says or does to try to start a sexual relationship with someone • When he told her she looked familiar, she assumed it was just a come-on and ignored him. — see also come on to at ¹COME

2 : something that is done to get customers for a business • This special sale is a come-on to bring in new customers.

com-er /'kʌmər/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 a : a person who goes to a place to take part in an activity — usually plural • The class is open to all comers. b : a person who arrives at a place • We're giving free T-shirts away to the first comers. — see also LATECOMER, NEWCOMER

2 US, informal : someone who is making progress quickly and is likely to be successful • She's regarded as a comer in political circles. • a young comer

com-et /'kɑ:mət/ noun, pl -ets [count] : an object in outer space that develops a long, bright tail when it passes near the sun come-up-pance /kəm'ʌpəns/ noun [singular] : punishment that someone deserves to receive • One of these days, he'll get his comeuppance for treating people so arrogantly.

¹com-fort /'kʌmfət/ noun, pl -forts

1 [noncount] : a state or situation in which you are relaxed and do not have any physically unpleasant feelings caused by pain, heat, cold, etc. • These boots provide warmth and comfort in the coldest temperatures. • The car's seats are designed for comfort. • The suites combine comfort with convenience. • The drug gave some comfort to the patient. • I found a cozy chair where I could read in comfort. • We like to watch movies in the comfort of our own home. [=in our own home where we can relax and be comfortable]

2 [noncount] : a state or feeling of being less worried, upset, frightened, etc., during a time of trouble or emotional pain • He turned to her for comfort and support when he lost his job. • We found little/no comfort in their words. [=their words did not make us feel better] • If it is any comfort to you, I've made the same mistake myself. = It might give you comfort to know that I've made the same mistake myself. • I take comfort in the knowledge that I'm not alone. [=I feel less worried/upset because I know that I am not alone] — see also COLD COMFORT

3 [count] : a person or thing that makes someone feel less worried, upset, frightened, etc. • They were great comforts to each other during that difficult time. — usually singular • Her grandchildren were always a great comfort to her. • It's a comfort to know that you are nearby.

4 comforts [plural] : the things that make you more comfortable and that make your life easier and more pleasant • domestic comforts • a country inn with all the comforts of home — see also CREATURE COMFORT

5 [noncount] : a state or situation in which you have all the money and possessions that you need • They lived a life of comfort and ease.

too close for comfort also too near for comfort ✧ Something or someone that is too close/near for comfort is close enough to make you feel nervous, worried, or upset. • That bus came a little too close for comfort! • When we went out for drinks together, I realized we were getting too close for comfort. [=we were getting closer than I wanted to be]

²comfort verb -forts; -fort-ed; -fort-ing [+ obj] : to cause (someone) to feel less worried, upset, frightened, etc. : to give comfort to (someone) • She did her best to comfort [=console] the crying child. • Our family was comforted by the outpouring of support from the community. • We can comfort ourselves with the thought that the worst is over.

— comforting adj [more ~; most ~] • Knowing that I can rely on your help is a comforting thought. = It is comforting to know that I can rely on your help. — com-fort-ing-ly adv • a comfortingly familiar face

com-fort-able /'kʌmftəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : not causing any physically unpleasant feelings : producing physical comfort • a comfortable chair/bed • a comfortable home • comfortable clothes • a comfortable temperature • These shoes aren't very comfortable for walking. • I can't seem to find a comfortable position in this chair. b not used before a noun : not having any physically unpleasant feelings : experiencing physical comfort • Are you comfortable enough in that chair? • The nurse turned the patient on his side and asked him if he was comfortable. • I was just getting comfortable when the phone rang.

2 a : allowing you to be relaxed : causing no worries, difficulty, or uncertainty • a comfortable routine • They stayed at a comfortable distance from the crowd. • She walked along at a comfortable [=easy] pace. • The team has a comfortable 6–0 lead. [=a large lead that makes a victory seem certain] • It was a comfortable victory. [=an easy victory that was never in doubt] b : feeling relaxed and happy : not worried or troubled • He is most comfortable working outdoors. [=working outdoors suits him best] — often + with • I'm not very comfortable with the idea of flying. • I felt comfortable with her as soon as I met her. [=it was easy to talk and do things together]

3 : having or providing enough money for everything you need to live well • He has a comfortable job/income. • She makes a comfortable living as a journalist. • They enjoy a comfortable lifestyle.

— com-fort-ably /'kʌmftəbli/ adv • The suit fits comfortably. • Is everyone seated comfortably? • They have enough money to live comfortably. = They are comfortably off.

com-fort-er /'kʌmftətə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : someone who helps you to feel less worried, upset, frightened, etc. : someone who comforts you • He was her long-time confidant and comforter.

2 US : a thick bed covering that is filled with a soft light material (such as feathers) • a down comforter — see picture at BED comfort food noun, pl ~ foods : food that is satisfying because it is prepared in a simple or traditional way and reminds you of home, family, or friends [count] Pot roast and fried chicken are my favorite comfort foods. [noncount] a restaurant that serves comfort food comfort zone noun, pl ~ zones [count] : a place, situation, or level where someone feels confident and comfortable • He pushes the players to perform beyond their comfort zone. • I need to expand my comfort zone and try new things.

com-fy /'kʌmfi/ adj -fi-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal : physically comfortable • a big, comfy armchair • Is everybody comfy?

¹com-ic /'kɑ:mɪk/ adj

1 : of or relating to a comedy • a comic actor/writer

2 : causing laughter or amusement • a comic monologue • The drama has some comic moments. • His comic timing is impeccable. • The scene was included for comic effect.

²comic noun, pl -ics

1 [count] : a person who performs in front of an audience and makes people laugh by telling jokes or funny stories or by acting in a funny way : COMEDIAN • a talented comic

2 US a [count] : COMIC STRIP — sometimes used before another noun • the comic section of the newspaper b the comics : the comic strips in a newspaper : the part of a newspaper that has comic strips • Did you read the comics [=the funnies] today?

3 [count] chiefly Brit : COMIC BOOK

com-i-cal /'kɑ:mɪkəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : causing laughter especially by being unusual or unexpected • a comical performance • I must have looked comical in that big hat. • The way they argue is almost comical. • There's nothing comical [=funny] about someone getting hurt.

— com-i-cal-ly adv • comically inappropriate remarks comic book noun, pl ~ books [count] : a magazine that is made up of a series of comic strips — often used as comic-book before another noun • comic-book heroes comic strip noun, pl ~ strips [count] : a series of cartoon drawings that tell a story or part of a story

comic strip

¹com-ing /'kʌmɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : happening soon or next • The company has many plans for the coming year. • An official announcement will be made in the coming days.

2 : becoming more important or popular • new technology that's considered the coming [=up-and-coming] thing/trend in the industry

coming attraction see ATTRACTION

²coming noun, pl -ings [count] : the time when something begins — usually singular • We eagerly awaited the coming [=arrival] of spring. — see also SECOND COMING comings and goings : the activity of people arriving at and leaving a place • He sat in the café watching the comings and goings of the customers.

coming-of-age noun [noncount] : the time when a person becomes an adult • The film is about a young man's coming-of-age. — often used figuratively • The album marked her coming-of-age as a singer. [=the album showed that she had developed her talents fully as a singer] — see also come of age at ¹AGE

com-ma /'kɑ:mə/ noun, pl -mas [count] : a punctuation mark , that is used to separate words or groups of words in a sentence

¹com-mand /kə'mænd/ verb -mands; -mand-ed; -mand-ing

1 : to give (someone) an order : to tell (someone) to do something in a forceful and often official way [+ obj] She commanded us to leave. • Military leaders commanded the troops to open fire. • She commanded that work on the bridge cease immediately. [no obj] We had no choice but to do as they commanded.

2 [+ obj] : to have authority and control over (a group of people, such as soldiers) • He commands a platoon of 60.

3 [+ obj] a : to deserve or be able to get or receive (something) • She has a reputation that commands attention/respect. [=people give her respect/attention because of her reputation] • With his skills and experience, he can command a high salary. b : to have and be able to use or control (something) • The company commands much power and influence in the business world. • They command many resources.

4 [+ obj] formal : to be in a place in which you can clearly see (something) • Their house is on a hill that commands an excellent view of the valley.

²command noun, pl -mands

1 : an order given to a person or animal to do something [count] We are expected to obey his commands. • She shouted out commands to the crew. • Begin on/at my command. • We started to teach the dog simple commands like "sit" and "lie down." • The dog will only attack on my command. [=will only attack when I tell it to] [noncount] The soldiers marched on command. [=they marched when they were ordered to march] — see also your wish is my command at ²WISH

2 [count] : an instruction in the form of a code or signal that tells a computer to do something • You can perform several actions with keyboard commands. • The system recognizes voice commands.

3 [noncount] a : the power that someone (such as a military officer) has to give orders and to control a group of people • He was relieved of his command after being charged with misconduct. • He has command of 100 troops. = He has 100 troops under his command. • Who is the officer in command of the unit? — see also CHAIN OF COMMAND synonyms see ¹POWER b : control of something (such as a situation, activity, or feeling) • I assumed command of the business after my father's death. • He immediately took command of the situation. • She seems to be in (full) command of the situation. [=she seems to have complete control of the situation] • He finally felt in command of his life. • She stayed in com- mand of herself [=she did not lose control of her emotions] during the trial.

4 [singular] : knowledge and skill that allows you to do or use something well — + of • She has a good command of French. [=she speaks French well] • His command of the piano is impressive.

5 [count] : a group of people or an area that is under the control of a military officer • He is an officer in the Middle East command. • He quickly earned the respect of his command.

6 [count] : a group of military officers of high rank who give orders • The order came down from Naval Command. — see also HIGH COMMAND, SECOND-IN-COMMAND at your command : available for your use • They used every resource at their command. [=at their disposal] • If you need anything, please ask me. I am at your command. [=I am available to help you at any time]

com-man-dant /ˈkɑːmənˌdɑːnt, Brit ˈkɒmənˌdænt/ noun, pl -dants [count] : an officer who is in charge of a group of soldiers in the military

com-man-deer /ˌkɑːmənˈdiə/ verb -deers; -deered; -deer-ing [+ obj] formal : to take (something, such as a vehicle or building) by force especially for military purposes • The soldiers commandeered civilian vehicles to help transport the injured.

com-mand-er /kəˈmændə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who is in charge of a group of people • the platoon/battalion commander • the city's police commander — often used as a title • Commander John/Jane Smith

2 : an officer of high rank in the U.S. Navy, the U.S. Coast Guard, or the British Royal Navy commander in chief noun, pl commanders in chief [count] : a person who is in charge of all the armed forces of an entire country • The President exercised his power as commander in chief to deploy forces in the region.

com-mand-ing /kəˈmændɪŋ/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : having a powerful or important quality that attracts attention, respect, etc. • He is a commanding figure in American literature. [=he is an important and respected figure in American literature] • He has a very commanding voice/manner. • He has a commanding presence when he speaks. [=he attracts attention when he speaks]

2 always used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : very likely to result in victory in a race, competition, etc. • She holds a commanding lead in the polls. • Our team was in a commanding position as the game neared its end.

3 always used before a noun : allowing you to see an area very well • The castle is in a commanding position at the top of the hill. • The hill provides a commanding view of the surrounding countryside.

commanding officer noun, pl ~ -cers [count] : an officer who is in charge of a group of people in the military or of a military camp or base • He reported the incident to his commanding officer.

com-mand-ment /kəˈmændmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count] : an important rule given by God that tells people how to behave • a commandment from God • the Ten Commandments in the Bible • the First Commandment

com-man-do /kəˈmændou/ noun, pl -dos or -does [count] : a soldier who is trained to carry out surprise attacks on an enemy • an army commando — often used before another noun • a commando raid/force command performance noun, pl ~ -mances [count] : a special performance of a concert, play, etc., that is done at the request of an important person (such as a king)

com-mem-o-rate /kəˈmeməˌreɪt/ verb -rates; -rat-ed; -rat-ing [+ obj]

1 : to exist or be done in order to remind people of (an important event or person from the past) • The festival commemorates the town's founding. • The plaque commemorates the battle that took place here 200 years ago.

2 : to do something special in order to remember and honor (an important event or person from the past) • Each year on this date we commemorate our ancestors with a special ceremony. • All of the director's films will be shown to commemorate [=observe] the 50th anniversary of his death.

com-mem-o-ra-tion /kəˈmeməˌreɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions : something (such as a special ceremony) that is intended to honor an important event or person from the past [count] Several well-known celebrities attended the commemoration. [noncount] A service was held in commemoration of the battle. [=was held to commemorate the battle]

com-mem-o-ra-tive /kəˈmemrətɪv/ adj : intended to honor an important event or person from the past • a commemorative postage stamp • a commemorative ceremony

com-mence /kəˈmens/ verb -menc-es; -menced; -menc-ing formal : to begin [no obj] The festivities will commence with a parade. • Their contract commences in January. • They commenced to argue. = They commenced arguing. [+ obj] The court commenced criminal proceedings. • The country has commenced preparations for war.

com-mence-ment /kəˈmensmənt/ noun, pl -ments formal

1 [noncount] : the time when something begins : BEGINNING — usually + of • They awaited the commencement of the trial. • It's the first attempt at peace since the commencement [=start] of hostilities.

2 US : a ceremony during which degrees or diplomas are given to students who have graduated from a school or college [noncount] the week before commencement [=graduation] [count] A poet will speak at the commencement. — often used before another noun • a commencement speech/address/ceremony • commencement exercises

com-mend /kəˈmend/ verb -mends; -mend-ed; -mend-ing [+ obj] formal

1 : to praise (someone or something) in a serious and often public way • He commended her honesty. • His poetry is highly commended by other writers. — often + for • He commended her for her honesty. • They should be commended for their bravery.

2 : to mention (someone or something) as deserving attention or approval : RECOMMEND • I commend this book to anyone interested in learning more about American history. • Their theory has much to commend it [=there are many good things about it] • His ideas are not likely to commend themselves to most voters. [=most voters will not like and approve of his ideas]

com-mend-able /kəˈmendəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : deserving praise and approval • a commendable effort • Your honesty is commendable.

— com-mend-ably /kəˈmendəbli/ adv • He did a commendably thorough job.

com-men-da-tion /ˌkɑːmənˈdeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions formal

1 [noncount] : the act of praising or approving of someone or something • words of commendation [=approval, praise] • Their hard work deserves commendation.

2 [count] : something (such as an official letter) that praises someone publicly • The President issued a commendation praising the volunteers for their exceptional work during the relief effort. — often + for • He was awarded a commendation for bravery.

com-men-su-rate /kəˈmensərət/ adj, formal : equal or similar to something in size, amount, or degree • The increase in demand caused a commensurate [=proportionate] increase in prices. • Her new position came with a commensurate level of responsibility. — often + with • The punishment should be commensurate with the offense.

— com-men-su-rate-ly adv • a luxury hotel with commensurately high prices

comment /ˈkɑːmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 a : a spoken or written statement that expresses an opinion about someone or something [count] The most frequent comment was that the service was slow. • I find your comments offensive. • I'd like to begin with a few general comments. • We have no further comments. [=we have nothing more to say] • Comments or suggestions can be sent to our main Web address. • She heard him making rude comments [=remarks] about the neighbors. • We haven't gotten any comments on/about the new design. • I'd appreciate your comments on this issue. • We've received positive comments from many of our readers. [noncount] She couldn't be reached for comment. • We let the remark pass without comment. [=we did not respond to the remark] ♦ The phrase no comment is used to tell someone (such as a reporter) that you do not wish to answer a question. • "Did you know the defendant well?" "No comment." synonyms see REMARK
b [count] : a written note that explains or discusses the meaning of something (such as a piece of writing) • The new edition includes the translator's comments.

2 [noncount] : spoken or written discussion about something (such as an event in the news) • The radio program offers news and comment. • The trial drew widespread comment.

3 [count] : something that shows or makes a statement about the true state or condition of something — usually singular;

+ on • Their case is a sad comment [=commentary] on the current state of the justice system. • She sees the film as a comment on modern values.

²comment verb -ments; -ment-ed; -ment-ing : to make a statement about someone or something : to make a comment [no obj] When asked about his involvement in the scandal, he refused/declined to comment. — usually + on • Several people have commented on my new dress. • He declined to comment on the matter. [+ obj] She commented that the service seemed slow. • "The service seems slow today," she commented. [=remarked]

com-men-tary /'kɑ:mən,teri, Brit 'kɒməntri/ noun, pl -tar-ies

1 : spoken or written discussion in which people express opinions about someone or something [noncount] The television show features political commentary by well-known journalists. • The magazine includes humor and social commentary. [count] The book is a commentary on her experiences abroad. • I like listening to his social commentaries.

2 : a spoken description of an event (such as a sports contest) as it is happening [noncount] He provided commentary during the game. [count] The major television stations provided running commentaries on the election results.

3 [count] : something that shows or makes a statement about the true state or condition of something — usually singular; + on • The students' poor performance on the tests is a sad commentary [=comment] on the current state of education in this country.

com-men-tate /'kɑ:mən,teɪt/ verb -tates; -tat-ed; -tat-ing [+ obj] : to provide a description on a radio or television program of an event (such as a sports contest) as it is happening • He will be commentating on tomorrow night's game.

com-men-ta-tor /'kɑ:mən,teɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

1 : a person who discusses important people and events on television, in newspapers, etc. • a political commentator • social commentators

2 : a person who provides a description on a radio or television program of an event (such as a sports contest) as it is happening • a sports commentator • (US) a color commentator [=a person whose job is to make interesting comments on a radio or television broadcast about the things that are happening in a sports contest]

com-merce /'kɑ:məs/ noun [noncount] : activities that relate to the buying and selling of goods and services • inter-state commerce [=trade] • major centers of commerce • He was the Secretary of Commerce under the last President. — see also CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

¹com-mer-cial /kə'məʃəl/ adj

1 : related to or used in the buying and selling of goods and services • commercial property/regulations/vehicles • a commercial airliner • The city wanted to encourage commercial rather than residential development along the river. [=the city wanted businesses rather than apartments or houses to be built along the river] • a commercial and industrial city [=a city with many businesses and factories]

2 [more ~; most ~] a : concerned with earning money • Their music is too commercial. • commercial artists b always used before a noun : relating to or based on the amount of profit that something earns • The play was a commercial success but an artistic failure. [=the play earned a lot of money but did not show artistic skill]

3 always used before a noun : paid for by advertisers • commercial television/broadcasting • The average American sees and hears thousands of commercial messages each day.

— com-mer-cial-ly adv • He produced several commercially successful films. • commercially available software • The album did well commercially. [=the album earned a lot of money; many people bought the album]

²commercial noun, pl -cials [count] : an advertisement on radio or television • a commercial for a new kind of soap • We'll be back after the commercial break. [=the time when advertisements are broadcast during a radio or television program]

com-mer-cial-ism /kə'məʃə,lɪzəm/ noun [noncount] disapproving : the attitude or actions of people who are influenced too strongly by the desire to earn money or buy goods rather than by other values • the commercialism of modern society • the increasing commercialism of the Christmas holiday

com-mer-cial-ize also Brit com-mer-cial-ise /kə'məʃə,ləɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj]

1 disapproving : to use (something) as an opportunity to earn money — usually used as (be) commercialized • She hates to see Christmas commercialized. • The beach resort has been commercialized and has none of its original charm.

2 business : to make (something) available to customers • The company hopes to commercialize the drug next year.

— com-mer-cial-i-za-tion also Brit com-mer-cial-i-sa-tion /kə,məʃələ'zeɪʃən, Brit kə,mə:ʃə,ləɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the commercialization of Christmas

com-mie or Com-mie /'kɑ:mi/ noun, pl -mies [count] chiefly US, informal + disapproving : COMMUNIST com-min-gle /kə'mɪŋɡəl/ verb -min-gles; -min-gled; -min-gling formal : to join or mix together : COMBINE [no obj] Fact and fiction commingle in the story. [+ obj] He commingled his personal funds with money from the business. — often used as (be) commingled • Fact and fiction are commingled in the story.

— commingling noun [noncount] • the commingling of fact and fiction

com-mis-er-ate /kə'mɪzə'reɪt/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [no obj] formal : to express sadness or sympathy for someone who has experienced something unpleasant • Friends called to commiserate [=sympathize] when they heard that he had to cancel the trip. • The players commiserated over/about their loss in the championship game. — often + with • The players commiserated with each other.

— com-mis-er-a-tion /kə,mɪzə'reɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [noncount] Friends offered words of commiseration. [plural] It's still not clear whether congratulations or commiserations are in order.

com-mis-sary /'kɑ:mə,seri, Brit 'kɒməsri/ noun, pl -sar-ies [count] US : a store that sells food and basic household supplies on a military base or in a prison

¹com-mis-sion /kə'mɪʃən/ noun, pl -sions

1 [count] : a group of people who have been given the official job of finding information about something or controlling something : COMMITTEE • She served on the city's water commission. • the Federal Elections Commission • Both states set up commissions to examine their public schools.

2 : an amount of money paid to an employee for selling something [count] She gets a commission for each car she sells. [noncount] She sells cars on commission. [=she receives an amount of money for each car that she sells] • The salespeople in that store all work on commission.

3 [noncount] formal : the act of committing a crime • a weapon used in the commission of a crime

4 : a request or order for someone to do something for money [count] He received a commission from the king to paint the queen's portrait. [noncount] an artist working on commission [=an artist doing work that has been specifically requested or ordered]

5 [count] : a position of high rank in the military • He received his commission in the Army as a colonel.

in commission or into commission : able to function properly : ready for use • The Internet connection is back in commission. [=is working again] out of commission : not able to function properly • The elevator/doorbell was out of commission. [=broken, out of order] — often used figuratively • He was out of commission [=unable to work, travel, etc.] for three days with the flu.

²commission verb -sions; -sioned; -sion-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to order or request (something) to be made or done • A portrait of the queen was commissioned. • The magazine commissioned a story about the world's best beaches. • The report on poverty was commissioned by the governor. b : to order or request (someone) to make or do something • The king commissioned the artist to paint his portrait.

2 : to make (someone) an officer in the military • She was commissioned in the Navy as a captain.

3 : to make (a ship) officially active and ready for use • The ship was commissioned in 2004. — opposite DECOMMISSION — commissioned adj • The ship remained a commissioned ship for more than 30 years. [=the ship was officially in use for more than 30 years] • a commissioned officer [=a military officer of high rank; an officer whose rank is higher than sergeant]

com-mis-sion-aire /kə,mɪʃə'neə/ noun, pl -aires [count] chiefly Brit, old-fashioned : DOORMAN

com-mis-sion-er /kə'mɪʃənə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a member of a commission : one of a group of people who have been given the official job of finding information about something or controlling something • the city's library commissioners

2 : an official who is in charge of a government department or part of a government department • the mental health commissioner • the police commissioner

3 US : an official who is in charge of a major professional sport (such as baseball, football, or hockey) • The baseball commissioner decided to suspend the players for 10 games.

com-mit /kə'mɪt/ verb -mits; -mit-ted; -mit-ting

1 [+ obj] : to do (something that is illegal or harmful) • com-mit [=perpetrate] a crime • commit suicide/murder/rape/adultery • The massacre was committed by the rebel army.

2 [+ obj] : to decide to use (a person, money, etc.) for some particular purpose or use — often + to or for • The army committed two divisions to the battle. • The city committed millions of dollars for the housing project.

3 : to say that (someone or something) will definitely do something : to make (someone or something) obligated to do something [+ obj] I've committed myself to a meeting on Thursday. = I'm committed to a meeting on Thursday. [=I have said that I will definitely go to a meeting on Thursday] • The contract commits the company to finishing the bridge by next fall. • He keeps delaying his decision because he doesn't want to commit himself [no obj] Many companies are reluctant to commit to the new technology. [=to say that they will definitely use it] • They have not yet committed to a particular course of action.

4 : to decide to give your love, support, or effort to someone or something in a serious or permanent way [no obj] My girlfriend just can't seem to commit! [+ obj] He won't commit himself to a long-term relationship. • Many local officials have not yet committed themselves to a presidential candidate. • They are committing themselves to the pursuit of truth.

5 [+ obj] : to cause (someone) to be put in a prison or a mental hospital — usually used as (be) committed • She was committed to a state mental hospital.

6 [+ obj] Brit, law : to order (someone) to be tried in a court of law • The magistrate committed him to stand trial at the Bristol Crown Court.

commit (something) to memory : to learn (something) so that you remember it perfectly : to memorize (something) • I committed the poem to memory.

commit (something) to paper/writing : to write (something) down • She committed her thoughts to writing.

com-mit-ment /kə'mɪtmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 [count] : a promise to do or give something • We've got commitments from several charities to donate food and clothing. • the government's commitment of troops to the region • I can't coach my daughter's basketball team. I have too many commitments already. [=I have too many things that I have promised to do] • It's been a struggle to balance my professional and family commitments. [=to do both what I have promised to do for my job and what I have promised to do for my family] • The church has a commitment to helping the poor. • Getting a dog is a big commitment [=something that requires you to do a lot] • Opening your own business requires a significant financial commitment [=it requires you to spend a lot of money over a long time]

2 : a promise to be loyal to someone or something [count] — usually + to • She isn't ready to make a lifelong commitment to another person. • Are you willing to make a commitment to our cause? • He questions the company's commitment to safety. [noncount] He's afraid of commitment. [=he's afraid of committing himself to a serious relationship with one person]

3 [noncount] : the attitude of someone who works very hard to do or support something • Some of his teammates said he showed a lack of commitment (to the team). • The boss noticed her strong commitment to her work. • No one doubts your commitment to the cause.

com-mit-tal /kə'mɪtəl/ noun, pl -tals [count]

1 formal : the act of burying someone's body in a grave • a funeral service, followed by committal in the family plot • a private committal service = a private service of committal

2 chiefly Brit, law : the act or process of ordering someone to be put in a prison or a mental hospital • She argued against the committal of the defendant to a mental hospital. • committal proceedings committed adj [more ~; most ~] : willing to give your time, energy, etc., to something : LOYAL, DEDICATED • We're very committed to the cause. • a committed environmentalist • committed [=faithful] Christians • I'm not married but I'm in a committed relationship [=I'm in a serious and lasting romantic relationship with someone]

com-mit-tee /kə'mɪti/ noun, pl -tees : a group of people who are chosen to do a particular job or to make decisions about something [count] the Senate Judiciary Committee • the Olympic Committee • We're waiting for recommendations from the advisory/ethics committee. • a planning/congressional/legislative committee [noncount] management by committee • The bill has been referred back to committee. — see also SCHOOL COMMITTEE, SUBCOMMITTEE

com-mode /kə'moʊd/ noun, pl -modes [count]

1 : a low piece of furniture with drawers or sometimes a door and shelves

2 a : a chair with a hole in the seat and a pot underneath that is used as a toilet b US : TOILET • There are towels in the cabinet above the commode.

com-mod-i-fy /kə'mɑːdəfaɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj] disapproving : to treat (something that cannot be owned or that everyone has a right to) like a product that can be bought and sold • Do we really want to commodify our water supply? • I feel like our culture is being commodified.

— com-mod-i-fi-ca-tion /kə'mɑːdəfə'keɪʃən/ noun [noncount] — commodified adj • our increasingly commodified culture

com-mo-di-ous /kə'moʊdɪəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : having a lot of space • a commodious apartment/room/house

com-mod-i-ty /kə'mɑːdəti/ noun, pl -ties [count]

1 : something that is bought and sold • agricultural commodities like grain and corn • Oil is a commodity in high demand. • commodity prices

2 : something or someone that is useful or valued • Patience is a rare commodity. • an actor who is a hot commodity [=who is very popular] in Hollywood right now

com-mo-dore /'kɑːmədoʊ/ noun, pl -dore [count]

1 : a high-ranking officer in the navy

2 : the person who is in charge of a yachting or boating club

com-mon /'kɑːmən/ adj

1 : belonging to or shared by two or more people or groups • They have a common ancestor. • The people on the island have a sense of common identity. • a common goal/interest • The pool at the condominiums is common property. [=the pool is owned by all of the condominium owners] • The organization works for the common good [=the public good; the advantage of everyone] • He was chosen as the leader by common consent [=everyone agreed that he should be the leader] — see also COMMON GROUND, common knowledge at KNOWLEDGE

2 commoner; -est [or more ~; most ~] a : done by many people • It is common practice for one town's fire department to help another town when there is a big fire. • a common spelling mistake b : occurring or appearing frequently : not rare • a common [=widespread] disease • Buffalo were once a common [=familiar] sight on the American plains. • Electric windows are a common feature in new cars. • "Smith" is a common name. • The problem is common to laptop computers. = It's common for laptop computers to have this problem. • I think some of the most common flowers are also some of the prettiest.

3 : of a type that is regularly seen and not considered special or unique • the common housefly • cures for the common cold

4 a : without special rank or status • a common soldier • You're nothing but a common [=ordinary] thief! b : not having power, wealth, or high status • My parents were common [=ordinary, regular] folk. • the common people • the common man — see also COMMON SENSE

5 : expected from polite and decent people • He didn't even have the common decency to apologize. • It is common courtesy to say "thank you."

6 commoner; -est [or more ~; most ~] Brit, old-fashioned + disapproving : of or belonging to a low social class • His manners are very common. • She thought him common and uneducated.

common-or-garden chiefly Brit, informal : not unusual : GARDEN-VARIETY • This is not just your common-or-garden nightclub.

— com-mon-ly adv [more ~; most ~] • He is commonly believed to be the discoverer of electricity. • a medicine commonly used to treat the flu • commonly held beliefs/notions • The kangaroo is commonly associated with Australia. — com-mon-ness /'kɑːmənəs/ noun [noncount] • The team showed a commonness of purpose. • the commonness of the name "Smith"

2 common noun, pl -mons

1 [count] : a public area or park usually in the center of a town or city • the town common • Boston Common

2 commons US : a place where meals are served at a school, college, etc. [singular] a dining commons [plural] The campus has several dining commons.

3 the Commons : HOUSE OF COMMONS

in common : shared together • Intersecting lines have one point in common. ✧ People who have something in common share interests, beliefs, attitudes, opinions, etc. • We have a lot (of things) in common (with each other). • You're a musician too? I guess we have a lot in common. • She's very nice, but we have nothing in common. ✧ Things that have something in common share features or characteristics. • The cameras have/share some basic features in common. • The two cultures have a lot in common (with each other). • The film has more in common with the director's earlier works than with his most recent projects. • (formal) The town, in common with [=like] others in the region, depends on the tourism industry.

com-mon-al-i-ty /kɑ:mə'næləti/ noun, pl -ties formal

1 [noncount] : the fact of sharing features or qualities • commonality of origin

2 [count] : a shared feature or quality • commonalities among the various religions [=features or qualities that the religions have in common] • The plans share important commonalities. • We have/share a commonality of purpose. [=our purpose is the same]

common denominator noun, pl ~-tors [count]

1 mathematics : a number that can be divided by each of the denominators of a group of fractions • 36 is a common denominator of $\frac{1}{4}$ and $\frac{1}{3}$.

2 : something (such as a feature or quality) that is shared by all the members of a group of people or things • Drugs seem to be the common denominator in these crimes. — see also LOWEST COMMON DENOMINATOR

com-mon-er /kɑ:mənə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who is not a member of the nobility • a prince who married a commoner

Common Era noun [noncount] : CHRISTIAN ERA

common ground noun [noncount] : something that people agree about even if they disagree about other things • Hunters and environmentalists found common ground in their opposition to the new law.

common law noun [noncount] : the laws that developed from English court decisions and customs and that form the basis of laws in the U.S.

com-mon-law /kɑ:mən'la:/ adj, always used before a noun — used to describe a relationship between a man and a woman that is considered to be a marriage because the man and woman have lived together for a long period of time • a common-law marriage • his common-law wife • her common-law husband common market noun, pl ~-kets [count] : a group of countries that allows free trade among its members

common noun noun, pl ~ nouns [count] : a word (such as “singer,” “ocean,” or “car”) that refers to a person, place, or thing but that is not the name of a particular person, place, or thing — compare PROPER NOUN

1 com-mon-place /kɑ:mən'pleis/ adj [more ~; most ~] : happening or appearing in many places and not unusual : very common or ordinary • Drug use has become commonplace at rock concerts. • He photographed commonplace objects like lamps and bowls. • Much of her writing was commonplace [=unoriginal, unremarkable] and boring.

2 commonplace noun, pl -plac-es [count] formal

1 : an idea, expression, remark, etc., that is not new or interesting • It is a commonplace that we only use a small part of our brain's capacity.

2 : something that happens or appears in many places and is not unusual • We now accept cell phones and laptop computers as commonplaces of everyday life.

common room noun, pl ~ rooms [count] : a room that may be used by all members of a group of people in a school, residential community, etc.

common sense noun [noncount] : the ability to think and behave in a reasonable way and to make good decisions • You really should go to see a doctor if your leg hurts that much. It's just common sense! • Obey the laws and use common sense when operating your boat. • She's very smart but she doesn't have a lot of common sense.

— com-mon-sense adj, always used before a noun • He says there are commonsense solutions to social problems. • commonsense wisdom common touch noun

the common touch : the ability of someone in a position of power or authority to attract the support of ordinary people • He is a politician with the common touch.

com-mon-weal /kɑ:mən'wi:l/ noun [noncount] old-fashioned + formal : the happiness, health, and safety of all of the people of a community or nation • a President who promotes the commonweal [=common good]

com-mon-wealth /kɑ:mən'welθ/ noun, pl -wealths

1 [count] : a group of countries or states that have political or economic connections with one another — often + of • a commonwealth of states

2 a the Commonwealth : a U.S. state — used officially of Kentucky, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and Virginia • the Commonwealth of Kentucky b [count] : a political unit that is like a U.S. state but that pays no federal taxes and has only a representative in Congress who does not vote — used officially of Puerto Rico and of the Northern Mariana Islands

3 the Commonwealth : the countries that were once part of the British Empire

com-mo-tion /kə'mouʃən/ noun : noisy excitement and confusion [noncount] I went outside to see what all the commotion [=hubbub] was about. [singular] There was a sudden commotion when the actress entered the restaurant.

com-mu-nal /kə'mju:nl, 'kɑ:mjənl/ adj

1 a : shared or used by members of a group or community • a communal meal/bathroom • The tribe lived in communal huts. • communal property b : relating to or involving members of a commune (sense 1) • a communal living arrangement • communal life • a communal farm

2 [more ~; most ~] : relating to a situation in which you are doing something with other people • the communal experience of riding on the train • a communal atmosphere

3 formal : involving people from different racial or cultural groups • communal violence

— com-mu-nal-ly adv • Nuns live communally.

1 com-mune /kə'mju:n/ verb -munes; -muned; -mun-ing [no obj] formal : to communicate with someone or something in a very personal or spiritual way • commune with God • a psychic who communes with the dead — often used figuratively • I like to be outside to commune with nature. [=to spend time experiencing and appreciating nature]

2 com-mune /kə'mju:n/ noun, pl -munes [count]

1 : a group of people who live together and share responsibilities, possessions, etc. • He's living in a religious commune. • hippie communes

2 : the smallest division of local government in some countries especially in Europe

com-mu-ni-ca-ble /kə'mju:nikəbəl/ adj, medical : able to be passed to another person • communicable [=infectious] diseases • There is no evidence that the virus is communicable. [=contagious, catching]

com-mu-ni-cant /kə'mju:nikənt/ noun, pl -cants [count] : a person who is a member of a usually specified Christian church • He was a communicant of Holy Cross Church.

com-mu-ni-cate /kə'mju:nə'keɪt/ verb -cates; -cat-ed; -cat-ing

1 : to give information about (something) to someone by speaking, writing, moving your hands, etc. [+ obj] He was asked to communicate the news to the rest of the people. • His book communicates [=conveys] the harsh realities of war. • She communicated her ideas to the group. [no obj] Good teachers communicate effectively. • She likes to communicate [(more informally) keep in touch] with her sister through/by/via e-mail. • The two computers are able to communicate directly with one another. • The pilot communicated with the airport just before the crash.

2 : to get someone to understand your thoughts or feelings [no obj] The couple has trouble communicating. • the challenge of getting the two groups to communicate with each other [+ obj] We communicate a lot of information through body language. • He communicated his dissatisfaction to the staff. • If you're excited about the product, your enthusiasm will communicate itself to customers.

3 [+ obj] medical : to pass (a disease) from one person or animal to another • One monkey communicated [=transmitted, spread] the disease to the others. • The disease is communicated through saliva.

4 [no obj] formal, of rooms, parts of a building, etc. : to have openings to each other • The rooms communicate [=connect] through a secret passage.

– com·mu·ni·ca·tor /kə'mju:nə,keɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count] • The president was an effective communicator. • a good/poor communicator

com·mu·ni·ca·tion /kə,mju:nə'keɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the act or process of using words, sounds, signs, or behaviors to express or exchange information or to express your ideas, thoughts, feelings, etc., to someone else • human communication • nonverbal communication • He is studying insect communication. • Parents need to have good communication with their children. [=they need to be able to understand and be understood by their children] • communication problems/skills • There was a breakdown in communication between members of the group. • (formal) We are in communication by e-mail. [=we are communicating with each other by e-mail] • television and other means of mass communication

2 [count] formal : a message that is given to someone : a letter, telephone call, etc. — usually singular • The captain received an important communication.

3 communications [noncount] a : the ways of sending information to people by using technology • radio/wireless/electronic communications • Communications is a growing industry. • communications systems/technology • a communications satellite [=a satellite that is used to send signals for television, radio, etc., to people around the world] b : the study of how information is sent to people by using technology • He majored in communications in college.

com·mu·ni·ca·tive /kə'mju:nə,keɪtɪv, kə'mju:nəkətɪv/ adj, formal

1 [more ~; most ~] : willing to talk to people • He wasn't very communicative. [=talkative]

2 : relating to communication • communicative disorders

com·mu·nion /kə'mju:njən/ noun, pl -nions

1 Communion [noncount] : a Christian ceremony in which bread is eaten and wine is drunk as a way of showing devotion to Jesus Christ • She went to the front of the church for Communion. • take/receive Communion • celebrate Communion — called also Holy Communion, the Eucharist

2 [noncount] formal : a close relationship with someone or something — usually + with • He sat alone on the mountain, in communion with the wilderness.

3 [count] formal : a group of Christians who have the same beliefs • the Anglican communion [=denomination] • Christian communions

com·mu·ni·qué /kə'mju:nə,keɪ/ noun, pl -qués [count] formal : an official announcement about a usually very important piece of news • The news station received a communiqué [=bulletin] after the bombing.

com·mu·nism or Communism /'kɑ:mjə,nɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : a way of organizing a society in which the government owns the things that are used to make and transport products (such as land, oil, factories, ships, etc.) and there is no privately owned property — compare CAPITALISM, SOCIALISM

com·mu·nist or Communist /'kɑ:mjənɪst/ noun, pl -nists [count] : a person who believes in communism or is a member of a political party that supports communism – communist or Communist adj • communist ideology/leaders • a communist country • the Communist Party

com·mu·ni·ty /kə'mju:nəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [count] : a group of people who live in the same area (such as a city, town, or neighborhood) • a respectable member of the community • The festival was a great way for the local community to get together. • Many communities are facing budget problems. • People in the community wanted better police protection. • a rural community • community leaders

2 [count] : a group of people who have the same interests, religion, race, etc. • an artistic/business/medical community • the town's Jewish community • ethnic/religious communities • the scientific community

3 [count] : a group of nations — usually singular • the international community

4 [noncount] : a feeling of wanting to be with other people or of caring about the other people in a group • The school encourages a sense/feeling of community in its students. • community spirit

5 [count] biology : a group of animals or plants that live in the same place • a community of bacteria community center (US) or Brit community centre noun, pl ~ -ters [count] : a building or group of buildings where there are classes and activities for the people who live in a community community college noun, pl ~ -leges [count] US : a school that you go to after high school : a school that offers courses leading to an associate's degree ♦ A community college offers two years of studies similar to those in the first two years of a four-year college.

community service noun [noncount] : work that is done without pay to help people in a community ♦ People do community service because they want to or because a court of law has ordered them to do it as a form of punishment for a crime. • She was sentenced to 100 hours of community service.

community theater noun, pl ~ -ters US

1 [noncount] : the activity of acting in or producing a play in the theater for enjoyment and not as a job • She spends her free time acting in community theater. • He's done school plays and community theater. • a community theater group/production — called also (Brit) amateur dramatics

2 [count] : a small theater where community theater is performed • performing at the/a local community theater

com·mu·ta·tion /,kɑ:mjə'teɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] law : a change of a punishment to a less severe one • He appealed for a commutation of his death sentence to life imprisonment.

com·mute /kə'mju:t/ verb -mutes; -mut-ed; -mut-ing

1 [no obj] : to travel regularly to and from a place and especially between where you live and where you work • He commutes to work every day by train. • She commutes 400 miles a week. — compare TELECOMMUTE

2 [+ obj] law : to change (a punishment) to a less severe one • The judge commuted his death sentence to life imprisonment.

– com·mut·er /kə'mju:tə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • busy commuters on their way to work • a commuter train commute noun, pl -mutes [count] : the journey that you make when you travel to or from a place that you go to regularly (such as the place where you work) — usually singular • She has a long commute to work/school. • There is always a lot of traffic on my morning commute.

comp /'kɑ:mp/ noun, pl comps [count] US, informal : something that is given to someone (such as a customer) for free • The tickets were comps.

– comp verb comps; comped; comp-ing [+ obj] • They comped us the tickets. [=they gave us the tickets for free] • Our meals were comped.

com·pact /kəm'pækt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : smaller than other things of the same kind • The camera is compact. • The drill has a compact design. • a compact car b : using little space and having parts that are close together • the apartment's compact floor plan • The cabin was compact but perfectly adequate.

2 : closely or firmly packed or joined together • compact dirt

3 of a person or animal : short but solid and strong • He is compact and muscular. • He has a compact body.

– com·pact·ly adv • The crib folds compactly for traveling. [=the crib can be folded so that its parts are close together] • a compactly built hockey player • compactly designed computers – com·pact·ness /kəm'pæktɪnəs/ noun [noncount] • The computer offers power as well as compactness. [=it is both powerful and small]

com·pact /kəm'pækt/ verb -pacts; -pact-ed; -pact-ing : to press (something) so that it is harder and fills less space [+ obj] Tractors had compacted [=compressed] the soil. [no obj] The snow had compacted into a hard icy layer.

– com·pact·ed adj • compacted snow/soil – com·pact·or also com·pact·er /kəm'pæktə/ noun, pl -tors also -ters [count] • a trash compactor [=a machine that presses trash together]

com·pact /'kɑ:m,pækt/ noun, pl -pacts [count]

1 : a small flat case containing powder or makeup for a woman's face — see picture at GROOMING

2 US : a small car • a new line of compacts [=compact cars] — compare SUBCOMPACT

– compare ⁴COMPACT

com·pact /'kɑ:m,pækt/ noun, pl -pacts [count] formal : an agreement between two or more people or groups • States created a compact to control milk prices. — compare ³COMPACT compact disc noun, pl ~ discs [count] : CD

com·pa·dre /kəm'pɑ:dreɪ/ noun, pl -dres [count] chiefly US, informal : a close friend : BUDDY • How are you doing, compadre?

com·pan·ion /kəm'pænjən/ noun, pl -ions [count]

1 a : a person or animal you spend time with or enjoy being with • She has been my closest companion since childhood. • his longtime companion • The old dog had been her constant companion for over 12 years. [=had been with her most of the time for 12 years] — sometimes used figuratively • Pain was his constant companion. [=he felt pain all the time] b : someone you are with • my dinner companion [=the person I was eating dinner with] • traveling companions

2 a : something that is meant to be used with something else — often + to • The book is a companion to the television series with the same name. • The book is the companion volume to his previous book on jazz. • The table is a companion piece to the two chairs. b — used in the titles of books that give information about a particular subject • The Gardener's Companion

3 : a person who is paid to live with and help someone who is older or sick • We've hired a companion for my elderly mother.

com·pan·ion·able /kəm'pænjənəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + literary : FRIENDLY • a companionable young man • companionable laughter

— com·pan·ion·ably /kəm'pænjənəbli/ adv • chatting/talking companionably

com·pan·ion·ship /kəm'pænjən,ʃɪp/ noun [noncount] : the good feeling that comes from being with someone else • She missed her husband's companionship after he died. [=she missed being with her husband] • He had only a dog for companionship. [=his only companion was his dog]

com·pan·ion·way /kəm'pænjən,weɪ/ noun, pl -ways [count] : a stairway on a ship that connects one deck to another

com·pa·ny /'kɑmpəni/ noun, pl -nies

1 [count] : a business organization that makes, buys, or sells goods or provides services in exchange for money • He runs his own trucking company. • She joined the company last year. • record/insurance/computer companies • The company is based in Paris. — often used before another noun • company policy/profits • the company director • company executives/officials

2 [noncount] : the state or condition of being with another person • I enjoy her company. [=I enjoy being with her] • I would love for you to come over. I could really use the company. [=I really want to spend time with someone; I do not want to be alone] • I turned the radio on for company. [=so that I wouldn't be lonely] • I felt nervous being in the company of [=around, with] such important people. • (chiefly Brit) She arrived in company with the mayor. [=she was with the mayor when she arrived] • I'll keep you company [=I'll stay with you] while you wait for your mom. • He has been keeping company with [=associating with] a gang of known criminals. • (chiefly Brit) The children have no idea how to behave in company. [=with a group of people] • It's not something you should talk about in polite company. [=in formal settings; with people you do not know well] — see also in mixed company at MIXED

3 [noncount] a : someone or something you spend time with or enjoy being with • He's good company. [=he's enjoyable to be around] • I'm lousy company tonight. [=I'm not enjoyable to be around tonight; I'm in a bad mood] • Her dogs/sisters/books/thoughts are her only company these days. b : the people you spend time with • You can tell a lot about people by the company they keep. • She's been keeping bad company. [=spending time with people who are not morally good] ♦ If you are in good company or have plenty of company, you are in the same situation or have the same problem or opinion as many other people. • If you're confused about the new system, you're in good company. [=other people are also confused] • Do you know now what you will do when you retire? If not, you have plenty of company. • If you think health-care costs are out of control, you've got plenty of company.

4 [noncount] : guests or visitors especially at your home • We are having company for dinner. [=guests or visitors will be eating dinner with us at our home] • Are you expecting company?

5 [count] a : a group of soldiers • the soldiers of Company C b : the officers and crew of a ship • the ship's company

6 [count] : a group of actors, dancers, singers, etc., who perform together • a theater/ballet company

7 [noncount] : people who are not named but are part of a group • the law firm of Smith and Company • (informal) John and company got to the party pretty late.

part company see ²PART

two's company, three's a crowd — used to say that a third person is not welcome when two people (such as two lovers) want to be alone with each other • Well, I'll leave you two lovebirds alone. Two's company, three's a crowd.

company car noun, pl ~ cars [count] : a car that an employer gives an employee to use for driving that relates to the employee's work

com·pa·ra·ble /'kɑ:mpərəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] — used to say that two or more things are very similar and can be compared to each other • A comparable refrigerator today would cost a lot more than the one I bought 10 years ago. • The two houses are comparable in size. • Their salaries are comparable with those of other managers. • The school's test scores were comparable [=close] to the national average. • The situations aren't at all comparable. [=alike]

— com·pa·ra·bil·i·ty /'kɑ:mpərə'bɪləti/ noun [noncount]

— com·pa·ra·bly /'kɑ:mpərəbli/ adv • The two cars are comparably equipped. [=they have similar features]

¹com·par·a·tive /'kɑmpərətɪv/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : seeming to be something when compared with others • She is a comparative [=relative] newcomer to the industry. [=she is not really a newcomer but is much more of a newcomer than many others] • We dropped anchor in the comparative [=relative] safety of the harbor. [=the harbor was not completely safe but it was safer than the area outside the harbor]

2 : involving the act of looking at the ways that things are alike or different • She did a comparative study of classical and modern art. • I'm taking a class in comparative anatomy/literature. • a comparative analysis of the roles of women in different cultures

3 grammar : of or relating to the form of an adjective or adverb that is used to indicate more of a particular quality • The comparative form of "happy" is "happier"; the comparative form of "good" is "better"; the comparative form of "clearly" is "more clearly." — compare SUPERLATIVE

²comparative noun, pl -tives [count] : the comparative form of an adjective or adverb : the form of an adjective or adverb that is used to indicate more of a particular quality • "Taller" is the comparative of "tall." — compare SUPERLATIVE

com·par·a·tive·ly adv : when measured or judged against something else : in comparison with something else • These prices are comparatively [=relatively] high. • a comparatively [=relatively] small amount ♦ The phrase comparatively speaking is used to suggest that what is being said involves a comparison to something else. • Comparatively speaking, the movie wasn't bad. [=the movie was better than some other movie]

¹com·pare /kəm'peə/ verb -pares; -pared; -par·ing

1 [+ obj] : to say that (something) is similar to something else • The poet compared [=likened] his sweetheart to a beautiful rose. • The singer's voice has been compared to that of Elvis.

2 [+ obj] : to look at (two or more things) closely in order to see what is similar or different about them or in order to decide which one is better • We each did the homework assignment, then compared answers. • I compared several bicycles before buying one. • For our assignment we must compare and contrast the two poets. [=say what is similar and different about them]

3 [no obj] : to be as good or as bad as something else : to be on the same level or in the same category as something else — usually + with or to • He says skiing is fun enough but it can't compare with snowboarding. [=he says skiing is fun but snowboarding is better] • Spraining an ankle hurts but doesn't compare to breaking a leg. [=breaking a leg is worse than spraining an ankle]

4 [no obj] : to seem better or worse in comparison to something else : to be good or bad when measured against something else • How do the restaurants compare? — usually + with or to • How does your new job compare to the last one? [=is your new job better or worse than the last one?] • Her scores compare well with those of the rest of the class.

compare apples and/to/with apples : to compare things that are very similar • The article compares apples to apples, grouping wines of the same variety and price together.

compare apples and/to/with oranges : to compare things that are very different • To compare large trucks with compact cars is to compare apples with oranges.

compared to or compared with : in relation to (something else) : measured or judged against (something else) • I'm a slob compared to my roommate. • This rain is nothing compared to what we got yesterday. [=yesterday's rain was worse than today's rain] • Today's quiz was easy compared with the last one.

compare notes : to talk to someone about something that you and that person have each done, experienced, etc. • The parents compare notes on raising children. • I phoned a coworker after the meeting to compare notes.

²compare noun

beyond compare also without compare : better or greater than any other : having no equal • The singer's voice is beyond compare. • beauty beyond compare

com·par-i-son /kəm'perəsən/ noun, pl -sons

1 : the act of looking at things to see how they are similar or different [count] a comparison of the data from the two studies [noncount] a wine that stands/bears comparison with [=it is as good as] wines that are much more expensive

2 : the act of suggesting that two or more things are similar or in the same category [count] the comparison of monkeys to humans • I don't think comparisons of her situation and/with mine are appropriate. [noncount] His poetry evokes/invites comparison with [=it is similar to] the work of Robert Frost.

by/in comparison : when compared with another : when looked at or thought about in relation to someone or something else • Yesterday's weather was very cold. Today's weather is mild by comparison. — often + with • He's a well-behaved child in comparison with his brother.

draw a comparison or draw comparisons : to say that two or more things or people are similar • The brochure draws a comparison between the hotel and a medieval palace. • The writer draws unflattering comparisons between the mayor and a dictator.

make a comparison or make comparisons 1 : to say that two or more things or people are similar • His work has been widely praised. Comparisons have been made to the great painters of past centuries. 2 : to look at similarities and differences between two or more things or people • The Web site allows consumers to make direct comparisons between competing products.

no comparison — used to suggest that two or more things are very different • There's really no comparison between the two models. [=one is much better than the other] comparison shop verb ~ shops; ~ shopped; ~ shopping [no obj] : to compare items while shopping in order to see which one is the best or has the lowest price • The Internet allows consumers to comparison shop with ease.

— comparison shopper noun, pl ~ers [count]

com·part-ment /kəm'pɑ:tment/ noun, pl -ments [count]

1 : an enclosed space or area that is usually part of something larger and is often used to hold a specific thing • The suitcase has a zippered compartment for personal items. • The refrigerator has a separate compartment for meats.

2 : one of the separate areas of an automobile, train, or airplane • the baggage compartments • the passenger compartment • the engine compartment — see also GLOVE COMPARTMENT

— com·part-men-tal /kəm,pɑ:t'mentl/ adj • a compart-mental design — com·part-ment-ed /kəm'pɑ:t,mentəd/ adj • compartmented metal trays [=metal trays that have separate compartments]

com·part-men-tal-ize also Brit com·part-men-tal-ise /kəm,pɑ:t'mentə,ləɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] somewhat formal

1 : to separate (something) into sections or categories • He compartmentalizes his life by keeping his job and his personal life separate.

2 : to separate (two or more things) from each other • The company has compartmentalized its services.

3 : to put (something) in a place that is separate from other things • A soldier must be able to compartmentalize [=isolate] his emotions to focus on the mission.

— com·part-men-tal-i-za-tion also Brit com·part-men-tal-i-sa-tion /kəm,pɑ:t,mentələ'zeɪʃən, Brit kəm,pɑ:t,mentə,lə'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the compartmentalization of ideas/responsibilities — com·part-men-tal-ized adj [more ~; most ~] • a compartmentalized box • a compartmentalized life

com·pass /'kɑmpəs/ noun, pl -pass-es

1 [count] : a device that is used to find direction by means of a needle that always points north • He always carries a compass when he walks in the woods. • Guests arrived from all points of the compass. [=directions]

2 [count] : something that helps a person make choices about what is right, effective, etc. • His religion is the compass that guides him. • Interest rates serve as a compass for determining whether to buy or sell stocks. • The character in the movie had no moral compass to tell him that stealing was wrong.

3 [count] a : a tool that consists of two pointed sticks joined at the top and that is used for measuring distances — often plural • a pair of compasses [=dividers] b : a tool that consists of a pen or pencil attached to a pointed stick and that is used for drawing circles

4 [noncount] : a specialized area of knowledge, skill, experience, etc. — often used after beyond or within • That topic falls beyond the compass [=beyond the scope] of my research.

com·pas-sion /kəm'pæʃən/ noun [noncount] : a feeling of wanting to help someone who is sick, hungry, in trouble, etc. • He felt compassion for the lost child. • She shows compassion to the sick. • She had the compassion to offer help when it was needed most.

com·pas-sion-ate /kəm'pæʃənət/ adj [more ~; most ~] : feeling or showing concern for someone who is sick, hurt, poor, etc. : having or showing compassion • a very compassionate person • a compassionate act

— com·pas-sion-ate-ly adv

compassionate leave noun [noncount] chiefly Brit : a period of time when a person is allowed to stay home from work because a family member is sick or has died • He has three days of compassionate leave for the funeral.

com·pat-i-ble /kəm'pætəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : able to exist together without trouble or conflict : going together well • compatible colors • two people with compatible personalities • My roommate and I are very compatible. [=we get along very well] • Our tastes are not compatible. [=we like very different things] • a policy that is compatible with my beliefs [=that agrees with my beliefs] — opposite INCOMPATIBLE

2 of devices and especially computers : able to be used together • compatible computers • compatible systems • This printer is compatible with most PCs. — opposite INCOMPATIBLE

— com·pat-i-bil-i-ty /kəm,pætə'bɪləti/ noun [noncount]

com·pa-tri-ot /kəm'peɪtriət, Brit kəm'pætriət/ noun, pl -ots [count]

1 : a person from the same country as someone else • We watched our compatriots compete in the Olympics.

2 US : a friend or colleague : someone who belongs to the same group or organization as someone else • the famous actor and his theater compatriots

com·pel /kəm'pel/ verb -pels; -pelled; -pel-ling [+ obj]

1 : to force (someone) to do something • Illness compelled him to stay in bed. • Public opinion compelled [=obliged] her to sign the bill. • I feel compelled to leave. [=I feel that I must leave]

2 : to make (something) happen : to force (something) • We took steps to compel their cooperation.

com·pel-ling /kəm'pelɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : very interesting : able to capture and hold your attention • The novel was so compelling that I couldn't put it down.

2 : capable of causing someone to believe or agree • compelling evidence • He made a compelling argument.

3 : strong and forceful : causing you to feel that you must do something • I would need a very compelling reason to leave my job. • She had a compelling need to share what she had heard. • a compelling desire

— com·pel-ling-ly adv • The novel was compellingly written.

com·pen-di-um /kəm'pendijəm/ noun, pl -ums [count] : a collection of things (such as photographs, stories, facts, etc.) that have been gathered together and presented as a group especially in the form of a book • a one-volume compendium of information • He published a compendium of folk tales.

com·pen-sate /'kɑ:mpən,seɪt/ verb -sates; -sat-ed; -sat-ing somewhat formal

1 [no obj] : to provide something good as a balance against something bad or undesirable : to make up for some defect

compass

or weakness • His enthusiasm compensates for his lack of skill. • The price of the item has been reduced to compensate for a defect.

2 [+ obj] : to give money or something else of value to (someone) in return for something (such as work) or as payment for something lost, damaged, etc. • compensate workers for their labor • She was not compensated for the damage done to her car.

— com·pen·sa·to·ry /kəm'pensə'tori, Brit kəm'pensə'tri, kəm'pensə'tri/ adj • a compensatory refund • The patient sued for compensatory damages [=money awarded to a victim to make up for an injury, damage, etc.]

com·pen·sa·tion /,kəm'pensə'tʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 a [noncount] : something that is done or given to make up for damage, trouble, etc. • The court awarded the victims millions of dollars in compensation. • She offered to pay for lunch as compensation for keeping me waiting. — see also WORKERS' COMPENSATION b [count] : something good that acts as a balance against something bad or undesirable • Moving to the coast had some drawbacks, but there were also compensations.

2 [noncount] US : payment given for doing a job • annual compensation • executive compensation

com·pete /kəm'pi:t/ verb -petes; -pet-ed; -pet-ing [no obj]

1 : to try to get or win something (such as a prize or reward) that someone else is also trying to win : to try to be better or more successful than someone or something else • Thousands of applicants are competing for the same job. • She competed against students from around the country. • We are competing with companies that are twice our size. • Did you compete in the track meet on Saturday?

2 : to try to be noticed, accepted, or chosen over something else • The radio and the television were both on, competing for our attention. • competing teams/products/theories can't compete — used to say that one person or thing is much better than another • Store-bought cookies can't compete with homemade ones. [=homemade cookies are much better than store-bought cookies]

com·pe·tence /'kɑ:mpətəns/ noun [noncount] : the ability to do something well : the quality or state of being competent • He trusts in the competence of his doctor. • Students must demonstrate competence in all subjects. [=must show that they have learned all subjects] — opposite INCOMPETENCE

com·pe·ten·cy /'kɑ:mpətənsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 [noncount] : COMPETENCE • Critics have questioned the director's competency.

2 [count] formal : an ability or skill — usually plural • The task is well within the range of her competencies. [=she is able to do the task]

com·pe·tent /'kɑ:mpətənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having the necessary ability or skills : able to do something well or well enough to meet a standard • a competent [=capable] teacher • She is a competent [=adequate] portrait painter but she excels with landscapes. — opposite INCOMPETENT

2 law : able to take part in a trial • The defendant was declared competent to stand trial. • a competent witness — opposite INCOMPETENT

— com·pe·tent·ly adv • He answered all our questions competently.

com·pe·ti·tion /,kɑ:mpə'tɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] a : the act or process of trying to get or win something (such as a prize or a higher level of success) that someone else is also trying to get or win : the act or process of competing • The school fosters an atmosphere of competition rather than cooperation. [=it encourages students to compete against each other instead of work together] • There will be intense/fierce competition for the top spots. [=many people will be trying to get the top spots] • These products are in competition with each other. [=these products are competing with each other] b : actions that are done by people, companies, etc., that are competing against each other • Prices are lower when there is competition among/between the stores. — often + from • The industry has been affected by competition from new technologies. • We're up against some stiff/tough competition from our rivals. • Downtown stores are looking for new ways to attract customers in the face of competition from the stores at the mall.

2 the competition : a person or group that you are trying to succeed against : a person or group that you are competing with • He sized up the competition. [=looked at who he was competing against] • Don't let the competition know our trade secrets. ♦ Someone or something that has no competition is much better than others. • In my opinion, this restaurant has no competition.

3 [count] : a contest in which people try to win by being better, faster, etc., than others : an event in which people compete • They had/held/staged a competition to see who could sell the most lemonade. • a gymnastics/dance/talent competition • She won/lost the competition.

com·pet·i·tive /kəm'petətiv/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : of or relating to a situation in which people or groups are trying to win a contest or be more successful than others : relating to or involving competition • competitive sports • It is a very competitive job market. [=a situation in which a lot of people are trying to get jobs] • The new technology gave them a competitive advantage/edge. [=a better chance than others of winning or succeeding]

2 : having a strong desire to win or be the best at something • She is a very competitive player. • He has a competitive nature. [=he likes to compete and to win]

3 : as good as or better than others of the same kind : able to compete successfully with others • We offer great service at competitive rates. [=rates that are close to those of other companies] • You need a degree to be competitive in today's job market. • a competitive team [=a team with a good chance to win]

— com·pet·i·tive·ly adv • Our products are competitively priced. — com·pet·i·tive·ness noun [noncount]

com·pet·i·tor /kəm'petətə/ noun, pl -tors [count] : someone who is trying to win or do better than all others especially in business or sports : someone who is competing • We offer better rates than our competitors. • There were more than 500 competitors in the race. • She is a fierce competitor. [=she is someone who tries very hard to win]

com·pi·la·tion /,kɑ:mpə'leɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a group of things (such as songs or pieces of writing) that have been gathered into a collection • The CD is a compilation of greatest hits. • a video compilation

2 [noncount] : the act or process of gathering things together • the slow compilation of data

com·pile /kəm'pajəl/ verb -piles; -piled; -pil-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to create (a CD, book, list, etc.) by gathering things (such as songs or pieces of writing or information) • He compiled a book of poems. • She compiled a list of names. b : to put together (various songs, pieces of writing, facts, etc.) in a publication or collection • They took the best submissions and compiled them in a single issue of the magazine. • We compiled our findings in the report.

2 computers : to change (computer programming instructions) into a form the computer can understand and use • a compiled program

— com·pil·er /kəm'pailə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

com·pla·cen·cy /kəm'pleɪnsi/ noun [noncount] : a feeling of being satisfied with how things are and not wanting to try to make them better : a complacent feeling or condition • The public was lulled into complacency. • The stock market crash rattled/shattered/shook our complacency. [=took away our feeling that everything was fine]

com·pla·cent /kəm'pleɪsnt/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : satisfied with how things are and not wanting to change them • The strong economy has made people complacent. • We have grown too complacent over the years. • a complacent [=self-satisfied] smirk • We can't afford to be complacent about illiteracy.

— com·pla·cent·ly adv

com·plain /kəm'pleɪn/ verb -plains; -plained; -plain-ing

1 [no obj] : to say or write that you are unhappy, sick, uncomfortable, etc., or that you do not like something • He works hard but he never complains. • If you're unhappy with the service, you should complain to the manager. — often + about or of • Customers are sure to complain about the price increase. • In her letters, she complains of loneliness. [=she says that she is lonely] • She complained of a sore throat. [=she said she had a sore throat] • "How are you feeling?" "I can't complain" [=I am not unhappy or ill; I am fine]

2 [+ obj] : to say (something that expresses annoyance or unhappiness) • The students complained that the test was too hard. • "These shoes are too tight," he complained.

— com·plain·er noun, pl -ers [count] • He's a chronic complainer. [=he complains constantly or often] — com·plain·ing·ly /kəm'pleɪnɪŋli/ adv

com·plain·ant /kəm'pleɪnənt/ noun, pl -ants [count] law : a person who makes a formal charge in court saying that someone has done something wrong • The judge ruled in favor of the complainant. [=plaintiff]

com·plaint /kəm'pleɪnt/ noun, pl -plaints

¹ a [count] : a statement that you are unhappy or not satisfied with something • We lodged a complaint with the hotel manager. [=we complained to the hotel manager] • The board has received a number of complaints about the new policy. • The company has a system to handle customer complaints. b [noncount] : the act of saying or writing that you are unhappy or dissatisfied with something • She did her chores without complaint. [=without complaining] • a letter of complaint [=a letter in which you complain about something] • You have no grounds for complaint [=no reasons to complain]

2 [count] : something to be unhappy about : something that people complain about • The lack of parking spaces is a common complaint among the city's residents. • The lack of financial support is our biggest/only complaint. • I have no complaints with/about the service. [=I am happy with the service]

3 [count] : a pain or sickness in the body : a symptom of a disease • He is being treated for a stomach complaint. • Shortness of breath was a common complaint among the patients.

4 [count] law : a formal charge saying that someone has done something wrong • He filed a complaint against his employer. • The court dismissed her complaint.

com·plai·sant /kəm'pleɪzənt, Brit kəm'pleɪzənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : willing or eager to please other people • a complaisant young man : easily convinced to do what other people want • He was too complaisant [=compliant] to say no to his brother's demands.

— com·plai·sance /kəm'pleɪsənts, Brit kəm'pleɪzns/ noun [noncount] • He took advantage of her complaisance.

¹ com·ple·ment /'kɑ:mpləmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count]

1 : something that completes something else or makes it better • The scarf is a perfect complement to her outfit.

2 : the usual number or quantity of something that is needed or used • a full complement of farm animals • her usual complement of attendants • a ship's complement of officers

3 grammar : a word or group of words added to a sentence to make it complete • "President" in "they elected her president" and "to work" in "he wants to work" are different kinds of complements.

Do not confuse complement with compliment.

² com·ple·ment /'kɑ:mpləmənt/ verb -ments; -ment-ed; -ment-ing [+ obj] : to complete something else or make it better • The shirt complements the suit nicely. • a delicious dinner complemented by a splendid dessert • The soup and salad complement each other well.

Do not confuse complement with compliment.

com·ple·men·ta·ry /,kɑ:mplə'mentəri/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : completing something else or making it better : serving as a complement • She wore a new outfit with a complementary scarf.

2 — used of two things when each adds something to the other or helps to make the other better • The print and online publications are complementary, not competitive. • The company owes its success to the complementary talents of its co-owners.

3 : going together well : working well together • My spouse and I have complementary goals. • complementary flavors

4 : not traditional : ALTERNATIVE • complementary medicine [=alternative medicine; methods of healing or treating disease that are different from the usual methods taught in Western medical schools]

Do not confuse complementary with complimentary.

complementary angles noun [plural] mathematics : two angles that add up to 90 degrees

complementary color noun [count] technical : one of two colors (such as red and green) that are very different from each other and produce a dull color (such as brown or gray) when they are mixed together

¹ com·plete /kəm'pli:t/ adj -plet·er; -est [or more ~; most ~]

1 : having all necessary parts : not lacking anything • a complete [=entire; whole] set of encyclopedias • He spoke in complete sentences. • This list of names is not complete. [=it is missing some names] • She gave us a complete [=thorough] description of the events. — often used in book titles • The Complete Works of Charles Dickens • The Complete Guide to Organic Gardening — opposite INCOMPLETE

2 : not limited in any way • She wants complete [=total, absolute] control of all aspects of the project. • He gave the car a complete overhaul. [=made repairs to almost every part of the car] • They sat in complete silence. — often used for emphasis • The movie was a complete [=total] failure.

3 not used before a noun : not requiring more work : entirely done or completed • By autumn, the road construction should be complete. [=finished] — opposite INCOMPLETE

4 American football, of a forward pass : caught by the player the ball was thrown to • The pass to the receiver was complete for a gain of 10 yards.

complete with : having or including (something good or desirable) • a birthday cake complete with candles • The school has built a new sports complex, complete with a skating rink. • The car comes complete with [=includes] air-conditioning and a CD player.

— com·plete·ly adv • Her news took me completely by surprise. • I completely agree. • We are completely different. [=we are different in every way] — com·plete·ness noun [noncount]

² complete verb -pletes; -plet-ed; -plet-ing [+ obj]

1 : to finish making or doing (something) : to bring (something) to an end or to a finished state • I have completed my research. = My research is now completed. • We completed the job. • The project took four months to complete. • He has completed the ninth grade. [=he has satisfied all the requirements for the ninth grade] • I completed the form. [=I wrote all the required information on the form]

2 : to make (something) whole or perfect • Her latest purchase completes her collection. • The new baby completed their family.

3 American football : to throw (a forward pass) to a teammate who catches it • The quarterback completed 12 out of 15 passes.

com·ple·tion /kəm'pli:ʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the act or process of completing or finishing something : the state of being complete or finished • He will receive his degree upon completion of his studies. • The project is near completion [=almost finished]

2 [count] American football : a forward pass made to a teammate who catches it • The quarterback has 11 completions in 20 attempts for 80 yards.

¹ com·plex /kəm'pleks, Brit 'kɒm,pleks/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : having parts that connect or go together in complicated ways • a complex system • The house's wiring is complex.

2 [more ~; most ~] : not easy to understand or explain : not simple • a complex problem • The situation is more complex than you realize. • Her poetry is too complex [=complicated] for my taste.

3 grammar : consisting of a main clause and one or more additional clauses • a complex sentence

— com·plex·ly adv • The rules are complexly written.

² com·plex /'kɑ:m,pleks/ noun, pl -plex-es [count]

1 : a group of buildings, apartments, etc., that are located near each other and used for a particular purpose • a sports complex • an industrial/apartment complex

2 : an emotional problem that causes someone to think or worry too much about something • She has a complex about her appearance. — see also INFERIORITY COMPLEX, OEDIPUS COMPLEX

3 : a group of things that are connected in complicated ways • a complex [=system] of welfare programs • a complex of protein molecules

com·plex·ion /kəm'plekʃən/ noun, pl -ions [count]

1 : the color or appearance of the skin especially on the face • She has a dark/fair/light/ruddy complexion. • a glowing complexion • All of the children had healthy complexions.

2 : the general appearance or character of something • The complexion of the neighborhood has changed over the years. put a new/different complexion on : to change the appearance of (something) : to cause (something) to be seen or thought about in a new way • That information puts a whole new complexion on the case.

— com·plex·ioned /kəm'plekʃənd/ adj — usually used in combination • a fair-complexioned child [=a child with light-colored skin]

com·plex·i·ty /kəm'pleksəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the quality or state of not being simple : the quality or state of being complex • He was impressed by the complexity of the music. • The diagram illustrates the complexity of the cell's structure. • He doesn't grasp/understand the complexity of the situation.

2 [count] : a part of something that is complicated or hard to understand — usually plural • the complexities of the English language

com·pli·ance /kəm'plajəns/ noun [noncount] formal : the act or process of doing what you have been asked or ordered to do : the act or process of complying • She was rewarded for her compliance. • There has been a low/high rate of compliance with the new law.

in compliance with : in the way that is required by (a rule, law, etc.) • In compliance with a court order, the company has ceased operations. • The workers were not in full compliance with the rules. [=were not following the rules exactly]

com·pli·ant /kəm'plajənt/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : willing to do whatever you are asked or ordered to do : ready and willing to comply • I asked him for a favor, and he was compliant. • a compliant young reporter • a compliant servant

2 : agreeing with a set of rules, standards, or requirements • The student's shirt was not compliant with the school's dress code. • The software is compliant with the latest standards.

com·pli·cate /'kɑ:mplə,kert/ verb -cates; -cat·ed; -cat·ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (something) more difficult or less simple • Changing jobs now would complicate her life. • This complicates things. [=this makes the situation more difficult] • To complicate matters further, his train is running late. [=his train is running late, which makes the situation even more complicated or difficult]

2 : to cause (a medical problem) to become more dangerous or harder to treat • a disease complicated by infection

com·pli·cat·ed /'kɑ:mplə,kertəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : hard to understand, explain, or deal with • The game's rules are too complicated. • a complicated situation • a very complicated issue : having many parts or steps • The machine has a complicated design. • a complicated plan • a complicated mathematical formula

com·pli·ca·tion /,kɑ:mplə'keɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count]

1 : something that makes something harder to understand, explain, or deal with • The negotiations stalled when complications arose.

2 medical : a disease or condition that happens in addition to another disease or condition : a problem that makes a disease or condition more dangerous or harder to treat • Pneumonia is a common complication of AIDS. • She experienced complications during her pregnancy. • The patient died of complications from surgery.

com·plic·it /kəm'plɪsət/ adj, formal : helping to commit a crime or do wrong in some way • He was complicit in the cover-up. [=he helped with the cover-up]

com·plic·i·ty /kəm'plɪsəti/ noun [noncount] formal : the act of helping to commit a crime or do wrong in some way • There's no proof of her complicity in the murder. • He acted with his brother's complicity.

¹com·pli·ment /'kɑ:mpləmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 [count] : a remark that says something good about someone or something • She gave/paid me a compliment. [=she said something nice about me] • He told her he admired her paintings and she returned/repaid the compliment by saying that she was a fan of his sculptures. • I received a nice compliment yesterday. [=someone said something nice about me yesterday] • I'll take that as a compliment. [=I'll regard what was said as praise, whether or not the speaker meant it as praise] • When I called you a perfectionist, I meant it as a compliment. [=I wanted what I said to be understood as praise] • She is always fishing for compliments. [=she is always trying to get people to say nice things about her]

2 [count] : an action that expresses admiration or approval • When customers recommend our company to friends and family members, we consider that to be the highest/best compliment we can get.

3 compliments [plural] — used politely to express praise, welcome, or good wishes to someone • Our compliments to the chef! [=we praise the chef for preparing a fine meal] • Please accept this gift with our compliments. • A free sample is enclosed with the compliments of the manufacturer. ♦ The phrase compliments of is often used to identify the giver of something that has been provided for free. • We were served free drinks, compliments of [=provided without charge by] the casino. Compliments of is also used in a joking way to refer to the source of something that is not wanted. • I woke up with a stiff neck, compliments of that uncomfortable mattress in their guest room. [=sleeping on the uncomfortable mattress gave me a stiff neck] • He received an audit, compliments of the IRS.

Do not confuse compliment with complement.

²com·pli·ment /'kɑ:mpləmənt/ verb -ments; -ment·ed -ment·ing [+ obj] : to say nice things about (someone or something) : to pay a compliment to (someone or something) • She complimented my outfit. — often + on • We complimented the pianist on his performance.

Do not confuse compliment with complement.

com·pli·men·ta·ry /,kɑ:mplə'mentəri/ adj

1 : expressing praise or admiration for someone or something • She made complimentary remarks about his work.

2 : given for free • They handed out complimentary brochures. • complimentary tickets • The restaurant offers valet parking as a complimentary service.

Do not confuse complimentary with complementary.

complimentary close noun, pl ~ closes [count] US : the words (such as sincerely yours) that come before the signature of a letter

com·ply /kəm'plai/ verb -plies; -plied; -ply·ing [no obj] : to do what you have been asked or ordered to do • I asked the waitress to refill my coffee cup and she happily complied. • There will be penalties against individuals who fail to comply. — often + with • You still have not complied with our request. [=have not done what we requested you to do] • We have complied with federal law [=we have done what federal law requires] every step of the way. • The devices comply with [=are in agreement with] industry standards.

¹com·po·nent /kəm'pounənt/ noun, pl -ments [count] : one of the parts of something (such as a system or mixture) : an important piece of something • the components of an electric circuit • He sells spare computer components. • The interview is a key component in the hiring process. • Hard work has been a major component of his success.

²component adj, always used before a noun : helping to make up the whole of something (such as a system or a mixture) : forming or being a part of something • the component parts of a machine

com·port /kəm'poət/ verb -ports; -port·ed; -port·ing comport with [phrasal verb] comport with (something) US, formal : to be in agreement with (something) • Her actions comport with [=match] her ideals.

comport yourself formal : to behave in a certain way — used especially in situations where the behavior is admirable or appropriate • He comported himself with dignity. • She comported herself well during the crisis.

com·port·ment /kəm'poətmənt/ noun [noncount] formal : the way in which someone behaves • the comportment of a gentleman

com·pose /kəm'pouz/ verb -pos·es; -posed; -pos·ing

1 [+ obj] : to come together to form or make (something) • Minorities composed [=made up] about a third of the attendees at the conference. — usually used as (be) composed of • a stew composed of [=made from/with] many ingredients • Our group is composed of [=is made up of; consists of] travelers from 7 countries. • The clouds are composed of water vapor.

2 a [+ obj] : to create and write (a piece of music or writing) • compose a song/symphony • compose music • She composed a letter to her sister. b [no obj] : to practice the art of writing music • He is in his studio composing.

3 [+ obj] : to arrange the appearance of (something, such as a picture or image) in an orderly or careful way • an elegantly composed photograph

4 [+ obj] a : to make (yourself) calm • Take a moment to compose yourself before you pick up the phone. b : to gain control of (your emotions) • She sat quietly on the bench outside the courthouse, trying to compose her feelings.

com·posed /kəm'pouz/ adj [more ~; most ~] : calm and in control of your emotions : not feeling or showing anger, fear, etc. • He had told us he felt nervous about the performance, but he seemed perfectly composed when he walked onto the stage. • They tried to remain composed throughout the ordeal.

com·pos·er /kəm'pouzə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who writes music • She prefers Mozart and Beethoven to modern composers.

com·pos·ite /kəm'pə:zət, Brit 'kɒmpəzɪt/ adj : made of different parts or elements • a composite photograph • a composite material composite noun, pl com·pos·ites [count]

1 : something that is made up of different parts • a composite of minerals • a composite of diverse communities
2 US : a drawing of someone who is wanted by the police that is made using descriptions given by witnesses • He spotted a man who resembled the police composite.

com·po·si·tion /,kɑ:mpə'zɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions
1 [noncount] : the way in which something is put together or arranged • the painting's unique composition : the combination of parts or elements that make up something • Each rock has a slightly different composition. [=makeup] • the changing composition of the country's population • the composition of a chemical compound
2 [count] : a piece of writing • Is this poem an original composition? [=did you write this poem yourself?]; especially : a brief essay written as a school assignment • The teacher reminded us to hand in our compositions at the end of class.
3 [count] : a written piece of music and especially one that is very long or complex • a famous classical composition
4 [noncount] : the art or process of writing words or music • She studies musical theory and composition.

com·post /'kɑ:m,poust, Brit 'kɒm,pɒst/ noun [noncount] : a decayed mixture of plants (such as leaves and grass) that is used to improve the soil in a garden • a compost heap = (chiefly US) a compost pile [=a pile of plant materials that are kept in a garden and allowed to decay to create compost] compost verb -posts; -post·ed; -post·ing [+ obj] : to change (plant materials) into compost • We compost leaves in our backyard.

com·po·sure /kəm'pouzə/ noun [noncount] : calmness especially of mind, manner, or appearance • She never loses her composure. [=she always appears calm] • He kept/maintained his composure. • After the initial shock she regained/recovered her composure. • He answered with composure.

com·pote /'kɑ:m,pout/ noun, pl -potes [count, noncount] : a dessert made of fruits cooked with sugar • blueberry compote

com·pound /'kɑ:m,paund/ noun, pl -pounds [count]
1 : something that is formed by combining two or more parts; especially, technical : a substance created when the atoms of two or more chemical elements join together • chemical/organic compounds • a compound of sodium and chlorine • The metal reacts with the gas to form a compound.
2 : a word formed by combining two or more words • "Rowboat," "high school," and "light-year" are compounds.
— compare ⁴COMPOUND

com·pound /kɑ:m'paund/ verb -pounds; -pound·ed; -pound·ing
1 [+ obj] : to make (something, such as an error or problem) worse : to add to (something bad) • He compounded [=exacerbated] his mistake by announcing it to the whole table.
2 finance : to pay interest on both an amount of money and the interest it has already earned [+ obj] The interest is compounded at regular intervals. [no obj] The interest compounds quarterly.
3 [+ obj] : to form (something) by combining separate things • compound a medicine — usually used as (be) compounded • an attitude compounded of [=made up of] equal parts greed and arrogance

com·pound /'kɑ:m,paund/ adj
1 : made up of two or more parts • a compound leaf • a compound microscope
2 a : made by combining two or more words • "Steamboat" is a compound noun. b : consisting of two or more main clauses • "I told him to leave and he left" is a compound sentence.

com·pound /'kɑ:m,paund/ noun, pl -pounds [count] : an enclosed area that contains a group of buildings • a prison compound — compare ¹COMPOUND compound fracture noun, pl ~ -tures [count] medical : a broken bone in which a part of the bone sticks out through the skin compound interest noun [noncount] finance : interest paid both on the original amount of money and on the interest it has already earned — compare SIMPLE INTEREST

com·pre·hend /,kɑ:mpri'hend/ verb -hends; -hend·ed;

-hend·ing [+ obj] somewhat formal : to understand (something, such as a difficult or complex subject) • He is able to fully comprehend [=understand completely] what is happening and react appropriately. — often used in negative statements • They are unable to comprehend what had happened. • We can scarcely comprehend how it all ended. • I find his attitude impossible/difficult to comprehend.

com·pre·hen·si·ble /,kɑ:mpri'hensəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : able to be understood • a comprehensible [=intelligible] explanation • They spoke in barely comprehensible slang. [=slang that was extremely difficult to understand] — opposite INCOMPREHENSIBLE

— com·pre·hen·si·bil·i·ty /,kɑ:mpri'hensə'bɪləti/ noun [noncount] — com·pre·hen·si·bly /,kɑ:mpri'hensəbli/ adv

com·pre·hen·sion /,kɑ:mpri'hensən/ noun : ability to understand [noncount] He has not the slightest comprehension of the subject. [=he does not understand the subject at all] • The students showed excellent reading/language comprehension. • The war caused suffering beyond comprehension. [=suffering that is impossible to imagine] • mysteries that are beyond our comprehension [=mysteries that we cannot understand] [singular] I don't have a clear comprehension [=understanding] of how it works.

com·pre·hen·sive /,kɑ:mpri'hensɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : including many, most, or all things • a comprehensive list • comprehensive insurance [=insurance that covers all kinds of risks] • a comprehensive [=thorough] course of study

2 Brit : of or relating to a comprehensive school • comprehensive education

— com·pre·hen·sive·ly /,kɑ:mpri'hensɪvli/ adv • Each patient was comprehensively [=completely, thoroughly] evaluated. • Trade was comprehensively regulated by the authorities. • (Brit) The team was comprehensively [=soundly] beaten/defeated. — com·pre·hen·sive·ness noun

comprehensive noun, pl -sives [count] Brit : COMPREHENSIVE SCHOOL comprehensive school noun, pl ~ schools [count] Brit : a school in Britain for children of all different levels of ability who are over the age of 11 • Some of his friends attended the local comprehensive school.

com·press /kəm'pres/ verb -press·es; -pressed; -press·ing

1 : to press or squeeze (something) so that it is smaller or fills less space [+ obj] compress the air in a closed chamber • She compressed her lips. [no obj] Her lips compressed into a frown. • a material that compresses easily

2 [+ obj] : to make (something) shorter or smaller • compress a chapter • The author compressed [=condensed] 80 years of history into 15 pages.

3 computers : to reduce the size of (a computer file) by using special software [+ obj] compress a digital photograph [no obj] This type of file compresses easily. — opposite DECOMPRESS

— compressed adj • a bottle of compressed air — com·press·ible /kəm'presəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • This type of file is easily compressible. — com·pres·sion /kəm'presən/ noun [noncount] • compression of air • file/data compression

com·press /'kɑ:m,pres/ noun, pl -press·es [count] : a folded cloth that is pressed against a part of the body to reduce pain or stop bleeding from an injury • a cold compress

com·pres·sor /kəm'presə/ noun, pl -sors [count] : a machine that compresses air or gas

com·prise /kəm'praɪz/ verb -pris·es; -prised; -pris·ing [+ obj]

1 : to be made up of (something) : to include or consist of (something) • Each army division comprised 4,500 troops. • The play comprises three acts.

2 : to make up or form (something) • Nine players comprise [=make up] a baseball team. • Plants comprise [=constitute, form] the bulk of their diet. — often used as (be) comprised • The play is comprised of [=is composed of] three acts.

com·pro·mise /'kɑ:mpɹə,maɪz/ noun, pl -mis·es

1 : a way of reaching agreement in which each person or group gives up something that was wanted in order to end an argument or dispute [noncount] the art of political compromise • To avoid an argument, always be ready to seek compromise. [count] Both boys will have to make compromises if they are to share the room. [=they will each have to give up something in order to get along] • The two sides were unable to reach a compromise [=unable to come to an agreement] — often used before another noun • a compromise agreement/amendment/verdict/measure

2 [count] : something that combines the qualities of two different things — often + between • The style is a happy compromise between formal and informal.

3 : a change that makes something worse and that is not done for a good reason [noncount] a director who will not tolerate artistic compromise [count] She says that accepting their proposal would be a compromise of her principles.

2 compromise verb -mises; -mised; -mis-ing

1 [no obj] : to give up something that you want in order to reach an agreement : to settle differences by means of a compromise • The two sides were unwilling/unable to compromise. — often + on • They are unwilling to compromise (with each other) on this issue.

2 [+ obj] : to expose (something) to risk or danger : ENDANGER • We can't reveal that information without compromising national security.

3 [+ obj] : to damage or weaken (something) : IMPAIR • a dangerous drug that can further compromise an already weakened immune system

4 [+ obj] : to damage (your reputation, integrity, etc.) by doing something that causes people to lose respect for you • He refused to do anything that might compromise his reputation/integrity/principles. • She had already compromised herself by refusing to answer their questions.

— com-pro-mis-er noun, pl -ers [count]

compromising adj [more ~; most ~] : revealing something that is improper or embarrassing • a compromising letter/situation • He and his secretary were caught in a compromising position [=they were caught having sexual relations]

comp-trol-ler /kən'trəʊlə/ noun, pl -lers [count] : a person who is in charge of the financial accounts of a company or organization : CONTROLLER

com-pul-sion /kəm'pʌljən/ noun, pl -sions

1 [count] : a very strong desire to do something • I gave in to one of my compulsions and ordered the chocolate dessert. — often followed by to + verb • He felt a compulsion to say something.

2 [noncount] a : the act of using force or pressure to make someone do something • We should be able to get them to cooperate without using compulsion. • legal compulsion b : the state of being forced to do something • He was acting under compulsion [=he was being forced to act] • Their children read only under compulsion. [=only when they are forced] • We are under no compulsion to decide immediately. [=we are not required to decide immediately]

com-pul-sive /kəm'pʌlsɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : caused by a desire that is too strong to resist : impossible to stop or control • compulsive behavior b : not able to stop or control doing something • a compulsive gambler/liar 2 chiefly Brit : very interesting • Her most recent article made compulsive [=compelling] reading.

— com-pul-sive-ly adv • He cleans compulsively. • a compulsively readable story — com-pul-sive-ness noun [noncount]

com-pul-so-ry /kəm'pʌlsəri/ adj

1 : required by a law or rule • compulsory [=mandatory] education/retirement

2 : having the power of forcing someone to do something • a compulsory law

— com-pul-so-ri-ly /kəm'pʌlsərəli/ adv

com-punc-tion /kəm'pʌŋkʃən/ noun, pl -tions : a feeling of guilt or regret : REMORSE [noncount] a brutal murderer who killed without compunction • He feels/has no compunction about his crimes. [count] (chiefly US) • He has no compunctions about his crimes.

com-pu-ta-tion /,kɑ:mpju'teɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions : the act or process of computing or calculating something : CALCULATION [noncount] methods used for the computation of taxes [count] simple mental computations • The solution required a series of computations.

— com-pu-ta-tion-al /,kɑ:mpju'teɪʃənəl/ adj • a computational model

com-pute /kəm'pjʊ:t/ verb -putes; -put-ed; -put-ing [+ obj] : to find out (something) by using mathematical processes : CALCULATE • compute a batting average • compute your income tax ♦ In informal U.S. English, something that does not compute does not make sense. • She said they made a mistake but that does not compute. [=does not seem true or possible]

— com-put-able /kəm'pjʊ:təbəl/ adj

com-put-er /kəm'pjʊ:tə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : an electronic machine that can store and work with large amounts of information • He works all day on/with a computer. • a personal/desktop/laptop computer — often used before another noun • a computer program/game/virus • computer software

com-put-er-ize also Brit com-put-er-ise /kəm'pjʊ:tə-,raɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj]

1 : to use a computer to make, do, or control (something) • We plan to computerize our billing system.

2 : to provide (something) with computers • The office is being computerized.

3 : to put (something) into a form that a computer can use • Libraries are computerizing their records.

— com-put-er-i-za-tion also Brit com-put-er-i-sa-tion /kəm,pju:tərə'zeɪʃən, Brit kəm,pju:tə,raɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the computerization of patient records

— computerized also Brit computerised adj • a computerized billing system • a computerized office/database computer science noun [noncount] : the study of computers and their uses • She has a degree in computer science.

— computer scientist noun, pl ~ -tists [count]

computing noun [noncount] : the use of computers • business computing

— computing adj • computing power • a computing system

com-rade /'kɑ:m,ræd, Brit 'kɒm,reɪd/ noun, pl -rades [count]

1 : a close friend you have worked with, been in the military with, etc. • He enjoys spending time with his old army comrades. • He spoke fondly of his old comrades in arms [=the people he fought with or worked together with to achieve something]

2 Comrade — used as a title for a member of a communist party

— com-rade-ly adj • a warm and comradely feeling — com-rade-ship /'kɑ:m,ræd,ʃɪp, Brit 'kɒm,reɪd,ʃɪp/ noun [noncount]

1 con /'kɑ:n/ noun, pl cons [count] informal : a dishonest trick that is done to get someone's money • It was not a good investment but a con [=swindle, scam] to rob them of their savings. — called also (US) confidence game, (US) con game, (Brit) confidence trick, (Brit) con trick — compare ³CON, ⁴CON

2 con verb cons; conned; con-ning [+ obj] informal : to deceive or to trick (someone) : to persuade (someone) by telling lies • We don't like being conned. [=swindled] • They are accused of conning retirees out of their savings. [=of deceiving retired people in order to take their savings] • She was conned into volunteering. • He conned his way into the job. [=he lied about his qualifications to get the job]

3 con noun, pl cons [count] informal : a person in prison : CONVICT • a tough con • an ex-con [=a former prisoner] — compare ¹CON, ⁴CON

4 con noun, pl cons [count]

1 : a person who is opposed to something • When the new law was proposed, we began hearing arguments from both the pros and the cons. [=from the people who supported it and the people who opposed it]

2 : an argument against something • Each technology has its pros and cons [=has its good parts and its bad parts] : a reason for not doing something • They carefully considered the pros and cons of starting their own business. [=considered the arguments for and against starting their own business] • Buying a home can be risky, but the pros outweigh the cons. [=the advantages outweigh the disadvantages]

— compare ¹CON, ³CON

5 con adv : against something • A lot has been written pro and con about the new law. [=both for and against the new law]

con artist noun, pl ~ -tists [count] : a person who tricks other people in order to get their money • The couple lost their savings to a con artist who told them he was an investment broker. — called also con man, (US) confidence man con-cat-e-na-tion /kən,kætə'neɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] formal : a group of things linked together in a series • An extraordinary concatenation of factors led to his victory.

con-cave /,kɑ:n'keɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having a shape like the inside of a bowl : curving inward • a concave lens — opposite CONVEX

con-cav-i-ty /kən'kævəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the quality or state of being concave : the quality of being curved inward • the concavity of the lens

computer

2 [count] : a shape that is curved inward : a concave shape • The lower back forms a concavity. • The large concavities along the wall of the restaurant are like private rooms.

con•ceal /kən'si:l/ verb -ceals; -cealed; -ceal-ing [+ obj]

1 : to hide (something or someone) from sight • The sunglasses conceal her eyes. • The controls are concealed behind a panel. • The defendant is accused of attempting to conceal evidence. — opposite REVEAL

2 : to keep (something) secret • The editorial accused the government of concealing the truth. • She could barely conceal her anger. — opposite REVEAL — concealed adj • He was carrying a concealed [=hidden] weapon. • a concealed compartment — con•ceal•ment /kən'si:lmənt/ noun [noncount] • concealment of evidence con•ceal•er /kən'si:lə/ noun [noncount] : a type of makeup that is used to hide small marks or dark areas on your face

con•cede /kən'si:d/ verb -cedes; -ced-ed; -ced-ing

1 [+ obj] : to say that you accept or do not deny the truth or existence of (something) : to admit (something) usually in an unwilling way • I concede that the work has been slow so far, but it should speed up soon. • When she noted that the economy was actually improving, he grudgingly/reluctantly conceded the point. [=he admitted that she was right] • “Your plan might work,” she conceded, “but I still think mine is better.” • It is generally conceded [=acknowledged, agreed] that they are the superior team. [=most people agree that they are the superior team]

2 : to admit that you have been defeated and stop trying to win [no obj] Although it seems clear that he has lost the election, he still refuses to concede. [+ obj] He's not ready to concede the election. • They were forced to concede defeat [=to admit that they were defeated]

3 [+ obj] : to give away (something) usually in an unwilling way • The former ruler was forced to concede power to a new government. • The company says that workers are not conceding enough in negotiations.

4 [+ obj] sports : to allow an opponent to score (a point, goal, etc.) • The team has not conceded [=allowed] a goal this half.

con•ceit /kən'si:t/ noun, pl -ceits

1 [noncount] : too much pride in your own worth or goodness • His conceit has earned him many enemies.

2 [count] literary : an idea that shows imagination • an artistic conceit • a clever conceit

con•ceit•ed /kən'si:təd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing too much pride in your own worth or goodness • a brilliant but conceited [=vain] musician

— con•ceit•ed•ly adv — con•ceit•ed•ness noun [non-count]

con•ceiv•able /kən'si:vəbəl/ adj : able to be imagined : imaginable or possible • They discussed the question from every conceivable angle. • It is conceivable that she will refuse to go.

— con•ceiv•ably /kən'si:vəbli/ adv • Conceivably, the date could be moved up a week. • We could conceivably [=possibly] finish tomorrow.

con•ceive /kən'si:v/ verb -ceives; -ceived; -ceiv-ing

1 : to think of or create (something) in the mind [+ obj] conceive an idea • a writer who has conceived [=imagined] an entire world of amazing creatures • When the writer conceived this role, he had a specific actor in mind to play the part. • The system was conceived [=invented] by a Swedish engineer. • As conceived by the committee, the bill did not raise taxes. [no obj] — + of • They conceived of [=thought of, regarded] her as a genius. • I can't conceive of [=imagine] a reason for not supporting this policy.

2 : to become pregnant [no obj] a woman who has been unable to conceive [+ obj] a woman who has been unable to conceive a child

con•cen•trate /'kɑ:nsən,treit/ verb -trates; -trat-ed; -trat-ing

1 [no obj] : to think about something : to give your attention to the thing you are doing, reading, etc. • All that noise makes it hard to concentrate. • The student has difficulty concentrating. — often + on • All that noise makes it hard to concentrate on the book I'm trying to read. • We need to concentrate [=focus] on this problem. • We need to concentrate on finding ways to work more efficiently. • He thought about becoming a lawyer, but he has decided to concentrate on a medical career instead. [=he has decided to direct his efforts toward a medical career instead]

2 [+ obj] : to cause (attention, efforts, strength, etc.) to be used or directed for a single purpose — usually + on • She is concentrating her attention on her studies. [=she is giving her attention to her studies] • We need to concentrate our efforts on finding ways to work more efficiently.

3 [+ obj] : to make (something, such as a liquid) stronger by removing water • concentrate syrup • The sauce should be simmered for a few minutes to concentrate its flavors.

concentrate the/your mind ✧ Something that concentrates the/your mind makes you think very clearly. • Working under a tight deadline can concentrate the mind wonderfully.

²concentrate noun, pl -trates : a substance that is made stronger or more pure by removing water [count] a frozen orange juice concentrate [noncount] Is this orange juice fresh or is it made from concentrate?

concentrated adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : made stronger or more pure by removing water • concentrated orange juice

2 : existing or happening together in one place : not spread out • a highly concentrated beam of light

3 always used before a noun : done in a way that involves a lot of effort and attention • a concentrated [=concentrated] effort be concentrated ✧ Something that is concentrated in a specified place is mainly found in that place. • The population is concentrated near the coast. [=most of the population is near the coast] • Wealth is concentrated in the cities. [=most of the wealthy people live in the cities] • Power was concentrated in the hands of a few rich men. [=a few rich men had most of the power]

con-cen-tra-tion /ˌkɑːnsənˈtreɪʃən/ noun

1 [noncount] : the ability to give your attention or thought to a single object or activity : the ability to concentrate • the power of concentration • All that noise is disturbing my concentration. • The job required her full concentration. • When you're tired it's easy to lose your concentration.

2 : the act of giving your attention to a single object or activity [singular] There was a concentration on ethics within the agency. • His concentration [=focus] was on gathering evidence for the trial. [noncount] a student who chose law as his field/area of concentration [=his main area of study]

3 a : a large amount of something in one place [count] There is a concentration of wealth in the cities. [noncount] He objects to the concentration of power in the hands of a few rich men. b [count] : a large number of people in one place • Officials are expecting a heavy/high concentration of tourists [=are expecting many tourists] for the festival.

4 [count] : the amount of an ingredient in a mixture • Contaminants were found in low concentrations. [=amounts] • measuring the concentration of salt in a solution • They detected high concentrations of pollutants in the water.

concentration camp noun, pl ~ camps [count] : a type of prison where large numbers of people who are not soldiers are kept during a war and are usually forced to live in very bad conditions con-cen-tric /kənˈsentrik/ adj : having the same center • concentric circles

¹con-cept /ˈkɑːnsept/ noun, pl -cepts [count] : an idea of what something is or how it works • She is familiar with basic concepts of psychology. • not a new concept • a concept borrowed from computer programming • She seems to be a little unclear on the concept of good manners. [=she seems not to understand what good manners are]

²concept adj, always used before a noun

1 : organized around a main idea or theme • a concept album [=a collection of songs about a specific theme or story]

2 : created to show an idea • a concept car [=a car built to test or show a new design]

con-cep-tion /kənˈseɪpʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the act or process of conceiving something: such as a : the process of forming an idea • He directed the project from conception to production. • the conception of a new device b : the process that occurs within a woman's body when she becomes pregnant • the moment of conception

2 : an idea of what something is or should be : CONCEPT [count] They have a clear conception of how the process works. • a child's conception of responsibility • They have very different conceptions of the proper role of government. [noncount] He has no conception of the problems we have to face. [=he does not understand or realize the problems we have to face]

con-cep-tu-al /kənˈseptʃəwəl/ adj : based on or relating to ideas or concepts • a conceptual framework/model • The plans have both conceptual and practical difficulties. • conceptual art [=art that expresses an idea]

– con-cep-tu-al-ly adv • The software is conceptually similar to an earlier product but is much easier to use.

con-cep-tu-al-ize also Brit con-cep-tu-al-ise /kənˈseptʃəwəlaɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -izing : to form (an idea, picture, etc.) of something in your mind [+ obj] She described her plans to me, but I found them hard to conceptualize. • He conceptualizes the family as an economic unit. [no obj] A programmer needs to analyze and conceptualize in order to solve problems.

– con-cep-tu-al-i-za-tion also Brit con-cep-tu-al-i-sa-tion /kənˌseptʃəwələˈzeɪʃən, Brit kənˌseptʃuəˈlaɪˈzeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount]

¹con-cern /kənˈsɜːn/ noun, pl -cerns

1 a : a feeling of worry usually shared by many people [noncount] They have expressed/voiced concern about the cost of the project. • There is much/great concern among voters about/over the economy. = The economy is a matter of much/great concern to/for many voters. • There is some concern that the economy might worsen. • I share your concern about these problems. • Their friend's health is a constant source/cause of concern. • There is no cause for concern. [=there is no reason to worry] [count] The governor needs to address voters' concerns about/over the economy. • They have raised concerns about the cost of the project. b [count] : something that causes people to worry • The economy is one of our main concerns. [=the economy is one of the things that we are most worried/concerned about] • Their friend's health is a constant concern.

2 : a feeling of being interested in and caring about a person or thing [noncount] His concern with/for the well-being of his family is obvious. • She has always shown genuine/deep concern for the poor. • I appreciate your concern, but there's really nothing you can do to help. [singular] She has always shown a genuine/deep concern for the poor.

3 [count] : something that is regarded as important • She articulated the major concerns of the administration. • Our main/primary/principal concern is to assure that these problems do not occur again.

4 [count] : something that a person is responsible for or involved in — usually singular • Paying for the tickets is your concern [=responsibility], not mine. • It's not our concern. = It's none of our concern. = It's no concern of ours. [=it's not our business; it doesn't involve/concern us]

5 [count] formal : a business or company • a banking concern • a going concern [=a successful business]

²concern verb -cerns; -cerned; -cern-ing [+ obj]

1 : to relate to (something or someone) : to be about (something or someone) • The novel concerns three soldiers. • This study concerns the noise levels in cities.

2 : to affect or involve (someone) : to be the business or interest of (someone) • The problem concerns [=affects] us all. • This conversation doesn't concern you. ✧ The phrase To whom it may concern is used at the beginning of a formal letter (such as a letter written to a company) when the name of the person who will read the letter is not known.

3 : to make (someone) worried : to cause concern for (someone) • Our mother's illness concerns us.

concern yourself : to become involved or interested in something : to give your attention to something • She can handle the problem alone. There's no need for you to concern yourself. • There's no need for you to concern yourself with/in her problem. • They shouldn't concern themselves with/about small details.

concerned adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : feeling worry or concern • The school's decision is being questioned by a group of concerned parents. • Her family was very concerned for/about her safety. • Voters are deeply concerned about the economy. • I was concerned (to hear) that they stayed out too late.

2 a : having an interest or involvement in something • a discussion that will be of interest to everyone concerned • The lawyers called a meeting of all the concerned parties. • She was more concerned with [=interested in] flirting than with getting the job done. • (chiefly Brit) She was concerned to show that she could do the job. [=she thought it was important to show that she could do it] b : having a relation to something • The memo is chiefly concerned with hiring policies. [=the memo chiefly concerns hiring policies; the memo is chiefly about hiring policies] as far as (someone) is concerned : in the opinion of (someone) • As far as I'm concerned [=in my opinion], everything he says is a lie. • As far as she's concerned, he is perfect.

as far as (something) is concerned : about (something) : with regard to (something) • He has no worries as far as money is concerned. [=he has no worries about money] • As far as the weather is concerned [=as for the weather], we've been having nothing but rain for the past week.

concerning prep : relating to (something or someone) : ABOUT • news concerning friends • There is some confusion concerning [=regarding] his current whereabouts.

con-cert /'kɑːnsət/ noun, pl -certs [count] : a public performance of music • a rock concert • a classical concert • The orchestra will be giving/having/holding a free concert. — sometimes used before another noun • a live concert performance • a concert pianist • a concert hall in concert 1 formal : TOGETHER • The FBI and the local police acted in concert to solve the murder. — often + with • The FBI acted in concert with the local police to solve the murder. 2 : performing at a concert • I went to hear them in concert. [=in a public performance]

con-cert-ed /kən'sætəd/ adj, always used before a noun : done in a planned and deliberate way usually by several or many people • They made a concerted effort to make her feel welcome. • a concerted action/campaign • a concerted attack con-cert-goer /'kɑːnsət,gowə/ noun, pl -goers [count] : a person who often goes to concerts or who is at a particular concert • a large crowd of concertgoers con-cer-ti-na /,kɑːnsə'ti:nə/ noun, pl -nas [count] : a musical instrument that resembles a small accordion and that is played by pressing the ends together concertina verb -nas; -naed; -na-ing [no obj] Brit : to fold or collapse together • The car concertinaed on impact.

con-cert-mas-ter /'kɑːnsət,mæstə, Brit 'kɒnsət,mɑːstə/ noun, pl -ters [count] chiefly US : a musician who is the leading violin player and the assistant conductor of an orchestra — called also (Brit) leader con-cer-to /kən'tʃeə,tou/ noun, pl -ti /-ti:/ or -tos [count] : a piece of music for one or more main instruments with an orchestra • a violin concerto con-ces-sion /kən'seʃən/ noun, pl -sions

1 [count] : the act of conceding something: such as a : the act of giving up something or doing something in order to reach agreement • The company has been unwilling to make concessions (to the strikers) during negotiations. b : the act of admitting that you have been defeated in a contest • We are waiting for his concession of the election. • The candidate made an emotional concession speech when it was clear that he had lost.

2 [count] : something that you allow or do to end a conflict or reach an agreement • The strikers have won/gained/secured some important/major concessions from the company.

3 [count] : something that is done because a particular situation makes it necessary or desirable — + to • Her sensible shoes are a concession to comfort. [=she wears sensible shoes because they are comfortable] • He takes afternoon naps now in/as a concession to his old age.

4 US a [count] : the right to sell something or do business on property that belongs to the government or to another company or person • a mining concession b [count] : a small business or shop where things are sold in a public place (such as a sports stadium) • He runs a concession that sells hot dogs and hamburgers at the ballpark. • We got hot dogs at the concession stand. c concessions [plural] : things sold at a concession stand • He has a license to sell concessions at the ballpark.

5 [count] Brit : a special lower price or rate • tax concessions [=tax breaks] • student concessions [=discounts]

con-ces-sion-aire /kən,sɛʃə'neə/ noun, pl -aires [count] : a person or business that has been given the right to sell something on property owned by someone else : a person or business that has been given a concession (sense 4a)

conch /'kɑːŋk, 'kɑːnʃ/ noun, pl conchs /'kɑːŋks/ or conch-es /'kɑːnʃəz/ [count] : a type of shellfish that lives in a large shell which has the form of a spiral; also : the shell of a conch con-clerge /,kɑːnsi'eəʒ/ noun, pl -clerg-es [count]

1 : a person in an apartment building especially in France who takes care of the building and checks the people who enter and leave

2 chiefly US : an employee at a hotel whose job is to provide help and information to the people staying at the hotel con-cil-i-ate /kən'sili,eɪt/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [+obj] formal : to make (someone) more friendly or less angry • The company's attempts to conciliate the strikers have failed.

— con-cil-i-a-tion /kən,sili'eɪʃən/ noun [noncount] — con-cil-i-a-tor /kən'sili,eɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

con-cil-ia-to-ry /kən'silijə,tori, Brit kən'siliətri/ adj [more ~; most ~] : intended to make someone less angry • a conciliatory note/message/statement • She tried to sound conciliatory in discussing the current controversy.

con-cise /kən'saɪs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : using few words : not including extra or unnecessary information • a clear and concise account of the accident • a concise summary • a concise definition

— con-cise-ly adv — con-cise-ness noun [noncount]

synonyms CONCISE, TERSE, SUCCINCT, LACONIC, and PITHY mean expressing or stating an idea by using only a few words. CONCISE is the most general of these words and suggests a lack of extra or unnecessary information. • She provided a concise description of the problem. TERSE suggests that you are using very few words in a way that may seem rude. • "I'm not interested" was his terse reply. SUCCINCT suggests that the words you use are clear and helpful in explaining something. • The article provides a succinct overview of the region's history. LACONIC suggests the use of words that may seem rude, indifferent, or mysterious. • an aloof and laconic stranger • She is known for her laconic style of writing. PITHY suggests the skillful or meaningful use of a small number of words. • a comedy sharpened by pithy one-liners • pithy prose con-clave /'kɑːn,kleɪv/ noun, pl -claves [count] formal : a private or secret meeting or group • a conclave of bishops

con-clude /kən'kluːd/ verb -cludes; -clud-ed; -clud-ing
1 a [no obj] : to stop or finish : to come to an end • The investigation has not yet concluded. : to end in a particular way or with a particular action • The meeting concluded at noon. • The chairman concluded by wishing us all a happy holiday. b [+obj] : to cause (something) to stop or finish • conclude [=end] a speech : to end (something) in a particular way or with a particular action • We concluded the meeting on a happy note. • The chairman concluded his speech by wishing us all a happy holiday.

2 [+obj] : to form or state (an opinion) : to decide (something) after a period of thought or research • We conclude from our review of the evidence that they are right. • Many studies have concluded that smoking is dangerous. • The speech, many historians concluded, was the most important of his career.

3 [+obj] : to complete (something, such as a business deal) : to bring about (something) as a result • Their effort to conclude an agreement was a success. • conclude a sale concluding adj : coming at the end of something : FINAL • the book's concluding chapter • the concluding [=last] days of the campaign • a concluding remark

con-clu-sion /kən'kluːʒən/ noun, pl -sions
1 [count] : a final decision or judgment : an opinion or decision that is formed after a period of thought or research • What is your conclusion? [=what do you conclude?] • The evidence does not support the report's conclusions. • The evidence points/leads to the inescapable conclusion that she was negligent. • The logical/obvious conclusion is that she was negligent. • What led/brought you to that conclusion? • After thinking about it, we came to the conclusion [=we decided] that we shouldn't go. • Scientists haven't yet reached a conclusion [=made a judgment/decision] on/about the causes of this illness. • They haven't yet arrived at a conclusion. • Is it possible to draw conclusions [=make judgments] from this evidence? ✧ To jump/leap to conclusions is to make judgments too quickly before knowing all the facts. • The evidence suggests that he's to blame, but let's be careful not to jump to conclusions. He may have a good explanation for what happened. • We should hear his explanation before we jump to the conclusion that he's to blame.

2 [count] : the last part of something : END — usually singular • Many people were upset at the conclusion of the meeting. [=when the meeting concluded/ended] • a satisfactory conclusion to the negotiations • The conclusion of her speech contained some surprising news. • The strike has finally reached its conclusion. [=has finally ended] • At this point, his victory seems to be a foregone conclusion. [=his victory seems certain; there seems to be no doubt that he will win]

3 : the act of concluding or finishing something or the state of being finished [singular] We had hoped for a quick conclusion of/to the war. [=had hoped that the war would end quickly] • The case was finally brought to a conclusion [=was finally concluded] last week. [noncount] the conclusion of a business deal • The case was finally brought to conclusion last week.

in conclusion — used to introduce the final comments at the end of a speech or a piece of writing • In conclusion, I would like to thank you for inviting me to speak tonight.

con·clu·sive /kən'klu:sɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : showing that something is certainly true • conclusive evidence/proof — opposite INCONCLUSIVE

— con·clu·sive·ly adv • They proved conclusively that they can compete with the best teams. — con·clu·sive·ness noun [noncount]

con·coct /kən'kɔ:kt/ verb -cocts; -coct-ed; -coct-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (a food or drink) by mixing different things together • The drink was first concocted by a bartender in New York. • She concocted a stew from the leftovers.

2 : to invent or develop (a plan, story, etc.) especially in order to trick or deceive someone • They had concocted [=devised] a scheme/plan to steal money from the company. • He concocted [=fabricated, invented] an elaborate excuse for why he couldn't come in to work today.

con·coc·tion /kən'kɔ:kʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : something (such as a food or drink) that is made by mixing together different things • Would you like to try my new concoction?

¹con·com·i·tant /kən'kɔ:mətənt/ adj, formal : happening at the same time as something else • The drug's risks increase with the concomitant use of alcohol. — often + with • changes that are concomitant with population growth

— con·com·i·tant·ly adv

²concomitant noun, pl -tants [count] formal : something that happens at the same time as something else : a condition that is associated with some other condition • hunger, a lack of education, and other concomitants of poverty

con·cord /'kɔ:n,kɔəd/ noun [noncount]

1 formal : a state in which people or things agree with each other and exist together in a peaceful way • They lived in peace and concord. [=harmony]

2 grammar : a state in which the different parts of a sentence or phrase agree with each other • grammatical concord • subject and verb concord [= (more commonly) agreement]

con·cord·ance /kən'kɔədəns/ noun, pl -anc-es

1 [noncount] formal : a state in which things agree and do not conflict with each other • There is little concordance between the two studies. • The witness's testimony was not in concordance with [=did not agree with] the rest of the evidence.

2 [count] : an alphabetical list of all of the words in a book or in a set of works written by an author • a concordance of Shakespeare's plays con·cord·ant /kən'kɔədənt/ adj, formal : in agreement : having the same characteristics • All three tests have concordant results. — often + with • His views are concordant with those of the president.

con·course /'kɔ:n,kɔəs/ noun, pl -cours-es [count] : a large open space or hall in a public building • the concourse of the bus terminal • an airport concourse

¹con·crete /'kɔ:n,kri:t/ noun [noncount] : a hard, strong material that is used for building and made by mixing cement, sand, and broken rocks with water • slabs of concrete — see also REINFORCED CONCRETE

²con·crete /kən'kri:t/ adj

1 : made of concrete • a concrete floor/wall • concrete blocks • concrete structures

2 [more ~; most ~] : relating to or involving specific people, things, or actions rather than general ideas or qualities • It's helpful to have concrete examples of how words are used in context. • The police suspected that he was guilty, but they had no concrete evidence against him. [=the police had no clear and definite proof that he committed the crime] • concrete facts • Does anyone have any concrete [=specific] suggestions for how we can fix this? • We hope the meetings will produce concrete results. — opposite ABSTRACT

— con·crete·ly adv • Countries must deal with the problem more concretely. [=countries must develop more specific ideas for how they will deal with the problem] — con·crete·ness noun [noncount]

³con·crete /'kɔ:n,kri:t/ verb -cret-es; -cret-ed; -cret-ing [+ obj] Brit : to cover or form (something) with concrete • They concreted (over) their drive.

concrete jungle noun, pl ~ jungles [count] informal : a modern city or part of a city regarded as an unpleasant place filled with large, ugly buildings — usually singular • I finally got out of the concrete jungle and moved to the country.

concrete mixer noun, pl ~ -ers [count] Brit : CEMENT MIXER

con·cu·bine /'kɔ:nkjʊ,bɪn/ noun, pl -bines [count] : an unmarried woman who has sex with a man and lives with the man and his wife or wives • Concubines were common in many different societies in the past. • the king's concubines

con·cur /kən'kæ/ verb -curs; -curred; -cur-ring [no obj] formal : to agree with someone or something • We concur that more money should be spent on education. • "I think more time is needed." "I concur." — often + with • She concurred with the judge's ruling. = She concurred with the judge con·cur·rence /kən'kærəns/ noun, pl -renc-es formal

1 [noncount] : the state of agreeing with someone or something : AGREEMENT • The bill was passed with the full concurrence of the Senate. [=everyone in the Senate agreed to pass the bill]

2 [count] : a situation in which two or more things happen at the same time : a situation in which things are concurrent — usually singular • an unlikely concurrence of events con·cur·rent /kən'kærənt/ adj, formal : happening at the same time • the concurrent use of two medications • He's currently serving two concurrent life sentences for murder.

— con·cur·rent·ly adv • The two sentences will be served concurrently.

con·cuss /kən'kʌs/ verb -cuss-es; -cussed; -cuss-ing [+ obj] : to cause (someone) to suffer a concussion — often used as (be) concussed • He lay concussed on the ground.

con·cus·sion /kən'kʌʃən/ noun, pl -sions : an injury to the brain that is caused by something hitting the head very hard [count] (US) • She suffered a severe concussion after falling on the ice. [noncount] (Brit) • He went to hospital with concussion.

con·demn /kən'dɛm/ verb -demns; -demned; -demning [+ obj]

1 : to say in a strong and definite way that someone or something is bad or wrong • We strongly condemn this attack against our allies. • The government condemns all acts of terrorism. • The country condemns the use of violence on prisoners. • The school condemns cheating, and any student caught cheating will be expelled. — often + for • People are condemning him for supporting the old government. • Voters condemned her for lying about her past. — often + as • They were condemned as criminals/heretics/rebels/traitors. • The policy was condemned as racist.

2 a : to give (someone) a usually severe punishment — usually + to • The jury quickly convicted her and condemned [=sentenced] her to death. — often used as (be) condemned • She was condemned to death. • a condemned man [=a man who has been sentenced to death] b : to cause (someone) to suffer or live in difficult or unpleasant conditions — + to • His lack of education condemned him to a life of poverty. — often used as (be) condemned • She was condemned to [=forced to live] a life of loneliness and suffering.

3 : to close (a building, house, etc.) for not being safe or clean enough for people to use • City officials condemned our apartment building and forced us to leave. — often used as (be) condemned • The houses were condemned after floods caused extensive damage. • The condemned building was torn down.

con·dem·na·tion /,kɔ:ndəm'neɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions : a statement or expression of very strong and definite criticism or disapproval [noncount] The plan has drawn condemnation from both sides. [count] The government's statement was a condemnation of all acts of terrorism.

con·den·sa·tion /,kɔ:ndən'seɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : small drops of water that form on a cold surface • When we heat the house in the winter, condensation forms on the windows. • Condensation dripped from the air conditioner.

2 [noncount] technical : the process by which a gas cools and becomes a liquid • the processes of evaporation and condensation

3 a [noncount] : the act or process of making something (such as a piece of writing) shorter : the act or process of condensing something • The editor found condensation of the play very difficult. b [count] : a piece of writing that has been made shorter : a condensed piece of writing • a condensation of one of Shakespeare's plays

con·dense /kən'dens/ verb -dens-es; -dens-ed; -dens-ing

1 [+ obj] : to make (something) shorter or smaller by removing parts that are less important • The information is collected and then passed on to the CEO in condensed form. • a condensed [=abridged] version of the story — often + to or into • We've condensed the most important news down to a few paragraphs. • Every week, they condense several hours of videotape into a one half-hour TV show. • The book condenses nearly 50 years of history into 200 pages.

2 [no obj] : to change from a gas into a liquid • The cooler temperatures cause the gas to condense into a liquid. • Moisture in the air condenses to form tiny drops of water.

3 [+ obj] : to remove water from (something) to make it thicker • Condense the milk by cooking it slowly. • a can of condensed soup [=soup that has had much of the water removed and that is served by heating it with milk or water]

condensed milk noun [noncount] : canned milk with sugar added and much of the water removed • a can of sweetened condensed milk — compare EVAPORATED MILK con·dens·er /kən'densə/ noun, pl -ers [count] technical

1 : a device used for changing a gas into a liquid • a steam condenser

2 : a device used for storing electrical energy

con·de·scend /,kɑːndr'send/ verb -scends; -scend·ed; -scend·ing [no obj] formal + disapproving

1 : to show that you believe you are more intelligent or better than other people • The author treats her readers as equals and never condescends (to them).

2 : to do something that you usually do not do because you believe you are too important to do it — usually followed by to + verb • She condescends to speak to me only when she needs something.

condescending adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : showing that you believe you are more intelligent or better than other people • She spoke to us in a condescending [=patronizing] tone. • His comments were offensive and condescending to us. • a condescending attitude

— con·de·scend·ing·ly adv

con·de·scen·sion /,kɑːndr'sɛnfən/ noun [noncount] : the attitude or behavior of people who believe they are more intelligent or better than other people • The author discusses the politics of the region without condescension. [=without suggesting that he is more intelligent than the readers]

con·di·ment /'kɑːndəmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count] : something (such as salt, mustard, or ketchup) that is added to food to give it more flavor

¹con·di·tion /kən'dɪfən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : a way of living or existing • Happiness is the state or condition of being happy. • The need to be loved is simply part of the human condition. [=being human]

2 : the state in which something exists : the physical state of something [count] The museum restores paintings to their original conditions. [=the museum makes the paintings look the way they were originally] [noncount] The car is in excellent/perfect (physical) condition. • Both clocks are still in good working condition. [=both clocks still work well]

3 [singular] : the physical or mental state of a person or animal • The driver was taken to the hospital where he was reported to be in (a) good/stable/critical condition. • Their weakened condition makes them more likely to get sick. • He can't drive in that condition. [=he is too drunk, ill, upset, etc., to drive] • The players are all in excellent physical condition. [=shape] ♦ If you are in no condition to do something, you are not physically or mentally able to do it. • I was in no condition to go to work yesterday. [=I was too sick to go to work] • He is in no condition to drive. [=he is too drunk, ill, etc., to drive] ♦ If you are in condition or in good/excellent (etc.) condition, you are strong and healthy. • She was running every evening to stay/keep in condition. • The players are all in good condition. ♦ If you are out of condition or in poor/bad (etc.) condition, you are not strong and not ready to work or play a sport. • He's overweight and out of condition. • She hasn't been taking care of herself and is in poor condition.

4 [count] : a sickness or disease that a person has for a long time • He was born with a serious heart condition. • hereditary/genetic conditions • The condition is often fatal. • Her medical condition made it impossible for her to walk.

5 conditions [plural] a : the situation in which someone or something lives, works, etc. • The organization is working to improve conditions for the poor by providing them with jobs, health care, and better housing. • They need better living conditions. • Companies must provide safe working conditions for their employees. • This type of plant can live in very dry conditions. • Both teams had trouble with the difficult playing conditions. • dangerous driving conditions b : the things that affect the way something is or happens : the characteristics of a situation • The President discussed the social and economic conditions of the country. • New policies have made conditions more favorable for small businesses. • Scientists controlled the conditions of the experiment. • Under certain conditions [=in certain circumstances], it is possible to take the test at a later date. • I will only take the job under the right set of conditions. c : the type of weather that occurs at a particular time • weather/atmospheric conditions • The area is experiencing cold/dry conditions. • severe drought conditions

6 [count] : something that you must do or accept in order for something to happen • The buyer must meet the terms and conditions of the contract. • It was a condition of employment that I join the union. [=I had to join the union in order to get the job] • You can go on one condition: you have to finish your homework. [=you can go only if you finish your homework] ♦ If you agree to do something on (the) condition that something happens, you will do it only if that thing happens. • She spoke on the condition that she not be identified. = She spoke on condition of anonymity. • He taught me the trick on condition that I never tell anyone else how to do it.

7 [count] : something that must happen or exist in order for something else to happen — usually + for or of • Hard work is a necessary condition for/of success.

under no condition — used to say that something is definitely not allowed • Under no condition are you to answer the phone. [=you are not to answer the phone at all]

²condition verb -tions; -tioned; -tion·ing [+ obj]

1 : to train or influence (a person or an animal) to do something or to think or behave in a certain way because of a repeated experience — often used as (be) conditioned • an experiment in which mice are conditioned to press a button in order to receive food • People have been conditioned to expect immediate results. • conditioned behavior/responses/reflexes

2 : to make (something, such as hair or leather) softer and less dry by applying a liquid • She shampoos and conditions [=uses conditioner on] her hair daily.

be conditioned on/upon formal — used to say that something will happen only if something else also happens • Payment is conditioned on/upon completion of the project. [=if you complete the project, you will be paid]

¹con·di·tion·al /kən'dɪfənəl/ adj

1 — used to describe something (such as an agreement) that will happen only if something else also happens • She had a conditional agreement with her father that she could use the car if she paid for the gas. • a conditional sale of land — often + on or upon • Our agreement is conditional on/upon your raising the needed money. — compare UNCONDITIONAL

2 grammar : showing or used to show that something is true or happens only if something else is true or happens • "If she speaks, you must listen" is a conditional sentence. • The sentence contains the conditional clause "if she speaks."

— con·di·tion·al·ly adv • The company has conditionally agreed to sell 20 percent of its stock.

²conditional noun, pl -als grammar

1 [count] : a word, clause, or sentence that shows that something is true or happens only if something else is true or happens • The clause "if she speaks" is a conditional.

2 the conditional : the mood or form that is used to say that something is true or happens only if something else is true or happens • The conditional is often marked by the word "if."

con·di·tion·er /kən'dɪfənə/ noun, pl -ers [count, noncount]

1 : a thick liquid that you put on your hair after washing it to make it softer and less dry

2 Brit : FABRIC SOFTENER

— see also AIR CONDITIONER

con·di·tion·ing /kən'dɪfənɪŋ/ noun [noncount]

1 chiefly US : the process of becoming stronger and healthier by following a regular exercise program and diet • the team's excellent physical conditioning • aerobic conditioning [=training] — often used before another noun • After a three week conditioning program, he was ready to compete. • strength and conditioning workouts

2 : the act or process of training a person or animal to do something or to behave in a certain way in a particular situation • social conditioning • With the proper conditioning, the horse will learn to trust and obey its handler.

— see also AIR-CONDITIONING

con·do /'kɑːndou/ noun, pl -dos [count] US : CONDOMINIUM

con·do·lence /kən'douləns/ noun, pl -lenc-es : a feeling or expression of sympathy and sadness especially when someone is suffering because of the death of a family member, a friend, etc. [noncount] The governor issued a statement of condolence to the victims' families. • a letter of condolence [plural] We wish to express/offer/send our sincere condolences to your family. • Please accept my condolences.

con·dom /'kɑːndəm/ noun, pl -doms [count] : a thin rubber covering that a man wears on his penis during sex in order to prevent a woman from becoming pregnant or to prevent the spread of diseases — called also rubber, (Brit) sheath con·do·min·i·um /,kɑːndə'minijəm/ noun, pl -ums [count] chiefly US

1 : a room or set of rooms that is owned by the people who live there and that is part of a larger building containing other similar sets of rooms — compare APARTMENT

2 : a building that contains condominiums

con·done /kən'daʊn/ verb -dones; -doned; -don-ing [+ obj] : to forgive or approve (something that is considered wrong) : to allow (something that is considered wrong) to continue • a government that has been accused of condoning racism — often used in negative statements • We cannot condone [=excuse] that kind of behavior.

con·dor /'kɑːn,dɔː/ noun, pl -dors [count] : a very large black bird from South America or a related bird from North America con·du·cive /kən'duːsɪv, Brit kən'djuːsɪv/ adj, not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] formal : making it easy, possible, or likely for something to happen or exist — + to • The school tries to create an atmosphere (that is) conducive to learning. [=an atmosphere that makes learning easier] • Hot, dry weather is conducive to the spread of forest fires.

¹con·duct /kən'dʌkt/ verb -ducts; -duct-ed; -duct-ing

1 [+ obj] : to plan and do (something, such as an activity) • The police are conducting an investigation into last week's robbery. • scientists conducting research/experiments • I like the way the company conducts business. • The magazine conducted a survey. • Who will be conducting the meeting? • The committee is expected to conduct hearings in May.

2 : to direct the performance of (musicians or singers) [+ obj] He conducts the choir with great skill and emotion. • conducting the music of Mozart [no obj] She conducts extremely well.

3 always followed by a preposition or adverb [+ obj] formal : to guide or lead (someone) through or around a place • Our guide slowly conducted us through the museum. • Our guide conducted us along the path.

4 [+ obj] technical : to allow (heat or electricity) to move from one place to another • Metals conduct electricity well.

conduct yourself : to behave especially in a public or formal situation • The way you conduct yourself in an interview often determines whether or not you get the job. • She conducted herself as a professional and earned the respect of her coworkers. • I don't approve of the way he conducts himself.

²con·duct /'kɑːn,dʌkt/ noun [noncount] somewhat formal

1 : the way that a person behaves in a particular place or situation • A panel investigated her conduct and she was subsequently fired. • His personal conduct reflected poorly on the company. [=he behaved in a way that made the company look bad] • professional/sexual conduct

2 : the way that something is managed or directed — + of • Laws and regulations control the conduct [=management] of business and trade.

con·duc·tion /kən'dʌkʃən/ noun [noncount] technical : the movement of heat or electricity through something (such as metal or water) • the conduction of electricity con·duc·tiv·i·ty /,kɑːn,dʌk'tɪvəti/ noun [noncount] technical : the ability to move heat or electricity from one place to another : the power to conduct heat or electricity • measuring the conductivity of different metals

— con·duc·tive /kən'dʌktɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] • Copper is a conductive material.

con·duc·tor /kən'dʌktə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

1 : a person who stands in front of people while they sing or play musical instruments and directs their performance

2 : a person who collects money or tickets from passengers on a train or bus — called also (Brit) guard

3 : a material or object that allows electricity or heat to move through it • Metal is a good conductor of electricity.

con·duc·tress /kən'dʌktrəs/ noun, pl -tress-es [count] : a woman who is a conductor con·duit /'kɑːn,dʉ:wət, Brit 'kɒndɪt/ noun, pl -duits [count]

1 technical : a pipe or tube through which something (such as water or wire) passes

2 formal : someone or something that is used as a way of sending something (such as information or money) from one place or person to another • The council serves as a conduit [=channel] of information between the school and the children's parents. — often + for • a port that has been a conduit for the trade of illegal weapons

¹cone /'koun/ noun, pl cones [count]

1 : a shape that has a pointed top and sides that form a circle at the bottom

2 : a hard and dry part that is the fruit of a pine tree or other evergreen plant and contains many seeds

3 a : something that looks like a cone • He scooped out the popcorn with a paper cone. — see also TRAFFIC CONE b : the top of a volcano

4 : a thin crisp cookie that is usually shaped like a cone and that is used to hold ice cream • Would you like your ice cream in a dish or a cone? ; also : a cone filled with ice cream • I'd like two ice-cream cones please. — see also SNOW CONE

²cone verb cones; coned; coning

cone off [phrasal verb] cone off (something) Brit : to close off (a road or part of a road) with traffic cones • The road was partially coned off while the repairs were being made.

con·fec·tion /kən'fekʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : a very sweet food • an assortment of delicious cakes and other confections — often + of • a confection of cream, chocolate, and nuts — sometimes used figuratively • a delightful literary confection con·fec·tion·er /kən'fekʃənə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person or business that makes or sells confections (such as chocolates and candies)

confectioners' sugar noun [noncount] US : POWDERED SUGAR

con·fec·tion·ery /kən'fekʃənəri, Brit kən'fekʃənri/ noun [noncount] somewhat formal : sweet foods (such as fudge and candy) — often used before another noun • a confectionery shop

con·fed·er·a·cy /kən'fedərəsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 [count] : a group of people, countries, organizations, etc., that are joined together in some activity or effort • a confederacy of native tribes

2 the Confederacy : the group of 11 southern states that separated themselves from the U.S. during the American Civil War • the last state to join the Confederacy

con·fed·er·ate /kən'fedərət/ noun, pl -ates [count]

1 formal : a person who helps someone do something • He turned to his confederates [=allies, accomplices] for help.

2 Confederate : a soldier, citizen, or supporter of the Confederacy during the American Civil War • the Yankees and the Confederates

Con·fed·er·ate /kən'fedərət/ adj : of or relating to the Confederacy of the American Civil War • Confederate states/soldiers/money • the Confederate flag/army con·fed·er·a·tion /kən,fedə'reɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : a group of people, countries, organizations, etc., that are joined together in some activity or effort • a loose confederation [=coalition] of businesses con·fer /kən'fə/ verb -fers; -ferred; -fer-ring formal

1 [no obj] : to discuss something important in order to make a decision • The lawyer and judge conferred about the ruling. — often + with • I'll confer with [=consult] my wife and let you know what we decide.

2 [+ obj] : to give (something, such as a degree, award, title, right, etc.) to someone or something — usually + on or upon • The university will confer an honorary degree on the governor. • The law conferred upon people over the age of 18 the right to vote.

con·fer·ee /,kɑːnfə'riː/ noun, pl -ees [count] US, formal : someone who participates in a conference — usually plural • Conferees from the Senate and the House will begin debating the issue next week.

con·fer·ence /'kɑːnfərəns/ noun, pl -enc-es

1 [count] : a formal meeting in which many people gather in order to talk about ideas or problems related to a particular topic (such as medicine or business) usually for several days • The organization held/hosted its annual conference in New York this year. • national conferences on women's health • an international peace conference [=a meeting in which leaders of many countries talk about peace] • a conference of foreign ministers — sometimes used before another noun • a conference center [=a large building where conferences are held]

2 : a formal meeting in which a small number of people talk about something [count] Our boss called a conference to discuss the new changes. [noncount] He spent an hour in conference with the president. — often used before another noun • a conference room/table — see also CONFERENCE CALL, NEWS CONFERENCE, PRESS CONFERENCE
3 [count] US : a group of sports teams that play against each other and that are part of a larger league of teams • a football conference • the champions of the American Football Conference — often used before another noun • the conference champions/championship conference call noun, pl ~ calls [count] : a telephone call in which someone talks to several people at the same time con·fer·ment /kən'fəmənt/ noun [noncount] formal : the act of giving something (such as a degree, award, title, or right) to someone : the act of conferring something • the conferment of degrees/privileges con·fess /kən'fes/ verb -fess·es; -fessed; -fess·ing

1 : to admit that you did something wrong or illegal [no obj] He confessed after being questioned for many hours. — often + to • He's still refusing to confess to the murder. • No one confessed to taking the pen. • She confessed to having lied to me in the past. [=she told me that she lied to me] [+ obj] She confessed [=admitted] that she stole the necklace. • He willingly confessed his crime/guilt.
2 : to talk about or admit something that makes you embarrassed, ashamed, etc. [+ obj] He confessed (that) he got lost and had to ask for directions. • I have to confess that I was afraid at first. • I must confess [=I am a little embarrassed to say] that I know nothing about computers. • He never confessed his love for her. [=he never told her that he loved her] [no obj] — usually + to • She confessed to a love of trashy romance novels. [=she admitted that she loves trashy romance novels] • I confess to being a little unsure about what to do.
3 : to tell (your sins) to God or to a priest [+ obj] I confessed my sins to the priest. [no obj] I haven't confessed [=gone to confession] in three months.

— confessed adj • a confessed murderer — see also SELF-CONFESSED

con·fes·sion /kən'feʃən/ noun, pl -sions
1 [count] : a written or spoken statement in which you say that you have done something wrong or committed a crime • She went to the police station and made/gave a full confession. • a written/signed confession
2 [count] : the act of telling people something that makes you embarrassed, ashamed, etc. • I have a confession to make: I have never done this before. • a confession of weakness/failure/error
3 a [count] : the act of telling your sins to God or to a priest • The priest will hear confessions after mass today. b [noncount] : the activity of telling a priest your sins • I haven't gone/been to confession in three years.
4 [count] : a formal statement in which you express your religious beliefs • a confession of faith

1 con·fes·sion·al /kən'feʃənəl/ noun, pl -als [count] : a private place inside a church where a priest hears confessions

2 confessional adj [more ~; most ~] : telling private information about a person's life • confessional interviews of famous actors • confessional poetry/writing con·fes·sor /kən'fesə/ noun, pl -sors [count] : a priest who listens to a person's confession con·fet·ti /kən'feti/ noun [noncount] : small pieces of brightly colored paper that people often throw at celebrations (such as weddings and parties)

con·fi·dant /'kɑ:nfə'dɑ:nt/ noun, pl -dants [count] : a trusted friend you can talk to about personal and private things • He is a trusted confidant of the president.

con·fi·dante /'kɑ:nfə'dɑ:nt/ noun, pl -dantes [count] : a woman who is a trusted friend : a female confidant • She was her closest friend and confidante.

con·fide /kən'faɪd/ verb -fides; -fid·ed; -fid·ing [+ obj] : to tell (something that is secret or private) to someone you trust • He confided that he was very unhappy with his job. — often + to • She confided to me that she couldn't read. • He confided his secret to a friend. — see also CONFIDING confide in [phrasal verb] confide in (someone) : to tell personal and private things to (someone) • She often confides in me. • He had no one to confide in.

con·fi·dence /'kɑ:nfədəns/ noun, pl -denc·es

1 [noncount] : a feeling or belief that you can do something well or succeed at something • The class gave me more confidence. • He lacked the confidence to succeed. • The experience gave her the confidence to start her own business. • Good grades boosted/bolstered her confidence. • It takes time to build/gain confidence when you are learning a new skill. • He's brimming with confidence. = He's full of confidence. • They have an air of confidence about them. — often + in • He has a lot of confidence in himself. — see also SELF-CONFIDENCE

2 [noncount] : a feeling or belief that someone or something is good or has the ability to succeed at something • The candidate has won/lost the confidence [=trust] of voters. • She has done little to gain/earn their confidence. • There is a recent increase in consumer confidence. [=the good feelings that people have about the economy] — often + in • They have complete/full confidence in their coach. • His parents had confidence in their son's ability to succeed. • The case inspired/restored confidence in our system of justice. • Recent scandals have undermined confidence in the city's public officials. — see also VOTE OF CONFIDENCE, VOTE OF NO CONFIDENCE

3 [noncount] : the feeling of being certain that something will happen or that something is true • School officials express confidence that the problem will soon be resolved. • We still can't talk about the future with any degree of confidence. [=we don't know what will happen in the future] • We have every confidence [=we are sure] that you'll make the right decision.

4 [noncount] : a relationship in which you tell personal and private information to someone • Doctors cannot betray the confidence of their patients. [=cannot reveal their patients' personal information to other people] • She accused him of a betrayal/breach of confidence. • He told me in confidence that he didn't know how to read. • Your personal information will be kept in strict/strictest confidence. [=no one will be told your personal information] ♦ If you take someone into your confidence, you tell someone secrets or private information about your life. • She took me into her confidence and told me all about her health problems.

5 [count] : a secret that you tell someone you trust • close friends sharing confidences • She accused him of betraying a confidence. [=she said that he told her secret to other people] confidence game noun, pl ~ games [count] US : ¹CON confidence man noun, pl ~ men [count] US : CON ARTIST confidence trick noun, pl ~ tricks [count] Brit : ¹CON confidence trickster noun, pl ~ -ers [count] Brit : CON ARTIST con·fi·dent /'kɑ:nfədənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : having a feeling or belief that you can do something well or succeed at something : having confidence • The class made me more confident (about myself). • a confident young businesswoman • I am confident about my ability to do the job. • The players seem more relaxed and confident this season. • He has become more confident in his Spanish-speaking skills. — see also OVERCONFIDENT, SELF-CONFIDENT b : showing that you have confidence • a confident smile • They have a confident air about them. • His voice sounded confident.

2 not used before a noun : certain that something will happen or that something is true • We are confident that conditions will improve soon. • He seemed confident of success. [=sure that he would succeed]

— con·fi·dent·ly adv • "I know the answer," she said confidently. • We can confidently state that the product is safe.

con·fi·den·tial /,kɑ:nfə'denʃəl/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : secret or private • These documents are completely/strictly confidential. • confidential medical records • Someone was leaking confidential information [=telling secrets] to the press.

2 [more ~; most ~] : showing that you are saying something that is secret or private • "I have something to tell you," John said in a confidential tone/voice. • Her voice was quiet and confidential.

3 always used before a noun : trusted with secret or private information • She worked as a confidential secretary to the mayor for many years.

— con·fi·den·tial·ly adv • Students can confidentially report any problems they see in their schools. • He leaned forward confidentially and began telling his story. • Confidentially, I don't think she's very good at her job.

con-fi-den-ti-al-i-ty /ˌkɑːnfəˈdɛnʃiˈæləti/ noun [noncount] : the quality or state of being private or confidential • All medical records are treated with complete confidentiality. [=are kept completely private] • The doctor committed a breach of confidentiality [=the doctor told another person private information about a patient] con-fid-ing /kənˈfaɪdɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : showing that you trust someone not to tell secret or private information • He spoke in a confiding voice. • They've developed a very confiding relationship over the years.

— con-fid-ing-ly adv

con-fig-u-ra-tion /kənˈfɪɡjəˈreɪʃən, Brit kənˈfɪɡəˈreɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count]

1 : the way the parts of something are arranged • a truck's gear configuration • airplane seating configurations • the configuration [=layout] of the room

2 computers : the way a computer system or program is prepared for a particular use • We'll have to change the configuration of the system to accommodate the new server.

con-fig-ure /kənˈfɪɡjə, Brit kənˈfɪɡə/ verb -ures; -ured; -ur-ing [+ obj] technical : to arrange or prepare (something) so that it can be used • The instructions tell you how to configure the kit correctly. • The plane is configured for military use. • configure a computer • The system is configured [=set up] to allow access only to people who know the password.

con-fine /kənˈfaɪn/ verb -fines; -fined; -fin-ing [+ obj]

1 : to keep (someone or something) within limits : to prevent (someone or something) from going beyond a particular limit, area, etc. — usually + to • Please confine [=restrict, limit] your comments to 200 words. • The cancer was confined to the lung. [=the cancer was only in the lung; the cancer had not spread to any other parts of the body] • We must confine ourselves to the agenda we've agreed on for this meeting. [=we must only talk about what is on the agenda] • The town would like to confine commercial development to an area by the highway. • Students need not confine themselves to a single area of study. • The city's poverty is not confined to just one neighborhood.

2 : to keep (a person or animal) in a place (such as a prison) — usually used as (be) confined • Violent criminals are sometimes confined for life. • a camp where prisoners were confined during the war — often + to or in • She was confined to a psychiatric hospital for a year. • The bull was confined in a pen behind the barn.

3 : to force or cause (someone) to stay in something (such as a bed or wheelchair) — usually used as (be) confined • I regularly visit a sick neighbor who is confined at home. [=who cannot leave home because of being sick] — often + to • He was confined to a wheelchair. • She was confined to bed for a week with the flu.

confined adj [more ~; most ~] of a space or area : very small • She gets uncomfortable in confined spaces.

con-fine-ment /kənˈfaɪnmənt/ noun [noncount]

1 : the act of confining someone or something : the state of being confined • the confinement of violent criminals [=the act of keeping violent criminals in prison] • years of confinement • his confinement to a wheelchair [=his state of being forced to stay in a wheelchair] • The dog was kept in confinement until it was determined to be healthy. — see also SOLITARY CONFINEMENT

2 old-fashioned : the time when a woman is giving birth to a baby • He remained with his wife during her confinement.

con-fines /ˈkɑːnˌfaɪnz/ noun [plural] formal : the limits or edges of something • He is probably somewhere within the confines [= (more commonly) borders] of the city. • The children were told not to venture beyond the confines of the camp. • There is no room for negotiation within the confines of this contract. • the narrow confines of academia confining adj [more ~; most ~] : limiting or preventing movement or freedom • She thinks the corporate world is dull and confining. [=restrictive] • This coat feels too confining. [=tight]

con-firm /kənˈfɜːm/ verb -firms; -firmed; -firm-ing

1 [+ obj] : to state or show that (something) is true or correct • The tests confirmed the doctors' suspicions of cancer. • The attack confirmed her worst fears about the neighborhood. • Police would not confirm [=verify] reports of a shooting. • The award confirmed her status as one of the great movie actresses. • Medical tests confirmed (that) he did not have a heart attack.

2 : to tell someone that something has definitely happened or is going to happen : to make (something) definite or official [+ obj] The dentist's office called to confirm your appointment for tomorrow. • Please confirm [=acknowledge] receipt of the shipment. • confirm a hotel reservation [no obj] We have a reservation for you for tomorrow night. Please call to confirm.

3 [+ obj] formal : to make (something) stronger or more certain : to cause (someone) to believe (something) more strongly • Her parents' attitude only confirmed [=strengthened, reinforced] her resolve to get her own apartment. — often + in • She was confirmed in her determination to get a higher-paying job.

4 : to give official approval to (something or someone) [+ obj] They voted to confirm [=ratify] the treaty. • The Senate has confirmed him as a Supreme Court justice. [no obj] The Senate is expected to vote to confirm.

5 [+ obj] : to make (someone) a full member of a church or synagogue : to administer confirmation to (someone) — usually used as (be) confirmed • Our son will be confirmed in the spring. • What year were you confirmed?

— con-firm-able /kənˈfɜːməbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • Reports of a battle in the city were not confirmable today. • The judicial nominee should be easily confirmable.

con-fir-ma-tion /ˌkɑːnfəˈmeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : proof which shows that something is true or correct • Reporters awaited confirmation from the army about the battle. • We don't have independent confirmation of the facts. • Final confirmation came only after the investigation was completed. — often + of • The customs officers will need to see confirmation [=proof] of your identity. • confirmation of a scientific theory

2 : a response which shows that information is received and understood; especially : a response that makes a purchase, appointment, etc., definite or official [count] You will receive an e-mail confirmation of your order. [noncount] You will receive confirmation of your order by e-mail. • waiting for written confirmation

3 [noncount] : the act of giving official approval to something or someone • Many senators are opposed to his confirmation as a federal judge. — often used before another noun • Senate confirmation hearings • the confirmation process

4 : a ceremony in which someone becomes a full, adult member of a religion [noncount] They are preparing for confirmation. [count] He attended both of his children's confirmations.

con-firmed /kənˈfɜːmd/ adj, always used before a noun : not likely to change • a confirmed [=habitual, chronic] optimist • a confirmed baseball fanatic • a confirmed bachelor [=a man who seems happy to remain unmarried] con-fis-cate /ˈkɑːnfəˈskeɪt/ verb -cates; -cat-ed; -cat-ing [+ obj] : to take (something) away from someone especially as punishment or to enforce the law or rules • Guards confiscated knives and other weapons from the prisoners. • The police have the authority to confiscate [=seize] the drug dealer's property. • The teacher confiscated all cell phones for the duration of the field trip.

— con-fis-ca-tion /ˌkɑːnfəˈskeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the confiscation of terrorists' assets con-fla-gra-tion /ˌkɑːnfləˈɡreɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] formal

1 : a large destructive fire • a massive conflagration

2 : a war or conflict • The treaty is the latest attempt to resolve the ten-year conflagration. • a regional conflagration

con-flict /ˈkɑːnˌflɪkt/ noun, pl -flicts

1 : a struggle for power, property, etc. [count] an armed conflict • violent border conflicts • a conflict between two gangs [noncount] years of armed conflict [=battle] • recent violent conflict in the region • conflict between (forces of) good and evil

2 : strong disagreement between people, groups, etc., that results in often angry argument [noncount] Everyone in my family always tries to avoid conflict. • There was inevitable conflict over what to name the group. [count] They're having serious conflicts over the budget. • A few students are being trained to resolve conflicts [=arguments, disputes] between other students.

3 : a difference that prevents agreement : disagreement between ideas, feelings, etc. [count] I don't see any conflicts between the theories. • exploring the character's inner conflicts [=ideas, feelings, etc., that disagree with one another] [noncount] You'll need to resolve the conflict between your parents' plans for you and your own ambitions. — see also CONFLICT OF INTEREST

4 [count] chiefly US : a situation in which you are unable to do something because there is something else you have already agreed to do at that same time • He has a conflict and can't attend tomorrow's meeting. • a scheduling conflict

come into conflict 1 : to be different in a way that prevents agreement • Unfortunately, their goals for the project came into conflict. — often + with • There are cases in which these rules come into conflict with [=contradict] one another. 2 : to enter a situation in which there is a struggle for power, property, etc. — often + with • groups coming into conflict with neighboring tribes in conflict 1 : different in a way that prevents agreement • They're in conflict over which car to buy. [=they disagree about which car to buy] — usually + with • The law is in conflict with [=does not agree with] the state's constitution. • Her ideas were in direct conflict with those of her professor. 2 : in a struggle for power, property, etc. • The two clans were in constant conflict (with one another).

²con·flict /kən'flikt/ verb -flicts; -flict-ed; -flict-ing [no obj]

1 : to be different in a way that prevents agreement : to say or express opposite things • Their versions of what happened conflict. [=do not agree] • Their goals for the project conflict. [=clash, disagree] • Reports conflicted on how many people were involved. — often + with • His statement conflicts with the facts. • Their research conflicts with [=contradicts] what other scientists have found.

2 : to happen at the same time as something else — usually + with • The appointment conflicts with an important meeting I have to go to.

— conflicting adj • We heard conflicting reports about how many people were involved. • the candidates' conflicting views • our conflicting schedules con·flict-ed adj [more ~; most ~] chiefly US : having or showing feelings that disagree with one another • She was still conflicted about her ex-husband's remarriage. • the novel's conflicted characters conflict of interest noun, pl conflicts of interest [count] formal : a problem caused by having official responsibilities that involve things that might be helpful or harmful to you • Critics say the senator created a conflict of interest when she recommended a change to the law that could benefit her husband's company.

con·flu·ence /'kɑ:n,flu:wəns/ noun [singular]

1 technical : a place where two rivers or streams join to become one • the Mississippi River's confluence with the Missouri River

2 somewhat formal : a situation in which two things come together or happen at the same time — usually + of • a confluence of musical styles • a rare confluence of events

con·form /kən'fɔ:m/ verb -forms; -formed; -form-ing [no obj]

1 : to be similar to or the same as something — usually + to or with • The animals' behavior conforms to a common pattern. • Our budget numbers conform with official estimates.

2 : to obey or agree with something • There are new security rules and all airlines are required to conform. [= (more commonly) comply] — usually + to or with • The building doesn't conform to local regulations. • She refuses to conform to society's traditional image of a mother. • Employees have to conform with company rules. • The priest's teachings do not conform with church doctrine.

3 : to do what other people do : to behave in a way that is accepted by most people • Most teenagers feel pressure to conform.

con·for·ma·tion /,kɑ:n,fə'meɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions technical : the way in which something is formed or shaped [noncount] The dogs will be judged on conformation tomorrow. [count] protein conformations

con·form·ist /kən'fɔ:mɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] often disapproving : a person who behaves in a way that is considered acceptable by most people and who avoids doing things that could be considered different or unusual : a person who conforms • They went from being angry punk rockers to bland conformists. • They like to travel, but they're conformists who go to only the most popular destinations. — opposite NONCONFORMIST

— conformist adj [more ~; most ~] • a conformist society [=a society in which everyone behaves the same way] • conformist attitudes

con·for·mi·ty /kən'fɔ:məti/ noun [noncount]

1 : behavior that is the same as the behavior of most other people in a society, group, etc. • religious conformity • mindless conformity • The corporate culture demands a certain conformity of appearance. • conformity [=obedience] to social customs

2 : the fact or state of agreeing with or obeying something — usually + to or with • the building's conformity to state specifications • The state's traffic laws were changed to bring them into conformity with the rest of the country. • We removed our shoes, in conformity with tradition.

con·found /kən'faund/ verb -founds; -found-ed; -found-ing [+ obj]

1 : to surprise and confuse (someone or something) • The strategy confounded our opponents. • The murder case has confounded investigators. — often used as (be) confounded • Investors were confounded by the conflicting reports.

2 : to prove (someone or something) wrong • The school's team confounded all predictions and won the game. • The success of the show confounded critics.

3 informal + old-fashioned — used as an interjection to express anger or annoyance • Confound it! I can't find my keys!

confounded adj, always used before a noun, informal + old-fashioned : very bad or annoying • I can't close this confounded window!

con·front /kən'frʌnt/ verb -fronts; -front-ed; -front-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to oppose or challenge (someone) especially in a direct and forceful way • They confronted the invaders at the shore. — often used as (be) confronted • He was confronted by a security guard when he tried to leave the store. • The mayor was confronted by a group of angry protesters. b : to directly question the action or authority of (someone) • She confronted him about his smoking. • No one was willing to confront [=challenge] the company president on that point.

2 a : to deal with (something, such as a problem or danger) • Firemen regularly confront danger. • They confronted [= (more commonly) encountered] many obstacles along the way.; especially : to deal with (something) in an honest and direct way • The country is reluctant to confront its violent past. • The treatment center helps people confront [=face] their addictions. • confront an illness • It's better to confront [=address] a problem than to avoid it. b : to force (someone) to see or deal with (something, such as a problem) in a direct way • The photographs confront the viewer with images of desperate poverty. • I confronted her with the evidence. — often used as (be) confronted • The country again finds itself confronted by water shortages. • They were confronted with many problems during the project. c : to be a problem for (someone or something) • We know of the financial problems confronting [=facing] local schools.

con·fron·ta·tion /,kɑ:nfrən'teɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions : a situation in which people, groups, etc., fight, oppose, or challenge each other in an angry way [count] There were several violent confrontations between rival gangs. • He would prefer not to have a confrontation with the authorities. • a series of confrontations between residents and police [noncount] We want cooperation, not confrontation. • We seek to avoid military confrontation at all costs.

con·fron·ta·tion·al /,kɑ:nfrən'teɪʃənəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : challenging or opposing someone especially in an angry way • a confrontational interview • I think we should take a less confrontational approach. • She's become increasingly confrontational with her parents and teachers. — opposite NONCONFRONTATIONAL con·fuse /kən'fju:z/ verb -fuses; -fused; -fus-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (someone) uncertain or unable to understand something • The city's winding streets confuse [=perplex] most visitors. • The general was trying to confuse the enemy. — often used as (be) confused • She was confused by many of the scientific terms in the article.

2 : to make (something) difficult to understand • Stop confusing [=blurring] the issue. • The new evidence only confused matters further.

3 : to mistakenly think that one person or thing is another person or thing : to mistake (one person or thing) for another • I always confuse [= (informal) mix up] your car and mine. • You must be confusing me with someone else. • Some people confuse money with happiness. [=think that having a lot of money will make them happy]

con·fused /kən'fju:zd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : unable to understand or think clearly • I've never been so confused. • We're confused about what to do next.

2 : difficult to understand : not clearly organized, expressed, etc. • He gave a confused speech denying the accusations. • My feelings were hopelessly confused. [=jumbled]

— con-fused-ly /kən'fju:zədli/ adv

confusing adj [more ~; most ~] : difficult to understand • I find the whole political situation so confusing! [=perplexing] • The instructions were confusing. • The city's winding streets are confusing to most visitors. • confusing terms

— con-fus-ing-ly adv • The city's streets are confusingly arranged. • Even more confusingly, they have the same first name.

con-fu-sion /kən'fju:ʒən/ noun, pl -sions

1 : a situation in which people are uncertain about what to do or are unable to understand something clearly [non-count] The detour caused much confusion. [=the detour confused many people; the detour made many people uncertain about which roads to use] • There is still some confusion as to the time of the meeting. • There is a great deal of confusion about how the system works. • Changing the name of the company will only lead to confusion. [=make people uncertain] [count] the anxieties and confusions of teenage life

2 [noncount] : the feeling that you have when you do not understand what is happening, what is expected, etc. • Her confusion was obvious. • He stared in confusion and disbelief.

3 [noncount] : a state or situation in which many things are happening in a way that is not controlled or orderly • a scene of confusion • There was total/mass confusion when the truck hit the restaurant.

4 [noncount] : the act of mistakenly thinking that one person or thing is another • Write clearly on the labels to avoid confusion. • Confusion between/of the words "affect" and "effect" is common.

con-ga /'kɑ:ŋgə/ noun, pl -gas

1 [singular] : a dance in which people follow each other in a long, curving line • a conga line [=a line of people dancing the conga]

2 [count] : a tall drum that is shaped like a barrel and played with the hands — called also conga drum; see picture at PERCUSSION

con game noun, pl ~ games [count] US : 'CON

con-geal /kən'dʒi:l/ verb -geals; -gealed; -geal-ing [no obj] of a liquid : to become thick or solid • The gravy began to congeal in the pan. — often used figuratively • His anger congealed into bitterness.

— congealed adj • congealed fat/blood

con-ge-nial /kən'dʒi:nijəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal

1 a : suitable or appropriate • The town is a congenial place for raising children. • We studied in the congenial atmosphere of the library. — often + to • a style congenial to modern tastes • The library offers an atmosphere congenial to learning. b : pleasant and enjoyable • He found the work to be congenial.

2 : very friendly • a congenial [=genial] host/companion • She was congenial and easygoing.

— con-ge-ni-al-i-ty /kən,dʒi:ni'æləti/ noun [noncount] • The club encouraged congeniality among its members. ♦ Someone who is described as Miss Congeniality or Mr. Congeniality is a very friendly person who could win a contest for having the best personality. These phrases are often used in a negative or ironic way to say that someone is not friendly. • The teacher wasn't exactly Miss Congeniality. [=she was very unfriendly]

con-gen-i-tal /kən'dʒenətəl/ adj

1 : existing since birth • congenital blindness/heart disease • a congenital defect • The irregularity in my backbone is probably congenital.

2 always used before a noun, informal : naturally having a specified character • He's a congenital liar. [=he's a liar by nature; he has always lied a lot and is likely to continue to lie]

— con-gen-i-tal-ly adv

con-gest-ed /kən'dʒestəd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : too full or crowded with something (such as vehicles or people) • congested highways/stores • The house was located in a congested area. [=an area with a lot of traffic] • Traffic still gets congested because of the bridge construction.

2 of a part of the body : blocked with fluid (such as blood or mucus) • a congested nose [=a nose blocked with mucus]

— con-ges-tion /kən'dʒestʃən/ noun [noncount] • nasal congestion • traffic/airport congestion

con-glom-er-ate /kən'glɑ:mərət/ noun, pl -ates

1 [count] : a large business that is made of different kinds of companies • a news and entertainment conglomerate • Our small company must compete with the big conglomerates.

2 [count, noncount] technical : a kind of rock that is made from many stones of different sizes held together with hardened clay

con-glom-er-a-tion /kən,glɑ:mə'reɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a group or mixture of different things • a conglomeration of shops and restaurants • microscopic conglomerations of proteins

2 [noncount] : a process in which different things come together to form a single thing • phases of conglomeration • the age of corporate conglomeration [=a time when many conglomerates are being formed] con-grats /kən'græts/ noun [plural] informal : CONGRATULATIONS • Congrats on your promotion!

con-grat-u-late /kən'græʃə,leɪt, kən'grædʒə,leɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing [+ obj]

1 : to tell (someone) that you are happy because of his or her success or good luck • congratulate the winner • I'd like to congratulate you on/for your success. • She congratulated us on our test results. • You are to be congratulated [=you should be congratulated; you deserve praise] on/for your excellent work.

2 : to feel pleased with (yourself) • She congratulated herself for getting the best grade in her class.

con-grat-u-la-tion /kən,græʃə'leɪʃən, kən,grædʒə'leɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 congratulations [plural] a : a message telling someone that you are happy because of his or her success or good luck : words that congratulate someone • Let me offer you my congratulations for/on being elected. • Please send her my congratulations. b — used to tell someone that you are happy because of his or her success or good luck • "I got promoted!" "Congratulations!" — often + on • Congratulations on your promotion! • Congratulations on a job well done.

2 formal : the act of telling someone that you are happy because of his or her success or good luck : the act of congratulating someone [plural] I sent her a letter/message of congratulations. [noncount] a letter/message of congratulation

con-grat-u-la-to-ry /kən'græʃələ,tori, kən'grædʒələ,tori, Brit kən,græʃə'leɪtri/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : showing someone that you are happy because of his or her success or good luck : expressing congratulations • The team got a congratulatory phone call from the president. • a congratulatory handshake — see also SELF-CONGRATULATORY con-gre-gant /'kɑ:ŋgrɪgənt/ noun, pl -gants [count] chiefly US : a person who is part of a congregation : a person who is attending religious services or who regularly attends religious services • A small number of congregants had assembled for Midnight Mass. • The church depends on the financial support of its congregants.

con-gre-gate /'kɑ:ŋgrɪ,geɪt/ verb -gates; -gat-ed; -gat-ing [no obj] : to come together in a group or crowd • Students began to congregate [=assemble] in the hall. • It's a place where the homeless congregate. • Skiers congregated around the lodge's fireplace.

con-gre-ga-tion /kɑ:ŋgrɪ'geɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count]

1 : the people who are attending a religious service • The priest addressed the congregation.

2 : the people who regularly attend religious services • She is a member of a small congregation.

con-gre-ga-tion-al /kɑ:ŋgrɪ'geɪʃənəl/ adj

1 : involving or done by the people who attend religious services : relating to a congregation • congregational singing

2 Congregational : relating to a group of Christian churches that believe that the people who attend each church should make their own decisions, rules, etc. • a Congregational church

— Con-gre-ga-tion-al-ist /kɑ:ŋgrə'geɪʃənəlɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] • an active Congregationalist — Congregationalist adj • a Congregationalist minister con-gress /'kɑ:ŋgrəs, Brit 'kɑ:ŋ,gres/ noun, pl -gress-es

1 [count] : a formal meeting in which representatives or experts discuss important matters, make decisions, etc. • a Communist Party congress • an annual academic congress

2 a : the group of people who are responsible for making the laws of a country in some kinds of government [count] She was recently elected to the country's congress. • the congresses of Mexico and Chile [noncount] acts of congress b Congress [singular] : a particular congress; especially : the congress of the United States that includes the Senate and the House of Representatives • The bill easily passed both houses of Congress. • Congress is not currently in session.

3 [singular] — used in the names of some political parties • the Indian National Congress

— con-gres-sion-al /kən'grɛʃən/ adj • a congressional committee • congressional investigators con-gress-man /'kɑ:ŋgrəsmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : someone (especially a man) who is a member of a congress and especially of the U.S. House of Representatives • a former congressman who is now a senator • Congressman Smith con-gress-wom-an /'kɑ:ŋgrəs,wumən/ noun, pl -women /-,wimən/ [count] : a woman who is a member of a congress and especially of the U.S. House of Representatives • a former congresswoman • Congresswoman Jones con-gru-ent /kən'gru:wənt, 'kɑ:ŋgru:wənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 mathematics : having the same size and shape • congruent triangles

2 formal : matching or in agreement with something • Their goals are not congruent with the goals of the team.

— con-gru-ence /kən'gru:wəns, 'kɑ:ŋgru:wəns/ noun [non-count] con-i-cal /'kɑ:nɪkəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : shaped like a cone • a conical cap • The tree has a conical shape.

con-i-fer /'kɑ:nəfə/ noun, pl -fers [count] biology : a bush or tree (such as a pine) that produces cones and that usually has leaves that are green all year • Most conifers are evergreen.

— co-nif-er-ous /kou'nɪfərəs/ adj • coniferous trees • coniferous and deciduous forests

conj abbr conjunction

¹con-jec-ture /kən'dʒɛktʃə/ noun, pl -tures formal : an opinion or idea formed without proof or sufficient evidence : GUESS [count] The biography includes conjectures about the writer's earliest ambitions. • a conjecture about the extent of the injury [noncount] Your plan is based on (nothing more than) conjecture. • Most of the book is conjecture, not fact. • The criminal's motive remains a matter of conjecture. [=people can only guess about the criminal's motive; no one knows the criminal's motive]

— con-jec-tur-al /kən'dʒɛktʃərəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • Most of the book is conjectural.

²conjecture verb -tures; -tured; -tur-ing formal : to form an opinion or idea without proof or sufficient evidence [+ obj] Some have conjectured that the distant planet could sustain life. [no obj] We only conjecture about his motives.

con-join /kən'dʒɔɪn/ verb -joins; -joined; -join-ing formal

1 [no obj] : to join together • The two rivers eventually conjoin.

2 [+ obj] : to join (two or more people or things) together • their attempts to conjoin two very different concepts conjoined twin noun, pl ~ twins [count] : either one of a pair of twins who are born with their bodies joined together in some way • She gave birth to conjoined twins. — called also Siamese twin con-ju-gal /'kɑ:ndʒɪgəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : relating to marriage or to a married couple • conjugal bliss/happiness ♦ Conjugal is often used to refer to the sexual relationship between a married couple. • conjugal relations • The prisoner is allowed conjugal visits from his wife. [=visits in which he is able to have sexual relations with his wife] con-ju-gate /'kɑ:ndʒə,geɪt/ verb -gates; -gat-ed; -gat-ing [+ obj] grammar : to list the different forms of a verb that show number, person, tense, etc. • Can you conjugate the verb "to go"?

con-ju-ga-tion /,kɑ:ndʒə'geɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the way a verb changes form to show number, person, tense, etc. : the way a verb is conjugated • a lesson on French verb conjugation

2 [count] : a group of verbs that change in the same way to show number, person, tense, etc. : a set of verbs that are conjugated in the same way • Latin conjugations

con-junc-tion /kən'dʒʌŋkʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count]

1 grammar : a word that joins together sentences, clauses, phrases, or words • Some common conjunctions are "and," "but," and "although."

2 formal : a situation in which two or more things happen at the same time or in the same place • an unfortunate conjunction [=concurrency] of events in conjunction with formal : in combination with : together with • The concert will be held in conjunction with the festival. • The medicine is typically used in conjunction with other treatments.

con-junc-ti-vi-tis /kən,dʒʌŋktə'vaɪtəs/ noun [noncount] medical : a disease that causes the eye to become pink and sore — called also pinkeye

con-jure /'kɑ:ndʒə, Brit 'kʌndʒə/ verb -jures; -jured; -jur-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (something) appear or seem to appear by using magic • a magician who conjures live doves from silk scarves — usually + up • In the movie she has the power to conjure up storms, fires, and earthquakes.

2 a : to make you think of (something) • The title of the book conjures [=evokes] images of politics, protest, and war. — usually + up • The photos conjure up memories of a simpler time. • For many, the word "Greenland" conjures up images of vast, icy plains. b : to create or imagine (something) • The students conjured a clever scheme to raise the money they needed. — usually + up • Her imagination conjured up a summer scene.

a name to conjure with chiefly Brit — used to say that someone is an important person • He has become a name to conjure with in the business world.

con-jur-er or con-ju-ror /'kɑ:ndʒərə, Brit 'kʌndʒərə/ noun, pl -ers or -ors [count] : a person who performs magic tricks

¹conk /'kɑ:ŋk/ noun, pl conks [count] Brit slang : ¹NOSE • a big conk

²conk verb conks; conked; conk-ing [+ obj] informal : to strike or hit (someone or something) hard • He conked his brother on the head with the toy.

conk out [phrasal verb] informal 1 of a machine : to stop working properly • My car's engine conked out [(more commonly) broke down] this morning. 2 : to fall asleep • I conked out early last night.

con man noun, pl ~ men [count] : CON ARTIST

con-nect /kə'nekt/ verb -nects; -nect-ed; -nect-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to join (two or more things) together • Can you connect the hose to the sprinkler? • Connect the cable to the battery. • A hallway connects the two rooms. • It's the major highway connecting the two towns. • A common theme connects the stories. — often used as (be) connected • The two rooms are connected by a hallway. • The stories are connected by a common theme. • They are somehow connected to the royal family. [=they are related in some way to the royal family] • people connected by a common language • The schools are closely connected. [=they are closely involved with one another] b [no obj] : to join with or become joined to something else • The two bones connect at the elbow. • The hose connects easily to the sprinkler. • The bedroom connects to the kitchen. — opposite DISCONNECT

2 [+ obj] a : to think of (something or someone) as being related to or involved with another person, thing, event, or idea • People usually connect [=associate] clowns with the circus. • I never connected you with that group of people. — often used as (be) connected • In my mind, the two places are connected. [=I think of the two places as being related to each other] b : to show or prove that a person or thing is related to or involved with something • Police were unable to connect [=link] her to the crime. • There's no evidence connecting the company directly to the scandal. — often used as (be) connected • Many people still believe she is somehow connected to the crime.

3 : to join or become joined to something (such as a system or network) through a telephone, computer, or other device — usually + to [no obj] Guests can connect to the Internet from their hotel rooms. • The computer connects to the fax machine. [+ obj] "Operator, can you connect me to the front desk?" [=can you link my telephone with the telephone at the front desk so that I can talk to the person there?] — opposite DISCONNECT

4 [no obj] — used to say that an airplane, train, etc., stops at a particular place where passengers get onto another airplane, train, etc., in order to continue their journey • Our flight to New York connects in Chicago. • We leave from Boston and then connect in New York with a flight bound for China. • I took an early flight to connect with a train to the coast. • passengers connecting to/with international flights

5 [no obj] chiefly US, informal : to have or share a feeling of affection and understanding • We really connected on our first date. • She truly connects with her audience in concert.

6 [no obj] chiefly US, sports : to make a successful shot, hit, or throw • He connected for a home run. • She failed to con- nect on the shot. = The shot failed to connect. [=the shot missed] connect the dots chiefly US, informal : to learn or understand how different things are related • The information about these events is not new but no one had ever connected the dots until today.

connect up [phrasal verb] connect up (something) or connect (something) up : to join or link (a device, piece of equipment, etc.) to something • I'm having trouble connecting the speakers up to the TV. • An electrician will be connecting up the new lights tomorrow. [=joining the lights to a source of electricity]

— con-nect-able /kə'nektəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • The devices are connectable. [=they can be connected] — con-nect-ing adj • I missed my connecting flight in Detroit.

connected adj

1 : joined or linked together • a series of connected rooms
2 : having useful social, professional, or commercial relationships • a politically connected businessman [=a businessman who has relationships with people who have political power] — see also WELL-CONNECTED con-nect-ed-ness /kə'nektədnes/ noun [noncount] : the state of being closely joined or linked especially in an emotional way • She has a strong feeling of connectedness to her hometown. • connectedness with nature

con-nec-tion /kə'nekʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : something that joins or connects two or more things • The state plans to improve roads that serve as connections between major highways. • pipe/hose connections

2 [noncount] : the act of connecting two or more things or the state of being connected • There is a fee for connection to the town's water supply. • All classrooms will be wired for connection to the Internet.

3 [count] a : a situation in which two or more things have the same cause, origin, goal, etc. • connections between thought and language • Investigators found no connection between the two fires. • The school has no connection with the museum. • Evidence suggests there's a connection between the languages. • I'm not sure I see the connection. • Our family feels a deep connection to the land. b : a situation in which one thing causes another • the connection between smoking and lung cancer • The study suggests a connection between small class sizes and higher reading scores.

4 [count] a : something that allows you to become connected to a system, network, etc., through a telephone, computer, or other device • a high-speed Internet connection • The company provides telephone connections for most of the city's residents. • I can't hear you very well. We must have a bad connection. [=a problem with the way our phones are connected] b : a place where two parts or wires meet and touch • an electrical connection • I fixed the loose connection and now the speaker works fine.

5 [count] : a train, bus, or airplane that you get onto after getting off another train, bus, or airplane as part of the same journey • We fly out of Oslo and then have a connection [=connecting flight] in London. • We don't have a direct flight to Boston. We have to make a connection in Chicago.

6 [count] a : a relationship between people who are part of the same family, who do business together, etc. • He has no connection with his former law firm. • They are proud of their connection to the royal family. • Family connections can make getting a job much easier. b : a shared feeling of affection and understanding • We didn't know each other for very long, but we had a real connection. • They're working hard to make an emotional connection with their adopted children. • a performer's connection with the audience

7 [count] a : a powerful person who you know and who can help you — usually plural • She has some connections in the banking industry. b informal : a person who sells something illegal • a drug connection in connection with : in relation to (something) : for reasons that relate to (something) — used especially in journalism • Police arrested four men in connection with the robbery.

make a/the connection : to understand that there is a relationship between two or more things • It didn't take long for us to make the connection between the missing money and our partner's new car.

con-nec-tive /kə'nektiv/ noun, pl -tives [count] grammar : a word (such as and) that connects words or groups of words connective tissue noun, pl ~ -sues [count, noncount] medical : the parts of the body (such as ligaments, tendons, and cartilage) that support and hold together the other parts of the body (such as muscles, organs, and bones)

con-nec-tor /kə'nektə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

1 : a device or a part of a device that connects two computers, pieces of equipment, etc. • an electrical connector

2 : a road that connects two places, roads, etc. • The road is a major connector from the highway to the town's commercial district. • Take the airport connector from the main highway. • a connector road/highway/bridge con-ning tower /'kɑ:nɪŋ-/ noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a raised structure on the deck of a submarine con-nip-tion /kə'nɪpʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] US, informal : behavior that shows that you are suddenly very angry, upset, etc. • Mom really had/threw a conniption [=fit] when I told her I got arrested. • He goes into conniptions [=becomes very upset] if you disagree with him about politics.

con-nive /kə'naɪv/ verb -nives; -nived; -niv-ing [no obj] disapproving : to secretly help someone do something dishonest or illegal • She connived [=conspired] with him to fix the election. • He accused his opponents of conniving [=secretly working together] to defeat the proposal.

— con-niv-ance /kə'naɪvəns/ noun [noncount] • He stole millions of dollars with the connivance of his partner.

conniving adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : acting in a dishonest way : using or controlling other people for selfish reasons • He plays a conniving swindler who charms people into giving him money.

con-nois-seur /,kɑ:nə'sə/ noun, pl -seurs [count] : a person who knows a lot about something (such as art, wine, food, etc.) : an expert in a particular subject • wine connoisseurs • She is a connoisseur of African art.

— con-nois-seur-ship /,kɑ:nə'sə,ʃɪp/ noun [noncount]

con-no-ta-tion /,kɑ:nə'teɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : an idea or quality that a word makes you think about in addition to its meaning • a word with negative/positive connotations • For many people, the word "fat" has negative connotations. • The word "childlike" has connotations of innocence. — compare DENOTATION

con-note /kə'nout/ verb -notes; -not-ed; -not-ing [+ obj] formal, of a word : to make you think about (something) in addition to the word's meaning • The word "childlike" connotes innocence. • For her, the word "family" connotes love and comfort. — compare DENOTE 1

con-quer /'kɑ:ŋkə/ verb -quers; -quered; -quer-ing [+ obj]

1 : to take control of (a country, city, etc.) through the use of force • The city was conquered by the ancient Romans. • Napoleon conquered vast territories. • a conquered city

2 : to defeat (someone or something) through the use of force • They conquered all their enemies. — see also divide and conquer at 'DIVIDE

3 : to gain control of (a problem or difficulty) through great effort • She has been unable to conquer [=overcome] her fear of heights. • He finally conquered his drug habit. • Scientists believe the disease can be conquered.

4 : to become successful in (a place, situation, etc.) • She has conquered Hollywood and now has her sights set on Broadway. • The company hopes to conquer new markets abroad.

5 : to succeed in climbing (a mountain) • He was one of the first climbers to conquer Mount Everest.

— conquering adj, always used before a noun • the conquering nation/hero — con-quer-or /'kɑ:ŋkərə/ noun, pl -ors [count] • the Roman conquerors • William the Conqueror

con-quest /'kɑ:n,kwest/ noun, pl -quests

1 : the act of taking control of a country, city, etc., through the use of force [count] tales of the ancient army's conquests • the Norman Conquest [=the conquest of England by the Normans in 1066] [noncount] tales of military conquest

2 [count] : a country, city, etc., that an army has taken control of through the use of force • Napoleon's conquests

3 [count] : a person someone has succeeded in having a romantic and especially a sexual relationship with • She was one of his many conquests. • people who boast about their sexual/amorous conquests

4 [noncount] : success in defeating or dealing with something difficult or dangerous — usually + of • the conquest of space/nature/disease con-quis-ta-dor /kən'ki:stə,dɔə, Brit kən'kwɪstədɔ:/ noun, pl con-quis-ta-do-res /kən,ki:stə'dɔrɪz, Brit kən,kwɪstə'dɔ:reɪz/ or con-quis-ta-dors [count] : a leader in the Spanish conquests of America, Mexico, and Peru in the 16th century

con-science /'kɑ:nʃəns/ noun, pl -scienc-es

1 : the part of the mind that makes you aware of your actions as being either morally right or wrong [count] — usually singular • You should decide what to do according to your own conscience. • Her conscience was bothering her, so she finally told the truth. • He doesn't seem to have a conscience. [=doesn't seem to know or care about what is morally right] • I cannot do anything that is/goes against my conscience. [=that I believe is morally wrong] • After searching my conscience, I realized that I could not accept their offer. • At least now I can face him with a clear conscience. [=without guilt] • She had a guilty/troubled conscience. [=she had a feeling of guilt about something she had done] • I urged the senator to vote his conscience [=vote as he felt he should], even if it was at odds with the party line. [noncount] The issue is a matter of (individual) conscience. [=something that people must decide about according to what they believe is morally right] • I can't work for a company that has no social conscience. [=a company that does not care about important social issues] — see also PRISONER OF CONSCIENCE

2 [noncount] : a feeling that something you have done is morally wrong • She felt a pang/prick of conscience [=guilt] about not inviting him. • The thief must have had an attack of conscience, because he returned the wallet with nothing missing from it.

in (all/good) conscience formal ✧ If you cannot do something in (all/good) conscience, you cannot do it because you think that it is morally wrong. • I cannot in good conscience allow this situation to continue. • She could not in all conscience remain silent.

on your conscience ✧ If something is on your conscience, it makes you feel guilty. • I have to tell you the truth, because I don't want this on my conscience any longer.

conscience-stricken adj : feeling very bad or guilty because of something you have done • the story of a conscience-stricken thief who repays all she's stolen con-sci-en-tious /,kən:ʃi'entʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very careful about doing what you are supposed to do : concerned with doing something correctly • She has always been a very conscientious worker. • He was conscientious about following the doctor's orders.

— con-sci-en-tious-ly adv • He followed his doctor's orders conscientiously. — con-sci-en-tious-ness noun [noncount] conscientious objector noun, pl ~ -tors [count] : a person who refuses to serve in the military because of moral or religious beliefs • He registered as a conscientious objector.

— conscientious objection noun, pl ~ -tions [count, noncount]

con-scious /'kɑ:nʃəs/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : awake and able to understand what is happening around you • Is the patient conscious yet? • He was fully conscious when we found him. — opposite UNCONSCIOUS

2 not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : aware of something (such as a fact or feeling) : knowing that something exists or is happening — usually + of or that • She was very conscious of how late it was. • We are conscious of the risks involved in the procedure. • He is conscious of being a role model for children. • I was conscious of the fact that I had to do well on the test to pass the course. • He was conscious that they were watching him closely. — opposite UNCONSCIOUS

3 : known or felt by yourself • conscious guilt • the capacity for conscious thought — opposite UNCONSCIOUS

4 [more ~; most ~] : caring about something specified • He is environmentally conscious. [=he thinks and cares about the health of the environment] • a cost-conscious shopper [=a shopper who is concerned about the price of things] — see also SELF-CONSCIOUS

5 : done after thinking about facts and reasons carefully • I made a conscious [=deliberate] effort/attempt to be more compassionate. • a conscious decision — opposite UNCONSCIOUS

— con-scious-ly adv • Becoming CEO of the company was a goal she had consciously pursued for 10 years. • someone who craves attention, whether consciously or unconsciously • I wasn't consciously aware of having laughed.

con-scious-ness /'kɑ:nʃəsnəs/ noun, pl -ness-es

1 [noncount] : the condition of being conscious : the normal state of being awake and able to understand what is happening around you • She experienced a brief loss of conscious- ness. = She lost consciousness [=became unconscious] briefly. • He slowly regained consciousness [=became conscious again; woke up] after the surgery.

2 a : a person's mind and thoughts [count] — usually singular • The realization first entered my consciousness when I was a young child. • The memory was forever etched in her consciousness. [noncount] The medication caused her to enter an altered state of consciousness. — see also STREAM OF CONSCIOUSNESS b [noncount] : knowledge that is shared by a group of people • The events have become part of the national consciousness. • a crisis that has faded from the public consciousness [=that the public no longer remembers or thinks about]

3 : awareness or knowledge of something specified [count] — usually singular • a magazine that aims to raise the political consciousness of teenagers [=to make teenagers more aware of political issues] • I was impressed by his consciousness of our situation. • She developed a strong social consciousness. [=she became aware of important social issues] [noncount] He hopes that he can raise public consciousness of the disease.

consciousness-raising noun [noncount] : the process of making people understand and be interested in important social or political issues — often used before another noun • a consciousness-raising group/effort

1 con-script /kən'skrɪpt/ verb -scripts; -script-ed; -script-ing [+ obj] : to force (someone) to serve in the armed forces : DRAFT • The government is conscripting men for the army. • He was conscripted into the army.

2 con-script /'kɑ:n,skɪpt/ noun, pl -scripts [count] : a person who is forced to serve in the armed forces : DRAFTEE — con-script /'kɑ:n,skɪpt/ adj, always used before a noun • conscript soldiers • a conscript army [=an army made up of conscripts] con-scrip-tion /kən'skrɪpʃən/ noun [noncount] : the practice of ordering people by law to serve in the armed forces : DRAFT • young people who face conscription into the army • a campaign to end conscription [= (US) the draft]

con-se-crate /'kɑ:nsə,kreɪt/ verb -crates; -crat-ed; -crat-ing [+ obj]

1 : to officially make (something, such as a place or building) holy through a special religious ceremony — usually used as (be) consecrated • The church was consecrated in 1856. • The bones are buried in consecrated ground.

2 : to officially make (someone) a priest, bishop, etc., through a special religious ceremony — usually used as (be) consecrated • He was recently consecrated (as) a priest.

consecrate yourself formal : to officially promise that you will give your time and attention to something (especially a religion) • They consecrated themselves to the church.

— con-se-cra-tion /,kɑ:nsə'kreɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount] • the consecration of the church/bishop con-sec-u-tive /kən'sækjətɪv/ adj : following one after the other in a series : following each other without interruption • We had unusually cold temperatures for five consecutive [=successive] days. • The team has lost three consecutive games. [=three games in a row]

— con-sec-u-tive-ly adv • The prints are signed by the artist and numbered consecutively. [=the prints are each given a number 1, 2, 3, 4, etc.]

con-sen-su-al /kən'senʃəwəl/ adj : agreed to by the people involved : done with the consent of the people involved • consensual sex • a consensual decision/act • She claims their relationship was consensual.

— con-sen-su-al-ly adv • The decision was made consensually.

con-sen-sus /kən'sensəs/ noun : a general agreement about something : an idea or opinion that is shared by all the people in a group [singular] The (general) consensus (of the group) was to go ahead with the plan. • Scientists have not reached a consensus on the cause of the disease. [=scientists do not yet agree about the cause of the disease] • There is a growing consensus [=more and more people agree] about/on the need for further investigation. • What is the consensus of opinion among the experts? [=what do the experts all say?] [noncount] Everyone on the council seems to understand the need for consensus. • There is a lack of consensus among the citizens. • The decision was made by consensus.

1 con-sent /kən'sent/ verb -sents; -sent-ed; -sent-ing [no obj] formal : to agree to do or allow something : to give permission for something to happen or be done • He was reluctant at first but finally consented. — often + to • He consented to the plan. • Her father consented to the marriage. • She consented to a meeting. — sometimes followed by to + verb • The builder consented to do the repairs at no additional charge.

²consent noun [noncount] somewhat formal

1 : permission for something to happen or be done • He did not give his consent for the use of his name in the advertisement. • No one may use the vehicle without the consent of the owner. • Students must have the consent of their parents to go on the trip. = Students must have parental consent to go on the trip. • We need written consent [=a document giving permission] before we can publish the photograph. ♦ A consent form is a document that you sign in order to officially give your permission for something to happen or be done. • Patients must sign a consent form before having surgery. — see also AGE OF CONSENT, INFORMED CONSENT

2 : agreement about an opinion or about something that will happen or be done • This restaurant is, by common consent the best in the city. [=people agree that this restaurant is the best in the city] • The contract was canceled last month by mutual consent [=the people involved agreed to cancel the contract] consenting adult noun, pl ~ adults [count] law : a person who is legally considered old enough to decide to have sex : an adult who has consented to have sex

con-se-quence /ˈkɑːnsəˌkwens/ noun, pl -quenc-es

1 [count] : something that happens as a result of a particular action or set of conditions • The slightest error can have serious consequences. • What were the economic consequences of the war? • The decrease in sales was a consequence of some bad publicity about the company. • Some say many jobs will be lost as a consequence of the trade agreement. • He weighed/considered the consequences of making a career change. ♦ If you face/suffer the consequences of something, you deal with the results of something that you have done. • When he made the decision to leave, he knew he would have to face the consequences. • She suffered the consequences of her error.

2 [noncount] formal : importance or value • He was a man of consequence. [=he was an important man] • The outcome of the election will be of little consequence (to me). [=will not matter much to me] • The style you choose is of no consequence. • “What happened?” “Nothing of (any/great) consequence.”

in consequence or as a consequence formal : as a result of something • She made some risky investments and in consequence [=consequently] lost a lot of money. = She lost a lot of money in consequence of some risky investments. • Hundreds of people became sick as a consequence [=as a result] of the poor sanitary conditions.

con-se-quent /ˈkɑːnsəkʍənt/ adj, always used before a noun, somewhat formal : happening as a result of a particular action or set of conditions • Weather forecasters predict heavy rains and consequent flooding. • Falling sales and a consequent loss of profits forced the company to lay off more workers.

— con-se-quent-ly /ˈkɑːnsəkʍəntli/ adv • The state's economy was poor. Consequently, many college graduates were forced to move elsewhere in order to find jobs.

con-se-quen-tial /ˌkɑːnsəˈkwɛntʃəl/ adj, formal

1 [more ~; most ~] : IMPORTANT • There have been several consequential innovations in their computer software. • The change to the schedule is not consequential. — opposite IN-CONSEQUENTIAL

2 : happening as a result : CONSEQUENT • The company is considering layoffs but hopes to avoid a consequential loss in productivity. [=a loss in productivity because of the layoffs]

— con-se-quen-tial-ly adv

con-ser-van-cy /kənˈsəvənsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 [count] : an organization that works to protect animals, plants, and natural resources especially by purchasing and caring for areas of land • The land was recently donated to a local conservancy. — usually used in the names of organizations • She works for the Nature Conservancy.

2 [count] Brit : a group of officials who control and protect a river or port

3 [noncount] : CONSERVATION • raising money for the conservancy of natural resources • water conservancy

con-ser-va-tion /ˌkɑːnsəˈveɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

1 : the protection of animals, plants, and natural resources • wildlife conservation • They are trying to raise money for conservation. • the conservation of the environment — often used before another noun • a conservation commission • a local group's conservation efforts • the efforts of a local conservation group • The property borders a conservation area [=an area of land that is protected and that cannot be built on or used for certain purposes]

2 : the careful use of natural resources (such as trees, oil, etc.) to prevent them from being lost or wasted • water/forest/energy conservation

3 : the things that are done to keep works of art or things of historical importance in good condition • art conservation • She specializes in the conservation of furniture. • the conservation of religious shrines con-ser-va-tion-ist /ˌkɑːnsəˈveɪʃənɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : someone who works to protect animals, plants, and natural resources or to prevent the loss or waste of natural resources : a person who is involved in conservation con-ser-va-tism /kənˈsəvətɪzəm/ noun [noncount]

1 : belief in the value of established and traditional practices in politics and society • political conservatism — compare LIBERALISM

2 : dislike of change or new ideas in a particular area • cultural/religious conservatism

¹con-ser-va-tive /kənˈsəvətɪv/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : believing in the value of established and traditional practices in politics and society : relating to or supporting political conservatism • a conservative newspaper columnist • conservative politicians/policies • She is a liberal Democrat who married a conservative Republican. — compare ¹LIBERAL

2 Conservative : of or relating to the conservative party in countries like the United Kingdom and Canada • Conservative voters/policies • the Conservative candidate

3 [more ~; most ~] : not liking or accepting changes or new ideas • He had some pretty conservative [=traditional, conventional] ideas about the way life should be. • She's more conservative now than she was in college.

4 [more ~; most ~] — used to describe a guess, estimate, etc., that is probably lower than the actual amount will be • He gave me a conservative estimate of how much repairs will cost. • She predicts that the total cost will be around 500 dollars, and that's a conservative guess. [=the total cost will probably be higher than that]

5 [more ~; most ~] : traditional in taste, style, or manners • Her taste in art is fairly conservative. • He is a conservative dresser. • a conservative suit

6 [more ~; most ~] : not willing to take risks • a conservative investor

7 or Conservative : accepting and following many of the traditional beliefs and customs of a religion • Conservative Judaism — con-ser-va-tive-ly adv • The collection is conservatively valued at three million dollars. • He dresses conservatively.

²conservative noun, pl -tives [count]

1 : a person who believes in the value of established and traditional practices in politics and society : a person who is politically conservative • His message is being well received by conservatives. — compare ²LIBERAL

2 Conservative : a member or supporter of a conservative political party in countries like the United Kingdom and Canada con-ser-va-toire /kənˈsəvətwaɪə/ noun, pl -toires [count] Brit : CONSERVATORY 1 con-ser-va-to-ry /kənˈsəvətɔːri, Brit kənˈsəvətɪri/ noun, pl -ries [count]

1 US : a school in which students are taught music, theater, or dance • a theater conservatory • the Peabody Conservatory of Music

2 : a room or building with glass walls and a glass roof that is used for growing plants

¹con-serve /kənˈsəv/ verb -serves; -served; -serv-ing [+obj]

1 : to keep (something) safe from being damaged or destroyed • The organization works to conserve [=save] our national forests/wildlife. • a scientist who is studying ways to conserve [=preserve] biological diversity

2 : to use (something) carefully in order to prevent loss or waste • With so little rain, everyone had to conserve water. • We need to conserve our natural resources. • Don't run around too much—you need to conserve your strength. • conserving fuel/energy

²con-serve /ˈkɑːn.səv/ noun, pl -serves [count, noncount]

: a sweet food made by cooking pieces of fruit with sugar

con-sid-er /kənˈsɪd/ verb -ers; -ered; -er-ing

1 a : to think about (something or someone) carefully especially in order to make a choice or decision [+ obj] We are considering you for the job. • She refused to consider my request. • He seriously considered changing careers. • The jury has considered the evidence and reached a verdict. • The policy was well researched and well considered. • Please consider what I've said. • We never considered the possibility that the plan could fail. [no obj] He paused a moment to consider before responding. b [+ obj] : to think about (something that is important in understanding something or in making a decision or judgment) • You have to consider that he is only three years old. • When you consider how long she worked there, it's surprising that she would leave so suddenly. • His achievements are very impressive when you consider the fact that he never graduated from high school.

2 [+ obj] : to think about (a person or a person's feelings) before you do something in order to avoid making someone upset, angry, etc. • You have to learn to consider other people. • You never consider my feelings.

3 [+ obj] : to think of or regard (someone or something) in a specified way • I consider the price (to be) too high. • We consider careful work (to be) essential. • We consider it an honor to have you here with us tonight. • a television program that is considered one of the best comedies ever • He considers himself to be a great writer. • Consider yourself lucky/fortunate that you survived the accident. [=you are lucky to have survived the accident]

4 [+ obj] formal : to look at (someone or something) carefully and thoughtfully • He stepped back to consider the whole painting.

all things considered — used for saying that a statement is true when you think about all the good and bad parts or results of something • All things considered, we're pleased with how the project turned out. • It was a pretty good vacation, all things considered.

consider it done informal — used to say that you will gladly do something that someone has asked you to do • "Can you mail this letter for me?" "Consider it done."

con-sid-er-able /kən'sidərəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : large in size, amount, or quantity • We received a considerable number of complaints. • She was in considerable pain. • We have already wasted a considerable amount of time and money. • The murder trial attracted considerable public attention. • Damage to the vehicle was considerable.

— con-sid-er-ably /kən'sidərəbli/ adv • The house was considerably more expensive than what we could afford.

con-sid-er-ate /kən'sidərət/ adj [more ~; most ~] : thinking about the rights and feelings of other people : showing kindness toward other people • She is one of the most considerate people I know. • He was considerate and turned down the stereo when we asked him to. — often + of • He is always considerate of other people's feelings. • It was very considerate of you to offer to help. — opposite INCONSIDERATE

— con-sid-er-ate-ly adv • He always treats people considerately.

con-sid-er-a-tion /kən'sidə'reɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : careful thought : the act of thinking carefully about something you will make a decision about • You should give some serious consideration to your retirement plans. • After careful consideration, he agreed to their requests. • Her suggestion is still under consideration by the committee. [=the people on the committee are still thinking about and discussing her suggestion]

2 [noncount] : a desire to avoid doing something that will make another person sad, upset, angry, etc. • Show/have some consideration and turn down that radio. — often + for • He has no consideration for her feelings. • Out of consideration for the victim's family, no photos will be shown.

3 [count] : something that you think about when you make a choice or decision • Finding a house close to work was an important consideration for them. • Economic/practical considerations forced her to delay her education. • The tent weighs 10 pounds, which is no small consideration [=which is something that is important to think about] when you're going to be hiking.

4 formal : payment for something [count] — usually singular • She offered to do the job for a small consideration. [noncount] He charged a small fee in consideration of [=as payment for] his many services.

take (something) into consideration : to think about (something) before you make a decision or form an opinion • We will take your experience into consideration [=we will think about how much experience you have] when we decide who will get the job. • Results of the study should be taken into consideration before the medication is prescribed to patients. • When you take everything into consideration [=when you think about both the good and bad things], it really wasn't a bad deal. • Taking everything into consideration [=all things considered], we're probably better off now.

con-sid-ered /kən'sidəd/ adj, always used before a noun, formal : resulting from careful thought • It's my considered opinion that she was not guilty of the crime. • Their actions were a considered response to the violence.

con-sid-er-ing /kən'sidəriŋ/ prep : when you think about or consider (something) — used to indicate a fact or situation that is being thought of when a statement is made • He did very well in the campaign, especially considering his lack of experience. • Considering the damage to the car, it's a miracle that no one was hurt in the accident. — sometimes used informally in speech without a following object to suggest something that is being thought of without being specifically mentioned • He didn't win, but he did very well, considering. [=he did well when you consider the situation or circumstances]

— considering conj • He did well, considering (that) he had no experience. • She surprised us when she left the company so suddenly, especially considering (that) she had worked here for 20 years.

con-sign /kən'saɪn/ verb -signs; -signed; -sign-ing [+ obj] formal

1 : to put (someone) in a usually unpleasant place or situation — + to • Survivors described how they were consigned to labor camps. • The accident left him consigned [(more commonly) confined] to a wheelchair. • When she first started working, she was consigned to a small, windowless office. — often used figuratively • He was consigned by fate to a life of poverty.

2 : to put (something that is not wanted or used) in a place where old things are stored or thrown away — + to • old clothes that have been consigned to the attic • She consigned his letter to the wastebasket. [=she threw away his letter] — often used figuratively • a political movement that has been consigned to the dustbin of history [=a political movement that has been forgotten] • His career has been consigned to a mere footnote in the history books.

3 : to send (something) to a person or place to be sold • She consigned the painting to an auction house. • The goods were consigned to him.

con-sign-ment /kən'saɪnmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 [count] : a quantity of goods that are sent to a person or place to be sold • a consignment of books/goods/cars • large consignments of grain

2 [noncount] : the act or process of sending goods to a person or place to be sold • the consignment of goods on consignment — used to describe a situation in which goods are sent to a person who pays only for what is sold and who may return what is not sold • The goods were shipped/sold on consignment.

consignment store noun, pl ~ stores [count] US : a store to which people bring items that they no longer want (such as old clothes, shoes, and equipment) to have them sold ♦ When an item at a consignment store is sold, the person who brought it to the store gets a portion of the money paid for it.

con-sist /kən'sɪst/ verb, not used in progressive tenses -sists; -sisted; -sist-ing consist in [phrasal verb] consist in (something) formal : to have (something) as an essential or main part • Happiness consists in being satisfied with what you have.

consist of [phrasal verb] consist of (something) : to be formed or made up of (specified things or people) • Breakfast consisted of cereal, fruit, and orange juice. • Coal consists mostly of carbon. • His wardrobe consists almost entirely of jeans and T-shirts. • The crowd consisted mainly/largely of teenage girls. • The job mainly consists of classifying evidence. • a museum with a collection consisting entirely of portraits con-sis-ten-cy /kən'sɪstənsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 [noncount] : the quality or fact of being consistent: such as a : the quality or fact of staying the same at different times • His statements on this subject have lacked consistency; especially : the quality or fact of being good each time • He's a good pitcher, but he lacks consistency. [=his pitching is good in some games and bad in other games] • Customers expect consistency in the quality of service they receive. • Practice will ensure greater consistency of performance. b : the quality or fact of having parts that agree with each other • Her argument lacks consistency. [=her argument is not logical because its ideas do not agree with each other]

2 : the quality of being thick, firm, smooth, etc. [count] paints of varying consistencies — usually singular • She mixed the dough to the right consistency. • The batter should have/be the consistency of pudding. • Boil the juice to the consistency of a thick syrup. [noncount] The paints vary in consistency.

con-sis-tent /kən'sistənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : always acting or behaving in the same way • He is a consistent supporter of the museum. • We need to be more consistent in handling this problem. • Data from recent experiments show consistent results. [=results that do not change] b : of the same quality; especially : good each time • His pitching has always been very consistent. [=reliable] • Customers expect that the quality of service they receive will be consistent. — opposite INCONSISTENT

2 : continuing to happen or develop in the same way • The pain has been consistent. • Your grades have shown consistent improvement this school year. • You need to exercise on a more consistent [=regular] basis. — opposite INCONSISTENT

3 : having parts that agree with each other • Their descriptions of the accident were consistent. • She is not being consistent in her argument. [=her argument includes parts that do not agree with one another] : in agreement with something • His statements were not consistent with the truth. [=were not true] • His symptoms are consistent with heart disease. [=the symptoms he has are symptoms of heart disease] • The decision was consistent with the company's policy. — opposite INCONSISTENT

— con-sis-tent-ly adv • The technique is now being used consistently. • He consistently earned high grades all through high school. • She has played consistently all season. • The store has consistently low prices.

con-so-la-tion /kɑːnsə'leɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : something that makes a person feel less sadness, disappointment, etc. [noncount] His apology was of little/no consolation (to me). [=his apology did not make me feel much/any better] • She found/took great consolation [=comfort] in all the cards and letters she received. • If it's any consolation (to you) [=if it helps you to feel better], no one else got much of a raise this year, either. [count] His kind words were a consolation to/for me.

2 [count] : a contest in which people or teams that have previously lost compete against each other — usually used before another noun • a consolation game/match/race consolation prize noun, pl ~ prizes [count] : a prize that is given to someone who has not won a contest

con-so-la-to-ry /kən'soulə'tori, Brit kən'sɒlətri/ adj, formal : intended to make someone who is sad or disappointed feel better • consolatory words • a consolatory pat on the shoulder

1 con-sole /kən'soul/ verb -soles; -soled; -sol-ing [+ obj] : to try to make (someone) feel less sadness or disappointment • She consoled [=comforted] him after his wife died. • Nothing could console her after his death. — often + with • I consoled myself with the thought that things could be much worse.

— consolable adj [more ~; most ~] • barely consolable

— consoling adj • consoling words • a consoling smile/hug

2 con-sole /'kɑːn,soul/ noun, pl -soles [count]

1 : a flat surface that contains the controls for a machine, for a piece of electrical equipment, etc.

2 : a cabinet for a stereo or television that stands on the floor con-sol-i-date /kən'sɑːlə,deɪt/ verb -dates; -dat-ed; -dat-ing

1 : to join or combine together into one thing [no obj] The two funds will consolidate into one. • The two companies consolidated. [=merged] [+ obj] I consolidated my loans.

2 [+ obj] : to make (something, such as a position of power or control) stronger or more secure • The team consolidated [=strengthened] their lead with another touchdown during the fourth quarter. • The administration hopes that such measures will consolidate its position. • Rebel forces have consolidated their hold on the region.

— con-sol-i-da-tion /kən,sɑːlə'deɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount] • the consolidation of power con-som-mé /,kɑːnsə'meɪ, Brit kən'sɒmeɪ/ noun [non-count] : a clear soup that is usually made with seasoned meat

1 con-so-nant /'kɑːnsənənt/ noun, pl -nants [count]

1 : a speech sound (such as /p/, /d/, or /s/) that is made by partly or completely stopping the flow of air breathed out from the mouth

2 : a letter that represents a consonant; especially : any letter of the English alphabet except a, e, i, o, u, and sometimes y — compare VOWEL

2 consonant adj [more ~; most ~]

1 formal : in agreement with something — often + with • The decision was consonant with [=consistent with] the company's usual practice.

2 music : in harmony • consonant chords — opposite DISSONANT

— con-so-nance /'kɑːnsənəs/ noun, pl -nances [non-count] musical consonance • His beliefs are in consonance with [=agree with] the political party's views. [count] the pleasing consonances of the symphony

1 con-sort /kən'sɔːt/ verb -sorts; -sort-ed; -sort-ing consort with [phrasal verb] consort with (someone) formal + disapproving : to spend time with (someone) • There is evidence that he has consorted with criminals.

2 con-sort /'kɑːn,sɔːt/ noun, pl -sorts [count] formal : a wife or husband of a king, queen, emperor, etc.

con-sor-tium /kən'sɔːfəm, kən'sɔːtɪjəm/ noun, pl con-sor-tia /-fə, -tɪjə/ also con-sor-tiums [count] : a group of people, companies, etc., that agree to work together • A Japanese consortium invested millions in the technology. • a consortium of universities/banks/newspapers con-spic-u-ous /kən'spɪkjəwəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : very easy to see or notice • There were a number of conspicuous changes to the building. • The sign was placed in a very conspicuous spot/position. • The bird has a conspicuous red head. • She felt very conspicuous in her pink coat. • He was uncomfortable about his conspicuous weight gain. • The President was conspicuous by his absence at the peace talks. [=his absence was very noticeable; people had expected him to be there and noticed that he wasn't] — opposite INCONSPICUOUS

2 : attracting attention by being great or impressive • The business was a conspicuous success. • conspicuous bravery

— con-spic-u-ous-ly adv • The sign was placed very conspicuously. • He was conspicuously [=noticeably] absent from the meeting. — con-spic-u-ous-ness /kən'spɪkjəwəsnəs/ noun [noncount] conspicuous consumption noun [noncount] : the act or practice of spending money on expensive things that are not necessary in order to impress other people • a culture of conspicuous consumption

con-spir-a-cy /kən'spɪrəsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 [count] : a secret plan made by two or more people to do something that is harmful or illegal • The CIA uncovered a conspiracy against the government.

2 [noncount] : the act of secretly planning to do something that is harmful or illegal • They were accused of conspiracy to commit murder.

conspiracy of silence noun [singular] : a secret agreement made between two or more people to not talk about something • There seems to be a conspiracy of silence as far as his resignation is concerned.

conspiracy theory noun, pl ~ -ries [count] : a theory that explains an event or situation as the result of a secret plan by usually powerful people or groups • Conspiracy theories sprung up soon after the leader's assassination.

— conspiracy theorist noun, pl ~ -rists [count] • Conspiracy theorists believe the government is hiding evidence of UFOs.

con-spir-a-tor /kən'spɪrətə/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a person who is involved in a secret plan to do something harmful or illegal : a person who is involved in a conspiracy

con-spir-a-to-ri-al /kən'spɪrətɔːriəl/ adj

1 : involving a secret plan by two or more people to do something that is harmful or illegal : of or relating to a conspiracy • conspiratorial plots/plans

2 [more ~; most ~] : suggesting that something secret is being shared • She gave me a conspiratorial smile/wink across the table. • His voice became low and conspiratorial.

— con-spir-a-to-ri-al-ly adv • He winked conspiratorially.

con-spire /kən'spaɪə/ verb -spires; -spired; -spir-ing [no obj]

1 : to secretly plan with someone to do something that is harmful or illegal — often followed by to + verb • They were accused of conspiring to overthrow the government. • She conspired with him to smuggle the paintings out of the country. — often + against • He thought that they were conspiring against him.

2 : to happen in a way that produces bad or unpleasant results — often followed by to + verb • My illness and the bad weather conspired to ruin my vacation. • Several things conspired to force them to change the policy. — often + against • The organizer of the festival thinks the weather has conspired against him.

con-sta-ble /'kɑːnstəbəl, 'kʌnstəbəl/ noun, pl -stables [count]

1 US : a public official whose job is similar to that of a police officer but who is elected or appointed rather than hired

2 chiefly Brit : POLICE CONSTABLE

con-stab-u-lary /kən'stæbjələri, Brit kən'stæbjələri/ noun, pl -lar-ies [count] Brit : the police force of a particular area con-stan-cy /'kɑːnstənsi/ noun [noncount] formal

1 : the quality of staying the same : lack of change • the constancy of the Earth's rotation • maintaining constancy of speed

2 : the quality of being loyal to a person or belief • There was no doubt of his constancy [=fidelity] to his wife.

1 con-stant /'kɑːnstənt/ adj

1 : happening all the time or very often over a period of time • He suffers from constant headaches. • The noise from the construction was constant [=continuous] from early morning until evening. • Her constant chatter was a nuisance. • The house is in constant need of repairs. • The scar serves as a constant reminder of the accident. • a problem demanding constant attention/care — opposite INCONSTANT

2 [more ~; most ~] : staying the same : not changing • The equipment should be stored at a constant temperature. • He kept the car's speed constant. • She has struggled to maintain a constant weight. — opposite INCONSTANT

3 formal + literary : always loyal • They remained constant friends throughout their lives. • Their friendship was constant. — opposite INCONSTANT

— con-stant-ly adv • He talked constantly all through the movie. • They complained constantly about the noise.

2 constant noun, pl -stants [count]

1 : something that stays the same : something that does not change • Her job was the one constant in her life.

2 technical : a quantity or number whose value does not change

con-stel-la-tion /,kɑːnstə'leɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count]

1 : a group of stars that forms a particular shape in the sky and has been given a name • The constellation Ursa Major contains the stars of the Big Dipper.

2 formal : a group of people or things that are similar in some way • A large constellation of relatives and friends attended the funeral. • The patient presented a constellation of symptoms.

con-ster-na-tion /,kɑːnstə'neɪʃən/ noun [noncount] formal :

a strong feeling of surprise or sudden disappointment that causes confusion • The candidate caused consternation among his supporters by changing positions on a key issue. • Much to her parents' consternation, she had decided to not go to college. • They stared at each other in consternation [=dismay], not knowing what to do.

con-sti-pat-ed /'kɑːnstə'peɪtəd/ adj : unable to easily release solid waste from your body : unable to have a bowel movement easily con-sti-pa-tion /,kɑːnstə'peɪʃən/ noun [noncount] :

the condition of being unable to easily release solid waste from your body : the condition of being unable to have a bowel movement easily • A side effect of the drug is constipation.

con-stit-u-en-cy /kən'stɪfəwənsi/ noun, pl -cies [count]

1 : a group of people who support or who are likely to support a politician or political party • the governor's conservative/liberal constituency • the party's core constituencies • Analysts say she has a good chance of being elected because she appeals to a broad constituency. [=many different kinds of people like her and will vote for her]

2 a : the people who live and vote in an area • The senator's constituency includes a large minority population. b Brit : a voting area : a district with an elected representative • He was elected to represent a Liverpool constituency.

3 : a group of people who support, are served by, or are represented by an organization, business, etc. • a corporation's constituency

1 con-stit-u-ent /kən'stɪfəwənt/ noun, pl -ents [count]

1 : any one of the people who live and vote in an area : a member of a constituency • She's pledged to help her elderly constituents. • Many senators have received calls from constituents who want them to vote in favor of the law.

2 : one of the parts that form something • the chemical constituents of the liquid

2 constituent adj, always used before a noun : forming part of a whole • The company can be separated into several constituent parts/elements.

con-sti-tute /'kɑːnstətuːt, Brit 'kɒnstə'tjuːt/ verb -tutes; -tut-ed; -tut-ing formal

1 not used in progressive tenses [linking verb] : to make up or form something • Women constitute 70 percent of the student population at the college. • Twelve months constitute a year. [=a year is made up of 12 months]

2 not used in progressive tenses [linking verb] : to be the same as something : to be equivalent to something • The court determined that the search of their house constituted [=amounted to] a violation of their rights.

3 [+ obj] : to establish or create (an organization, a government, etc.) — usually used as (be) constituted • The recently constituted government will hold elections in May.

con-sti-tu-tion /,kɑːnstə'tuːʃən, Brit 'kɒnstə'tjuːʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] a : the system of beliefs and laws by which a country, state, or organization is governed • The state's constitution has strict rules about what tax money can be used for. • The right to free speech is guaranteed by the (U.S.) Constitution. • Members of the club have drafted a new constitution. b : a document that describes this system • The state's original constitution is on display at the museum.

2 [count] : the physical health and condition of a person or animal • He has a robust/weak/tough constitution. • Only animals with strong constitutions are able to survive the island's harsh winters.

3 [noncount] formal : the form or structure of something • What is the molecular constitution of the chemical?

1 con-sti-tu-tion-al /,kɑːnstə'tuːʃən/, Brit 'kɒnstə'tjuːʃən/ adj

1 always used before a noun : of or relating to the system of beliefs and laws that govern a country : of or relating to a constitution • She is in favor of a constitutional amendment [=an amendment to the constitution] to overturn the unpopular law. • constitutional law

2 : allowed by a country's constitution • That kind of punishment is not constitutional. [=is not allowed by the constitution] • the constitutional guarantee of free speech • a constitutional right to vote — opposite UNCONSTITUTIONAL

3 a : of or relating to the health and strength of a person's body • Constitutional symptoms of the disease include headache and fever. b : of or relating to a person's basic nature or character • He has a constitutional dislike of controversy.

— con-sti-tu-tion-al-ly adv • Free speech is a constitutionally guaranteed right in the U.S. • He is constitutionally incapable of sitting still for more than a minute. [=it is not his nature to be able to sit still for more than a minute.]

2 constitutional noun, pl -als [count] old-fashioned : a brief walk that you take to improve your health • She's gone out for her morning constitutional.

con-sti-tu-tion-al-ism /,kɑːnstə'tuːʃənə'lɪzəm, Brit 'kɒnstə'tjuːʃənə'lɪzəm/ noun [noncount] :

the belief that a government should be based on a constitution • the doctrine of constitutionalism

— con-sti-tu-tion-al-ist /,kɑːnstə'tuːʃənəlɪst, Brit 'kɒnstə'tjuːʃənəlɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] con-sti-tu-tion-al-i-ty /,kɑːnstə'tuːʃənələti, Brit 'kɒnstə'tjuːʃənələti/ noun [noncount] :

the state of being allowed by or in agreement with a constitution : the state of being constitutional • He questions the constitutionality of the proposed law.

constitutional monarchy noun, pl ~ -chies [count] : a system of government in which a country is ruled by a king and queen whose power is limited by a constitution con-strain /kən'streɪn/ verb -strains; -strained; -straining [+ obj]

1 : to limit or restrict (something or someone) • She believes that too much instruction constrains [=limits] an artist's creativity. • People with criminal backgrounds are legally constrained [=restricted] from working for some government agencies. — often used as (be) constrained • We were constrained [=limited] by the short amount of time we had. • Teenagers often feel constrained [=limited] by rules.

2 formal : to use pressure to force (someone) to do something — usually used as (be) constrained • She felt constrained [= (more commonly) felt compelled] to apologize for the harm she'd done.

constrained adj [more ~; most ~] formal : not done or happening naturally • It was obvious from his constrained [=forced] smile that he was not enjoying himself. • constrained behavior

con-straint /kən'streɪnt/ noun, pl -straints

1 [count] : something that limits or restricts someone or something • Lack of funding has been a major constraint on the building's design. — usually plural • Budget constraints [=restrictions] have forced me to revise my travel plans. [=I've changed my travel plans because I do not have enough money] • Because of time constraints [=limitations], speeches will be limited to five minutes. • Tradition puts/places/imposes constraints on [=puts limits on] people and their actions.

2 [noncount] : control that limits or restricts someone's actions or behavior • They demand freedom from constraint. • They refuse to work under constraint any longer.

con-strict /kən'strɪkt/ verb -stricts; -strict-ed; -strict-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to make (something) narrower, smaller, or tighter • These shoes are too small and constrict [=squeeze] my feet. • The drug is used to constrict blood vessels. b [no obj] : to become narrower, smaller, or tighter • The drug causes the blood vessels to constrict. [=contract]

2 [+ obj] : to prevent or keep (something or someone) from developing freely • The declining economy has constricted job opportunities. • a life constricted by poverty and disease • He felt constricted by their notions of what was proper.

— con-stric-tion /kən'strɪkʃən/ noun, pl -tions [non-count] The drug causes constriction of blood vessels. [count] constrictions in blood vessels

constrictor see BOA CONSTRICTOR

1 con-struct /kən'strʌkt/ verb -constructs; -struct-ed; -struct-ing [+ obj]

1 : to build or make (something physical, such as a road, bridge, or building) • They plan to construct a barn behind the house. • a newly constructed bridge/building • The table is constructed [=made] of wood and steel.

2 : to make or create (something, such as a story or theory) by organizing ideas, words, etc. • The author constructs all the stories around one theme. • a well-constructed argument

3 mathematics : to draw (a shape) according to a set of instructions or rules • Construct a triangle that has sides of equal length.

— con-struc-tor /kən'strʌktər/ noun, pl -tors [count] • a constructor of sound arguments

2 construct noun, pl -structs [count] formal : something (such as an idea or a theory) that is formed in people's minds • He argues that time is a subjective construct with no objective existence. • Class distinctions are a social construct. [=an idea that has been created and accepted by the people in a society]

con-struc-tion /kən'strʌkʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] a : the act or process of building something (such as a house or road) • Construction of the new bridge will begin in the spring. • Construction on the bridge will occur daily from 8:00 p.m. to 4:00 a.m. • The new school is now under construction. [=is now being built] — often used before another noun • construction costs/equipment/materials • They haven't chosen a construction site for the building yet. [=they haven't decided where the building will be built yet]

b : the business of building things (such as houses or roads) • "What do you do for a living?" "I'm in construction." [=I do work that involves building things] • the construction industry

2 [noncount] : the way something is built or made • Note the similar construction of the buildings. • I like these binoculars because of their sturdy construction. [=because they are strongly built]

3 [count] : the way words in a sentence or phrase are arranged • Some people think it is wrong to end a sentence with a preposition, but the construction is quite common in English. • That verb is commonly used in passive constructions. • This word is used in positive/negative constructions.

4 [noncount] : the process of organizing ideas or thoughts into a new theory, statement, etc. • His ideas were pivotal in the construction of a new way to understand time and space.

5 [count] formal : a way of understanding something • Don't put a negative construction on what I said: [=don't understand what I said in a negative way] • a broad/strict construction [=interpretation] of the Constitution construction paper noun [noncount] US : a kind of thick paper that comes in many colors and is used especially by children in school to create art con-struc-tive /kən'strʌktɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : helping to develop or improve something : helpful to someone instead of upsetting and negative • I tried to offer constructive criticism/suggestions/comments. • Your feedback was not very constructive. • The program helps people recently released from prison figure out how they can play a constructive role in society.

— con-struc-tive-ly adv

con-strue /kən'stru:/ verb -strues; -strued; -stru-ing [+ obj] somewhat formal

1 : to understand (an action, event, remark, etc.) in a particular way — usually + as • He construed my actions as hostile. — often used as (be) construed • Her frustration was construed [=perceived, interpreted] as anger. — compare MISCONSTRUE

2 : to understand the meaning of (a word, phrase, or sentence) • The way the court construes various words has changed over time.

con-sul /'kɑːnsəl/ noun, pl -suls [count]

1 : a government official whose job is to live in a foreign country and protect and help the citizens of his or her own country who are traveling, living, or doing business there — compare AMBASSADOR

2 : either one of two chief officials of the ancient Roman republic who were elected every year

— con-sul-ar /'kɑːnsələ, Brit 'kɒnsjələ/ adj • a consular official con-sul-ate /'kɑːnsələt/ noun, pl -ates [count] : the building where a consul lives and works • the Russian consulate in Washington, D.C.

con-sult /kən'sʌlt/ verb -sults; -sult-ed; -sult-ing

1 [+ obj] : to go to (someone, such as a doctor or lawyer) for advice : to ask for the professional opinion of (someone) • construction

consult a lawyer/accountant about a business matter • You should not attempt these exercises without first consulting your doctor.

2 : to talk about something with (someone) in order to make a decision [+ obj] He made the decision without consulting me. • I expect to be consulted on important decisions. [no obj] — + with • I'll need to consult with my husband before I can sign the papers.

3 [+ obj] : to look for information in (something, such as a book or map) • consult a dictionary • I don't remember that part of the meeting; I'll have to consult my notes.

4 [no obj] chiefly US : to give professional advice to a person, organization, or company for a fee : to work as a consultant • She consults for a living.

— consulting noun [noncount] • Since she retired, she's done some consulting for the company. • He works for a consulting company. [=a company that gives professional advice to other companies for a fee]

con-sul-tan-cy /kən'sʌltənsi/ noun, pl -cies [count] : a company that gives professional advice to other companies for a fee : a consulting company • The company has hired an excellent marketing consultancy.

con-sult-ant /kən'sʌltənt/ noun, pl -ants [count]

1 : a person who gives professional advice or services to companies for a fee • an advertising/management consultant • They've hired a computer consultant to assess how the company can upgrade its system.

2 Brit : a hospital doctor of the highest rank who is an expert in a particular area of medicine • a cardiology consultant [=specialist]

con-sul-ta-tion /,kɑːnsəl'teɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a meeting in which someone (such as a doctor or lawyer) talks to a person about a problem, question, etc. • Many accountants offer a free consultation before charging for their work. • telephone consultations • After a series of consultations with doctors, a date for the operation was set.

2 : a discussion about something that is being decided [count] The group had a series of consultations with members of Congress. [noncount] The town decided to close the park without any consultation with town residents. • After consultation with the judge, lawyers decided to drop the case. • The book was chosen in consultation with [=after consulting] a panel of experts. • a consultation period/process

3 : the act of looking for information in a book, on a map, etc. [noncount] Consultation of city records confirms that she lived there in the 1950s. • Several dictionaries are available for consultation. [count] a quick consultation of the city records con-sul-ta-tive /kən'sʌltətɪv/ adj, formal

1 : giving advice • a consultative document

2 : having power only to give advice and not to make decisions • a consultative committee/council consulting room noun, pl ~ rooms [count] : a room where a doctor examines and talks to patients ♦ Consulting room is more common in British English than in U.S. English.

con-sum-able /kən'su:məbəl, Brit kən'sju:məbəl/ adj — used to describe products that need to be replaced after they have been used for a period of time • paper, pencils, and other consumable goods

— consumable noun, pl -ables [count] — usually plural • paper, pencils, and other consumables

con-sume /kən'su:m, Brit kən'sju:m/ verb -sumes; -sumed; -sum-ing [+ obj]

1 : to eat or drink (something) • The dogs consume [=eat] a bag of dog food each week. • They consumed [=drank] a lot of beer at the party. — sometimes used figuratively • He consumes [=devours] 10 novels a month. synonyms see EAT

2 : to use (fuel, time, resources, etc.) • The new lights consume less electricity. • She's making an effort to live more simply and consume less. • Most of our time was consumed [=taken up] by the search. • The car repair consumed [=used up] his entire paycheck. — see also TIME-CONSUMING

3 : to destroy (something) with fire • Hundreds of books were consumed in the fire. • Fire consumed the building.

4 : to take all of a person's attention, energy, time, etc. • Work on the project has consumed his attention for many months. = Work on the project has consumed him. — usually used as (be) consumed • The movie tells the story of a woman consumed by ambition/hatred. • He was consumed with/by jealousy.

— consuming adj • He has a consuming interest in politics.

[=he is extremely interested in politics] • Her all-consuming passion was music. [=music was an interest that took all of her time and attention; music was the only thing she thought about] con-sum-er /kən'su:mə, Brit kən'sju:mə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who buys goods and services • Many consumers are still not comfortable making purchases on the Internet. — often used before another noun • Consumer spending is increasing. • consumer services • consumer demands/preferences

consumer durables noun [plural] Brit : DURABLE GOODS

consumer goods noun [plural] : products that people buy for personal use or for use at home • a range of consumer goods, from clothing to cameras to food con-sum-er-ism /kən'su:mə,rɪzəm, Brit kən'sju:mə,rɪzəm/ noun [noncount] often disapproving

1 : the belief that it is good for people to spend a lot of money on goods and services

2 : the actions of people who spend a lot of money on goods and services • concerns about increasing consumerism among teenagers

— con-sum-er-ist /kən'su:mərist, Brit kən'sju:mərist/ adj • a consumerist culture consumer price index noun

the consumer price index US : a list of prices of goods and services that shows how much prices have changed in a given period of time — abbr. CPI — called also (Brit) retail price index

1 con-sum-mate /'kɑːnsəmət, kən'sʌmət/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : very good or skillful • a consummate politician/actor/professional • She's a consummate storyteller. • He plays the piano with consummate skill.

2 : very bad • consummate cruelty/evil • a consummate liar

— con-sum-mate-ly adv • a consummately skillful pianist

2 con-sum-mate /'kɑːnsəmeɪt/ verb -mates; -mat-ed; -mat-ing [+ obj] formal

1 : to make (a marriage or romantic relationship) complete by having sex • They were married for three months before the marriage was consummated. [=before they had sex]

2 : to make (something) perfect or complete • consummate an alliance • The bargaining process went on for a few days, but the deal was never consummated. • Their happiness was consummated when their son was born.

— con-sum-ma-tion /,kɑːnsə'meɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • Without consummation, the marriage can be annulled by the church. • the consummation of their happiness

con-sump-tion /kən'sʌmpʃən/ noun [noncount]

1 : the act of eating or drinking something • alcohol/milk/chocolate consumption = the consumption of alcohol/milk/chocolate • Farms in the area grow food mostly for local consumption. [=they sell most of the food they grow to people who live nearby] • This food is not fit for human consumption. [=not fit to be eaten by people] • The doctor recommended that she reduce her consumption of sugar. [=that she eat less sugar]

2 : the use of something (such as fuel) • electricity/gas consumption = the consumption of electricity/gas • The jet's high fuel consumption makes it expensive to operate.

3 : use by a particular group of people • The governor said that the report was not for public consumption. [=it was not meant to be seen by the general public; it was intended only for a few people]

4 : the act of buying things • Rates of consumption typically rise as income increases. — see also CONSPICUOUS CONSUMPTION

5 old-fashioned : TUBERCULOSIS • He died of consumption.

con-sump-tive /kən'sʌmpɪv/ noun, pl -tives [count] old-fashioned : a person who has tuberculosis • a hospital for consumptives

— consumptive adj • consumptive patients

cont. also cont'd abbr continued • cont. on page 15 • listings cont'd on pg. 4

1 con-tact /'kɑːn,tækt/ noun, pl -tacts

1 [noncount] : the state or condition that exists when two people or things physically touch each other : a state of touching • Physical contact between a mother and child is very important. • the point of contact between the bat and the ball [=the point where the bat and ball touch each other] • a disease that is spread by sexual contact • The players made contact [=touched or hit each other] and a foul was called. •

The train's wheels should make contact with [=touch] the track continuously. • Do not let your skin come in/into contact with [=touch] the acid. • The chemical kills germs on contact [=as soon as the chemical touches the germs]

2 a [noncount] : the state or condition that exists when people see and communicate with each other • The actor has had little contact with the public [=has not interacted much with the public] in recent years. • It was during that time that native people first came into/in contact with [=first saw and began communicating with] the settlers. • She joined a book club to get a little human contact [=interaction with other people] while the kids were in school. ✧ Your contact information is the information (such as your telephone number, address, or e-mail address) that tells someone how to communicate with you. • Don't forget to put your contact information on the application. ✧ If you are in contact with someone, you communicate with them sometimes. • "Are you in contact [=in touch] with them?" "No, I haven't been in contact with them for years. I don't even know where they live anymore." • We kept/stayed in close contact [=we communicated often] after college. • He's been in direct contact with the president. [=he has communicated directly with the president] • We'd lost touch, but a mutual friend put us in contact (with each other) again. ✧ If you lose contact with someone or something, you are no longer able to communicate with that person or thing. • I lost contact [=lost touch] with her years ago, but recently got her e-mail address through a mutual friend. • We lost radio contact with the ship for a short time. [=we could not communicate with the ship using their radio] ✧ If you make/establish contact, you have succeeded in communicating with someone. • She's been trying to make contact with distant relatives. • The phone system wasn't working so we weren't able to make contact. • We were finally able to establish contact with them. b [count] : an occurrence in which people communicate with each other • Contacts between the two leaders have been frequent in recent weeks. — see also EYE CONTACT

3 [count] : a person who you know and who can be helpful to you especially in business • I applied for a job at that law firm because I have a contact there. • business contacts ✧ Someone who is listed as a contact in information from a company or organization is the person you can write to or call with questions about that company or organization.

4 [count] : CONTACT LENS • He lost one of his contacts in the swimming pool.

5 [count] a : the connection of two objects (such as pieces of metal) that allows an electrical current to pass through them • The contact must be maintained for the current to flow. b : a part through which electricity passes from one object to another • The camera's flash isn't working because the electrical contacts need to be cleaned.

2 contact verb -tacts; -tact-ed; -tact-ing [+ obj] : to call or write to (someone or something) : to communicate with (someone or something) • For more information, contact the city's tourism office. • We were able to contact them by radio. • She contacted everyone on the list.

3 contact adj, always used before a noun

1 sports : allowing players to touch or hit each other • Ice hockey is a contact sport.

2 : acting when physical contact occurs • contact insecticides/poisons contact lens noun, pl ~ lenses [count] : a thin piece of round plastic that is worn on the eye to improve vision • She wears contact lenses more often than glasses. — called also contact con-ta-gion /kən'teɪdʒən/ noun, pl -gions medical

1 [noncount] : the process by which a disease is passed from one person or animal to another by touching • a disease that spreads by contagion • People have been warned to keep out of the area to avoid contagion.

2 [count] : a disease that can be passed from one person or animal to another by touching : a contagious disease • a deadly contagion — often used figuratively • The news created a contagion of fear that spread through the country.

con-ta-gious /kən'teɪdʒəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : able to be passed from one person or animal to another by touching • a contagious disease • It's a highly contagious virus. — compare INFECTIOUS

2 : having a sickness that can be passed to someone else by touching • I have a cold and I'm still contagious. • I'm sick, but the doctor says I'm not contagious.

3 : capable of being easily spread to others : causing other people to feel or act a similar way • She has a contagious smile. [=her smile makes other people smile; her smile makes other people happy] • contagious enthusiasm/laughter

— con-ta-gious-ly adv • a contagiously enthusiastic person — con-ta-gious-ness noun [noncount]

con-tain /kən'teɪn/ verb -tains; -tained; -tain-ing [+ obj]

1 : to have (something) inside • The box contains [=holds] an assortment of old papers. • The room was barely big enough to contain everyone who came to the meeting.

2 : to have or include (something) • The book contains over 200 recipes. • The article contains information on how to plan your retirement. • foods that contain a high level of fat • The movie contains something for both children and adults.

3 : to keep (something) from spreading : to keep (something) within limits • Firefighters contained the wildfires. • State health officials have succeeded in containing the virus.

4 : to keep (a feeling or yourself) under control • The children could barely contain their excitement as the day of the festival drew near. • When she saw that they were all safe, she could not contain herself [=control her feelings] and broke into tears of relief. — see also SELF-CONTAINED

— con-tain-able /kən'teɪnəbəl/ adj • Health officials believe the virus is containable and are doing what they can to keep it from spreading. • barely containable excitement con-tain-er /kən'teɪnə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : an object (such as a box or can) that can hold something • The tea leaves come in a small metal container. • bowls, boxes, jars, and other containers

2 : a large box that goods are placed in so that they can be moved from one place to another on a ship, airplane, train, or truck • The shipment of tools arrived at the dock in cargo containers yesterday.

container ship noun, pl ~ ships [count] : a large ship made to carry cargo containers — see picture at SHIP

con-tain-ment /kən'teɪnmənt/ noun [noncount]

1 : the act of preventing the spread of something • The company's hazardous waste containment plan is being reviewed. • trying to achieve cost containment [=trying to prevent costs from becoming too high]

2 : actions that are intended to keep an unfriendly government from getting more power • The government needs to adopt a containment strategy.

con-tam-i-nant /kən'tæmənənt/ noun, pl -nants [count] : something that makes a place or a substance (such as water, air, or food) no longer suitable for use : something that contaminates a place or substance • a water contaminant con-tam-i-nate /kən'tæməneɪt/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing [+ obj] : to make (something) dangerous, dirty, or impure by adding something harmful or undesirable to it • The water was contaminated [=polluted] with chemicals. • Be careful not to allow bacteria to contaminate the wound. • Don't touch the microchip or the oil on your hands will contaminate it. • Make sure the white paint is not contaminated by any of the other colors. — often used figuratively • The election process has been contaminated by corruption. • Racist ideas have contaminated their minds.

— contaminated adj [more ~; most ~] • contaminated food/water — con-tam-i-na-tion /kən'tæmə'neɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • contamination of the water by chemicals • Clean the wound and bandage it to prevent contamination.

cont'd see CONT.

con-tem-plate /'kɑːntəm,pleɪt/ verb -plates; -plat-ed; -plat-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to think deeply or carefully about (something) • I stopped to contemplate [=ponder] what might have happened. • He contemplated the meaning of the poem for a long time. • Life without them is too awful to contemplate. [=too awful to even think about] b [no obj] : to think deeply • I'd like some time to just sit and contemplate.

2 [+ obj] : to think about doing (something) : CONSIDER • She's contemplating moving to the city. = She's contemplating a move to the city. • They're contemplating marriage. [=they're thinking about getting married]

3 [+ obj] : to look carefully at (something) • She stood and contact lens

quietly contemplated the scene that lay before her.

con·tem·pla·tion /ˌkɑːntəmˈpleɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

1 : the act of thinking deeply about something • He made his decision after many hours of contemplation. [=thought, consideration] • contemplation of the meaning of life

2 : the act of looking carefully at something • He goes to the forest to spend time in contemplation of nature. • She was lost in quiet contemplation of the scene.

in contemplation formal : being thought about or considered • A lawsuit against the company is in contemplation.

con·tem·pla·tive /kənˈtɛmplətɪv, ˈkɑːntəmˈpleɪtɪv/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : involving, allowing, or causing deep thought • She's in a contemplative mood today. [=she is quiet and thoughtful today] • He has lived a quiet, contemplative life. • a contemplative book

2 : devoted to religious thought and prayer • She joined a contemplative order of nuns.

— con·tem·pla·tive·ly adv

con·tem·po·ra·ne·ous /kənˌtɛmpəˈreɪniəs/ adj, formal

: existing or happening during the same time period • the contemporaneous publication of the two articles • contemporaneous events in the past = events in the past that were contemporaneous with each other

— con·tem·po·ra·ne·ous·ly adv • The articles were published contemporaneously. [=at the same time]

con·tem·po·rary /kənˈtɛmpərəri, Brit kənˈtɛmpərəri/ adj

1 : happening or beginning now or in recent times • contemporary [=modern] jazz/poetry/art/furniture • The story is old, but it has importance to contemporary [=current] audiences.

2 : existing or happening in the same time period : from the same time period • The book is based on contemporary accounts of the war. [=accounts of the war that were written when the war was happening] contemporary noun, pl -rar-ies [count] : a person who lives at the same time or is about the same age as another person • He was a contemporary of George Washington. • She is politically very different from most of her contemporaries.

con·tempt /kənˈtɛmpt/ noun

1 : a feeling that someone or something is not worthy of any respect or approval [noncount] He feels that wealthy people view/regard him with contempt because he is poor. • He spoke with contempt in his voice. • She has contempt for them. = She holds them in contempt. [singular] She has displayed a profound contempt for her opponents.

2 : a lack of respect for or fear of something that is usually respected or feared [noncount] They have acted with contempt for public safety. [=they have completely ignored public safety] [singular] He has contempt for danger. [=he ignores danger; he is not afraid of doing things that other people are afraid to do]

3 [noncount] law : speech or behavior that does not show proper respect to a court or judge • She was arrested for contempt of court. • He was held in contempt [=considered by the court to have broken the law by disobeying or disrespecting the judge] for his outbursts during the trial.

beneath contempt : completely bad or worthless — used to describe someone or something that is too bad to deserve any respect • She's a liar who is beneath contempt.

familiarity breeds contempt see FAMILIARITY con·tempt·ible /kənˈtɛmptəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : not worthy of respect or approval : deserving contempt • a contemptible [=despicable] lie • I've never met a more selfish, contemptible person.

— con·tempt·ibly /kənˈtɛmptəbli/ adv • a contemptibly selfish person con·temp·tu·ous /kənˈtɛmptʃəwəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : feeling or showing deep hatred or disapproval : feeling or showing contempt • a contemptuous [=disdainful] attitude/smile/remark — often + of • Scholars were contemptuous [=scornful] of the theory until recent scientific developments proved it possible.

— con·temp·tu·ous·ly adv

con·tend /kənˈtend/ verb -tends; -tend-ed; -tend-ing

1 [+ obj] : to argue or state (something) in a strong and definite way • These people contend that they have earned the right to the land. • She contends [=maintains, asserts] the new law will only benefit the wealthy.

2 [no obj] : to compete with someone or for something • A number of groups are contending (with each other) for power in the new government. : to compete with a good chance of winning • The team is expected to contend for the championship this year.

contend with [phrasal verb] contend with (something) : to deal with (something difficult or unpleasant) • Customers should not have to contend with the problems caused by these delays. • He's had a lot to contend with recently. [=he's had many problems to deal with]

con·tend·er /kənˈtendə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who tries to win something in a contest; especially : a person who has a good chance of winning • There are several contestants, but only two real contenders. • the top/leading presidential contenders • This latest defeat means that she's no longer a contender for the world title.

con·tent /ˈkɑːnˌtent/ noun, pl -tents

1 contents [plural] : the things that are in something • He poured/dumped/emptied the contents of the package/box/drawer onto the floor. • The bedroom's contents have all been packed. • The brochure describes the contents of the museum. • a summary of the book's contents ♦ A table of contents is a list that is placed at the beginning of some books. It shows how the book is divided into sections and at which page each section begins. • The stories included in the book can be found in the table of contents.

2 [noncount] : the ideas, facts, or images that are in a book, article, speech, movie, etc. • In terms of content, the article is good, but it is written poorly. • a summary of the book's content • The children aren't allowed to watch movies with violent content. [=movies in which violent things happen] • Some of the program's content may offend certain viewers.

3 [noncount] : the amount of something that is in something else • This beer is low in alcohol content. [=does not have a lot of alcohol] • the fat/fiber content of food

— compare ⁴CONTENT

con·tent /kənˈtent/ adj, not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : pleased and satisfied : not needing more • The baby looks content in her crib. • A fancy hotel is not necessary; I'd be content with a warm meal and a clean place to sleep. • No, I don't want to play. I'm content to watch. • Not content to stay at home, she set off to see the world at the age of 16. • Polls show that voters are growing less and less content with the current administration.

con·tent /kənˈtent/ verb -tents; -tent-ed; -tent-ing [+ obj] formal : to make (someone) pleased and satisfied : to make (someone) content • The toys contented the children, at least for a little while.

content yourself with : to be satisfied with (something that is less than or different from what you really want) : to accept (something) as being enough • The rainy weather spoiled our plans for the beach, so we had to content ourselves with a relaxing day at home.

con·tent /kənˈtent/ noun [noncount] literary : a feeling of being pleased and satisfied : the state of being content • He'd finished his dinner and now there was a look of perfect content [= (more commonly) contentment] on his face.

to your heart's content see HEART

— compare ¹CONTENT

con·tent·ed /kənˈtɛntəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : happy and satisfied : showing or feeling contentment • a contented smile • He's a contented fellow. • She felt peaceful and contented.

— con·tent·ed·ly adv • smiled contentedly

con·ten·tion /kənˈtɛnʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : something (such as a belief, opinion, or idea) that is argued or stated • It is her contention [=she believes and says] that the new law will only benefit the wealthy. • Evidence supports the contention [=claim] that the island was uninhabited before the 18th century.

2 [noncount] : anger and disagreement • There has been too much contention [=discord] in this family in recent years. • The main point of contention [=the point that is being argued over] is who has the rights to the land. • That has been a source of contention for years. • an issue that is still in contention [=that is still being argued about; that has not yet been decided] ♦ A bone of contention is something that causes anger and disagreement. • The tariffs have been a bone of contention between the two nations.

3 [noncount] : a situation in which you have a chance to win something that you are trying to win • This latest defeat means that she's now out of contention for the world title. [=there is no longer a chance that she will win the world title] • He is in contention for the Olympic medal.

con·ten·tious /kənˈtɛnʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : likely to cause people to argue or disagree • I think it's wise to avoid such a highly contentious [=controversial] topic/issue at a dinner party. b : involving a lot of arguing • After a contentious debate, members of the committee finally voted to approve the funding. • They have a contentious relationship. [=they argue with each other a lot]

2 : likely or willing to argue • a contentious student • The dispute involves one of the region's most contentious leaders.

— con·ten·tious·ly adv — con·ten·tious·ness noun [noncount]

con·tent·ment /kən'tentmənt/ noun [noncount] : the state of being happy and satisfied : the state of being content • He believes that people can find peace and contentment in living simply. • There was a look of perfect contentment on her face. • a sigh of contentment

con·test /'kɑ:n,tɛst/ noun, pl -tests [count]

1 : an event in which people try to win by doing something better than others • a fiddle/fishing/singing contest [=competition] • He won the contest for best photograph. = He won the contest to see who could take the best photograph. • Contest winners receive a cash prize. • Will you enter the contest? — see also BEAUTY CONTEST, POPULARITY CONTEST

2 : a struggle or effort to win or get something • She hopes to win the contest for mayor. • the presidential contest • Democrats and Republicans are engaged in a contest for control of the House of Representatives.

no contest 1 informal — used to say that someone or something is much better than another or can easily defeat another • When you compare the old version of the movie with the new one, it's no contest. The old one is much better. • The last time I played him it was no contest. I won easily. 2 US, law : a statement in a court of law in which someone who has been charged with a crime does not admit guilt but also does not dispute or argue with the charge • He pleaded no contest to (the charge of) driving while intoxicated.

con·test /kən'tɛst/ verb -tests; -test-ed; -test-ing

1 [+ obj] : to make (something) the subject of an argument or a legal case : to say that you do not agree with or accept (something) • Several of the dead man's relatives are contesting [=disputing, challenging] his will (in court). • The losing candidate is contesting the results of the election. = (US) The losing candidate is contesting the election. • The rule is being contested by a number of students at the university. [=students are formally complaining about the rule]

2 [+ obj] : to try to win (something) • She plans to contest a seat in Congress next year. • Both candidates have agreed to another debate before this hotly/bitterly contested election.

3 [no obj] : to struggle or fight for or against something • contesting for power con·test·ant /kən'tɛstənt/ noun, pl -ants [count] : a person who takes part in a contest • The contestant who catches the most fish wins. • The winning contestants will receive a cash prize. • a game-show contestant

con·text /'kɑ:n,tɛkst/ noun, pl -texts [count]

1 : the words that are used with a certain word or phrase and that help to explain its meaning • To really know a word, you must be able to use it in context [=in a sentence with other words] ♦ If the words that someone has said are taken or quoted out of context, they are repeated without explaining the situation in which they were said so that their meaning is changed. • When taken out of context, his comments sound cruel, but he was really only joking. • The actor claimed he'd been quoted out of context.

2 : the situation in which something happens : the group of conditions that exist where and when something happens • We need to look at the event within the larger/broader context of world history. • The book puts these events in their proper historical and social contexts. • We need to consider these events in context

— con·tex·tu·al /kən'tɛkstʃəwəl/ adj • contextual information • To find the meaning of an unknown word you should look at the contextual clues provided by the words that are around it. — con·tex·tu·al·ly adv

con·tex·tu·al·ize also Brit con·tex·tu·al·ise /kən'tɛkstʃəwə,ləɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -izing [+ obj] formal : to think about or provide information about the situation in which something happens • When the rebellion is historically contextualized, it becomes clear that there were many factors contributing to it.

— con·tex·tu·al·i·za·tion also Brit con·tex·tu·al·i·sa·tion /kən'tɛkstʃəwələ'zeɪʃən, Brit kən'tɛkstʃuə,ləɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • historical contextualization con·tig·u·ous /kən'tɪgjuəs/ adj, formal — used to describe things that touch each other or are immediately next to each other • She's visited each of the 48 contiguous states in the U.S., but she hasn't been to Alaska or Hawaii yet. • the mountains contiguous to/with our border

— con·ti·gu·i·ty /,kɑ:ntə'gju:wəti/ noun [noncount] • the contiguity of the lands

con·ti·nent /'kɑ:ntənənt/ noun, pl -nents

1 [count] : one of the great divisions of land (such as North America, South America, Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, or Antarctica) of the Earth • the African continent = the continent of Africa

2 the Continent chiefly Brit : the countries of Europe except for Great Britain and Ireland • The book provides information on hotels in Britain and on the Continent.

con·ti·nent adj, medical : able to control your bladder and bowels • Most children are continent by age three. — opposite INCONTINENT

— con·ti·nence /'kɑ:ntənəns/ noun [noncount] • urinary continence

con·ti·nen·tal /,kɑ:ntə'nentl/ adj

1 : of, relating to, or located on a continent • continental glaciers [=glaciers that cover a large portion of a continent] • the continental U.S. [=the part of the U.S. that is on the North American continent; the states of the U.S. except for Hawaii]

2 Continental : of or relating to the countries of Europe except for Great Britain and Ireland • They will be touring Continental Europe. • differences between Britain and its Continental neighbors

3 : characteristic of Europe • The hotel combines American comfort with continental elegance.

continental noun, pl -tals [count] Brit, somewhat old-fashioned : a person from Continental Europe continental breakfast noun, pl ~ -fasts [count] : a light breakfast in a hotel, restaurant, etc., that usually includes baked goods, jam, fruit, and coffee — compare ENGLISH BREAKFAST continental drift noun [noncount] technical : the very slow movement of the continents on the surface of the Earth continental shelf noun, pl ~ shelves [count] technical : the part of a continent that lies under the ocean and slopes down to the ocean floor con·tin·gen·cy /kən'tɪndʒənsi/ noun, pl -cies [count] : something (such as an emergency) that might happen • In making our business plans, we tried to prepare for any contingency that might hurt sales. • a contingency plan [=a plan that can be followed if an original plan is not possible for some reason] • a contingency fund [=an amount of money that can be used to pay for problems that might happen]

contingency fee noun, pl ~ fees [count] US : a payment that you make to a lawyer only if the lawyer wins your case in court con·tin·gent /kən'tɪndʒənt/ adj, formal : depending on something else that might or might not happen — usually + on or upon • Our plans are contingent on the weather.

— con·tin·gent·ly adv

contingent noun, pl -gents [count]

1 : a group of people who go to a place together, do something together, or share some quality, interest, etc. • The group that makes up the largest contingent of voters in this area is the elderly. • A contingent of reporters waited in front of the court for the defendant to appear.

2 : a group of soldiers who come from a particular army and are working together with soldiers from other armies • A British contingent was sent to assist the security forces.

con·tin·u·al /kən'tɪnjuwəl/ adj

1 : happening without interruption : not stopping or ending • This week we experienced days of continual sunshine. • The country has been in a continual state of war since it began fighting for its independence.

2 : happening again and again within short periods of time • The continual interruptions by the student were annoying the teacher.

— con·tin·u·al·ly adv • He is continually experimenting with new recipes.

con·tin·u·ance /kən'tɪnjuwəns/ noun, pl -anc-es formal

1 [noncount] : the act of continuing for a long period of time • They are making efforts to promote the continuance [=continuation] of good relations between the two countries.

2 [noncount] : the period of time when something continues • No changes to the property are allowed during the continuance of the lease.

3 [count] US, law : a legal decision that a court case will continued at a later date • The lawyer asked the judge for a continuance.

con·tin·u·a·tion /kənˈtɪnjəˈweɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : something that starts where something else ends and adds to or continues the first part — usually + of • This book is a continuation of her first novel. [=it continues the story where the first novel ended] • The class is a continuation of the introductory class taught last semester. • The road was built as a continuation of the state highway.

2 [noncount] : the act of continuing or of causing something to continue — usually + of • His counselor felt the continuation of therapy would be worthwhile. [=felt that he should continue to receive therapy]

3 [count] : the act of beginning again after an interruption — usually singular; usually + of • The continuation of the meeting was postponed until the next day.

con·tin·ue /kənˈtɪnju/ verb -ues; -ued; -u·ing

1 a : to do something without stopping : to keep doing something in the same way as before [no obj] The team will continue with their drills until the coach is satisfied with their performance. [+ obj] Do you plan to continue working after the baby is born? = Do you plan to continue to work? • The world's population continues to grow. • I continue to believe [=I still believe] that we can win this election. b [no obj] : to stay in a job or position — + as • She has announced that she will continue as director [=stay in her job as the director] for another year.

2 [no obj] : to keep happening or existing : to remain active or in existence without changing or stopping • The traditions will continue only as long as the next generations keep them alive. • The good weather continued for several days. • The lecture continued for another hour after we left.

3 [no obj] a : to go or move ahead in the same direction • Exit the highway, take a right off the ramp, then continue down the street until you get to the first traffic light. • Continue along this path until you come to the end. • The boat continued downstream. b : to go onward : PROGRESS • The plot gets more and more intricate as the story continues.

4 : to start again after an interruption or pause : RESUME [no obj] The article continues in the second section of the newspaper. • The play continued after the intermission. • We will continue on our journey in the morning. = Our journey will continue in the morning. [+ obj] The board continued their meeting after a short break. • We will continue our journey in the morning. • When Mom left the room, we continued arguing. ♦ When the words to be continued appear at the end of something (such as a story or television program), it has not really ended and will continue again at a later time.

5 : to begin speaking again after an interruption or pause [no obj] The teacher continued only when all the students were sitting quietly in their seats. [+ obj] “I understand what you’re saying,” she continued, “but I’m not convinced your idea will work.”

— continuing adj • We are thankful for your continuing [=continued, ongoing] support. • I’m surprised by the film’s continuing popularity.

continued adj, always used before a noun : lasting or happening for a long time without interruption • Please accept our best wishes for your continued success. • The colors of the paint will fade with continued exposure to the sun.

continuing education noun [noncount] : classes taken by adult students usually in the evenings — called also continuing ed, adult education

con·ti·nu·i·ty /ˌkɑːntəˈnuːwəti, Brit ˌkɒntəˈnjuːəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the quality of something that does not stop or change as time passes : a continuous quality • The new owners have ensured the continuity of the company’s commitment to protecting the environment. [=have assured that the company’s commitment will continue] • The candidate attacked the incumbent for the lack of continuity [=consistency] in foreign policy under his presidency.

2 [count] formal : something that is the same or similar in two or more things and provides a connection between them • The art historian is studying the continuities between the painter’s works and those of her followers.

3 [noncount] : the arrangement of the parts in a story, movie, etc., in a way that is logical • There’s a problem with the movie’s continuity.

con·tin·u·ous /kənˈtɪnjuwəs/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : continuing without stopping : happening or existing without a break or interruption • The album is divided into different tracks, but it is really one continuous song. • The fan keeps a continuous [=uninterrupted] stream of fresh air flowing through the car. • a continuous line of traffic • The batteries provide enough power for up to five hours of continuous use.

2 grammar : PROGRESSIVE 4 • The phrases “am seeing,” “had been seeing,” and “is being seen” are all in continuous tenses.

— con·tin·u·ous·ly adv • The volcano has been erupting almost continuously since 1980.

con·tin·u·um /kənˈtɪnjuwəm/ noun, pl -ua /-juwə/ also -u·ums [count] formal : a range or series of things that are slightly different from each other and that exist between two different possibilities • His motives for volunteering lie somewhere on the continuum between charitable and self-serving. • a continuum of temperatures ranging from very cold to very hot con·tort /kənˈtɔət/ verb -torts; -tort·ed; -tort·ing : to twist into an unusual appearance or shape [no obj] His body contorted with/in pain. [+ obj] The boy contorted his body to squeeze through the gate. • Her face was contorted with/in rage/anger.

— contorted adj [more ~; most ~] • the fossil’s contorted limbs • We could not follow her contorted [=twisted, convoluted] reasoning/logic.

con·tor·tion /kənˈtɔəʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count]

1 : the act of twisting something into an unusual shape : the act of contorting something • The clown amused the children with funny facial contortions. • The gymnast performed amazing contortions (with her body). — sometimes used figuratively • His story was a blatant/obvious contortion [= (more commonly) distortion] of the truth.

2 : a difficult action • The baby’s mom went through the usual contortions to get him to eat.

con·tor·tion·ist /kənˈtɔəʃənɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a performer who twists his or her body into unusual positions con·tour /ˈkɑːnˌtuə/ noun, pl -tours [count] : the outline or outer edge of something • He loved the sleek/smooth/flowing contours of the car. • The map showed the contour of the coastline.

con·toured /ˈkɑːnˌtuəd/ adj

1 : shaped to fit the outline of something (such as the human body) • The car’s contoured seats were very comfortable. • a dress with a contoured waist

2 : having a smooth shape or outer edge • a nicely contoured vase • the contoured wing of the aircraft • the contoured hills of her native land con·tra·band /ˈkɑːntrəˌbænd/ noun [noncount] : things that are brought into or out of a country illegally • The border police searched the car for drugs and other contraband.

con·tra·bass /ˈkɑːntrəˌbeɪs/ noun, pl -bass·es [count] : DOUBLE BASS con·tra·cep·tion /ˌkɑːntrəˈsepʃən/ noun [noncount] : things that are done to prevent a woman from becoming pregnant : BIRTH CONTROL con·tra·cep·tive /ˌkɑːntrəˈseptɪv/ noun, pl -tives [count] : a drug or device (such as birth control pills or a condom) that is used to prevent a woman from becoming pregnant

— contraceptive adj, always used before a noun • a contraceptive device/method/pill

1 con·tract /ˈkɑːnˌtrækt/ noun, pl -tracts [count]

1 a : a legal agreement between people, companies, etc. • The contract requires him to finish work by the end of the year. • If he breaks the contract [=if he does not abide by the agreement], he will get sued. • The company won a multi-million-dollar contract to build a new courthouse. = The company was awarded a multi-million-dollar contract to build a new courthouse. • a marriage contract [=an agreement to marry someone] — often used before another noun • contract negotiations • contract law b : a document on which the words of a contract are written • I tore up the contract. • Have you signed the contract yet?

2 informal : an agreement to kill a person for money • His enemies put/took out a contract on him. [=paid someone to kill him] by contract : according to the terms stated in a contract : by a legal agreement • We are bound by contract to pay the full price.

under contract : required to provide something (such as work or a service) according to the terms stated in a contract • She is under contract with the TV station for three more years.

2 contract /kən'trækt/ verb -tracts; -tract-ed; -tract-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to make (something) smaller or shorter • She contracted her lips into a frown. • contract a muscle b [no obj] : to become smaller • The muscle expands and then contracts. • The hot metal contracted as it cooled.

2 [+ obj] somewhat formal : to become ill with (a disease) • He contracted [(more commonly) caught] a cold. • She contracted chicken pox. • They contracted malaria.

3 : to make an agreement by contract to work or to pay someone to work [no obj] The carpenter contracted (with them) to do the work on their house. [+ obj] We contracted [=hired] a lawyer.

4 /'kɑ:n, trækt/ [+ obj] formal : to agree to (a marriage, an alliance, etc.) formally • a legally contracted marriage • The company contracted an alliance with a former competitor.

contract out /'kɑ:n, trækt/ [phrasal verb] contract (something) out or contract out (something) : to agree by contract to pay someone to perform (a job) • The company contracted out its manufacturing jobs. [=the company paid another company to do its manufacturing jobs instead of doing them itself]

con-trac-tion /kən'trækʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the act or process of making something smaller or of becoming smaller • The hot metal undergoes contraction as it cools. • Two teams were eliminated in the contraction of the baseball league.

2 [count] medical : a movement of a muscle that causes it to become tight and that is sometimes painful; especially : a movement of muscles in the womb when a woman is giving birth to a child • She felt contractions every two minutes.

3 [count] : a short form of a word or word group that is made by leaving out a sound or letter • The word don't is a contraction of do not.

con-trac-tor /'kɑ:n, træktə/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a person who is hired to perform work or to provide goods at a certain price or within a certain time • They hired a contractor to remodel the kitchen. • a building contractor con-trac-tu-al /kən'træktʃəwəl/ adj : of or relating to the things that are required by a contract • They had to fulfill their contractual obligations/requirements before they could get paid.

— con-trac-tu-al-ly adv • The company is contractually obligated to pay the union.

con-tra-dict /,kɑ:ntrə'dikt/ verb -dicts; -dict-ed; -dict-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to say the opposite of (something that someone else has said) : to deny the truth of (something) • contradict a rumor • He contradicted the charges of his critics. b : to deny or disagree with what is being said by (someone) • My sister doesn't like being contradicted.

2 : to not agree with (something) in a way that shows or suggests that it is false, wrong, etc. • She has made statements that contradict each other. [=statements that do not agree and that cannot both be true] • The evidence contradicts his testimony. [=the evidence does not support or agree with his testimony] • The mayor's actions in office contradicted the promises he made during the campaign.

contradict yourself : to say or do something that is opposite or very different in meaning to something else that you said or did earlier • The witness contradicted herself when she insisted she could identify the thief even though she had said that the night was too foggy to see clearly.

con-tra-dic-tion /,kɑ:ntrə'dɪkʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : the act of saying something that is opposite or very different in meaning to something else [count] No one was surprised by the defendant's contradiction of the plaintiff's accusations. • Her rebuttal contained many contradictions to my arguments. [noncount] I think I can say without fear of contradiction [=I can say with absolute certainty] that this year has been very successful for our company.

2 : a difference or disagreement between two things which means that both cannot be true [count] There have been some contradictions in his statements. • There is a contradiction between what he said yesterday and what he said today. [noncount] Her statements are mired in contradiction. • What he said yesterday is in direct contradiction to what he said today.

contradiction in terms : a phrase that contains words which have very different or opposite meanings • I think "working vacation" is a contradiction in terms.

con-tra-dic-to-ry /,kɑ:ntrə'dɪktəri/ adj [more ~; most ~] : involving or having information that disagrees with other information : containing a contradiction • The witnesses gave contradictory accounts/statements/descriptions of the accident. [=they described the accident in ways that did not agree with each other] con-trail /'kɑ:n, treɪl/ noun, pl -trails [count] : a stream of water or ice particles created in the sky by an airplane or rocket con-tra-in-di-cat-ed /,kɑ:ntrə'ɪndə, kɛtəd/ adj, medical — used to say that something (such as a treatment, procedure, or activity) should not be done or used in a particular situation for medical reasons • Strenuous exercise is contraindicated for patients with severe heart conditions. [=patients who have severe heart conditions should not do strenuous exercise] • The drug is contraindicated in patients with certain allergies.

con-tra-in-di-ca-tion /,kɑ:ntrə'ɪndə'keɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] medical : something (such as a symptom or condition) that is a medical reason for not doing or using something (such as a treatment, procedure, or activity) • The article stated that diabetes was not a contraindication to breastfeeding. [=it stated that women who have diabetes can breastfeed]

con-tral-to /kən'træltə/ noun, pl -tos [count] : the lowest female singing voice — usually singular • a singer with a beautiful contralto; also : a female singer with such a voice • a duet performed by a soprano and a contralto con-trap-tion /kən'træpʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : a piece of equipment or machinery that is unusual or strange • The people wondered how the contraption worked.

con-trar-i-an /kən'treɪjən/ noun, pl -ans [count] : a person who takes an opposite or different position or attitude from other people • As an investor, he's a contrarian, preferring to buy stocks when most people are selling.

— contrarian adj [more ~; most ~] • a contrarian view/position/attitude con-trari-wise /'kɑ:n, treri, waɪz, kən'treɪ, waɪz/ adv, formal : in an opposite or very different way — used especially to introduce a statement that contrasts with a preceding statement • Her opponent has little knowledge of foreign policy. Contrariwise, she herself has many years of experience in this area.

1 con-trary /'kɑ:n, treri, Brit 'kɑ:ntrəri/ noun

on the contrary also quite the contrary — used to state that the opposite of what was said before is true • The test will not be easy; on the contrary, it will be very difficult. • The lecture was not boring. Quite the contrary, it was very informative and interesting.

the contrary : an opposite or different fact, event, or situation • He was sure his sister had made a mistake, but the contrary was true: she was right and he was wrong.

to the contrary : stating or proving the opposite of something • He was no fool, despite talk to the contrary. • Unless there is evidence to the contrary, we have to believe them.

2 con-trary /'kɑ:n, treri, Brit 'kɑ:ntrəri/ adj

1 : exactly opposite to something else : entirely different from something else • The sisters gave contrary answers: one said "yes" and one said "no." • We had contrary opinions/views on the issue.

2 : against or opposed to something • Without contrary evidence, the jury will find her guilty. — often + to • Going over the speed limit is contrary to traffic laws. [=it is illegal; it is against the law]

3 : not favorable or helpful • The boat sailed against a contrary wind. • Contrary weather impeded the rescue efforts.

4 /kən'treɪ/ : unwilling to obey or behave well • a contrary child contrary to : in a way or manner that is against (something) • Contrary to orders, he left the campsite. • Contrary to popular belief [=despite what many people believe], these animals are not really dangerous to humans.

— con-trar-i-ly /kən'treɪli/ adv • The child acted contrarily.

— con-trar-i-ness /kən'treɪnəs/ noun [noncount] • the child's contrariness

1 con-contrast /kən'træst, Brit kən'trɑ:st/ verb -trasts; -trast-ed; -trast-ing

1 [no obj] : to be different especially in a way that is very obvious • Her black dress and the white background contrast sharply. — often + with • Her black dress contrasts sharply with the white background. • Her actions contrasted with her promises.

2 [+ obj] : to compare (two people or things) to show how they are different • We compared and contrasted the two characters of the story. — often + with or to • His essay contrasted his life in America with/to life in India.

– contrasting adj [more ~; most ~] • He wore a dark suit with a necktie in a contrasting color. • contrasting opinions/views/ideas – con-contrast-ing-ly adv

2 con-contrast /'kɑ:n,træst, Brit 'kɒn,tra:st/ noun, pl -trasts

1 [count] : something that is different from another thing — + to • Today's weather is quite a contrast to yesterday's. [=today's weather is very different from yesterday's weather]

2 : a difference between people or things that are being compared [count] I observed an interesting contrast in/between the teaching styles of the two women. • We talked about the contrasts between his early books and his later books. [=the ways in which his early and later books are different] [non-count] His comments were in stark/marked/sharp contrast with/to his earlier statements. [=his comments were very different from his earlier statements]

3 [noncount] : the act of comparing people or things to show the differences between them • Careful contrast of the twins shows some differences. • In contrast to/with last year's profits, the company is not doing very well. • The queen's wit and humor made the prince seem dull by contrast. • They spent millions of dollars on advertising. By way of contrast, our small company spent under 5,000 dollars.

4 [noncount] : the difference between the dark and light parts of a painting or photograph • a painting with a lot of contrast • She was wearing a black dress, so the photographer suggested using a white background for contrast.

– contrasting adj [more ~; most ~] • They have very contrasting [=different] styles. – con-contrast-ive /kən'træstrɪv, Brit kən'trɑ:stɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal • contrastive styles con-contrast-vene /,kɑ:ntrə'vi:n/ verb -venes; -vened; -ven-ing [+ obj] formal : to fail to do what is required by (a law or rule) : VIOLATE • The overcrowded dance club contravened safety regulations.

– con-contrast-vention /,kɑ:ntrə'venfən/ noun, pl -tions [count] Plagiarism is a contravention of school policy. [noncount] He cut off trade with the country in contravention of their treaty. [=he cut off trade in a way that was not allowed by the treaty] con-contrast-temps /'kɑ:ntrə'tɑ:n/ noun, pl con-contrast-temps /'kɑ:ntrə'tɑ:nz/ [count] : an unfortunate or embarrassing event, argument, or disagreement • The senator dismissed his disagreement with the President as a minor contretemps.

con-contrast-ute /kən'trɪbjʊ:t/ verb -utes; -ut-ed; -ut-ing

1 : to give (something, such as money, goods, or time) to help a person, group, cause, or organization — usually + to or toward [+ obj] He contributed [=donated] 100 dollars to the charity. • The volunteers contributed their time towards cleaning up the city. • She contributed [=added] little to the discussion. [no obj] We're trying to raise money for a new school, and we're hoping that everyone will contribute. • He did not contribute to the project.

2 [no obj] : to help to cause something to happen • In order for the team to win, everyone has to contribute. — usually + to • Many players have contributed to the team's success. • Heavy drinking contributed to her death. [=heavy drinking helped to cause her death]

3 : to write (something, such as a story, poem, or essay) for a magazine [+ obj] He contributed many poems to the magazine. [no obj] Ten scientists contributed to the special edition of the journal.

– contributing adj • The coach's positive attitude was a contributing factor to/in the team's success. [=the coach's positive attitude was a reason for the team's success] • She has been a contributing writer/editor for the magazine for 10 years. – con-contrast-u-tor /kən'trɪbjətə/ noun, pl -tors [count] • She is a regular/frequent contributor to the magazine. • a list of contributors who have donated more than one thousand dollars

con-contrast-tribution /,kɑ:ntrə'bju:fən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : something that is contributed: such as a : something that is given to help a person, a cause, etc. • She made a 100-dollar contribution [=donation] to breast cancer research. • They thanked him for his contribution of time and money. • He made an important contribution to the debate. b : something that is done to cause something to happen • She's honored for her contributions [=efforts, work] towards finding a cure for AIDS. • As mayor, he made many positive contributions to the growth of the city. c : a piece of writing that is published as part of a larger work (such as a magazine, newspaper, or book) • a book of essays including contributions from several well-known political columnists

2 [count] : a regular payment that is made to an employer or government for something (such as health insurance or a pension)

3 [noncount] : the act of giving something : the act of contributing • The money was raised by voluntary contribution.

con-contrast-u-to-ry /kən'trɪbjə'tɔ:ri, Brit kən'trɪbjə'tri/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : helping to cause something • Car exhaust is a major contributory factor in air pollution. [=car exhaust is a major cause of air pollution]

2 : paid for by both the employee and employer • a contributory pension • contributory insurance con-contrast-trick noun, pl ~ tricks [count] Brit : ¹CON con-contrast-rite /'kɑ:n,traɪt, kən'traɪt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : feeling or showing regret for bad behavior • a contrite [=remorseful] criminal • a contrite apology

– con-contrast-rite-ly adv • “I should have been more careful,” he said contritely.

con-contrast-rit-ion /kən'trɪʃən/ noun [noncount] formal : the state of feeling sorry for bad behavior : the state of being contrite • Were her tears a true sign of contrition?

con-contrast-riv-ance /kən'traɪvəns/ noun, pl -anc-es

1 usually disapproving a [count] : something that causes things to happen in a story in a way that does not seem natural or believable • The story is filled with plot contrivances that do not fit the ending. b [noncount] : the use of contrivances in a story • He told the story honestly and without contrivance.

2 [count] : a machine or piece of equipment made with skill and cleverness • modern contrivances [=devices] to cook food faster • a clever contrivance

3 : a clever plan or trick [count] a contrivance to get out of doing the work [noncount] He convinced her to go without using contrivance.

con-contrast-rive /kən'traɪv/ verb -trives; -trived; -triv-ing [+ obj]

1 : to form or think of (a plan, method, etc.) • The prisoners contrived a way to escape.

2 : to form or make (something) in a skillful or clever way • Native Americans contrived [=designed] weapons out of stone, wood, and bone.

3 : to make (something) happen in a clever way or with difficulty • He contrived a meeting with the president. — often followed by to + verb • She contrived [=managed] to make it to the airport in time.

contrived adj [more ~; most ~] : having an unnatural or false appearance or quality • The movie's contrived ending was a big disappointment. • The results of the test seemed somewhat contrived.

1 con-trol /kən'trɒl/ verb -trols; -trolled; -trol-ling [+ obj]

1 : to direct the behavior of (a person or animal) : to cause (a person or animal) to do what you want • The parents could not control their child. • The police controlled the crowd. • The small boy could not control the big dog.

2 : to have power over (something) • Her family controls the business. • One country controls the whole island. • The rebel army now controls nearly half the country.

3 a : to direct the actions or function of (something) : to cause (something) to act or function in a certain way • The lights on stage are controlled by this computer. • She struggled to control the cart as it rolled before her down the steep, bumpy road. b : to set or adjust the amount, degree, or rate of (something) • He controlled the volume by turning the radio's knob. • A thermostat controls the room's temperature. • The dam controls the flow of the river.

4 : to limit the amount or growth of (something) • The farmer used insecticides to control the pests. • The state allowed hunting in the area to control the deer population. • The government made new laws to control pollution. • The firefighters worked all night to control the fire.

5 a : to keep (emotions, desires, etc.) from becoming too strong or from being shown • Please control your temper. [=keep yourself calm] • He tried hard to control his laughter. [=to avoid laughing] • I was hungry, but I controlled my appetite [=I resisted the desire to eat] and waited for dinner. b : to keep or make (yourself) calm especially when you are angry, upset, or excited • He couldn't control himself any longer.

– con-trol-la-ble /kən'trɒləbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • The temperature of the room is controllable. • The lighter drill was more controllable than the heavier one.

2 control noun, pl -trols

1 [noncount] : the power to make decisions about how something is managed or done • The city wanted local control of education. • The troops had no control [=choice] over where they would be stationed. • The tribes fought for control over the territory. • He took control of the family farm. • She hired an accountant to take control of her money. • Two-thirds of the market is in the control of three companies. [=is controlled by three companies] • He always wants to be in control. [=he wants to be the one who makes decisions] • The team is under the control of a new coach. [=a new coach is in charge of the team; the team has a new coach] • The weather is not in/under our control. = The weather is beyond our control. [=we cannot control the weather]

2 [noncount] : the ability to direct the actions of someone or something • He lost all muscle control in his left arm. • She no longer has control of her (mental) faculties. [=she is no longer able to think clearly or make rational decisions] • The soccer player showed good control of the ball. • a teacher with good control of her students • The driver lost control (of the car) and hit a tree. ✧ If you lose control or lose control of yourself, you become very angry, upset, or excited. • He lost control of himself and yelled at his students. ✧ If people or things are out of control, they cannot be handled or managed with success. • The car went out of control and crashed. • The child was out of control. She ran around the store screaming. • The campfire got out of control and started a forest fire. • The situation got out of control, and a fight started.

3 : an action, method, or law that limits the amount or growth of something [count] The farmer used an organic pest control on his crops. • To cut down on competition, the government passed price controls on prescription drugs. • The President wants stricter controls on immigration. [noncount] The two nations talked about arms control. [=control of the amount of weapons a country has] • population control — see also BIOLOGICAL CONTROL, BIRTH CONTROL, GUN CONTROL, QUALITY CONTROL, RENT CONTROL, damage control at ¹DAMAGE

4 [count] : a device or piece of equipment used to operate a machine, vehicle, or system • the volume control on a television • the controls of the aircraft • a car with manual controls • a control panel ✧ If you are at the controls, you are controlling a vehicle. • The copilot was at the controls when the plane landed. — see also REMOTE CONTROL

5 [singular] : the group of people who direct or control something (such as the flight of an aircraft) • pilots communicating with air traffic control • a control tower/room — see also MISSION CONTROL

6 [count] : a person, thing, or group that is not treated with something that is being tested in an experiment in order to allow comparison with a treated person, thing, or group • The effects of the drug were clear when the test group was compared with the control group.

in control 1 : having control of something • She will still be in control of the sales department. • He managed to stay in control of his emotions. 2 : not overly upset or excited : calm and able to think and act in a sensible way • In spite of the pressure to pass the test, he felt calm and in control. under control : able to be handled or managed with success : not out of control • She remained calm and kept the situation under control. • A year after the divorce, he finally got his life back under control. [=he finally regained control of his life] • The firefighters got the fire under control. • You need to get your drinking/gambling/anger under control. • Don't worry—I have everything under control.

control freak noun, pl ~ freaks [count] informal : a person who has a strong need to control people or how things are done • My boss is a real control freak.

con-trolled /kən'trould/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : not overly angry or emotional • Instead of arguing, they talked in a calm, controlled manner.

2 [more ~; most ~] : done or organized according to certain rules, instructions, or procedures • The test was done under controlled conditions. • The polar bears at the zoo live in a controlled environment.

3 — used to describe a drug that is illegal to have or use without permission from a doctor • a controlled drug/substance con-trol-ler /kən'troulə/ noun, pl -lers [count]

1 : a person who is in charge of the money received and paid out by a business or college

2 : a person who directs the action of something • an air traffic controller

3 : a device or piece of equipment used to operate a machine, vehicle, or system • a volume controller controlling adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having a need to control other people's behavior • a controlling parent • She is very strict and controlling.

2 a : having the power to control how something is managed or done • The larger bank remained the controlling party when it took over the smaller banks. • controlling shareholders b : giving someone the power to control how something is managed or done • He paid over 40 million dollars for a controlling interest/share in the company.

con-tro-ver-sial /,kɑ:ntrə'vəʃəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : relating to or causing much discussion, disagreement, or argument : likely to produce controversy • Abortion is a highly controversial subject/issue/topic. • a decision that remains controversial • He is a controversial author/director/figure.

— con-tro-ver-sial-ly adv

con-tro-ver-sy /'kɑ:ntrə'vəsi, Brit 'kɒntrə'vəsi, kən-'trɒvəsi/ noun, pl -sies : argument that involves many people who strongly disagree about something : strong disagreement about something among a large group of people [noncount] The decision aroused/created much controversy among the students. • The new movie is a subject/topic of controversy. • There is controversy surrounding the team's decision to trade the star pitcher. • The controversy is over whether he should be fired or not. [count] A controversy arose over the new law.

con-tro-vert /'kɑ:ntrə'vət/ verb -verts; -vert-ed; -vert-ing [+ obj] formal : to say or prove that (something) is untrue • The attorney offered evidence that controverted the plaintiff's allegations.

con-tus-ion /kən'tu:ʒən, Brit kən'tju:ʒən/ noun, pl -ions [count] medical : an injury that usually does not break the skin : BRUISE • He suffered multiple contusions of the leg.

co-nun-drum /kə'nʌndrəm/ noun, pl -drums [count] : a confusing or difficult problem • He is faced with the conundrum [=dilemma] of trying to find a job without experience. • an ethical conundrum

con-ur-ba-tion /,kɑ:nə'beɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] chiefly Brit : a large area consisting of cities or towns that have grown so that there is very little room between them • a conurbation of cities along the river con-va-lesce /,kɑ:nvə'les/ verb -lesc-es; -lesc-ed; -lesc-ing [no obj] : to become healthy and strong again slowly over time after illness, weakness, or injury • She spent two months convalescing [=recuperating, recovering] at home after her surgery. • He is convalescing from his leg injuries.

con-va-les-cence /,kɑ:nvə'lesns/ noun : the process or period of becoming well again after an illness or injury [singular] a prolonged convalescence • We visited her during her convalescence from surgery. [noncount] a period of convalescence

con-va-les-cent /,kɑ:nvə'lesnt/ adj

1 : going through the process of becoming well again after an illness or injury • the convalescent stage of his treatment • The nurse tended to the convalescent patients/soldiers.

2 : used for patients who are becoming well again after an illness or injury • He spent six months recuperating in a convalescent home/hospital. • a convalescent ward — convalescent noun, pl -cents [count] • The nurse took care of the convalescents.

con-vec-tion /kən'vekʃən/ noun [noncount] technical : movement in a gas or liquid in which the warmer parts move up and the colder parts move down • convection currents; also : the transfer of heat by this movement • foods cooked by convection

convection oven noun, pl ~ -ens [count] : an oven with a fan that moves hot air around so that food cooks evenly con-vene /kən'vi:n/ verb -venes; -ven-ed; -ven-ing : to come together in a group for a meeting [no obj] The students convened [=assembled] in the gym. • We convened at the hotel for a seminar. • This class convenes twice a week. [+ obj] convene a meeting • A panel of investigators was convened by the president to review the case.

con-ve-nience /kən'vi:njəns/ noun, pl -nienc-es

1 [noncount] : a quality or situation that makes something easy or useful for someone by reducing the amount of work or time required to do something • An elevator was available for the shoppers' convenience. • I enjoy the convenience of living near a post office. • For your convenience, we have added a feature that allows you to pay your bills over the Internet. — opposite INCONVENIENCE; see also MARRIAGE OF CONVENIENCE

2 [noncount] : a time that is appropriate for doing something or that is suitable for someone • I'll be happy to meet with you at your convenience. [=at a time that is convenient for you; at a time that will not cause you too much trouble or effort] • Please come to my office at your earliest convenience.
3 [count] : something (such as a device) that makes you more comfortable or allows you to do things more easily • Our hotel room was equipped with all the modern conveniences. • They enjoyed the conveniences of flying first class.

2 convenience adj, always used before a noun : designed for quick and easy preparation • Frozen pizza is a popular convenience food. • convenience snacks convenience store noun, pl ~ stores [count] chiefly US : a small store that is open for many hours of the day

con-ve-nient /kən'vi:njənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : allowing you to do something easily or without trouble • When is a convenient time for you to meet? • The controls are located in a convenient spot on the dashboard. • It might be more convenient to use a calculator, rather than adding the numbers yourself. • a convenient method/way/means of cleaning windows — opposite INCONVENIENT

2 : located in a place that is nearby and easy to get to • a convenient drugstore • Schools, churches, and stores are all convenient from here.

3 : giving you a reason to do something that you want to do • The power failure was a convenient excuse to leave work early. • The economic recession gave lawmakers a convenient pretext for passing the bill.

— con-ve-nient-ly adv • Several restaurants are conveniently located nearby.

con-vent /'kɑ:nvənt/ noun, pl -vents [count] : a group of nuns who live together • She joined a convent; also : the house or buildings they live in — compare MONASTERY

con-ven-tion /kən'venfən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a large meeting of people who come to a place for usually several days to talk about their shared work or other interests or to make decisions as a group • We go to the weeklong annual teachers' convention every summer. • He bought some new books at the science fiction convention. • a constitutional convention [=a meeting in which political leaders create a constitution] • The Democratic National Convention will meet next week to announce their party's candidate for president. • The conference was held at the new convention center. [=a building or set of buildings designed to hold many people and meetings]

2 : a custom or a way of acting or doing things that is widely accepted and followed [count] It's important to follow the conventions of punctuation in a paper for school. • They say school is just as important for teaching children social codes and conventions as for teaching math. • Many sports shows have recently adopted the conventions of the talk show. [noncount] a poet who rebels against literary convention • The award that by convention should have gone to the student with the highest grade went instead to the teacher's favorite. • a director who has always defied convention [=done unexpected or unusual things] in his movies • As a matter of convention, the oldest members speak first.

3 [count] : a traditional or common style often used in literature, theater, or art to create a particular effect • artistic conventions • The director's use of the usual romantic conventions made the film boring and predictable. • His latest novel uses the conventions of early 19th-century literature.

4 [count] formal : a formal agreement between two groups (such as countries or political organizations) • an international convention banning the spread of nuclear weapons • the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea

con-ven-tion-al /kən'venfənəl/ adj

1 always used before a noun a : used and accepted by most people : usual or traditional • The number sign is the conventional symbol for labeling something measured in pounds. • Today, many patients seek healing through both alternative medicine and conventional medicine. [=the usual methods of healing or treating disease that are taught in Western medical schools] b : of a kind that has been around for a long time and is considered to be usual or typical • While microwaves heat up food more quickly, most food tastes better when it is cooked in a conventional oven.

2 [more ~; most ~] : common and ordinary : not unusual • Most of her books are conventional detective stories. • His views on dating are more conventional than those of some of his friends.

3 always used before a noun : not nuclear • conventional weapons • conventional forces/warfare/war

— con-ven-tion-al-i-ty /kən'venfə'næləti/ noun [noncount] • The conventionality of his views on economics surprised us. — con-ven-tion-al-ly adv • He's not conventionally attractive, but he has an interesting face that is not at all unpleasant to look at.

conventional wisdom noun [noncount] : opinions or beliefs that are held or accepted by most people • Conventional wisdom in Hollywood says that a movie can't succeed unless it stars a famous actor or actress.

con-ven-tion-er /kən'venfə'niə/ noun, pl -eers [count] US : a person who goes to a convention (sense 1)

con-verge /kən'vəɹdʒ/ verb -verg-es; -verged; -verg-ing [no obj]

1 : to move toward one point and join together : to come together and meet • The two roads converge in the center of town. — opposite DIVERGE

2 : to meet or come together to form a crowd or group • Students converged in the parking lot to say goodbye after graduation. — often + on • Six police cars converged on the accident scene. • Reporters from five different news sources converged on her after the game.

3 : to come together and have one interest, purpose, or goal • Economic forces converged to bring the country out of a recession. • Many companies are combining rapidly converging communication technology into one device that can act as a phone, take photographs, and send e-mail.

— con-ver-gence /kən'vəɹdʒəns/ noun [noncount] • The convergence of political corruption and religious oppression led to civil war. — con-ver-gent /kən'vəɹdʒənt/ adj • convergent lines • The meeting focused on the companies' convergent interests.

con-ver-sant /kən'vəsənt/ adj, not used before a noun [more ~; most ~]

1 formal — used to say that someone knows about something or has experience with it; + with • He is (thoroughly) conversant with the facts of the case. • They're conversant with the issues.

2 US : able to talk in a foreign language • She's conversant in several languages.

con-ver-sa-tion /,kɑ:nvə'seɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : an informal talk involving two people or a small group of people : the act of talking in an informal way [count] a casual/telephone/private conversation • He mentioned it during (the course of) our conversation. • Do you remember our conversation about that new movie? • The conversation turned to music. = Music became the topic of the conversation. • We got into a long conversation about his behavior. • I had a nice conversation [=less formally] chat with your mother. • They were engaged in a lengthy conversation about politics. • It was so noisy that we could hardly carry on a conversation. [=talk] • a perfect spot to hold a quiet conversation [=talk] • She often strikes up conversations with strangers. [=she often talks to strangers] [noncount] The topic came up in conversation. • They were so deep in conversation that they barely noticed me. • He kept trying to engage me in conversation. • She's skilled in the art of conversation. • an interesting topic of conversation • "Where are you from?" he asked, trying to make conversation. [=start a conversation]

2 [count] : something that is similar to a spoken conversation • We had a conversation by e-mail.

con-ver-sa-tion-al /,kɑ:nvə'seɪʃənəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : relating to or suggesting informal talk : relating to or suggesting conversation • conversational skills • The article is written in a conversational [=informal] style/tone. • The class was in conversational French. [=the informal French that is used when people talk to each other] — con-ver-sa-tion-al-ly adv

con-ver-sa-tion-al-ist /,kɑ:nvə'seɪʃənəlɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a person who likes or is good at conversation • a good/lively/witty conversationalist • She's not much of a conversationalist.

conversation piece noun, pl ~ pieces [count] : something new or unusual that gives people a subject to talk about • The exotic plant in our living room is a conversation piece that guests always ask about.

1 con-verse /kən'vəs/ verb -vers-es; -versed; -vers-ing [no obj] formal : to talk usually informally with someone : to have a conversation • They conversed quietly in the corner of the room. • At home we often converse in Spanish. — often + with • He knows enough German to converse with the locals.

²con·verse /'kɑ:n,vəs/ noun

the converse formal : something that is the opposite of something else • They need our help, but the converse is also true: we need their help as well.

³con·verse /kən'vəs, 'kɑ:n,vəs/ adj, formal : opposite or reverse • One must also consider the converse case/problem. • a converse effect con·verse·ly adv, formal : in a way that is the opposite of something else • Large objects appear to be closer. Conversely, small objects seem farther away.

con·ver·sion /kən'vɜ:ʒən, Brit kən'və:ʃən/ noun, pl -sions

1 a : the act or process of changing from one form, state, etc., to another — often + to or into [count] The company is undergoing a conversion to a new computer system. [non-count] They have suggested conversion of the old school into apartments. • Conversion to gas heating will continue over the next few years. b : the act or process of changing from one religion, belief, political party, etc., to another — often + to [count] a conversion from Catholicism to Judaism [non-count] He is thinking about conversion to Buddhism.

2 [count] a : a successful attempt at scoring extra points in rugby or American football • a 2-point conversion b American football : a successful attempt to move the ball forward 10 yards • a third-down conversion

¹con·vert /kən'vɜ:t/ verb -verts; -vert-ed; -vert-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to change (something) into a different form or so that it can be used in a different way — usually + to or into • The cells absorb light and convert it to energy. • How do you convert pounds to grams? • I need to convert my pesos back into dollars. [=I need to exchange my pesos for dollars] • We converted the attic into a bedroom. b [no obj] : to change to a different system, method, etc. — usually + to • The factory converted to newer machinery. c [no obj] : to change from one form or use to another — usually + to or into • The sofa converts easily into a bed.

2 a [no obj] : to change from one religion, belief, political party, etc., to another — often + to • He converted to Islam. b [+ obj] : to persuade (someone) to change from one religion, belief, political party, etc., to another — often + to • The missionaries converted the native people to Christianity. • They tried to convert us to their way of thinking. — see also preach to the converted at PREACH

3 a : to score extra points after a goal or touchdown in rugby or American football [no obj] They tried for two points but could not convert. [+ obj] (rugby) They failed to convert the try. b : to use (an opportunity, such as an opportunity to score points) successfully [+ obj] They had many chances to score but they couldn't convert their opportunities. [no obj] They had chances to score but couldn't convert.

²con·vert /'kɑ:n,vɜ:t/ noun, pl -verts [count] : a person who has changed to a different religion, belief, political party, etc. • a religious convert • I didn't think I'd like paying my bills online, but now I'm a convert.

con·vert·er also con·vert·or /kən'vɜ:tə/ noun, pl -ers also -ors [count] technical : a piece of equipment that changes something (such as radio signals, radio frequencies, or data) from one form to another — see also CATALYTIC CONVERTER

¹con·vert·ible /kən'vɜ:təbəl/ adj : able to be changed into another form • a convertible sofa [=a sofa that converts into a bed] • a convertible currency • The bonds are convertible into stock.

— con·vert·ibil·i·ty /kən,vɜ:tə'bɪləti/ noun [noncount]

²convertible noun, pl -ibles [count] : a car with a roof that can be lowered or removed — see picture at CAR; compare HARDTOP con·vex /kən'veks, 'kɑ:n,vɛks/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having a shape like the outside of a bowl : curving outward • a convex lens/mirror — opposite CONCAVE con·vex·i·ty /kən'veksəti/ noun, pl -ties technical

1 [noncount] : the quality or state of being curved outward : the quality or state of being convex • the convexity of the lens

2 [count] : a shape that is curved outward : a convex shape • the convexities along the surface

con·vey /kən'vei/ verb -veys; -veyed; -vey-ing [+ obj]

1 formal : to take or carry (someone or something) from one place to another : TRANSPORT • The singer was conveyed from her hotel to the airport by limousine. • They conveyed the goods by ship. • The pipes convey water to the fields.

2 : to make (something) known to someone • Words convey [=communicate] meaning. • Mere words could not convey his joy. [=he could not express his joy in words] • The painting conveys [=expresses] a sense/feeling of motion. • Her appearance conveys self-confidence. • The message conveyed a sense of urgency.

3 law : to change the ownership of (property) from one person to another • He conveyed the estate to his son.

con·vey·ance /kən'vejəns/ noun, pl -anc-es formal

1 [noncount] : the act of taking or carrying someone or something from one place to another • the conveyance of goods/passengers

2 [count] : something that carries people or things from one place to another : VEHICLE • public conveyances

3 [noncount] : the act of making something known to someone • the conveyance of meaning

4 [count] law : a legal document that changes the ownership of property from one person to another con·vey·anc·ing /kən'vejənsɪŋ/ noun [noncount] chiefly Brit, law : the act or business of preparing deeds, leases, or other documents to change the ownership of property from one person to another con·vey·or also con·vey·er /kən'vejə/ noun, pl -ors also -ers [count] : someone or something that conveys something: such as a : a long strip of material (such as canvas or rubber, etc., that moves continuously and carries objects (such as packages or luggage) from one place to another — called also conveyor belt b formal : someone who makes something known to someone else • the conveyor of good news

¹con·vict /kən'vɪkt/ verb -victs; -vict-ed; -vict-ing law : to prove that someone is guilty of a crime in a court of law [no obj] There is sufficient evidence to convict. [+ obj] He was convicted in federal court. • The jury convicted them on three counts of fraud. • Have you ever been convicted of a crime? • a convicted criminal — compare ACQUIT

²con·vict /'kɑ:n,vɪkt/ noun, pl -victs [count] : a person who has been found guilty of a crime and sent to prison : PRISONER • an escaped convict

con·vic·tion /kən'vɪkʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 law : the act of proving that a person is guilty of a crime in a court of law [noncount] She hopes to avoid conviction. [count] In light of the evidence, a conviction seems certain. • He has three prior/previous drunk-driving convictions. • Convictions for shoplifting have made it difficult for her to get a job.

2 a [count] : a strong belief or opinion • religious convictions • a person of deep convictions • They share my strong/firm conviction that the policy is misguided. b [noncount] : the feeling of being sure that what you believe or say is true • She spoke with conviction. • His words lacked conviction.

con·vince /kən'vɪns/ verb -vinc-es; -vinced; -vinc-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause (someone) to believe that something is true • He convinced me that the story was true. • They convinced us of their innocence. • I managed to convince myself that I was doing the right thing.

2 : to cause (someone) to agree to do something : PERSUADE • We convinced them to go along with our scheme. • I was unable to convince her to stay.

convinced adj [more ~; most ~]

1 not used before a noun : completely certain or sure about something • I was never fully convinced of his innocence. [=I always believed that he might be guilty] • You still don't sound convinced. • She's still convinced that we're wrong. — opposite UNCONVINCED

2 always used before a noun : believing strongly in something • a convinced Christian convincing adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : causing someone to believe that something is true or certain • Your argument/story isn't very convincing. • They make a convincing case for reform. • There is no convincing evidence to support his theory. — opposite UNCONVINCING

2 of a victory : easily achieved : clearly showing that one person or team is better than the other • a convincing [=decisive] victory/win

— con·vinc·ing·ly adv • She argued convincingly [=persuasively] that more money should be given to public schools. • They won convincingly.

con·viv·i·al /kən'vɪvɪjəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : of or relating to social events where people can eat, drink, and talk in a friendly way with others • a convivial [=lively] atmosphere • a convivial gathering • a convivial [=cheerful, friendly] host

— con·viv·i·al·i·ty /kənˌvɪvɪˈæləti/ noun [noncount] • an atmosphere of conviviality

con·vo·ca·tion /ˌkɑːnvəˈkeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions formal

1 [count] a : a large formal meeting of people (such as church officials) b US : a meeting of the members of a college or university to observe a particular ceremony (such as the beginning of the school year or the announcing of awards and honors) — often used before another noun • a convocation center • a convocation address/ceremony

2 [noncount] : the act of calling a group of people to a formal meeting • They called for the immediate convocation of the council.

con·voke /kənˈvəʊk/ verb -vokes; -voked; -vok·ing [+obj] formal : to call a group of people to a formal meeting or convocation • The assembly was convoked for a special session. • They convoked a meeting of the delegates.

con·vo·lut·ed /ˈkɑːnvəˌluːtəd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : very complicated and difficult to understand • convoluted logic • a convoluted plot • The argument was so convoluted [=intricate, involved] that most people missed the point.

2 formal : having many twists and curves • a convoluted structure

con·vo·lu·tion /ˌkɑːnvəˈluːʃən/ noun, pl -tions formal

1 : something that is very complicated and difficult to understand [count] I found it hard to follow the convolutions of the book's plot. [noncount] a plot full of convolution and confusion

2 [count] : a twist or curve — usually plural • the convolutions of the road

con·voy /ˈkɑːnˌvɔɪ/ noun, pl -voys : a group of vehicles or ships that are traveling together usually for protection [count] a military convoy • a long convoy of trucks • The President always travels in a convoy. • The United Nations is sending an aid/relief convoy. [=a group of vehicles carrying food and supplies] [noncount] The ships were sailing in convoy. [=together in a line]

con·voy verb [+obj] formal : to travel with and protect (someone or something) • The tankers were convoyed by warships. • Police and FBI agents convoyed the President to the White House.

con·vulse /kənˈvʌls/ verb -vuls·es; -vulsed; -vuls·ing

1 a [no obj] medical : to have an experience in which the muscles in your body shake in a sudden violent way that you are not able to control : to experience convulsions • The patient reacted to the medication and began convulsing. b — used when something (such as laughter) causes a person's whole body to shake [no obj] The audience convulsed [=shook] with/in laughter. [+obj] — usually used as (be) convulsed • The audience was convulsed with/by laughter.

2 [+obj] formal : to affect (someone or something) suddenly and violently • The country was convulsed by war. • Riots convulsed the nation.

con·vul·sion /kənˈvʌlʃən/ noun, pl -sions [count]

1 a medical : a sudden violent shaking of the muscles in your body that you are unable to control — usually plural • The patient suffers from convulsions. • He suddenly went into convulsions. b : a sudden experience of something (such as laughter) that shakes or moves your body — usually plural • The joke sent the audience into convulsions of laughter.

2 : a sudden change or disturbance that affects a country, organization, etc. — usually plural • an era of political convulsions [=upheavals] • The controversial exhibit caused convulsions in the artistic community.

con·vul·sive /kənˈvʌlsɪv/ adj

1 : involving or causing a sudden violent shaking of the muscles in your body that you are unable to control • a convulsive seizure/attack • a convulsive disorder

2 : causing the entire body to shake • convulsive laughter

— con·vul·sive·ly adv • His body shook convulsively. • They laughed convulsively.

coo /ˈkuː/ verb coos; cooed; coo·ing

1 [no obj] : to make the soft sound of a dove or pigeon; also : to make a similar sound • The baby cooed quietly in her crib. • The baby was making a cooing sound.

2 : to talk in a soft, quiet, and loving way [no obj] They all cooed over the baby pictures. [+obj] “Oh, how sweet,” she cooed.

— coo noun, pl coos [count] • We listened to the coos of the pigeons.

1 cook /ˈkʊk/ noun, pl cooks [count] : someone who prepares and cooks food for eating at home, in a restaurant, etc. • He's a good cook. [=he cooks well]

2 cook verb cooks; cooked; cook·ing

1 : to prepare (food) for eating especially by using heat [+obj] Cook the onions over low/medium/high heat. • She cooked a great meal. • I'll cook dinner tonight. • The fish was cooked in a white wine sauce. • Carrots can be cooked, but they are often eaten raw. • a cooked chicken • Are the potatoes cooked through? [=done] = Are the potatoes fully/thoroughly cooked? [no obj] We're too busy to cook at home. • He enjoys cooking on the weekends.

2 [no obj] : to go through the process of being cooked • The rice is still cooking, but it will be ready in 10 minutes.

3 [no obj] informal : to happen or take place • What's cooking? • There's something cooking, but he won't say what.

be cooking informal : to be performing or doing something well • The economy is really cooking. • That's it! Now you're cooking!

cook someone's goose informal : to make it certain that someone will fail, lose, etc. • They were already trailing, and that last goal really cooked their goose. • Their goose was cooked after that last goal.

cook the books informal : to dishonestly change official records of how much money was spent and received • They cooked the books to drive up the company's stock prices.

cook up [phrasal verb] cook up (something) or cook (something) up 1 : to prepare (food) for eating especially quickly • I can cook up some hamburgers. 2 : to invent (something, such as an idea, excuse, etc.) to deal with a particular situation • They cooked up [=devised, hatched] a scheme to fool their neighbor. • You'll have to cook an excuse up quickly.

cook·book /ˈkʊkˌbʊk/ noun, pl -books [count] chiefly US : a book of recipes : a book of directions explaining how to prepare and cook various kinds of food — called also (Brit) cookery book; see picture at KITCHEN

cook·er /ˈkʊkə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 US : a piece of equipment that is used to cook food • a slow cooker [=an electric pot that slowly cooks food] • a rice cooker [=an electric pot that is used for cooking rice] • a spasta cooker [=a pot that is used for cooking pasta on a stove] — see also PRESSURE COOKER

2 Brit : a large piece of kitchen equipment that consists of an oven and a stove • a gas cooker [= (US) range]

cook·ery /ˈkʊkəri/ noun [noncount] : the art or activity of cooking food • Mexican cookery [=cooking, cuisine] • the basics of fish cookery

cookery book noun, pl ~ books [count] Brit : COOKBOOK

cook·ie /ˈkʊki/ noun, pl -ies [count]

1 chiefly US : a sweet baked food that is usually small, flat, and round and is made from flour and sugar • This recipe makes about two dozen cookies. • She put a batch of cookies into the oven. • chocolate chip cookies — often used before another noun • a cookie jar • cookie dough — see picture at BAKING; see also FORTUNE COOKIE

2 informal : PERSON • Don't worry about her—she's a tough cookie. • You are one smart cookie.

3 computers : a file that may be added to your computer when you visit a Web site and that contains information about you (such as an identification code or a record of the Web pages you have visited)

that's the way the cookie crumbles informal — used when something bad has happened to say that you must accept things the way they are • I'm disappointed that I didn't get the job but that's the way the cookie crumbles. [=that's how it goes] cookie cutter noun, pl ~ -ters [count] chiefly US : a metal or plastic object that is pressed into the dough that is used to make cookies to give them a certain shape cookie-cutter adj, US, disapproving : very similar to other things of the same kind : not original or different • a neighborhood of cookie-cutter houses • Opponents accused the candidate of taking a cookie-cutter approach to the problem. [=of not coming up with new ideas to deal with the problem]

cookie sheet noun, pl ~ sheets [count] chiefly US : BAKING SHEET

1 cooking noun [noncount]

1 : the act of preparing and cooking food • I do most of the cooking in our house.

2 : food that is cooked • Don't you like my cooking? • a spice used in Indian cooking [=cuisine] • delicious home cooking [=food cooked at home]

²cooking adj., always used before a noun : suitable for or used in cooking : involving or having to do with cooking • Cooking time is about 20 minutes. • cooking techniques/methods • cooking oil • I've been taking cooking classes.

cook-off /'kuk,ɑ:f/ noun, pl -offs [count] US : a competition in cooking

cook-out /'kuk,aut/ noun, pl -outs [count] US : a meal or party at which food is cooked and served outdoors • a backyard cookout

cook-stove /'kuk,stouv/ noun, pl -stoves [count] US : a usually old-fashioned stove that burns wood and can be used for cooking; also : a small stove that is used to cook food outdoors

cook-top /'kuk,tɑ:p/ noun, pl -tops [count] US : a flat piece of equipment for cooking that is built into a kitchen countertop and that usually has four devices (called burners) that become hot when turned on — compare STOVETOP

cook-ware /'kuk,weə/ noun [noncount] : the pots, pans, etc., that are used in cooking • a set of cookware • stainless steel cookware

¹cool /'ku:l/ adj cool-er; cool-est

¹ [or more ~; most ~] : somewhat cold : not warm or hot • a cool breeze • The weather is cool today. • The surface is cool to the touch. • The plant grows best in cool climates. • I'm feeling a little cool. • a cool refreshing drink • It's cooler [=less warm or hot] in the shade. • This is the coolest [=least warm or hot] summer on record.

² : made of a light, thin material that helps you stay cool • We changed into some cooler clothes.

³ [or more ~; most ~] : able to think and act in a calm way : not affected by strong feelings • It is important to keep a cool head in a crisis. = It is important to keep/stay cool in a crisis. [=it is important to remain calm in a crisis] • She remained calm, cool, and collected. • He is a cool customer. [=he is someone who remains calm and is not easily upset] ✧ If you are (as) cool as a cucumber, you are very calm and able to think clearly often in a difficult situation. • Even in the emergency, she remained as cool as a cucumber. • The reporter was cool as a cucumber despite the confusion all around her.

⁴ [or more ~; most ~] : not friendly • a cool reply • He replied with a cool "I don't think so." • She was always cool toward strangers. • We were surprised by the cool reception we got.

⁵ [or more ~; most ~] informal a : very fashionable, stylish, or appealing in a way that is generally approved of especially by young people • cool sunglasses • The car has a cool new look. • You look cool in those jeans. • a magazine article about the coolest places to live/work — often used to show approval in a general way • Your brother is so cool. • That was a really cool [=good, excellent] movie. • "I got a job as a lifeguard this summer." "Cool." b — used to suggest acceptance, agreement, or understanding • "I'm sorry I'm late." "It's/That's cool [=okay, all right]—don't worry about it." • "Is getting together Friday cool with you?" "Yeah, I'm cool with that." • I thought she'd be mad, but she was cool about it.

⁶ of a color : suggesting cool things • Blue and green are cool colors, but red and orange are warm colors.

⁷ informal — used for emphasis in referring to a large amount of money • He's worth a cool million.

— cool-ish /'ku:liʃ/ adj • a coolish day • coolish colors • He was a little coolish towards us. — cool-ly adv • "Is that so?" she asked coolly. • My idea was received coolly. — cool-ness noun [noncount] • the coolness of the mountain air • I was surprised by his coolness towards us. • He always displays coolness under pressure.

²cool verb cools; cooled; cool-ing

¹ a [+ obj] : to make (someone or something) cool • The fan cools the engine. • the cooling effect of the breeze • the car's cooling system — often + off or down • A swim cooled us off/down a little. • The rain should help to cool things off/down. b [no obj] : to become cool : to lose heat or warmth • Allow the cake to cool before slicing. • the cooling of the ocean waters — often + off or down • We went for a swim to cool off/down. • The weather has cooled off/down a little.

² a [no obj] : to become less strong or intense especially in emotion • I took a break from the discussion to allow my anger to cool. • His interest in her has cooled somewhat. — often + off or down • You need to cool off/down before I talk to you. • Their relationship has cooled off/down a bit. b [+ obj]

: to make (an emotion) less strong or intense • He couldn't cool [=calm] his anger. — often + off or down • You need to cool off/down your anger.

cool it informal : to stop being excited, angry, noisy, etc. • They were being too noisy, so he told them to cool it.

cool your heels informal : to wait for someone or something : to take a break from doing something or going someplace • Passengers had no choice but to cool their heels when their flight was delayed yet again.

³cool noun

keep your cool also chiefly US maintain your cool informal : to remain calm • He kept/maintained his cool [=he didn't get angry or upset] even though it was clear that he was being unfairly treated.

lose your cool also US blow your cool informal : to suddenly become very angry • She rarely loses her cool. [=she controls her feelings well] • He lost his cool and yelled at me. • After listening patiently, he finally blew his cool.

the cool : a cool time or place — usually + of • It was good to be outdoors in the cool of the evening/night. • We relaxed in the cool of an air-conditioned room.

⁴cool adv, informal : in a calm manner : in a way that does not seem unusual or excited • Here comes Mom. Act cool and she won't suspect a thing. • She didn't want to seem too eager, so she tried to play it cool [=to pretend to be calm even though she wasn't feeling calm]

cool-ant /'ku:lənt/ noun, pl -ants [count, noncount] : a liquid that is used to cool an engine or machine

cool-er /'ku:lə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

¹ : a container for keeping food or drinks cool • The sodas are in the cooler. — called also (Brit) cool bag, (Brit) cool box

² US : a cold drink that usually contains alcohol • a wine cooler

³ the cooler informal + somewhat old-fashioned : a prison or jail • They threw him in the cooler. [= (more commonly) the slammer]

cool-head-ed /'ku:l,hedəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not easily excited : able to think and act in a calm way • a cool-headed leader

coo-lie /'ku:li/ noun, pl -lies [count] offensive + old-fashioned : an unskilled Asian worker who is paid low wages cooling-off period noun, pl ~ -ods [count] : a period of time that must pass before you can do something or before an agreement becomes final • The law requires a cooling-off period between the time a gun is purchased and when it may be possessed. • The workers have agreed to a 30-day cooling-off period before they strike. • Once you join the pension plan, you have a 14-day cooling-off period within which to change your mind.

coon /'ku:n/ noun, pl coons [count] US, informal : RACCOON

in a coon's age see ¹AGE

coon-skin /'ku:n,skin/ noun, pl -skins [count, noncount] : the skin and fur of a raccoon — often used before another noun • a coonskin cap/coat

¹coop /'ku:p/ noun, pl coops [count] : a cage or small building in which chickens or other small animals are kept • a chicken coop

fly the coop see ¹FLY

²coop verb coops; cooped; coop-ing

coop up [phrasal verb] coop up (someone or something) or coop (someone or something) up : to keep (a person or animal) inside a building or in a small space especially for a long period of time — usually used as (be) cooped up • The children were cranky after being cooped up in the house all day. • The dog is cooped up in a cage.

co-op /'kou,ɑ:p/ noun, pl -ops [count] : a business or organization that is owned and operated by the people who work there or the people who use its services : COOPERATIVE • a farmers' co-op

coo-per /'ku:pə/ noun, pl -pers [count] : a person who makes or repairs wooden casks or barrels

co-op-er-ate /'kou'ɑ:pə,reit/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [no obj]

¹ : to work together : to work with another person or group to do something • It will be much easier if everyone cooperates. • Several organizations cooperated in the relief efforts. • The country agreed to cooperate with the other nations on the trade agreement.

² a : to be helpful by doing what someone asks or tells you to do • The mother asked the child to put on his pajamas, but the child refused to cooperate. • Witnesses were willing/unwilling to cooperate. — often + with • They said they would cooperate fully with the investigation. • He agreed/refused to cooperate with the police. b : to act in a way that makes something possible or likely : to produce the right conditions for something to happen • We can barbecue on Sunday if the weather cooperates. [=if the weather is good enough]

co-op·er·a·tion /kou,ɑ:pə'reɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

1 : a situation in which people work together to do something • The report cited a lack of cooperation between state and local officials. • The fair was organized in cooperation with local businesses. = The fair was organized with the cooperation of local businesses.

2 : the actions of someone who is being helpful by doing what is wanted or asked for • Thank you for your cooperation. • We are asking for your full cooperation.

1 co-op·er·a·tive /kou'ɑ:prətɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : willing to be helpful by doing what someone wants or asks for • cooperative children • The witness was very cooperative. — opposite UNCOOPERATIVE

2 : involving two or more people or groups working together to do something • a cooperative [=joint, combined] effort/venture

3 : relating to a business or organization that is owned and operated by the people who work there or the people who use its services • a cooperative store

— co-op·er·a·tive·ly adv • The group acted cooperatively. • a cooperatively owned store — co-op·er·a·tive·ness noun [noncount] • He demonstrated his cooperativeness on many occasions.

2 cooperative noun, pl -tives [count] : a business or organization that is owned and operated by the people who work there or the people who use its services • the local farmers' cooperative

co-opt /kou'ɑ:pt/ verb -opts; -opt-ed; -opt-ing [+ obj] formal

1 : to cause or force (someone or something) to become part of your group, movement, etc. • The national organization has co-opted many formerly independent local groups.

2 : to use or take control of (something) for your own purposes • Advertisers co-opted the team's slogan. • The candidate has been accused of co-opting his opponent's message to serve his own election campaign.

1 co-or·di·nate /kou'ɑ:də,neɪt/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing

1 a : to make arrangements so that two or more people or groups of people can work together properly and well [+ obj] She'll be coordinating the relief effort. [no obj] You'll have to coordinate with the sales department. b [no obj] : to act or work together properly and well • National and international relief efforts must coordinate if the operation is to be successful.

2 [+ obj] : to cause (two or more things) to be the same or to go together well : to cause (two or more things) to not conflict with or contradict each other • We need to coordinate our schedules. • Dancers need to coordinate their moves.

3 [+ obj] : to move (different parts of your body) together well or easily • Since his illness, he has had trouble coordinating his arms and legs.

4 : to look good with another color, pattern, style, etc. [no obj] This color coordinates with your outfit. • The shirt and pants are available in three coordinating styles/colors. • coordinating patterns [+ obj] We coordinated the curtains and the fabric of the furniture.

— coordinated adj [more ~; most ~] • a coordinated effort/attack • I would take dance lessons, but I am not very coordinated. • A more coordinated approach will improve productivity. — often used in combination • a color-coordinated wardrobe • a well-coordinated athlete

2 co-or·di·nate /kou'ɑ:dənət/ noun, pl -nates

1 [count] technical : one of a set of numbers that is used to locate a point on a map, graph, etc. • latitude and longitude coordinates • We calculated its exact coordinates.

2 coordinates [plural] : articles of clothing that are made to be worn together • coordinates in basic colors coordinate clause noun, pl ~ clauses [count] grammar : one of two or more clauses in a sentence that are of equal importance and usually joined by and, or, or but — compare MAIN CLAUSE, SUBORDINATE CLAUSE coordinating conjunction noun, pl ~ -tions [count] grammar : a conjunction (such as and, or, or but) that joins together words, phrases, or clauses of equal importance

co-or·di·na·tion /kou'ɑ:də'neɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

1 : the process of organizing people or groups so that they work together properly and well • The new agency will oversee the coordination of the various departments. • The manager is in charge of project coordination. • There needs to be better coordination between departments. • The FBI worked in coordination with local police. [=the FBI worked with local police]

2 : the process of causing things to be the same or to go together well • the coordination of our schedules • better coordination of the dancers' moves

3 : the ability to move different parts of your body together well or easily • Playing sports improves strength and coordination. • The illness causes a loss of coordination. • poor coordination co-or·di·na·tor /kou'ɑ:də,neɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a person who organizes people or groups so that they work together properly and well • She is the program/project coordinator.

coot /'ku:t/ noun, pl coots [count]

1 : a type of black and gray bird that lives on or near the water

2 US, informal : a strange and usually old man • Don't mind him—he's just a crazy old coot.

coo·tie /'ku:ti/ noun, pl -ties [count] US, informal : a type of small insect that lives in people's hair ♦ Cootie is used especially by children. • Don't touch him or you'll get cooties!

co-owner noun, pl -ers [count] : someone who owns something together with another person

1 cop /'kɑ:p/ noun, pl cops [count] informal : POLICE OFFICER • He threatened to call the cops on us. — see also COPS AND ROBBERS, TRAFFIC COP

it's a fair cop Brit, informal — used to admit that you did something wrong and were caught fairly • I'm annoyed about the speeding ticket, but it's a fair cop.

not much cop Brit, informal : not very good • She's not much cop as an actress. • I'm not much cop at sports.

2 cop verb cops; copped; cop-ping [+ obj]

1 US, informal : to get (something desirable) • I managed to cop an invitation. • She copped [=took] first prize in the competition.

2 US, informal : to steal or take (something) from someone • Somebody copped my watch. • He copped the idea from me.

3 chiefly Brit, informal : to receive (something undesirable) • They expected me to cop all the blame! • He copped the full force of the blow.

cop a feel US slang : to touch someone in an unwanted and unexpected sexual way • Some guy on the bus tried to cop a feel! [=some guy on the bus tried to grope me] cop an attitude US, informal : to show that you believe you are more important or better than other people by behaving in a rude or unpleasant way • The students tried to cop an attitude with the new teacher.

cop a plea US, informal : to admit to doing a less serious crime than the one you are accused of : to agree to a plea bargain • Her lawyers convinced her to cop a plea.

cop hold of Brit, informal : to grab or take hold of (something) • Cop hold of this part while I tighten the screw.

cop it Brit, informal : to be punished for doing something wrong • When dad gets home, you're going to cop it! [= (US) get it] cop off [phrasal verb] Brit slang : to have sexual intercourse with someone • He copped off with one of the girls at the party.

cop out [phrasal verb] informal 1 : to not do something that you are expected to do • She said she would come, but then she copped out at the last minute. • You'd better not cop out on me! 2 : to fail to deal with a problem or situation • He accused the mayor of copping out on the issue of homelessness. — see also COP-OUT cop to [phrasal verb] cop to (something) US slang : to admit to doing (something) • He agreed to cop to a misdemeanor.

co-pay /'kou'peɪ/ noun, pl -pays [count] : CO-PAYMENT

co-pay-ment /'kou,peɪmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count] : an amount of money that a person with health insurance is required to pay at the time of each visit to a doctor or when purchasing medicine

1 cope /'koup/ verb copes; coped; cop-ing [no obj] : to deal with problems and difficult situations and try to come up with solutions • The trial has been difficult, but I'm learning to cope. — often + with • You'll just have to cope with the situation. • The book is about coping with stress. • He says he can no longer cope with the demands of the job.

- coping adj, always used before a noun • coping skills/strategies [=skills/strategies that help a person cope]
- ²cope noun, pl copest [count] : a long, loose piece of clothing that is worn by a priest on special occasions
- copi-er /'kɑ:pɪjə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a machine that makes paper copies of printed pages, pictures, etc. — called also copy machine, photocopier, photocopy machine; see picture at OFFICE
- co-pi-lot /'kɒ,pɪlət/ noun, pl -lots [count] : a pilot who helps the main pilot operate an airplane, helicopter, etc.
- cop-ing /'kɒpɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count, noncount] architecture : the top layer of a brick or stone wall that is usually higher on one end than the other to allow rain to be carried off easily
- co-pi-ous /'kɒpɪjəs/ adj, always used before a noun : very large in amount or number • The storm produced a copious amount of rain. • She sat in the front row and took copious notes during the lecture.
- co-pi-ous-ly adv • a copiously illustrated book • He wrote/drank copiously.
- cop-out /'kɑ:pɔ:t/ noun, pl -outs [count] informal + disapproving
- 1 : an excuse for not doing something • He played poorly and used his recent illness as a cop-out. • She says she doesn't have the time, but that's just a cop-out. [=she really does have the time]
- 2 : something that avoids dealing with a problem in an appropriate way • The ending of the book is a disappointing cop-out. — see also cop out at ²COP
- ¹cop-per /'kɑ:pə/ noun, pl -pers
- 1 [noncount] : a reddish-brown metal that allows heat and electricity to pass through it easily • The wires are (made of) copper. — often used before another noun • copper wire/pipes • a copper mine
- 2 [noncount] : a reddish-brown color — usually used before another noun • copper hair • copper skin — see color picture on page C2
- 3 [count] chiefly Brit, informal : a copper or bronze coin that has little value • She gave the child a few coppers.
- compare ²COPPER
- cop-pery /'kɑ:pəri/ adj [more ~; most ~] • coppery hair • a coppery red
- ²copper noun, pl -pers [count] chiefly Brit, informal : POLICE OFFICER — compare ¹COPPER
- copper-bottomed adj [more ~; most ~]
- 1 : having a copper coating on the bottom • a copper-bottomed pan
- 2 Brit, informal : deserving to be trusted • a copper-bottomed guarantee : certain to succeed • The film is a copper-bottomed [=surefire] hit.
- cop-per-head /'kɑ:pə,hed/ noun, pl -heads [count] : a poisonous reddish-brown snake of the eastern and central U.S.
- cop-pice /'kɑ:pəs/ noun, pl -pic-es [count] : a group of small trees growing very close together
- cops and robbers noun [noncount] : a children's game in which the players imitate the way police chase and shoot at criminals in movies, on television, etc.
- copse /'kɑ:ps/ noun, pl copses [count] : COPPICE
- cop shop noun, pl ~ shops [count] Brit slang : POLICE STATION
- cop-ter /'kɑ:ptə/ noun, pl -ters [count] chiefly US, informal : HELICOPTER
- cop-u-la /'kɑ:pjələ/ noun, pl -las [count] grammar : LINKING VERB
- cop-u-late /'kɑ:pjə,leɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing [no obj] formal : to have sexual intercourse • Some animals have complex mating rituals before they copulate.
- cop-u-la-tion /,kɑ:pjə'leɪʃən/ noun [noncount]
- ¹copy /'kɑ:pi/ noun, pl copies
- 1 [count] : something that is or looks exactly or almost exactly like something else : a version of something that is identical or almost identical to the original • The paintings at the museum are originals, not copies. [=reproductions] — often + of • Can you make me a copy of the letter/receipt? • Be sure to make backup copies of any important files. • I need 10 copies [=photocopies] of this page. • It is a cheap copy [=imitation, knockoff] of a designer dress. • It's an exact copy [=replica, reproduction] of a medieval sword. — see also CARBON COPY, HARD COPY
- 2 [count] : one of the many books, magazines, albums,

- DVDs, etc., that are exactly the same and are produced to be sold or given to the public • The novel/album has sold more than a million copies. — often + of • Here's a free copy of our catalog/brochure.
- 3 [noncount] : written information that is to be published in a newspaper, magazine, etc. • She got a job writing advertising copy. • All copy must be submitted by 5 p.m. • Political scandals make good copy. [=interesting news stories]
- ²copy verb copies; cop-ied; copy-ing
- 1 : to make a version of (something) that is exactly or almost exactly like the original : to make a copy or duplicate of (something) [+ obj] She copied the design on a piece of paper. • Copy the file to your hard drive. • Would you copy [=photocopy] these pages for me? • The program allows you to copy and paste text. [=to copy text and insert it somewhere else in the document] [no obj] The page did not copy [=photocopy] well. • The bills are designed to prevent copying by counterfeiters.
- 2 a : to write (something) down exactly as it appears somewhere else [+ obj] We caught him copying the answers out of the book. [no obj] We caught him copying out of the book.
- b [+ obj] : to use (someone else's words or ideas) as your own • The speech was copied word for word.
- 3 [+ obj] a : to do the same thing as (someone) • She's always copying [=imitating] her older sister. b : to make or do something the same way as (something else) • His music was copied widely. • Their competitors soon copied the idea.
- copy down/out [phrasal verb] copy (something) down/out or copy down/out (something) : to write down (words that you are hearing or reading) • Are you copying all of this down? • I copied out the equations on a piece of paper.
- copy-cat /'kɑ:pi,kæt/ noun, pl -cats [count]
- 1 informal : a person who does the same thing as someone else : a person who adopts the behavior, style, etc., of someone else • She called me a copycat for wearing the same dress.
- 2 : something that is very similar to another thing • The product has inspired a lot of copycats. [=imitations] — often used before another noun • a copycat crime • copycat drugs
- copy editor noun, pl ~ -tors [count] US : a person whose job is to prepare a book, newspaper, etc., for printing by making sure the words are correct — called also (Brit) sub-editor
- copy-ed-it /'kɑ:pi,edət/ verb -its; -it-ed; -it-ing [+ obj] • He copyedited the dictionary.
- copy-ist /'kɑ:pijɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count]
- 1 : someone who made copies of documents or maps by hand before printing became common
- 2 : someone who copies the style or design of something (such as a work of art or piece of clothing)
- copy machine or copying machine noun, pl ~ -chines [count] : COPIER
- ¹copy-right /'kɑ:pi,raɪt/ noun, pl -rights : the legal right to be the only one to reproduce, publish, and sell a book, musical recording, etc., for a certain period of time [count] His family still holds the copyright to his songs. • laws that protect copyrights [noncount] The book is under copyright.
- ²copyright verb -rights; -right-ed; -right-ing [+ obj] : to get a copyright for a book, musical recording, etc., for a certain period of time • He has copyrighted all of his plays. • These are copyrighted materials.
- ³copyright adj, always used before a noun
- 1 : of or relating to a copyright • copyright law/infringement • copyright protection • The copyright date is 2005.
- 2 : not allowed to be copied without permission from the author, composer, etc. • copyright material
- copy-writ-er /'kɑ:pi,raɪtə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : someone whose job is to write the words for advertisements
- coq au vin /,kɒkəu'væn/ noun [noncount] : chicken that is cooked in red wine
- co-que-try /'kɒkətri, Brit 'kɒkətri/ noun [noncount] literary : the behavior of a coquette • Her behavior was mistaken for coquetry. [= (more commonly) flirtation]
- co-quette /kɒ'ket/ noun, pl -quettes [count] literary + formal : a woman who likes to win the attention or admiration of men but does not have serious feelings for them : FLIRT • She was a bit of a coquette.
- co-quett-ish /kɒ'ketɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a coquettish grin/smile • a coquettish young woman – co-quett-ish-ly adv • She smiled coquettishly at him. – co-quett-ish-ness noun [noncount]
- cor-a-cle /'kɒrəkəl/ noun, pl -acles [count] : a very small type of boat that has been used in parts of Great Britain since ancient times cor·al /'kɒrəl/ noun [noncount]

1 : a hard material formed on the bottom of the sea by the skeletons of small creatures • brightly colored fishes swimming among the coral

2 : an orange pink color — see color picture on page C3

— coral adj • coral deposits

coral reef noun, pl ~ reefs [count] : a long line of coral that lies in warm, shallow water

cor an·glais /,kɒrən'gleɪ/ noun, pl cors an·glais /,kɒzən'gleɪ/ [count] Brit : ENGLISH HORN

cord /'kɒəd/ noun, pl cords

1 : a long, thin material that is usually thicker than a string but thinner than a rope [count] She wore the key on a cord around her neck. • They used cords to tie the tent to the trees. [noncount] a piece of cord — see also BUNGEE CORD, RIP CORD

2 [count] : an electrical wire that is wrapped in a protective covering and used to connect a device to a power source • a telephone cord • a lamp cord • a power cord — called also (Brit) flex; see also EXTENSION CORD

3 [count] : a part of the body that is like a string or rope • a nerve cord — see also SPINAL CORD, UMBILICAL CORD, VOCAL CORDS

4 [count] US : an amount of wood that has been cut for burning in a fireplace, stove, etc. : a pile that contains 128 cubic feet of firewood • a cord of wood — compare CORDWOOD

5 cords [plural] : pants made of corduroy • a pair of black cords [=corduroys]

cord adj : made of corduroy • a cord jacket cord·age /'kɒədɪdʒ/ noun [noncount] : ropes or cords • a company that produced cordage for ships cor·dial /'kɒədʒəl, Brit 'kɔːdiəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : politely pleasant and friendly • We received a cordial greeting from our hostess at the party. • The two nations have maintained cordial relations.

— cor·di·al·i·ty /,kɒədʒi'æləti, Brit ,kɔːdi'æləti/ noun [noncount] • They greeted the ambassador with cordiality. — cor·dial·ly adv • You are cordially invited to attend the wedding of our daughter on May 14.

cordial noun, pl -dials [count, noncount]

1 US : a sweet alcoholic drink : LIQUEUR

2 Brit : a drink of heavy fruit juice that is mixed with water cord·less /'kɒədləs/ adj : powered by a battery rather than by electricity through a cord • a cordless phone/drill cor·don /'kɒdəŋ/ noun, pl -dons [count] : a line of people or objects that are placed around or in front of a person or place to keep people away • A cord of police kept protesters away from the building.

cord verb -dons; -doned; -don·ing

cord off [phrasal verb] cord off (something) or cord (something) off : to prevent people from getting into (an area) by putting a line of people or objects around or in front of it • Police cordoned off the street.

cor·don bleu /,kɒə'dɑːn'bluː/ adj : having, showing, or requiring great skill at cooking • a cord bleu chef • a cord bleu meal

cor·du·roy /'kɒədə,roɪ/ noun

1 [noncount] : a strong cotton cloth with straight raised lines on it • a jacket made of corduroy — often used before another noun • a corduroy skirt

2 corduroys [plural] : pants made of corduroy • a pair of corduroys [=cords]

cord·wood /'kɒəd,wʊd/ noun [noncount] US : wood used for fires that is piled or sold in cords (sense 4)

core /'kɒə/ noun, pl cores [count]

1 : the central part of a fruit (such as an apple) that contains the seeds • an apple core — see color picture on page C5

2 : the central part of something • the core of a golf ball • The pads have a foam core. • the engine core • the core of the galaxy • The Earth's core is very different from its crust. • the urban core [=the central part of a city]

3 : the most important or basic part of something • Lack of money is the core of the problem. • The core of the government's plan is to provide loans for small businesses. • voters who form the core of the party • The economy is at the very core of this year's election. — see also HARD CORE

4 technical : a part that has been removed from a material for scientific study • took a core sample of rock • an ice core from the glacier

5 technical : the place in a nuclear reactor where the reaction takes place • the reactor core to the core : in a very complete or extreme way — used for emphasis • He is patriotic to the core. [=he is extremely patriotic] • Her family is English to the core. • He's rotten to the core. [=he's a very bad/dishonest person] • They were shaken to the core. [=extremely shaken/upset]

core adj, always used before a noun

1 : most important or most basic • The company's core business is lending money. • Stealing would go against his core beliefs. [=his basic principles] • the core responsibilities of the police force • the core vocabulary of a language

2 : of or relating to the classes that all the students in a school are required to take or the skills that all students are required to learn • the core curriculum • core courses/subjects core verb cores; cored; cor·ing [+ obj] : to remove a core from (a fruit) • core an apple

— cor·er noun, pl -ers [count] • an apple corer [=a device that is used to remove the core from an apple]

co·ri·an·der /'kɒri,ændə/ noun [noncount]

1 : a plant whose leaves and seeds are used in cooking

2 chiefly Brit : CILANTRO

3 : the dried seed of the coriander plant used as a flavoring — called also coriander seed

cork /'kɒək/ noun, pl corks

1 [noncount] : a material that is made from the soft bark of a kind of oak tree • a piece of cork • a cork bulletin board • shoes with cork heels

2 [count] : a piece of cork or another material (such as plastic) that is put in the end of bottle to close it • the cork of a wine bottle • She popped the cork on the champagne. [=she opened the bottle of champagne by removing the cork] • After their championship victory, the team was ready to pop the cork. [=to begin celebrating by opening and drinking bottles of champagne]

put a cork in it chiefly US, informal — used as a rude way to tell someone to stop talking and especially to stop complaining • Why don't you put a cork in it! [=shut up] I am sick of your whining!

cork verb corks; corked; cork·ing [+ obj]

1 : to close (something, such as a bottle) with a cork • Please cork the wine. • a corked bottle of wine — opposite UNCORK; see also CORKED

2 : to put cork inside (something, such as a baseball bat) • a player who has been accused of illegally corking his bats • a corked bat

corked /'kɒəkt/ adj, of wine : having an unpleasant taste because of a damaged or decayed cork • corked wine cork·er /'kɒəkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] informal + old-fashioned : a very good or amusing person or thing • Last week's episode was good, but this one is a real corker!

cork·ing /'kɒəkɪŋ/ adj, informal + old-fashioned : very good • an absolutely corking idea

— corking adv • a corking good story

cork·screw /'kɒək,skruː/ noun, pl -screws [count] : a tool that is used to pull corks from bottles cor·mo·rant /'kɒmərənt/ noun, pl -rants [count] : a type of dark-colored bird that has a long neck and that eats fish that it catches in the ocean

corn /'kɒən/ noun [noncount]

1 US a : a tall plant that produces yellow seeds (called kernels) that are eaten as a vegetable, used to produce many food products, and used as food for animals • driving past fields of corn — called also (US) Indian corn, maize; see color picture on page C4 b : the seeds of the corn plant eaten as a vegetable • a dish of buttered corn • a can of corn • We ate corn on the cob. [=kernels still attached to the cob/corncob] — called also (Brit) sweetcorn

2 Brit, somewhat old-fashioned : a plant (such as wheat or barley) that produces seeds which are used for food; also : the seeds of such a plant : GRAIN

3 US, informal : something (such as writing, music, or acting) that is old-fashioned and silly or sentimental : something that is corny • The movie's humor is pure corn. [=is very corny]

corkscrew

— compare ²CORN

²corn noun, pl corns [count] : a painful hard spot on the skin of the foot — compare ¹CORN

corn-ball /'kɒn,bɔ:l/ adj [more ~; most ~] US, informal : old-fashioned and silly or sentimental : CORNY • a cornball musical about farmers • a cornball sense of humor

corn bread noun, pl ~ breads [count, noncount] : a kind of bread or cake that is made with cornmeal corn chip noun, pl ~ chips [count] : a small, flat piece of fried cornmeal that is eaten cold as a snack corn-cob /'kɒn,kɔ:b/ noun, pl -cobs [count] : the long, hard, center part of corn (sense 1) : the part of corn that the kernels grow on corn dog noun, pl ~ dogs [count] US : a hot dog covered with a mixture of cornmeal that is fried and served on a stick cor·nea /'kɒnɪə/ noun, pl -neas [count] technical : the clear outer covering of the eyeball

— cor·ne·al /'kɒnɪjəl/ adj

corned beef noun [noncount] : beef that has been preserved in salt water • a slice of corned beef • a corned beef sandwich

¹cor·ner /'kɒnə/ noun, pl -ners [count]

1 : the point or area where two lines, edges, or sides of something meet • the corner of a box/table/tablecloth • A post marks the corner of the property. • Write your name in the upper right-hand corner of the page. • He caught the ball in the corner of the end zone. • the northeast corner of the state • We sat at a table in a corner of the room.

2 a : the place where two streets or roads meet • a street corner • The hotel is at the corner of Fifth Avenue and 59th Street. • A group of teenagers were hanging around on the corner. • He went to the grocery store around/round the corner from the bank. b : a curve in a road • She knew there was a gas station just around the corner. [=after the curve] • The car took the corner [=drove around the curve in the road] too fast and went off the road. — see also (JUST) AROUND THE CORNER (below), TURN THE CORNER (below)

3 : the side of your mouth or eye • He said something out of the corner of his mouth to the person standing next to him. • There was a tear in the corner of her eye. • I saw something out of the corner of my eye. [=I saw something to the side of where I was looking]

4 : one of four parts of a boxing ring where the sides meet • The boxers returned to their corners when the round ended. — often used figuratively to describe people, groups, etc., that are opposing or fighting each other • In one corner you have the music industry, and in the other, those who want music but don't want to pay for it. ♡ Someone who gives you help and support is in your corner. • I am going to need you in my corner when I go to court.

5 a : a place that is private or secret or that few people know about or visit • They live in a quiet corner of the town. — often used figuratively • a memory that lies in some dark corner of his mind b : a place that is far away • His influence extends to every corner of the state. • She is famous in every corner of the world. [=throughout the world] • People came from the four corners of the earth [=from everywhere; from all over] to see the sight.

6 : a position that you cannot easily get out of : a difficult situation • The city is in a tight corner financially. [=is in a bad financial position] • The candidate backed/painted himself into a corner [=put himself in a bad position] by proposing a tax increase.

7 soccer : CORNER KICK

cut corners often disapproving : to save time or money by doing less than you usually do or than you should do • We don't have enough money to pay for everything, so we'll have to cut corners somewhere. • You should never cut corners on safety.

have/get a corner on : to have or get enough of (something) to be able to control its price • He has a corner on the silver market. — often used figuratively • He acts like he has a corner on new ideas. [=like he is the only person who has new ideas]

(just) around the corner : coming or happening very soon • The politicians say that a stronger economy is just around the corner. [=that the economy will become stronger very soon] • Summer vacation is around the corner.

turn the corner : to get past the most difficult area or period in something and begin to improve • The company claims it has turned the corner and will be profitable soon.

²corner adj, always used before a noun : located at a corner • a corner office • We ate in a corner booth at the restaurant. • a corner shop/store

³corner verb -ners; -nered; -ner-ing

1 [+obj] a : to force (a person or animal) into a place or position from which escape is very difficult or impossible • Police cornered the suspect in a backyard. • A cornered animal can be dangerous. b : to force (someone who wants to avoid you or get away from you) to stop and talk with you • He cornered the actress and demanded her autograph. • The interviewer cornered the politician with some probing questions.

2 [+obj] : to get control of a particular type of product that is being bought and sold — used in the phrase corner the market • They have cornered the market in wheat. = They have cornered the wheat market. — sometimes used figuratively • He acts as if he's cornered the market on new ideas.

3 [no obj] of a vehicle : to turn a corner • This car corners well.

corner kick noun, pl ~ kicks [count] soccer : a free kick from the corner of the field near the opponent's goal

cor·ner·stone /'kɒnə,stəʊn/ noun, pl -stones [count]

1 : a stone that forms part of a corner in the outside wall of a building and that often shows the date when the building was built • Officials held a ceremony to lay the cornerstone for a new library.

2 : something of basic importance • Trust is the cornerstone of their relationship.

cor·net /'kɒnɪt, Brit 'kɔ:nɪt/ noun, pl -nets [count]

1 : a brass musical instrument that is similar to a trumpet but smaller

2 Brit, old-fashioned : an ice-cream cone corn-fed /'kɒn,fed/ adj : fed with grain • corn-fed pigs — sometimes used figuratively in U.S. English • a big, corn-fed farm boy • corn-fed [=corny] humor corn·field /'kɒn,fɪld/ noun, pl -fields [count] : a field in which corn is grown corn·flakes /'kɒn,fleɪks/ noun [plural] : toasted flakes made from kernels of corn (sense 1) and used as a breakfast cereal

corn flour noun [noncount] Brit : CORNSTARCH

corn·flow·er /'kɒn,flaʊə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a wild plant that usually has blue flowers

cor·nice /'kɒnəs/ noun, pl -nic·es [count]

1 : the decorative top edge of a building or column

2 : a decorative strip of wood or some other material used at the top of the walls in a room

Cor·nish /'kɒnɪʃ/ adj : of or relating to Cornwall or the people of Cornwall • the Cornish coast • Cornish miners • Cornish culture

Cornish pasty noun, pl ~ -ties [count] : a small pie that is filled with meat and vegetables

corn·meal /'kɒn,mɪl/ noun [noncount] : a coarse flour made from crushed corn (sense 1)

corn oil noun [noncount] : a type of oil made from corn (sense 1) and used in foods and soap

corn·pone /-'poun/ adj, US, informal : of, relating to, or appealing to people who live on farms away from big cities • cornpone charm • cornpone humor

corn·rows /'kɒn,rouz/ noun [plural] : a hair style in which hair is twisted together in tight rows that lie close to the skin — see picture at HAIR

corn·stalk /'kɒn,stɔ:k/ noun, pl -stalks [count] : the long stem of a corn plant (sense 1)

corn·starch /'kɒn,stɑ:ʃ/ noun [noncount] US : a fine powder made from corn (sense 1) that is used in cooking especially to make liquids thicker • I used some cornstarch to thicken the gravy. — called also (Brit) corn flour

corn syrup noun [noncount] : a sweet, thick liquid made from corn (sense 1) cor·nu·co·pia /,kɒnə'kɒʊpijə, ,kɒnɪə'kɒʊpijə/ noun, pl -pi·as

1 [count] : a container that is shaped like a horn and is full of fruits and flowers

2 [singular] : a great amount or source of something • The market is/offers a cornucopia of fruits and vegetables. • The book includes a cornucopia of wonderful stories.

corny /'kɒni/ adj corn·i·er; -est informal + usually disapproving : old-fashioned and silly or sentimental • a corny joke • corny greeting cards

cor·ol·lary /'kɒrə,leri, Brit kə'rɒləri/ noun, pl -lar-ies [count] formal : something that naturally follows or results from another thing • A corollary [=result, by-product] of increased poverty is more crime.

— corollary adj • a corollary assumption co·ro·na /kə'rounə/ noun, pl -nas [count] technical : a bright circle seen around the sun or the moon

cornucopia

cor·o·nary /'kɒrə,neri, Brit 'kɒrənri/ adj : of or relating to the heart and especially to the vessels that supply blood to the heart • a coronary artery • coronary surgery • coronary heart disease • coronary thrombosis [=a dangerous condition in which an artery to the heart is blocked by a blood clot] coronary noun, pl -nar-ies [count] informal : HEART ATTACK • I almost had a coronary when I heard the news.

cor·o·na·tion /kɒrə'neɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : a ceremony in which a crown is placed on the head of a new king or queen • the coronation of Queen Elizabeth cor·o·ner /'kɒrənə/ noun, pl -ners [count] : a public official whose job is to find out the cause of death when people die in ways that are violent, sudden, etc. • The coroner examined the body but found no evidence of foul play.

cor·o·net /kɒrə'net, Brit 'kɒrənɪt/ noun, pl -nets [count] : a small crown

Corp. abbr corporation • Chrysler Corp.

corpora plural of CORPUS cor·po·ral /'kɒpərəl/ noun, pl -rals [count] : an officer in the army or marines with a rank below sergeant — see also LANCE CORPORAL corporal punishment noun [noncount] : punishment that involves hitting someone : physical punishment • The school banned corporal punishment many years ago.

cor·po·rate /'kɒpərət/ adj

1 a : involving or associated with a corporation • We have to change the corporate structure to survive. • A bunch of corporate types in suits were sitting at the table in the conference room. • corporate debt/bonds/taxes b : consisting of or including large corporations • He is one of the most powerful men in corporate America. c often disapproving : produced by or associated with large corporations • corporate rock music • corporate art

2 : formed into a legal corporation • The business is a corporate entity.

cor·po·ra·tion /kɒpə'reɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : a large business or organization that under the law has the rights and duties of an individual and follows a specific purpose • He works as a consultant for/to several large corporations. • a community development corporation

cor·po·re·al /kɒpə'ri:əl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : having or consisting of a physical body or form • corporeal existence • the corporeal nature of matter — opposite INCORPOREAL corps /'kɒz/ noun, pl corps /'kɒz/ [count]

1 a : an organized part of the military — used in proper names • the U.S. Marine Corps • the Army Corps of Engineers • the Signal Corps b : a large military group consisting of two or more divisions

2 : a group of people who are involved in some activity • members of the press corps • a corps of volunteers — see also DIPLOMATIC CORPS, PEACE CORPS corpse /'kɒps/ noun, pl corps-es [count] : a dead body • a battlefield strewn with corpses

cor·pu·lent /'kɒpjələnt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : fat • a corpulent [=obese] man • her large, corpulent body

— cor·pu·lence /'kɒpjələns/ noun [noncount]

cor·pus /'kɒpəs/ noun, pl cor·po·ra /'kɒpərə/ [count]

1 : a collection of writings, conversations, speeches, etc., that people use to study and describe a language • a computerized corpus of English

2 : a collection of poems, paintings, songs, etc. • the painter's corpus of work [=all the paintings the painter has done]

— see also HABEAS CORPUS

cor·pus·cle /'kɒpəsəl/ noun, pl -pus·cles [count] biology : one of the cells that move in the body; especially : a blood cell • a red/white blood corpuscle

¹cor·ral /kə'ræl, Brit kə'rɑ:l/ noun, pl -rals [count] : an area that is surrounded by a fence and that is used for holding animals (such as cows and horses) on a farm or ranch

²corral verb -rals; -ralled; -ral·ling [+ obj] : to gather and put (cows, horses, etc.) into a corral • corralling cattle — often used figuratively • He corralled us all into his office for a quick meeting. • corralling [=collecting, gathering] votes for next month's election

¹cor·rect /kə'rekt/ adj

1 : true or accurate : agreeing with facts : RIGHT • What's the correct answer/response to this question? • She is correct (in saying) that more money is needed. • Yes, that's correct. • Her watch never tells the correct time. • an anatomically correct drawing of the human body

2 : having no errors or mistakes • a grammatically correct sentence • correct pronunciation/punctuation/spelling/usage

3 : proper or appropriate in a particular situation • Did I give you the correct change? • With the correct amount of water and sunlight, the plant will grow well. • We're trying to find the correct [=right] way to deal with the problem. • He was correct to do what he did. = He did the correct thing.

4 [more ~; most ~] sometimes disapproving : considered proper by people with a strict set of beliefs or values • We need to find a more environmentally correct way of disposing these materials. [=a way that does not damage the environment] — see also POLITICALLY CORRECT

5 [more ~; most ~] somewhat old-fashioned : careful about behaving in a polite and socially accepted way • a very correct young man

— cor·rect·ly adv • You answered correctly. • If I remember correctly, he was a good baseball player in high school. • Did I spell your name correctly? — cor·rect·ness noun [noncount] • anatomical correctness • We question the correctness of his actions.

²correct verb -rects; -rect-ed; -rect-ing

1 [+ obj] : to change (something) so that it is right, true, proper, etc. : to make (something) correct • a computer program that corrects [=fixes] spelling errors • I hate it when she corrects my grammar. • These errors are easily corrected. = These errors can be corrected easily. • Please correct your essay for punctuation errors. ♦ To correct someone is to say that someone has made a mistake and to give the correct information. • "I use the title 'Ms.' not 'Mrs.,'" she corrected him. • He quickly corrected himself and said that it cost two dollars, not four. • Correct me if I'm wrong, but I think you owe me another dollar. [=do you owe me another dollar?] ♦ The phrase I stand corrected is a somewhat formal way of saying that you have learned that you were wrong about something. • "He's four years old, not five." "Well, then, I stand corrected." • I stand corrected. The meeting is on Monday, not Tuesday as I'd thought.

2 [+ obj] : to mark the errors on (something that a person has written) • Our teacher hasn't finished correcting our tests yet. • He corrects papers with a red pen.

3 [+ obj] : to deal with or take care of (a problem, bad situation, etc.) successfully • We are finding ways to correct this difficult situation. • We'll correct the problem with the circuit as soon as possible. • These medicines are used for correcting chemical imbalances in the brain. • She's having surgery that will correct her vision. [=that will make her bad vision good/better]

4 : to make an amount or number more accurate by considering other information — usually + for [no obj] The measurements are not accurate because I didn't correct for the change in temperature. [+ obj] We need to correct the measurements for the change in temperature.

— cor·rect·able /kə'rektəbəl/ adj • a correctable error • a problem that is correctable by surgery

cor·rec·tion /kə'rekʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a change that makes something right, true, accurate, etc. • They ran/published a correction in today's paper. [=there was a statement in the newspaper saying that something printed in an earlier newspaper was not accurate] • The teacher marked corrections on his students' tests. • Please make corrections before handing in your compositions.

2 [noncount] : the act of making something (such as an error or a bad condition) accurate or better : the act of correcting something • the correction of your mistakes • people in need of vision correction

3 : the act or process of punishing and changing the behavior of people who have committed crimes [noncount] (old-fashioned) correction of criminals [plural] (US) — used to refer to government systems and actions that relate to punishing and dealing with criminals • The state's overall spending on corrections has increased rapidly in recent years. • the state Department of Corrections — often used before another noun • a corrections officer [=an official in a jail or prison]

— cor-rec-tion-al /kə'rekʃənəl/ adj, always used before a noun, chiefly US • the state's correctional facilities/institutions [=prisons or jails]

correction fluid noun [noncount] : a liquid used to cover typing or writing errors

¹cor-rec-tive /kə'rektrɪv/ adj : meant to correct a problem : intended to make something better • She had corrective surgery on her knee this past summer. • People with bad eyesight usually need to wear corrective lenses, such as eyeglasses or contact lenses.

²corrective noun, pl -tives [count] formal : something that helps to make a problem or bad situation better • The President's speech was intended to be a corrective [=remedy] to the country's feelings of fear and uncertainty.

¹cor-re-late /'kɒrə,leɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing formal
1 [no obj] : to have a close connection with something : to have a correlation to something ✧ If two things correlate, a change in one thing results in a similar or an opposite change in the other thing. • In general terms, brain size correlates with intelligence. [=a larger brain generally suggests greater intelligence] • Some studies have shown that the success of students correlates negatively with the number of students in a class. [=when more students are in a class, the students are less successful] • In this case, a difference in height correlates [=corresponds] to a difference in weight.

2 [+ obj] : to show that a close connection exists between (two or more things) • There is no evidence correlating height and intelligence.

be correlated : to have a close connection : to correlate • Brain size is correlated with intelligence.

²cor-re-late /'kɒrəleɪt/ noun, pl -lates [count] technical : either one of two things that are closely connected or correlated with each other • brain size as a correlate of intelligence cor-re-la-tion /,kɒrə'leɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions : the relationship between things that happen or change together [non-count] the correlation of brain size and/with intelligence — often + between • the high/strong correlation between poverty and crime [=the fact that crime is more common when there is more poverty] [count] Researchers have found a direct correlation between smoking and lung cancer. • She says that there's no correlation between being thin and being happy.

cor-rel-a-tive /kə'relətɪv/ adj, formal : existing because something else exists : closely connected • a doctor's duties and a patient's correlative rights • As demand increases, we'll see a correlative increase in price.

— correlative noun, pl -tives [count]

cor-re-spond /,kɒrə'spɒnd/ verb -sponds; -spond-ed; -spond-ing [no obj]

1 : to be similar or equal to something • In some countries, the role of president corresponds to that of prime minister. • the joints on a horse that correspond to the human knees

2 : to have a direct relationship to or with something • Each number corresponds to a location on the map. • His statements do not correspond to/with the facts. [=do not match the facts] • We'll revise the schedule to correspond with the school calendar. — see also CORRESPONDING

3 somewhat formal : to write to someone or to each other • We haven't corresponded in years. [=we have not written letters/e-mails to each other for years] — often + with • She still corresponded regularly with friends she met in college.

cor-re-spon-dence /,kɒrə'spɒndəns/ noun, pl -dences

1 : the activity of writing letters or e-mails to someone [noncount] They communicated by telephone and correspondence. • E-mail correspondence has become extremely important for modern businesses. [singular] The two men began a correspondence that would continue throughout their lives.

2 [noncount] : the letters or e-mails that people write to each other • A book of the author's personal correspondence was published early last year. • A formal tone is always used in business correspondence. • I have a pile of correspondence [=letters from people] on my desk.

3 : a direct relationship to or with something or between two things [noncount] Note the correspondence of each number to a location on the map. • Sometimes there is little correspondence between the way a word is spelled and the way it is pronounced in English. [count] Sometimes there are few correspondences between spelling and pronunciation.

4 : the fact of being similar or equal to something [non-count] The degree of correspondence between the two texts is startling. [=it is startling to see how closely they resemble each other] [count] There is a close correspondence between the two texts. • There are many correspondences between them.

correspondence course noun, pl ~ courses [count] : a class in which students receive lessons and assignments in the mail or by e-mail and then return completed assignments in order to receive a grade • She took a correspondence course in world religions.

cor-re-spon-dent /,kɒrə'spɒndənt/ noun, pl -dents [count]

1 somewhat formal : someone who writes letters or e-mails to another person • When writing to business correspondents, use a formal tone.

2 : a person whose job is to send news to a newspaper, radio station, or television program often from different places around the world • We now turn to our political correspondent [=a person who sends news about politics] reporting from the nation's capital. • a war correspondent [=a reporter who sends news from places where there are wars] for an American newspaper • foreign correspondents [=reporters who send news from other countries]

corresponding adj, always used before a noun

1 : having the same characteristics as something else : matching something else • The store earned 20 percent more this month than it did in the corresponding [=same] month last year. • "Robert" is a boy's name, and the corresponding name for a girl is "Roberta."

2 : directly related to something • a test question and its corresponding chapter in the textbook • As the cost of steel goes up, expect to see a corresponding increase in building costs.

— cor-re-spond-ing-ly adv • As the cost of steel goes up, building costs will rise correspondingly.

cor-ri-dor /'kɒrədɔː, 'kɒrə,dɔː/ noun, pl -dors [count]

1 : a long, narrow passage inside a building or train with doors that lead to rooms on each side • She slowly walked down the long, dark corridor. [=hall, hallway] • They pushed me down the hospital corridor to the operating room.

2 a : a long narrow piece of land • A corridor of land lies between the two mountain ranges. b : a narrow area of land that is known for something specified • a transportation corridor

the corridors of power see ¹POWER

cor-rob-o-rate /kə'rɒ:bə,reit/ verb -rates; -rat-ed; -rat-ing [+ obj] formal : to support or help prove (a statement, theory, etc.) by providing information or evidence • Two witnesses corroborated [=confirmed] his story. — often used as (be) corroborated • The theory has been corroborated by recent studies.

— corroborating adj • No corroborating evidence was found. — cor-rob-o-ra-tion /kə'rɒ:bə'reɪʃən/ noun [non-count] • the corroboration of his story — cor-rob-o-ra-tive /kə'rɒ:bə,reitɪv, kə'rɒ:bərətɪv/ adj • corroborative evidence/testimony

cor-rod-e /kə'rɒud/ verb -rode; -rod-ed; -rod-ing

1 : to slowly break apart and destroy (metal, an object, etc.) through a chemical process [+ obj] Rainwater may corrode the steel containers. • Over time, the pipes become corroded and need to be replaced. [no obj] After a few weeks in the ocean, the boat began to corrode.

2 [+ obj] : to gradually destroy or weaken (something) • Years of lies and secrets had corroded their relationship.

— cor-ro-sion /kə'rɒʊzən/ noun [noncount] • a material that is resistant to corrosion [=that cannot be corroded easily] cor-ro-sive /kə'rɒʊsɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : causing corrosion: such as a : causing damage to metal or other materials through a chemical process • highly corrosive chemicals/gases/liquids b : causing someone or something to become weak and damaged • the corrosive [=destructive] effects of drug use • She argues that racism is dangerous and corrosive to society.

cor-ru-gat-ed /'kɒrə,geɪtəd/ adj : having a wavy surface — used to describe thin sheets of material (such as metal or cardboard) that have a surface in which there are many folds that look like a series of waves • Their house had a dirt floor and a corrugated metal roof. • corrugated boxes = boxes made out of corrugated cardboard

¹cor-rupt /kə'rʌpt/ verb -rupts; -rupt-ed; -rupt-ing

1 : to cause (someone or something) to become dishonest, immoral, etc. [+ obj] He believes that violence on television and film is corrupting our children. [=teaching bad beliefs and behaviors to our children] • a politician corrupted by greed • music that corrupts the morals of children • corrupting the country's legal system [no obj] the corrupting influence/effects of power

2 [+ obj] : to change (something) so that it is less pure or valuable • He's convinced that the Internet is corrupting [=ruining] the English language. • Their idealism has been corrupted by cynicism.

3 [+ obj] : to change (a book, computer file, etc.) from the correct or original form • The file has been corrupted and no longer works properly. • corrupted databases/files • a corrupted version of the ancient text

— cor-rupt-er noun, pl -ers [count] • a corrupter of our nation's youth — cor-rupt-ibil-i-ty /kəˈrʌptəˈbɪləti/ noun [noncount] — cor-rupt-ible /kəˈrʌptəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • young people who are easily corruptible

corrupt adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : doing things that are dishonest or illegal in order to make money or to gain or keep power • The country's justice system is riddled with corrupt judges who accept bribes. • corrupt politicians/officials • corrupt cops who sell drugs b : done or controlled by dishonest and immoral people • corrupt governments • the country's corrupt legal system

2 : dishonest, evil, or immoral • society's corrupt values

3 : changed or damaged : not in a correct or original form • a corrupt version of the text • The document is corrupt. • a corrupt computer file that no longer works properly

— cor-rupt-ly adv — cor-rupt-ness noun [noncount] • the corruptness of the local government

cor-ruption /kəˈrʌpʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : dishonest or illegal behavior especially by powerful people (such as government officials or police officers) • There are rumors of widespread corruption in the city government.

2 : the act of corrupting someone or something [noncount] the mafia's corruption of public officials • corruption of the English language • computer software that is supposed to prevent the corruption of files • database corruption • the corruption of a text [count] file corruptions

3 [count] : something that has been changed from its original form — usually singular • The phrase “an apron” is a corruption of the original English phrase “a napron.”

cor-sage /kəˈsɑːʒ/ noun, pl -sag-es [count] : a flower or small group of flowers that a woman sometimes wears on her clothing or attached to her wrist on special occasions (such as weddings)

cor-sair /kəˈseɪ/ noun, pl -sairs [count] literary + old-fashioned : ¹PIRATE ¹

cor-set /ˈkəʊsət/ noun, pl -sets [count] : a tight, stiff piece of clothing worn by women under other clothing to make their waists appear smaller ✧ Corsets are no longer commonly worn.

— cor-set-ed /ˈkəʊsətəd/ adj • tightly corseted ladies cor-tege also cor-tège /kəˈteɪʒ, Brit kəˈteɪʒ/ noun, pl -teg-es also -tèg-es [count] : a line of people or cars moving slowly at a funeral • a funeral cortege [=procession]

cor-tex /ˈkəʊtɛks/ noun, pl cor-ti-ces /ˈkəʊtəˌsiːz/ or cor-tex-es [count] medical : the outer layer of an organ in the body and especially of the brain • the cerebral cortex = the brain's cortex

— cor-ti-cal /ˈkəʊtɪkəl/ adj • cortical thickness

cor-ti-sone /ˈkəʊtəˌsəʊn/ noun [noncount] medical : a hormone that is used to treat arthritis and other diseases

1 cosh /ˈkɑːʃ/ noun, pl cosh-es [count] Brit : a small, heavy weapon that is shaped like a stick under the cosh Brit, informal : in a difficult situation • They put us under the cosh for most of the game.

2 cosh verb coshes; coshed; cosh-ing [+ obj] Brit, informal : to hit (someone) with a cosh • He was coshed on the head.

co-sign /ˈkəʊˌsaɪn/ verb -signs; -signed; -sign-ing : to sign a document saying that you agree to share the responsibility for a loan or contract with another person [+ obj] My mother cosigned the loan on my car. • cosign a lease [no obj] She cosigned for my car.

co-sig-na-to-ry /kəʊˈsɪɡnəˌtɔːri, Brit kəʊˈsɪɡnətri/ noun, pl -ries [count] formal : COSIGNER

co-sign-er /ˈkəʊˌsaɪnə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who signs an official document (such as a loan, contract, or law) with another person • Both senators are cosigners of the bill. : a person who cosigns something • My mother agreed to be a cosigner on my car loan.

co-sine /ˈkəʊˌsaɪn/ noun, pl -sines [count] geometry : the ratio between the long side (called the hypotenuse) and the side that is next to an acute angle in a right triangle cos lettuce /ˈkɑːs-/ noun [noncount] Brit : ROMAINE

1 cos-met-ic /kəzˈmetɪk/ noun, pl -ics [count] : a substance (such as a cream, lotion, or powder) that you put on your face or body to improve your appearance • Use a cosmetic to hide the scar. — usually plural • lipstick, nail polish, and other cosmetics • shopping for cosmetics [=makeup]

2 cosmetic adj

1 always used before a noun : used or done in order to improve a person's appearance • cosmetic creams • Almond oil is sometimes used in cosmetic products. • medical procedures that are done for cosmetic purposes/reasons • She says she's never had/undergone cosmetic surgery. [=surgery done to improve a person's appearance]

2 : done in order to make something look better • The house just needs some paint and a few other cosmetic [=decorative] changes.

3 [more ~; most ~] : not important or meaningful • They made a few cosmetic [=superficial] changes to the deal, but they didn't change anything of real importance. • The changes were purely cosmetic.

cos-me-tol-o-gist /kəˌzməˈtɔːlədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count] US : BEAUTICIAN cos-me-tol-o-gy /kəˌzməˈtɔːlədʒi/ noun [noncount] US : the job or skill of giving beauty treatments to women by washing and cutting hair, applying makeup, etc. • a school of cosmetology

cos-mic /ˈkɑːzmɪk/ adj

1 always used before a noun : of or relating to the universe or outer space • cosmic theories • cosmic dust/radiation

2 : relating to spiritual matters • cosmic beauty/wisdom

3 [more ~; most ~] : very large or important • The discovery caused a cosmic shift in people's views of the world. • a book of cosmic [=great, major, profound] significance

— cos-mi-cal-ly adv • cosmically significant cosmic ray noun, pl ~ rays [count] technical : a stream of energy that enters the Earth's atmosphere from outer space — usually plural cos-mol-o-gy /kəzˈmɑːlədʒi/ noun [noncount] : the scientific study of the origin and structure of the universe

— cos-mo-log-i-cal /ˌkɑːzməˈlɑːdʒɪkəl/ adj • cosmological data — cos-mol-o-gist /kəzˈmɑːlədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count]

cos-mo-naut /ˈkɑːzməˌnɑːt/ noun, pl -nauts [count] : an astronaut in the space program of Russia or the former Soviet Union

1 cos-mo-pol-i-tan /ˌkɑːzməˈpɑːlətən/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : showing an interest in different cultures, ideas, etc. • cosmopolitan [=worldly, sophisticated] writers • Greater cultural diversity has led to a more cosmopolitan attitude among the town's younger generations. • the cosmopolitan taste/sophistication of the store's customers

2 : having people from many different parts of the world • It's one of the country's more cosmopolitan cities. • the community's cosmopolitan atmosphere

— cos-mo-pol-i-tan-ism /ˌkɑːzməˈpɑːlətənɪzəm/ noun [noncount]

2 cosmopolitan noun, pl -ans [count] : a person who has lived in and knows about many different parts of the world • a young cosmopolitan cos-mos /ˈkɑːzməs, Brit ˈkɒzˌmɒs/ noun, pl cosmos

1 the cosmos : the universe especially when it is understood as an ordered system • the origins of the cosmos

2 [count] : a tall plant that has usually white, pink, or red flowers cos-set /ˈkɑːsət/ verb -sets; -set-ed; -set-ing [+ obj] formal : to give (someone) a lot of care and attention or too much care and attention : PAMPER • The hotel cossets its guests with friendly service. • She had a safe, cosseted childhood.

1 cost /ˈkɑːst/ noun, pl costs

1 : the price of something : the amount of money that is needed to pay for or buy something [count] The original cost [=price] of the house was $200,000. • She attends college at a cost of $15,000 a year. • The average cost of raising a family has increased dramatically. • We offer services at a fraction of the cost of other companies. • bringing/driving down the cost of computers = lowering/reducing the cost of computers • The person at fault in the accident is expected to bear the cost of repairs. [=is expected to pay for the repairs] [noncount] What's the difference in cost? • We were able to update the room for very little cost. [=money, expense] • They believe that everyone should have access to adequate medical care, regardless of cost. synonyms see ¹PRICE

2 [count] : an amount of money that must be spent regularly to pay for something (such as running a business or raising a family) • The cost of doing business in this area is high. • We need better cost control. • The company needs to do some cost cutting. [=needs to find ways to save money] — usually plural • production/manufacturing/operating costs • By keeping costs down, the company will make larger profits from its products. • the firm's efforts to control costs • Those are just some of the hidden costs [=expenses] of owning a house. • The government covers most of the costs of the program. [=pays for most of the program] • The family's medical costs have increased in the past year. • The company has tried to cut costs [=spend less money] in several areas. — see also COST OF LIVING

3 : something that is lost, damaged, or given up in order to achieve or get something [noncount] Winning the war, he believes, was worth the cost in lives. — often used after at • They had won the battle, but at what cost? Far too many people had died. • He had achieved fame, but at a cost; he'd lost many friends and no longer talked to anyone in his family. • She completed the project on time but at the cost of her health. [=the work she did to complete the project on time damaged her health] • He always says what he thinks, even at the cost of hurting someone's feelings. [count] What are the costs and benefits of the new law? ♦ To do something at all costs or (less commonly) at any cost is to do it even if you have to suffer, work very hard, lose everything you have, etc. • She was determined to win at all costs. [=no matter what] • Obscene language should be avoided at all costs. [=never use obscene words] • He is determined to preserve his reputation at any cost.

4 costs [plural] : the money used to pay for a court case • She was fined 50 dollars and ordered to pay court costs.

at cost US ♦ If you buy or sell something at cost, you buy or sell it for the amount of money that was needed to make it or get it. • We sold the books at cost. [=we sold the books for the same amount of money we paid to buy them; we did not make a profit from selling the books]

at no cost — used to say that something is free • Improvements have been made at no cost to taxpayers. • Club members can bring a friend at no extra cost.

count the cost see ¹COUNT to your cost chiefly Brit : from your own bad experience • I found out to my cost that he was a liar. [=I found out that he was a liar when I was hurt by his lies]

2 cost verb costs; cost; cost-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to have (an amount of money) as a price ♦ If something costs a certain amount of money, you have to pay that amount of money in order to buy it, use it, or do it. • Each ticket costs one dollar. • How much does it cost? = What does it cost? • This house costs more/less than most of the other houses in the area. • It costs more than $300,000. • (informal) New equipment costs money. [=is expensive] • (informal) I want a new car that doesn't cost an arm and a leg. [=that is not too expensive] b : to cause (someone) to pay an amount of money • The trip will cost you about $100 each way. • The project will end up costing the government an estimated 3.5 billion dollars. • It will cost you a lot of money, but it'll be worth it. • (informal) I can get the part you need, but it'll cost you. [=you will have to pay a lot of money for it] ♦ If something does not cost (you) a penny or (US) cost (you) a dime/nickel, you do not need to pay any money for it; it is free. • Come to my party. It won't cost a dime. = It won't cost you a penny.

2 a : to cause (someone) to lose something • Her mistakes cost them the game. [=they lost the game because of her mistakes] • The decision to drive that night nearly cost him his life. [=he almost died because of it] • His frequent absences ended up costing him his job. ♦ If something costs you dearly/dear, it causes you to lose something or to suffer a lot. • Changing your mind now could cost you dearly. b : to cause (someone) to experience something unpleasant • The error cost me a reprimand, but nothing more serious than that. • a blunder that has cost her considerable embarrassment

3 past tense costed Brit, business : to determine how much money will be needed to pay for (something) — usually used as (be) costed • The project was originally costed at 3 million pounds. — often + out • The project has yet to be costed out. — see also COSTING cost accounting noun [noncount] business : a system of recording and studying how much money a company spends co-star /'kəʊ, stɑː/ noun, pl -stars [count] : one of two or more main actors in a movie, television show, or play • the actress and her two costars

— costar verb -stars; -starred; -star-ring [+ obj] The film costarred Katharine Hepburn and Spencer Tracy. [no obj] He costarred in her most successful film.

cost-ben-e-fit /'kɑːst'benəfɪt/ adj, always used before a noun, business : of or relating to the study of how much money a company earns compared to how much money it spends • cost-benefit analysis • cost-benefit calculations cost-ef-fec-tive /'kɑːstəfektɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : producing good results without costing a lot of money • They need a more cost-effective [=economical] way to store data. • It's just not cost-effective for us to have two cars.

— cost-ef-fec-tive-ness noun [noncount]

cost-ef-fi-cient /'kɑːstrɪfɪjənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : COST-EFFECTIVE cos-ter-mon-ger /'kɑːstə'mʌŋgə/ noun, pl -gers [count] Brit, old-fashioned : a person who sells fruit and vegetables outside rather than in a store costing noun, pl -ings Brit, business

1 [noncount] : the process of determining how much money will be needed to pay for something • Costing of the project will be completed early next month.

2 [count] : a plan or an estimate of how much money something will cost • a lack of accurate financial costings cost-ly /'kɑːstli/ adj cost-li-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : having a high price : costing a lot : EXPENSIVE • costly jewelry • We use less costly materials in our products. • It was too costly to fix her car after the accident, so she decided to buy a new car instead.

2 : causing people to lose something or to suffer • They won the game, but their best player was injured, so it was a costly victory. • The decision to wait could be a costly mistake.

— cost-li-ness noun [noncount]

cost of living noun, pl costs of living [count] : the amount of money that is required in a particular area or society to pay for the basic things that people need (such as food, clothing, and housing) • The city has one of the highest costs of living in the world. — usually singular • Every year or so, we get a pay raise to compensate for the rising cost of living. • The cost of living is much higher in that area.

cost price noun [noncount] Brit : the amount of money that is needed to make or get something that you are going to sell • The company has agreed to sell the vaccine at cost price. [= (US) at cost]

1 cos-tume /'kɑːstjuːm, Brit 'kɒstjuːm/ noun, pl -tumes [count]

1 : the clothes that are worn by someone (such as an actor) who is trying to look like a different person or thing • children in their Halloween costumes • a colorful clown costume

2 : the clothes worn by a group of people especially during a particular time in the past • a formal 18th-century Japanese costume • The dancers were dressed in their national costumes. [=the clothing that is traditional in their countries]

3 Brit : SWIMSUIT

in costume : wearing a costume • If all the actors are in costume, we're ready to begin. • The waiters were all in ancient Roman costume.

— cos-tumed /'kɑːstjuːmd, Brit 'kɒstjuːmd/ adj • costumed actors

2 costume adj, always used before a noun : involving people wearing costumes • You're invited to a costume party! • a costume ball • costume dramas [=movies that are set in the past in which the actors are dressed like people from the past] costume jewelry noun [noncount] : fancy jewelry that is usually made of inexpensive materials rather than real gold, diamonds, etc.

cos-tum-er /'kɑːstjuːmə, Brit 'kɒstjuːmə/ noun, pl -ers [count] US : a person or company that makes, rents, or sells costumes cos-tu-mi-er /kɑːstjuːmiːə, Brit kɒ'stjuːmiːə/ noun, pl -ers [count] Brit : COSTUMER

cosy Brit spelling of COZY cot /'kɑːt/ noun, pl cots [count]

1 US : a narrow, light bed often made of cloth stretched over a folding frame — called also (Brit) camp bed

2 Brit : ¹CRIB 1a cot death noun, pl ~ deaths [count, noncount] Brit : SUD-DEN INFANT DEATH SYNDROME
co-te-rie /'kɒtəri/ noun, pl -ries [count] formal : a small group of people who are interested in the same thing and who usually do not allow other people to join the group • her coterie of fellow musicians • His films are admired by a small coterie of critics.
co-til-lion /kɒ'tɪljən/ noun, pl -lions [count] chiefly US, formal : a large formal party for dancing : BALL cot-tage /'kɑ:tɪdʒ/ noun, pl -tag-es [count] : a small house especially in the country • We rented a cottage for the weekend. • She owns a cottage at the beach.
cottage cheese noun [noncount] : a type of soft white cheese that has a mild flavor cottage hospital noun, pl ~ -tals [count] Brit : a small hospital in the country cottage industry noun, pl ~ -tries [count] : a system for making products to sell in which people work in their own homes and use their own equipment • weaving, pottery, and other cottage industries cot-tag-er /'kɑ:tɪdʒə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who lives in a cottage
¹cot-ton /'kɑ:tən/ noun, pl -tons
T [noncount] : a soft, white material that grows on the seeds of a tall plant and that is used to make cloth • They are in the field picking cotton. • bales of cotton; also : the plants on which this material grows • He grows cotton. • fields of cotton 2 [count, noncount] : cloth that is made of cotton • shirts/sheets made from cotton; also : clothing that is made of this cloth • She doesn't wear cotton in the winter.
3 [noncount] chiefly Brit : yarn that is made of cotton
4 [noncount] US : COTTON WOOL
– cotton adj • cotton fabrics/dresses • The dress is cotton.
²cotton verb -tons; -toned; -ton-ing cotton on [phrasal verb] informal : to begin to understand something : to catch on • It took a while, but they are finally starting to cotton on. — often + to • She cottoned on to the fact that I like her.
cotton to [phrasal verb] cotton to (someone or something) US, informal : to begin to like someone or something • We cottoned to our new neighbors right away. • He doesn't cot- ton to the idea of having children.
cotton ball noun, pl ~ balls [count] US : a small ball of cotton that can be used for a variety of purposes (such as removing makeup or cleaning a wound) and that is usually used once and then thrown away • a bag of cotton balls — called also (Brit) cotton wool ball cotton bud noun, pl ~ buds [count] Brit : COTTON SWAB cotton candy noun [noncount] US : candy made from sugar that is boiled, spun into a soft material using a special machine, and then wound around a stick — called also (Brit) candy floss
cotton gin noun, pl ~ gins [count] : a machine that separates the seeds of cotton plants from the cotton cot-ton-mouth /'kɑ:tən,maʊθ/ noun, pl -mouths [count]
: WATER MOCCASIN
cottonmouth moccasin noun, pl ~ -sins [count] : WA-TER MOCCASIN cot-ton-pick-ing /'kɑ:tən,pɪkən/ adj, always used before a noun, US, old-fashioned + informal — used to make a statement more forceful • She didn't do a cotton-picking [=damned, darned] thing all day. • Now wait one cotton- picking minute! • He is a cotton-picking [=damned] hypocrite.
cotton swab noun, pl ~ swabs [count] : a short stick that has round pieces of cotton at both ends — called also (Brit) cotton bud; compare Q-TIPS cot-ton-tail /'kɑ:tən,teɪl/ noun, pl -tails [count] : a small rabbit with a white tail cot-ton-wood /'kɑ:tən,wʊd/ noun, pl -woods [count] : a type of tree that grows in the U.S. and has seeds that look like they are covered with cotton cotton wool noun [noncount] Brit : a mass of cotton that is used especially for cleaning the skin or wounds cotton wool ball noun, pl ~ balls [count] Brit : COTTON BALL
cot-tony /'kɑ:təni/ adj [more ~; most ~] : like cotton : soft, fluffy, or covered with small soft hairs • The toys are stuffed with a cottony material. • cottony clouds • The flowers are small and cottony.
¹couch /'kaʊtʃ/ noun, pl couch-es [count]

1 : a long piece of furniture on which a person can sit or lie down : SOFA — see picture at LIVING ROOM 2 : a piece of furniture for a patient to lie on at a doctor's office • a psychiatrist's couch
²couch verb couches; couched; couch-ing [+ obj] formal
: to say or express (something) in a particular way — usually used as (be) couched; usually + in • The letter was couched in polite terms.
couch potato noun, pl ~ -toes [count] informal + disap- proving : someone who spends a lot of time sitting and watching television
cou-gar /'ku:gə/ noun, pl cou-gars also cougar [count]
: a large brownish cat that was once common in North and South America — called also mountain lion, (US) panther, puma; see picture at CAT
¹cough /'kɑ:f/ verb coughs; coughed; cough-ing [no obj]
T : to force air through your throat with a short, loud noise often because you are sick • She was coughing and sneezing all day. • The dust made him cough.
2 : to make a noise like that of coughing • The engine coughed and sputtered and then stopped.
cough up [phrasal verb] cough up (something) or cough (something) up 1 : to have (something, such as blood) come up through your throat and out of your mouth when you cough • He was coughing up blood. 2 informal : to give (something, such as money or information) to someone especially when you do not want to • We had to cough up an extra hundred dollars for the car rental. • The police made the suspect cough up the names of his accomplices.
3 US, sports : to fail to keep or hold (something) • The quarterback coughed up [=fumbled] the ball. • They coughed up [=lost, gave up] the lead in the second half.
²cough noun, pl coughs [count]
T : a physical condition or illness that causes someone to cough • He has a cough and a cold. • They both have bad coughs. • He has a terrible smoker's cough. [=a cough caused by smoking] — see also WHOOPING COUGH 2 : an act of coughing or the sound made when someone coughs • I heard a cough from the back of the church. • He gave a cough [=he coughed] to get my attention. • dry/hacking coughs cough drop noun, pl ~ drops [count] : a small piece of candy that contains medicine to prevent coughing cough syrup noun [noncount] : a usually sweet liquid that contains medicine used to stop coughing — called also cough medicine, (Brit) cough mixture could /'kʊd, kəd/ verb [modal verb]
T — used as the past tense of can • When I was younger I could run fast, but I can't run fast now. • Years ago you could buy a record album for a quarter. • The car cost more than I could afford, so I bought a cheaper model. • From where we stood, we could see for miles. • She could be very rude at times. [=she was sometimes very rude] • He never could quite fit in with the group. • She said we could do whatever we wanted. [=she said, "You can do whatever you want."] • How could something like this happen? usage see ¹CAN
2 a — used to say that something is possible • You could [=might, may] be making the biggest mistake of your life! •
This could be our only chance to get out of here. • His recovery could take months. • This medicine could help your cold.
• The evidence is not conclusive, but he could (very well) be right. • This news could mean trouble. • Did you think he could still be alive? • That kind of thing could happen to anyone. • They could still succeed, although it's not likely. • I think he could be trying to cheat us. • Do you think he could [=can] really be serious? • Could this be our ride? [=is this our ride?] b — used with have to say that something was possible but did not actually happen • You could have been seriously hurt. • The accident could have been worse. • The movie could have been better. [=the movie wasn't very good]
• They could have succeeded if they had worked harder. •
The error could have lost the game for them. • We could just as easily have fixed the engine ourselves. C — used to talk about something that is not possible but that is hoped or wished for • We would go if only we could—but unfortunately we can't. • We would have gone if only we could have— but unfortunately we couldn't. • I wish I could fly! = (formal) Would that I could fly!
3 — used in speech to make a polite request or suggestion • Could you please pass me the salt? • Could [=can] I leave a little early today? • If you could come early, we would be pleased. • "Could I do it tomorrow instead of today?" "Yes, you can." • Could I get you a cup of coffee? [=do you want a cup of coffee?] • If tape doesn't work, you could try glue. • "Where can I stay?" "Well, you could always stay with me." 4 — used to say that you are annoyed by something that was or was not done • He could have at least paid for dessert! • Why are you always late? You could try being on time for once! • If she wasn't going to make it, she could have called. • You could at least tell me why you were late!

5 — used in statements that express a strong emotional reaction • I could have died of embarrassment! [=I was very embarrassed] • I could just kill him! [=I am very angry at him] • When she told me I'd won, I could almost have hugged her! [=I felt like hugging her] • I'm so frustrated I could scream! [=I feel like screaming]

6 — used in statements that describe something as very bad, good, etc. • What could be better than this? • Registering could not be simpler. [=registering is very simple] • I could hardly be more pleased [=I'm very pleased] with the way things are going. • The situation couldn't be worse/better. [=the situation is as bad/good as it can be] • I couldn't be happier [=I'm very happy] with the way our new kitchen looks. could care less see ²CARE could do with ✧ If you could do with something, you need it or would be helped by getting or having it. • Is there a restaurant nearby? I could do with something to eat. • This room could do with a fresh coat of paint.

couldn't /'kʊdn̩t/ — used as a contraction of could not • I tried but I couldn't do it.

couldn't care less see ²CARE

could've /'kʊdəv/ — used as a contraction of could have • I could've done it if I had more time.

cou·lis /ku'li:/ noun, pl cou·lis /ku'li:z/ [count, noncount] : a thick sauce made from vegetables or fruit • raspberry coulis

¹coun·cil /'kaʊnsəl/ noun, pl -cils [count]

1 : a group of people who are chosen to make rules, laws, or decisions about something • The city council is considering a ban on smoking in restaurants. • the town/parish council • a national security council • a tribal council

2 : a group of people who provide advice or guidance on something • the governor's council on physical fitness • the king's council

Do not confuse council with counsel.

²council adj, always used before a noun

1 : of or relating to a council • a council member/meeting

2 Brit : provided by a local government council for people to live in for low rent • council estates/houses/flats coun·cil·lor or US coun·cil·or /'kaʊnslə/ noun, pl -cillors or US -cil·ors [count] : a member of a council • a city councillor

Do not confuse councillor with counselor.

coun·cil·man /'kaʊnsəlmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] US : a person (especially a man) who is a member of a council • a city councilman council·wom·an /'kaʊnsəl,wʊmən/ noun, pl -wom·en /-wɪmən/ [count] US : a woman who is a member of a council • a town councilwoman

¹coun·sel /'kaʊnsəl/ noun, pl counsel

1 [noncount] formal : advice given to someone • You were unwise to reject my counsel. • The student sought counsel from her teacher.

2 law : a lawyer who represents a person or group in a court of law [noncount] She is serving as counsel for the defendant. • On the advice of counsel [=because of the lawyer's advice], she refused to answer the question. [count] the company's chief/general counsel • a defense/legal counsel • All counsel are expected to obey the rules of the court.

Do not confuse counsel with council.

²counsel verb -sels; US -seled or Brit -selled; US -sel·ing or Brit -sel·ing [+ obj] formal

1 a : to give advice to (someone) • She counseled [=advised] him not to accept the offer. b : to listen to and give support or advice to (someone) especially as a job • He counsels people who are trying to quit drinking.

2 : to suggest or recommend (something) • The President's advisers counseled [=advised] restraint until the incident had been investigated.

counseling (US) or Brit counselling noun [noncount] : advice and support that is given to people to help them deal with problems, make important decisions, etc. • She is receiving counseling to cope with the death of her husband. • The college offers career counseling. • drug/debt counseling

coun·sel·or (US) or chiefly Brit coun·sel·lor /'kaʊnslə/ noun, pl US -sel·ors or chiefly Brit -sel·lors [count]

1 : a person who provides advice as a job : a person who counsels people • a marriage counselor • a school guidance counselor [=a person who gives students advice about school, college, etc.]

2 US : a person who is in charge of young people at a summer camp • He works as a camp counselor.

3 US : LAWYER • a counselor at law — often used as a form of address • I'd like to speak with you, Counselor.

Do not confuse counselor with councillor.

¹count /'kaʊnt/ verb counts; count·ed; count·ing

1 a : to add (people or things) together to find the total number [+ obj] Count the plates on the table. • She made sure to count her change. • Count how many fingers I am holding up. • He counted seven deer in the field. • When it comes to books, I have too many to count. [=I have a lot of books] • She is counting calories. [=she counts the number of calories in the food she eats so that she won't eat too much] — often + up • She was counting up the money in the envelope. • All the votes were counted up, and he was the winner. [no obj] There are 10 days left until the end of school, counting from today. • Keep counting until there are no more left to count. • Don't interrupt me. I'm counting. b [no obj] : to say numbers in order • Can your daughter count yet? • The teacher taught the students to count by 10s. [=to say "10, 20, 30, etc."] — often + to or up to • My son can count to one hundred. • He counted up to 10 and then stopped.

2 [+ obj] : to include (someone or something) in a total • She counts [=numbers] several musicians among her friends. [=her friends include musicians] • There will be 150 people at the wedding, not counting children.

3 [no obj] : to be accepted or allowed officially • There was a penalty on the play, so the goal does not count. [=the goal is not allowed]

4 a [+ obj] : to consider or regard (someone or something) in a specified way • I count myself lucky. — often + as • I don't count him as my friend anymore. • She was counted as absent from school that day. b [no obj] : to be considered or regarded as something • A laptop computer counts as a piece of luggage on the plane. • The job is so easy that it hardly counts as work. [=it can hardly be considered to be work]

5 [no obj] : to have value or importance • Every vote counts. • He played well in the play-offs, when it really counted. [=mattered] — often + for • My effort in class has to count for something! • Her promises don't count for much. [=his promises don't have much value]

6 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to be considered in a specified way when a person or thing is being judged [no obj] His experience counts in his favor. [=his experience is a good thing that is in his favor] • His lack of experience counts against him. • A wrong answer on the quiz will not count against [=will not hurt] your final grade. [+ obj] They counted his lack of job experience against him. • A wrong answer on the quiz will not be counted against your final grade.

and counting : with more to come • He is 47 years old and counting. • They have been in business for 50 years and counting.

count down [phrasal verb] 1 : to count numbers in a reverse order from higher numbers to lower ones • He counted down from 10 to 1. 2 count down (something) also count (something) down : to pay close attention to the number of (days, miles, etc.) that remain until a particular moment or event is reached • He is counting down the days left in the school year. [=he is eagerly looking forward to the end of the school year] • We were counting down the miles as we approached our destination.

count heads : to count how many people are present at a place • The coach counted heads before the bus left.

count in [phrasal verb] count (someone) in : to plan to include (someone) in an activity : to consider (someone) as one of the people who will be doing something • "Do you want to go to the beach with us?" "Yes! Count me in!"

count off [phrasal verb] 1 : to count numbers that are spaced a certain number apart • The students counted off by twos. [=counted 2, 4, 6, 8, etc.] 2 count off (something) or count (something) off : to list (something) out loud • She counted off all the things she wanted to do.

count on/upon [phrasal verb] 1 count on/upon (someone)
a : to trust (someone) : to rely or depend on (someone) to do something • He isn't someone you can count on all the time. • I am counting on you to help me through this difficult time. • She is counted on [=trusted] as a leader. b : to expect (someone) to do something • I wouldn't count on him to win the match. 2 count on/upon (something) : to expect (something) to happen • My parents might loan me some money, but I can't count on it. • She is counting on a big tax refund this year. • The kids are counting on going to the movies. Don't disappoint them! • They were not counting on getting a flat tire on the way to the restaurant.

count out [phrasal verb] 1 count (someone) out : to not include (someone) in an activity • If you are looking for people to help you clean the house today, count me out. [=don't include me; I won't be helping you] 2 count (someone or something) out or count out (someone or something) : to decide that (someone or something) cannot win or succeed • Don't count out our team just yet. They could still win.

count the cost : to feel the bad effects of a mistake, accident, etc. • He was careless and now he's counting the cost. = Now he's counting the cost of his carelessness.

count toward/towards [phrasal verb] count toward/towards (something) or count (something) toward/towards (something) : to have value as a credit or payment in relation to (something) • The credits you earned for this class count toward your degree. [=they are added to the total number of credits you have earned for your degree] — often used as (be) counted toward/towards • Fifty dollars will be counted towards [=credited to] your next bill.

count your blessings see BLESSING

count your chickens before they hatch see ¹CHICKEN

stand up and be counted see ¹STAND

who's counting? informal + humorous — used to say that you do not care about how large a number is • Tomorrow's my 80th birthday, but who's counting?

²count noun, pl counts

1 [count] a : an act or process of adding people or things together to find the total number : an act or process of counting — usually singular • They completed the ballot count late last night. • At (my) last count [=the last time I counted], I had 50 responses to the invitation. • According to the last count, he still needs many more votes. • The official count showed that 40 people were killed in the hurricane. • The teacher took/did a quick count of the students. [=the teacher quickly counted the students] — see also HEAD COUNT b : the total number that is counted — usually singular • The final count [=tally] of people at the conference was over 200. — see also BLOOD COUNT, BODY COUNT, POLLEN COUNT

2 [singular] : an act or process of saying numbers in order until a particular number is reached • The boxer took an eight-count before getting up again. [=the referee counted to eight before the boxer got up again] — usually + of • I'll give you a count of three to get out of here. = I'll give you until the count of three to get out of here. • If you're not out of here by the count of three [=by the time I count to three], I'm calling the police. • Jump off the diving board at the count of 10. [=when I say "10" after counting "one, two, three, ..." etc.] • Hold your breath for a count of 10. [=for the amount of time that it takes to count to 10]

3 [count] law : one of the crimes that someone is charged with — often + of • She was charged with two counts of theft, and she was found guilty on both counts.

4 [count] : an idea or opinion that is expressed in a statement, argument, etc. • The theory is wrong on all/several counts. [=all/several parts of the theory are wrong] • I agree with you on both counts. [=I agree with both the points you have made]

5 the count baseball : the number of balls and strikes that have been pitched to a batter • The count is two balls, two strikes. • He was behind/ahead in the count. [=he had more/fewer strikes than balls against him] ♦ A full count is a situation in baseball in which a batter has three balls and two strikes.

down for the count (US) or out for the count of a boxer : knocked down and unable to get up again while the referee counts to 10 • The boxer was down for the count. [=knocked out] — often used figuratively • The company may be about to go down for the count. [=may be about to fail completely and go out of business] • Two minutes after getting into bed, I was out for the count. [=I was sleeping deeply] keep count : to remember or keep a record of a number or total • He's has had so many different girlfriends lately that I no longer can keep count. • She is keeping count [=keeping track] of the hours she spends watching TV.

lose count : to forget a number or total • I've lost count [=lost track] of how many different girlfriends he's had. • I was counting the money when he interrupted me and made me lose count.

— compare ³COUNT

³count noun, pl counts [count] : a nobleman in some European counties who has a high rank similar to a British earl — compare ²COUNT

count-down /'kaunt,daun/ noun, pl -downs [count]

1 : the act of counting down the number of seconds that remain before something (such as the launch of a rocket) happens — usually singular • Begin the countdown. • The engineers stopped the countdown because something was wrong with the engine.

2 : the period of time before an important or special event — usually singular; usually + to • the countdown to summer vacation • the steady countdown to war

¹coun·te·nance /'kauntəns/ noun, pl -nances [count] formal + literary : the appearance of a person's face : a person's expression • The photograph showed his somber countenance.

²countenance verb -nances; -nanced; -nancing [+ obj] formal : to accept, support, or approve of (something) • The city would not countenance [=permit] a rock concert in the park. • The leader did not officially countenance [=encourage] negotiations with the rebels.

¹count·er /'kauntə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a piece of furniture with a flat surface that workers and customers stand on opposite sides of when doing business in a store, restaurant, etc. • He walked up to the counter and ordered his food. • There was a long line at the sales/checkout counter. • I put my money down on the counter. • She recognized the man behind the counter. — see also LUNCH COUNTER

2 US a : a long, flat surface on which food is prepared in a kitchen • a kitchen counter • I wish my kitchen had more counter space. [=I wish it had more counters or a bigger counter] — called also countertop, (Brit) worktop; see picture at KITCHEN b : a flat surface around a sink in a bathroom • a bathroom counter — called also countertop

3 : a small object that is used in some board games

over the counter : without a special note (called a prescription) from a doctor • The drug is available over the counter.
under the counter : secretly and usually illegally • The workers were paid under the counter. [=under the table]

— compare ²COUNTER, ⁴COUNTER

²counter noun, pl -ers [count] : a person or device that counts something • The counter records how many people visit the Web site. — see also BEAN COUNTER, GEIGER COUNTER — compare ¹COUNTER, ⁴COUNTER

³coun·ter /'kauntə/ verb -ters; -tered; -tering

1 a [no obj] : to do something in defense or in response to something — often + with • She countered with some of the most brilliant chess moves ever seen. • He countered with a punch to the other fighter's head. b [+ obj] : to make (something) less effective or ineffective • This pill will counter [=counteract] the side effects of the other one.

2 : to say (something) in response to something that another person has said [+ obj] When they blamed him for the collapse of the bridge, he countered that his warnings about the bridge had been ignored. • "I could say the same thing about you," she countered. [no obj] After she made her point, he could not counter with anything.

⁴counter noun, pl -ters [count] formal : something that is made or done as a defense against or response to something else : something that makes something else less effective or ineffective — usually singular; usually + to • The policy is intended as a counter to efforts to decrease spending on education. — compare ¹COUNTER, ²COUNTER

⁵counter adv : in a way that goes against or does not agree with something — + to • The soldier acted counter to his orders. [=he did something that was against his orders] • His theory ran counter to [=was opposed to; did not agree with] the beliefs of his time. • Such behavior runs counter to the values of society.

coun·ter- /'kauntə/ prefix

1 : in a direction opposite to • counterclockwise

2 : as a reaction against • counteroffensive

coun-ter-act /ˈkaʊntəˈækt/ verb -acts; -act-ed; -act-ing [+ obj] : act against (something) : to cause (something) to have less of an effect or to have no effect at all • The drug will counteract the poison. • The new fees will counteract [=offset] state cuts in the school's budget.

coun-ter-at-tack /ˈkaʊntərəˈtæk/ noun, pl -tacks [count] : an attack that is made in response to an attack by an enemy or opponent • They launched a fierce counterattack by air once the fog cleared. • The team finally mounted a counterattack in the last quarter of the game.

— counterattack verb -tacks; -tacked; -tack-ing [no obj] The enemy counterattacked [=retaliated] at dawn. [+ obj] He quickly counterattacked his opponent.

coun-ter-bal-ance /ˈkaʊntəˈbæləns/ verb -anc-es; -anced; -anc-ing [+ obj] formal : to have an effect that is opposite but equal to (something) : to balance (something) by being opposite • Improved services for phone customers have been counterbalanced [=offset] by higher fees. • The author's wry humor counterbalances the book's serious subject matter.

— counterbalance noun, pl -ances [count] • The author's wry humor is a good counterbalance to the book's serious subject matter.

coun-ter-clock-wise /ˈkaʊntəˈklɔːkwaɪz/ adv, US : in the direction opposite to movement of a clock's hands • Turn the screw counterclockwise [= (Brit) anticlockwise] one full turn. — opposite CLOCKWISE

— counterclockwise adj • a counterclockwise [= (Brit) anticlockwise] direction

coun-ter-cul-ture /ˈkaʊntəˈkʌltʃə/ noun, pl -tures [count] : a culture with values and customs are very different from and usually opposed to those accepted by most of society • the counterculture of the hippies; also : the people who make up a counterculture • He was part of the antiwar counterculture. • the drug counterculture — often used before another noun • counterculture heroes/publications/struggles

— coun-ter-cul-tur-al /ˈkaʊntəˈkʌltʃərəl/ adj • countercultural movements/values/ideas

coun-ter-es-pi-o-nage /ˈkaʊntəˈɛspɪjənɔːʒ/ noun [non-count] formal : the activity of preventing or stopping enemies from spying • He was involved in counterespionage against Germany in World War II.

coun-ter-feit /ˈkaʊntəˈfiːt/ verb -feits; -feit-ed; -feit-ing [+ obj] : to make an exact copy of (something) in order to trick people • They were counterfeiting money in his garage. • He counterfeited [=forged] the documents.

— counterfeiting noun [noncount] • He was sent to jail for counterfeiting. — coun-ter-feit-er noun, pl -ers [count]

2 counterfeited adj : made to look like an exact copy of something in order to trick people • counterfeited money/bills/currency • The concert ticket is counterfeited.

3 counterfeited noun, pl -feits [count] : something that is made to look like an exact copy of something else in order to trick people • The 100-dollar bill turned out to be a counterfeited. [=fake, phony]

coun-ter-foil /ˈkaʊntəˈfɔɪl/ noun, pl -foils [count] chiefly Brit : the part of a check, ticket, etc., that can be kept as a record when it is torn off : STUB coun-ter-in-sur-gen-cy /ˈkaʊntərɪnˈsɜːdʒənsi/ noun, pl -cies formal : action by a group, army, etc., against people who are fighting to take control of a government [count] The military has launched a counterinsurgency. [noncount] an expert in counterinsurgency — often used before another noun • a counterinsurgency operation

— coun-ter-in-sur-gent noun, pl -gents [count] • a band of counterinsurgents

coun-ter-in-tel-li-gence /ˈkaʊntərɪnˈtelɪdʒəns/ noun [noncount] formal : activity meant to hide the truth from an enemy or to prevent the enemy from learning secret information — often used before another noun • counterintelligence agents/operations coun-ter-in-tu-i-tive /ˈkaʊntərɪnˈtuːwətrɪv, Brit ˈkaʊntərɪnˈtjuːətrɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : different from what you would expect : not agreeing with what seems right or natural • It may seem counterintuitive, but we do burn calories when we are sleeping. • counterintuitive results coun-ter-mand /ˈkaʊntəˈmænd, Brit ˈkaʊntəˈmɑːnd/ verb -mands; -mand-ed; -mand-ing [+ obj] formal : to cancel (an order) especially by giving a new order • Orders to blow up the bridge were countermanded.

coun-ter-measure /ˈkaʊntəˈmeʒə/ noun, pl -sures [count] : an action or device that is intended to stop or prevent something bad or dangerous — usually plural • new countermeasures against terrorism • The army used electronic countermeasures to block enemy radar.

coun-ter-of-fen-sive /ˈkaʊntərəˈfensɪv/ noun, pl -sives [count] : an attack made in order to defend against an enemy or opponent • They mounted/launched a counteroffensive against the enemy.

coun-ter-of-fer /ˈkaʊntəˈɔːfə/ noun, pl -fers [count] : an offer that is made by someone in response to a previous offer • He turned down the deal and came back with a counteroffer asking for more money.

coun-ter-part /ˈkaʊntəˈpɑːt/ noun, pl -parts [count] : someone or something that has the same job or purpose as another • The secretary of defense met with his counterparts in Asia to discuss the nuclear crisis. • Metal tools replaced their stone counterparts many, many years ago. • the lead actress and her male counterpart

1 coun-ter-point /ˈkaʊntəˈpɔɪnt/ noun, pl -points

1 music a : a combination of two or more melodies that are played together [count] a two-person counterpoint [non-count] The guitar and bass are played in counterpoint. b [count] : a melody played in combination with another

2 formal : something that is different from something else in usually a pleasing way [count] The dressing is a refreshing counterpoint to the spicy chicken. • The painting is a pleasant counterpoint to his earlier works. [noncount] The music works in counterpoint to the images on the screen.

2 counterpoint verb -points; -point-ed; -point-ing [+ obj] formal : to put two things together in a way that shows how different they are from each other : CONTRAST • The violence of the movie is counterpointed by/with ironic humor.

coun-ter-pro-duc-tive /ˈkaʊntəˈprɒˌdʌktɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not helpful : making the thing you want to happen less likely to happen • His uncontrollable anger is very counterproductive to his attempt at saving his marriage. • a counterproductive approach coun-ter-rev-o-lu-tion /ˈkaʊntəˈrevəˈluːʃən/ noun, pl -tions : action by a group, army, etc., that is done to overthrow a government that is in power because of an earlier revolution [noncount] The leader vowed to stop any attempt at counterrevolution. [count] Soldiers loyal to the President led the counterrevolution.

— coun-ter-rev-o-lu-tion-ary /ˈkaʊntəˈrevəˈluːʃənəri, Brit ˈkaʊntəˈrevəˈluːʃənri/ adj • counterrevolutionary forces

— counterrevolutionary noun, pl -aries [count]

coun-ter-sign /ˈkaʊntəˈsaɪn/ verb -signs; -signed; -sign-ing [+ obj] : to sign (a document) after another person has already signed it especially to show that it is valid or authentic • The order has to be countersigned by a doctor.

coun-ter-ter-ror-ism /ˈkaʊntəˈterəˈɪzəm/ noun [non-count] : actions by a group, army, etc., that are done to prevent terrorist attacks and destroy terrorist networks — often used before another noun • a counterterrorism agency

— coun-ter-ter-ror-ist /ˈkaʊntəˈterəˈrɪst/ adj • counterterrorist strategy

coun-ter-top /ˈkaʊntəˈtɒp/ noun, pl -tops US : 'COUNTER 2

coun-ter-vail-ing /ˈkaʊntəˈveɪlɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun, formal : having an equal but opposite effect • countervailing influences • The policy has many faults and many countervailing virtues.

coun-ter-weight /ˈkaʊntəˈweɪt/ noun, pl -weights [count] : a weight that provides a balance against something of equal weight • The crane has a heavy counterweight on the back. — often used figuratively • Their liberal views act as a counterweight to/against the governor's conservatism.

count-ess /ˈkaʊntəs/ noun, pl -esses [count]

1 : the wife of a count or an earl

2 : a woman who has the rank of count or earl count-less /ˈkaʊntləs/ adj : too many to be counted : very many • He has written countless [=numerous] magazine and newspaper articles. • There are countless reasons why that would not be a good idea. • I've been there countless times.

count noun noun, pl ~ nouns [count] grammar : a noun (such as bean or ball) that has both a singular and plural form and can be used after a numeral, after words such as many or few, or after the indefinite article a or an — compare NONCOUNT NOUN coun-tri-fied /ˈkʌntriˈfaɪd/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal

1 : suited to the country instead of the city • a countrified man • a restaurant with a countrified atmosphere

2 : played or sung like country music • countrified rock

1 coun·try /'kʌntri/ noun, pl -tries

1 a [count] : an area of land that is controlled by its own government : NATION • The two countries have a lot in common. • European/foreign countries • They drove across the country from California to New York. • They are living in different parts of the country. — see also MOTHER COUNTRY, OLD COUNTRY b the country : the people who live in a country • The whole country was stunned by the news. • The President has the support of most of the country.

2 [noncount] : an area or region that has a particular quality or feature or is known for a particular activity. • He moved to the north country to fish and hunt. • We went camping in the hill country. • They drove through miles of open country. • We took a trip to wine country. [=an area where grapes are grown and wine is made]

3 the country : land that is away from big towns and cities : COUNTRYSIDE • She lives out in the country. • They prefer the country to the city.

4 [noncount] : COUNTRY MUSIC • She loves country and rock.

across country 1 : from one side of a country to the other. • They drove across country. 2 : from one side of the countryside to the other • The river runs across country. ; by a course going directly over the countryside rather than by roads • The group walked across country. — see also CROSS-COUNTRY go to the country Brit : to call for a general election to be held • He went to the country and won.

2 country adj, always used before a noun

1 : of, relating to, or characteristic of the country • a country town/road • country living/comforts • country folk

2 : of or relating to country music • a country singer • country radio country and western noun [noncount] : COUNTRY MUSIC country club noun, pl ~ clubs [count] : a private club where people go for social events and to play golf, tennis, etc.

coun·try dance /'kʌntri,dæns, Brit 'kʌntri,dɑːns/ noun [noncount] : a dance in which couples dance in long lines or circles

— country dancing noun [noncount] country house noun, pl ~ houses [count] : a large house in the country typically owned by someone who also has a home in a city coun·try·man /'kʌntrimən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] formal

1 : a person who lives in or comes from the same country as you : COMPATRIOT • my fellow countrymen

2 Brit : a person who lives in the countryside country mile noun [singular] informal : a long distance • He lives a country mile from the nearest store. • She beat the other swimmers by a country mile.

country music noun [noncount] : a style of music that developed in the southern and western U.S. and that often contains lyrics relating to the lives of people who live in the country country rock noun [noncount] : a type of rock music that sounds similar to country music country seat noun, pl ~ seats [count] chiefly Brit : a large house that is built on a large piece of land coun·try·side /'kʌntri,said/ noun [noncount] : land that is away from big towns and cities • She lives in the countryside. [=country] • We took a long drive through the open countryside.

coun·try·wide /'kʌntri'waid/ adj : happening or existing in all parts of a country : NATIONWIDE • The murders attracted countrywide attention.

— countrywide adv • The company has opened several stores countrywide.

coun·try·wom·an /'kʌntri,wumən/ noun, pl -wom·en /-,wimən/ [count]

1 : a woman born or living in the same country as someone else

2 Brit : a woman who lives in the countryside coun·ty /'kaunti/ noun, pl -ties [count] : an area of a state or country that is larger than a city and has its own government to deal with local matters • the largest school district in the county — often used before another noun • the county sheriff • a county fair county court noun, pl ~ courts [count] : a court of law for cases within a county county seat noun, pl ~ seats [count] US : the town or city in a county where the government offices and buildings are located county town noun, pl ~ towns [count] Brit : COUNTY SEAT coup /'kuː/ noun, pl coups [count]

1 : COUP D'ÉTAT • a military coup • a coup attempt

2 : an impressive victory or achievement that usually is difficult or unexpected • It was a major coup when they got the Vice President to appear on their show for an interview.

coup de grâce or coup de grace /,kuːdə'grɑːs/ noun, pl coups de grâce or coups de grace /,kuːdə'grɑːs/ [count] formal

1 : an action or event that finally ends or destroys something that has been getting weaker or worse • The legislature's decision to cut funding has administered the coup de grâce to the governor's proposal.

2 : a hit or shot that kills a person or animal that is suffering coup d'état or coup d'etat /,kuː,dɛr'tɑː/ noun, pl coups d'état or coup d'etat /,kuː,dɛr'tɑː/ [count] : a sudden attempt by a small group of people to take over the government usually through violence • a military coup d'état • a bloody coup d'état

coupe (US) or chiefly Brit cou·pé /kuː'peɪ, 'kuːp, Brit 'kuːpeɪ/ noun, pl coupes [count] : a car that has two doors and that has room for four or sometimes only for two people — compare SEDAN

1 cou·ple /'kʌpəl/ noun, pl couples [count]

1 : two people who are married or who have a romantic or sexual relationship • a happily married couple • “Are they a couple?” “No, they are just good friends.” • Seventeen couples participated in the survey. • The romance had gone out of their relationship, so they signed up for couples therapy. [=therapy in which a psychologist helps couples solve problems with their relationships]

2 : two people or things that are together : PAIR — usually used in the phrase in couples • The people were lined up in couples.

a couple informal 1 : two or a few of something • Can you give me a couple more examples? • This one costs a couple less dollars than that one. ♡ In informal U.S. English, a couple can be used like a couple of before a plural noun. • I lost interest in the book after a couple chapters. • We owned a couple dogs. • We stopped for a couple drinks after work. It is often used with periods of time and numbers. • I saw the movie a couple nights ago. • We met a couple years ago. • I took a couple weeks off. • a couple hundred people • a couple dozen 2 : two or a few • “How many drinks have you had?” “Oh, just a couple.”

a couple of : two of or a few of : two (things) or a few (things) • It happened a couple of days ago. [=two days ago] • I only had a couple of sips. • Can you loan me a couple of dollars? • I have a couple of favorite restaurants I go to. • I'll be ready in a couple of minutes. [=I'll be ready soon] • Our schedule is booked solid for the next couple of weeks. [=for the next two weeks] • They've lost the last/previous couple of games.

— cou·ple·dom /'kʌpəldəm/ noun [noncount] • They are breaking up after eight years of coupledom. [=after eight years of being a couple]

2 couple verb couples; cou·pled; cou·pling [+ obj]

1 : to join (two things) together : CONNECT • a device that makes it possible to couple the pieces • The coils are loosely/tightly coupled.

2 : to join (something) to something else : CONNECT • The wire is coupled to the terminal. • It took an hour to couple the trailer to the truck.

couple with [phrasal verb] couple (something) with (something) : to join or combine (something) with (something else) • The exhibit couples poems with paintings. — usually used as (be) coupled with • An oil spill coupled with [=combined with, together with] strong winds brought disaster. • The team's win, coupled with a loss by their rivals, put them in first place.

— cou·pler /'kʌplə/ noun, pl -plers [count] • The company manufactures trailer couplers. [=couplings, hitches]

cou·plet /'kʌplət/ noun, pl -plets [count] : two lines of poetry that form a unit • a rhyming couplet • a poem made up of six couplets

cou·pling /'kʌplɪŋ/ noun, pl -plings [count]

1 : a device that connects two parts or things • hose couplings [=couplers] • the couplings between railroad cars

2 formal : the act of having sex • erotic/illicit couplings

3 : the act of combining two things • a/the coupling of literature and science

cou·pon /'kʊ:,pɑ:n, 'kju:,pɑ:n/ noun, pl -pons [count]

1 : a usually small piece of printed paper that lets you get a service or product for free or at a lower price • Bring in this coupon for a free oil change. • I'm always clipping coupons from the newspaper to use at the grocery store. • The coupon is good for one free ice-cream cone.

2 chiefly Brit : a section of an advertisement that you can cut out and mail to a company in order to request information or to order a product or service • Send in this coupon for more information.

cour·age /'kʌrɪdʒ/ noun [noncount] : the ability to do something that you know is difficult or dangerous • The troops showed great courage [=bravery] in battle. • She has the courage to support unpopular causes. • It takes courage to stand up for your rights. • I finally worked/got up the courage [=nerve] to tell him the bad news. • They showed great courage [=fearlessness] and determination. • Eventually she summoned (up) the courage to confront him. • They showed courage under fire, [=they were brave while they were being shot at or while they were being strongly criticized] • He has the courage of his convictions, [=he is not afraid to do what he believes is right] cou·ra·geous /kə'reɪdʒəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very brave : having or showing courage • a courageous soldier • She was a courageous woman who wasn't afraid to support unpopular causes. • a courageous act/decision • a courageous [=fearless] companion

— cou·ra·geous·ly adv • They have fought courageously for their rights. — cou·ra·geous·ness noun [noncount] • a leader admired for his courageousness

cour·gette /kə'ʒet/ noun, pl -gettes [count] Brit : ZUCCHINI

¹cou·ri·er /'kəri:jə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person whose job is to carry messages, packages, etc., from one person or place to another • A courier [=messenger] will deliver the photo this afternoon. • Police recently arrested a drug courier in our neighborhood. • He worked as a bicycle courier in the city. [=a courier who uses a bicycle]

2 : a business that is used to send messages, packages, etc. • The documents were sent by overnight courier.

3 Brit : a person who is employed by a travel company and whose job is to help people who are on holiday

²courier verb -ers; -ered; -er-ing [+ obj] chiefly Brit : to use a courier to send (a message, package, etc.) to a person or place • The package was couriered overnight to our offices.

¹course /'kɔ:s/ noun, pl courses

1 [count] a : the path or direction that something or someone moves along • the course of a river • a ship's course • The pilot brought the plane back on course. • The ship was blown off course by a storm. — often used figuratively • This win puts the team back on course for the championship. • The book is generally well written but it occasionally veers off course. [=it has some parts that do not seem to be about what the rest of the book is about] • a battle that altered/changed the course of history [=that changed the way things happened in the years that followed] — see also COLLISION COURSE b : a path or route that runners, skiers, bikers, etc., move along especially in a race • a cross-country/marathon/ski course — see also OBSTACLE COURSE, RACE-COURSE

2 [count] a : a series of classes about a particular subject in a school • an introductory/training course • I'm taking a few writing courses [=classes] at the university. • She's taking a chemistry course this semester. — often used before another noun • course materials • course work/requirements • I have a light/full course load this semester. [=I am taking few/many classes this semester] b : a group of classes that lead to a degree (sense 5) • (chiefly Brit) She's beginning a four-year course in chemistry. [= (US) a four-year chemistry program] • Students earn the degree after a two-year course of study. — see also CORRESPONDENCE COURSE, CRASH COURSE, REFRESHER COURSE, SANDWICH COURSE, SURVEY COURSE

3 [noncount] : the normal or regular way that something happens over time • There is no cure, but the treatment will slow the course of the disease. • It's something you would never see in the normal/ordinary course of events. [=if things were happening as they usually happen] • payments made in the usual/normal/ordinary course of business [=as part of doing regular business] • The disease usually runs its course in a few days. [=develops in the usual way; begins, gets worse, and ends]

4 [noncount] — used to describe what happens during a period of time or when something is being done • They met 12 times during/in/over the course of a year. • facts discovered in the course of research • Things will get better in the course of time. [=things will get better as time passes]

5 [count] : a way of behaving or proceeding that you choose • Our wisest course is to retreat. • We're trying to determine the best course of action [=the best actions; the best things to do] at this point.

6 [count] medical : a series of medicines or medical treatments that are given to someone over a period of time • a new course of medication • The doctor prescribed a 10-day course of antibiotics. • a short/intensive course of therapy

7 [count] : a part of a meal that is served separately from other parts • We had salad for the first course. • You can choose what you want for the main course. • A different wine was served with each course. • a five-course dinner [=a dinner served in five separate parts]

8 [count] : GOLF COURSE • an 18-hole course

in due course : after a normal amount of time has passed : in the expected time • His discoveries led, in due course, to new forms of treatment. • The reasons will become apparent in due course. [=eventually]

let nature take its course see NATURE of course 1 — used to show that what is being said is very obvious or already generally known • We're talking, of course, about what happened last night. • She was late and rude—so of course she didn't get the job. • Of course, it wasn't easy for me to admit I was wrong. • “Has the bus already left?” “Of course.” 2 — used informally to give permission or say yes in a way that shows you are very certain • “May I borrow this book?” “Of course!” [=absolutely, certainly] • “Will you go?” “Of course!” • “Are you angry with me for being late?” “Of course not!” [=I am not at all angry] • “Did you take the money?” “Of course not!” [=I definitely did not] 3 — used to stress that what you are saying is true and you feel no doubt about it • Of course we'll be there. We wouldn't miss it for the world! • Of course I don't hate you! How could you think such a thing? — see also as a matter of course at ¹MATTER par for the course see PAR

pervert the course of justice see ¹PERVERT

stay the course see ¹STAY

²course verb, always followed by an adverb or preposition courses; coursed; cours-ing [no obj] : to move or flow quickly • the blood coursing through my veins • Tears were coursing down his cheeks.

¹court /'kɔ:t/ noun, pl courts

1 a [noncount] : a formal legal meeting in which evidence about crimes, disagreements, etc., is presented to a judge and often a jury so that decisions can be made according to the law • Court is now in session. • Court is adjourned for the day. — often used before another noun • a court battle/fight • court cases/records/costs b : a place where legal cases are heard [count] There was a large group of protesters outside the court. • a lawyer who has appeared in courts around the country [noncount] His landlord threatened to take him to court. [=to start a lawsuit against him; to sue him] • The organization is prepared to go to court [=to start a lawsuit] to stop construction from proceeding. • They were able to settle/resolve the case out of court. [=without going to court]

c [count] : an official group of people (such as a judge and jury) who listen to evidence and make decisions about legal cases • The case is before the state's highest court. • She's a judge on an appellate court. • state/federal courts • The prosecution has new evidence to submit to the court. • Please explain to the court what happened that night. • The court ruled/declared the law unconstitutional. • The court reversed/rejected the lower court's decision.

2 [count] : a large flat surface that is shaped like a square or rectangle and that is used for playing games like tennis and basketball • a basketball/tennis court

3 a : the place where the leader of a country and especially a king or queen lives and works [count] the courts of Europe [noncount] He spent a lot of time at court. b [count] : a king or queen and the people who live and work with him or her • The queen assembled her court. • a member of the king's court

4 [count] a — used in the names of short streets • My sister lives on Brynhurst Court. — abbr. Ct. b — used in the names of apartment buildings or groups of apartment buildings • I live in the Franklin Court apartments on Main Street. — see also MOTOR COURT C : COURTYARD • the villa's inner court • an interior court garden — see also FOOD COURT hold court : to talk to a group of people who listen to what you say because it is funny or interesting • The restaurant's owner was holding court at his usual table in the corner.

laugh out of court see ¹LAUGH pay court to formal + old-fashioned : to give a lot of attention to (someone) in order to get approval, affection, etc. • He does not approve of the young man who has been paying court to his daughter. [=who has been courting his daughter]

the ball is in your court see ¹BALL

the court of public/world opinion : the beliefs and judgment of most people • The statement was quickly condemned in the court of public opinion. [=was condemned by the public]

²court verb courts; court-ed; court-ing

1 somewhat old-fashioned : to act in a way that shows that you want or intend to get married [no obj] The couple court-ed for two years before marrying. [+ obj] He was courting his college sweetheart.

2 of an animal : to perform the actions that lead to sexual activity [no obj] a pair of robins courting [+ obj] The male will sometimes court the female for hours.

3 [+ obj] : to give a lot of attention and praise to (someone) in order to get approval, support, etc. • college teams courting high school basketball stars • The government is courting [=wooing] investors from around the globe. • The speech was clearly intended to court middle-class voters. ✧ If you court someone's favor or court favor with someone, you try to get someone's approval. • The company is courting favor with consumers by portraying itself as socially responsible.

4 [+ obj] : to act in a way that is likely to cause (something unpleasant) to happen to you • Anyone who refuses to evacuate is courting disaster. [=flirting with disaster] • They knew they were courting danger/trouble by accepting donations from a convicted felon.

court card noun, pl ~ cards [count] chiefly Brit : FACE CARD

cour-te-ous /'kətiəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very polite in a way that shows respect • The clerks were helpful and cour-teous. • a courteous manner — opposite DISCOURTEOUS

— cour-te-ous-ly adv • He answered my questions courteously. — cour-te-ous-ness noun [noncount] • I appreciated his courteousness.

cour-te-san /'kəʊtəzən, Brit 'kə:tə'zæn/ noun, pl -sans [count] old-fashioned : a woman who has sex with rich or important men in exchange for money : a prostitute who has sex with wealthy and powerful men

¹cour-te-sy /'kəʊtəsi/ noun, pl -sies

1 [noncount] : polite behavior that shows respect for other people • They treated us with courtesy and kindness. • He didn't even have the common courtesy [=he was not even as polite as people can usually be expected to be] to say good-bye when he left.

2 [count] a : something that you do because it is polite, kind, etc. • She did it as a courtesy, not because she had to. b : something that you say to be polite especially when you meet someone • Everyone knows each other here, so we won't bother with the usual courtesies. • They shook hands and exchanged courtesies before beginning their discussion.

courtesy of ✧ If you say that something has been provided through the courtesy of or (by) courtesy of a person, organization, business, etc., you are politely saying that they paid for it, gave it, or let it be used. • The flowers were provided through the courtesy of a local florist. • This program is brought to you courtesy of our sponsors. [=it has been paid for by our sponsors] The word courtesy is sometimes used informally by itself in this way. • Photo courtesy Helen Jones. [=Helen Jones is allowing the photograph to be used] The phrase courtesy of is sometimes also used informally to indicate the cause of something. • I have a bad cold now, courtesy of my brother. [=I have a bad cold that I caught from my brother]

²courtesy adj, always used before a noun

1 : done in order to be polite • They paid a courtesy call on the ambassador. [=they visited the ambassador because it was the polite thing to do]

2 : provided for free • Important visitors to the conference were provided with courtesy cars. • He picked up the airport courtesy phone [=a telephone that customers can use to call the company that provides it] to call for a car.

courtesy title noun, pl ~ titles [count] : a polite and formal word that is used in place of someone's name or as part of someone's name • the courtesy titles "Mr.," "Mrs.," "Ms.," "Dr.," etc. • As a child, he was taught to address his elders with the courtesy titles "sir" and "ma'am."

court-house /'kəʊt,haʊs/ noun, pl -houses [count] US : a building in which legal cases are heard court-ier /'kəʊtiə/ noun, pl -iers [count] : a member of a royal court (sense 3b)

court-ly /'kəʊtli/ adj court-li-er; -est [or more ~; most ~] : polite and graceful in a formal way • courtly manners • a courtly gentleman

— court-li-ness noun [noncount]

¹court-mar-tial /'kəʊt,mɑ:ʃəl/ noun, pl courts-martial also court-mar-tials

1 : a military court : a court for people in the military who are accused of breaking military law [noncount] The officers will be tried by court-martial. [count] They will appear before a court-martial.

2 [count] : a trial in a military court • The sergeant is facing a court-martial for failure to obey orders.

²court-mar-tial verb -tials; US -tialled or Brit -tialled; US -tial-ing or Brit -tial-ling [+ obj] : to present evidence against (someone) in a military court : to put (someone) on trial in a military court • He was court-martialed for failure to obey orders.

court of appeals (US) or chiefly Brit court of appeal noun, pl courts of appeals [count] law

1 : a court that studies the decisions made by a lower court and decides if they were correct — called also (US) appeals court, (chiefly Brit) appeal court

2 Court of Appeals US : any one of 13 courts in the U.S. below the Supreme Court • the 9th/Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals

3 Court of Appeal Brit : the highest court in Britain below the House of Lords court of law noun, pl courts of law [count] : ¹COURT 1a • You have the right to a fair trial in a court of law.

court order noun, pl ~ -ders : a formal statement from a court that orders someone to do or stop doing something [count] He received a court order barring him from entering the building. [noncount] He is barred by court order from entering the building. • The town is under court order to fix the problem.

court reporter noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a person whose job is to write down exactly what is said and done during a legal trial court-room /'kəʊt,ru:m/ noun, pl -rooms [count] : a room in which legal cases are heard court-ship /'kəʊt,ʃɪp/ noun, pl -ships

1 somewhat old-fashioned : the activities that occur when people are developing a romantic relationship that could lead to marriage or the period of time when such activities occur [count] They had a two-year courtship before marrying. [noncount] the formalities of courtship

2 [noncount] : the behavior of animals that leads to sexual activity or the period of time when such behavior occurs • The male of the species often displays aggression during courtship. — often used before another noun • courtship behavior • courtship displays/rituals

3 [noncount] : an attempt to convince someone to support you or to choose you or your organization • the President's courtship of middle-class voters

court shoe noun, pl ~ shoes [count] Brit : ³PUMP 1 court-side /'kəʊt,said/ noun [noncount] chiefly US : the area at the edge of a tennis or basketball court • Our seats were located a few rows (up) from courtside.

— courtside adj • courtside seats — courtside adv • We got to sit courtside. [=we got to sit in the seats that are closest to the court] court-yard /'kəʊt,jɑ:d/ noun, pl -yards [count] : an open space that is surrounded completely or partly by a building or group of buildings • the palace courtyards • The apartment overlooks a courtyard.

COUS-COUS /'ku:s,ku:s/ noun [noncount] : a North African food that is made from wheat and is in the form of very small, round pieces; also : a dish of this food served with meat or vegetables • lamb and vegetable couscous

cous-in /'kʌzən/ noun, pl -ins [count]

1 a : a child of your uncle or aunt — called also first cousin; see also SECOND COUSIN b : a person who is related to you but not in a close or direct way • Everyone came to the wedding, including a distant cousin no one had heard from in years. — see also KISSING COUSIN

2 : a person who is from another country but whose culture is similar to your own • our English cousins

3 : something that is similar or related to something else • The cricket is a cousin of the grasshopper. • hurricanes and their cousins, typhoons cou-ture /ku'tuə, Brit ku'tjuə/ noun [noncount] somewhat formal

1 : the business of designing, making, or selling women's clothes; also : women's clothes in general • The book discusses the relationship between culture and couture.

2 : HAUTE COUTURE • I can't afford to wear couture.

cou-tu-ri-er /ku'turiə, Brit ku'tjuəriə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person or business that designs and makes clothes for women

¹cove /'kouv/ noun, pl coves [count] : a small area of ocean that is partly surrounded by land : a small, sheltered inlet or bay • a coastline dotted with coves — compare ²COVE

²cove noun, pl coves [count] Brit, old-fashioned : a man : CHAP • a genial cove — compare ¹COVE

cov-en /'kʌvən/ noun, pl -ens [count] : a group of witches cov-e-nant /'kʌvənənt/ noun, pl -nants [count]

1 formal : a formal and serious agreement or promise • a covenant with God • the covenant of marriage

2 law : a formal written agreement between two or more people, businesses, countries, etc. • an international covenant on human rights • The restrictive covenants of the building development prohibit the construction of buildings over 30 feet tall.

¹cov-er /'kʌvə/ verb -ers; -ered; -er-ing

1 : to put something over, on top of, or in front of (something else) especially in order to protect, hide, or close it [+ obj] The gardener covered the soil with mulch. • The furniture had been covered in a protective cloth. • Be sure to cover the pot. [=put a cover on the pot] • He covered his face with his hands. [=he put his hands over his face; he hid his face behind his hands] • We covered the stains on the wall with a fresh coat of paint. • You should cover your mouth when you cough. • She covered her head with a scarf. • tables covered with white linen • He wears a hair piece to cover [=hide, conceal] his bald spot. [no obj] — used in recipes and instructions • The recipe said: "Reduce heat. Cover [=put a cover/lid on the pot/pan] and continue cooking for another 10 minutes." • Place the seed in the hole and cover with soil.

2 [+ obj] a : to be spread over or on top of (something) • Water covered the floor. • Snow covered the hills. b : to be over much or all of the surface of (something) • Lakes cover much of the state. — usually used as (be) covered • Much of the state is covered with lakes. • The wall is completely covered with graffiti. • His legs were covered in mosquito bites.

3 [+ obj] : to pass over or through (an area, distance, etc.) • The hikers covered long distances every day. • The bird may cover thousands of miles during its migration.

4 [+ obj] a : to have (something) as a subject : to relate to or provide information about (a particular subject) • The course will cover the country's early history. • an exam covering a semester's worth of material • This material was covered in the book's first chapter. • We'd better get started because we have a lot (of information) to cover in one hour. b : to relate to or have an effect on (something) • The patent covers [=applies to] both kinds of devices/systems. • The term "house" covers a wide array of buildings. [=many different kinds of buildings can be called houses]

5 [+ obj] : to report news about (something) • He is an experienced journalist who has covered several presidential campaigns. • She covers political news for the network.

6 [+ obj] of insurance a : to protect (someone) by promising to pay for loss, damage, etc. : to provide financial protection to (someone) • The policy covers the traveler in any accident. b : to provide protection by promising to pay for (a problem, accident, etc.) : to provide financial protection against (something) • The policy covers water damage. • a policy covering loss by fire c : to provide payment for (something) • My health insurance doesn't cover this treatment/drug.

7 [+ obj] a : to have enough money for (something) • Your checking account balance will not cover the check. [=there is not enough money in your checking account to pay for the amount of the check] b : to pay for (something) • He has enough money to cover tuition, but he can't afford to buy the textbooks he needs. • This money should cover the cost of repairing the wall.

8 [+ obj] a : to guard or protect (something or someone) by being ready to shoot a gun or fire a weapon • The ships were covering approaches to the harbor. • Officer Blake's partner yelled "Cover me!" and ran for the door. b : to protect (yourself or someone else) from possible trouble or danger • He was trying to cover himself by lying about his involvement in the scandal. • (US, informal + impolite) He was trying to cover his ass/butt by lying.

9 [+ obj] a sports : to guard (an opponent) as part of your team's effort to prevent the other team from scoring • He was assigned to cover the tight end. b baseball : to be in a position to receive a throw to (a base) • The shortstop was covering second base. — see also cover all the bases at ¹BASE

10 [no obj] a : to help you by doing your job when you are away or not able to do it — + for • A coworker covered for me during my vacation. • She'll be out for a week, so the rest of us will have to cover for her. b : to hide the truth or lie for someone — + for • He covered for his friend, insisting that he hadn't seen him all day.

11 [+ obj] a : to be responsible for selling or providing something to all the people in (an area) for a company, organization, etc. • One salesperson covers the whole state. b : to provide something to (a group of people) • There should be enough of the vaccine to cover everyone.

12 [+ obj] : to record or perform (a song that was previously recorded by someone else) • The band has covered many hits from the 1980s.

cover up [phrasal verb] 1 cover up or cover (something) up or cover up (something) : to cover yourself, part of your body, etc., with something (such as clothing or a blanket) • She quickly covered up with a robe. • She quickly covered herself up. 2 cover (something) up or cover up (something) : to prevent people from learning the truth about (something, such as a crime) : to hide (something) • They tried to cover up the crime/mistake/problem/scandal. • I think they stole the money and then lied about it to cover up their guilt. — see also COVER-UP

cover your tracks see ¹TRACK

have (got) someone or something covered (informal) : to have done, gotten, or provided whatever is needed • Don't worry about a thing. We've got you covered. [=we have taken care of everything that you might need] • You don't need to buy soda for the party. We've already got that covered. [=we already have enough soda]

²cover noun, pl -ers

1 [count] : something that is put around or on top of another thing especially to protect, hide, or close it • She placed a cover over the pan so that the oil wouldn't spatter. • I put a cover on the sofa to protect it. • a mattress cover • I lifted the cover of the box and peaked inside. • He unscrewed the cover [=top/lid] of the jar.

2 [count] : a blanket or sheet on a bed — usually plural • She was in bed lying under the covers. • He threw off the covers and rose to begin the day.

3 [count] a : the outer part of a book or magazine • There's a picture of the author on the book's back/front cover. • The model appeared on the (front) covers of many weeklies. • She read the book from cover to cover. [=she read all of the book] — see also COVER GIRL, COVER STORY b : the part of the case of a record album, CD, DVD, etc., that is seen from the outside • The singer is posing in jeans and cowboy boots on the album cover.

4 : something that covers the ground or the sky [singular] • The ground was hidden under a cover of snow. • The moon was hidden behind a thick cloud cover. [=behind thick clouds] [noncount] areas of light plant cover [=areas in which there are few plants] — see also GROUND COVER

5 [noncount] : a place or situation in which you are protected • The roof provided cover from the rain. • The soldier sought cover behind the wall. • The officer ordered the soldiers to take cover as the enemy began shooting. • The hiker took cover under a tree and waited for the storm to pass. • The hikers ran/dashed/headed for cover as the storm approached. ♦ If you break cover, you come out from a place where you have been safe or hidden. • The rabbit suddenly broke cover and ran across the field.

6 [noncount] : something that prevents actions, information, etc., from being seen or known • The crime was committed under (the) cover of darkness/night. [=when it was dark; at night] • an official speaking to a reporter under cover of anonymity[=with the understanding that the reporter would not reveal the official's name]

7 [count] : something that is not what it seems to be but is actually used to hide something else — usually singular • The business was a cover for a criminal gang. • Her job as a consultant was just a cover for her true identity as a secret agent. • He acts tough, but that's just a cover. He's a real softy underneath. ✧ A person who is under cover has his or her true identity hidden. The phrase usually describes a person (such as a police officer) who pretends to be someone else in order to get information. • The policeman went under cover to collect more evidence. • The agent was working under cover. ✧ To blow someone's cover is to reveal someone's true identity. • The agent posed as a consultant until someone blew her cover. — see also UNDERCOVER

8 [count] : a recording or performance of a song that was previously recorded by someone else • a cover (version) of a popular song • a cover band[=a band that plays songs previously recorded by other performers]

9 [count] informal : COVER CHARGE • The nightclub has a $5 cover.

10 [noncount] Brit. : insurance coverage • a policy that provides cover [= (US) coverage] for loss by fire

11 [noncount] : protection from danger, an attack, etc. • They had to land in enemy territory without any air cover. [=protection by military airplanes] • traveling with the benefit of diplomatic cover [=the special protection that is given to a diplomat]

12 [noncount] Brit. : work done by someone other than the person who usually does it • A small crew will provide emergency cover during the strike.

under separate cover : in a separate envelope • The manuscript is being sent to you under separate cover.

cov·er·age /'kʌvərɪdʒ/ noun, pl -ages

1 [noncount] : the activity of reporting about an event or subject in newspapers, on television news programs, etc. • The issue is not getting much coverage in the mainstream press. • There was massive/extensive TV coverage of the funeral. • The network will have live coverage of the game. [=it will broadcast the game as it is happening]

2 [noncount] : discussion of a subject in a book, class, etc. • For more complete coverage of this issue, see Chapter Six. • The book gives full coverage to the history of the word.

3 US a [noncount] : the financial protection that is provided by an insurance policy • She has no insurance coverage. [=she does not have insurance] • affordable health/medical coverage [=insurance that will pay for medical care; health insurance] • My health insurance company has denied coverage for the treatment. [=it will not pay the cost of the treatment] b [count] : something that an insurance company will pay for : something that is covered by an insurance policy • Fire/liability insurance coverages varied. • optional/additional coverages

4 chiefly US, sports : the act of guarding an opponent as part of your team's effort to prevent the other team from scoring : the act of covering an opponent [noncount] He was responsible for coverage of the tight end. [count] The team uses a variety of defensive coverages.

5 [noncount] — used to describe how much of an area or surface is covered by something • Heavy cloud coverage is expected over the lake. • uniform paint coverage • There is no cell phone coverage in this valley. [=cell phone service is not available]

cov·er·all /'kʌvəɹɑ:l/ noun, pl -alls [count] US : a piece of clothing that is worn over other clothes to protect them — usually plural • The mechanic was dressed in (a pair of) coveralls. [= (Brit) overalls] cover charge noun, pl ~ charges [count] : an amount of money that must be paid to go into a nightclub or restaurant in addition to the charge for food and drink • The nightclub has a $5 cover charge.

covered adj

1 : having a cover or lid • a covered dish/container/jar/bowl

2 a : having a layer of something specified on top — usually used in combination • snow-covered hills • sugar-covered cookies b : having something specified over much or all of the surface — usually used in combination • a graffiti-covered wall • chocolate-covered pretzels

3 : having a roof • a covered walkway/entrance/porch • a covered bridge — see also COVERED WAGON

4 US, insurance : paid for by an insurance policy • covered medical expenses covered wagon noun, pl ~ -ons [count] : a large wagon with a rounded top made of heavy cloth that was used in the past by people traveling to the western parts of North America cover girl noun, pl ~ girls [count] : an attractive young woman whose picture is on the front of a magazine

cov·er·ing /'kʌvərɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count] : an object or substance that goes over or on top of something especially in order to hide or protect it • The ground was hidden under a covering [=cover] of snow. • floor/wall/window coverings

cov·er·let /'kʌvələt/ noun, pl -lets [count] : a decorative cover for a bed : BEDSPREAD cover letter noun, pl ~ -ters [count] US : a letter that is sent with something to explain the reason for it or to give more information about it • Always include a cover letter with your résumé. — called also (Brit) covering letter cover story noun, pl ~ -ries [count] : an important story or article that is the main subject shown on the cover of a magazine • The magazine recently did/had a cover story on/about diabetes.

co·vert /'kʌvət/ adj [more ~; most ~] : made, shown, or done in a way that is not easily seen or noticed : secret or hidden • a covert glance/look • He has taken part in a number of covert military operations. • spy agencies taking covert action — opposite OVERT

— co·vert·ly adv — co·vert·ness noun [noncount]

cov·er·up /'kʌvəɹʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count]

1 : a planned effort to hide a dishonest, immoral, or illegal act or situation • The book describes the burglary and its ensuing cover-up. • The report exposes an attempted cover-up of the accident.

2 : an action or a way of behaving that is meant to prevent people from knowing about something • His brash manner is just a cover-up for his insecurity. — see also cover up at ¹COVER cov·et /'kʌvət/ verb -ets; -et-ed; -et-ing [+ obj] : to want (something that you do not have) very much • All his life he has coveted [=craved, desired] success. • a coveted prize • His religion warns against coveting material goods.

cov·et·ous /'kʌvətəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : feeling or showing a very strong desire for something that you do not have and especially for something that belongs to someone else • The expensive car drew many covetous looks. • They were covetous of his success. [=they envied his success]

— cov·et·ous·ly adv • They eyed her jewelry covetously.

— cov·et·ous·ness noun [noncount]

cov·ey /'kʌvi/ noun, pl -eys [count]

1 : a small flock of birds • a covey of quail

2 : a small group of people or things • A covey of schoolchildren approached. • A covey of reporters came to the event.

¹cow /'kau/ noun, pl cows [count]

1 a : a large animal that is raised by people for milk or meat usually on a farm • horses, chickens, and cows; especially : the adult female of this animal • The cows need to be milked twice a day. — compare BULL, CALF

b : an adult female of some other large animals (such as elephants, whales, and seals)

2 chiefly Brit slang, offensive : a woman who is stupid or annoying • You stupid cow!

have a cow slang : to become very angry, upset, etc. • Don't have a cow! I said I'd take care of the problem and I will.

holy cow informal — used as an interjection to express surprise or excitement • Holy cow! That car almost ran into us!

till/until the cows come home informal : for a very long time • They'll be arguing about this till the cows come home. — see also CASH COW, SACRED COW

²cow verb cows; cowed; cow-ing [+ obj] : to make (someone) too afraid to do something : INTIMIDATE • I refuse to be cowed by their threats. • They were cowed into silence by threats. [=they did not complain, publicly say anything, etc., because they had been threatened] cow·ard /'kawəd/ noun, pl -ards [count] : someone who is too afraid to do what is right or expected : someone who is not at all brave or courageous • a proven coward who had deserted his troops

cow

cow·ard·ice /'kawədəs/ noun [noncount] : fear that makes you unable to do what is right or expected : lack of courage • soldiers accused of cowardice • acts of cowardice

cow·ard·ly /'kawədli/ adj [more ~; most ~] : afraid in a way that makes you unable to do what is right or expected : lacking courage • He insisted on avoiding a cowardly retreat. • She made a cowardly decision to go along with the group. • a cowardly thief • a cowardly attack from behind

– cow·ard·li·ness noun [noncount] cow·bell /'kau,bel/ noun, pl -bells [count] : a bell that you hang around the neck of a cow so that you can tell where the cow is cow·bird /'kau,bərd/ noun, pl -birds [count] : a brown and black North American bird that lays its eggs in the nests of other birds

¹cow·boy /'kau,boi/ noun, pl -boys [count]

1 : a man who rides a horse and whose job is to take care of cows or horses especially in the western U.S. • a movie about cowboys in the old West • He worked for several years as a cowboy on a ranch in Texas.

2 : a man who performs in a rodeo

3 usually disapproving : someone who has qualities that are commonly associated with the cowboys in movies; especially : someone who does things that other people consider foolish and dangerous • political cowboys • We've got a bunch of risk-taking cowboys running this project. — sometimes used before another noun • cowboy diplomacy

²cowboy verb -boys; -boyed; -boy·ing [no obj] US : to work as a cowboy • He cowboyed in Texas and Oklahoma.

cowboy boot noun, pl ~ boots [count] : a type of boot that has a thick heel and often a decorative design on the upper part and that is worn especially by cowboys and cowgirls — see picture at SHOE

cowboy hat noun, pl ~ hats [count] : a type of soft hat that has a wide brim and that is worn especially by cowboys and cowgirls — see picture at HAT cow·er /'kawə/ verb -ers; -ered; -er·ing [no obj] : to move back or bend your body down because you are afraid • They cowered at the sight of the gun. • She was cowering in the closet. • I cowered behind the door. • cowering before a bully cow·girl /'kau,gəl/ noun, pl -girls [count]

1 : a woman who rides a horse and whose job is to take care of cows or horses especially in the western U.S.

2 : a girl or woman who performs in a rodeo cow·hand /'kau,hænd/ noun, pl -hands [count] : ¹COWBOY 1

cow·herd /'kau,hərd/ noun, pl -herds [count] : a person whose job is to take care of cows especially in the western U.S.

cow·hide /'kau,haɪd/ noun [noncount] : the skin of a cow or leather made from it • a cloth made of cowhide

cowl /'kawəl/ noun, pl cowls [count]

1 : a loose piece of clothing with a hood that a monk wears over other clothes; also : the hood itself

2 a : a covering for a chimney that controls the way smoke flows out b : COWLING

– cowled /'kawəld/ adj • cowled monks

cow·lick /'kau,lɪk/ noun, pl -licks [count] chiefly US : a small bunch of hair on a person's head that sticks up above the hair around it : a small bunch of hair that will not lie flat

cowl·ing /'kaʊlɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count] : a metal covering for the engine of an airplane co·work·er /'kou,wərkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who works at the place where you work : someone you work with cow·pat /'kau,pæt/ noun, pl -pats [count] chiefly Brit : COWPIE cow·pea /'kau,pi:/ noun, pl -peas [count] chiefly US : BLACK-EYED PEA cow pie noun, pl ~ pies [count] chiefly US : a piece of solid waste from a cow cow·poke /'kau,pouk/ noun, pl -pokes [count] US, informal : ¹COWBOY 1 • a movie about a couple of old cowpokes

cow·punch·er /'kau,pʌntʃə/ noun, pl -ers [count] informal + old-fashioned : ¹COWBOY 1 cow·rie also cow·ry /'kauri/ noun, pl cow·ries [count]

1 : a small snail that is found in warm seas

2 : the shiny and often brightly colored shell of the cowrie ♠ Cowrie shells have been used as money in Africa and other places.

cow·shed /'kau,ʃed/ noun, pl -sheds [count] : a building where cows are kept cow·slip /'kau,slɪp/ noun, pl -slips [count] : a wild plant with small yellow flowers that smell sweet

cox /'kɑːks/ noun, pl cox·es [count] : a person who steers a rowing boat in races

– cox verb coxes; coxed; cox·ing [+ obj] I'm not sure who will be coxing the boat in this race. [no obj] He coxes for the racing crew.

cox·swain /'kɑːksən/ noun, pl -swains [count]

1 : a person who is in charge of and usually steers a boat (such as a ship's lifeboat)

2 : COX

coy /'kɔɪ/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having a shy or sweetly innocent quality that is often intended to be attractive or to get attention • a coy flirt • I didn't like her coy manner. • a coy glance/smile

2 : not telling or revealing all the information that could be revealed • He gave a coy answer. — often + about • Both companies are being coy about the merger deal.

play coy US : to avoid giving a direct or complete answer • When asked about his next book, he played coy.

– coy·ly adv • She smiled coyly. • She coyly refused to say anything more about it. – coy·ness noun [noncount] coy·ote /kai'outi/ noun, pl coy·ot·es or coyote [count] : a small wild animal that is related to dogs and wolves and that lives in North America — see picture at WOLF

¹co·zy (US) or Brit co·sy /'kouzi/ adj co·zi·er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 a : small, comfortable, and warm • a cozy restaurant/cottage • The room was warm and cozy. — sometimes used in a joking or ironic way to describe a place that is not pleasant or comfortable • She glanced around the cramped apartment and said, "Well, isn't this cozy?" b : friendly and pleasant • We had a cozy dinner with the whole family. • I spent a cozy evening reading in front of the fire. • a cozy chat

2 often disapproving : suggesting or showing a closeness between two people, groups, businesses, etc. : very close • He claims that there is a cozy arrangement/relationship between the police and the drug dealers. — often + with • His political opponents accuse him of getting/being too cozy with powerful companies.

– co·zi·ly (US) or Brit co·si·ly /'kouzəli/ adv • The children were snuggled cozily in their beds. – co·zi·ness (US) or Brit co·si·ness noun [noncount] • We were charmed by the coziness of the little cottage.

²cozy (US) or Brit cosy noun, pl -zies [count] : a cloth cover that is placed over a teapot to keep the tea hot • a tea cozy

³cozy (US) or Brit cosy verb -zies; -zied; -zy·ing cozy up [phrasal verb] informal : to become or try to become friendly with someone in order to get help or some advantage — usually + to • He has been cozying up to the boss lately in hopes of getting a promotion.

CPA abbr certified public accountant

CPI abbr consumer price index

Cpl. abbr corporal • Cpl. Jones

CPR /,siːpiː'ɑː/ noun [noncount] medical : a way of trying to save the life of someone who has stopped breathing and whose heart has stopped beating • They pulled her out of the swimming pool and began CPR. ♠ CPR is an abbreviation for "cardiopulmonary resuscitation."

Cpt. abbr captain • Cpt. Smith

CPU /,siːpiː'juː/ noun, pl CPUs [count] computers : the part of a computer system that performs the computer's main functions and controls the other parts of the system — called also processor ♠ CPU is an abbreviation for "central processing unit."

¹crab /'kræb/ noun, pl crabs

1 a [count] : a sea animal that has a hard shell, eight legs, and two large claws — see color picture on page C8; see also HERMIT CRAB, KING CRAB b [noncount] : the meat of a crab eaten as food • We had crab for dinner.

2 crabs [plural] medical : a medical problem in which very small insects (called lice) live in the hair surrounding a person's sexual organs

3 [count] US, informal : an unhappy person who complains a lot : GROUCH • I don't know why she's been such a crab lately.

²crab verb crabs; crabbed; crab·bing [no obj]

1 : to catch or try to catch crabs • We crabbed in the bay on Saturday.

2 US, informal : to complain about something in a way that annoys people • He's been crabbing about the weather all afternoon.

— crabbing noun [noncount] • We went crabbing in the bay on Saturday. • I'm tired of listening to his crabbing about the weather.

crab apple noun, pl ~ apples [count] : a small, sour apple or the kind of tree that produces it crab-bed /'kræbəd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : difficult to read or understand • crabbed handwriting

2 : very negative : full of unhappy ideas • Her crabbed [=mo-rose] view of human nature makes it hard for her to trust people.

crab-by /'kræbi/ adj crab-bi-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal : unhappy and tending to complain a lot : GROUCHY • She gets crabby if she doesn't get enough sleep. • a crabby old man

crab-grass /'kræb,græs, Brit 'kræb,grɑ:s/ noun [noncount] US : a thick type of grass that often grows and spreads quickly in places where it is not wanted

crab-meat /'kræb,mi:t/ noun [noncount] : the meat of a crab eaten as food • mushrooms stuffed with crabmeat crack /'kræk/ verb cracks; cracked; crack-ing

1 : to break (something) so that there are lines in its surface but it is usually not separated into pieces [+ obj] The hailstones were big enough to crack some windows. • He cracked his collarbone in a skiing accident. [no obj] The mirror/glass cracked when she dropped it. • A piece of the statue cracked off. [=broke off]

2 [+ obj] : to hit or press (something) so hard that it breaks apart or opens suddenly • Workers cracked the large rock into three pieces so it could be moved. • The bird cracked the seed on a tree branch. • a tool used for cracking nuts • He cracked open the eggs.

3 [+ obj] : to hit (someone or something) hard and usually suddenly • Someone cracked him over the head with a beer bottle. • The baby cracked her chin pretty hard when she fell. • He fell and cracked his elbow on/against the ice.

4 [+ obj] a : to open (a bottle or can) for drinking — usually + open • He cracked open a beer. b : to open (a book) for studying or reading • He hardly cracked a book his whole first semester of college. — usually + open • It's a perfect day to relax and crack open a good book.

5 [+ obj] : to open (a safe) illegally without having a key, combination, etc. • Any good thief could crack this safe.

6 [+ obj] a : to find an answer or solution to (something) • Scientists have cracked [=solved] an ancient mystery using new technology. • The police finally cracked [=broke] the case and arrested the murderer. b : to find the meaning of (a secret code) • He was able to crack [=break] the enemy's secret code.

7 [+ obj] : to open (something, such as a door or window) a small amount — usually + open • She cracked open the door and peeked into the room.

8 : to cause (something) to make a sudden loud sound [+ obj] When the sled dogs heard her crack the whip, they broke into a run. • His habit of cracking his knuckles bothered her. [no obj] The sled dogs are trained to run when they hear the whip crack. — see also CRACK THE WHIP (below)

9 [no obj] of a voice : to change sharply in tone or pitch especially because of strong emotion • Her voice cracked (with emotion) as she told them what had happened.

10 [+ obj] informal : to tell (a joke) • The two of them crack jokes all the time. = The two of them are always cracking jokes.

11 [no obj] : to lose strength or the ability to resist or fight • After hours of questioning by the police, the suspect finally cracked. [=finally told the police what they wanted to know] — often + under • He cracked under the pressure/stress of the job.

a tough/hard nut to crack see NUT crack a smile : to smile • I tried to get him to laugh, but he never even cracked a smile.

crack down [phrasal verb] : to start to be strict about punishing people for doing something that is illegal or not allowed : to enforce a law or rule more strictly • People have been violating this law for years, and now the government is finally starting to crack down. — often + on • Authorities are cracking down on companies that pollute. — see also CRACKDOWN crack into [phrasal verb] crack into (something) informal : to enter or get started in (something, such as a profession) • It's not easy to crack into [=break into] professional football.

crack the whip : to force people to work very hard • The team needs a coach who isn't afraid to crack the whip.

crack up [phrasal verb] informal 1 crack up or crack (someone) up or crack up (someone) : to begin laughing or cause (someone) to begin laughing suddenly and in a way that is difficult to control • When we saw the picture, we both cracked up. • That joke really cracks me up. [=I think that joke is very funny] 2 : to become mentally ill : to lose control of your thoughts and emotions so that you cannot continue to live in a normal way • The stress was getting worse, and she felt herself cracking up. [=going crazy] 3 crack up or crack up (something) also crack (something) up US, informal : to damage (a vehicle) by crashing • I cracked up [=crashed] on a curve in the road. • I cracked up [=crashed] the car. — see also CRACK-UP 4 ♦ Something that is what/all/everything (etc.) it's cracked up to be is as good as people say it is. • Is the movie really all it's cracked up to be? = Is it really as good as it's cracked up to be? This phrase is usually used in negative statements. • The new restaurant is not all it's cracked up to be. When we went, the service was awful and our food was cold.

crack wise US, informal : to say something that is funny and smart : to make a wisecrack • She's always cracking wise.

get cracking informal : to start doing something • You ought to get cracking [=get going; get moving] on that assignment. [=you should start working on that assignment right away]

²crack noun, pl cracks

1 [count] : a thin line in the surface of something that is broken but not separated into pieces • The crack runs all the way from the top of the wall to the bottom. • an old patio with grass growing up through the cracks • The vase has a few fine cracks, but it is still usable. — often + in • There were cracks in the ice. • There is a crack in the mirror/windshield/glass. • Grass is growing up through the cracks in the old patio. — see also crack in someone's or something's armor at ARMOR

2 [count] : a very narrow space or opening between two things or two parts of something • I could see them through the crack in the doorway. • Light came through the cracks in the walls of the barn. • Could you please open the window a crack? [=open it slightly] It's getting hot in here.

3 [count] : a sudden loud, sharp sound — usually singular • We heard a loud crack as the ice broke. • The horse was frightened by the crack of the whip. • a crack of thunder

4 [count] : a brief change in the sound of a person's voice especially because of strong emotion — usually singular • There was a crack in her voice as she told us her story.

5 [count] : a weakness or problem • Your theory/argument has a few cracks. — often + in • The cracks in their relationship were becoming evident.

6 [count] informal : a joke or rude remark — often + about • They're always making cracks [=wisecracks] about their teacher. • I didn't appreciate your crack about my weight.

7 [count] : a hard and sudden hit — usually singular • Someone gave him a crack on the head with a beer bottle.

8 [count] informal : an effort or attempt to do something — usually + at • She succeeded in her first crack at writing a novel. • If he's lucky, he'll get to take a crack at (a career in) professional baseball. • Let me have a crack at it.

9 [noncount] : an illegal drug that is a form of cocaine • He is addicted to crack. • They were smoking crack. — called also crack cocaine

a fair crack of the whip Brit, informal ♦ If you are given a fair crack of the whip, you are given the same chance as other people to do something. • They might have succeeded if they'd been given a fair crack of the whip.

at the crack of dawn : very early in the morning : at dawn • We got up at the crack of dawn to go fishing.

fall through/between the cracks also slip through/between the cracks : to fail to be noticed or included with others • Parents are concerned that children who have trouble in school will fall through the cracks in the school system. [=will not be given the help they need; will graduate without anyone noticing that they are unable to do the work] • The program is meant to help workers who may have slipped through the cracks [=who may have not been included in other programs] because of their age.

³crack adj, always used before a noun : very good : of excellent quality or ability • crack troops • The company has a crack sales force. • I hear she's become a crack shot. [=a person who is very good at shooting a gun]

crack baby noun, pl ~ -bies [count] chiefly US : a baby who is not strong and healthy at birth and whose mother used crack cocaine while she was pregnant crack-brained /'kræk'breɪnd/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal : very silly or foolish • a crackbrained artist • They've devised some crackbrained [=harebrained, crazy] scheme.

crack cocaine noun [noncount] : ²CRACK 9 crack-down /'krækdaʊn/ noun, pl -downs [count] : a serious attempt to punish people for doing something that is not allowed : an increased effort to enforce a law or rule • Companies that pollute are the target of a new crackdown. — often + on • There's been a federal crackdown on smuggling in recent years. — see also crack down at ¹CRACK

cracked /'krækt/ adj

1 : having a crack or many cracks : having a damaged surface but usually not broken into pieces • a cracked windshield • The vase is cracked but it can still hold water.

2 : having deep lines in the surface • the cracked leather of the old chair • His hands were sore and cracked from working long hours in the cold. • Her lips are dried and cracked.

3 : broken into pieces • cracked wheat/pepper/corn

4 not used before a noun, informal : CRAZY • Don't pay any attention to her. She's a little cracked.

crack-er /'krækə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a dry, thin baked food that is made of flour and water and is often eaten with cheese • a plate of cheese and crackers — see also ANIMAL CRACKER, GRAHAM CRACKER, OYSTER CRACKER, SODA CRACKER

2 : a person who can crack something (such as a safe or a secret code) • a safe cracker [=a criminal who can open a safe illegally] • a code cracker

3 chiefly Brit : a colorful paper tube that holds small gifts and that opens with a loud noise when the ends are pulled ✧ Crackers are commonly used in Britain at Christmas. • a Christmas cracker

4 Brit, informal : a very good, amusing, or attractive person or thing • The match should be real cracker. • The guitarist played a cracker of a solo.

5 US, informal + offensive : a poor usually Southern white person crack-er-jack /'krækə,dʒæk/ adj, always used before a noun, US, informal : excellent or great • They did a cracker-jack job.

crack-ers /'krækəz/ adj, not used before a noun, chiefly Brit, informal : CRAZY • This new computer program is driving me crackers! • I think he's gone a little crackers.

crack-head /'kræk,hed/ noun, pl -heads [count] informal : a person who smokes the illegal drug crack crack house noun, pl ~ houses [count] : a house or apartment where the illegal drug crack is made, used, or sold crack-ing /'krækiŋ/ adj, always used before a noun, Brit, informal : very good or impressive • I think it's a cracking story. • The horses set off at a cracking [=very fast] pace around the track.

— cracking adv, always used before a noun, Brit, informal • I think it's a cracking good story.

crack-le /'krækəl/ verb crack-les; crack-led; crack-ling [no obj] : to make a series of short, sharp noises • The logs crackled in the fire. • The leaves crackled under our feet. • a crackling fire — often used figuratively • The air crackled [=sparkled] with excitement as we prepared for the festival.

— crackle noun, pl crackles [count] • You could hear the crackle of distant gunfire.

crackling noun, pl -lings

1 [count] : a series of short, sharp noises — usually singular • We heard a crackling of leaves behind us.

2 [count, noncount] : the crisp skin of a roasted animal (such as a pig) eaten as food • pork/duck cracklings crack-ly /'krækəli/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having or making a series of short, sharp noises • a crackly voice • the crackly sound of the old record

2 US : thin and easily cracked • The bread has a crackly [=crisp] crust.

crack-pot /'kræk,pɑ:t/ noun, pl -pots [count] informal : a person who is crazy or very strange • Some crackpot in a clown suit is out there directing traffic.

— crackpot adj, always used before a noun • a crackpot philosophy/idea crack-up /'kræk,ʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count] US, informal

1 : an accident in which a vehicle is badly damaged • She got into a crack-up on her way back from the city.

2 : NERVOUS BREAKDOWN • He had a crack-up in his late

50s and never quite recovered. — see also crack up at ¹CRACK

¹cradle /'kreɪdl/ noun, pl cradles [count]

1 : a bed for a baby that is usually designed to rock back and forth when pushed gently • She rocked the cradle. — sometimes used figuratively • He learned to play chess when he was barely out of the cradle. [=when he was very young]

2 formal : the place where something begins — usually singular; usually + of • the cradle of civilization/liberty

3 : something that is used to hold or support something else • She placed the phone back on its cradle. • A number of ships were resting in their cradles in the shipyard.

4 Brit : a platform designed to move up and down the sides of a building so that workers can paint, clean, etc.

from (the) cradle to (the) grave : from the beginning until the end of life • He led a life of hardship from the cradle to the grave. • The book describes her life from cradle to grave.

rob the cradle US, informal : to date or marry someone who is much younger than you • His friends accused him of robbing the cradle when they saw how young his girlfriend was.

— see also CAT'S CRADLE

²cradle verb cradles; cradled; cradling [+ obj] : to hold (something or someone) gently in your arms or hands • He cradled her face in his hands. • She was cradling the injured man's head in her arms. • cradle a baby

¹craft /'kræft, Brit 'kra:ft/ noun, pl crafts

1 [count] : an activity that involves making something in a skillful way by using your hands • The potter has been studying his craft [=handicraft] for two decades. • the craft of pottery/basketry

2 [count] : a job or activity that requires special skill • the craft of songwriting/acting • a photographer's craft

3 crafts [plural] : objects made by skillful use of the hands • The store sells crafts [=handicrafts] from around the world. • There's a crafts fair [=an event at which crafts are sold] at the school this Saturday. — see also ARTS AND CRAFTS

4 pl craft [count] a : a usually small boat • a fishing craft • We saw many fishing boats and pleasure craft [=boats used for pleasure rather than work] on the bay. b : an airplane, helicopter, or spacecraft • The craft landed safely despite engine trouble. — see also HOVERCRAFT, LANDING CRAFT

²craft verb crafts; craft-ed; craft-ing [+ obj] : to make or produce (something) with care or skill • The furniture is crafted from bamboo. • He is crafting a new sculpture. • beautifully crafted wine/shoes/stories • She crafted a strategy to boost the company's earnings.

— craft-er noun, pl -ers [count] • a crafter of arguments/fiction

crafts-man /'kræftsmən, Brit 'kra:ftsmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count]

1 : a person (especially a man) who makes beautiful objects by hand • Skilled craftsmen carved the enormous mantel. • He is a master craftsman who works with marble.

2 : a person (especially a man) who is very skilled at doing something • As a writer/photographer/musician, he has developed into a true craftsman.

— crafts-man-like /'kræftsmən,laɪk, Brit 'kra:ftsmən,laɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • his craftsmanlike approach to songwriting crafts-man-ship /'kræftsmən,ʃɪp, Brit 'kra:ftsmən,ʃɪp/ noun [noncount]

1 : skillful work • The table is a fine piece of craftsmanship. • The poem is a fine example of literary craftsmanship.

2 : the quality of something made with great skill • The fine craftsmanship of the table is remarkable. • Critics have admired the craftsmanship of her poetry.

crafts-per-son /'kræfts,pəsn, Brit 'kra:fts,pəsn/ noun, pl -people [count] : a person who makes beautiful objects by hand : a craftsman or craftswoman crafts-wom-an /'kræfts,wʊmən, Brit 'kra:fts,wʊmən/ noun, pl -wom-en /-wɪmən/ [count] : a woman who makes beautiful objects by hand crafty /'kræfti, Brit 'kra:fti/ adj craft-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] : clever in usually a deceptive or dishonest way • a crafty schemer/plotter • a crafty scheme

— craft-i-ly /'kræftəli, Brit 'kra:ftəli/ adv • a craftily designed plan — craft-i-ness noun [noncount] crag /'kræg/ noun, pl crags [count] : a high and very steep area of rock on a mountain or cliff • The goat stood on the mountain crag.

crag-gy /'krægi/ adj craggier; -est

1 : having many crags • a craggy island

2 : rough in a way that suggests strength • a famous actor who is known for his craggy good looks • his white hair and craggy face • a craggy voice

1 cram /'kræm/ verb crams; crammed; cram-ming

1 [+ obj] : to fill (something) so that there is no room for anything else : to fill (something) completely • He crammed the suitcase with his clothes. • Before the trip I crammed my head with information about Spain. • Protesters crammed the streets. — often used as (be) crammed • With so many guests, the house was really crammed. [=packed] • The little store is crammed full of books. • The museum felt crammed with statues. • My schedule is totally crammed [=full] this week. Can we meet next week?

2 [+ obj] a : to push or force (someone or something) into a space that is tight or crowded — usually + into or in • He tried to cram all his clothes in/into one suitcase. • We can cram [=pack, squeeze] six people into my car. • The instructor crammed a lot of information into one week. — see also CRAM IN (below) b [no obj] : to push or force yourself into a space that is tight or crowded — usually + into • We all crammed into one car. • Thousands of people crammed into the stadium.

3 a [no obj] : to prepare for a test, exam, etc., by learning a lot of information quickly — usually + for • He's cramming for the exam tomorrow. b [+ obj] chiefly Brit : to prepare (someone) for a test, exam, etc., by teaching a lot of information quickly — usually + for • The class crams students for the exam.

cram in [phrasal verb] cram in (someone or something) or cram (someone or something) in : to make a special effort to meet with (someone) or to do (something) although you are very busy • I can cram you in this afternoon. • We crammed in as much sightseeing as possible on our trip to New York City.

2 cram /'kræm/ noun, pl crams [count] US : a quick period of study in order to learn a lot of information quickly for a test, exam, etc. — usually used before another noun • We're having a cram session tonight to prepare for tomorrow's test. • She's taking a cram course. ♦ A cram school is a school designed to help students prepare for exams and get into better schools. • Like many Japanese students, she attends a cram school in the evening.

cram-mer /'kræmə/ noun, pl -mers [count]

1 US : a person who prepares for a test, exam, etc. by learning a lot of information quickly : a person who crams for a test • a group of last-minute crammers

2 Brit : a special school or book that prepares people for a test, exam, etc., by teaching a lot of information quickly

1 cramp /'kræmp/ noun, pl cramps

1 : a sudden painful tightening of muscle in a part of the body [count] (US) • I got a cramp in my leg while running. [noncount] (Brit) • I got cramp in my leg while running. — see also WRITER'S CRAMP

2 cramps [plural] chiefly US : sharp pains in the stomach and the area near it especially because of menstruation • She gets bad cramps every month.

— crampy adj • crampy abdominal pain

2 cramp verb cramps; cramped; cramp-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to cause (a part of the body) to feel pain because of tight muscles : to cause a cramp in (your hand, foot, etc.) • Writing for such a long time may cramp your hand. b [no obj] : to have a sudden painful tightening of muscles : to experience a cramp or cramps • His leg was cramping so badly he could hardly move it. — often + up • My hand kept cramping up.

2 [+ obj] : to prevent (something) from developing or growing freely • The new regulations may cramp the company's financial growth.

3 [+ obj] : to prevent (someone) from behaving or expressing emotions freely — usually used as (be) cramped • She felt cramped [=hemmed in] by the school's strict regulations. ♦ Someone or something that cramps your style prevents you from behaving the way you want. • He's not used to formality and finds that formal settings cramp his style.

— cramping noun [noncount] • The medication may cause abdominal cramping.

cramped adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : not having enough space inside : too small and crowded • The family has been living in the cramped apartment for three months. • They have been working in cramped conditions. b : not having enough space to move freely : feeling crowded and uncomfortable • We were pretty cramped inside the tiny cabin.

2 : small and having parts too close together • It's impossible to read his cramped handwriting. • The keyboard is too cramped to be used by someone with normal-sized hands.

cram-pon /'kræm,pɔ:n/ noun, pl -pons [count] : a piece of metal with sharp points on the bottom that is worn by mountain climbers on the bottom of boots to make it easier to walk on ice and snow — usually plural • a pair of crampons

cran-ber-ry /'kræn,beri, Brit 'krænbəri/ noun, pl -ries

1 [count] : a small, dark red berry or the plant that produces it — often used before another noun • cranberry sauce/juice • cranberry bogs — see color picture on page C5

2 [noncount] : a dark red color

— cranberry adj • a cranberry [=dark red] sweater

1 crane /'kreɪn/ noun, pl cranes [count]

1 : a big machine with a long arm that is used by builders for lifting and moving heavy things • a crane operator [=a person who operates a crane]

2 : a type of tall bird that has a long neck and long legs and lives near water

2 crane verb cranes; craned; cran-ing : to stretch out (your neck) in order to see better [+ obj] We craned our necks toward the stage. [no obj] Everyone in the crowd was craning forward (to see her).

crane fly noun, pl ~ flies [count] Brit : a type of fly that has a long thin body, two wings, and long legs — called also (Brit) daddy longlegs

cran-i-al /'kreɪniəl/ adj, always used before a noun, medical : of or relating to the bones of the head that cover the brain : of or relating to the skull or cranium • cranial capacity/injuries

cran-i-um /'kreɪniəm/ noun, pl -ni-ums or -nia /-niə/ [count] technical : SKULL

1 crank /'kræŋk/ noun, pl cranks [count]

1 : a machine part with a handle that can be turned in a circular motion to move something • To open the car window, turn the crank on the door.

2 informal + usually disapproving a : a person who has strange ideas or thinks too much about one thing • He was dismissed as a crank until his article was published. • Most people think she's just a harmless crank. b US : a person who is often angry or easily annoyed : GROUCH • a bad-tempered old crank

2 crank verb cranks; cranked; crank-ing [+ obj]

1 : to move (something) by turning a crank — usually + up or down • Will you crank up/down [=roll up/down] the window?

2 informal : to increase (something) especially by a large amount • He cranked the temperature to 75 degrees. — usually + up • Crank up [=turn up] the volume. • The company is looking for new ways to crank up production.

3 : to start or try to start (an engine) by using a crank or some other method to get it moving • Crank the engine to see if it will start.

4 US, informal : to move (something) in a circular motion • He cranked [=turned] the steering wheel quickly to the left.

crank out [phrasal verb] crank out (something) or crank (something) out informal : to produce (something) quickly or carelessly • The factory cranks out hundreds of cars every day. • Not many musicians are able to crank out an album in just six months. • He cranked out the report in less than an hour.

3 crank adj, always used before a noun : made or sent as a joke or to cause harm • an anonymous crank call • He received a threatening crank letter.

crank-case /'kræŋk,keɪs/ noun, pl -cas-es [count] technical : the part of an engine that contains the crankshaft — see picture at ENGINE

crank-shaft /'kræŋk,ʃæft, Brit 'kræŋk,ʃɑ:ft/ noun, pl -shafts [count] technical : a long metal piece that connects a vehicle's engine to the wheels and helps turn them — see picture at ENGINE cranky /'kræŋki/ adj crank-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal

1 chiefly US : easily annoyed or angered • I've been cranky all day because I didn't get enough sleep. • bored and cranky kids • a cranky baby [=a baby that cries and wants a lot of attention]

2 Brit : strange or weird • cranky ideas/theories

— crank-i-ness noun [noncount] • I apologize for my crank-i-ness yesterday.

cranny /'kræni/ noun, pl -nies [count] : a small opening or space • We saw strange, colorful creatures in the crannies of the reef while scuba diving. • We explored every cranny of the old castle. — sometimes used figuratively • The book explores every cranny of her life. — see also every nook and cranny at NOOK

1 crap /'kræp/ noun, informal + impolite

1 [noncount] : something that is worthless, unimportant, or of poor quality • She treats him like (a piece of) crap. • We have a lot of crap [=junk] in the garage.

2 [noncount] : foolish or untrue words or ideas : NONSENSE • You don't believe all that crap, do you? • "Do you think they're telling the truth?" "No, I think they're full of crap." • I heard what they said to you, and I think it's a load/pile of crap. • (US) It's all a bunch of crap. • Cut the crap [=stop lying] and tell me what really happened.

3 [noncount] : bad or unfair behavior or treatment • Do what I say, and don't give me any crap. • He's a tough teacher who won't take crap from anyone. • I won't stand for your crap any longer. = I won't put up with your crap any longer.

4 a [noncount] : solid waste passed out of the body : FECES
b [singular] : the act of passing solid waste from the body — used in the phrases take a crap and (Brit) have a crap

5 — used for emphasis after words like scare, frighten, and beat • That movie scared the crap out of me. [=scared me very badly] • The boxer beat the crap out of his opponent.

give a crap : to care at all about someone or something • Who gives a crap? [=who cares?] — usually used in negative statements • She doesn't give a crap about us.

like crap : very badly • I sing like crap. [=I am a terrible singer] ♦ If you feel like crap, you feel very sick, unhappy, etc. • I got drunk at the party, and the next morning I felt like crap. [=I felt sick]

2 crap verb craps; crapped; crap-ping [no obj] informal + impolite : to pass solid waste from the body : DEFECATE • The puppy crapped on the floor.

3 crap adj, chiefly Brit slang, impolite : of poor quality : not good • The DJ played some crap [=crappy] music. • I'm crap at golf. — compare ⁴CRAP

4 crap adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to the game of craps • a crap game/table — compare ³CRAP

crap-o-la /'kræp'oulə/ noun [noncount] US slang

1 : something that is useless or unimportant : CRAP • The furniture in the garage is crapola.

2 : foolish or untrue words or ideas : CRAP • Everything he says is just a bunch of crapola.

crap-per /'kræpə/ noun

the crapper informal + impolite : a toilet crap-py /'kræpi/ adj crap-pi-er; -est informal + impolite : of poor quality : not good : LOUSY • crappy music/weather • I think that was the crappiest movie I've ever seen. • I felt crappy all day yesterday.

craps /'kræps/ noun [plural] : a game played for money with two dice • They were playing/shooting craps in the back of the room.

crap-shoot /'kræpʃu:t/ noun, pl -shoots [count] US : something that could produce a good or bad result — usually singular • Choosing a restaurant can be a real crapshoot when you're in an unfamiliar city.

1 crash /'kræʃ/ verb crash-es; crashed; crash-ing

1 a [no obj] : to hit something hard enough to cause serious damage or destruction • Investigators are still trying to determine why the airplane crashed. [=why the airplane hit the ground] — often + into • The car crashed into the fence/wall/guardrail. • She crashed into another car. • A large meteorite may have crashed into the Earth 65 million years ago. b [+ obj] : to damage (a vehicle) by causing it to hit something • She crashed the car into a tree, but no one was hurt. • He has crashed two cars, a truck, and a motorcycle.

2 a always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to make a loud noise by falling, hitting something, etc. • We listened to the waves crashing against the shore. • The stuntman crashed through the window on a motorcycle. • The walls crashed down around them. • He came crashing [=tearing] through the woods. • The books crashed to the floor. • The whole stack of cans came crashing down. [=fell down with a lot of noise and force] — sometimes used figuratively • The whole theory came crashing down when it was revealed that some of the supporting evidence had been falsified. • His world came crashing down when he lost his job. b [no obj] : to make a loud noise • The cymbals crashed and the trumpets blew. • Thunder crashed as the rain started to pour. c

[+ obj] : to cause two things to hit against each other and make a loud noise • He crashed the cymbals together.

4 a [no obj] of a computer : to stop working suddenly • My computer keeps crashing. b [+ obj] : to cause (a computer) to stop working suddenly • This program always crashes my computer.

5 [no obj] informal a : to go to sleep • I was exhausted after the long flight, so I just checked into the hotel and crashed. b : to stay or live for a short time with someone • You can crash [=sleep] here tonight. • She's crashing with friends for a few days while her apartment is being repaired.

6 [no obj] of a business, price, market, etc. : to go down in value very suddenly and quickly • They lost thousands of dollars when the stock market crashed.

7 [+ obj] informal : to go to (a party) without being invited • He tried to crash the party but they wouldn't let him in.

8 [+ obj] US, sports : to move very quickly and forcefully toward (something, such as the goal in ice hockey) • The players crashed the net.

crash and burn US, informal : to fail completely • The company crashed and burned after only two years in business.

— crash-er noun, pl -ers [count] • a party crasher

2 crash noun, pl crashes [count]

1 : an accident in which a vehicle is seriously damaged or destroyed by hitting something • He was injured in a car crash. • Investigators are still trying to determine the cause of the crash. • a train/airplane crash • An ambulance arrived at the crash site/scene within minutes.

2 : a very loud noise — usually singular • The pot/glass fell to the floor with a crash. • We listened to the crash of waves in the distance. • He ended the song with a crash of cymbals. • a crash of thunder

3 : an occurrence in which a computer suddenly stops working • I am always experiencing computer crashes.

4 : a sudden and extreme fall or drop in amount or value • They lost thousands of dollars in the stock market crash. • a species of fish that has undergone a population crash

crash barrier noun, pl ~ -ers [count] Brit : GUARDRAIL

crash course noun, pl ~ courses [count] : a class in which a lot of information is taught in a short period of time • Before her trip, she took a crash course in Russian culture and history at the local university. — sometimes used figuratively • Taking care of his sister's children was a crash course in parenting for him.

crash diet noun, pl ~ -ets [count] : a way of losing a lot of weight very quickly by limiting how much you eat • He went on a crash diet and lost 20 pounds in a month.

crash helmet noun, pl ~ -mets [count] : a very strong, hard hat that is worn to protect your head when you are riding a bicycle, motorcycle, etc.

crashing adj, always used before a noun, informal : very bad — used to make a negative statement more forceful • The book is a crashing bore. [=the book is extremely boring] • The movie was a crashing failure.

a crashing halt chiefly US : a complete and sudden end • When news of the scandal broke, her career came to a crashing halt. • Construction of the tunnel was brought to a crashing halt when the funds ran out.

crash-land /'kræʃ'lænd/ verb -lands; -land-ed; -land-ing : to land (an airplane, helicopter, etc.) in an unusual way because of an emergency [+ obj] The pilot crash-landed the plane in the field. [no obj] The pilot crash-landed in the field.

— crash landing noun, pl ~ -ings [count] • The pilot had to make a crash landing.

crass /'kræs/ adj crass-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] disapproving : having or showing no understanding of what is proper or acceptable : rude and insensitive • A few people seemed shocked by her crass comments.

— crass-ly adv • They were joking crassly about her appearance. — crass-ness noun [noncount]

1 crate /'kreɪt/ noun, pl crates [count]

1 a : a large wooden or plastic box used for moving things from one place to another • The bear arrived at the zoo in a crate. • packing/shipping crates • crates of apples/equipment

b : a metal or plastic container that is used to hold bottles • Each milk crate holds nine bottles. c : the amount of something contained in a crate • They used a crate of oranges to make enough juice for everyone.

2 old-fashioned : an old car or airplane that is in bad condition • One day the old crate just wouldn't start.

2 crate verb crates; crat-ed; crat-ing [+ obj] : to pack (something) in a crate • The equipment was crated today and will be shipped tomorrow. — often + up • The bear was crated up and shipped to the zoo.

1 crater /'kreɪtə/ noun, pl -ters [count]
 1 : a large round hole in the ground made by the explosion of a bomb or by something falling from the sky • Scientists believe the enormous crater was created by the impact of a meteorite thousands of years ago.
 2 : the area on top of a volcano that is shaped like a bowl • We flew over the crater of the volcano in a helicopter.
 — cratered /'kreɪtəd/ adj • a cratered moon/surface

2 crater verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing [no obj] US, informal : to fail or fall suddenly • The deal cratered when neither party could agree on the final price. • Stock prices cratered after the companies' merger.

cravat /krə'væt/ noun, pl -vats [count] : a short, wide piece of cloth that is worn around the neck by men with its ends tucked inside the collar of a shirt or sweater crave /'kreɪv/ verb craves; craved; crav-ing [+ obj] : to have a very strong desire for (something) • Like many celebrities, he craves attention. • I was craving french fries, so I pulled into the nearest fast-food restaurant.

craven /'kreɪvən/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : having or showing a complete lack of courage : very cowardly • a craven decision • craven compromises — craven-ly adv • He cravenly fled from the scene.

crav-ing /'kreɪvɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count] : a very strong desire for something • I had/felt a sudden craving for french fries, so I pulled into the nearest fast-food restaurant.

craw /'kra:/ noun, pl craws [count] : an area in a bird's throat in which food can be kept : CROP stick in your craw informal ✧ If something sticks in your craw you are very annoyed by it or cannot accept it because you think it is wrong or unfair. • What really sticks in my craw is the way he acts as if he's done nothing wrong.

craw-dad /'kra:,dæd/ noun, pl -dads [count, noncount] US, informal : CRAYFISH — used especially in the southern U.S.

craw-fish /'kra:,fɪʃ/ noun, pl crawfish [count, noncount] US : CRAYFISH

1 crawl /'kra:ɪ/ verb crawls; crawled; crawl-ing
 1 [no obj] a : to move on your hands and knees • Does the baby crawl yet? • We got down on our knees and crawled through a small opening. • The baby crawled across the floor toward her mother. b : to move with the body close to or on the ground • The soldiers crawled forward on their bellies. • The snake crawled into its hole. • There's a spider crawling [=moving forward on its legs] up the wall.
 2 a [no obj] : to move slowly • They're doing construction on the road, so traffic is crawling. • I worked late into the night, and it was 2 a.m. before I finally crawled into bed. • The bus crawled along the rough and narrow road. • The days slowly crawled by. • Traffic has crawled to a stop/standstill [=has come to a complete stop after moving very slowly] • Work on the project has crawled to a standstill. b [+ obj] : to move slowly on, across, or through (something) • We all got into the old truck and crawled the streets of the city looking for him.
 3 [no obj] : to be full of many people, insects, animals, etc. — usually used in the phrase be crawling with • The courthouse is crawling [=teeming] with reporters today. • The table was crawling with ants.
 4 [no obj] Brit, informal + disapproving : to be extremely nice to someone in order to get approval or some advantage for yourself • He's been crawling [=creeping] to the boss for months, so it's no surprise he got a promotion.
 come/go crawling to informal ✧ If you come/go crawling (back) to someone, you go to someone for help or approval in a way that shows you are weak or sorry for what you have done. • Don't come crawling to me for help later if you aren't going to listen to me now. • He's gone crawling back to his old girlfriend.
 crawl out of the woodwork see WOODWORK make your skin/flesh crawl ✧ If something makes your skin/flesh crawl, it causes you to have an uncomfortable feeling of fear or disgust. • Just thinking about being down in that dark cave makes my skin crawl.
 — crawl-er /'kra:lə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • Both babies are crawlers now. — see also NIGHT CRAWLER

2 crawl noun [singular]
 1 : a very slow speed • Near the construction site, traffic had slowed to a crawl. • The bus was moving along at a crawl.
 2 : a way of swimming in which the swimmer lies facing down in the water and moves first one arm over the head and then the other while kicking the legs • Her strongest stroke is the crawl.

 — see also PUB CRAWL crawl space noun, pl ~ spaces [count] US : a space under the first floor or roof of a building that is not high enough to stand up in cray-fish /'kreɪ,fɪʃ/ noun, pl crayfish [count] : an animal that looks like a small lobster and lives in rivers and streams — see color picture on page C8

cray-on /'kreɪ,ɑ:n/ noun, pl -ons : a stick of colored wax that is used for drawing [count] a box of crayons [noncount] The drawing is done in crayon. — often used before another noun • crayon drawings
 — crayon verb -ons; -oned; -on-ing [+ obj] Which one of you children crayoned the wall? [=drew on the wall with a crayon] [no obj] Which child crayoned on the wall?

craze /'kreɪz/ noun, pl crazes [count] : something that is very popular for a period of time • the latest dance/fashion/music craze — often + for • I don't understand the current craze for low-fat diets.

crazed /'kreɪzd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : wild and uncontrolled • a crazed killer • The crazed look in his eyes frightened me. • the crazed ramblings/rantings of a lunatic • an addict crazed with drugs [=made crazy by drugs] • The prisoner was crazed [=made crazy] by pain and fear.

1 cra-zy /'kreɪzi/ adj cra-zi-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]
 1 : not sane: such as a usually offensive : having or showing severe mental illness • a hospital for crazy people ✧ This sense is no longer used in a serious way and is now usually considered offensive. The phrase mentally ill is preferred. b : unable to think in a clear or sensible way • She's crazy with jealousy. • He's been acting kind of crazy lately. c — used in the phrase drive/make (someone) crazy to describe annoying or bothering someone very much • It makes me crazy [=I feel very annoyed] when people drive like that. • That noise is driving me crazy. [=it is really annoying me] • The kids were driving the teacher crazy. — see also STIR-CRAZY
 2 : wild and uncontrolled • He had a crazy [=crazed, insane, wild] look in his eyes.
 3 : very foolish or unreasonable • He likes to drive at crazy [=insane] speeds. • There are a lot of crazy drivers on the streets. • You are crazy to have paid so much for this car. • You would be crazy not to accept their offer! • What a crazy thing to do!
 4 : very strange or unusual • She likes crazy hair colors, like pink and blue. • How do you think of all these crazy ideas? • I love to listen to my uncle's crazy stories about his job.
 5 : liking someone or something very much : very fond of or enthusiastic about someone or something • She's crazy for anything having to do with Japanese animation. • teenagers who are girl/boy crazy [=very interested in girls/boys] — often + about • They are crazy about each other. [=they like each other a lot] • He wasn't crazy about making the trip, but was glad he did in the end. • She is crazy about baseball.
 go crazy 1 : to become mentally ill : to go insane • She went crazy and started to think everyone was trying to kill her. — usually used in an exaggerated way • I must be going crazy. I can't find my car keys anywhere. • He kept honking his horn, and I thought I would go (completely) crazy if he didn't stop. 2 : to act in a way that is out of control : to act wildly • We were just talking when he suddenly went crazy and started screaming and breaking things. • Everybody at the party was dancing and basically going crazy. • The crowd went crazy [=became very excited] when the team won the championship.
 like crazy informal 1 : with a lot of energy and speed • They've been working like crazy [=very hard] since dawn. 2 : very quickly • Cars were selling like crazy. • He's been spending money like crazy. 3 : very much • When I broke my leg it hurt like crazy.
 — cra-zi-ly /'kreɪzəli/ adv • behaving crazily — cra-zi-ness noun [noncount] • the craziness [=insanity] of war

2 crazy noun, pl -zies [count] chiefly US, informal : a person who is crazy • A bunch of crazies live there.

3 crazy adv, US, informal : very or extremely • I bought some crazy good/cheap stuff there.

crazy bone noun, pl ~ bones [count] US : FUNNY BONE crazy golf noun [noncount] Brit : MINIATURE GOLF crazy paving noun [noncount] Brit : many pieces of stone of different shapes and sizes that are placed together to form a path or other surface crazy quilt noun, pl ~ quilts [count] US

- 1 : a covering for a bed that is made of many pieces of cloth in different sizes without a regular design
 2 : a confused mix of things • a crazy quilt [=hodgepodge] of regulations • a crazy quilt of streets – crazy-quilt adj, always used before a noun • a crazy-quilt pattern • crazy-quilt streets

creak /'kri:k/ verb creaks; creaked; creak-ing [no obj]
 : to make a long, high sound : to make a sound like the sound made by an old door when it opens or closes • The door creaked open. = The door made a creaking sound as it opened. • The old floorboards creaked under our feet. • The porch roof creaked with the heavy weight of the snow.
 – creak noun, pl creaks [count] • We heard the creak of door as it opened.

creaky /'kri:ki/ adj creak-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]
 1 : making a creaking sound • creaky floorboards
 2 : no longer working well : old and in bad condition • The new governor promises to work to revive the state's creaky economy. • a computer system that is creaky with age

¹cream /'kri:m/ noun, pl creams

- 1 [noncount] : the thick part of milk that rises to the top : the part of milk that contains fat • Would you like some cream in your coffee? • strawberries and cream • hot chocolate with whipped cream — see also CLOTTED CREAM, HEAVY CREAM, SOUR CREAM, WHIPPING CREAM
 2 : a food that is made with cream [noncount] cream of tomato soup • a chocolate candy with a vanilla cream center [count] a box of coconut creams [=chocolate candies filled with a coconut and cream mixture] — see also CREAM CHEESE, CREAM OF TARTAR, CREAM PUFF, ICE CREAM
 3 : a very thick liquid or soft substance that is rubbed into the skin to make it softer or is used as a medicine for the skin [noncount] The doctor prescribed a new cream for the rash. • Do you have any hand cream? [=hand lotion] [count] a cabinet full of special creams and pills — see also COLD CREAM, SHAVING CREAM, SUN CREAM
 4 the cream : the best part of something • a party attended by the cream of society — see also the cream of the crop at ¹CROP
 5 [count, noncount] : a pale yellowish color that is close to white — see color picture on page C2 like the cat that got the cream see CAT
 – cream adj • a cream [=cream-colored] sweater

²cream verb creams; creamed; creaming [+ obj]

- 1 : to stir or mix (ingredients) until they are soft and smooth • Cream the butter and sugar, and then add the eggs.
 2 US, informal a : to defeat (a person or team) easily and completely — usually used as (be/get) creamed • Our team got creamed in the play-offs. b : to hit (someone) very hard — usually used as (be/get) creamed • She was creamed by another skier as she was coming down the slope. • The surfer got creamed by a huge wave.
cream off [phrasal verb] cream off (someone or something) or cream (someone or something) off chiefly Brit : to remove (the best part) from something : to take (someone or something) away for yourself • Most of the profit was creamed off by the government. • The best students are creamed off to attend other schools.
 – creamed adj • creamed corn/spinach/onions [=corn/spinach/onions in a sauce made with cream]

cream cheese noun [noncount] : a soft white cheese made from milk and cream cream-colored adj : having a pale yellowish color that is close to white • The sheets are cream-colored.

cream-er /'kri:mə/ noun, pl -ers

- 1 [count] US : a small container that is used for serving cream • a matching sugar bowl and cream-er
 2 [count, noncount] : a liquid or powder that is used instead of cream in coffee or tea • a nondairy cream-er cream-ery /'kri:məri/ noun, pl -er-ies [count] : a place where butter and cheese are made or where milk and cream are prepared or sold cream of tartar noun [noncount] : a type of white salt that is used especially in cooking and baking cream puff noun, pl ~ puffs [count] US

- 1 : a type of light pastry that is filled with whipped cream or a sweetened cream filling and often topped with chocolate — called also (Brit) profiterole
 2 informal : a weak person : a person who can be easily controlled or defeated • We'll never win with a bunch of cream puffs on our team!
 3 informal : a used car that is in very good condition cream soda noun, pl ~ -das [count, noncount] : a type of sweet, bubbly soft drink that is flavored with vanilla cream tea noun, pl ~ teas [count] Brit : a small meal eaten in the afternoon that includes tea with scones, jam, and cream creamy /'kri:mi/ adj cream-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

- 1 a : made with cream or tasting like cream • a rich, creamy flavor b : thick and smooth • a creamy salad dressing • The sauce has a smooth, creamy texture. • Do you prefer creamy or crunchy peanut butter?
 2 : smooth and soft • She sings with a creamy voice.
 3 : having a color like cream • a creamy yellow • creamy skin – cream-i-ness noun [noncount] • the creaminess of the sauce • the creaminess of her skin

¹crease /'kri:s/ noun, pl creases

- 1 [count] a : a line or mark made by folding, pressing, or crushing something (such as cloth or a piece of paper) • He ironed his pants to make the creases sharp. • a crease in the paper — see color picture on page C15 b : a line or fold in someone's skin : WRINKLE • tiny creases at the corners of his eyes
 2 the crease : an area around or in front of a goal in some games (such as hockey) • Players from the opposing team may not enter the crease.
 3 [singular] Brit : the line where the batsman stands in cricket • The batsman moved out of the/his crease.

²crease verb creases; creased; creas-ing

- 1 [+ obj] : to fold, press, or crush (something, such as cloth or a piece of paper) so that a line or mark is formed : to put a crease in (something) • a neatly creased pair of pants • The pages of the book were stained and creased.
 2 : to make a line or fold in (someone's skin) [+ obj] A frown creased [=wrinkled] his forehead • Their faces were creased with worry. [=they had lines on their faces because they were worried] [no obj] She looked up, her face creasing into a smile.

cre-ate /kri'eit/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [+ obj]

- 1 : to make or produce (something) : to cause (something new) to exist • Several new government programs were creat-ed while she was governor. • The President has announced a plan to create new jobs. • the scientists who created the world's first atomic bomb • The machine creates a lot of noise. • According to the Bible, the world was created [=made] in six days.
 2 : to cause (a particular situation) to exist • You created [=made, caused] this mess, and now you'll have to fix it. • We need everyone's help in creating [=developing] a better society. • It can be hard to create a balance between work and family. • She creates a friendly and welcoming atmosphere for her guests. • The advertisements are intended to create demand for the product.
 3 : to produce (something new, such as a work of art) by using your talents and imagination • He creates beautiful paintings. • I've been creating music for over 30 years. • She enjoys creating new dishes by combining unusual ingredients.
 4 chiefly Brit : to give (someone) a new title or rank • She was created (the) Duchess of Cornwall.

cre-a-tion /kri'eɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

- 1 [noncount] : the act of making or producing something that did not exist before : the act of creating something • The play continues to entertain audiences 25 years after its cre-ation. • Job creation will be an important issue in next year's elections. • These changes will lead to the creation of new businesses.
 2 [count] : something new that is made or produced : something that has been created • The company was largely the creation of one woman. • his latest artistic creation • Come taste our chef's delicious new creations. • She's wearing one of her original fashion creations.
 3 [noncount] : everything in the world • How are humans different from the rest of creation? • the whole of creation [=all of the world] • They've traveled all over creation. [=they've traveled everywhere]
 4 or Creation [noncount] : the act of making the world • the biblical story of Creation • creation myths [=stories about how people and the world were first created] cre-a-tion-ism /kri'eɪʃənɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : the belief that God created all things out of nothing as described in the Bible and that therefore the theory of evolution is incorrect

– cre-a-tion-ist /kri'eɪʃənɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count]

cre·a·tive /kri'eɪtɪv/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : having or showing an ability to make new things or think of new ideas • He was more creative [=imaginative] than the other students. • She's a very creative person. • She has one of the most creative minds in the business. • a burst of creative energy [=energy that you use to make or think of new things] • They've come up with some creative new ways to make money. • a creative solution to a difficult problem • creative thinking

2 always used before a noun : using the ability to make or think of new things : involving the process by which new ideas, stories, etc., are created • He teaches creative writing at the university. • the first step in the creative process • the show's creative director/team

3 always used before a noun, usually disapproving : done in an unusual and often dishonest way • It turns out that the company's report of record profits last year was due to some creative accounting.

— cre·a·tive·ly adv [more ~; most ~] • Try to think more creatively. • solving problems creatively — cre·a·tive·ness noun [noncount] • I admire her creativity. [= (more commonly) creativity]

cre·a·tiv·i·ty /,kri:ˌeɪtɪvəti/ noun [noncount] : the ability to make new things or think of new ideas • her intelligence and artistic creativity

cre·a·tor /kri'eɪtə/ noun, pl -tors

1 [count] : a person who makes something new • the creator of the popular television show • the Web site's creators

2 Creator [singular] : GOD 1 • "... all men ... are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights ..." —U.S. Declaration of Independence (1776)

crea·ture /'kri:tʃə/ noun, pl -tures [count]

1 a : an animal of any type • rabbits, squirrels, and other furry creatures • They say that these forests are filled with wild creatures. [=beasts] • Few living creatures can survive without water. b : an imaginary or very strange kind of animal • fantastic/mythical/legendary creatures [=beasts, monsters] • strange sea creatures • a giant hairy apelike creature

2 : a person usually of a specified type • She's a creature of rare beauty. • A social creature by nature, he loves working with people. • The poor creature had no way to get home.

3 : a person or thing that is influenced or controlled by something specified — + of • She's a creature of politics. • The industry is still a creature of the 1930s. [=it began in the 1930s and has not changed] • I'm a creature of habit. [=I always do the same things in the same way]

creature comfort noun, pl ~ -forts [count] : something that makes life easier or more pleasant — usually plural • a hotel with all the creature comforts [=amenities] of home

crèche /'kɹeʃ/ noun, pl crèche-es [count]

1 US : a set of statues that represents the scene of Jesus Christ's birth and that is displayed during Christmas — called also (chiefly Brit) crib

2 Brit : a place where young children are cared for during the day while their parents are working : a day care center

cred /'kɹɛd/ noun [noncount] informal : the fact of being accepted and respected as a member of a social group or class • geek/hipster cred • Cred is an abbreviation of credibility. — see also STREET CRED

cre·dence /'kri:dns/ noun [noncount]

1 : belief that something is true • I place/put little credence in statistics. [=I generally do not believe statistics] • Don't give credence to [=don't believe] their gossip.

2 : the quality of being believed or accepted as something true or real • This new evidence gives/adds/lends (some) credence [=credibility] to their theory. [=makes their theory believable] • The theory is gaining credence among scientists.

cre·den·tial /kri'dɛnʃəl/ noun, pl -tials [count]

1 : a quality, skill, or experience that makes a person suited to do a job • My experience as a manager is my strongest credential. — usually plural • What are your credentials? [=qualifications] • her impressive academic/professional credentials

2 : a document which shows that a person is qualified to do a particular job • (US) a teaching credential [= (more commonly) certificate] — usually plural • The doctor showed us her credentials. • press credentials [=documents which show that a person is a journalist]

— credentialed adj, US • a credentialed teacher

cred·i·bil·i·ty /,kɹɛdə'bɪləti/ noun [noncount] : the quality of being believed or accepted as true, real, or honest • The new evidence lends credibility to their theory. • a lack/loss of credibility • The scandal undermined/damaged her credibility

as an honest politician. • In this instance, the lawyer's job is to make the jury doubt/question the witness's credibility. • They doubted the credibility of the witness's story. [=they doubted that the story was true] credibility gap noun, pl ~ gaps [count] : a situation in which the things that someone says are not believed or trusted because of the difference between what is said and what seems to be true • There is a credibility gap between what the mayor says and what the people see happening in the city. • The fact that the new estimates are so wildly different from the initial numbers has created a credibility gap.

cred·i·ble /'kɹɛdəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : able to be believed : reasonable to trust or believe • Their story seemed credible [=believable, plausible] at first. • We've received credible information about the group's location. • credible evidence/witnesses

2 : good enough to be effective • She does a credible job of playing the famous singer.

— cred·i·bly /'kɹɛdəbli/ adv • She can talk credibly about the difficulties of being poor in this country.

cred·it /'kɹɛdɪt/ noun, pl -its

1 [noncount] a : money that a bank or business will allow a person to use and then pay back in the future • banks that extend credit to the public • Some banks will charge a fee if you go over your credit limit. [=if you spend more money than the bank has agreed to let you use] • If you buy something on credit, you take it and promise to pay for it later. • Back then, stores allowed their customers to buy food on credit. b : a record of how well you have paid your bills in the past • How's your credit? • Do you have good credit? [=have you paid back money you owe, paid your bills when they are due, etc.?] • You need to have a strong credit history and a good job in order to get a mortgage.

2 [count] a : an amount of money that is added to an account • A credit of $50 was added to your account. — opposite DEBIT b : an amount of money that is subtracted from the amount that must be paid • Families with children in college will receive a tax credit this year. [=the amount that they owe in taxes will be reduced]

3 [noncount] : praise or special attention that is given to someone for doing something or for making something happen • All the credit must go to the play's talented director. • She's finally getting the credit she deserves. • He shared the credit with his parents. • You've got to give her credit; she knows what she's doing. — often + for • They were given credit for the discovery. • He didn't actually write the essay, but he got credit for it. • You have to give us credit for trying. We did the best we could. • She never took credit for her achievements. • Party leaders took/claimed full credit for the country's progress. [=they claimed that they alone caused the country's progress] • If you give credit where credit is due you praise someone who deserves to be praised. • In receiving this award, I must give credit where credit is due and acknowledge all the people who helped me.

4 [noncount] : a good opinion that people have about someone or something • Someone or something that brings credit to you or does you credit causes people to think of you in favorable way. • She is a talented journalist who has brought credit to the newspaper. • The fact that administrators fired the offending teacher immediately does the school credit. • Something that is to your credit causes people to have a more favorable opinion of you. • It's to her credit that she admitted her mistake. • To his credit, Mr. Smith has offered to pay for the damages. • Something that does you no credit causes people to have a less favorable opinion of you. • It does them no credit to continue fighting over this issue.

5 [singular] : a source of honor or pride for someone or something — used in the phrase a credit to • You are a credit to your family and your country. • He's an excellent athlete and a credit to the sport.

6 credits [plural] : a list of the names of the people who have worked on or performed in a movie, television program, etc. • the movie's opening/closing credits • Her name was listed in the credits. • We always stay to watch the credits.

7 a : a unit that measures a student's progress towards earning a degree in a school, college, etc. [count] So far, you've earned a total of 12 credits. [noncount] Our program gives academic credit for working with several social service organizations. b [noncount] : the amount of points earned for work done on a test, exam, project, etc. • Students will only receive partial credit for correct answers that are not written as complete sentences. • To earn full credit [=the total amount of points possible] you must include at least three maps with your project. • Answer this last question correctly for extra credit. — sometimes used figuratively. • They deserve respect for making the event happen, and they get extra credit for doing it in a way that included everyone.

on the credit side 1 chiefly Brit : in the section of a financial record where credits are written • Enter these amounts on the credit side. 2 — used when mentioning the things that you like about something • On the credit side, the restaurant offers a wide range of choices.

2 credit verb -its; -it-ed; -it-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to add (an amount of money) to a total • Your payment of $38.50 has been credited to your account. — opposite DEDUCT b : to add money to (an account) • The bank is crediting your account for the full amount. — opposite DEBIT

2 a : to give honor or recognition to (someone or something) for doing something or for making something happen • The team's players all credit their coach [=they say their coach is responsible] for helping them succeed. — often + with • She credits her family with her success. • He was credited with saving their lives. b : to say that (something) is because of someone or something : to give credit for (something) to someone or something • She credits [=attributes] her success to her family's support. • They credited the rescue to his quick thinking.

3 : to think of (someone) as having a particular quality or effect — usually used as (be) credited • She is credited as (being) the first woman to play the sport professionally.

4 chiefly Brit : to believe that (something) is true • It's hard to credit that anyone would want to buy this old car.

cred-it-able /'kredətəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : good enough to be praised • a creditable [=estimable] performance — cred-it-ably /'kredətəbli/ adv • He performed the part creditably.

credit account noun, pl ~ accounts [count] Brit : CHARGE ACCOUNT credit card noun, pl ~ cards [count] : a small plastic card that is used to buy things that you agree to pay for later — called also charge card; compare DEBIT CARD

credit line noun, pl ~ lines [count] : LINE OF CREDIT

cred-i-tor /'kredətə/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a person, bank, or company that lends money to someone • She owes thousands of dollars to creditors. — opposite DEBTOR credit rating noun, pl ~ ratings [count] : a score or grade that a company or organization gives to a possible borrower and that indicates how likely the borrower is to repay a loan ♦ Credit ratings are based on how much money, property, and debt a borrower has and on how well the borrower has paid past debts.

credit union noun, pl ~ unions [count] : an organization that gives small loans to its members at low interest rates and that offers savings and checking accounts

cred-it-wor-thy /'kredɪt,wəði/ adj [more ~; most ~] : considered able to repay borrowed money • creditworthy customers

— cred-it-wor-thi-ness noun [noncount] • the company's creditworthiness

cre-do /'kri:dou/ noun, pl cre-dos [count] : an idea or set of beliefs that guides the actions of a person or group • Our cre-do [=creed, philosophy] is "better safe than sorry." • my personal credo

cre-du-li-ty /kri'du:ləti, Brit kri'dju:ləti/ noun [noncount] formal : ability or willingness to believe something • Although most of the book is believable, its ending tests/strains credulity. [=its ending is difficult to believe; its ending does not seem true or possible]

cred-u-lous /'kredʒələs, Brit 'kredʒuləs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : too ready to believe things : easily fooled or cheated • Few people are credulous enough to believe such nonsense. • a credulous audience

— cred-u-lous-ly adv — cred-u-lous-ness noun [noncount]

creed /'kri:d/ noun, pl creeds [count]

1 : a statement of the basic beliefs of a religion • the religion's creed • people of different races and creeds [=religions]

2 : an idea or set of beliefs that guides the actions of a person or group • a political creed [=credo]

creek /'kri:k/ noun, pl creeks [count]

1 US : a small stream • The children waded in the creek.

2 Brit : INLET • The coast is dotted with tiny creeks.

up the creek or up the creek without a paddle informal : in a very difficult situation that you cannot get out of • If you hadn't helped us, we would've been up the creek.

creel /'kri:l/ noun, pl creels [count] : a basket that is used for carrying fish that have just been caught — see picture at FISHING

1 creep /'kri:p/ verb creeps; crept /'krept/; creep-ing [no obj]

1 : to move slowly with the body close to the ground • A spider was creeping [=crawling] along the bathroom floor. • She crept toward the edge of the roof and looked over.

2 always followed by an adverb or preposition a : to move slowly and quietly especially in order to not be noticed • I caught him creeping down the stairs to the kitchen. • She crept into bed next to her sleeping husband. b : to go or seem to go very slowly • The hours crept by as we waited for morning. • a train creeping through the town

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to appear gradually and in a way that is difficult to notice • The price of gasoline has crept back up to three dollars a gallon. • A few mistakes crept in during the last revision of the paper. • new words creeping into the language

4 of a plant : to grow along the ground or up a surface (such as a tree or wall) • ivy creeping up a wall • a creeping vine

5 Brit, informal + disapproving : to be extremely nice to someone in order to get approval or some advantage for yourself • He's been creeping (up) to the boss for months, so it's no surprise he got a promotion.

creep out [phrasal verb] creep (someone) out or creep out (someone) US, informal : to cause (someone) to have an uncomfortable feeling of nervousness or fear : to give (someone) the creeps • That guys really creeps me out. • I felt creeped out being alone in the office at night.

creep up on [phrasal verb] creep up on (someone) informal : to slowly and quietly move closer to (someone) without being noticed • We tried to creep up on [=sneak up on] them but they heard our footsteps. — often used figuratively • Old age creeps up on us. • The deadline had crept up on them.

make your skin/flesh creep ♦ If something makes your skin/flesh creep, it causes you to have an uncomfortable feeling of fear or disgust. • The thought of touching that slimy mess makes my skin creep.

2 creep noun, pl creeps informal

1 [count] : a strange person who you strongly dislike • Leave me alone, you creep! [=jerk, weirdo]

2 the creeps : an uncomfortable feeling of nervousness or fear • I get the creeps every time he walks by. • I hate snakes. They give me the creeps. • That guy gives me the creeps.

creep-er /'kri:pə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a plant that grows along the ground or up surfaces (such as trees or walls) creepy /'kri:pi/ adj creep-i-er; -est [or more ~; most ~] informal : strange or scary : causing people to feel nervous and afraid • a creepy movie • a creepy old house • There's something creepy about that guy.

— creep-i-ly /'kri:pəli/ adv — creep-i-ness noun [noncount] creepy-crawly /'kri:pi'kra:li/ noun, pl -lies [count] informal : an unpleasant worm, insect, or spider • a basement full of creepy-crawlies cre-mate /'kri:meɪt, kri'meɪt/ verb -mates; -mat-ed; -mat-ing [+ obj] : to burn (the body of a person who has died) • He wants to be cremated when he dies.

— cre-ma-tion /kri'meɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • Some religions do not allow cremation.

cre-ma-to-ri-um /,kri:mə'torijəm, Brit ,kremə'to:riəm/ noun, pl -to-ria /-'torijə, Brit -'to:riə/ or -to-ri-ums [count] : CREMATORY cre-ma-to-ry /'kri:mə'tori, Brit 'kremətri/ noun, pl -ries [count] chiefly US : a place where the bodies of dead people are cremated

crème an-glaise /,kreməŋ'gleiz/ noun [noncount] : a sweet sauce made with cream that is usually served with desserts

crème brû-lée /,krembru'leɪ/ noun, pl ~ -lées [count, noncount] : a sweet dessert made of a smooth, thick custard covered with a hard top of cooked sugar

crème car-a-mel /,krem,kərə'mel/ noun, pl ~ -mels [count, noncount] : a sweet dessert made of a smooth, thick custard covered in a caramel sauce

crème de la crème /'kremdələ'krem/ noun

the crème de la crème : the very best people or things in a group • These actors are the crème de la crème [=the cream of the crop] of American theater.

crème de menthe /'kremdə'menθ, Brit 'kremdə'mənθ/noun [noncount] : a sweet and often green alcoholic drink with a mint flavor

crème fraîche /'krem'freʃ/ noun [noncount] : a thick cream that is slightly sour and often served on fruit

cren-el-lat-ed /'krenə,leɪtəd/ adj : having open spaces at the top of a wall so that people can shoot guns and cannons outward • the castle's crenellated walls • a crenellated tower

Cre-ole /'kri:,oul/ noun, pl -oles

1 [count] : a person who has African and French or Spanish ancestors; especially : such a person who lives in the West Indies

2 [count] : a person whose ancestors were some of the first people from France or Spain to live in the southeastern U.S. ♦ Creoles continue to have the same language and culture as their French or Spanish ancestors.

3 a [noncount] : a language that is based on French and that uses words from African languages • Some people in Louisiana speak Creole. • Haitian Creole [=a type of Creole spoken in Haiti] b creole [count] linguistics : a language that is based on one language but that has some words from another language

cre-ole or Creole /'kri:,oul/ adj

1 : relating to people who are Creoles or to their language • Creole music • a Creole woman • a creole word

2 — used to describe spicy food that is usually made with rice, okra, tomatoes, and peppers ♦ Creole is used for the traditional food of the Creoles from the southeastern U.S. • He ordered the shrimp creole. • creole dishes such as gumbo cre-o-sote /'kri:jə,sout/ noun [noncount] : a brown, oily liquid used to keep wood from rotting

— creosote verb -sotes; -sot-ed; -sot-ing [+ obj] • creosoted wood

crepe or crêpe /'kreɪp/ noun, pl crepes or crêpes

1 [count] : a very thin pancake

2 [noncount] : a thin often silk or cotton cloth that has many very small wrinkles all over its surface

3 [noncount] : a thin, hard type of rubber that has a bumpy surface and that is used especially for the bottoms of shoes • crepe-soled shoes crepe paper noun [noncount] : a type of colorful paper that has a wrinkled surface ♦ People often use colorful strips of crepe paper to make decorations for a party, celebration, etc. • a room decorated with balloons and strands of crepe paper

crept past tense and past participle of ¹CREEP

cre-scen-do /krə'sendou/ noun, pl -dos also -does [count]

1 : a gradual increase in the loudness of a sound or section of music

2 : the highest or loudest point of something that increases gradually • The excitement reaches its crescendo [=climax, peak] when he comes on stage. • The noise rose to a crescendo.

cres-cent /'kresnt/ noun, pl -cents

1 [singular] : the shape of the visible part of the moon when it is less than half full • the crescent moon

2 [count] : a shape that is curved, wide at its center, and pointed at its two ends like a crescent moon ♦ The crescent is used as a symbol of Islam. — see also RED CRESCENT

cress /'kres/ noun, pl cress-es [count, non-count] : a small plant that has spicy leaves that are eaten especially in salads — see also WATERCRESS

¹crest /'krest/ noun, pl crests [count]

1 : the highest part or point of something (such as a hill or wave) • wave crests — usually + of • The boat rose up on the crest of the wave. • We stood on the crest of the hill/mountain. • the crest of the flood — often used figuratively • They're still riding the crest of the wave of their success. [=they are still very happy, excited, etc., because of their success] • He was at the crest of his fame when he died tragically.

2 : a group of decorative feathers at the top of a bird's head; also : a decorative bunch of hair on the head of another animal

3 : a special symbol used especially in the past to represent a family, group, or organization • her family's crest — compare COAT OF ARMS

²crest verb crests; crest-ed; crest-ing

1 [+ obj] : to reach the highest part or point of (a mountain, wave, etc.) • We crested the hill and looked out around us.

2 [no obj] US : to rise to a high level before going back down

• The river crested [=reached its highest level] at 10 feet above its normal level. — often used figuratively • His acting career crested in the mid-1940s.

crest-ed /'krestəd/ adj : having a decorative bunch of feathers or hair : having a crest • a crested bird crest-fall-en /'krest,fal:ən/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very sad and disappointed • After losing its last game, the team was crestfallen. [=dejected, depressed] • my crestfallen [=downcast] teammates cre-tin /'kri:tɪn, Brit 'kreɪn/ noun, pl -tins [count] informal + offensive : a stupid or annoying person • Let me know if these cretins [=jerks, idiots] bother you.

— cre-tin-ous /'kri:tɪnəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a cretinous lout

Creutz-feldt-Ja-kob disease /'kroɪts,felt'ja:,koub-/ noun [noncount] medical : a disease of the brain that causes people to lose their memory, to no longer be able to control their muscles, and eventually to die — called also CJD

cre-vasse /kri'væs/ noun, pl -vas-ses [count] : a deep, narrow opening or crack in an area of thick ice or rock

crev-ice /'krevəs/ noun, pl -ic-es [count] : a narrow opening or crack in a hard surface and especially in rock

¹crew /'kru:/ noun, pl crews

1 [count] a : the group of people who operate a ship, airplane, or train • a skilled member of a ship's crew • flight crews • the flight's passengers and crew • crew members b : the people who work on a ship except the officers and captain • the ship's captain and crew

2 [count] : a group of people who do a specified kind of work together • A construction crew will begin work on the house next week. • the restaurant's kitchen crew • television/news/film crews • the film's camera crew • We spoke with members of the show's original cast and crew. [=actors and other people who work to produce a show] • the driver's pit crew [=people who fix a race car during a race] • one of the factory's crew chiefs [=people in charge of a group of workers] — see also GROUND CREW

3 [singular] informal : a group of people who are friends or who are doing something together • He and his crew [=gang] used to hang out at the bowling alley. • We were a motley crew [=an unusual mixed group] of musicians and athletes.

4 a [count] : a team that rows a boat in a race against other boats • Crews from several colleges will be competing in today's race. b [noncount] US : the sport of racing in long, narrow boats that are moved by rowing with oars : ROWING • In college, she participated in both crew and tennis.

²crew verb crews; crewed; crew-ing : to work as a member of a crew that operates a ship or airplane [no obj] She spent a couple of years crewing on a British ship. [+ obj] The ship was crewed by 12 men.

crew cut noun, pl ~ cuts [count] : a very short haircut usually for men or boys — called also (US) buzz cut; see picture at HAIR crew-man /'kru:mən/ noun, pl -men [count] : a member of a crew: such as a : a person who helps operate a ship, airplane, or train • Eight crewmen were wounded in the attack. b : a person who is part of a group of people who work together • TV crewmen

crew neck noun, pl ~ necks [count]

1 : a plain, round neck on a T-shirt, sweater, etc. — often used before another noun • a cotton crew neck sweatshirt

2 usually crewneck : a sweater with a crew neck

¹crib /'kriɪb/ noun, pl cribs [count]

1 a US : a small bed with high sides for a baby — called also (Brit) cot b Brit : ¹CRADLE 1

2 chiefly Brit : CRÈCHE 1

3 : a long open box that holds food for farm animals

4 informal : something used for cheating on a test — usually used before another noun • crib notes • He got caught using a crib sheet. [=a piece of paper with answers to test questions]

5 US slang : a usually small room, apartment, or house • How about coming up to my crib? [=place]

²crib verb cribs; cribbed; crib-bing : to copy an idea, a piece of writing, etc., from someone else [+ obj] She cribbed a line or two from her favorite poet. [no obj] students crib-bing off each other's papers crescent

crib

crib·bage /'krɪbɪdʒ/ noun [noncount] : a card game for two players in which a special board is used to count each player's points

crib death noun, pl ~ deaths [count, noncount] US : SUD-DEN INFANT DEATH SYNDROME

¹crick /'krɪk/ noun, pl cricks [count] : a sudden pain especially in your neck or back that is caused by tight muscles — usually singular; usually + in • I got a crick in my neck from looking up at the stars too long.

²crick verb cricks; cricked; crick·ing [+ obj] chiefly Brit : to develop a crick in (your neck or back) • He cricked his back sleeping on the sofa. • a cricked neck

¹crick·et /'krɪkət/ noun, pl -ets [count] : a small black insect that jumps high and that makes loud, high-pitched noises — see color picture on page C10 — compare ²CRICKET

²cricket noun [noncount] : a game played on a large field by two teams of 11 players who try to score runs by hitting a small ball with a bat and then running between two sets of wooden sticks — often used before another noun • a cricket match — see pictures at BALL, BAT, GLOVE

not cricket Brit, old-fashioned : not fair, polite, or proper •

You can't keep ignoring her. It just isn't cricket.

— compare ¹CRICKET

crick·et·er /'krɪkətə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who plays cricket cri·key /'kraɪki/ interj, chiefly Brit — used to express mild surprise • Crikey, that was close!

crime /'kraɪm/ noun, pl crimes

¹ [count] : an illegal act for which someone can be punished by the government • Have you ever been convicted of a crime? = Were you ever found guilty of a crime? • a very serious crime • She paid dearly for her crimes. • The punishment didn't fit the crime. [=the punishment was too mild/severe] • evidence that helped them solve the crime • a federal crime • weapons used to commit crimes [=to do something illegal] • I've committed no crime. = I haven't committed any crime. • He was punished for a crime that he didn't commit. • laws against hate crimes [=crimes that people commit because they hate the victim's race, religion, etc.] • He thought he had committed a/the perfect crime. [=a crime that leaves no evidence] — see also WAR CRIME, WHITE-COLLAR CRIME

² [noncount] : activity that is against the law : illegal acts in general • poverty and crime • Hiring more police officers would help prevent/deter/reduce (the amount of) crime in our city. • leaders who are tough on crime = leaders who work hard to fight crime • He turned to a life of crime [=he became a criminal] as a teenager. • He has links to organized crime. [=a group of professional criminals who work together as part of a powerful and secret organization] • the recent increase in violent crime — often used before another noun • high crime rates • crime novels/stories • We found your wallet at the crime scene. [=the place where a crime happened] • a crime wave [=a sudden increase in the amount of crime in an area] ♦ Someone's partner in crime is a person who helps someone commit a crime. • He was her partner in crime for most of the robberies.

³ [singular] : an act that is foolish or wrong • It's a crime [=sin] to let food go to waste. • Being single is not a crime. • There's no greater crime than forgetting your anniversary.

crime against humanity : a very cruel or terrible illegal act that is directed against a group of people • The country's former leader was tried for crimes against humanity.

¹crim·i·nal /'krɪmən/ adj

¹ : involving illegal activity : relating to crime • committing criminal acts/activities • a criminal organization • a history of criminal behavior • We're trying to understand how the criminal mind [=the mind of someone who commits crimes] works. • The captain of the wrecked boat was accused of criminal negligence.

² always used before a noun : relating to laws that describe crimes rather than to laws about a person's rights • the criminal justice system • a criminal court/case/trial • criminal proceedings • criminal lawyers [=lawyers who represent people accused of a crime] • The company brought/filed criminal charges against her. • Using this drug is a criminal offense. [=it is illegal to use this drug] • The police are conducting a criminal investigation. [=they are investigating a crime] — compare CIVIL 5; see also CRIMINAL LAW

³ not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : morally wrong • It's criminal that the government is doing nothing to stop the problem. — often used in a joking way to say that someone should not do something • In my opinion, it would be crimi- nal to miss seeing this movie. [=I think everyone should see this movie]

— crim·i·nal·i·ty /,krɪmə'næləti/ noun [noncount] • the criminality of his actions — crim·i·nal·ly adv • criminally liable/responsible

²criminal noun, pl -nals [count] : a person who has committed a crime or who has been proved to be guilty of a crime by a court • She's a convicted criminal. • violent/white-collar/common criminals • a hardened criminal • career criminals [=people who have committed many crimes throughout their lives]

crim·i·nal·ize also Brit crim·i·nal·ise /'krɪmən,aɪz/ verb -iz·es; -ized; -iz·ing [+ obj] : to make (something) illegal • a law that criminalized alcohol — opposite LEGALIZE

— crim·i·nal·i·za·tion also Brit crim·i·nal·i·sa·tion /,krɪmənə'zeɪʃən, Brit ,krɪmən,aɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the criminalization of alcohol criminal law noun [noncount] : laws that deal with crimes and their punishments — compare CIVIL LAW criminal record noun, pl ~ -cords [count] : a known record of having been arrested in the past for committing a crime • Do you have a criminal record? [=have you ever been arrested for a crime?] • someone with no criminal record — called also record

crim·i·nol·o·gy /,krɪmə'nɑ:lədʒi/ noun [noncount] : the study of crime, criminals, and the punishment of criminals • a professor of criminology

— crim·i·nol·o·gist /,krɪmə'nɑ:lədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count]

¹crimp /'krɪmp/ verb crimps; crimped; crimp·ing [+ obj]

¹ : to make the surface or edge of (hair, cloth, metal, etc.) have many small waves or folds • She crimps her hair with a curling iron. • Crimp the edges of the pie crust with a fork.

² : to press (parts or pieces) tightly together • Crimp the pieces of foil together.

³ US : to prevent (something) from happening or proceeding in the usual or desired way • economic problems that have been crimping [=putting a crimp in] sales in the computer industry

²crimp noun, pl crimps [count] : a small wave or fold in the surface of something (such as hair or cloth)

put a crimp in US : to prevent (something) from happening or proceeding in the usual or desired way : to affect (something) badly • The storm put a crimp in our travel plans. • The extra expenses put a crimp in the company's budget.

crim·son /'krɪmzən/ noun [noncount] : a deep purplish-red color — see color picture on page C3

— crimson adj • a crimson dress

cringe /'krɪndʒ/ verb cring·es; cringed; cring·ing [no obj]

¹ : to feel disgust or embarrassment and often to show this feeling by a movement of your face or body • Many English teachers cringe when their students use the word "ain't." • I always cringe when I hear that song. • Just the thought of eating broccoli makes me cringe.

² : to make a sudden movement from fear of being hit or hurt • The dog cringed at the noise.

¹crin·kle /'krɪŋkəl/ verb crin·kles; crin·kled; crin·kling : to form small, thin lines on the surface [no obj] The corners of his eyes crinkle when he smiles. [+ obj] an old crinkled newspaper — often + up • She crinkled up her nose in disgust.

²crinkle noun, pl crinkles [count] : a small, thin line that appears on a surface — usually plural • the crinkles at the corners of his eyes — crin·kly /'krɪŋkli/ adj crin·kli·er; -est [also more ~; most ~] • dry, crinkly leaves • the crinkly fabric of her dress

¹crip·ple /'krɪpəl/ noun, pl crip·ples [count]

¹ old-fashioned + offensive : a person who cannot move or walk normally because of a permanent injury (such as a damaged leg or foot) or other physical problem • He returned from war a cripple. ♦ Cripple is an old-fashioned word. People now usually use the less offensive term disabled person.

² informal : a person who has emotional problems that prevent normal behavior with other people • She's an emotional cripple. [=she's unable to express her emotions normally] • social cripples

²cripple verb cripples; crip·pled; crip·pling [+ obj]

¹ : to cause (a person or animal) to be unable to move or walk normally — usually used as (be) crippled • Thousands of people have been crippled by the disease. • The car accident left him crippled. [=disabled]

2 : to make (something) unable to work normally : to cause great damage to (something) • Higher taxes could cripple small businesses. • an economy crippled by inflation • The disease cripples the body's immune system. [=it makes the body unable to heal itself]

– crippling adj • crippling diseases • the crippling effects of the disease • the crippling effects of inflation

cri-sis /'kraɪsɪs/ noun, pl -ses /-siːz/ : a difficult or dangerous situation that needs serious attention [count] the AIDS crisis • She was dealing with a family crisis at the time. • Most people blame the government for the country's worsening economic/financial/fiscal crisis. • last year's state budget crisis • an energy/fuel/water crisis [=a time when there is not enough energy/fuel/water] • a hostage crisis [=a situation in which someone is holding people as hostages] [noncount] In times of national crisis, we need strong leaders we can trust. • A year ago, both companies were in crisis. — see also IDENTITY CRISIS, MIDLIFE CRISIS

1 crisp /'krɪsp/ adj crisp·er; -est

1 a : dry, hard, and easily broken • the pie's deliciously crisp [=crispy] crust • a crisp cookie • The fish is fried until crisp. [=until its outer layer is brown and crunchy] • crisp bacon b : pleasantly firm and making a sharp sound when chewed or crushed • fresh, crisp lettuce • crisp celery

2 : clean, smooth, and somewhat stiff • I put on a crisp shirt and tie. • clean, crisp bedsheets • a crisp $100 bill

3 : having details that are easily seen or heard • crisp black-and-white photographs • The stereo's sound is crisp and clear.

4 : pleasantly cool, fresh, and dry • a crisp autumn day • crisp winter air • She chose a crisp white wine for dinner.

5 : moving or speaking quickly and directly • We were impressed by her crisp, businesslike manner. • He issued a series of crisp commands. • He responded with a crisp [=terse] "No. Thank you."

6 : done in a very confident and skillful way • a crisp tennis serve

– crisp·ly adv [more ~; most ~] • crisply fried fish • a crisply dressed man – crisp·ness noun [noncount] • the crispness of the vegetables

2 crisp noun, pl crisps

1 [count] : a thin, hard, and usually salty piece of food • corn crisps; especially, Brit : POTATO CHIP — usually plural • a bag of crisps

2 [count, noncount] US : a dessert made of cooked fruit with a sweet, dry topping • a hot apple crisp — called also (chiefly Brit) crumble to a crisp : to a state of being hard, dry, and easily broken • The toast had been burned to a crisp.

3 crisp verb crisps; crisped; crisp·ing : to make (something) crisp or to become crisp [+ obj] Crisp the celery in ice water. [no obj] The crust crisped (up) nicely in the oven.

crispy /'krɪspi/ adj crisp·i·er; -est [also more ~; most ~] : pleasantly thin, dry, and easily broken • crispy [=crisp] crackers : having a pleasantly crisp outer layer • crispy fried chicken • Fry the potatoes until they are brown and crispy.

– crisp·i·ness noun [noncount] • the crispiness of the potatoes

1 criss·cross /'krɪs,kroʊs/ noun [singular] : a pattern that is formed by lines crossing each other • She pointed toward the crisscross of trees that had fallen on the path.

– crisscross adj • a crisscross pattern on her dress

2 crisscross verb -cross·es; -crossed; -cross·ing

1 : to form a pattern on (something) with lines that cross each other [+ obj] Several highways crisscross the state. [no obj] shoelaces that crisscross over the top of the shoe

2 [+ obj] : to go from one side of (something) to the other side and come back again • Tourists crisscrossed the lake from morning until night. • Scientists have been crisscrossing the country to collect data.

cri·te·ri·on /krɑː'tɪrɪjən/ noun, pl -te·ria /-tɪrɪə/ [count] : something that is used as a reason for making a judgment or decision • High test scores are one criterion [=standard] used by universities to determine which students to admit. • What were the criteria used to choose the winner? — often + for • the university's criteria for admission • Our main criterion for hiring new employees is that they have a lot of past work experience.

crit·ic /'krɪtɪk/ noun, pl -ics [count]

1 : a person who gives opinions about books, movies, or other forms of art • a film/theater/art critic • He is an influential literary critic. • Critics praised the book.

2 : a person who disapproves of someone or something : a person who criticizes someone or something • Critics of the new law say that it will not reduce crime. • The actor had to answer many charges from his critics. • He is a fierce/loud/outspoken critic of tax reform.

crit·i·cal /'krɪtɪkəl/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : expressing criticism or disapproval • You're always so critical. • They are often critical of the mayor's policies. [=they often criticize the mayor's policies]

2 : of or relating to the judgments of critics about books, movies, art, etc. • The book received much critical acclaim. [=many critics said good things about the book] • critical writings/theory • The movie was a critical success [=critics liked the movie], but it didn't make much money.

3 : using or involving careful judgment about the good and bad parts of something • The program presents a critical analysis of the government's strategies. • She has a talent for critical thinking. • We need to look at these proposed changes with a critical eye before we accept them.

4 [more ~; most ~] : extremely important • We have reached a critical phase of the experiment. • It is absolutely critical [=vital, essential] for us to remain together. • This is a matter of critical importance to the future of our country.

5 [more ~; most ~] medical : relating to or involving a great danger of death • He suffered critical injuries in the accident. • The patient is in critical condition. = The patient is critical. [=the patient is very sick or injured and may die] • a nurse who specializes in critical care [=the care of patients who are in critical condition] • patients who are on the critical list — sometimes used figuratively • a government program that is on the critical list [=that is in danger of failing or being eliminated]

– crit·i·cal·ly /'krɪtɪkli/ adv • He spoke critically of the mayor's policies. [=he criticized the mayor's policies] • The movie was critically acclaimed. • She taught me to think critically about books. • This matter is critically important to the future of our country. • a critically ill person critical mass noun, pl ~ masses [count, noncount]

1 technical : an amount of material (such as plutonium) that is large enough to allow a nuclear reaction to occur

2 : the size, number, or amount of something that is needed to cause a particular result • Production of the show stopped after complaints from viewers reached (a) critical mass.

crit·i·cism /'krɪtɪsɪzəm/ noun, pl -cisms

1 [noncount] : the act of expressing disapproval and of noting the problems or faults of a person or thing : the act of criticizing someone or something • There was much public criticism directed/leveled at the senator. • The new law attracted/drew widespread criticism. [=many people criticized the new law] • In this job you need to be able to take/face/accept criticism. • I asked my sister for some constructive criticism of my essay before I tried to revise it. — opposite PRAISE

2 [count] : a remark or comment that expresses disapproval of someone or something • I had one minor criticism about her design.

3 [noncount] : the activity of making careful judgments about the good and bad qualities of books, movies, etc. • literary criticism

crit·i·cize also Brit crit·i·cise /'krɪtɪsaɪz/ verb -ciz·es; -cized; -ciz·ing

1 : to express disapproval of (someone or something) : to talk about the problems or faults of (someone or something) [+ obj] His boss criticized him for his sloppy work habits. • The judge was widely/roundly criticized for his verdict. • The editor criticized the author's work as trite. [no obj] It seems as though all he ever does is criticize. — opposite PRAISE

2 [+ obj] : to look at and make judgments about (something, such as a piece of writing or a work of art) • He asked me to criticize [=critique] his drawings.

1 cri·tique /krə'tɪk/ noun, pl -tiques [count] : a careful judgment in which you give your opinion about the good and bad parts of something (such as a piece of writing or a work of art) • She wrote a radical critique of the philosopher's early essays. • They gave a fair and honest critique of her art.

2 critique verb -tiques; -tiqued; -tiqu·ing [+ obj] : to express your opinion about the good and bad parts of (something) : to give a critique of (something) • The class convened to critique the student's latest painting.

crit·ter /'krɪtə/ noun, pl -ters [count] US, informal : a usually small creature or animal • The woods are filled with skunks, raccoons, and other critters.

croak /'krouk/ verb croaks; croaked; croak-ing

1 [no obj] : to make the deep, harsh sound that a frog makes • We could hear the frogs croaking by the pond.

2 : to say (something) in a rough, low voice that is hard to understand [+ obj] The man could only croak his name. [no obj] He tried to speak but could barely croak.

3 [no obj] slang : to die • He had a heart attack and croaked. — croak noun, pl croaks [count] • the croaks of the frogs

croc /'kra:k/ noun, pl crocs [count] informal : CROCODILE

crochet /krou'ʃeɪ/ noun [noncount] : a method of making cloth or clothing by using a needle with a hook at the end to form and weave loops in a thread • She learned basic crochet stitches from her mother. • a crochet hook — see picture at SEWING

— crochet verb -chets; -cheted; -chet-ing [+ obj] She crocheted an afghan. [no obj] She enjoys crocheting.

— crochet-er /krou'ʃejə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

crock /'kra:k/ noun, pl crocks

1 [count] : a pot or jar made of baked clay • chili served in a crock

2 [singular] US, informal : something that is impossible to believe because it is untrue or ridiculous • We could tell that the salesman's claims about his product were a crock. • She thinks horoscopes are a crock. ✧ This use of crock comes from its use in phrases with similar meanings such as a crock of baloney or (offensive) a crock of shit.

— compare ²CROCK

²crock noun, pl crocks [count] Brit, informal : an old, ill, or unhappy person • He's an old crock who complains about everything. — compare ¹CROCK crooked /'kra:kt/ adj, not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] US slang : very drunk or intoxicated • He was half-crooked when he came home.

crock-ery /'kra:kəri/ noun [noncount]

1 US : pots or jars made of baked clay used for cooking : EARTHENWARE

2 chiefly Brit : plates, dishes, and cups used in dining

croc-o-dile /'kra:kə,dajəl/ noun, pl -diles

1 a [count] : a large reptile that has a long body, thick skin, and a long, thin mouth with sharp teeth and that lives in the water in regions with hot weather — see picture at ALLIGATOR b [noncount] : the skin of the crocodile used for making shoes and others products — often used before another noun • a crocodile purse

2 [count] Brit : a line of people and especially of schoolchildren who are walking in pairs crocodile tears noun [plural] : a false expression of sadness or regret about something • The company shed/cried crocodile tears for the workers who were laid off. ✧ The phrase crocodile tears comes from the belief that crocodiles make false sounds of distress to attract the animals that they kill and eat.

cro-cus /'kroukəs/ noun, pl -cus-es [count] : a small purple, yellow, or white flower that blooms in the early spring

croft /'kra:ft/ noun, pl crofts [count] Brit : a small farm usually with a house on it in Scotland

croft-er /'kra:ftə/ noun, pl -ers [count] Brit : a person who owns or works on a croft crois-sant /krə'sɑ:nt, Brit 'kwa:sɒŋ/ noun, pl -sants [count] : a type of roll that has a curved shape and that is usually eaten at breakfast — see picture at BAKING crone /'kroun/ noun, pl crones [count] literary : a cruel or ugly old woman • The old crone lived alone.

cro-ny /'krouni/ noun, pl -nies [count] disapproving : a close friend of someone; especially : a friend of someone powerful (such as a politician) who is unfairly given special treatment or favors • The mayor rewarded his cronies with high-paying jobs after he was elected.

cro-ny-ism /'krouni,ɪzəm/ noun [noncount] disapproving : the unfair practice by a powerful person (such as a politician) of giving jobs and other favors to friends • The mayor has been accused of cronyism.

¹crook /'krʊk/ noun, pl crooks [count]

1 informal a : a dishonest person • He thinks politicians are just a bunch of crooks. b : a criminal • a small-time crook

2 a : the place where part of the body (such as an arm, leg, or finger) bends • the crook of his arm b : a curved or hooked part of something • The squirrel sat in the crook of the tree. • the crook of the cane

3 : a long stick with one end curved into a hook that is used by a shepherd

by hook or by crook see ¹HOOK

²crook verb crooks; crooked; crook-ing [+ obj] : to bend (your finger, neck, or arm) • He crooked his finger at us and led us to the table.

crook-ed /'krʊkəd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not straight • a crooked smile/grin : having bends and curves • a crooked path

2 : not set or placed straight • a crooked tooth • The picture is crooked.

3 informal a : not honest • crooked [=corrupt, dishonest] politicians b : done to trick or deceive someone • a crooked card game

— crook-ed-ly adv • The picture hung crookedly. — crook-ed-ness noun [noncount]

croon /'kru:n/ verb croons; crooned; croon-ing : to sing (a song) in a low soft voice [+ obj] croon a lullaby [no obj] The mother crooned as she rocked the baby.

croon-er /'kru:nə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a male singer who sings slow, romantic songs in a soft, smooth voice

¹crop /'kra:p/ noun, pl crops

1 [count] a : a plant or plant product that is grown by farmers • corn crops • an apple crop • Tobacco is their main crop. • They sprayed the crops with a pesticide. — sometimes used before another noun • Crop production was low last year because of the lack of rain. • crop disease/damage — see also CASH CROP b [count] : the amount of a crop that is gathered at one time or in one season • The second crop [=harvest] was not as good as the first. • The drought caused a fall in this year's corn crop. [=the drought caused the amount of corn grown this year to be lower than it was last year] • We produced a bumper crop of tomatoes [=a very large crop of tomatoes] this year.

2 [singular] a : a group of people who begin to do something at the same time • The teachers got ready for a new crop of students. b : a group of things that happen or are produced at the same time • a new crop of horror movies ✧ People or things that are the cream of the crop are the best of their kind or in their group. • There were many good candidates for the job, but he was the cream of the crop.

3 [count] : a short whip used in horse riding • a riding crop — see picture at HORSE

4 [count] : a short and thick quantity of hair on a person's head • He has a thick crop of hair. • a crop of red, curly hair

5 [count] : an area in the throat of a bird where food is stored for a time

²crop verb crops; cropped; crop-ping

1 [+ obj] : to cut off the upper or outer parts of (something) • crop [=trim] a hedge [=make a hedge neat by cutting it] • crop a dog's ears

2 [+ obj] : to cut off part of (a picture or photograph) • The picture was cropped badly. • We had to crop the image to fit it into the frame.

3 [+ obj] : to cut (someone's hair) short • Her hair was cropped short. • closely cropped hair

4 [+ obj] : to bite off and eat the tops of (grass or plants) • The sheep were cropping the grass in the meadow.

5 [no obj] : to produce or make a crop • The apple trees cropped well.

crop up [phrasal verb] : to come or appear when not expected • New problems crop up every day. • His name crops up frequently as a potential candidate.

crop circle noun, pl ~ circles [count] : a large round shape or pattern in a field that is made by cutting or flattening grass or crops ✧ Some people believe that crop circles are made by creatures that come from another world.

crop-land /'kra:p,lænd/ noun, pl -lands : land on which crops are grown [plural] plowing the croplands [noncount] acres of cropland

crop-per /'kra:pə/ noun

come a cropper informal 1 : to fail completely in a sudden or unexpected way • Her careful plan came a cropper. 2 Brit : to have a very bad fall • He came a cropper on the ski slopes.

cro-quet /krou'keɪ, Brit 'krəukeɪ/ noun [noncount] : a game in which players use wooden mallets to hit balls through a series of curved wires that are stuck into the ground

cro-quette /krou'ket/ noun, pl -quettes [count] : a roll or ball of meat, fish, or vegetables that is covered with egg and bread crumbs and fried in oil • chicken croquettes

¹cross /'kra:s/ noun, pl cross-es

1 a [count] : a long piece of wood with a shorter piece across it near the top that people were once fastened to and left to die on as a form of punishment b the Cross : the cross on which Jesus Christ died c [count] : an object or image in the shape of a cross that is used as a symbol of Christianity • a necklace with a gold cross — see also SIGN OF THE CROSS

2 [count] : a decoration in the shape of a cross that is given to someone as an honor especially for military courage

3 [count] : a mark formed by two lines that cross each other • The teacher marked the absent students on her list with crosses. • Those who could not write signed their names with a cross.

4 [count] : a mixture of two different things, types, or qualities • Snowboarding is a cross between surfing and skiing. • The play is a cross between comedy and romance. • The dog is a cross of hunting dog and sheepdog.

5 [count] boxing : a punch that goes over an opponent's punch • a right cross

6 [count] soccer : a kick or hit of the ball that goes across the field from one side to another or to the middle of the field cross to bear : a problem that causes trouble or worry for someone over a long period of time • We all have our crosses to bear. [=we all have problems to deal with] • The loss was a heavy cross to bear. [=the loss was hard to deal with]

2 cross verb crosses; crossed; cross-ing

1 : to go from one side of (something) to the other : to go across (something) [+ obj] We crossed the state border hours ago. • The dog crossed the street. • The highway crosses the entire state. • He was the first runner to cross the finish line. [no obj] The train crosses through France.

2 : to go or pass across each other [no obj] the point at which two lines cross [=intersect] • Put a nail where the boards cross. [+ obj] One line crossed the other.

3 [+ obj] : to place one arm, leg, etc., over the other • cross your arms/legs/fingers ♦ If you cross your fingers or keep your fingers crossed, you hope that you will be lucky and that something you want to happen will happen. • I crossed my fingers and hoped that I would be chosen. • Keep your fingers crossed. I just sent out my college applications.

4 [+ obj] : to draw a line across (something) • Remember to cross your t's. [=to put a line across the top of the letter "t" when you write it] — see also dot your i's and cross your t's at ²DOT

5 [no obj] : to pass in opposite directions • Our letters crossed in the mail. [=my letter was going to you while your letter was coming to me]

6 [+ obj] : to turn (your eyes) inward toward your nose • He crossed his eyes.

7 [+ obj] : to act against the wishes, plans, or orders of (someone) • My boss is usually nice, but she has a terrible temper and you don't want to cross her. — see also DOUBLE-CROSS, STAR-CROSSED

8 [+ obj] a : to make two different kinds of animals breed together • The breeders crossed [=crossbred, interbred] the bison with domestic cattle. — often used figuratively to describe someone or something that combines the qualities of two different people or things • As our leader, she was like a drill sergeant crossed with a camp counselor. b : to mix two kinds of plants to form a new one • The farmers crossed two different types of corn together.

9 [no obj] soccer : to kick or hit the ball sideways across the field — + to • He crossed to his teammate.

cross my heart ♦ The phrases cross my heart or cross my heart and hope to die are used in informal speech to stress that you are telling the truth and will do what you promise. • I'll clean my room tomorrow—cross my heart. [=I promise that I'll clean my room tomorrow] cross off [phrasal verb] cross (someone or something) off or cross off (someone or something) : to draw a line through (a name or item on a list) • They crossed off the names of the people who had already been invited. • We can cross her off our list of potential donors.

cross out [phrasal verb] cross (something) out or cross out (something) : to draw a line through (something) to show that it is wrong • cross out a mistake cross over [phrasal verb] cross over or cross over (something) 1 : to move or go from one side of (something) to the other • The deer crossed over to the other side of the river. • The bridge crosses over the river. 2 : to change from one type of character or condition to another • People were crossing over to vote for the other party's candidate. [=people in one political party were voting for the other party's candidate] • The singer crossed over from country to pop. [=the singer changed his style of music from country to pop] — see also CROSSOVER cross paths ♦ When people cross paths or when their paths cross, they meet each other at a time that was not planned or expected. • After they left college, it was many years before they crossed paths again. = It was many years before their paths crossed again. • I crossed paths with an old friend on a business trip.

cross someone's face : to appear briefly on someone's face • A smile crossed her face.

cross someone's mind : to come into someone's mind : to be thought of by someone • Losing never crossed her mind. [=she was sure that she would win] • Did it ever cross your mind that I could be right?

cross swords : to fight or argue — often + with • I didn't want to cross swords with him about who was right.

cross that bridge when you come to it see ¹BRIDGE

cross the line : to go beyond what is proper or acceptable • Her criticism crossed the line from helpful to just plain hurtful. • The magazine crossed the line when they printed the nude photos.

cross up [phrasal verb] US 1 cross (someone) up or cross up (someone) : to make (someone) confused • The team crossed up their opponent by throwing the ball instead of running it. 2 cross (something) up or cross up (something) : to ruin (something) completely • His failure to meet the deadline crossed up the deal.

cross yourself : to make the sign of the cross on your head and chest • I crossed myself as I entered the church.

— cross-er noun, pl -ers [count]

3 cross adj cross-er; -est : annoyed or angry • I didn't mean to make you cross. • I was cross with her for being so careless.

— cross-ly adv • "Stop teasing your sister," she said crossly.

cross-bar /'krɑ:s,bæ/ noun, pl -bars [count]

1 : a bar that joins two posts (such as goalposts in soccer or hockey)

2 : the bar that goes between the seat and the handlebars of a bicycle — see picture at BICYCLE

crossbones see SKULL AND CROSSBONES

cross-bow /'krɑ:s,bou/ noun, pl -bows [count] : a weapon that shoots arrows and that consists of a short bow attached to a longer piece of wood cross-breed /'krɑ:s,bri:d/ verb -breeds; -bred /-,brɛd/; -breed-ing

1 : to make two different kinds of animal breed together [+ obj] crossbreed [=cross, interbreed] sheep [no obj] Some birds may crossbreed [=interbreed] freely with other species.

2 [+ obj] : to mix two kinds of plant to form a new one • crossbreed [=cross] wheat and rye

— crossbred adj, always used before a noun • crossbred [=hybrid] sheep/roses — crossbreed noun, pl -breeds [count]

cross-check /'krɑ:s,tʃɛk/ verb -checks; -checked; -check-ing [+ obj] : to use a different source or method to check (something, such as information or calculations) • I cross-checked the changes against the original copy. [=I looked at the original copy to make sure that the changes were correct] • You should cross-check your answers with a calculator.

— cross-check noun, pl -checks [count]

1 cross-coun-try /'krɑ:s'kʌntri/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : going or moving across a country • a cross-country railroad • a cross-country concert tour

2 : going over the countryside rather than by roads or over a track • They ran in a cross-country race.

3 : relating to or used in a kind of skiing that is done over the countryside instead of down a mountain • cross-country skiing • cross-country skis • a cross-country champion/competition — compare ²DOWNHILL 3

— cross-country adv • We traveled cross-country.

2 cross-country noun [noncount] : cross-country skiing or racing • She has done cross-country for 10 years. • He won a medal in cross-country.

cross-court /'krɑ:s'koʊt/ adv : to or toward the opposite side of a tennis or basketball court • She hit/passed the ball crosscourt.

— crosscourt adj, always used before a noun • a crosscourt pass/shot cross-cul-tur-al /'krɑ:s'kʌltʃərəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : relating to or involving two or more different cultures or countries • a cross-cultural study • a menu featuring cross-cultural cuisine

— cross-cul-tur-al-ly adv

cross-cur-rent /'krɑ:s,kərənt/ noun, pl -rents [count] : a current of water that flows against or across the main current — sometimes used figuratively • the political crosscurrents that interfere with the passing of laws

cross-curricular adj, Brit : relating to or involving different courses offered by a school • cross-curricular activities cross-dress-ing /'krɑ:s,dresɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the act or practice of wearing clothes made for the opposite sex

— cross-dress-er /'krɑ:s,dresə/ noun, pl -ers [count] cross-ex-am-ine /'krɑ:sɪg'zæmən/ verb -ines; -ined; -in-ing [+ obj] law : to ask more questions of (a witness who has been questioned by another lawyer) • The defendant's attorney cross-examined the witness and tried to show that his earlier testimony was false.

— cross-ex-am-i-na-tion /'krɑ:sɪg,zæmə'neɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • While he was under cross-examination, the defendant admitted that he had lied earlier in court.

— cross-ex-am-in-er /'krɑ:sɪg'zæmənə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • This lawyer is a tough cross-examiner.

cross-eyed /'krɑ:s,aɪd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having one or both eyes turned inward toward the nose • a cross-eyed drunk • He gave her a cross-eyed look.

— cross-eyed adv • He looked at her cross-eyed.

cross-fer-til-ize also Brit cross-fer-til-ise /'krɑ:s'fətə,ləɪz/ verb -liz-es; -lized; -liz-ing [+ obj]

1 : to combine sex cells from (two separate plants) to produce a new plant • Scientists cross-fertilized the two plants.

2 : to combine (two different ideas, style, etc.) in a good or creative way • a musical style that cross-fertilizes jazz and rock

— cross-fer-til-i-za-tion also Brit cross-fer-til-i-sa-tion /'krɑ:s'fətələ'zeɪʃən, Brit 'krɒs,fətə,ləɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

cross-fire /'krɑ:s,fajə/ noun [singular] : shots that come from two or more places so that the bullets cross through the same area • Several civilians were killed in the crossfire during the battle. • The war volunteers were at risk of being caught in the crossfire. — sometimes used figuratively • She was caught in the crossfire between her quarrelling sisters. [=she became involved in the quarrel between her sisters and they became angry at her] • a presidential candidate who has become caught in a political crossfire after making comments that angered both liberals and conservatives cross-hair /'krɑ:s,heə/ noun, pl -hairs [count] : a very thin wire or thread that is seen when you look into a microscope, telescope, etc., and that is used for precisely viewing or aiming at something in the crosshairs : being aimed at by a gun (such as a rifle) that has an aiming device with crosshairs — often used figuratively • The senator's voting record was in the crosshairs of his political rivals. [=was being targeted by his political rivals]

cross-hatch /'krɑ:s,hætʃ/ verb -hatch-es; -hatched; -hatch-ing [+ obj] : to mark or draw (something) with sets of lines that cross each other • The fields were crosshatched by plowed paths.

— cross-hatching noun [noncount] • The artist used cross-hatching to fill in the shaded areas.

cross-ing /'krɑ:sɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count]

1 : a place where two things (such as a street and a railroad track) cross each other • Stop at the railroad crossing. • Federal agents questioned us at the border crossing. [=the place where people go across the border between two countries]

2 : a place where you can cross a street, stream, etc. • a crossing for ferry boats — see picture at STREET; see also PEDESTRIAN CROSSING, PELICAN CROSSING, ZEBRA CROSSING

3 a : the act of going across something • the crossing of a mountain range b : a voyage across water • a weeklong crossing of the Atlantic Ocean crossing guard noun, pl ~ guards [count] : a person whose job is to help people (such as schoolchildren) go across busy streets safely cross-legged /'krɑ:s,legəd/ adj : having the legs crossed • She curled up into a cross-legged position.

— cross-legged adv • She sat cross-legged. • The kids sat on the floor cross-legged. [=with their legs crossed and their knees spread wide apart] cross-over /'krɑ:s,oʊvə/ noun, pl -overs [count] : a change from one style or type of activity to another • The actor made a smooth crossover to politics. • a rock musician's crossovers into jazz and soul music — often used before another noun • a successful crossover artist/star/celebrity • a romantic movie that has crossover appeal to fans of science fiction — see also cross over at ²CROSS cross-piece /'krɑ:s,pɪs/ noun, pl -piec-es [count] : something (such as a piece of wood) that is placed or that lies across something else • The carpenter attached a crosspiece to each side of the frame to give extra support to the roof.

cross-pol-li-nate /'krɑ:s'pɑ:lə,neɪt/ verb -nates; -nated; -nat-ing [+ obj]

1 botany : to move pollen from one flower to another

2 : CROSS-FERTILIZE 2 • cross-pollinating different musical styles

— cross-pol-li-na-tion /,krɑ:s'pɑ:lə'neɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

cross-pur-pos-es /'krɑ:s'pəpəsəz/ noun

at cross-purposes : in a way that causes confusion or failure because people are working or talking with different goals or purposes • We'll never succeed together if we continue to work at cross-purposes (with each other). • It became clear that they were talking at cross-purposes.

cross-re-fer /,krɑ:srɪ'fə/ verb -fers; -ferred; -fer-ring : to direct a reader to more information that can be found in another place [+ obj] The entry for "gram" cross-refers you to a table of weights. [no obj] The entry cross-refers to a table of weights.

¹cross-ref-er-ence /'krɑ:s'refrəns/ noun, pl -enc-es [count] : a note in a book (such as a dictionary) that tells you where to look for more information • The almanac includes cross-references to a map and timeline for each country.

²cross-reference verb -ences; -enced; -enc-ing

1 [+ obj] : to supply (something, such as a book) with cross-references • The book is heavily cross-referenced.

2 : CROSS-REFER [no obj] The article on alligators in the encyclopedia cross-references to the entry on crocodiles. [+ obj] The census figures are cross-referenced to more detailed information about each state.

cross-road /'krɑ:s,roud/ noun, pl -roads [count]

1 : a place where two or more roads cross • Traffic was stopped at the crossroad. — often plural in form • They arrived at a crossroads marked by a signpost. — often used figuratively to refer to a place or time at which a decision must be made • The industry is at a critical crossroad. • We've reached a crossroads [=turning point] in our relationship.

2 : a road that crosses a main road or that runs across land between main roads • We turned onto a crossroad.

cross section noun, pl ~ -tions

1 : a view or drawing that shows what the inside of something looks like after a cut has been made across it [count] a detailed cross section of the human brain [noncount] The drawing showed the human brain in cross section.

2 [count] : a small group that includes examples of the different types of people or things in a larger group • The class surveyed a cross section of the student body. • The people in our neighborhood are/form a representative cross section of American society.

— cross-sec-tion-al /'krɑ:s'sɛkʃənəl/ adj • a cross-sectional view of the brain cross-stitch /'krɑ:s,stɪʃ/ noun, pl -stitch-es [count] : a stitch in the shape of an X • The blouse had cross-stitches around the neckline.

cross-town /'krɑ:s'taʊn/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : located on different sides of a town or city • The two schools were cross-town rivals in baseball.

2 : going across a town or city • We rode a cross-town bus. • cross-town traffic

— cross-town adv • He drove cross-town to pick up his daughter.

cross-walk /'krɑ:s,wɑ:k/ noun, pl -walks [count] US : a marked path where people can safely walk across a street or road — called also pedestrian crossing; see picture at STREET cross-wind /'krɑ:s,wɪnd/ noun, pl -winds [count] : a wind that blows across the direction that something (such as an airplane) is moving in

¹cross-wise /'krɑ:s,wɑɪz/ adv : from one side or corner to the other : ACROSS • Cut the potato crosswise rather than lengthwise into thin slices.

²crosswise adj

1 : going from one side or corner to another • a crosswise cut

2 US, informal : involved in a conflict or disagreement • He got crosswise with his boss and nearly lost his job.

crossword puzzle

/'kra:swɔd-/ noun, pl ~ puzzles [count] : a puzzle in which words that are the answers to clues are written into a pattern of numbered squares that go across and down • My father does the crossword puzzle every morning. — called also crossword

crossword puzzle

crotch /'kra:tʃ/ noun, pl

crotch-es [count] : the part of the body where the legs join together; also : the part of a piece of clothing that covers this part of the body • the crotch of the pants/shorts/pajamas — called also (Brit) crutch /'kra:tʃ/

crotch-et /'kra:tʃət/ noun, pl -ets [count] Brit : QUARTER NOTEcrotch-ety /'kra:tʃəti/ adj [more ~; most ~] : often annoyed and angry : GROUCHY • None of the students dared to talk back to the crotchety old teacher.crouch /'kraʊtʃ/ verb crouch-es; crouched; crouch-ing [no obj]

1 : to lower your body to the ground by bending your legs • She crouched down, trying to get a closer look at the spider. — see picture at POSITION

2 of an animal : to lie on the stomach close to the ground with the legs bent • The lion crouched in the tall grass, waiting to attack the gazelle.

— crouch noun, pl crouches [count] • The runner was in a tense crouch, waiting for the signal to start the race.
— crouched adj • a crouched position croup /'kru:p/ noun [noncount] : a sickness that young children sometimes get that makes them cough a lot and have trouble breathing

— croupy /'kru:pi/ adj • a croupy cough

crou-pi-er /'kru:piə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person whose job is to collect and pay out money in a casinocrou-ton /'kru:,tɔ:n/ noun, pl -tons [count] : a small piece of bread that is toasted or fried until it is crisp ♦ Croutons are usually served on salads or in soups.¹crow /'krou/ noun, pl crows [count]

1 : a large black bird that has a loud and harsh cry — see color picture on page C9

2 Crow : a member of a Native American people of the western U.S.

as the crow flies : in a straight line • They live about three miles from here as the crow flies, though the actual drive is more like six (miles).

eat crow see EAT

— compare ²CROW; see also JIM CROW

²crow noun, pl crows [count] : the loud, high sound a rooster makes or a similar sound • the cock's/rooster's loud crow • The boy gave a little crow of delight when he mastered the puzzle. — compare ¹CROW*³crow verb crow-s; crowed; crow-ing

1 [no obj] : to make the loud, high sound that a rooster makes or a similar sound • The cock/rooster crowed as the sun began to rise. • The boy crowed with delight.

2 : to talk in a way that shows too much pride about something you have done : to brag loudly or joyfully [no obj] The rest of us were sick of hearing her crow about/over her success. [+ obj] "I've won three times in a row," he crowed. = He crowed that he had won three times in a row.

crow-bar /'krou,bɑə/ noun, pl -bars [count] : a metal bar that has a thin flat edge at one end and is used to open or lift things¹crowd /'kraʊd/ verb crowds; crowd-ed; crowd-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to fill (something) so that there is little or no room for anyone or anything else : to take up much or most of the space in (an area or space) • College students crowded [=packed] the little bar on the night of the poetry reading. • Boxes crowded the floor of my apartment. • There are too many products crowding the market. • The hall was crowded [=crammed, packed] with scientists from around the world • streets crowded with traffic b [+ obj] : to push or force (something) into a small space • The club has been accused of crowding too many people into too small a space. c [no

obj] : to move into a small space — + into or onto • The four of us crowded into a little booth at the restaurant. • We crowded onto the bus.

2 [+ obj] : to form a tight group around (something or someone) • Several horses were crowding [=crowding around] the water trough. • By the end of the 10th mile, three bicyclists were crowding the racer in front.

3 [+ obj] chiefly US : to stand very close or too close to (someone or something) • Please move back. You're crowding me. • (baseball) The batter was crowding the plate. — sometimes used figuratively • He said he broke up with his last girlfriend because she was beginning to crowd him. [=she was not allowing him enough privacy and independence] crowd around/round [phrasal verb] crowd around/round or crowd around/round (something) : to form a tight group around (something or someone) • A small group of people crowded around the car. • When one of the protesters began to speak, the people crowded around (him) to hear what he had to say.

crowded together ♦ If a group of people or things are crowded together, they are next to and usually touching each other in a space that is too small. • We need to organize the closet so that the shoes aren't crowded together.

crowd in [phrasal verb] 1 : to move as a group into a small space • When we got to the elevator, everybody tried to crowd in. 2 of thoughts, memories, etc. : to come into your mind : to occupy your thinking — often + on • When I smell a pie baking, memories of childhood holidays crowd in on me. [=memories fill my mind] crowd out [phrasal verb] crowd out (something or someone) or crowd (something or someone) out : to push, move, or force (something or someone) out of a place or situation by filling its space • The quick-growing grass is crowding out native plants. • She worries that junk food is crowding fruits and vegetables out of her children's diet.

²crowd noun, pl crowds

1 [count] : a large group of people who are together in one place • The President will address the crowd later. • The crowd is restless. = (Brit) The crowd are restless. • a crowd of kids/reporters/shoppers • The formerly unknown singer now regularly performs to crowds of 10,000 (people). • Crowds lined the street to watch the parade. • His speeches always draw a big/large crowd. [=a lot of people come to hear him speak] • You can avoid the crowds by visiting a popular resort area in the off-season. • police trained in crowd control

2 the crowd : ordinary people : people who are not special or unusual • kids trying to distinguish themselves from the crowd • She prefers to be one of the crowd. [=she prefers to not to be noticed or treated in any special way] ♦ Someone who is just another face in the crowd is not famous or well-known. • Until her book became a best seller, she was just another face in the crowd. ♦ Someone or something that stands out from the crowd is unusual in a good way. • As a teacher, he always stood out from the crowd. • The high quality of these tools makes them stand out from the crowd. ♦ Someone who follows the crowd or goes with the crowd does whatever most other people are doing. • He was never one to follow the crowd, so we weren't surprised when he dropped out of college to start his own business.

3 [singular] : a group of people who spend time together or have something in common • Her parents are concerned that she's been hanging out with a bad crowd. [=with people who do illegal or immoral things] — usually used with the • Her parents are concerned that she's been hanging out with the wrong crowd. • The new dance club caters to the under-18 crowd. [=to people who are less than 18 years old] join the crowd 1 : to become part of a larger group : to do what most other people are doing • You can find a private hideaway or join the crowd at the beach. 2 informal — used to say that the problems or feelings someone is having are problems or feelings that you have had yourself • If you don't understand the rules, join the crowd [= (more commonly) join the club]; no one else does either!

two's company, three's a crowd see COMPANY crowded adj [more ~; most ~] : filled with too many people or things • a crowded bar/lobby/waiting room • The library was so crowded today! — often + with • The room was crowded [=crammed, packed] with people.

crowd-pleas-er /'kraʊd,pli:zə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person, performance, or food that most people like • The play is a guaranteed crowd-pleaser. [=it is certain that many people will like the play]

– crowd-pleas-ing /'kraʊd,pli:zɪŋ/ adj • a crowd-pleasing show

¹crown /'kraʊn/ noun, pl crowns

1 [count] a : a decorative object that is shaped like a circle and worn on the head of a king or queen for special ceremonies ✧ Crowns are usually made of gold or silver and decorated with jewels. b : a similar object worn by someone who is not an actual king or queen • The winner of the beauty pageant walked down the runway wearing her sparkling crown. c : a ring of leaves or flowers worn on the head of someone who has won a game, contest, or award

2 the crown or the Crown : the government of a country that is officially ruled by a king or queen • the blessing of the Spanish crown • allegiance to the crown • She was appointed by the Crown.

3 the crown : the position of power that a king or queen has • When the king died childless, his brother assumed the crown. [=his brother became king]

4 [count] : something (such as a badge or decoration) in the shape of a king's or queen's crown • a jacket with a crown insignia on the pocket

5 [count] : the title or position held by the person who has won a particular competition : CHAMPIONSHIP — usually singular • If he loses this match, he'll lose the heavyweight boxing crown. [=he will no longer be the champion]

6 [count] : the part of a tooth that can be seen • an artificial crown made of porcelain

7 [count] : the top of the head — usually singular • She has a big bump on the crown [=top] of her head.

8 [count] : the part of a hat that covers the top of the head — usually singular • The hat has a rounded crown and a wide brim. — see picture at HAT

9 [count] : the highest part of something (such as a tree or mountain) • From the tower, we could see the crowns of the trees below.

10 [count] a : a unit of money used in several European countries • Norwegian crowns b : an old British coin worth five shillings – crown adj, always used before a noun • a crown appointee [=someone appointed by the government of a king or queen]

²crown verb crowns; crowned; crown-ing [+ obj]

1 : to put a crown on (a new king, queen, etc.) : to give (someone) the power and title of a king or queen — usually used as (be) crowned • She was crowned queen at the age of 18.

2 : to officially or formally give (someone) the title or position of a champion, winner, etc. • The U.S. Open will crown a new champion Sunday. [=someone will be proclaimed champion at the U.S. Open championship] • The magazine crowned her the new queen of rock-and-roll music.

3 : to end (something) in a successful and impressive way • She crowned her long and distinguished career by designing the city's beautiful new bridge.

4 literary : to be on top of (something) : to form the top of (something) • Snow crowns the mountain year-round. — usually used as (be) crowned • The mountain is crowned with snow all year round. • a hill crowned with yellow daffodils • Her head is crowned by/with thick red hair.

5 : to put an artificial crown on (a tooth) • I broke a tooth and I'll have to have it crowned.

6 informal : to hit (someone) on the head • He got crowned with a beer bottle.

to crown it all Brit — used to indicate the last and usually worst thing in a series of bad things that have happened • It rained, it snowed, and, to crown it all [=to top it off], our flight was canceled.

crown colony noun, pl ~-nies [count] : a colony (such as Gibraltar or the Falkland Islands) that is under the control of the British government crowning adj, always used before a noun : greatest or most complete • The bridge is the architect's crowning achievement. • His refusal to see me was the crowning [=worst, ultimate] insult. • The town's crowning glory is its old cathedral. [=the cathedral is the town's best feature] • Her hair is her crowning glory.

crown jewel noun, pl ~-els

1 the crown jewels : the crown, scepter, and other jeweled objects that a king or queen uses on formal occasions

2 [count] : the most valuable or attractive thing in a collection or group • The painting is the crown jewel of the museum's collection. • one of the company's crown jewels crown molding noun, pl ~-ings [count, noncount] US : a long, narrow decorative piece of wood that is used in some rooms to cover the place where the walls and ceiling come together crown prince noun, pl ~ princes [count]

1 : a prince who is expected to become king when the current king or queen dies • Crown Prince George • the Crown Prince of Spain

2 : a man or boy who people expect to become a leader in some field • He's been heralded as the crown prince of jazz.

crown princess noun, pl ~-cesses [count]

1 : the wife of a crown prince

2 : a princess who is expected to become queen when the current king or queen dies • Crown Princess Lydia

3 : a woman or girl who people expect to become a leader in some field • She is ice-skating's new crown princess.

crow's-feet /'krouz,fi:t/ noun [plural] : wrinkles around the outer corners of a person's eyes • a new cream that is supposed to get rid of crow's-feet crow's nest noun, pl ~ nests [count] : a platform with short walls that is high on a ship's mast and from which you can see things (such as land and other ships) that are far away

CRT abbr cathode-ray tube

cru-cial /'kru:ʃəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : extremely important • Vitamins are crucial for maintaining good health. • Eggs are a crucial [=essential] ingredient in this recipe. • a crucial distinction/difference • It's crucial that we arrive before 8 o'clock. • Teachers are crucial to the success of the school. • She played a crucial role in the meeting. • Tonight's game is the crucial [=decisive] game of the series. [=whoever wins this game will win the series] • a crucial decision

– cru-cial-ly adv • crucially important cru-ci-ble /'kru:səbəl/ noun, pl -ci-bles [count]

1 : a pot in which metals or other substances are heated to a very high temperature or melted

2 formal + literary : a difficult test or challenge • He's ready to face the crucible of the Olympics.

3 formal + literary : a place or situation that forces people to change or make difficult decisions • His character was formed in the crucible of war.

cru-ci-fix /'kru:sə,fiks/ noun, pl -fix-es [count] : a model of a cross with a figure of Jesus Christ crucified on it • He wears a crucifix on a chain around his neck.

cru-ci-fix-ion /,kru:sə'fɪksjən/ noun, pl -ions

1 [noncount] : an act of killing someone by nailing or tying his or her hands and feet to a cross : an act of crucifying someone • the crucifixion of the rebel Spartacus

2 the Crucifixion : the killing of Jesus Christ on a cross cru-ci-form /'kru:sə,foəm/ adj : in the shape of a cross • a cruciform church cru-ci-fy /'kru:sə,fai/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj]

1 : to kill (someone) by nailing or tying his or her hands and feet to a cross • Jesus Christ was crucified.

2 informal : to criticize (someone or something) very harshly • They crucified her in the newspapers for having an affair.

crud /'krʌd/ noun [noncount] informal

1 : a dirty or greasy substance • I spent an hour scrubbing the crud off the old stove.

2 chiefly US : something unpleasant or worthless • He complains that there's too much crud on TV these days.

crud-dy /'krʌdi/ adj crud-di-er; -est informal

1 : dirty or greasy • a cruddy old stove

2 US a : not of good quality • They did a cruddy [=lousy] job with the repairs. b : not well or happy • I felt cruddy [=lousy, sick] the day after the party. • I feel cruddy [=sorry, bad] about what I said.

¹crude /'kru:d/ adj crud-er; crud-est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : very simple and basic : made or done in a way that does not show a lot of skill • crude tools • a crude instrument/drawing • They built a crude shelter out of branches.

2 : rude in a way that makes people uncomfortable; especially : talking about sexual matters in a rude way • They tell a lot of crude [=vulgar] jokes.

3 : very simple and basic in a way that is true but not complete • a crude summary of the country's history • a crude theory • a crude [=rough] estimate • She first described the procedure in crude terms, and then went into more detail.

– crude-ly adv • a crudely drawn picture • To put it crudely [=bluntly], I just don't like you. – crude-ness noun [noncount] • He doesn't appreciate the crudeness of their jokes.

²crude noun [noncount] : oil as it exists in the ground : petroleum that is not yet ready to be used as fuel — called also crude oil

cru·di·tés /ˈkru:di'teɪ/ noun [plural] : pieces of raw vegetables (such as carrots and celery) that are served before a meal usually with a sauce for dipping cru·di·ty /ˈkru:di'ti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the quality or state of being crude • the crudity of the drawing

2 [count] : something that is crude • The movie's crudities were supposed to be funny, but they didn't make me laugh.

cru·el /ˈkru:ɪl/ adj, US cru·el·er or Brit cru·el·ler; US cru·el·est or Brit cru·el·lest [also more ~; most ~]

1 — used to describe people who hurt others and do not feel sorry about it • a cruel dictator/tyrant • Children can be cruel, as any child who has been made fun of by others knows. • He says he can't trust people who are cruel to animals. • a cruel smile [=the smile of a cruel person]

2 : causing or helping to cause suffering : terrible and unfair • a cruel joke • It was a very cruel [=hurtful] thing to say. • I thought it was rather cruel [=unkind] of them to give her all the dirty work. • a cruel twist of fate • Hunger is a cruel fact of nature. • Life has dealt them some cruel blows in recent years. [=some very bad things have happened to them in recent years] • The law forbids cruel and unusual punishment [=punishment that is very harsh and inappropriate for the crime]

— cru·el·ly adv • treated cruelly • He was cruelly beaten.

cru·el·ty /ˈkru:ɪlti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : a desire to cause others to suffer : the quality or state of being cruel • a dictator/tyrant known for his cruelty • The cruelty of children can be surprising.

2 a [noncount] : actions that cause suffering • They protested against cruelty to animals. • physical and emotional cruelty

b [count] : an act or occurrence that causes suffering — usually plural • The prisoners endured awful cruelties. • the cruelties of life/nature/war cru·et /ˈkru:wət/ noun, pl -ets [count]

1 US : a small glass bottle that is used at the table during meals to hold vinegar, oil, or sauce

2 Brit : a container or set of containers used at the table during meals to hold salt, pepper, oil, etc.

¹cruise /ˈkru:z/ verb cruis·es; cruised; cruis·ing

1 : to travel on a boat or ship to a number of places as a vacation [no obj] We cruised for a week down the Yangtze River. [+ obj] He dreams of cruising the Mediterranean.

2 [no obj] of a car, airplane, etc. : to move along at a steady speed • The bus was cruising at 55 miles per hour. • We were cruising along/down the highway. • The plane was cruising at 30,000 feet.

3 : to drive or be driven slowly [+ obj] On Friday nights, teenagers cruise the main street in town to show off their cars. [no obj] A car cruised past us.

4 [no obj] : to do something easily : to easily succeed at something • She cruised [=waltzed, breezed] through the exam. • The team cruised to victory in the last game.

5 [+ obj] : to move around in (a place) without a specific purpose but usually with the hope of finding something interesting • I cruised the mall for a couple hours on Saturday. — often used figuratively • She spent hours cruising [(more commonly) surfing] the Internet. • He's always cruising the radio dial for new music.

6 slang : to go (somewhere) in search of a sexual partner [+ obj] They're out cruising bars. [no obj] a group of teenage guys out cruising for girls

²cruise noun, pl cruises [count] : a journey on a boat or ship to a number of places as a vacation • We went on a weeklong cruise down the Yangtze River. • They went on a cruise for their honeymoon. • a Mediterranean cruise — sometimes used before another noun • Which cruise line should I book my trip with? — see also CRUISE SHIP cruise control noun [noncount]

1 : a device in a vehicle that a driver turns on to make the vehicle continue at whatever speed the driver has chosen

2 : a relaxed pace that does not require a lot of effort • She admits that she's been doing the job so long that she's on cruise control [=she does not put a lot of effort into the job]

cruise missile noun, pl ~ -siles [count] : a large military weapon that flies close to the ground and is directed to a specific place to explode cruis·er /ˈkru:zə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 US : POLICE CAR

2 : a large and fast military ship

3 : a boat that has room to live on and that is used for pleasure — called also cabin cruiser

cruise ship noun, pl ~ ships [count] : a large ship that takes many people on a cruise at one time : a large ship that stops at different ports and carries passengers who are traveling for pleasure — called also cruise liner; see picture at SHIP

cruising altitude noun, pl ~ -tudes : the height in the sky at which an airplane stays for most of a flight [noncount] The pilot announced that we'd reached cruising altitude. [count] a cruising altitude of 40,000 feet cruising speed noun, pl ~ speeds : the speed at which an airplane, a boat, etc., usually moves when it is traveling at a fast speed for a long distance [count] The boat has a cruising speed of 25 knots. [noncount] The boat handled well at cruising speed.

crul·ler /ˈkrʌlə/ noun, pl -lers [count] US : a sweet food made from a piece of dough that has been twisted and fried crumb /ˈkrʌm/ noun, pl crumbs [count]

1 : a very small piece of food • He swept the crumbs from under the table. ♦ Crumbs are usually pieces of baked foods like bread or cake. They are sometimes used in cooking. • The pie's crust is made with cookie crumbs. • Coat the fish in bread crumbs before frying it.

2 informal : a very small amount of something — usually + of • hoping for any crumb of affection • They couldn't find a crumb of evidence against her.

¹crum·ble /ˈkrʌmbəl/ verb crum·bles; crum·bled; crum·bling

1 [+ obj] : to break (something) into small pieces • Crumble the cookies into small bits. • The recipe calls for the herbs to be crumbled.

2 [no obj] : to separate into many small pieces : to fall apart • The arch had crumbled [=disintegrated] under the weight of all those stones. • bones so old they had crumbled to dust • crumbling buildings/monuments/walls

3 [no obj] : to break down completely : to stop functioning • Peace talks between the two parties have crumbled. [=collapsed] • She was extremely depressed after her marriage crumbled. • their crumbling marriage

that's the way the cookie crumbles see COOKIE

²crumble noun, pl crumbles

1 crumbles [plural] US : small pieces of something that has been crumbled • crumbles of blue cheese

2 [count, noncount] chiefly Brit : ²CRISP 2 • an apple crumble

crum·bly /ˈkrʌmbəli/ adj crum·bli·er; -est : easily broken into small pieces • crumbly soil • a crumbly cheese crumbs /ˈkrʌmz/ interj, Brit, informal — used to express surprise • Crumbs! I can't believe he did it!

crum·my /ˈkrʌmi/ adj crum·mi·er; -est informal

1 : not pleasant • We've had crummy [=lousy] weather all week.

2 : not of good quality • The plumbers did a crummy [=lousy] job putting in the new sink. • a crummy story

3 chiefly US : not well or happy • I felt crummy [=sick, lousy] all day yesterday. • I feel crummy [=bad, sorry] about the way I treated her.

crum·pet /ˈkrʌmpət/ noun, pl -pets Brit

1 [count] : a small round bread that has a smooth bottom and holes in the top and that is eaten hot with butter

2 informal + sometimes offensive : a sexually attractive person [noncount] He's looking for a bit of crumpet [=he's looking for an attractive woman to have sex with] [count] Because he is brainy as well as handsome, the actor is often referred to as “the thinking woman's crumpet.”

crum·ple /ˈkrʌmpəl/ verb crum·ples; crum·pled; crum·pling

1 a [+ obj] : to press or squeeze (something) so that it is no longer flat or smooth • She crumpled the piece of paper into a ball and tossed it into the garbage can. • The car's fender was crumpled in the accident. • a crumpled napkin/suit/bill — often + up • He crumpled up the note and threw it away.

b [no obj] : to become wrinkled or bent : to stop being smooth or flat • The fabric is stiff and does not crumple [=wrinkle, rumple] easily. • Her face crumpled [=she looked like she was going to cry] when we told her that she couldn't come with us.

2 [no obj] : to suddenly bend and fall • At the sight of blood, he crumpled to the floor.

crumple zone noun, pl ~ zones [count] technical : the front part of a vehicle that is designed to bend easily in an accident so that the people inside are protected

¹crunch /ˈkrʌntʃ/ verb crunch·es; crunched; crunch·ing

1 [no obj] a : to make the loud sound of something being crushed • The snow crunched underfoot. b : to move along a surface that makes the loud sound of something being crushed • We could hear the truck's tires crunching along the gravel road.

2 [+ obj] : to process (numbers, information, etc.) : to examine and analyze (numbers, information, etc.) • When she crunched the numbers, she found that the business's profits were actually much lower than the company had said. — see also NUMBER CRUNCHER crunch on [phrasal verb] crunch on (something) : to chew (a piece of food) in a way that makes a loud sound • She crunched on a carrot while watching TV. • crunching on potato chips

²crunch noun, pl crunches

1 a [count] : the sound made when something hard is being chewed or crushed : a crunching sound • the crunch of someone eating a carrot • We could hear the crunch of the truck's tires on the gravel road. b [noncount] : the quality of a food that produces a loud sound when it is chewed : a crunchy quality • The nuts give the salad crunch. [=the nuts make the salad somewhat crunchy]

2 the crunch : a very difficult point or situation • The crunch came when the computer stopped working. — see also CRUNCH TIME

3 [count] US : a situation in which there is not enough of something — usually singular • The city's budget crunch means that streets will not be repaired this spring. [=because the city does not have enough money, streets will not be repaired] • The project is facing a time crunch. • an energy crunch [= (more commonly) crisis]

4 [count] : a stomach exercise in which you lie on your back, raise the top part of your body until your shoulders are off the floor, and then lower it — usually plural • I try to do 50 crunches a day. — compare SIT-UP crunch time noun [noncount] informal : the most important time in a game, event, etc. : a critical moment • The team had trained well, but at crunch time they just couldn't perform.

crunchy /ˈkrʌntʃi/ adj crunch·i·er; -est : having a hard texture and making a loud sound when chewed or crushed : not soft or mushy • crunchy chips/cereal/vegetables • crunchy snow • These cookies are very crunchy.

¹cru·sade /kruˈseɪd/ noun, pl -sades [count]

1 Crusade : any one of the wars that European Christian countries fought against Muslims in Palestine in the 11th, 12th, and 13th centuries — usually plural

2 : a major effort to change something — usually + for or against • She has devoted herself to the crusade for equal rights for all people. • a crusade [=campaign] against crime/pollution • a politician conducting/waging a crusade against organized labor

²crusade verb -sad·ed; -sad·ing [no obj] : to take part in a major effort to change something — usually + for or against • She has crusaded for equal rights for all people. • They are crusading [=campaigning] against crime/pollution.

— cru·sad·er or Crusader noun, pl -ers [count] • human rights crusaders • the Crusaders of the Middle Ages

¹crush /ˈkrʌʃ/ verb crush·es; crushed; crush·ing [+ obj]

1 : to press or squeeze (something) so hard that it breaks or loses its shape • Unfortunately some of the flowers got crushed when we were moving them. • crushing grapes • The bicycle was crushed under the truck's tires. • The machine crushes the cans so that they can be stored until they are recycled. • Her arm was crushed in the accident. • Several people were crushed to death [=killed by being crushed] as the crowd rushed for the exit doors.

2 : to break (something) into a powder or very small pieces by pressing, pounding, or grinding it • Crush the nuts and sprinkle them on top of the cake. • The rocks were crushed into dust. • crushed herbs/ice/garlic

3 : to defeat (a person or group that opposes you) by using a lot of force • The king sent out his special forces to crush [=quash] the rebellion.

4 : to make (someone) feel very unhappy, upset, etc. • The novelist was crushed by the editor's comments. • A string of bad luck had crushed his spirit. • He was crushed by regret. • She owed many people money, and felt crushed [=overwhelmed] by the debt.

— crush·er noun, pl -ers [count] • a garlic crusher • They used an electric crusher to crush the grapes.

²crush noun, pl crushes

1 [count] a : a strong feeling of romantic love for someone that is usually not expressed and does not last a long time ♦ The person who has a crush is usually young or is behaving or feeling like a young person. • a childhood crush • a school-girl crush [=romantic feelings felt by a schoolgirl or by someone who is being compared to a schoolgirl] — often + on • All through high school I had a crush on the art teacher. • I think he's got a crush on her. b : the person on whom you have a crush • Yesterday I saw my old high school crush for the first time in five years.

2 [count] : a crowd of people who are pressed close together • The crush in the train station is at its worst during the afternoon rush hour. • Outside the hotel stood a crush of reporters waiting for her arrival.

3 [noncount] chiefly Brit : a drink made from fruit juice • orange crush crushing adj : very bad, harmful, or severe • The team suffered a crushing loss. • They are struggling to escape the crushing poverty they've known all their lives. • The news came as a crushing blow. • a crushing insult crust /ˈkrʌst/ noun, pl crusts

1 : the hard outer surface of bread [count] Her children prefer to eat their sandwiches with the crusts [=the outer edges of the bread slices] cut off. • a crunchy/chewy crust [noncount] Her children prefer to eat their sandwiches with the crust cut off.

2 : the outside part of a pie : PIECRUST [count] Bake the pie until the crust [=top] is golden brown. [noncount] a pie with flaky crust

3 [count, noncount] : the bread that is used to make a pizza • He likes pizza with thin/thick crust. • She ate three slices of pizza, but left the crusts [=the thick, outer pieces of the crust] on her plate.

4 [count, noncount] : a hard layer on the surface of something • Our feet broke through the thin crust of ice and into the snow below. • the Earth's crust earn a/your crust Brit, informal : to earn the money that you need to live : to earn a living • I'm really a poet, but I've got to earn my crust as an accountant.

— see also UPPER CRUST

crus·ta·cean /krəˈsteɪʃən/ noun, pl -ceans [count] technical : a type of animal (such as a crab or lobster) that has several pairs of legs and a body made up of sections that are covered in a hard outer shell ♦ Crustaceans usually live in the water.

— crustacean adj

crust·ed /ˈkrʌstəd/ adj : having a hard surface layer • crust-ed snow • mud-crusted shoes [=mud-encrusted shoes] — often + with • fish crusted with blackened spices

crusty /ˈkrʌsti/ adj crust·i·er; -est

1 : harsh and unfriendly • a crusty old man ♦ A crusty person often seems unfriendly at first but is really kinder and more caring than he or she seems. Crusty is usually used to describe old people.

2 of food : having a thick or crisp crust • a basket of warm, crusty bread

3 : having a crust : having a hard surface layer • We could see deer tracks in the crusty snow bank.

— crust·i·ness noun [noncount]

crutch /ˈkrʌʃ/ noun, pl crutch·es [count]

1 : a long stick with a padded piece at the top that fits under a person's arm — usually plural ♦ People who have difficulty walking often use crutches to help them walk. • He's able to walk short distances with crutches but prefers his wheelchair. • I was on crutches [=I was using crutches to walk] for six weeks after I broke my leg. — see picture at HOSPITAL

2 usually disapproving : something that a person uses too much for help or support • She eventually realized that alcohol had become a crutch. [=that she was drinking too much alcohol as a way of dealing with her problems]

3 Brit : CROTCH

crux /ˈkrʌks/ noun

the crux : the most important part of something (such as a problem, issue, puzzle, etc.) — usually + of • The crux of the matter is that people are afraid of change. • It's taken a while to get to the crux of the problem, but I think I finally understand it.

¹cry /ˈkrai/ verb cries; cried; cry·ing

1 : to produce tears from your eyes often while making loud sounds because of pain, sorrow, or other strong emotions [no obj] The baby is crying. Is she okay? • a crying baby •

Some people cry more easily than others. • He cried silently while the song played. • She cried all the way home from school that day. • He cried (for) the whole day. • She couldn't imagine why anyone would cry over a stupid movie. • She was crying with relief/frustration/anger. • The first day of camp, a number of children cried for their parents. [=cried because they wanted their parents] [+ obj] They cried tears of joy. ♦ If you cry yourself to sleep, you cry until you have fallen asleep. ♦ If you cry your eyes out or cry your heart out, you cry a lot. • I cried my eyes out when I found out they had left without saying goodbye.

2 : to shout or say something loudly [+ obj] "We've won!" they cried. • "Help," he cried, "Get a doctor! Quick!" • I heard someone cry "Wait!" but the train pulled away anyway. [no obj] She cried [=called out] to the others to come and see what she'd found. — often + for • I heard someone crying for help. — sometimes used figuratively • Various groups have been crying for [=calling for] his resignation.

3 [no obj] of a bird or animal : to make the loud sound that is usual for a particular type of bird or animal • She'd never heard the sound of sea gulls crying by the shore.

a shoulder to cry on see 1 SHOULDER cry for [phrasal verb] cry for (something) : to need or require (something) very much • This problem is crying for a solution. • The old house is crying for a new coat of paint.

cry foul chiefly US : to complain that someone has done something that is not fair • When Mika's parents gave her a new bicycle, her sisters cried foul.

cry off [phrasal verb] Brit : to say that you will not do something you have promised to do • He said he would help me move into my new apartment but then he cried off [=begged off] at the last minute.

cry out [phrasal verb] 1 : to make a loud sound because of pain, fear, surprise, etc. • She cried out in pain. 2 cry out or cry out (something) : to speak in a loud voice : to say (something) loudly or from a distance • We could hear them on the shore crying out [=calling out] to us, so we waved. • She cried out for help. • "I'm stuck," she cried out. • She cried out that she was stuck. 3 cry out against (something) : to say publicly that (something) is wrong or unfair : to protest (something) • People around the world are crying out against the government's civil rights abuses. 4 — used to say that something clearly needs or should have a particular thing, person, use, etc.; often + to be • A chair like this cries out to be used [=should definitely be used], not kept in some museum. • The meal cried out to be eaten with a nice white wine. [=it was obvious that the meal should be served with a white wine] — often + for • The meal cried out for a nice white wine. • The job cries out for someone who's not afraid to take chances.

cry over spilled milk (US) or chiefly Brit cry over spilt milk informal : to be upset about something that has happened and that cannot be changed • You made a mistake, but there's no use crying over spilled milk.

cry wolf : to make people think there is danger when there is really none • News organizations have been warned not to cry wolf. If people hear too many warnings that turn out to be nothing, they won't listen to the important warnings when they come.

for crying out loud informal — used to show anger, annoyance, etc. • Why won't they let me in? It's my house, for crying out loud!

— crying noun [noncount] • We heard (the sound of) crying in the next room. • a crying fit/jag/spell

2 cry noun, pl cries

1 [count] : a loud sound that someone makes to express pain, hunger, sadness, etc. • cries of pain • The baby's cry woke me out of a deep sleep.

2 [count] : something that is said loudly : a shout or call • There was a cry of "Fire" and we all rushed for the exits. • The children were playing a game and their happy cries echoed through the house. — sometimes used figuratively • The verdict has been met with cries of outrage. [=people are very angry and upset about the verdict] • There have been loud cries [=calls] for his resignation from various groups. — see also HUE AND CRY

3 [count] : a loud sound made by an animal or bird • the wild cry of a coyote • The birds' loud cries [=calls] startled me.

4 [singular] : an act of crying or a period of time spent crying • By the end of the movie, we'd all had a good cry. [=we had all cried for a while]

5 [count] : an act or way of behaving which shows that someone wants help, attention, etc. • The doctor thinks the boy's bad behavior at school is a cry for help.

6 [count] : a word or phrase that a group of people uses to express a common idea or goal or to unite them • "Free speech" is the cry of the protesters. — see also BATTLE CRY, RALLYING CRY, WAR CRY

a far cry from : very different from (something or someone) • The movie is a far cry from the book. • He's a far cry from the idealistic young writer he once was.

in full cry 1 : full of anger, excitement, etc., especially in reaction to something • The school's budget is being cut, and teachers and parents are in full cry. [=are very angry and upset] 2 of hunting dogs : in the act of chasing an animal : in full pursuit cry-ba-by /'krai,berbi/ noun, pl -bies [count] informal : a person who cries easily or complains often • "Don't be such a crybaby," she told her little sister.

cry-ing /'krajɪŋ/ adj
a crying need : a very obvious need : a serious and important need • There's a crying need for reform in this city.

a crying shame : a situation that makes you feel sad or disappointed • It's a crying shame [=it's upsetting to me] that movies are often so violent these days. • It'd be a crying shame to miss the beginning of the show.

cryo-gen-ics /,krajə'dʒeniks/ noun [noncount] technical : a science that deals with how very low temperatures are produced and how they affect other things cry-on-ics /,kraj'ɑ:niks/ noun [noncount] medical : a procedure in which a person's body is frozen just after he or she has died so that the body can be restored if a cure for the cause of death is found crypt /'kript/ noun, pl crypts [count] : a room under a church in which people are buried after they have died crypt-tic /'kriptɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] : difficult to understand : having or seeming to have a hidden meaning • a cryptic message/title/remark • His instructions were cryptic. He said only to wait until we felt certain the answer was clear.

— crypt-ti-cal-ly /'kriptɪkli/ adv • She smiled cryptically.

crypt-to- /,kriptɒ/ combining form : hidden or secret • a crypto-anarchist [=a person who does not seem to support anarchy but secretly holds anarchist beliefs]

crypt-to-gram /'kriptə,græm/ noun, pl -grams [count] : a message that is written in code crypt-tog-ra-phy /krip'tɑ:grəfi/ noun [noncount] : the process of writing or reading secret messages or codes • Companies often use cryptography to protect private information.

— crypt-tog-ra-pher /krip'tɑ:grəfə/ noun, pl -phers [count] • He was hired as a cryptographer to break the enemy's secret code.

crys-tal /'krɪstl/ noun, pl -tals

1 [count] : a small piece of a substance that has many sides and is formed when the substance turns into a solid • ice/salt crystals • a crystal of quartz • the crystal structure of minerals

2 : a clear hard mineral that is either colorless or very light in color and that is used in making jewelry [noncount] a necklace made of crystal [count] Some of the crystals used in the necklace are a pale pink color.

3 [noncount] a : a special type of glass that is very clear • The wine glasses are made of the finest crystal. — often used before another noun • a crystal chandelier/vase b : objects made of this glass • She inherited her mother's crystal. • their wedding crystal

4 [count] US : the clear glass or plastic cover on a watch or clock • I broke the crystal on my watch.

crystal ball noun, pl ~ balls [count] : a clear glass ball in which some people say they can see the future by using magic crystal clear adj

1 : perfectly clear : able to be seen through completely • crystal clear water

2 : perfectly easy to understand • "Was my request clear?" "Yes, crystal clear." • Eventually it became crystal clear that something had to change.

crys-tal-line /'krɪstələn, Brit 'krɪstə,lain/ adj

1 : clear and shining like crystal • the island's crystalline waters — sometimes used figuratively • a singer with a crystal-line voice [=a beautifully clear voice]

2 technical : made of or similar to crystal or crystals • a crystalline solid • the rock's crystalline structure

crys-tal-lize also Brit crys-tal-lise /'krɪstə,ləɪz/ verb -lizes; -lized; -liz-ing

1 technical : to change into a solid form that is made up of crystals [no obj] Eventually the paint will start to crystallize.

• Certain conditions can cause carbon to crystallize into diamonds. [+ obj] Certain conditions can crystallize carbon into diamonds.

2 : to cause (something, such as an idea, belief, etc.) to become clear and fully formed [+ obj] The final paragraph of the essay crystallizes her theory. • He tried to crystallize his thoughts. [no obj] Her theory crystallizes in the final paragraph of the essay. • The plan crystallized slowly.

— crys·tal·li·za·tion also Brit crys·tal·li·sa·tion /,krɪstələˈzeɪʃən, Brit /,krɪstəˌlɑːˈzeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the crystallization of the liquid • the crystallization of her theory crystallized also Brit crystallised adj : covered in sugar • crystallized ginger/grapes crystal meth noun [noncount] : an illegal drug in the form of crystals that causes you to feel more energetic and alert when you smoke it

C-section /ˈsiːsɛkʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] medical : CESAREAN SECTION

ct. abbr carat

Ct. abbr court

CT abbr Connecticut

CT scan /ˈsiːˈtiː-/ noun, pl ~ scans [count] medical : CAT SCAN cub /ˈkʌb/ noun, pl cubs [count]

1 : a young animal that eats meat • a bear/fox/lion cub

2 Cub Brit : CUB SCOUT

— see also CUB REPORTER

cub·by /ˈkʌbi/ noun, pl -bies [count] : CUBBYHOLE

cub·by·hole /ˈkʌbiˌhoʊl/ noun, pl -holes [count]

1 : a small hole or space for storing things • The car has lots of cubbyholes for small items. • He keeps the key in a cubbyhole in his desk.

2 : a place (such as a room) that is very small • He worked in a cubbyhole under the stairs.

¹cube /ˈkjuːb/ noun, pl cubes [count]

1 : an object that has six square sides • an ice cube • Cut the onion into half-inch cubes. — see picture at GEOMETRY

2 mathematics : the number that results from multiplying a number by itself twice • The cube of 2 [=2³] is 8. [=2 x 2 x 2 = 8] — compare ¹SQUARE 3

3 US, informal + humorous : CUBICLE 1 • She decorated her cube with pictures of her children.

²cube verb cubes; cubed; cub·ing [+ obj]

1 : to cut (food) into small cubes • Cube the carrots and potatoes. • three slices of bread, cubed

2 mathematics : to multiply (a number) by itself twice — usually used as cubed • 2 cubed equals 8. [=2 x 2 x 2 = 8] — compare ³SQUARE 3 cube root noun, pl ~ roots [count] mathematics : a number that produces a specified number when it is multiplied by itself twice • The cube root of 8 is 2. — compare SQUARE ROOT

cu·bic /ˈkjuːbɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 — used to describe a measurement that is produced by multiplying something's length by its width and its height • one cubic centimeter [=a measure of volume that is one centimeter long, one centimeter wide, and one centimeter high] • three cubic feet of space — compare ²SQUARE 2

2 : in the shape of a cube • cubic crystals/shapes • a cubic structure

cu·bi·cle /ˈkjuːbɪkəl/ noun, pl -bi·cles [count]

1 chiefly US : a work space in a large office with a desk that is usually surrounded by low walls • an office cubicle

2 Brit : a small space in a public room (such as a bathroom) that has walls for privacy • a shower/toilet cubicle [= (US) stall]

Cub·ism /ˈkjuːˌbɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : a style of art that originated in the early 20th century in which objects are divided into and shown as a group of geometric shapes and from many different angles at the same time

— Cub·ist /ˈkjuːbɪst/ adj • a Cubist painting • the Cubist movement — Cubist noun, pl -ists [count]

cub reporter noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a young newspaper reporter who does not have much experience

Cub Scout noun, pl ~ Scouts [count] : a member of an organization of Boy Scouts for boys ages 7 through 10 — compare BROWNIE

¹cuck·old /ˈkʌkəld/ noun, pl -olds [count] old-fashioned : a man whose wife has sex with someone else : a man's whose wife commits adultery

²cuckold verb -olds; -old·ed; -old·ing [+ obj] old-fashioned

1 : to have sex with someone other than (your husband) • There were rumors that his wife had cuckolded him.

2 : to have sex with the wife of (another man) • He was cuckolded by his best friend.

¹cuck·oo /ˈkuːku, Brit /ˈkʊku/ noun, pl -oos [count] : a type of bird that lays its eggs in the nests of other birds and that has a call that sounds like its name

²cuckoo adj [more ~; most ~] informal + old-fashioned

1 : silly or crazy • They told me that he's a little cuckoo. [=nutty] • a cuckoo idea

2 : very enthusiastic • I'm not cuckoo [= (more commonly) wild, crazy] about the idea.

cuckoo clock noun, pl ~ clocks [count] : a clock that has a toy bird inside of it that comes out and makes a sound like a cuckoo to tell what time it is cu·cum·ber /ˈkjuːˌkʌmbə/ noun, pl -bers [count, noncount] : a long vegetable with dark green skin and crisp flesh that is often used in salads or for making pickles — see color picture on page C4

(as) cool as a cucumber see ¹COOL

cud /ˈkʌd/ noun [noncount] : the food that an animal (such as a cow) brings back up from its stomach into its mouth to be chewed again • a cow chewing its cud

cud·dle /ˈkʌdl/ verb cud·dles; cud·dled; cud·dling

1 [+ obj] : to hold (someone or something) in your arms in order to show affection • He cuddled the puppy.

2 [no obj] : to lie or sit close together • Let's cuddle by the fire. — often + up • They cuddled up under the blanket. • They cuddled up to each other. • He cuddled up with a good book. [=he sat down in a comfortable position and began reading a good book]

— cuddle noun, pl cuddles [count] • She gave the children a cuddle.

cud·dly /ˈkʌdli/ adj cud·dli·er; -est informal

1 : having the soft or appealing quality of a thing or person that you would like to cuddle • cuddly teddy bears • He is so big and cuddly. • a soft, cuddly fabric

2 : designed to be easy to like and not to offend people • their cuddly brand of commercialism

¹cud·gel /ˈkʌdʒəl/ noun, pl -gels [count] : a short heavy club pick/take up the cudgels for somewhat old-fashioned : to fight in defense or support of (someone or something) • She took up the cudgels for women's rights.

²cudgel verb -gels; US -geled or Brit -gelled; US -gel·ing or Brit -gel·ling [+ obj] : to hit (someone or something) with a club — usually used figuratively • a politician who is being cudged in the press for his failure to support tax cuts

cudgel your brain/brains see ¹BRAIN

¹cue /ˈkjuː/ noun, pl cues [count]

1 : a word, phrase, or action in a play, movie, etc., that is a signal for a performer to say or do something • That last line is your cue to exit the stage.

2 : a sign that tells a person to do something • I'll take that yawn as my cue to leave. • Their silence was a cue for him to speak.

3 : something that indicates the nature of what you are seeing, hearing, etc. • The expressions on people's faces give us visual cues about their feelings. • auditory cues on cue ♢ When something happens (right) on cue or as if on cue, it happens at the exact moment you would expect it to. • She arrived right on cue at the mention of her name. • As if on cue, the entire group burst into laughter.

take a/your cue from : to do what is done or suggested by (someone or something) • Take a cue from the experts and get your taxes done early this year. • We should take our cue from their example.

— compare ³CUE

²cue verb cues; cued; cu·ing [+ obj] : to give (someone) a signal to do something during a performance • Cue the band. • Cue the lights/sound. [=give a signal to the person running the lights/sound]

³cue noun, pl cues [count] : a long, thin stick that is used in playing pool, billiards, and snooker • a pool cue — compare ¹CUE cue ball noun, pl ~ balls [count] : the white ball that a player hits with the cue in pool, billiards, and snooker cue card noun, pl ~ cards [count] : a large card that can be seen by someone (such as an actor) who is performing or speaking on a stage or on television and that shows the words that the person is supposed to say

¹cuff /ˈkʌf/ noun, pl cuffs

1 [count] : the part of a sleeve, glove, etc., that covers the wrist — see color picture on page C14

2 [count] US : a piece of cloth at the bottom of a pant leg that is folded up — called also (Brit) turn-up; see color picture on page C15

3 [count] : something that goes around a person's arm like the cuff of a sleeve • She wore a cuff bracelet. • The nurse put a blood-pressure cuff [=a cuff that measures blood pressure] on his arm. — see also ROTATOR CUFF

4 cuffs [plural] : HANDCUFFS • The police led him away in cuffs.

off the cuff : without being prepared in advance : without planning or preparation • He talked/spoke off the cuff about his work on the project. • I had to give the speech off the cuff. — see also OFF-THE-CUFF

— cuffed adj • a blouse with cuffed sleeves • cuffed pants

²cuff verb cuffs; cuffed; cuffing [+ obj] : to put (someone) in handcuffs • He was cuffed and led away. — compare ³CUFF³cuff verb cuffs; cuffed; cuffing [+ obj] : to hit (someone or something) with the palm of your hand • She cuffed the boy on the head/ear. — compare ²CUFF

— cuff noun, pl cuffs [count] • She gave him a cuff on the head/ear.

cuff link noun, pl ~ links [count] : a piece of jewelry that is used to fasten the cuff of a sleeve on a man's shirt — see color picture on page C11

cui-sine /kwiˈziːn/ noun, pl -sines

1 : a style of cooking [noncount] I like gourmet/vegetarian/ethnic cuisine. • a cooking method used in French cuisine [count] regional cuisines • a cuisine based on local ingredients — see also HAUTE CUISINE, NOUVELLE CUISINE

2 [noncount] : food that is cooked in a particular way • This restaurant is famous for its spicy cuisine.

cul-de-sac /ˈkʌldɪsæk/ noun, pl cul-de-sacs /ˈkʌldɪsæks/ also culs-de-sac /ˈkʌlzɪsæk/ [count] : a street that is designed to connect to another street only at one end • Our house is located on a quiet cul-de-sac.

cul-i-nary /ˈkʌləneri, Brit ˈkʌlənrɪ/ adj, always used before a noun : used in or relating to cooking • culinary herbs • the culinary arts • They serve a variety of culinary delights.

cull /ˈkʌl/ verb culls; culled; culling [+ obj]

1 : to select or choose (someone or something) from a group • Damaged fruits are culled (out) before the produce is shipped. — usually + from • They've culled some of the best poems from her collected works. • She culled the information from newspaper articles.

2 : to control the size of (a group of animals) by killing some animals • He culls his herd annually. • The town issued hunting licenses in order to cull the deer population.

— cull noun, pl culls [count] • the annual cull of the herd

cul-mi-nate /ˈkʌlməneɪt/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing

1 [no obj] : to reach the end or the final result of something — usually + in or with • She had a long acting career that culminated in two Oscar nominations. • The investigation culminated with several arrests. • Their efforts have culminated in the discovery of a new cancer treatment.

2 [+ obj] somewhat formal : to be the end or final result of (something) • A bitter feud culminated months of tension.

cul-mi-na-tion /ˌkʌlməˈneɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : the end or final result of something • This study is the culmination of years of research.

cu-lottes /kjuˈlɑːts/ noun [plural] : short pants for women or girls that are shaped like a skirt • a pair of culottes

cul-pa-ble /ˈkʌlpəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : deserving blame : guilty of doing something wrong • They held her culpable for the accident. • He's more culpable than the others because he's old enough to know better. • (law) The defendant is charged with culpable negligence. [=negligence that is regarded as a crime]

— cul-pa-bil-i-ty /ˌkʌlpəˈbɪləti/ noun [noncount] • She refused to acknowledge her own culpability. — cul-pa-bly /ˈkʌlpəbli/ adv • The defendant was culpably negligent.

cul-prit /ˈkʌlprɪt/ noun, pl -prits [count] : a person who has committed a crime or done something wrong • The police eventually located the culprits. — often used figuratively • Lack of exercise and poor diet are the chief/main/real culprits in heart disease.

¹cult /ˈkʌlt/ noun, pl cults [count]

1 : a small religious group that is not part of a larger and more accepted religion and that has beliefs regarded by many people as extreme or dangerous • a satanic cult • cult members

2 : a situation in which people admire and care about something or someone very much or too much • He criticizes the way journalists promote the cult of celebrity in modern America. [=the tendency of people to care too much about famous people] • a cult of personality = a personality cult

3 : a small group of very devoted supporters or fans • a cult of admirers • She has developed a cult following.

4 formal : a system of religious beliefs and rituals • an ancient fertility cult

²cult adj, always used before a noun : very popular among a group of people • a cult film/novel • Her works have achieved cult status. • The movie is a cult hit/classic/favorite.cul-ti-vate /ˈkʌltəveɪt/ verb -vates; -vat-ed; -vat-ing [+ obj]

1 : to prepare and use (soil) for growing plants • Prehistoric peoples settled the area and began to cultivate the land. • Some of the fields are cultivated while others lie fallow.

2 a : to grow and care for (plants) • a plant that is cultivated for its fruit • They survived by cultivating vegetables and grain. b : to grow or raise (something) under conditions that you can control • pearls from cultivated oysters

3 : to improve or develop (something) by careful attention, training, or study • He has carefully cultivated his image/reputation. • She cultivated a taste for fine wines.

4 : to try to become friendly with (someone) usually to get some advantage for yourself • They're always looking for influential people to cultivate as friends.

— cul-ti-va-tion /ˌkʌltəˈveɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the cultivation of crops cultivated adj

1 a : raised or grown on a farm or under other controlled conditions • cultivated fruits/vegetables — compare WILD b : prepared and used for growing crops • cultivated fields

2 [more ~; most ~] : having or showing good education, taste, and manners • a very cultivated gentleman • a person of cultivated [=refined] taste

cul-ti-va-tor /ˈkʌltəveɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

1 : a person who prepares land for planting

2 : a tool or machine that is used to prepare the soil and kill weeds around growing plants

cul-tur-al /ˈkʌltʃərəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : of or relating to a particular group of people and their habits, beliefs, traditions, etc. • cultural studies • We studied our cultural heritage. • There are some cultural differences between us.

2 : of or relating to the fine arts (such as music, theater, painting, etc.) • We attended several cultural events over the weekend. • The center provides a wide range of cultural activities. • The city is the cultural center of the state.

— cul-tur-al-ly adv • a culturally diverse population • culturally defined social roles

¹cul-ture /ˈkʌltʃə/ noun, pl -tures

1 a [noncount] : the beliefs, customs, arts, etc., of a particular society, group, place, or time • a study of Greek language and culture • today's youth culture • Her art shows the influence of pop/popular culture. b [count] : a particular society that has its own beliefs, ways of life, art, etc. • an ancient culture • It's important to learn about other cultures.

2 [count] : a way of thinking, behaving, or working that exists in a place or organization (such as a business) • The company's corporate/business culture is focused on increasing profits. • There was a culture of success at the school. [=the school's policies and environment encouraged its students' success]

3 [noncount] a : artistic activities (such as music, theater, painting, etc.) • an area that has been criticized for its lack of culture b : appreciation and knowledge of music, theater, painting, etc. • She is a person of culture. [=a cultured person]

4 technical a [noncount] : the act or process or growing living material (such as cells or bacteria) in controlled conditions for scientific study • Scientists have been refining techniques for the culture of living tissue. b [count] : a group of cells, bacteria, etc., grown in controlled conditions for scientific study • bacterial/tissue cultures

5 [noncount] technical : the act or process of raising or growing plants, insects, etc., in controlled conditions • bee culture • the culture of grapes

²culture verb -tures; -tured; -tur-ing [+ obj] technical : to grow (something) in controlled conditions • The virus is cultured in the laboratory from samples of infected tissue.

cultured adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : having or showing good education, tastes, and manners • a cultured person

2 : grown or made under controlled conditions • cultured cells/pearls culture shock noun : a feeling of confusion, doubt, or nervousness caused by being in a place (such as a foreign country) that is very different from what you are used to [non-count] Foreign students often experience culture shock when they first come to the U.S. [singular] Moving to the city was a huge culture shock for him.

cul-vert /'kʌlvət/ noun, pl -verts [count] : a drain or pipe that allows water to flow under a road or railroad cum /'kʌm/ conj — used in hyphenated phrases to link nouns that describe a person or thing with two jobs, uses, etc. • He was hired as a cook-cum-dishwasher. • a patio-cum-sunroom

cum-ber-some

/'kʌmbəsəm/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : hard to handle or manage because of size or weight • a cumbersome package

2 : complicated and hard to do • The application process is cumbersome and time-consuming.

3 : long and difficult to read, say, etc. • a cumbersome name • Her expanded job title is really cumbersome.

cum-in /'kʌmən, 'kju:mən/ noun [noncount] : dried seeds that are used as a spice in cooking and that come from a plant related to the carrot cum lau-de /kʌm'laudə/ adv, formal : with honor — used in the U.S. to indicate that a student has graduated from a college or university at the third highest of three special levels of achievement • She graduated cum laude. — compare MAGNA CUM LAUDE, SUMMA CUM LAUDE cum-mer-bund /'kʌməbʌnd/ noun, pl -bunds [count] : a wide piece of cloth (such as silk) that is worn around the waist beneath the jacket of a man who is formally dressed — see color picture on page C16

cu-mu-la-tive /'kju:mjələtɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : increasing or becoming better or worse over time through a series of additions • the cumulative effect(s) of smoking on the body [=the effect(s) produced by smoking over a long period of time]

2 : including or adding together all of the things that came before • Their cumulative [=total, overall] scores will determine the winner.

— cu-mu-la-tive-ly adv • They have cumulatively spent more than a million dollars on the renovations.

cu-mu-lus /'kju:mjələs/ noun, pl cu-mu-li /'kju mju:lai/ [count] technical : a type of thick cloud that is rounded on top and has a flat base cu-ne-i-form /'kju:ni:jə,fərm, Brit 'kju:nɪ,fərm/ adj : relating to or written in a system of writing used in parts of the ancient Middle East • cuneiform characters/writing • an ancient cuneiform text

— cuneiform noun [noncount]

cun-ni-lin-gus /,kʌnɪ'liŋgəs/ noun [noncount] : the act of stimulating a woman's sexual organs with the mouth for sexual pleasure cun-ning /'kʌnɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : getting what is wanted in a clever and often deceptive way • a cunning criminal • She was cunning enough to fool me. • a cunning plan — cun-ning-ly adv • They cunningly dodged our questions.

cunning noun [noncount] : cleverness or skill especially at tricking people in order to get something • He may be a fraud, but you have to admire his cunning. • (chiefly Brit) He succeeded through a combination of charm and low cunning [=clever but morally bad and dishonest methods]

cunt /'kʌnt/ noun, pl cunts [count] offensive + obscene

1 : a woman's sexual organs

2 a US — used as an offensive way to refer to a woman b Brit — used as an offensive way to refer to a stupid or annoying person • Cunt is an extremely offensive word in all of its uses and should be avoided.

cup /'kʌp/ noun, pl cups [count]

1 a : a small round container that often has a handle and that is used for drinking liquids (such as tea and coffee) • a coffee cup • a paper/plastic cup — see picture at PLACE SETTING; see also TEACUP b : the liquid that is contained in a cup • How many cups (of water/coffee/tea) did you drink? • Would you like another cup of tea?

2 US : a unit of measurement that is used when you are cooking • A cup is used to measure both dry and liquid ingredients. It is equal to half a pint or 237 milliliters. • two cups of flour • four cups of milk — see also MEASURING CUP

3 : a large gold or silver cup that is given as a prize for winning a competition or game • The winner will take home the cup. — used in the names of some sports competitions in which a cup is the prize • His goal is to win the America's Cup. • Our team won the Stanley Cup.

4 : something that is shaped like a cup • a custard cup — see also EGGCUP, SUCTION CUP

5 chiefly US : a food that is served in a cup or small bowl • a fruit cup [=a mixture of chopped fruits that is served usually as a dessert]

6 US : a hard piece of plastic that men and boys wear to protect and support their sexual organs while playing a sport • a protective cup — called also (Brit) box

7 : either one of the parts of a bra that cover the breasts — used especially to describe the size of a bra • a bra with C cups • She wears a B cup.

8 US, golf : the metal or plastic case that is placed in the hole on a putting green; also : the hole itself • The shot landed within inches of the cup.

in the cup of your hand • If you hold something in the cup of your hand, you hold it in your palm with your hand curved like a cup. • He held the seeds in the cup of his hand. [=he cupped the seeds in his hand]

not your cup of tea • If something is not your cup of tea, you do not like it very much or you are not very good at it. • I'm afraid that skiing just isn't my cup of tea. • She admits that stamp collecting isn't everyone's cup of tea.

cup verb cups; cupped; cup-ping [+ obj]

1 : to curve (your hand) into the shape of a cup • He cupped his hands around his mouth and shouted at us. • I had to cup my hand to my ear in order to hear him.

2 : to put your hand in a curved shape around (something) • He cupped his mouth with his hands and shouted at us. • I sat with my chin cupped in my hand.

cup-board /'kʌbəd/ noun, pl -boards [count]

1 : a piece of furniture used for storage that has doors and contains shelves • a jelly cupboard • kitchen cupboards [=cabinets] — see picture at KITCHEN

2 US : a small room with shelves where you keep cups, dishes, or food

3 Brit : a small room where things are stored : CLOSET skeleton in the/your cupboard see 'SKELETON cup-cake /'kʌp,keɪk/ noun, pl -cakes [count] : a very small cake that is baked in a pan shaped like a cup — see picture at BAKING cup-ful /'kʌp,fʊl/ noun, pl cup-fuls /'kʌp,fʊlz/ also cups-ful /'kʌps,fʊl/ [count] : the amount held by a cup • a cupful of sugar

cu-pid /'kju:pəd/ noun, pl -pids

1 Cupid [singular] : the god of sexual love in ancient Rome

2 [count] : a picture or statue of Cupid usually shown as a naked boy with wings who is holding a bow and arrow • a valentine decorated with hearts and cupids

play Cupid : to try to get two people to become romantically involved with each other • The movie is about a woman who plays Cupid with her brother and her best friend.

cu-pid-i-ty /'kju:pɪdəti/ noun [noncount] formal : a strong desire for money or possessions : GREED • The evidence revealed the cupidity of the company's directors.

cu-po-la /'kju:pələ/ noun, pl -las [count]

1 : a rounded roof or part of a roof : DOME

2 US : a small structure that is built on top of a roof cup-pa /'kʌpə/ noun, pl -pas [count] Brit, informal : a cup of tea • I could use a good cuppa.

cur /'kə/ noun, pl curs [count] old-fashioned : a dog that is a mix of different breeds : a low, bad, or disliked dog • a worthless cur [=mutt, mongrel]

culvert

cupola

cur·able /'kjʊrəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : possible to cure • Most cases are curable with proper treatment. • a curable disease • Is the patient curable? — opposite INCURABLE cu·rate /'kjʊrət/ noun, pl -rates [count] : a member of the clergy in certain churches (such as the Anglican church) who assists the priest in charge of a church or a group of churches

curate's egg Brit : something that has both good and bad parts or qualities • The concert was a bit of a curate's egg: good in some parts, bad in others.

cu·ra·tive /'kjʊrətɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : able to cure diseases or heal people • an herb believed to have curative powers/properties cu·ra·tor /'kjʊr,etə, Brit kjʊ'reitə/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a person who is in charge of the things in a museum, zoo, etc.

1 curb /'kəb/ noun, pl curbs [count]

1 US curb or Brit kerb : a short border along the edge of a street that is usually made of stone or concrete • We sat on the curb eating our ice cream. — see picture at STREET

2 : something that controls or limits something else — usually plural • Many companies are protesting the new price/trade curbs. [= (more commonly) checks, restrictions] — often + on • government policies that are designed to put a curb on spending [= to limit/reduce spending]

2 curb verb curbs; curbed; curb·ing [+ obj] : to control or limit (something) • The legislation is intended to curb price and wage increases. • pills designed to curb your appetite curb·side (US) or Brit kerb·side /'kəb,said/ noun, pl -sides [count] : SIDEWALK — often used before another noun • a curbside vendor • curbside recycling programs

curd /'kəd/ noun, pl curds : a thick substance that forms when milk becomes sour and that is used to make cheese [plural] The curds have separated from the whey. [noncount] The curd has separated from the whey. — see also BEAN CURD, LEMON CURD cur·dle /'kədl/ verb cur·dles; cur·dled; cur·dling : to thicken and separate into liquids and solids : to form curds [no obj] The milk has curdled. [= the milk is sour] • Too much heat will make the custard curdle. [+ obj] Too much heat will curdle the custard.

make someone's blood curdle see BLOOD

1 cure /'kjə/ noun, pl cures [count]

1 : something (such as a drug or medical treatment) that stops a disease and makes someone healthy again • The disease has no cure. [= the disease cannot be cured; the disease is incurable] — often + for • There is no cure for the common cold. • The drug was sold as a cure for a variety of ailments.

2 : something that ends a problem or improves a bad situation : SOLUTION • This is a problem that has no easy cure. — often + for • The highway construction program was presented as a cure for unemployment. • Exercise is a good cure for stress.

3 : the act of making someone healthy again after an illness • The doctors were unable to effect a cure because the disease had spread too far.

2 cure verb cures; cured; cur·ing

1 [+ obj] a : to make (someone) healthy again after an illness • Her doctors have pronounced her cured. [= have said that she is no longer ill] — often + of • A team of doctors cured him of a rare blood disease. b : to stop (a disease) by using drugs or other medical treatments • Doctors cured his disease. • The infection can be cured with antibiotics.

2 [+ obj] : to provide a solution for (something) • Drinking won't cure [= solve] any of your problems.

3 [+ obj] : to cause (someone) to stop having a harmful habit, wrong idea, etc. : to make (someone) free of something • She was cured of any illusions she had about college after her first semester. • My wife cured me of most of my bad habits.

4 : to change something through a chemical or physical process so that it can be preserved for a long time [+ obj] cure bacon/meat • The fish was cured with salt. • olives cured in brine [no obj] The hay is curing in the sun.

5 [no obj] : to dry and become hard • It takes several days for concrete to cure. [= harden, set] cure·all /'kjə,ɑ:l/ noun, pl -alls [count] : a cure or solution for any illness or problem • The drug is effective, but it is not a cure-all. — often + for • There is no cure-all for these problems.

cur·few /'kəfju/ noun, pl -fews

1 a : an order or law that requires people to be indoors after a certain time at night [count] The teens were stopped by police for violating the curfew. • The city ordered/imposed a curfew soon after the rioting started. [noncount] The town was placed under curfew. b [noncount] : the period of time when such an order or law is in effect • No one is allowed on the streets during the curfew.

2 [count] chiefly US : the time set by a parent at which a child has to be back home after going out • He has a 10 o'clock curfew.

cu·rio /'kjəri,ou/ noun, pl -ri-os [count] : a small and unusual object that is considered interesting or attractive • She loves to browse the shops in small towns, looking for curios.

cu·ri·os·i·ty /,kjəri'ɑ:səti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the desire to learn or know more about something or someone • Her natural curiosity led her to ask more questions. • The arrival of a construction crew at their house attracted/sparked/aroused the curiosity of their neighbors. • The movie failed to satisfy her curiosity about the assassination. • intellectual curiosity • He went into the store out of curiosity. [= because he was curious to see what was in the store]

✧ The expression curiosity killed the cat is used to warn people that too much curiosity can be dangerous.

2 [count] : something that is interesting because it is unusual • Tobacco was once a curiosity in Europe. • The antique shop was full of curiosities.

cu·ri·ous /'kjərijəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having a desire to learn or know more about something or someone • The cat was naturally curious about its new surroundings. • They were curious to find out who won the game. • We're curious about why you never called us. • The curious [= inquisitive] reader can find more information in the back of the book. • I'm curious to know more about her.

2 : strange, unusual, or unexpected • She found a curious old clock in the attic. • That's curious [= weird, strange, odd]—I thought I left my keys right here. • The birds were engaged in some curious behavior. • Their music is a curious blend of disco and rock. • By a curious coincidence, they bought a house the same day their old one burned down. • The story of what really happened to them that day gets curlouser and curlouser. [= stranger and stranger]

— cu·ri·ous·ly adv • She was curiously uninterested in what other people thought was important. • Curiously [= strangely] (enough), the dog returned to its home 70 miles away. • He looked at the strange object curiously.

1 curl /'kɔ:l/ verb curls; curled; curl·ing

1 : to twist or form (something) into a round or curved shape [+ obj] The boy curled [= wound] the spaghetti around his fork. • She curls her hair every morning. • She took off her shoes and curled (up) her toes. • Can you curl your tongue? • The baby's fingers were tightly curled. • She curled (up) her legs under her. • The snake curled itself around its prey. [no obj] My hair curls naturally. • The cat curled into a ball and went to sleep.

2 [no obj] : to become curved or rounded • The old posters were curling (up) at the edges.

3 always followed by a preposition or adverb [no obj] : to move in curves or circles • We saw smoke curling from the cottage chimney. • A snake curled around his leg.

curl up [phrasal verb] : to lie or sit with your back bent forward and with your legs pulled up close to your body • She curled up on the couch for a nap. • It's a good night to stay home and curl up with a book and a cup of tea. — see also CURL 1, 2 (above) curl your lip : to move the corner of your lip up in an expression that usually shows disgust or disapproval • She curled her lip when his name was mentioned. • Her lip curled in disgust.

make your hair curl see HAIR

make your toes curl see ¹TOE

2 curl noun, pl curls

1 a [count] : a piece of hair that is formed into a round shape • Her daughter has cute blonde curls. • She likes to wear her hair in curls. b [singular] : the ability of hair to form curls • The conditioner will help you keep the curl of your hair. • His hair has a natural curl.

2 [count] : something that is curved or has a round shape • chocolate curls • a curl of smoke

3 [count] : an exercise in which a weight held in the hands is brought toward the shoulders and down again by bending either the wrists or the elbows • He did 12 wrist/bicep curls.

curl·er /'kɔ:lə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a small plastic or metal tube around which hair is wrapped to make it curl • Her hair was in curlers. [= rollers]

2 : a device that curls something • an eyelash curler

cur·lew /'kəlu, Brit 'kəljə/ noun, pl cur·lews or cur·lew [count] : a large brown bird with long legs and a long thin bill that lives near the water cur·li·cue /'kəli,kju:/ noun, pl -cues [count] : a decorative-ly curved line or shape • round loops and curlicues • Curlicues were carved into the wood.

curl·ing /'kəliŋ/ noun [noncount] : a game in which two teams of four players slide special stones over ice toward a circle curling iron noun, pl ~ irons [count] US : a device with a long metal part that is heated to curl hair — called also (Brit) curling tongs

curly /'kəli/ adj curl·i·er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : having curls • She has curly hair and blue eyes.

2 : formed into a round shape • curly french fries • The dog's tail is curly.

curly brace noun, pl ~ braces [count] : ²BRACE 3

curly bracket noun, pl ~ -ets [count] : ²BRACE 3

cur·mud·geon /kə'mʌdʒən/ noun, pl -geons [count] old-fashioned : a person (especially an old man) who is easily annoyed or angered and who often complains • a lonely old curmudgeon

— cur·mud·geon·ly adj [more ~; most ~] • a curmudgeonly [=bad-tempered] old man

cur·rant /'kərənt/ noun, pl -rants [count]

1 : a small seedless raisin that is used in baking and cooking

2 : a small red, black, or white berry that is often used in making jams and jellies • black/red currants

Do not confuse currant with current.

cur·ren·cy /'kərənsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 a : the money that a country uses : a specific kind of money [count] A new currency has been introduced in the foreign exchange market. • foreign currencies [noncount] paper currency • They were paid in U.S. currency. — see also HARD CURRENCY b [noncount] : something that is used as money • Furs were once traded as currency.

2 [noncount] : the quality or state of being used or accepted by many people • His ideas are gaining currency [=are becoming widely accepted] in the government. • The word has not yet won/achieved widespread currency.

3 [noncount] : the quality or state of being current • I'm not sure about the accuracy and currency of their information.

¹cur·rent /'kərənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 always used before a noun : happening or existing now : belonging to or existing in the present time • the current month • the magazine's current issue • The dictionary's current edition has 10,000 new words. • the current political crisis • By current [=present-day] standards, they were very young when they got married. • Who is your current employer? • current trends/fashions • current ideas about education

2 not used before a noun, chiefly US : aware of what is happening in a particular area of activity • As a teacher I have to stay current [=up-to-date] in my field, which is biology. • We need to keep current with the latest information.

— cur·rent·ly adv • She is currently [=presently] living in Texas. • The product is not currently available. • Currently [=at the present time], police have no suspects in the case.

²current noun, pl -rents

1 [count] : a continuous movement of water or air in the same direction • Strong currents pulled the swimmer out to sea. • Air currents carried the balloon for miles.

2 : a flow of electricity [count] a strong/weak electrical current [noncount] The circuit supplies current to the saw. — see also ALTERNATING CURRENT, DIRECT CURRENT

3 [count] formal : an idea, feeling, opinion, etc., that is shared by many or most of the people in a group • general currents in politics • intellectual currents — often + of • He is going against the current of public opinion. • There was a current of discontent within the company.

Do not confuse current with currant.

current account noun, pl ~ -counts [count] Brit : CHECKING ACCOUNT

current events noun [plural] chiefly US : important events that are happening in the world • She reads several newspapers so she can keep track of current events. • Contestants are quizzed on current events. — called also current affairs

cur·ric·u·lum /kə'rikjələm/ noun, pl -la /-lə/ also -lums [count] formal : the courses that are taught by a school, college, etc. • the undergraduate/mathematics curriculum • The college has a liberal arts curriculum.

— cur·ric·u·lar /kə'rikjələ/ adj, always used before a noun • curricular changes in the science program • curricular materials — see also EXTRACURRICULAR cur·ric·u·lum vi·tae /kə'rikjələm'vi:,taɪ/ noun, pl ~ vitae [count] chiefly Brit : a short document that describes your education, work experience, etc. : RÉSUMÉ — called also CV, (US) vita ♦ In U.S. English, a person who is applying for a job as a scientist, doctor, or professor at a college or university is asked to submit a curriculum vitae. For other jobs, the usual word in U.S. English is résumé.

curried adj, always used before a noun : cooked with curry powder • curried chicken

¹cur·ry /'kəri/ noun, pl -ries

1 : a food, dish, or sauce in Indian cooking that is seasoned with a mixture of spices [noncount] We had chicken curry for dinner. [count] a delicious lamb curry — often used before another noun • curry sauce/paste

2 [noncount] : CURRY POWDER • The recipe calls for a tablespoon of curry.

²curry verb -ries; -ried; -ry·ing

curry favor disapproving : to try to get the support or approval of a person or group in order to get some advantage for yourself — often + with • He is trying to curry favor with the voters by promising a tax cut if he's elected.

curry powder noun [noncount] : a mixture of spices that are used in Indian cooking to give a hot flavor to food

¹curse /'kəs/ noun, pl cur·ses

1 [count] : an offensive word that people say when they are angry : SWEARWORD • I heard him utter a curse before the microphone was shut off.

2 [count] : magical words that are said to cause trouble or bad luck for someone or the condition that results when such words are said • The witch pronounced a curse in some strange language. • People believe that someone put a curse on the house. • There is a curse on that old house. = That old house is under a curse.

3 [count] : a cause of trouble or bad luck • His fame turned out to be a curse, not a blessing.

4 the curse old-fashioned + informal : MENSTRUATION

²curse verb cur·ses; cursed; curs·ing

1 a [no obj] : to use offensive words when you speak • He always starts cursing [=swearing] when he gets drunk. b [+ obj] : to say offensive words to (someone) • She angrily cursed him [=swore at him] as he turned and walked away. c [+ obj] : to say or think bad things about (someone or something) • He cursed himself for being so careless. • She cursed her bad luck.

2 [+ obj] : to say words that are believed to have a magical power to cause trouble or bad luck for (someone or something) : to put a curse on (someone or something) • In the book the evil witch curses the villagers.

curse out [phrasal verb] curse (someone) out US, informal : to say angry and offensive words to (someone) • My boss cursed me out.

cursed /'kəsəd before nouns, 'kəst elsewhere/ adj

1 : affected by a curse that causes bad things to happen • Some people think the old house is cursed.

2 : affected by something bad • The team has been cursed [=plagued] by injuries all year. • a people cursed with famine

3 always used before a noun, informal + old-fashioned : annoying or unpleasant • His cursed stupidity got him in trouble again. • I can't get this cursed radio to work.

cur·sive /'kəsiv/ noun [noncount] : a type of handwriting in which all the letters in a word are connected to each other • He writes in cursive when he takes notes.

— cursive adj • cursive handwriting

cur·sor /'kəsə/ noun, pl -sors [count] : a mark on a computer screen that shows the place where information is being entered or read — see picture at COMPUTER

cur·so·ry /'kəsəri/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + often disapproving : done or made quickly • Only a cursory inspection of the building's electrical wiring was done. • The mayor gave a cursory glance at the report. • Even the most cursory look at the organization's records shows problems.

— cur·so·ri·ly /'kəsələri/ adv • The battle is only mentioned cursorily in the book.

curt /'kæt/ adj curter; -est [also more ~; most ~] : said or done in a quick and impolite way • He gave only a curt reply to the question. • a curt refusal • a curt nod

— curt·ly adv • He curtly dismissed the question. — curt·ness noun [noncount] • I was offended by his curtness.

cur-tail /kə'teɪl/ verb -tails; -tailed; -tail-ing [+ obj] formal
: to reduce or limit (something) • The new laws are an effort to curtail illegal drug use. • We have to severely/drastically curtail [=cut back] our expenses. • School activities are being curtailed due to a lack of funds.
— cur-tail-ment /kə'teɪlmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count, noncount]

1 cur-tain /'kætɪn/ noun, pl -tains

1 [count] : a piece of cloth that hangs down from above a window and can be used to cover the window • She opened/closed the curtains. • She drew/pulled the curtains (open/closed). — see picture at WINDOW
2 [count] : a piece of cloth or other material that is hung to protect or hide something • a shower curtain • Curtains separated the hospital beds. — see also IRON CURTAIN
3 a [count] : a very large piece of cloth that hangs at the front of a stage and that is raised when a performance begins and lowered when a performance ends • When the curtain rises after intermission, the set is bare and the main character finds himself alone. • As the curtain falls for the last time, we see a young woman holding a dying man in her arms. — often used figuratively • The curtain came down on his film career [=his film career ended] after a lifetime in show business. • His injury brought down the curtain on his remarkable career. = His injury brought the curtain down on his remarkable career. [=his injury ended his career] — see picture at THEATER b [singular] : the time when a curtain is raised or lowered at the beginning or end of a performance • The audience applauded enthusiastically after the final curtain. [=after the curtain was lowered at the end of the performance] • Curtain times are 7:30 p.m. on Saturday and 2:00 p.m. on Sunday. [=the performance begins at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday and 2:00 p.m. on Sunday]
4 [count] : something that covers or hides something else — usually + of • A curtain of smoke hung at the edge of the forest. • It was hard to see their faces through the curtain of darkness.

be curtains for informal : to be the end, failure, or death of (someone or something) • It looks like it's curtains for the mayor after this election. [=the mayor will not be elected again] • If they don't win today's game, it'll be/mean/spell curtains for their hopes of winning the championship. [=their hopes will be ended]

2 curtain verb -tains; -tained; -tain-ing

curtain off [phrasal verb] curtain (something) off or curtain off (something) : to separate or cover (something) by using a curtain • The booth was curtained off on three sides. • The back of the room was curtained off for privacy.

cur-tained adj, always used before a noun : decorated or covered with curtains • curtained windows • a curtained booth curtain call noun, pl ~ calls [count] : the time when a performer returns to the stage at the end of a performance in response to the applause of the audience • The singer came back for one more curtain call.

cur-tain-rai-ser /'kætɪn,reizə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a short performance or event that comes before the main performance or event • The magic act was just a curtain-raiser for the circus performers.

curt-sy also curt-sey /'kætsi/ noun, pl curt-sies also curt-seys [count] : a formal way of greeting an important person (such as a king or queen) in which a woman shows respect by placing one foot slightly behind the other and bending her knees

— curtsy also curtsey verb curtsies also curtseys; curt-sied also curt-seyed; curt-sy-ing also curt-sey-ing [no obj] • She curtsied before the queen.

cur-va-ceous /kə'veɪʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] of a woman : having an attractively curved body • a curvaceous young actress • a curvaceous figure cur-va-ture /'kəvətʃə/ noun

1 technical : the amount that something is curved [count] The lenses have different curvatures. — often + of • the curvature of the earth [noncount] The machine measures the eyeball's degree of curvature.
2 [noncount] medical : a condition in which your spine is curved in an abnormal way • a disease that can cause curvature of the spine

1 curve /'kəv/ noun, pl curves [count]

1 : a smooth, rounded line, shape, path, etc. • The dog's tail has a slight curve. • There is a sharp/gentle curve coming up in the road.

2 technical : a curved line on a graph that shows how something changes or is affected by one or more conditions • the price curve in relation to inflation • the population growth curve — see also LEARNING CURVE

3 : a curving line or shape of the human body and especially of a woman's body — usually plural • The dress follows the curves of the body. • voluptuous curves

4 baseball : CURVEBALL • The pitcher threw him a curve. — often used figuratively • Life has thrown him some curves [=thrown him some curveballs] over the years but he's never given up. [=he has had some difficult and unexpected problems in his life] • The reporter threw the actress a curve [=surprised her with a difficult and unexpected question] when he asked about her past drug use.

ahead of the curve chiefly US, approving : faster about doing something than other people, companies, etc. • The company has been ahead of the curve in adopting new technologies. [=has adopted new technologies faster than other companies]

behind the curve chiefly US, disapproving : slower about doing something than other people, companies, etc. • We are behind the curve when it comes to advances in medicine. [=we have not been keeping up with the latest advances as well as others]

2 curve verb curves; curved; curv-ing

1 [no obj] : to form a curve : to turn or change from a straight line, shape, or path to a smooth, rounded one • The tail curves over the dog's back. • The road curves to the left. • The fence curves in toward the side of the house. • The railing curves out near the observation platform. • a curving path

2 [+ obj] : to cause (something) to form a curve • He curved [=bent] the wire slightly.

curve-ball /'kəv,bɔ:l/ noun, pl -balls [count] baseball : a pitch that is thrown with spin so that the ball curves in the air • The batter struck out on a curveball. — often used figuratively • Life has thrown him a few curveballs in recent years. [=he has had some difficult and unexpected problems in his life] — called also curve curved adj [more ~; most ~] : having a rounded shape • a curved wall/blade • curved handlebars • The animal's horns are slightly curved.

curvy /'kævi/ adj curv-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] : having many curves • a curvy road • curvy lines

1 cushion /'kʊʃən/ noun, pl -ions [count]

1 : a soft object or part that is used to make something (such as a seat) more comfortable or to protect a surface from damage : a soft pillow, pad, etc. • a seat/sofa cushion • There is a cushion under the rug to protect the floor. • a cushion of air [=a layer of air that provides support or protection to something] — see picture at LIVING ROOM

2 : any one of the rubber parts that the ball bounces off along the inner edges of a billiard table

3 : something (such as an extra amount of money) that you can use to reduce the bad effect of something (such as an unexpected problem or expense) • We didn't have a financial cushion when my husband lost his job. — often + against • We use our savings as a cushion against major expenses.

4 : a lead in a game or competition that is large enough to allow the leader to feel confident about winning — usually singular • The team enjoyed a 6–0 cushion in the last inning.

2 cushion verb -ions; -ioned; -ion-ing [+ obj] : to make (something, such as a fall or collision) less severe or painful : to soften or reduce the bad effect of (something) • The pile of leaves helped cushion his fall. • The tires help cushion the ride. [=help make the ride smoother] • The tax cut is meant to cushion the blow/impact of soaring gas prices. — often + against or from • The helmet cushions the head against violent collisions. • The tax cut should cushion the economy from the effect of soaring gas prices.
— cushioned adj • a cushioned seat/chair

cu-shion-ing /'kʊʃənɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : soft material that is used for comfort or protection • The padded insert in the sneaker provides extra cushioning.

cushy /'kʊʃi/ adj cush-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal : very easy and pleasant : involving little difficulty or effort • His uncle got him a cushy job in the city government.

cusp /'kʌsp/ noun, pl cusps [count] technical : a pointed end or part where two curves meet • the cusp of a tooth on the cusp : at the point when something is about to change to something else • She is on the cusp [=on the verge] of being a star. • on the cusp between childhood and adolescence • I was born on the cusp between Leo and Virgo.

cus·pi·dor /ˈkʌspəˌdɔr/ noun, pl -dors [count] chiefly US
: SPITTOON

cuss /ˈkʌs/ verb cuss·es; cussed; cuss·ing [no obj] US, informal : to use offensive words when you speak : CURSE • She started to yell and cuss as soon as she saw him.

cuss out [phrasal verb] cuss (someone) out or cuss out (someone) US, informal : to say angry and offensive words to (someone) • He cussed me out for crashing his pickup truck. • We got cussed out [=cursed out] by the boss for missing the deadline.

cuss·word /ˈkʌsˌwɜd/ noun, pl -words [count] US, informal : an offensive word that people say when they are angry : CURSE, SWEARWORD cus·tard /ˈkʌstəd/ noun, pl -tards [count, noncount] : a type of sweet food that is made with eggs and milk

– cus·tardy /ˈkʌstədi/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a custardy dessert/filling cus·to·di·al /ˌkʌˈstɒdijəl/ adj, always used before a noun

1 law : having the responsibility for taking care of a child : having custody of a child • Her mother is the custodial parent.

2 US : relating to the care of a building, equipment, or land • custodial duties

3 Brit, law : involving punishment that requires a criminal to spend time in a prison • a custodial sentence

cus·to·di·an /ˌkʌˈstɒdijən/ noun, pl -ans [count]

1 formal : someone who keeps and protects something valuable for another person — often + of • The court appointed him custodian of the dead author's manuscripts. — often used figuratively • The museums are custodians of culture.

2 US : a person who cleans and takes care of a building : JANITOR • a school custodian

cus·to·dy /ˈkʌstədi/ noun [noncount]

1 law : the legal right to take care of a child (such as a child whose parents are divorced) • She has sole custody of her daughter. • The judge granted/awarded custody to the grandparents. • The parents have joint custody. [=both parents have custody] • a bitter custody battle [=a legal fight between divorced parents about who will take care of a child]

2 : the state of being kept in a prison or jail — used after in or into • Several suspects in the killing are in custody. • He was taken into (police) custody last night and will be charged with murder today. • The witness is in protective custody. [=is being kept in a safe place by the police]

3 formal : the act of protecting or taking care of something • The bank provides safe custody for valuables. — often + of • The artist's paintings are in the custody of the museum.

¹cus·tom /ˈkʌstəm/ noun, pl -toms

1 : an action or way of behaving that is usual and traditional among the people in a particular group or place [count] tribal/local/family/ancient customs • social customs • an English/Indian custom • It is the custom for the bride to wear a white dress on her wedding day. [noncount] According to custom, the festivities begin at dusk. • It's a matter of custom.

2 [singular] : something that is done regularly by a person • She had breakfast in bed, as was her custom. [=habit]

3 customs [plural] a : taxes or fees that are paid to the government when goods come into or go out of a country — often used before another noun • customs duties b : the place at an airport, border, etc., where government officers collect customs on goods and look for things that people are trying to bring into a country illegally • We went through customs at the airport without any difficulty. • It took us a long time to clear customs at the border. — often used before another noun • a customs agent/officer/inspector

4 [noncount] Brit, formal : the practice of regularly going to the same shop or business to buy things or services • As new shops have opened people have been taking their custom [=business] elsewhere.

²custom adj, always used before a noun, chiefly US

1 : made to fit the needs or requirements of a particular person • custom furniture • The new kitchen will have custom cabinets. • custom designs • custom [=custom-made] clothes • a custom [=custom-built] home/motorcycle

2 : doing work that fits the needs or requirements of a particular person • a custom tailor • a custom furniture shop

cus·tom·ary /ˈkʌstəˌmeri, Brit ˈkʌstəmri/ adj

1 : usually done in a particular situation or at a particular place or time • He forgot the customary “thank you.” • It is customary to hold the door open for someone who is entering a building behind you.

2 always used before a noun : usual or typical of a particular person • She dressed in her customary fashion. • He did the work with his customary efficiency.

– cus·tom·ar·i·ly /ˌkʌstəˈmerəli, Brit ˈkʌstəmreli/ adv • Customarily, people wear black to funerals. • Our families customarily get together for a camping trip each summer.

cus·tom·built /ˈkʌstəmˈbɪlt/ adj : built to fit the needs or requirements of a particular person • a custom-built home • The car is custom-built.

cus·tom·er /ˈkʌstəmər/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : someone who buys goods or services from a business. She is one of our best/regular customers. • Remember, the customer is always right. [=never argue with a customer] — often used before another noun • The company has good/poor customer service. • customer satisfaction

2 informal : a person who has a particular quality • He is one tough/tricky customer. [=he is a tough/tricky person] • She's a pretty cool customer.

cus·tom·ize also Brit cus·tom·ise /ˈkʌstəˌmaɪz/ verb -izes; -ized; -iz·ing [+ obj] : to change (something) in order to fit the needs or requirements of a person, business, etc. • The telephone company has offered to customize a plan for our business. • The program can be customized to serve different purposes.

– cus·tom·iz·able also Brit cus·tom·is·able /ˌkʌstəˈmaɪzəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a customizable van • customizable software – customized adj • a customized van

– cus·tom·i·za·tion also Brit cus·tom·i·sa·tion /ˌkʌstəməˈzeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • software customization

cus·tom·made /ˈkʌstəmˈmeɪd/ adj : made to fit the needs or requirements of a particular person • All his clothes are custom-made. • custom-made curtains/furniture

¹cut /kʌt/ verb cuts; cut; cut·ting

1 a : to use a sharp tool (such as a knife) to open or divide (something, such as paper or wood) [+ obj] Cut the paper along/on the dotted line (with a pair of scissors). • cutting a piece of string • He uses the ax to cut wood. • The meat is so tender you can cut it with a fork. — sometimes used figuratively • The excitement/tension in the room was so thick you could cut it with a knife. [=there was a lot of excitement/tension in the room] [no obj] Cut along/on the dotted line. • The saw easily cuts through metal. • She cut into the melon with a knife.

b [+ obj] : to make a hole or wound in (a person's skin) • I cut myself while shaving. • I cut my finger on a sharp piece of metal. = A sharp piece of metal cut me (on the finger). • I had a cut finger. • We were fighting, and he tried to cut me with his knife. • Pieces of broken glass cut her face and arms. • He fell and cut his head open on a sharp rock.

c [+ obj] : to make (a hole) in something by using a sharp tool • They cut a hole in the wall for the new window. • Doctors begin by cutting a small incision in the chest. • Cut several slits in the top of the crust to allow air to escape. d [+ obj] : to divide or separate parts of (something) by using a sharp tool • It's time to cut [=slice] the cake! • I'll cut the apple in half so you both can have some. • Would you cut me a slice of bread? = Would you cut a slice of bread for me? — often + into • Add one large onion that has been cut into one-inch pieces. • The chicken is cut into long strips and served on top of the salad. — often + from • Her walls were covered with pictures cut from magazines. • a piece of meat that is cut from the hind end of the animal — often + off • She was cutting off pieces of watermelon and giving them to the children.

2 [no obj] a : to be able to cut something • This knife doesn't cut well. b : to be able to be cut • Aluminum foil cuts easily with scissors.

3 [+ obj] : to make (hair, grass, etc.) shorter by using a sharp tool (such as scissors) • I cut my hair short for the summer. • Where'd you get your hair cut? • I need to cut [=trim] my nails; they're way too long. • She keeps her nails cut short. • The grass in our yard needs to be cut. [=mowed] • the smell of fresh-cut grass • The wood is already cut to size/length. [=it has already been cut so that it is the proper size/length]

4 [+ obj] a : to give (hair or clothing) a certain style by cutting it — usually used as (be) cut • Her hair is light brown and cut in a short bob. • She was wearing a dress that was cut low at the neck. [=she was wearing a low-cut dress] b : to give (something) a new shape by using a sharp tool • a beautifully cut diamond

5 [+ obj] : to make or form (something) by cutting or removing material • We all cut [=carved] our names on/into the tree. • The stream cuts a path through the woods. • builders cutting new roads in the forest — often + out • At the center of the table was a statue cut out of ice.

6 [+ obj] : to make the amount of (something) smaller : REDUCE • Our benefits were recently cut at work. • The drug has been shown to cut the risk of heart attack by half. • In just three years, the mayor has cut the city's crime in half. • The President has promised to cut government spending. • Cutting taxes can have positive and negative effects on the economy. • measures that are designed to cut costs = cost-cutting measures • The company's expenses had been cut to the bone [=reduced to their lowest possible amount] — often + off • This route can cut as much as five minutes off your driving time. • The experience cut 20 years off (of) his life. [=shortened his life by 20 years] • We've cut 20 percent off the regular retail price.

7 [+ obj] a : to make (a book, film, etc.) shorter by removing parts • His article was cut [=shortened] by about 500 words. • The movie had to be cut because it was too long. b : to remove (something) from a book, film, etc. • The movie's director decided to cut [=cut out, omit] my part. — often + from • The director cut the scene from the final version of the film. • They decided to cut her report from the newscast. • About 500 words were cut from his article.

8 [+ obj] : to remove (something) from a computer document in a way that allows you to move it to another part of the document or to another document • After you select the text with your mouse, you can cut it and then paste it at the beginning of the paragraph. • You can cut and paste the picture into your file. — see also CUT-AND-PASTE

9 [+ obj] : to remove (a plant or part of a plant) by cutting it • It's illegal to cut [=cut down] trees in this forest. • We'll start cutting and harvesting the wheat next week. ♦ A cut flower is a flower that has been cut off the plant that it grew on. • He brought her a bouquet of cut flowers.

10 [+ obj] : to cause (something) to no longer be connected • The enemy has cut [=severed] our supply lines. • He wanted to cut all ties with his past and start a new life.

11 [+ obj] : to allow (someone or something) to be free, loose, etc., by cutting something that stops movement • They were trapped inside the crushed car and had to be cut free. = They had to be cut from the car. • The boat was cut loose from the pier and allowed to drift away. — see also cut loose at ²LOOSE

12 [+ obj] : to remove (someone) from a team, organization, etc. • I was on the team for two weeks before I got cut. — often + from • The coach cut two players from the team. • The band was cut from the show at the last minute.

13 : to divide (a pack of cards) into two piles [+ obj] You cut the deck and I'll deal. [no obj] You cut and I'll deal.

14 [+ obj] : to divide (an area of land) into two parts • The river cuts the city in half. • The mountain ridges are cut by deep valleys.

15 [no obj] : to move or go across or through something • Let's take a shortcut and cut across this field. • We cut through the park on our way home. • The boundary line between the two countries cuts directly through the group's traditional homeland. — often used figuratively to describe something that is not limited in the usual way • National security is an issue that cuts across party lines. [=an issue that is important to both political parties] • Child abuse cuts across all economic and racial lines/boundaries. [=it occurs in all economic and racial groups] • Her academic interests cut across [=involve or relate to] many disciplines.

16 [no obj] a : to move quickly • a fast ship cutting through the waves b : to move suddenly in a different direction • The driver cut across three lanes of traffic to get to his exit and nearly caused an accident. • (American football) The runner cut to his left to avoid being tackled.

17 [no obj] : to move in front of other people in a line • That guy cut to the head of the line. • She cut in front of us. = She cut ahead of us. — often + in • Our friends let us cut in in front of them. • Celebrities are allowed to cut in line at popular restaurants. • Hey, no cutting (in line)!

18 [+ obj] chiefly US : to not go to (school or a class) when you should go to it • We used to cut [=skip] school together and hang out at the beach. • She would take notes for me when I cut class.

19 [+ obj] informal : to record (a song, album, etc.) • She's in the studio cutting a new track/song for her next album. • Elvis Presley cut his first record in 1954.

20 [no obj] : to suddenly move from one image or scene to another in a movie, television program, etc. • The movie cuts quickly from one scene to the next. • The camera cut back to the actor's face. • To explain the present situation, the film cuts back to the hero's childhood. — often + away • They quickly cut away to the announcer when he appeared on stage.

21 [no obj] : to stop filming a scene in a movie or television show — usually used as a command • "Cut!" yelled the director.

22 [+ obj] : to stop saying or doing (foolish or annoying things) — usually used in phrases like cut the nonsense and (less politely) cut the crap • Let's cut the nonsense and get down to business. • Cut the crap, Jen! I know you're lying.

23 [+ obj] : to stop (a motor) by moving a switch • We cut the engine and drifted into shore. • I parked and cut the ignition. — often + off • The pilot cut off the engine after the plane had come to a stop.

24 [no obj] : to go to or deal with something in a very direct way — usually + to • Her question cut to the heart of the issue. • This research cuts to the very core of who we are as human beings. • Let me cut to the real reason why I'm here.

25 : to cause painful feelings or emotions [no obj] His words cut deeply. • The disappointment cut like a knife. [+ obj] His harsh words cut me very deeply. • She was cut to the quick [=she was very badly hurt] by their insults.

26 [+ obj] a US : to make (alcohol) less strong by adding water or another liquid • They cut [=diluted] the wine with water. b : to make (a drug, such as heroin) less strong by mixing it with another substance • The substance is used to cut cocaine.

27 [+ obj] : to cause (dirt, grease, etc.) to break apart and be removed • soap that cuts grease and grime cut a check US : to write a check and give it to someone • The company cut him a check and he cashed it.

cut a dash see ²DASH

cut a deal : to make an agreement usually about business : to make a deal • The band cut a deal with a recording company.

cut a figure ♦ If you cut a fine/dashing/heroic (etc.) figure, you look very good and impressive. • He cut a fine figure in his officer's uniform.

cut and run : to leave quickly in order to avoid danger or trouble • You can't just cut and run when your friends are in trouble.

cut a rug old-fashioned slang : to dance in an energetic way • He's not young anymore, but he can still cut a rug on the dance floor.

cut a tooth of a baby : to have a tooth begin to come through the gums • Their baby daughter cut her first tooth yesterday.

cut away [phrasal verb] cut away (something) or cut (something) away : to remove (something that is not needed) by cutting • They cut away [=cut off] a few of the tree's lower branches. — see also ¹CUT 20 (above), CUTAWAY cut back [phrasal verb] 1 : to use less or do less of something • We've been spending too much money and we need to cut back [=we need to spend less money] — often + on • I've been trying to cut back on smoking. • He's cut back on the time he spends in front of the TV. 2 cut (something) back or cut back (something) a : to make (a plant) smaller or shorter by cutting its branches • Cut back [=prune] the shrub in the late fall. b : to reduce the size or amount of (something) • We ran out of time and had to cut back our plans. • They've cut back my hours at work. — see also CUTBACK cut both ways : to have both good and bad results, effects, etc. • He knows that his extreme competitiveness cuts both ways. • These changes in the economy cut both ways.

cut corners see ¹CORNER

cut down [phrasal verb] 1 : to use less or do less of something • I haven't been able to quit smoking completely, but at least I've cut down. [=cut back] — often + on • I've had to cut down on [=reduce, cut back on] the amount of money I spend on clothes. • She suggested he cut down on his drinking. • a building material that helps cut down on noise 2 cut (something) down or cut down (something) a : to remove (a tree or bush) by cutting through its trunk or base • Most of the tree was dead, so we had to cut it down. • Much of the forest has been cut down for firewood. b : to reduce the size or amount of (something) • We used a shortcut that cut down our traveling time by 15 minutes. • The machine significantly cuts down the amount of work necessary to harvest crops. 3 cut (someone) down or cut down (someone) : to kill or wound (someone) • She was cut down by a stray bullet. • The composer Schubert was cut down in his prime by illness. [=he died because of illness when he was in his prime] cut from the same cloth see CLOTH cut ice see ¹ICE

cut in [phrasal verb] 1 : to join a conversation suddenly : INTERRUPT • We were trying to have a conversation, but she kept cutting in. • “What are you guys talking about?” he cut in. — often + on • He’s always cutting in on our conversations. 2 : to stop two people who are dancing and take the place of one of them • He went up to the dancing couple and said, “May I cut in?” 3 of a machine : to begin to work • Once the heater cuts in [=kicks in], it’ll be a lot more comfortable in here. 4 cut (someone) in : to include (someone) in a group of people who are receiving money or other benefits • They’ll help you start your business provided that you cut them in when you start making a profit. — often + on • They want you to cut them in on [=to give them some of] the profits. 5 cut (something) in or cut in (something) : to add (something, such as butter) to dry ingredients (such as flour) by making cutting motions with a knife or other sharp tool • After sifting the flour into a mixing bowl, use two knives to cut in the butter. — see also ¹CUT 17 (above) cut into [phrasal verb] cut into (something) : to reduce the amount of (something) • Although it would cut into profits, we were forced to lower our prices. • The extra time I was spending at work was cutting into my time with my family.

cut it informal 1 : to be able to do something well enough — usually used in negative statements • After two weeks at the new job, he decided that he just couldn’t cut it. [=that he couldn’t do the job well enough to succeed] • They didn’t think that I would cut it as an actress. • Everyone’s using bold colors to decorate their homes. Plain white walls just don’t cut it anymore. [=plain white walls are not acceptable anymore] 2 ✧ People use the informal phrase any way you cut it to say that something is true no matter how you look at it or think about it. • Any way you cut it, it was a pretty good year for our company. • She’s one of the world’s best tennis players any way you cut it.

cut it close (chiefly US) or chiefly Brit cut it fine : to almost not be able to do something : to almost fail, lose, etc. • They ended up winning the game, but they really cut it close [=they almost lost the game] at the end • It’s cutting it a bit fine to get to the station at 9:45 when the train leaves at 9:50!

cut off [phrasal verb] 1 of a machine : to stop working suddenly : to turn off • The engine suddenly cut off. [=cut out] • The air-conditioning cut off, and the room was silent. 2 cut (something) off or cut off (something) a : to remove (something) by cutting • Cut off dead flowers to promote new growth. • I had very long hair, but I cut most of it off in college. • He decided to cut off his beard. • He was running around like a chicken with its head cut off. [=he was acting in a very excited and confused way] b : to stop or end (something) • They had a vote to cut off debate on the budget. • The organization cut off its ties with the country’s government. • His family cut off all communication/contact with him after the incident. c : to stop people from seeing or using (something) : to block (something) • Their fence cuts off our view of the ocean. • Many of the town’s roads were cut off when the river overflowed. • The army cut off all escape routes. d : to stop the movement or supply of (something) • The power was cut off to our apartment building. • The earthquake cut off our water supply. • They’ve decided to cut off funding/aid to the group. • His main source of income had been cut off. 3 cut (someone or something) off or cut off (someone or something) : to cause (someone or something) to be separate or alone — often + from • an island nation geographically cut off from the rest of the world • They are cut off from (contact with) the outside world. • She cut herself off from her family. • He’s emotionally cut off from his wife. 4 cut (someone) off or cut off (someone) a : to stop (someone) from talking • I was in the middle of telling a story when she cut me off [=she interrupted me] to ask about dinner. • He spoke for 12 minutes until his teacher finally cut him off. ✧ If you get cut off when you are using the telephone, the telephone connection suddenly ends and you can no longer hear the other person. • I called him, but we got cut off [=we got disconnected; the telephone connection ended] two minutes into our conversation. b US : to drive in front of (someone in another vehicle) in a sudden and dangerous way • He shouted at a driver who cut him off. • Hey, that guy/car just cut me off! c : to move ahead and force (someone) to stop • “Sheriff, they’re getting away!” “Don’t worry, we’ll take a shortcut and cut them off.” d : to decide not to give money or property to (someone) after your death • In her will, she cut off her son without a cent/penny. • She cut him off completely. e : to refuse to allow (someone) to drink more alcohol • He’s had too much to drink. We’d better cut him off. — see also ¹CUT 1d, 6 (above), CUTOFF

cut off your nose to spite your face see ¹NOSE

cut out [phrasal verb] 1 of a machine : to stop working suddenly • The plane’s engines suddenly cut out. [=cut off] 2 chiefly US : to leave quickly and suddenly • We were in a hurry to get home, so we cut out before the performance ended. 3 chiefly US : to move out of a line of traffic • The other car/driver cut out from behind and sped ahead of us. 4 cut (something) out or cut out (something) a : to form (something) by cutting with a sharp tool • He got a piece of red paper and cut out a big heart. = He cut a big heart out of a piece of red paper. — sometimes used figuratively • She cut out [=carved out] a place for herself in history. [=she caused herself to be important in history] — see also ¹CUT 5 (above), CUTOFF b : to remove (something) by cutting • I cut out the recipe from a magazine. • cutting out newspaper articles • Doctors cut out the lump from her chest. c : to remove (something) from something • Fortunately, they cut [=took] that scene out of the movie. • He cut out sugar from his diet and began eating more fruits and vegetables. • I focused on my work and cut out everything else in my life. d : to stop doing (something) • I’ve cut down on the number of cigarettes I smoke, but I’d like to cut out [=give up] smoking altogether. • I told you to cut that out! [=I told you to stop that] • That’s enough, kids. I mean it! Cut it out! e ✧ If your legs, feet, or knees are cut out from under you, you are knocked down by something that hits your legs very hard. This phrase is often used figuratively. • When I learned that I was seriously ill, I felt like my feet were cut out from under me. • The financial legs had been cut out from under the program. [=the program lost money and could not do what it needed to do] 5 cut (someone) out or cut out (someone) : to cause (someone) to no longer be included in something • She cut all of her children out of her will and left everything to her grandchildren. • Don’t cut me out of your life completely! • We can save money by cutting out the middleman and ordering our supplies directly from the manufacturer. 6 ✧ If you are cut out for (something) or cut out to do/be (something), you are naturally able or suited to do or be something. • Why do you think that you’re cut out for this job? [=why would you be good at this job?] • I’m really not cut out for this kind of work. [=I’m not naturally good at it] • He’s not cut out to be a teacher. = He’s not cut out to teach. — see also have your work cut out for you at ²WORK

cut short see ²SHORT

cut (someone) dead : to pretend not to see (someone you know) : to deliberately ignore (someone) • When I saw her on the street yesterday, she cut me dead.

cut (someone) some slack see ²SLACK cut the Gordian knot see GORDIAN KNOT

cut the mustard see MUSTARD cut through [phrasal verb] cut through (something) : to get through or past (something that blocks you or slows you down) quickly and directly • We were able to start the project once she told us how to cut through the red tape. • It took some time to cut through the lies and get to the truth. • cutting through all the nonsense — often + to • cutting through to the heart/essence of the problem — see also ¹CUT 15 (above)

cut to the chase see ¹CHASE

cut up [phrasal verb] 1 US, informal : to behave in a silly or rude way • I was sent to the principal’s office for cutting up [=clowning around] in class. — see also CUTUP 2 cut (something) up or cut up (something) : to cut (something) into parts or pieces • He cut up the candy into little pieces and gave it to the child. — often + into • The area was cut up [=divided] into three separate farms. • They cut up the wood into small pieces. • We made sandwiches and cut them up into triangles. 3 cut (someone or something) up or cut up (someone or something) a : to hurt or damage (someone or something) by cutting • He got cut up pretty badly in the fight. • His face and arms were all cut up. b informal : to criticize (someone or something) in a harsh way • The critics really cut up his last play. c ✧ In informal British English, to be cut up about something is to be very sad or upset about something. • I was pretty cut up about the way the critics treated my last play. • She's really cut up about losing her job.

cut up rough Brit, informal : to behave in an angry or violent way • He got drunk and started to cut up rough.

cut your losses see LOSS

cut your own throat see THROAT

cut your teeth — used to describe the things that people do when they are starting their careers • He cut his teeth performing at local bars and nightclubs. • She cut her political teeth [=she began her political career] as a volunteer during the 1992 presidential elections. — often + on • Many television and movie stars cut their teeth on soap operas.

fish or cut bait see ²FISH

²cut noun, pl cuts [count]

1 a : an opening or hole made with a sharp tool (such as a knife) • Make a few small cuts in the crust to let the air escape. • a two-inch cut in the cloth b : a wound on a person's body that is made by something sharp • She had a small cut [=gash] above her left eye. • He came home covered in cuts and bruises. • a deep/superficial cut

2 : an act of making something smaller in amount : REDUCTION • Further cuts in spending are needed. • He had to accept a cut in pay. = He had to accept a pay cut. • a tax cut

3 : the act of removing something from a book, movie, etc. • You'll have to make a few cuts in your manuscript if you want us to publish it.

4 : a version of a movie at a particular stage of being edited • Fortunately, that scene didn't make the film's final cut. [=that scene did not appear in the final version of the film] • I saw a rough cut [=a version that is not yet finished] of the movie. • a director's cut [=a special version of a movie that is created by the director and that usually includes scenes that are not included in other versions]

5 : a song on a record, tape, or CD • We listened to the same cut [=track] over and over.

6 : the shape and style of a piece of clothing • the cut of his pants

7 : the act or result of cutting someone's hair : HAIRCUT • I had a shampoo and a cut. — see also BUZZ CUT, CREW CUT

8 : a piece of meat that is cut from a particular part of an animal's body • a thick/tender/expensive cut of meat

9 : a part of something that is divided and shared among people — usually singular • We each got a cut [=share] of the profits. — see also a cut of the action at ACTION

10 : the act of reducing the size of a group (such as a group of competitors) by removing the ones that are not good enough or that have not done well enough — usually used with make or miss • He has to birdie the last hole in order to make the cut. [=in order to have a score that is low enough to be among the players allowed to continue playing] • If he doesn't birdie this hole, he'll miss the cut. • Only the best players are good enough to make the cut when the team is being chosen.

a cut above : better than other people or things • All of his books are good, but this one is a cut above (the rest). • She's a cut above the other competitors and should win easily.

cut and thrust chiefly Brit : the lively and exciting quality of an activity in which people compete or argue with each other • He has always enjoyed the cut and thrust of politics.

cut-and-dried /ˌkʌtənˈdraɪd/ also US cut-and-dry /ˌkʌtənˈdraɪ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having a clear and definite quality that does not allow doubt or that cannot be changed • The situation wasn't as cut-and-dried as we had thought. • a cut-and-dried example • a cut-and-dried decision cut-and-paste /ˌkʌtənˈpeɪst/ adj, always used before a noun : made up of parts taken from many different sources • The book was an unprofessional cut-and-paste job.

cut-away /ˈkʌtəˌweɪ/ adj : having the top or outside removed so the inside parts can be seen • The diagram shows a cutaway view of an engine. — see also cut away at ¹CUT
— cutaway noun, pl -aways [count]

cut-back /ˈkʌtˌbæk/ noun, pl -backs [count] : the act of reducing the number or amount of something : REDUCTION — often + in • He is opposed to further cutbacks [=cuts] in military spending. — see also cut back at ¹CUT

cute /ˈkjuːt/ adj cut-er; cut-est

1 : having a pleasing and usually youthful appearance • What a cute [=adorable] little baby! • a cute [=pretty] pink dress • cute puppies • She's as cute as a button! [=she's very cute]

2 chiefly US, informal : attractive in a sexual way • Who's that cute [=hot, sexy] guy/girl you were with?

3 chiefly US, informal a : clever in an appealing way • a cute idea b : clever in a way that annoys people • Don't get cute [=smart, fresh] with me!

4 chiefly US, informal : trying too hard to be pleasant or likable • The movie's too cute [=cutesy] to be taken seriously.

— cute-ly adv • She was dressed cutely in a little pink outfit.

— cute-ness noun [noncount] • their annoying cuteness

cute-sy /ˈkjuːtsi/ adj cut-e-si-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal + disapproving : trying very hard or too hard to be appealing : too cute in an annoying way • cutesy cartoon characters • cutesy pop music cut glass noun [noncount] : glass with patterns cut into its surface for decoration — often used before another noun • a cut-glass vase

cu-ti-cle /ˈkjuːtɪkəl/ noun, pl -ti-cles [count] : the layer of dead or hard skin around the base of a fingernail or toenail cut-ie /ˈkjuːti/ noun, pl -ies [count] informal : an attractive person : a cute person • Her boyfriend's a real cutie.

cut-ie-pie /ˈkjuːtiˌpaɪ/ noun, pl -pies [count] US, informal : an attractive person : CUTIE — often used as an informal way of addressing a lover, a small child, etc. • Hey there, cutie-pie. [=honey, sweetie]

cut-lass /ˈkʌtləs/ noun, pl -lass-es [count] : a short, heavy sword with a curved blade that was used by sailors and pirates in the past

cut-lery /ˈkʌtləri/ noun [noncount]

1 US : sharp tools made of metal (such as knives and scissors) that are used for cutting things

2 : forks, spoons, and knives used for serving and eating food : SILVERWARE • plastic cutlery

cut-let /ˈkʌtlət/ noun, pl -lets [count] : a small, thin slice of meat • veal/chicken cutlets

2 chiefly Brit : chopped vegetables, nuts, etc., that are pressed together into a flat shape, covered with bread crumbs, and fried in oil • a nut cutlet • vegetable cutlets

cut-off /ˈkʌtˌɑːf/ noun, pl -offs

1 [count] : the act of stopping the movement or supply of something • a cutoff of the water supply

2 [count] : the time when something must be done or completed • The cutoff for new applications is next Wednesday.

3 cutoffs [plural] : short pants that are made from long pants by cutting off the legs at the knees or higher • a pair of cutoffs

— see also cut off at ¹CUT

— cutoff adj, always used before a noun • We are approaching the cutoff point of the negotiations but no agreement has been reached. • The cutoff date for new applications is next Wednesday. • She was wearing cutoff jeans/pants.

cut-out /ˈkʌtˌaʊt/ noun, pl -outs [count] : a shape or picture that is cut from a piece of paper, cardboard, etc. • a cardboard cutout of a famous actor — see also cut out at ¹CUT cut-price /ˈkʌtˌpraɪs/ adj, chiefly Brit : CUT-RATE • a cut-price ticket cut-rate /ˈkʌtˌreɪt/ adj, chiefly US

1 : selling goods or services at very low prices • cut-rate supermarkets • cut-rate airlines and hotels

2 of a price : very low • They sell wine at cut-rate prices.

cut-ter /ˈkʌtər/ noun, pl -ters [count]

1 : a person, machine, or tool that cuts something • a diamond cutter • a pizza cutter — sometimes plural • a pair of wire cutters — see also BOX CUTTER, COOKIE CUTTER

2 a : a boat on a ship that is used for carrying supplies or passengers to and from the shore b : a small sailing boat with one mast c : a small military ship • a Coast Guard cut-ter cut-throat /ˈkʌtˌθrout/ adj [more ~; most ~] — used to describe a situation in which people compete with each other in an unpleasant and often cruel and unfair way • cutthroat [=ruthless] competition • It's a cutthroat business we're in.

cut-throat razor noun, pl ~ -zors [count] Brit : STRAIGHT RAZOR

¹cut-ting /ˈkʌtɪŋ/ noun, pl -tings [count]

1 : a stem, leaf, or root that is cut from a plant and used to grow a new plant • Take some cuttings from the plant and put them in water.

2 Brit : CLIPPING 1 • She kept a collection of (press) cuttings about the war.

²cutting adj [more ~; most ~]

1 always used before a noun : used for cutting things • a cut-ting blade

2 a : unpleasantly cold • a raw cutting [=biting] wind b : causing great physical pain • a sharp, cutting [=piercing, stabbing] pain

3 : very harsh and critical : intended to hurt someone's feelings • He made a cutting remark about my family, and I haven't spoken to him since.

cutting board noun, pl ~ boards [count] US : a wooden or plastic board on which foods (such as meats and vegetables) are cut — called also (chiefly Brit) chopping board; see picture at KITCHEN; compare CHOPPING BLOCK cutting edge noun, pl ~ edges

1 [count] : the sharp edge of something that is used to cut things • the cutting edge of a knife

2 the cutting edge : the newest and most advanced area of activity in an art, science, etc. • He's a director who tries to keep his films right on the cutting edge. — often + of • The research we're doing now is at/on the cutting edge of medical technology. • the cutting edge of youth culture

— cutting-edge adj [more ~; most ~] • cutting-edge technology cutting room noun, pl ~ rooms [count] : a room where movies or television shows are edited and put into their final form — usually singular • He worked in the cutting room.

on the cutting-room floor : removed from a movie or television show • The scene ended up on the cutting-room floor. [=the scene ended up being removed] — often used figuratively • A lot of good ideas are rejected and end up on the cutting-room floor. [=end up not being used]

cut-up /'kʌt,ʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count] US, informal : a person who behaves in a silly way and tries to make other people laugh • In school he was always a/the cutup, telling jokes and acting silly. — see also cut up at ¹CUT

CV noun, pl CVs [count] : CURRICULUM VITAE

cwt abbr hundredweight

-cy /si/ noun suffix

1 : the state of having a particular quality • bankruptcy • normalcy • accuracy

2 : the action or practice of a particular type of person • canidacy • piracy • prophecy

3 : the state of having a particular role or rank • occupancy • captaincy cy-an /'saɪ,æn/ noun [noncount] technical : a greenish-blue color — see color picture on page C2 cy-a-nide /'saɪ,naɪd/ noun [noncount] : a very poisonous chemical cyber- /'saɪbə/ combining form : computer • cybercafé • cyberspace

cy-ber-ca-fé /'saɪbəkæ'feɪ, Brit 'saɪbəkæ'feɪ/ noun, pl -fés [count] : a café or coffee shop where customers can use computers to search the Internet

cy-ber-net-ics /,saɪbə'netɪks/ noun [noncount] : the scientific study of how people, animals, and machines control and communicate information

— cy-ber-net-ic /,saɪbə'netɪk/ adj • cybernetic theory

cy-ber-punk /'saɪbə,pʌŋk/ noun [noncount] : stories about future societies that are controlled by computer technology — often used before another noun • cyberpunk novels/authors

cy-ber-sex /'saɪbə,seks/ noun [noncount] : activity in which people become sexually excited by sending messages about sex to each other over the Internet cy-ber-space /'saɪbə,speɪs/ noun [noncount] : the online world of computer networks and the Internet • We send e-mails through cyberspace.

cy-borg /'saɪ,bɔːrg/ noun, pl -borgs [count] in stories : a person whose body contains mechanical or electrical devices and whose abilities are greater than the abilities of normal humans

cy-cla-men /'saɪkləmən, Brit 'sɪkləmən/ noun, pl cyclamen or cyclamens [count] : a plant that has flowers with large white, pink, or red petals that hang downward

¹cy-cle /'saɪkəl/ noun, pl cycles [count]

1 : a set of events or actions that happen again and again in the same order : a repeating series of events or actions • the female menstrual cycle • These plants have a 2-year growth cycle [=the plants live and die within two years] — often + of • the annual cycle of the seasons • the cycle of life and death • World leaders must do more to stop/break this cycle of violence. — see also LIFE CYCLE

2 : a set of regular and repeated actions that are done by a machine as part of a longer process • We have to wait for the dishwasher's wash and dry cycles to end. • the spin cycle on a washing machine

3 chiefly Brit : a bicycle or motorcycle • He rode his cycle into town. — often used before another noun • a cycle lane/path/route

4 : a group of poems, plays, songs, etc., that relate to the same subject and that together form a larger work • a cycle of 15 poems • a song cycle

²cycle verb cycles; cy-cled; cy-cling

1 US : to go through a repeated process or to cause (something) to go through a repeated process [+ obj] The water is cycled back into/through the system after it has been used. [no obj] The water cycles back into/through the system.

2 [no obj] : to ride a bicycle • He cycled [=biked, bicycled] across town to the library.

— cy-clist /'saɪkəlɪst/ noun, pl -clists [count] • a group of cyclists [=bicyclists]

cy-clic /'saɪklɪk, 'sɪklɪk/ or cy-cli-cal /'saɪklɪkəl, 'sɪklɪkəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : happening again and again in the same order : happening in cycles • cyclic changes in the weather • the cyclical nature of history

— cy-cli-cal-ly /'saɪklɪkli, 'sɪklɪkli/ adv • These events occur cyclically.

cycling noun [noncount] : the sport or activity of riding a bicycle • My doctor recommends aerobic activities such as running, cycling, [=biking, bicycling] and swimming. • He does a lot of cycling. • cycling shorts • The town is within easy cycling distance.

cy-clone /'saɪ,kloun/ noun, pl -clones [count]

1 : an extremely large, powerful, and destructive storm with very high winds that turn around an area of low pressure — compare ANTICYCLONE

2 chiefly US : TORNADO

— cy-clon-ic /saɪ'klɔːnɪk/ adj • cyclonic winds

Cy-clops /'saɪ,klɔːps/ noun [singular] : a giant man in stories told by the ancient Greeks who had a single eye in the middle of his forehead

cyg-net /'sɪgnət/ noun, pl -nets [count] : a young swan cyl-in-der /'sɪləndə/ noun, pl -ders [count]

1 : a shape that has straight sides and two circular ends — see picture at GEOMETRY

2 : something that is shaped like a cylinder: such as a : a tube in which a piston of an engine moves • a four-cylinder engine — see picture at ENGINE b : the part of a gun that turns and that holds the bullets • the cylinder of a revolver on all cylinders informal : with the greatest possible amount of effort, power, or speed : at full capacity or speed • The economy is running on all cylinders. • The team didn't seem to be firing/hitting on all cylinders

cy-lin-dri-cal /sə'lɪndrɪkəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : shaped like a cylinder • a cylindrical oil tank • a cylindrical tower

cym-bal /'sɪmbəl/ noun, pl -bals [count] : a musical instrument in the form of a slightly curved thin metal plate that is played by hitting it with a drumstick or with another cymbal and that makes a very loud metallic sound — see picture at PERCUSSION cyn-ic /'sɪnɪk/ noun, pl -ics [count] : a person who has negative opinions about other people and about the things people do • He's too much of a cynic to see the benefits of marriage.; especially : a person who believes that people are selfish and are only interested in helping themselves • A cynic might think that the governor visited the hospital just to gain votes. • Reporters who cover politics often become cynics.

cyn-i-cal /'sɪnɪkəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : believing that people are generally selfish and dishonest • Cynical people say there is no such thing as true love. • People are so cynical nowadays. • She's become more cynical in her old age. — often + about • He's cynical about marriage. • Many young people today are cynical about politics.

2 : selfish and dishonest in a way that shows no concern about treating other people fairly • Some people regard the governor's visit to the hospital as a cynical attempt to win votes. • We live in a cruel, cynical [=uncaring] world.

— cyn-i-cal-ly /'sɪnɪkli/ adv • The character talks cynically about love.

cyn-i-cism /'sɪnə,sɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : cynical beliefs : beliefs that people are generally selfish and dishonest • Nothing could change her cynicism about politics.

cy-no-sure /'saɪnə,ʃʊə/ noun, pl -suress [count] formal : a person or thing that attracts a lot of attention or interest • She was the cynosure of all eyes [=everyone was looking at her] as she walked into the room.

cypher chiefly Brit spelling of CIPHER
cy·press /ˈsaɪprəs/ noun, pl -press-es [count, noncount] : a tall and narrow evergreen tree cyst /ˈsɪst/ noun, pl cysts [count] medical : a growth filled with liquid that forms in or on your body • an ovarian cyst [=a cyst on a woman's ovary] cys·tic fi·bro·sis /ˈsɪstɪkfaɪˈbrɔʊsəs/ noun [noncount] medical : a very serious disease that usually appears in young children and that makes it hard to breathe and to digest food properly cys·ti·tis /sɪˈstaɪtəs/ noun [noncount] medical : infection of the bladder cy·tol·o·gy /saɪˈtɒlədʒi/ noun [noncount] biology : the study of plant and animal cells — cy·tol·o·gist /saɪˈtɒlədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count]
czar also tsar or tzar /ˈzɑː/ noun, pl czars also tsars or tzars [count]

1 : the title of the ruler of Russia before 1917 • Russia's Czar Nicholas II
 2 chiefly US a : a very powerful person in a particular business or activity • a banking czar b — used as an unofficial title for the person who is in charge of a government office or department • The President has appointed a new drug czar. • the education/housing/terrorism czar cza·ri·na also tsa·ri·na or tza·ri·na /zɑˈri:nə/ noun, pl -nas [count] : the wife of a Russian czar czar·ist also tsar·ist or tzar·ist /ˈzɑrɪst/ adj : of or relating to the government of Russia when it was controlled by czars • czarist Russia • the czarist capital of St. Petersburg Czech /ˈtʃɛk/ noun, pl Czechs
 1 [count] : a person born, raised, or living in Czechoslovakia or the Czech Republic • the customs of the Czechs 2 [noncount] : the Slavic language of the Czechs • He learned to speak Czech.
 — Czech adj • the Czech people/language

D

d or D /ˈdi:/ noun, pl d's or ds or D's or Ds
 1 : the fourth letter of the English alphabet [count] Many people who are learning to read confuse b's and d's. [non-count] names that start with d
 2 : a musical note or key referred to by the letter D : the second tone of a C-major scale [count] play/sing a D. [non-count] The song is in the key of D.
 3 [count] : a grade that is given to a student for doing poor work • She got a D on her chemistry test.
 4 : the Roman numeral that means 500 • CD [=400]
d. abbr died • Thomas Jefferson, d. 1826
D abbr Democrat
'd /əd after t or d; d elsewhere — used as a contraction of had, would, and did • When they arrived, we'd [=we had] already left. • If you'd [=you would] like to learn more, go to our Web site. • Where'd [=where did] he go?
DA abbr district attorney
¹dab /ˈdæb/ verb dabs; dabbed; dab·bling
 1 : to lightly touch (something) usually with quick, small motions [+ obj] She dabbed [=patted] her eyes with a handkerchief. [no obj] — usually + at • He politely dabbed at the corners of his mouth with his napkin.
 2 [+ obj] : to put something on something with quick, small motions • He dabbed [=daubed] a little paint on the canvas. • She was dabbing [=daubing] her lips with dark red lipstick.
²dab noun, pl dabs [count]
 1 : a quick, small touch • She gave her eyes a few dabs [=pats] with a handkerchief.
 2 : a small amount of something • a dab of paint • You've got a dab of ice cream on your shirt. • a dab of butter/perfume — see also DAB HAND, SMACK-DAB
dab·ble /ˈdæbəl/ verb dab·bles; dab·bled; dab·bling
 1 [no obj] : to take part in an activity in a way that is not serious — usually + in • She works as an accountant but dabbles in poetry. • He dabbled in politics as a college student.
 2 : to play or move around in water [no obj] The ducks dabbed in the stream. [+ obj] She sat by the pool, dabbling her feet in the cool water.
 — dab·bler noun, pl -blers [count] • a dabbler in politics dab hand noun, pl ~ hands [count] Brit, informal : a person who is very good at doing something : EXPERT • He's a dab hand at cooking. • She's a dab hand in the kitchen. • She's always been a dab hand with a paint brush.
da·cha /ˈdɑːtʃə/ noun, pl -chas [count] : a small Russian house in the countryside that is used especially in the summer dachs·hund /ˈdɑːksˌhʌnt, Brit ˈdæksənd/ noun, pl -hunds [count] : a small type of dog that has a long body, very short legs, and long ears — see picture at DOG
Da·cron /ˈdeɪˌkrɒn, ˈdæˌkrɒn/ trademark — used for a type of cloth or thread that is made from an artificial material dad /ˈdæd/ noun, pl dads [count] informal : a person's father

• Her mom and dad both said she can't go. — often used as a form of address • Dad, can I borrow the car tonight?
dad·dy /ˈdædi/ noun, pl -dies [count] informal : a person's father — used especially by young children • Where's my daddy? — often used as a form of address • Daddy, can you read me a story? — see also SUGAR DADDY dad·dy long·legs /ˈdædiˈlɒŋˌleɪɡz/ noun, pl ~ -legs [count]
 1 US : a small insect that looks like a spider and that has a small round body and long thin legs — see color picture on page C10
 2 Brit : CRANE FLY
dae·mon /ˈdiːmən/ noun, pl -mons [count]
 1 : a creature in ancient Greek stories that is more powerful than a person but not as powerful as a god
 2 : DEMON 1 • angels and daemons
daf·fo·dil /ˈdæfəˌdɪl/ noun, pl -dils [count] : a yellow flower that blooms in the spring and that has a center that is shaped like a long tube — see color picture on page C6 daf·fy /ˈdæfi/ adj daf·fi·er; -est [also more ~; most ~] US, informal : silly or strange often in a way that is funny • The actress is starring in a daffy new comedy this summer. • The book is filled with daffy characters.
daft /ˈdæft, Brit ˈdɑːft/ adj daft·er; -est [also more ~; most ~] Brit, informal 1 : strange often in a way that is funny • He's got a daft [=silly, daffy] sense of humor.
 2 : crazy or foolish • Don't be daft! • Your idea seems a bit daft to me. • She looked at us as if we'd gone daft.
 (as) daft as a brush : very silly or somewhat crazy • The professor is perfectly nice but she's daft as a brush.
 — daft·ly adv — daft·ness noun [noncount] dag·ger /ˈdægə/ noun, pl -gers [count] : a sharp pointed knife that is used as a weapon at daggers drawn chiefly Brit : angry and ready to fight • political parties that are at daggers drawn (with each other) look/shoot/stare daggers at : to look at (someone) in an angry way • They looked daggers at each other across the table. — see also CLOAK-AND-DAGGER da·go or Da·go /ˈdeɪɡoʊ/ noun, pl -gos [count] informal + offensive : a person who is from Italy, Spain, or Portugal ✧ The word dago is very offensive and should be avoided.
da·guerre·o·type /dəˈgeroʊˌtaɪp/ noun, pl -types [count] : an old type of photograph that was made on a piece of silver or a piece of copper covered in silver dahl·ia /ˈdæljə, Brit ˈdeɪljə/ noun, pl -ias [count] : a type of plant that is grown in gardens and has large flowers with white, yellow, red, pink, or purple petals
¹dai·ly /ˈderli/ adj, always used before a noun
 1 : happening, done, made, used, or existing every day • Television has become a part of our daily [=day-to-day] lives. • It has changed every aspect of daily life/existence. • I started eating healthier and added exercise to my daily routine/schedule. • daily activities such as eating breakfast and washing your face • There's not enough water to meet the daily needs of the city's people. • daily commuters • He visits them on a daily basis [=every day] • people working to earn their daily bread [=the food they need each day]

2 : published every day or every day except Sunday • daily newspapers • She reads the daily paper each morning.

3 : of or relating to one day • Their average daily wage is only five dollars. • She had been taking more than the recommended daily dose of the medicine. • Our daily lunch specials [=the special lunch items offered on particular days of the week] are listed on the back of the menu.

— daily adv • Take one pill/capsule twice daily. [=two times every day] • The Web site is updated daily. [=every day]

²daily noun, pl dai-lies

1 [count] : a newspaper that is published every day or every day except Sunday • the city's two largest dailies

2 dailies [plural] US : the first prints of a movie showing the scenes that are filmed each day • The director watches the dailies [=rushes] every evening.

3 [count] Brit, old-fashioned : a person who you pay to clean your house and do other jobs for you every day — called also daily help

dain·ty /'deɪnti/ adj dain·ti·er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : small and pretty • Her hair was decorated with dainty pink flowers. • the girl's dainty little hands • dainty teacups

2 : done with small and careful movements • The dancers' dainty steps were followed by a series of leaps. • She took a dainty sip of tea from her teacup.

3 of food : attractive and served in small amounts • They served dainty sandwiches on silver trays. • The food was served in dainty portions.

— dain·ti·ly adv • She sipped daintily from her teacup.

— dain·ti·ness noun [noncount] • He commented on the daintiness of my hands.

dai·qui·ri /'dækəri, 'daɪkəri/ noun, pl -ris [count] : an alcoholic drink that is usually made of rum, crushed fruit or fruit juice, and sugar • frozen strawberry daiquiris

¹dairy /'deri/ noun, pl dair-ies [count]

1 : a farm that produces milk

2 : a place where milk is kept and butter or cheese is made

3 : a company that sells milk and foods made from milk (such as butter and cheese)

²dairy adj, always used before a noun

1 : made from milk • dairy products/foods such as cheese and ice cream : relating to foods made from milk • You'll find yogurt in the dairy section of the grocery store.

2 : of or relating to a type of farming that deals with the production of milk and foods made from milk • dairy farms/farmers • dairy cows/cattle [=cows that are raised to produce milk] • the dairy industry dairy·ing /'deriɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the business of managing a farm or company that produces or sells milk and foods made from milk dairy·maid /'deri,meɪd/ noun, pl -maids [count] old-fashioned : a woman who works in a dairy dairy·man /'derimən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a man who manages or works in a dairy da·is /'deɪs/ noun, pl -is-es [count] : a raised platform in a large room or hall that people stand on when performing or speaking to an audience

dai·sy /'deɪzi/ noun, pl -sies [count] : a type of white flower that has a yellow center be pushing up daisies informal + humorous : to be dead • We'll all be pushing up daisies by the time the government balances the budget.

daisy chain noun, pl ~ chains [count]

1 : a string of daisies that you make by tying the stems together • She wore a daisy chain around her neck.

2 : a group of things or people that are connected in a series • a daisy chain of electronic devices • The children linked arms forming a daisy chain.

Da·lai La·ma /,dɑːlɑː'lɑːmə, Brit /dælɑː'lɑːmə/ noun, pl ~ -mas [count] : the spiritual leader of Tibetan Buddhism dale /'deɪl/ noun, pl dales [count] old-fashioned : VALLEY • the beautiful hills and dales of our county

dal·li·ance /'dælijəns/ noun, pl -anc-es [count]

1 : an action that is not serious — often + with • After a brief dalliance with acting, she pursued a law career.

2 literary : a romantic or sexual relationship that is brief and not serious • He had dalliances [(more commonly) affairs,

(less formally) flings] with several women before he met his wife. • sexual dalliances

dal·ly /'dæli/ verb dal-lies; dal-ied; dal-ly-ing [no obj] : to do something slowly or too slowly • Don't dally [=dawdle] on the way home. • Please don't dally. We need you here right away. • The two of us dallied over our coffee that morning. — see also DILLYDALLY dally with [phrasal verb] 1 dally with (something) : to do or think about (something) in a way that is not serious • He's been dallying [=toying] with the idea of running for office

2 dally with (someone) old-fashioned : to have a casual romantic or sexual relationship with (someone) • a married man who has been dallying with another woman

dal·ma·tian or Dal·ma·tian /dæl'meɪfən/ noun, pl -tians [count] : a type of dog that has short white fur with many black or brown spots

¹dam /'dæm/ noun, pl dams [count] : a structure that is built across a river or stream to stop water from flowing • The government has plans to build a dam and flood the valley. • There's a beaver dam [=a dam built by beavers] in the stream behind my house. — compare ³DAM

²dam verb dams; dammed; dam·ming [+ obj] : to build a dam across (a river or stream) • Beavers dammed the stream. — often + up • They created a reservoir by damming up the river.

³dam noun, pl dams [count] technical : the female parent of some animals (such as horses) • the foal's dam — compare ¹SIRE — compare ¹DAM

¹dam·age /'dæmɪdʒ/ noun, pl dam·ag-es

1 [noncount] : physical harm that is done to something or to someone's body • The items were carefully wrapped to protect them from damage during shipping. • The city sustained heavy damage during the war. • water/sun/frost damage = damage caused by water/sun/frost • Fortunately the boat suffered no serious damage in the storm. • The fall caused/did considerable/extensive/severe damage to her knee. • The disease is known to cause permanent/irreversible brain/liver/kidney damage. • Few people were hurt during the storm but property damage was great. [=many houses, cars, etc., were damaged or ruined] — see also COLLATERAL DAMAGE

2 [noncount] : emotional harm that is done to someone • Traumatic events can cause serious psychological damage. [=can make someone mentally or emotionally unhealthy]

3 [noncount] : problems that are caused by a mistake, wrong action, etc. : bad or harmful effects on a situation, a person's reputation, etc. • The scandal caused significant damage to her career. • You've said enough. Please leave before you do any more damage. • He tried to repair the damage by apologizing, but it was too late. • He apologized, but the damage was already done.

4 damages [plural] law : an amount of money that a court requires you to pay to someone you have treated unfairly or hurt in some way • The judge awarded her $5,000 in damages. [=the judge said that the people who hurt her must pay her $5,000] — sometimes used in the form damage before another noun • She won a $5,000 damage award.

5 the damage informal : the amount of money that something costs • "What's the damage?" he asked the mechanic.

damage control or Brit damage limitation : things that are done or said to prevent a bad situation from becoming worse or to limit the bad effect of something • The governor keeps making outrageous statements, forcing his staff to spend most of their time doing damage control.

²damage verb damages; dam-aged; dam-ag-ing [+ obj] : to cause damage to (something): such as a : to physically harm (something) • Please return any items that are damaged during shipping. • Many homes were damaged or completely destroyed in the fire. • The fall severely damaged her knee. • Smoking can seriously damage your lungs. • badly damaged property synonyms see INJURE b : to cause problems in or for (something) : to have a bad effect on (a situation, a person's reputation, etc.) • The scandal significantly damaged her career. • This news will undoubtedly damage the governor's reputation. • He was worried that his comments had seriously damaged their relationship. • He's trying to repair his damaged reputation. — see also DAMAGED GOODS damaged goods noun [plural]

1 : products that are broken, cracked, scratched, etc.

2 informal : a person who is considered to be no longer desirable or valuable because of something that has happened : a person whose reputation is damaged ♦ This sense of damaged goods is used with a singular verb. • She hasn't been charged with a crime, but politically she's damaged goods and will never get elected.

damaging adj [more ~; most ~] : causing or able to cause damage • the damaging effects of the sun on your skin • The storm may produce damaging winds. • The chemical is damaging to the lungs. [=it will make a person's lungs less healthy] • He says he has damaging information about the candidate. • The evidence was very damaging to their case.

damask /'dæməsk/ noun, pl -asks [count, noncount] : a thick usually shiny cloth that has patterns woven into it — damask adj • damask curtains • The tablecloth is damask.

dame /'deim/ noun, pl dames [count]

1 US slang, old-fashioned : WOMAN • She's one classy dame. • a dignified old dame ♦ Dame is sometimes used to refer to a woman in an offensive or negative way. • He married some rich dame for her money. • "Who's the dame?" he asked rudely.

2 Brit : a woman who has been given a title as an honor for something she has done • She was made/created a dame the year before she died. — used as a title • Dame Myra Hess — see also GRANDE DAME dam-mit /'dæmət/ informal + impolite — used in writing to represent the sound of the phrase damn it

as near as dammit see ¹NEAR

¹damn /'dæm/ interj, informal + impolite — used to show that you are angry, annoyed, surprised, etc. • Damn! That really hurt! • Well, damn. Why didn't you say you wouldn't be able to come? • Damn! I had no idea you were planning a party for me!

²damn verb damns; damned; damn-ing [+ obj]

1 informal + impolite a — used to show that you are angry or annoyed at a person, thing, or situation • Damn them! They've ruined everything! • Damn this rain. We haven't had a nice day in weeks. • Damn it! I forgot my keys! • Damn it all! b — used to say in a forceful way that you do not care about something • I'm going to do it, damn the consequences. = I'm going to do it, the consequences be damned. [=I'm going to do it despite the possible consequences]

2 : to send (someone) to hell as punishment after death — usually used as (be) damned • He said that they would be damned (to hell) for all eternity. [=that God would force them to be in hell forever] — sometimes used figuratively • She was damned [(more commonly) doomed] by her own lack of foresight.

3 : to say or think bad things about (someone or something) : to strongly criticize (someone or something) • He damned them for their stupidity.

as near as damn it see ¹NEAR

damn with faint praise : to give praise without enthusiasm in a way that shows you really dislike someone or something

I'll be damned informal + impolite 1 — used to show that you are very surprised about something • Well I'll be damned! Our team actually won! — often + if • I spent an hour putting the machine together and I'll be damned if it didn't fall apart as soon as I tried to use it. [=I was very surprised that it fell apart] — sometimes shortened to damned if • I told them they wouldn't enjoy the trip but damned if they didn't come anyway. 2 — used to say that you cannot or will not do something; + if • I'll be damned if I can remember where I left my keys. [=I cannot remember where I left my keys] • I'll be damned if I'm going to eat any more of that disgusting food. [=I will not eat any more of it] the damned : the people who have been sent to hell as punishment after their death • the souls of the damned

(you're) damned if you do and damned if you don't informal — used to say that you will be blamed or considered wrong no matter what you do

— damning adj [more ~; most ~] • A damning piece of evidence showed that he had been at the crime scene.

³damn noun [singular] informal + impolite : anything at all — usually used in negative statements • This computer's not worth a damn. [=it has no value; it is worthless] • His promises don't mean a damn. [=don't mean anything] — see also TINKER'S DAMN give a damn also care a damn : to care at all about someone or something — used in negative statements • He doesn't give a damn what people think about him. • Nobody gives a damn about us. • I don't want to hear about her problems. I just don't give a damn. • They don't seem to care a damn about their future.

⁴damn also damned adj, always used before a noun, informal + impolite

1 — used to show that you are angry, annoyed, surprised, etc. • Turn the damn TV off and listen to me! • The damned car won't start again. • That's none of your damn business. • The damn thing never worked right.

2 — used to make a statement more forceful • If you believe that, you're a damn/damned fool. • It's a damn shame that she couldn't afford to go to college. • She's a damned liar! • There's not a damn thing you can do about it. [=you cannot do anything about it] — see also DAMNEDEST

⁵damn also damned adv, informal + impolite : very or extremely • That was a damn good movie. • You did a damned fine job on that project. • You'd better make damn sure that it doesn't happen again. • "You seem angry." "You're damn right I am! That's for damn sure!" • Some people just talk too damn much. [=talk far too much] • The idea's pretty damn smart, if you ask me. • He damn near killed us! [=he almost killed us] • You know damn well what happened. • You damn well better finish the job. [=you must finish the job] • He does whatever he damn/damned well pleases. [=he does whatever he wants to do] — see also DAMNEDEST dam-na-ble /'dæmnəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] old-fashioned : deserving strong criticism : very bad, wrong, annoying, etc. • damnable lies • damnable stupidity — dam-na-bly /'dæmnəbli/ adv • damnably difficult

dam-na-tion /dæm'neɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : the state of being in hell as punishment after death • The minister spoke about death and damnation. • living in eternal damnation

¹damned-est /'dæmdəst/ adj, always used before a noun, chiefly US, informal + impolite : most unusual or surprising • It was the damnedest [(more politely) darnedest] thing you ever saw. • He said the damnedest thing the other day.

²damnedest noun

do your damnedest or try your damnedest chiefly US, informal + impolite : to try very hard to do something • He's doing his damnedest to win. • I'll try my damnedest [=hard-est, best] to be there on time.

Damocles

sword of Damocles see SWORD

¹damp /'dæmp/ adj damp-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] : somewhat or slightly wet • Wipe up the mess with a damp cloth. • Her forehead was damp with perspiration. • My hair's still damp from the rain. • a damp spring day • damp [=humid] weather synonyms see MOIST damp squib see SQUIB

— damp-ness noun [noncount]

²damp noun [noncount] : slight wetness in the air • The books from her basement still smelled of damp. [=dampness] • The boxes were left outside in the damp. • the damp of the night

³damp verb damps; damped; damp-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (something) somewhat or slightly wet : DAMPEN • His hands were damped with sweat.

2 : to make (something) less strong or active • Nothing could damp [(more commonly) dampen, depress] his spirits.

damp-en /'dæmpən/ verb -ens; -ened; -en-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (something) somewhat or slightly wet : to make (something) damp • Dampen the spot with a wet cloth. • The shower barely dampened the ground.

2 : to make (something) less strong or active • We wouldn't let the bad weather dampen our excitement/enthusiasm/spirits. • The experience dampened her interest [=made her less interested] in becoming a doctor.

damp-en-er /'dæmpənə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : something that reduces the force or effect of something • a noise damp-ener put a dampener on Brit : to make (something) less strong, active, or exciting : to put a damper on (something) • His bad mood put a dampener on the celebration.

damp-er /'dæmpə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a flat piece of metal in a fireplace, furnace, etc., that controls the amount of air that can enter • Close the damp-er.

2 : a small piece of wood inside a piano that is covered with cloth and that stops the movement of a piano string put a damper on : to make (something) less strong, active, or exciting • His bad mood put a damper on the celebration. • The rain put a damper on our plans for a picnic. • He was putting a bit of a damper on her spirits.

dam-sel /'dæmzəl/ noun, pl -sels [count] old-fashioned : a young woman who is not married ♦ The phrase damsel in distress is used often humorously in modern speech and writing to refer to a woman who needs to be rescued. • The novel comes complete with a knight in shining armor and a damsel in distress.

¹dance /'dæns, Brit 'dɑːns/ verb danc-es; danced; dancing

1 a [no obj] : to move your body in a way that goes with the rhythm and style of music that is being played • He never learned how to dance. • She has always loved to dance. • I like the song but it's really hard to dance to. • Would you like to dance with me? = (more formally) Shall we dance? • We danced the night away. [=we danced the entire evening] b [+ obj] : to move with and guide (someone) as music plays : to dance with (someone) • He danced her across the floor.

2 [+ obj] : to perform (a particular type of dance) • dancing the waltz/polka/twist

3 [no obj] : to perform as a dancer • She dances with a famous ballet company. • She's a great actress, and she can dance and sing, too.

4 [no obj] : to move quickly up and down, from side to side, etc. • We danced for joy when we heard the news. • He sat watching the leaves dancing in the breeze. • The boxer danced around his opponent.

dance to someone's tune : to do what someone wants or forces you to do • The boss has got everyone dancing to her tune. • The senators are dancing to the tune of the President.

— danc-er noun, pl -ers [count] • I'm a terrible dancer. • ballet dancers — dancing adj • We're taking dancing lessons. • dancing shoes — dancing noun [noncount] • They went out for dinner and dancing. • She's always loved dancing. • Would you like to go dancing tonight? — see also BALLROOM DANCING, BREAK DANCING, LAP DANCING

²dance noun, pl dances

1 [count] : a series of movements that are done as music is playing : a way of dancing • a slow dance • They can do all the popular dances. • The only dance he knows how to do is the twist. — often used before another noun • a dance move • dance classes • It's the latest dance craze. — see also BARN DANCE, BELLY DANCE, LINE DANCE, SQUARE DANCE, TAP DANCE, WAR DANCE

2 [count] : an act of dancing • How about one more dance? • He stopped right in the middle of the dance to tie his shoe. • Will you save a dance for me? [=will you dance with me during one song?] • He did a celebration dance in the end zone after scoring the touchdown.

3 [noncount] : the art or activity of dancing • She studied dance in college.

4 [count] : a social event at which people dance • The church held a dance to raise money. • Your father and I met at a dance. • high school dances

5 [count] : a song or piece of music (such as a waltz) to which people dance • The band can play all sorts of dances. — see also SONG AND DANCE

lead someone a (merry) dance see ¹LEAD

dance-able /'dænsəbəl, Brit 'dɑːnsəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : able to be used for dancing : having a rhythm and style that people can dance to • a danceable song dance card noun, pl ~ cards [count] old-fashioned : a card on which you write the names of people you are going to dance with at a social event — often used figuratively • Her dance card has been filling up quickly. [=she has been busy going to parties, on dates, etc.]

dance floor noun, pl ~ floors [count] : an area where people can dance inside a restaurant, club, hall, etc.

dance hall noun, pl ~ halls [count] : a large building or room in which people pay to go dancing • Their song is being played in dance halls across the country.

dan-de-li-on /'dændə,ləjən/ noun, pl -ons [count] : a very common wild plant that has bright yellow flowers

dan-der /'dændər/ noun

get someone's dander up informal : to cause someone to become angry • Her rudeness really got my dander up.

dan-dle /'dændəl/ verb dan-dles; dan-dled; dan-dling [+ obj] chiefly Brit : to move (a baby) up and down in your arms or on your knee as a way of playing • He was sitting in a corner dandling [=bouncing] his baby daughter on his knee.

dan-druff /'dændrəf/ noun [noncount] : very small white pieces of dead skin that form especially on a person's head • The shampoo is supposed to help control dandruff.

¹dan-dy /'dændi/ adj dan-di-er; -est chiefly US, informal + somewhat old-fashioned : very good • This looks like a dandy [=fine, splendid] place to have lunch. • We thought something was wrong, but he said everything was just fine and dandy.

²dandy noun, pl -dies [count]

1 old-fashioned : a man who cares too much about his clothing and personal appearance

2 chiefly US, informal : something that is very good or impressive : a very good example of something • Have you seen the new boat? It's a dandy. [= (more commonly) beauty] • That was a dandy of a game.

— dan-dy-ish /'dændijɪʃ/ adj, old-fashioned • He had a dan-dyish manner about him.

Dane /'deɪn/ noun, pl Danes [count] : a person born, raised or living in Denmark — see also GREAT DANE ¹dang /'dæŋ/ interj, US, informal — used as a more polite form of damn • Dang! That hurt! • Dang! She sure looked surprised, didn't she?

²dang verb, US, informal — used as a more polite form of damn • Dang them! They're late again! • Dang it. It's raining! • I'll be danged! You found it!

³dang also danged adj, US, informal — used as a more polite form of damn or damned • Those dang kids stepped on our flowers! • a dang/danged fool • The whole dang city knows now. • There's not a dang thing you can do about it.

— dang also danged adv • What's so dang/danged funny, huh? • She's too dang skinny. • You know dang well where the key is. [=I am certain that you know where it is]

dan-ger /'deɪndʒər/ noun, pl -gers

1 a [noncount] : the possibility that you will be hurt or killed

• I was unaware of the danger that lay ahead. • She was fearless in the face of danger. • None of us had any real sense of danger. [=we did not think that we might be hurt or killed] • It was a journey fraught with danger. [=a very dangerous journey] • Patients need to be informed about the danger posed by the drug. [=about the ways the drug could possibly hurt them] • The sign on the door read "Danger. Keep out." • Their lives are in (grave/great/serious) danger. • We're not out of danger yet. [=there is still a chance that we could be hurt or killed] b : the possibility that something unpleasant or bad will happen [noncount] There's less danger that you'll lose your money if you have a wide variety of investments. • We're all in danger of losing our jobs. [=we may all lose our jobs] • These animals are in danger of becoming extinct. = They are in danger of extinction. • (humorous) Don't worry about being ready for us by noon. There's no danger [=no chance] that we'll actually be there on time. [singular]

There's a danger that your apology will be taken as a sign of weakness. • The danger is that we'll become careless as the process becomes more familiar. ♦ A danger zone is a place or situation in which you may be hurt or killed or in which something unpleasant or bad may happen. • The doctor warned that too much exertion could push my heart rate into the danger zone. • The houses are in a danger zone for wildfires. [=an area in which wildfires sometimes happen]

2 [count] : a person or thing that is likely to cause injury, pain, harm, or loss • It's important to teach your children about the dangers of smoking. • Here is a list of possible dangers associated with the procedure. • We believe it poses a serious danger to our national security. • He is a danger to himself and others. [=he might hurt himself and other people]

danger money noun [noncount] Brit : HAZARD PAY

dan-ger-ous /'deɪndʒərəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : involving possible injury, harm, or death : characterized by danger • Mining is dangerous [=hazardous] work. • They complained to their boss about the dangerous [=unsafe] working conditions. • She got into a car accident while driving through a dangerous intersection. • He often drives at dangerous speeds. • The city can be a dangerous place to live. • dangerous neighborhoods — often + to • Smoking is dangerous [=hazardous] to your health.

2 : able or likely to cause injury, pain, harm, etc. • The storms may cause dangerous flooding. • He is wanted for assault with a dangerous weapon. • dangerous animals • the most dangerous of drugs • a dangerous enemy • The police say that the man is armed and dangerous. [=he has a gun and he might try to shoot someone] dangerous ground/territory : a situation in which you may do or say something that will have a bad result, make people angry, etc. • As the conversation turned to politics, I knew we were heading into dangerous territory. • You know you're treading on dangerous ground, don't you?

— dan-ger-ous-ly adv • She suddenly became dangerously ill. • dangerously high levels of pollution • They came dangerously close to being caught. • He has always enjoyed living dangerously. — dan-ger-ous-ness noun [noncount] danger pay noun [noncount] US : HAZARD PAY

dan·gle /ˈdæŋɡəl/ verb dan·gles; dan·gled; dan·gling

1 : to hang down loosely especially in a way that makes it possible to swing freely [no obj] Let your arms dangle at your sides. • dangling earrings — often + from • Diamonds and pearls dangled from her ears. • Wires were dangling dangerously from the ceiling. • A cigarette dangled from his lips. [+ obj] She sat on the edge of the pool, dangling her feet in the water. • He dangled a piece of string in front of the cat.

2 [+ obj] informal : to offer (something) in order to persuade someone to do something • The money she dangled in front of him wasn't enough to convince him to sell. • They refused to accept the money that was dangled before their eyes.

leave someone dangling also keep someone dangling informal : to force someone to be in an uncertain position or to wait for a decision • We were kept dangling for weeks while the bank reviewed our loan application.

1 Dan·ish /ˈdeɪnɪʃ/ adj : of or relating to Denmark, its people, or their language • the Danish countryside • Danish customs • She knows a few Danish phrases.

2 Danish noun, pl Danish also Dan·ish·es

1 [noncount] : the language of the Danes

2 US : DANISH PASTRY [noncount] We had cheese Danish for breakfast. [count] two raspberry Danish/Danishes

Danish pastry noun, pl ~ -tries [count, noncount] : a sweet pastry that often has fruit, icing, etc., on top — see picture at BAKING dank /ˈdæŋk/ adj dank·er; -est : wet and cold in a way that is unpleasant • a dark dank cave synonyms see MOIST dap·per /ˈdæpər/ adj [more ~; most ~] somewhat old-fashioned

1 : having a neat appearance : dressed in attractive clothes • The students all looked very dapper in their uniforms. • a dapper old gentleman

2 of clothing : attractive and of high quality • a dapper [=smart] suit dap·pled /ˈdæpəld/ also dap·ple /ˈdæpəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : marked with many spots of color or light • a dappled gray horse • dappled shade

1 dare /ˈdeər/ verb dares; dared; dar·ing

1 [no obj] : to have enough courage or confidence to do something : to not be too afraid to do something • Try it if you dare. • We wanted to laugh but didn't dare. — often followed by to + verb • We didn't dare to stop. • No one dared to say anything. • It was more than I had dared to hope for. • She won their respect by daring to ask questions. — often followed by an infinitive verb without to • We didn't dare stop. = We dared not stop. • No one dared say anything. • It was more than I had dared hope for. • I need to know, but I don't dare ask. • I wouldn't dare do it alone. = (formal) I dare not do it alone. • Do we dare ask why? = Dare we ask why?

2 [+ obj] : to do (something that is difficult or that people are usually afraid to do) • The actress dared a new interpretation of the classic role.

3 [+ obj] : to tell (someone) to do something especially as a way of showing courage • She dared him to dive off the bridge. • She dared me to ask him out on a date. I did, and he said yes.

don't you dare — used in speech to forcefully tell someone not to do something • Don't you dare do that again, or you'll be sorry! • “I'm going to tell mom that you got an 'F' on your test.” “Don't you dare!”

how dare you — used in speech to show that you are angry about what someone has done or said • How dare you touch me! • How dare he speak to you like that!

I dare say or chiefly Brit I daresay somewhat formal + old-fashioned — used when you are stating your opinion about something • I dare say he's right. • This is, I dare say, one of the most beautiful places in the world.

2 dare noun, pl dares [count] : the act of telling someone to do something as a way of showing courage — usually singular • He dared her to go, but she refused to take/accept the dare. • (US) He jumped from the bridge on a dare. = (Brit) He jumped from the bridge for a dare. [=someone dared him to jump from the bridge] dare·dev·il /ˈdeər,devl/ noun, pl -ils [count] : a person who does dangerous things especially in order to get attention • He has always been a bit of a daredevil.

— daredevil adj, always used before a noun • a daredevil driver/pilot daren't /ˈderənt/ chiefly Brit — used as a contraction of dare not or dared not • I daren't tell her what really happened.

dare·say /ˌdeərˈseɪ/ verb

I daresay see 1 DARE

1 daring adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : willing to do dangerous or difficult things • a daring reporter who has covered several wars • She's a daring innovator in the field of biotechnology.

2 : showing a lack of fear • Emergency crews quickly planned a daring [=bold] rescue to get the people out of the burning building. • a daring plan to steal the famous painting • She decided to wear a daring dress to the party. • ideas that are new and daring • the artist's daring use of color

— dar·ing·ly /ˈderɪŋli/ adv • a daringly original idea

2 daring noun [noncount] : the quality of being willing to do dangerous or difficult things : courage or fearlessness • Skydiving requires both skill and daring. • He performs the trick with the daring of a stuntman.

1 dark /ˈdærk/ adj dark·er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : having very little or no light • She sat in the dark room alone. • It gets dark early in winter. [=the sun sets early; night comes sooner] • It's getting darker outside. • Soon it will be dark enough to see the stars. • It was a dark and stormy night. • Suddenly the room went dark. [=suddenly there was no light in the room] — opposite LIGHT

2 : not light in color : of a color that is closer to black than white • Dark clouds of smoke were coming from the windows. • She's wearing a dark suit to the interview. • a man wearing dark clothing • You've got dark circles under your eyes this morning. • dark spots/lines on the skin

3 of a color : having more black than white : not light • dark blue • a dark green shirt — opposite LIGHT

4 of a person's hair, eyes, skin, etc. : black or brown in color • a person with a dark complexion = a dark-skinned person • He is tall, dark, and handsome. [=he is a tall, handsome man with dark hair and eyes] — opposite FAIR

5 : less light in color than other things of the same kind • dark rum • dark roasted coffee beans — see also DARK CHOCOLATE, DARK MEAT

6 : lacking hope or happiness • She had a rather dark [=gloomy, dismal] view of the future. • I met her during a very dark time in my life. • These are dark days for many companies.

7 : bad or evil • The movie follows three heroes who fight the dark forces/powers that threaten the world. • his darker side = the darker side of his personality • He told no one his deep, dark secret. • Drowning is his darkest [=worst] fear.

8 : dealing with unpleasant subjects such as crime, war, unhappy relationships, etc. • a dark [=black] comedy about drug abuse • dark humor • It's a good movie, but it's really dark.

9 : full of mystery • the government's dark secrets — see also DARK HORSE

10 of a place : not known or explored because it is far from where most people live • the darkest regions of the continent

11 of a voice : low and full in sound • his deep, dark voice cast a dark cloud see 1 CLOUD darkest hour see HOUR

— dark·ish /ˈdærkɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] • Her hair was a darkish red color.

2 dark noun, pl darks

1 the dark a : a state in which no light can be seen • She stumbled around in the dark [=darkness] until she finally found the light switch. • He's 12 years old and still afraid of the dark. b : a place where little or no light can be seen • The burglars hid in the dark between the two buildings. • He bought the kids special rings that glow in the dark.

2 [noncount] : the time of day when night begins : the time when the sky becomes dark for the night • We'd better get home before dark. • They waited until after dark to begin their escape.

3 darks [plural] a : dark colors : colors that are more black than white • He uses lots of darks in his decorating. b : dark clothes : clothes that are black, dark brown, etc. • Wash the lights and the darks separately.

in the dark 1 : in a state in which something is hidden or kept secret • Most of their deals were made in the dark. 2 : in a state of not knowing about something • The public was kept in the dark about the agreement. • They kept us all in the dark. — see also leap in the dark at 2 LEAP, shot in the dark at 1 SHOT, whistle in the dark at 2 WHISTLE

Dark Ages noun

1 the Dark Ages : the period of European history from about A.D. 500 to 1000 : the first 500 years of the Middle Ages

2 the Dark Ages or the dark ages often humorous : the period of time before things developed into their modern form • In the dark ages before computers, we often wrote our letters by hand. • Her father's ideas about women are from the Dark Ages.

dark chocolate noun, pl ~ -lates [count, noncount] US : a kind of chocolate that is a very dark brown color and that is made without milk — called also (Brit) plain chocolate; compare MILK CHOCOLATE, WHITE CHOCOLATE

dark-en /'dækən/ verb -ens; -ened; -en-ing

1 : to make (something) dark or to become dark or darker in color [+ obj] Clouds darkened the sky. • The hours I spent in the sun darkened [=tanned] my skin. [no obj] The sky darkened and it started to rain. • Her face darkens to a deep red when she gets angry. • The wood will darken as it ages.

2 : to make (something) less happy or to become less happy [+ obj] The bad news darkened his mood. • The last days of her life were darkened by illness. [no obj] His mood darkened after he heard the bad news.

darken someone's door/doors : to go to or appear at a place where you are not welcome anymore • She told him to leave and to never darken her door again. [=to never go to her house/apartment again]

— darkened adj • He was sitting in a darkened [=dark] corner of the room. • a car with darkened [=dark] windows

dark glasses noun [plural] : SUNGLASSES

dark horse noun, pl ~ -es [count]

1 : a person (such as a politician), animal, or thing that competes in a race or other contest and is not expected to win • The Democrat from Utah has gone from being a dark horse to the front-runner in the campaign for President. • The movie is a dark horse for the award.

2 Brit : a person who has interesting qualities or abilities that most people do not know about • He is a dark horse, but I did find out that he once played football professionally.

dark-ly /'dækli/ adv [more ~; most ~]

1 : in dark colors • They were both darkly dressed in business suits. [=they were wearing dark suits] • darkly colored clothing/fabric

2 : having black or brown eyes, hair, or skin • a darkly handsome man

3 : in a way that shows a lack of hope or happiness • He spoke darkly of the coming war. • "We're heading for trouble," she warned darkly.

4 : in a way that is threatening • She hinted darkly that they might regret not helping her.

5 : in a way that relates to unpleasant subjects (such as crime, war, unhappy relationships, etc.) • His movie is a darkly comic portrayal of a troubled family. • a darkly humorous/amusing story

6 : without being able to see clearly • "For now we see through a glass, darkly . . ." —1 Corinthians 13:12 (KJV)

dark meat noun [noncount] : the meat that comes from the legs and thighs of chickens, turkeys, ducks, etc. • Would you like white meat or dark meat? — compare WHITE MEAT

dark-ness /'dæknes/ noun [noncount]

1 : a state in which little or no light can be seen : a dark state or condition • We tried to find our way through the darkness. [=dark] • the darkness of the movie theater • He escaped under cover of darkness. [=while it was dark outside; at night] • in the early morning darkness = in the darkness of early morning • We watched the mountains fade into the darkness. • 12 hours of darkness • Although the picture was taken in near darkness, you can still see her white dress. • absolute/complete/total darkness — opposite LIGHT

2 : the state of having a color or shade that is closer to black than white • The darkness of the clouds warned us that rain was coming. • the rich darkness of his skin

3 : a state in which information is hidden from most people • The family's secret remained hidden/shrouded in darkness [=secrecy] and mystery.

4 literary a : evil or wickedness • They set off to fight the forces/powers of darkness. b : a lack of knowledge, understanding, or education : a state in which little is known or understood • people living in darkness [=ignorance] and sin dark-room /'dæk.ru:m/ noun, pl -rooms [count] : a room that is used for making photographs and that is lit with a special kind of red light

dar-ling /'dæliŋ/ noun, pl -lings [count]

1 a : a person you love very much • She was mother's little darling. — often used to address someone you love • How was your day, darling? [=sweetheart, dear] • Darling, what's the matter? b : a kind and helpful person • Be a darling [=dear, sweetie] and carry this inside for me.

2 : someone who is liked very much by a person or group • a media darling — often + of • They are the newest darlings of the pop rock world. • an actress who is the darling of critics

2 darling adj [more ~; most ~]

1 always used before a noun : greatly loved • This is my darling daughter, Sara.

2 informal : very pleasing or attractive • What a darling [=cute, adorable] dress! • He told the children a darling [=charming] story after dinner. • That dress is just darling.

1 darn /'dæŋ/ verb darns; darned; darn-ing [+ obj] : to fix (a piece of clothing, a hole, etc.) by sewing • Would you darn these socks, please? • She is darning a tear in the dress. — compare ⁴DARN

2 darn noun, pl darns [count] : a hole or tear that has been fixed by sewing • The old sweater is full of darns. — compare ⁵DARN

3 darn interj, US, informal — used as a more polite form of damn • Darn! That hurt! • Darn! We missed meeting them.

4 darn verb, chiefly US, informal — used as a more polite form of damn • Darn him! Why won't he call? • Darn this car. It never starts right anymore. • Darn it! I forgot to call them! • Darn it all! • Be quiet, gosh darn it! I can't hear myself think! • Well I'll be darned! You actually showed up! [=I am very surprised that you showed up] • I'll be darned if the train didn't leave until an hour later. • I offered to help, but darned if she didn't do the whole thing herself. [=I was very surprised that she did the whole thing herself] — see also DARNEDEST — compare ¹DARN

5 darn noun, chiefly US, informal — used as a more polite form of damn • His opinion isn't worth a darn. [=it has no value; it is worthless] • I don't give a darn [=I do not care at all] what people say about me. • Nobody cares a darn [=cares at all] about them. — compare ²DARN

6 darn or darned adj, chiefly US, informal — used as a more polite form of damn • Shut your darn mouth and pay attention! • This gosh darn computer isn't working right. • I didn't learn a darn thing in class today. • This darned window won't open! • It's a darn shame that they couldn't stay longer. [=it is a complete shame; it is very unfortunate] • If he believes that, he's a darn fool! [=he is very foolish to believe that] • There's not a darn thing anyone can say to make her do it. • That was the best darn pie I ever ate. — see also DARNEDEST

— darn /'dæŋ/ or darned adv • That was a darn good meal. • I spent the summer learning how to play chess and got pretty darn good at it. • He's too darned nice. • We darn near [=very nearly] didn't get there in time. • You darn well know what happened. [=you know exactly what happened] • I'll do whatever I darn well please. [=I will do whatever I want to do] darned-est /'dændəst/ adj, chiefly US, informal — used as a more polite form of damnedest • It was the darnedest thing I ever saw. • Kids do and say the darnedest things.

— darnedest noun [noncount] • He was doing/trying his darnedest to please everyone.

1 dart /'dɑ:t/ noun, pl darts

1 [count] : a small object that has a sharp point at one end and that is thrown in the game of darts or used as a weapon • throwing darts • He was hit with a poisoned dart. — often used figuratively • She frequently uses her editorials to hurl/throw darts at the White House. [=to sharply criticize the White House] • He'd been sending darts of sarcasm in her direction all evening.

2 darts [noncount] : a game in which darts are thrown at a board that is marked with circles • Her favorite game is darts. • Let's play darts. — see also DARTBOARD

3 [singular] : a quick movement • a quick dart to the left • (chiefly Brit) The cat made a dart for the door.

4 [count] : a sudden, sharp pain • A dart of pain ran through his back.

5 [count] : a small fold that is sewn into a piece of clothing • She sewed a couple of darts in the skirt to make it fit better.

2 dart verb, always followed by an adverb or preposition darts; dart-ed; dart-ing : to run or move quickly or suddenly in a particular direction or to a particular place [no obj] We saw a deer dart across the road. • I darted [=dashed] inside to get some ice. • Her eyes darted from the door to the window. [=she looked suddenly and briefly at the door and then at the window] [+ obj] The frog darted its tongue at a fly.

dart a glance/look at : to look suddenly and briefly at (something or someone) • She darted a suspicious glance at her sister.

dart-board /ˈdɑːt,bɔːrd/ noun, pl -boards [count] : a round board that is marked with circles, lines, and numbers and that is used as a target in the game of darts

Dar-win-ian /dɑːˈwɪniən/ adj
1 : of or relating to Charles Darwin or to the ideas and theories of Charles Darwin • a Darwinian theory/principle • a Darwinian approach to evolution
2 : of or relating to a situation in which only people, businesses, etc., with the strongest skills or abilities are successful • The competition among manufacturers is very Darwinian. • the Darwinian world of professional sports
— Darwinian noun, pl -ians [count] • The scientist considers himself a Darwinian. [=a person who agrees with the ideas of Charles Darwin]

Dar-win-ism /ˈdɑːwənɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : the theory of Charles Darwin about how plant and animal species develop : EVOLUTION
— Dar-win-ist /ˈdɑːwənɪst/ adj — Darwinist noun, pl -ists [count]

dash /ˈdæʃ/ verb dash-es; dashed; dash-ing
1 [no obj] : to run or move quickly or suddenly • I'm sorry, but I must dash. I'm late. • She dashed down the hallway to the bathroom. • People were dashing inside to get out of the rain. • The dog dashed [=darted] across the busy street. — often + off • She dashed off [=left suddenly and quickly] without finishing her breakfast.
2 always followed by an adverb or preposition a [no obj] : to hit something in a violent and forceful way • The waves dashed [=smashed] against the rocks. b [+ obj] : to break or destroy (something) by throwing or hitting it against something • The waves dashed the boat against the rocks. • In her anger, she dashed [=smashed] the plate to pieces on the floor.
3 [+ obj] : to destroy or ruin (something, such as a hope or an expectation) • Her hopes of winning a medal were dashed after she broke her leg. • our dashed expectations/dreams dash it (all) Brit, informal + old-fashioned — used in speech to express anger, frustration, etc. • Dash it all! I've forgotten my keys!
dash off [phrasal verb] dash off (something) or dash (something) off : to write (something) in a very quick and hurried way • I have just enough time to dash off a letter. — see also ¹DASH 1 (above)

dash noun, pl dashes
1 [count] : a punctuation mark — that is used especially to show a break in thought or in the structure of a sentence (as in “We don't know where—or how—the problem began.”)
2 [count] : a small amount of something that is added to something else — usually singular • Add some salt, but just a dash. — usually + of • The soup needs a dash of salt. • Add a couple dashes [=splashes] of wine or lemon juice. • Red roses can bring a dash [=touch] of romance to your evening. • The essay has a dash of humor.
3 [singular] : the act of running or moving quickly or suddenly in a particular direction or to a particular place • We made a dash for the exit. • In his mad dash [=mad rush] to the store, he forgot his wallet.
4 [count] : a short, fast race • She ran in the 50-meter dash.
5 [noncount] old-fashioned : a way of behaving that is full of energy and spirit • She was a leader with dash and confidence. • He had daring and dash.
6 [count] informal : DASHBOARD • The map is on the dash.
7 [count] : a long signal (such as a sound or a flash of light) that represents a letter or part of a letter in Morse code • The Morse code for the letter u is two dots and a dash. — compare ¹DOT 3 cut a dash Brit, informal + old-fashioned : to look attractive in the clothes you are wearing • He really cuts a dash in his new suit.

dash-board /ˈdæʃ,bɔːrd/ noun, pl -boards [count] : the part of the inside of a car, truck, etc., that is below the windshield and that has the controls on it — called also (Brit) fascia; see picture at CAR; compare INSTRUMENT PANEL

dartboard

dashed /ˈdæʃt/ adj : made up of a set of dashes (sense 1) • a dashed line dashing adj [more ~; most ~] of a man or a man's appearance : attractive and impressive in a way that shows confidence • She married a dashing young lawyer from the city. • a brave and dashing soldier • his dashing good looks • The actor cuts a dashing figure as a young Jack Kennedy.

— dash-ing-ly /ˈdæʃɪŋli/ adv • He is dashingly handsome.

das-tard-ly /ˈdæstədli/ adj [more ~; most ~] old-fashioned : very cruel : using tricks to hurt people • a dastardly villain • dastardly deeds • a dastardly attack on innocent civilians

da-ta /ˈdɛtə, ˈdætə/ noun
¹ [plural] : facts or information used usually to calculate, analyze, or plan something • She spent hours reviewing the data from the experiment. • They made their decisions based on the survey data. • Much of the data is inconclusive. • The company has access to your personal data.

usage Data is plural in form but is used with both plural and singular verbs. • Is this data accurate? • Are these data reliable? When used with plural verbs, data is thought of as the plural form of the noun datum. It is usually used with plural verbs only in formal or technical writing. • Many of these data are incorrect.

2 [noncount] : information that is produced or stored by a computer • She works as a data entry clerk. • There was too much data for the computer to process. • He is an expert in data retrieval. [=finding information stored on a computer]

da-ta-base /ˈdɛtə,bɛɪs, ˈdætə,bɛɪs/ noun, pl -bases [count] : a collection of pieces of information that is organized and used on a computer • All of our customers' information was kept in/on a database. • an online database — called also data bank data processing noun [noncount] : the process of putting information into a computer so that the computer can organize it, change its form, etc. — often used before another noun • data-processing software date /ˈdeɪt/ noun, pl dates [count]

¹ a : a particular day of a month or year • The date of the party is March 1. • What's today's date? • They announced June 10th as their wedding date. [=they announced that they would get married on June 10th] • They have not yet set a date for the trial. [=they have not decided what day the trial will start on] • The decision will be made at a later/future date. [=at some time in the future] • your date of birth = your birth date [=the day you were born] — see also DUE DATE, OUT-OF-DATE, UP-TO-DATE b : writing that shows when something was done or made • The date on the letter was the 26th of April. • a coin with a date of 1902
2 : an agreement to meet someone at a particular time or on a particular day • He set up a date [= (more commonly) appointment] to meet with his professor. • “So we'll meet for coffee next Tuesday?” “Yes. It's a date.” [=I agree to meet you then]
3 a : an occasion when two people who have or might have a romantic relationship do an activity together • We went (out) on a few dates last year. • She asked him (out) on a date. • They went to an Italian restaurant on their first date. • I'm going (out) on a date with him tomorrow night. = I have a date with him tomorrow night. — see also BLIND DATE, DOUBLE DATE b chiefly US : a person you have a date with • I have to pick up my date at seven o'clock. • Are you bringing a date to the dance? • He has a different date every night. [=he dates a different person every night] to date : up to now : until the present time • We've received no complaints to date. [=yet] • This is their greatest success to date. • To date, most of their work has been preparatory.
up to date ¹ — used to say that something or someone has or does not have the newest information • These textbooks are not up to date. — usually used with bring or keep • They needed to bring the first edition of the textbook up to date. • It's hard to keep all our records up to date. • This memo should bring everyone up to date on the latest changes. [=give everyone the newest information about the most recent changes] • She reads the magazines to keep up to date on the latest fashions. [=to know what is fashionable] ² — used to say that something is or is not modern or new • The styles are not up to date. — usually used with bring or keep • The book brings the familiar fable up to date by setting it in the present day. — see also UP-TO-DATE
— compare ³DATE
— date-less /ˈdɛtləs/ adj • a dateless letter/photo • another dateless Friday night

2 date verb dates; dat-ed; dat-ing

1 chiefly US : to do an activity with someone you have might have a romantic relationship with : to go on a date or several dates with (someone) [+ obj] She dated a couple guys during college. • He only dates younger women. [no obj] They dated a couple of times. [=they went on a couple of dates] • They've been dating for six months. • I haven't dated [=gone on a date] in 20 years. — see also DOUBLE-DATE

2 [+ obj] : to write the date on (something) • Don't forget to sign and date the application. • The letter was not dated. • a memo dated July 12th, 2003 • a coin dated 1902 — see also ANTEDATE, BACKDATE, POSTDATE, PREDATE

3 [+ obj] : to show or find out when (something) was made or produced • Historians date the document to the early 1700s. • The ancient building was dated by a coin found in one of the rooms. • Scientists use various techniques to date fossils. — see also CARBON DATING, RADIOCARBON DATING

4 [+ obj] : to show or prove that (someone or something) is old or from a long time ago : to make (someone or something) seem old-fashioned or out-of-date • The decor really dates the house. • I'm dating myself in saying this, but I remember when cell phones were rare.

5 [no obj] : to begin to exist : to appear for the first time • This bowl dates from the sixth century. [=this bowl was made in the sixth century] • a custom that dates back [=goes back] 400 years [=a custom that began 400 years ago] • They found jewelry dating back to [=that was made in] the 1700s. • a set of rules dating as far back as the Middle Ages

— dat-able also date-able /'deɪtəbəl/ adj • All the furniture is datable to the 1800s.

3 date noun, pl dates [count] : a small, sweet, brown fruit from a kind of palm tree — compare 1 DATE

date-book /'deɪt,bʊk/ noun, pl -books [count] : a small book or calendar in which people write dates, appointments, etc., that they have planned or scheduled — called also (Brit) diary

dated adj [more ~; most ~] : coming from or belonging to a time in the past : old-fashioned or out-of-date • the restaurant's dated decor • The band's music sounds dated now. • The information was quite dated and no longer useful.

date line noun [singular] : INTERNATIONAL DATE LINE

date rape noun [noncount] : the crime of forcing someone you know to have sex with you especially while on a date.

He was accused of date rape.

— date rapist noun, pl ~ -ists [count] dating service noun, pl ~ -vices [count] : a business that introduces people to each other so that they can decide if they want to date each other • online dating services — called also (Brit) dating agency

da-tive /'deɪtɪv/ noun [noncount] grammar : the form of a noun or pronoun when it is the indirect object of a verb • a noun in the dative

— dative adj • words in the dative case • a dative ending

da-tum /'deɪtəm, 'dætəm/ noun, pl da-ta /'deɪtə, 'dætə/ or da-tums [count] formal + technical : a single piece of information • an important historical datum [=fact] usage see DATA

1 daub /'da:b/ verb daubs; daubed; daub-ing

1 [+ obj] a : to put something on something with quick, small motions : DAB • He daubed some cologne on his neck. • Daub the potatoes with a little butter. b : to write (something) on a surface • Various political slogans had been daubed on the walls.

2 : to lightly touch (something) usually with quick, small motions : DAB [+ obj] He sighed deeply and daubed his eyes with a tissue. [no obj] — usually + at • She daubed at the wound with a wet cloth.

2 daub noun, pl daubs [count] : a small amount of something : DAB • She added a few daubs of color to the painting.

daugh-ter /'da:tə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a female child.

We have a daughter and two sons. • my 20-year-old daughter • an adopted daughter — see also GODDAUGHTER, GRAND-DAUGHTER, STEPDAUGHTER

— daugh-ter-ly /'da:təli/ adj • daughterly love

daugh-ter-in-law /'da:tərɪn,lə:/ noun, pl -ters-in-law /-təzɪn,lə:/ [count] : the wife of your son — see also IN-LAW

daunt /'da:nt/ verb daunts; daunt-ed; daunt-ing [+ obj] somewhat formal : to make (someone) afraid or less confident • The project doesn't seem to daunt [=intimidate] them. [=they seem to be undaunted by the project] — often used as (be) daunted • She was not daunted by the difficult task. nothing daunted Brit, old-fashioned — used to say that someone is not afraid at all • It was a difficult situation, but nothing daunted, she refused to quit.

daunting adj [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : tending to make people afraid or less confident : very difficult to do or deal with • a daunting [=intimidating, overwhelming] task • Few things are more daunting than having to speak in front of a large crowd. • Shakespeare's plays can be daunting for a young reader.

— daunt-ing-ly adv • The system is dauntingly complex.

daunt-less /'da:ntləs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + literary : very brave • dauntless [=fearless] heroes

— daunt-less-ly adv — daunt-less-ness noun [noncount] daw-dle /'da:dəl/ verb daw-dles; daw-dled; daw-dling [no obj] : to move or act too slowly • Hurry up! There's no time to dawdle. • Come home immediately after school, and don't dawdle. • She dawdled [=lingered] over her breakfast. — daw-dler noun, pl daw-dlers [count]

1 dawn /'da:n/ noun, pl dawns

1 : the time of day when sunlight first begins to appear [noncount] We arrived at/before/after dawn. [=sunrise, day-break] • We danced till dawn. • the dawn's clear light • as dawn breaks over the city • He woke up at the crack of dawn, [=very early in the morning] • She drove from dawn to/until dusk, [=from early morning until early evening] [count] Winter brings late dawns and early sunsets. — compare DUSK

2 [count] : the beginning of something — usually singular; usually + of • People have fought with each other since the dawn of history/time/civilization. • the dawn of a new era/age • at the dawn of the 21st century

2 dawn verb dawns; dawned; dawn-ing [no obj]

1 : to begin to become light as the sun rises • They waited for the day to dawn.

2 : to start or begin • A new age/era is dawning.

3 : to begin to be understood • Suddenly, the truth dawns. — see also light dawns at 1 LIGHT

dawn on [phrasal verb] dawn on (someone) : to begin to be understood or realized by (someone) for the first time •

The solution finally dawned on him. [=he finally saw the solution] • It suddenly dawned on me that I hadn't eaten all day. • It began to dawn on her that she was lost.

— dawn-ing noun [noncount] • the dawning [=beginning] of a new day/age/era

day /'deɪ/ noun, pl days

1 [count] : a period of 24 hours beginning at midnight : one of the seven time periods that make up a week • We're open seven days a week, 365 days a year. • Payment is due on the first day of every month. • "What day is (it) today?" "Tuesday." • "What day [=date] is Friday?" "It's the 28th." • "What day of the week is the 28th?" "It's a Friday." • He spent five days in the hospital. • She left on Thursday and came back four days later. • The baby is due (to be born) in three days. • That was the happiest day of my life. • Parenthood gets better every day. • We'll be finished in a day or two. = We'll be finished in a couple of days. • It rained for a day and a half. [=it rained for about 36 hours] • The office is closed for the day. • I call him every (single) day. • Tomorrow is another day. [=there will be more opportunities to do things tomorrow] • a day of celebration/mourning [=a day for people to celebrate/mourn] • Take one pill two times a day, [=each day] • She works eight hours a day. • It costs 10 dollars a day to park there. • The party is the day after tomorrow. = The party is in two days. • It happened the day before yesterday. = It happened two days ago. • Sometimes they didn't speak to each other for days on end, [=several days] • From that day forth/forward [=less formally] from then on, I was determined to do better. ♦ If you do not look a day over a particular age, you appear to be that age. • "Today's my 50th birthday." "Really? I'm surprised. You don't look a day over 40." [=you don't look any older than 40 years old] ♦ If you say that someone is a particular age if he/she is a day, you mean that the person is that age or older. • The man she's dating is 60 if he's a day, [=he is at least sixty years old]

2 : the time of light between one night and the next : the part of the day when light from the sun can be seen [count]

What a beautiful summer day! • a cold/wet/rainy day • The shortest day of the year is usually December 22, and June 22 is usually the longest. [noncount] He sleeps during the day [=daytime] and works at night. • You can call me any time, day or night. • These animals are mostly active during the day. • I work during the day. [=I work days] • She's a student by day [=during the day] and a waitress by night. • I woke at (the) break of day, [=more commonly] dawn, daybreak, sun- rise • day workers [=people who work during the day] — opposite NIGHT

3 : the part of the day when people are usually most active and when most businesses are open [singular] I like to start my day with a cup of coffee. [=I like to drink a cup of coffee as soon as I wake up] • We decided to rent a car for the day. • How was your day? • By the end of the day, we were all exhausted. • Our neighbors play their loud music at all hours of the day. [=throughout the day] • Let's go to bed. We have an early day [=we will get out of bed early] tomorrow. • I needed to relax after a long day at work/school. [=after working/being at school for a long time] • "Thank you, ma'am. Have a nice day!" [noncount] I'll be gone all day. • It rained all day long. ✧ People sometimes say that they can't wait all day or don't have all day when they are in a hurry and need someone to move or act more quickly. These phrases are usually used in a rude way. • Hurry up! I can't wait all day! = I don't have all day. = I haven't got all day.

4 [count] : the hours during a day when a person works or goes to school or when a company does business • I put in four twelve-hour days [=workdays] this week. • She makes about 50 dollars a/per day. • He was late for his first day on the job. • They collected a full day's pay for half a day's work. • We had a busy couple of days at the store. • We have a short day tomorrow. [=we have to work fewer hours tomorrow than usual] • The school committee is pushing for a longer school day. • Tomorrow's our last day of school (for the school year). • Please allow 14 business days [=days when most businesses are open; weekdays that are not holidays] for delivery. ✧ If something is all in a day's work for someone, it is part of a person's typical work. • Solving violent crimes is all in a day's work for these police detectives. ✧ To take a/the day off is to decide not to work on a particular day. • He took the day off to go fishing.

5 [count] : the day on which something specified happens or is expected to happen • It rained on their wedding day. • the day of his birth • This Sunday is family day [=a day for families especially with young children] at the amusement park. • If you've been waiting for the perfect skiing conditions, today's the day. [=the conditions are perfect today] • So, when's the big day? When are you getting married? • Did you ever think you'd see the day when he would apologize? [=did you believe he would ever apologize?] • I never thought I would live to see the day when you would graduate from college. [=I did not think I would live long enough to see you graduate] • Let her have her day in court [=let her defend herself in a court of law] before you pass judgment on her. • This is your lucky day. [=a day when something good happens to you] ✧ If a day is your day, something good will happen to you on that day. • You never know. Maybe today will be my day. [=maybe I will succeed, win, etc., today] • I'm sorry you lost. I guess it just wasn't your day. ✧ People sometimes use the phrase that'll be the day to say that they think something will not happen. • "Do you think he'll ever admit he made a mistake?" "That'll be the day!"

6 [count] : a particular period of time • She was the most talented actress of her day. [=during the time when she lived and worked as an actress] • In my day [=when I was young], boys asked girls out on dates, not the other way around. • Life was simpler in my grandmother's day, but it wasn't easier. • We sell books dating from 1875 to the present day. [=to-day] — often plural • He often spoke about his days as a soldier. • I was quite an athlete in my younger days. [=when I was young] • The practice dates back to the days of ancient Rome. • the olden days • my college days [=when I was in college] • the days of stagecoaches [=when stagecoaches were used] • In those days many factory workers were children. ✧ The saying those were the days is sometimes used to say that a period of time in the past was pleasant and often better than the present time. • When I was a kid, we spent our summers at the beach. Those were the days! • In the 1960s, everything seemed possible. Those were the good old days.

(all) the livelong day see LIVELONG

any day now : within the next few days : SOON • We're expecting a phone call from him any day now. [=in the near future] • Any day now, the decision could be made.

at the end of the day see ¹END

call it a day see ¹CALL

carry/win the day : to win or be successful • The "no" vote carried the day. [=prevailed] • We believe that truth and justice will carry/win the day.

day after day : for several days without stopping or changing • She wore the same pants day after day. • Day after day, we hear the same complaints from our customers.

day and night or night and day 1 : all the time : without stopping • We've been working on it day and night. = We've been working on it night and day. 2 : complete or total • The difference between them is day and night. = The difference between them is night and day. [=they are completely different] day by day : in small amounts every day • Day by day, the situation is becoming more complex. • She felt herself growing stronger day by day. [=every day] ✧ If you take it/things day by day, you make progress in a slow and careful way by dealing with each day as it comes. • He hopes to make a full recovery after his surgery, but right now he's just taking it day by day. [=taking it one day at a time, taking each day as it comes] • I don't know if our relationship is going to work out. I'm taking things day by day at this point.

day in, day out or day in and day out : every day for many days : for a long time without stopping or changing • She does the same thing at her job day in, day out. • It can be difficult to spend all of your time with one person day in and day out.

days are numbered see ²NUMBER

early days (yet) see ²EARLY

every dog has its day see ¹DOG

for a rainy day see RAINY from day to day : every day • His opinions seem to change from day to day. [=from one day to the next] — see also DAY-TO-DAY from one day to the next : every day • She changes her mind from one day to the next. [=from day to day] : as one day becomes another day • You never know from one day to the next what's going to happen to you.

give (someone) the time of day chiefly US, informal : to pay attention to someone — usually used in negative statements • No one would give us the time of day. • I needed their help, but they wouldn't give me the time of day.

glory days see ¹GLORY

have seen/known better days see ¹BETTER

in all your born days see BORN in the cold light of day see ¹COLD

in this day and age : at the present time in history • Computers are essential to getting work done in this day and age. [=nowadays] • It's unbelievable that in this day and age people are still dying from hunger.

it is not every day — used to say that something happens very rarely • It's not every day that I get to meet the President. • Go ahead and spend the extra money. It's not every day that you get married.

late in the day see ¹LATE

make someone's day : to cause someone's day to be pleasant or happy • Thanks for the compliment. You've really made my day! • It made my day to see his smiling face.

of the day 1 : served in a restaurant as a special item on a particular day • What's the fish/vegetable of the day? • Our soup of the day [=du jour] is vegetable beef. 2 : of a particular period of time • What were some of the popular movies of the day? [=that were popular during that time] • the important issues of the day

one day 1 : at some time in the future • One day, it'll happen. You'll see. • People may one day [=someday] be able to take vacations to the moon. 2 : on a day in the past • I went to her house one day and had lunch with her. • One day, we had a terrible argument.

on the day Brit : on the day that an event happens • I know we seem a bit disorganized now, but we'll be all right on the day. • Whether we win or not depends on which players are healthy on the day.

save the day see ¹SAVE

see the light of day see ¹LIGHT

some day : at some time in the future : SOMEDAY • Some day I may be rich enough to own two houses. • I'd like to return there some day.

take each day as it comes or take one day at a time or take it/things one day at a time : to deal with each day's problems as they come instead of worrying about the future • There's no way to know what the future will bring, so just take each day as it comes and hope for the best. • Take one day at a time and don't expect things to change overnight. • It's important to take things one day at a time so you don't feel too overwhelmed.

the other day see ¹OTHER

these days : at the present time • It seems that everyone has a cell phone these days. [=nowadays] • What kind of music are you listening to these days? • These days, she has a very busy social life. ✧ The phrase one of these days means at some time in the future. • One of these days, [=one day] I'm going to buy myself a boat.

those days : a period of time in the past • Remember when we were kids and life was easy? Well, those days are gone. •

In those days, women weren't allowed to own property. • No one knew in those days what caused the disease. ✧ If it is (just) one of those days, it is a day in which many bad or unpleasant things happen. • It's just one of those days when everything seems to go wrong. • I missed the bus and sprained my ankle; it was one of those days when nothing was going right.

to the day : to exactly a specified number of years • It's been 100 years to the day since their great discovery. • Soon after their wedding, almost a year to the day, they got divorced.

to this day : up to now : continuing until today • To this day, I still don't know what happened. • The belief persists to this day.

day-bed /'deɪ,bed/ noun, pl -beds [count] : a bed that is made to be used also as a seat or couch day-break /'deɪ,breɪk/ noun [noncount] : the time of day when sunlight first begins to appear • She left at daybreak [=dawn, the break of day] day care noun [noncount] : a place, program, or organization that takes care of children or sick adults during the day usually while their family members are at work • She left work early to pick up her son from day care. — often used before another noun • He works for/at a day care center.

¹day-dream /'deɪ,dri:m/ noun, pl -dreams [count] : pleasant thoughts about your life or future that you have while you are awake • I drifted off in a daydream during the class.

²daydream verb -dreams; -dreamed; -dream-ing [no obj] : to think pleasant thoughts about your life or future while you are awake • Instead of studying, he spent the afternoon daydreaming about his vacation.

— day-dream-er noun, pl -ers [count]

Day-Glo /'deɪ,glou/ trademark — used for materials or colors that are very bright day laborer noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a person who is hired for a day or more to do work that usually does not require special skills • They hire day laborers to pick the apples.

day-light /'deɪ,lait/ noun, pl -lights

¹ [noncount] : the light of the sun and sky during the day : the natural light of day • Open up the curtains and let some daylight into the room. • As daylight fades into darkness, everyone returns to their homes. • For pictures taken in daylight, use a different film. • We could see daylight through the cracks in the wall. • They stole my car in broad daylight, [=during the day; without darkness to hide them] • Some of the stuff in that closet hasn't seen daylight [=seen the light of day] since the 1970s.

² [noncount] a : the time of day when the sky is light • It's almost daylight. [=daytime] • during the hours of daylight = during daylight hours b : the time of day when sunlight first begins to appear • I arrived before daylight. [=dawn, daybreak] • The accident happened just after daylight.

³ [noncount] informal : distance or difference between people or things • They said there was no daylight between the two governments' positions. • The team has won five straight games to put some daylight between themselves and their nearest rivals. [=to gain a larger lead over their nearest rivals]

⁴ daylights [plural] informal ✧ To scare/frighten the (living) daylights out of someone is to frighten someone very much. • You scared the daylights out of me! ✧ To beat/kick/knock the (living) daylights out of someone is to hit or kick someone very badly. • They beat the daylights out of that guy.

daylight saving time noun [noncount] US : a period of the year between spring and fall when clocks in the U.S. are set one hour ahead of standard time — called also daylight savings time; compare BRITISH SUMMER TIME day-lily /'deɪ,lɪli/ noun, pl -lilies [count] : a kind of plant that has long thin leaves and usually yellow or orange flowers that bloom for a short time day-long /'deɪ,lɑ:n/ adj : lasting an entire day • a daylong tour of the city

day one or Day One noun [singular] : the first day or very beginning of something • We've known this about the project since/from Day One. • The new governor will start implementing these changes on day one. [=the first day of the governor's term]

day-pack /'deɪ,pæk/ noun, pl -packs [count] : a bag for carrying things that has two shoulder straps and is carried on the back : a usually small backpack — see picture at CAMPING day-room /'deɪ,ru:m/ noun, pl -rooms [count] : a room in a hospital, prison, etc., where people can watch television, talk, etc.

days /'deɪz/ adv, chiefly US : during the day : in the daytime • She works days and goes to school nights. — compare NIGHTS

day-time /'deɪ,taim/ noun [noncount]

¹ : the time of day when the sky is light • These animals are active during the daytime. • daytime [=daylight] hours

² : television that is shown during the day • It's the best new show on daytime. — usually used before another noun • day-time talk shows • daytime TV

day-to-day /'deɪ,tə,deɪ/ adj, always used before a noun

¹ : done or happening every day • She is in charge of the company's day-to-day operations. • day-to-day activities • Little is known about his day-to-day [=everyday] life. • our day-to-day problems/concerns/worries • people who use computers on a day-to-day basis [=every day]

² : preparing for one day at a time without thinking about the future • He had been living a day-to-day existence.

day trader noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a person who tries to earn money by buying stocks and then selling them very quickly after they increase slightly in value

— day trading noun [noncount]

daze /'deɪz/ noun [singular] : a state in which someone (such as a person who has been surprised or injured) is not able to think or act normally — used in the phrase in a daze • After the test, I spent the rest of the day in a daze. • lost in a daze dazed /'deɪzd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not able to think or act normally because you have been surprised, injured, etc. • She was dazed and confused after being hit on the head with a golf ball. • He had a dazed [=stunned] look on his face.

daz-zle /'dæzəl/ verb daz-zles; daz-zled; daz-zling

¹ [+ obj] of a bright light : to cause (someone) to be unable to see for a short time • He was dazzled [=blinded] by the camera flash.

² : to greatly impress or surprise (someone) by being very attractive or exciting [+ obj] Elvis always dazzled his audiences. • Visitors were dazzled by the mansion's ornate rooms. — often + with • She dazzled us with her wit. [no obj] She truly dazzles in her live concerts. — see also RAZZLE-DAZZLE

— dazzle noun [noncount] • the dazzle [=sparkle] of the diamonds — daz-zler noun, pl daz-zlers [count] • He's a real dazzler. — dazzling adj [more ~; most ~] • a dazzling array/variety of jewelry • the most dazzling display of color • her dazzling smile — daz-zling-ly adv [more ~; most ~] • Her teeth were dazzlingly white.

dB abbr decibel

DC abbr ¹ direct current ² or D.C. District of Columbia

D-day noun [singular] : a day on which something important is planned or expected to happen • The day after Thanksgiving is D-day for many retail stores. ✧ D-day is most commonly used to refer to the specific date of June 6, 1944, when Allied forces began the invasion of France in World War II.

DDS abbr doctor of dental surgery

DDT /,di:,di:'ti:/ noun [noncount] : a poisonous chemical that was used especially in the past to protect plants from insects and that is now banned in the U.S.

DE abbr Delaware

de- prefix

¹ : do the opposite of • decode • deactivate

² a : remove (a specified thing) from something • declaw a cat • defrost a windshield b : remove someone or something from something • The king was dethroned. c : leave or get off something • derail • deplane

³ : reduce • devalue currency

dea-con /'di:kən/ noun, pl -cons [count]

¹ : an official in some Christian churches whose rank is just below a priest

² : a member of some Christian churches who has special duties

dea-con-ess /'di:kənəs/ noun, pl -ess-es [count] : a woman in some Christian churches who has special duties : a female deacon de-ac-ti-vate /di'æktə'veɪt/ verb -vates; -vat-ed; -vat-ing [+ obj] : to make (something) no longer active or effective • They were able to deactivate [= (more commonly) dis- arm] the bomb. • deactivate an alarm

dead /ˈdɛd/ adj

1 : no longer alive or living : no longer having life • Her husband is dead. He died last year. • She's been dead for over 10 years now. [=she died more than 10 years ago] • a dead insect/bird/dog • dead trees/leaves/skin • the dead [=lifeless] bodies of the soldiers • He was found dead in his apartment yesterday. • He lay dead on the floor. • The lost mountain climbers were believed/presumed dead. • She shot him dead. [=she killed him by shooting him] • When we found her, she was more dead than alive. [=almost dead; very close to death] • The poster said that the robbers were wanted dead or alive. • He was as good as dead. [=he was almost dead] • She taught her dog to play dead. [=to lie on its back and pretend to be dead] usage see DECEASED ✧ To leave (someone or something) for dead is to leave a person or animal that you know will probably die instead of trying to help. • They hit the dog with their car and left it for dead on the side of the road. • He had been badly beaten and left for dead.

2 a dead·er; -est [or more ~; most ~] : not able to feel or move • My hand was dead [=numb] after holding the bag for so long. b : very tired • Our legs were completely dead after hiking all day. • I arrived home from work half dead. [=exhausted] • By the end of the day the workers were dead on their feet. [=very tired but still standing, working, etc.] c : feeling no emotions • After the war, I was emotionally dead. [=I was no longer able to feel happiness, sadness, etc.]

3 informal : certain to be punished or hurt • I'm dead if I come in late for work again. • If I ever get my hands on you, you're dead!

4 of a machine or device : no longer working especially because of not having electricity • The car's battery is dead. • dead electrical outlets • a dead telephone line • The phones went dead during the storm.

5 : no longer active or operating • a dead [=extinct] volcano • dead companies • That plan is dead for now. We've started developing a new one. • a dead deal

6 : naturally not living • rocks and other dead [=inanimate] matter

7 dead·er; -est [or more ~; most ~] : lacking in activity or excitement • The store's been dead [=quiet] all day. • This party's completely dead. [=it is not lively] • The audience was kind of dead tonight.

8 — used to describe a time when nothing is being said or done • We played cards to fill in the dead time between the two performances.

9 : no longer performed or enjoyed • He says that disco is dead. • a dead art form

10 of a language : no longer spoken • Latin is a dead language.

11 sports — used to describe a situation in which play stops during a game • In American football, the ball is dead [=out of play] after an incomplete forward pass. • The ball is dead if it goes beyond the white line.

12 a : complete, total, or absolute • There was dead silence in the room. • She spoke with dead certainty. • I chased them at a dead run for three miles. • The camera is a dead give-away [=clearly shows] that you're a tourist. • She fell to the floor in a dead faint. • The evening wasn't all I had hoped for, but it wasn't a dead loss. [=it wasn't completely bad] • He's a dead ringer for [=he looks exactly like] his father. • (Brit, informal) They're a dead cert [=a sure thing, a sure bet] to win. [=they are certain to win] b : sudden and complete • The bus came to a dead [=abrupt] stop.

13 : perfect or exact • Her arrow hit the dead [=very] center of the target.

(as) dead as a doornail (chiefly US) or chiefly Brit (as) dead as a dodo informal — used to stress that someone or something is dead • The old captain was dead as a doornail. — often used figuratively • The negotiations are as dead as a doornail. • The deal is dead as a doornail.

beat a dead horse or flog a dead horse see ¹HORSE

catch/see (someone) dead informal ✧ If you say that people wouldn't/won't catch/see you dead or that you wouldn't/won't be caught/seen dead doing something, you refuse to let others see you doing it because it would cause you to be embarrassed. • I wouldn't be caught/seen dead wearing that hideous outfit. • She won't be caught dead going to the movies with her obnoxious brother.

dead and buried or dead and gone 1 : no longer living : DEAD • He's been dead and buried for 50 years. • relatives long dead and gone 2 : no longer used or accepted • Those old family traditions are dead and buried. • That idea is dead and buried. • The days of our childhood are dead and gone.

dead from the neck up informal : very stupid or foolish • Most of his friends are dead from the neck up.

dead in the water informal : not making any progress : not having any chance of success • The peace talks were dead in the water. • His election campaign is dead in the water.

dead men tell no tales see TALE dead on arrival : having died before getting to a hospital, emergency room, etc. • The victim was dead on arrival at the hospital. — often used figuratively • Some are saying that any new tax proposal would be dead on arrival. [=would have no chances of being approved]

dead to rights see ³RIGHT

dead to the world informal : sleeping very deeply • You can't wake him up. He's dead to the world.

drop dead informal 1 : to fall to the ground and die very suddenly • She dropped dead while playing basketball. 2 — used as a rude way to tell someone to leave you alone • "He asked you for help after being such a jerk? You should have told him to drop dead!" — see also DROP-DEAD

knock dead see ¹KNOCK

over my dead body see BODY

— dead·ness noun [noncount]

²dead noun, pl dead

1 [plural] : people who have died • By the end of the war, there were over two million dead. — usually used with the • the living and the dead • His mother and brother were among the dead. • the souls/spirits of the dead

2 the dead : the state of being dead — usually used in the phrases rise from the dead or come back from the dead or return from the dead to mean to become alive again after dying • For a moment, I thought that my grandfather had come back from the dead. • They believe that Jesus Christ rose from the dead.

3 [noncount] : the time in the middle of the night or winter • She left in the dead of the night. = She left at dead of night. [=she left very late at night] • He began his journey in the dead of winter.

³dead adv

1 : completely or totally • I think you're dead [=absolutely, utterly] wrong. • She's dead certain that she can finish the job. • We were dead tired by the end of the day. • He's not joking. In fact, he's dead serious. • They were both dead drunk and passed out on the floor. • She finished the race dead last. • The mayor was dead set against [=strongly opposed to] the plan. • She was dead set on going to college. [=she was completely certain she wanted to go to college]

2 : in a sudden and complete way • He stopped dead in his tracks. [=stopped suddenly]

3 : directly or exactly • The island is dead ahead of us. [=the island is right in front of us] • She hung the picture dead center on the wall. [=she hung the picture in the exact center of the wall]

dead air noun [noncount] : a period of silence especially during a radio broadcast • After the commercial, there were a few seconds of dead air before the show continued.

dead·beat /ˈdɛd.bi:t/ noun, pl -beats [count] disapproving

1 : a lazy person : a person who does not work • His friends are just a bunch of deadbeats.

2 chiefly US : a person who does not pay money that is owed • He was accused of being a deadbeat. — often used before another noun • a deadbeat dad [=a father who owes money to his former wife to help raise their children but does not pay it]

dead bolt noun, pl ~ bolts [count] chiefly US : a lock with a heavy sliding bar that is moved by turning a knob or key — called also (Brit) deadlock, mortise lock dead duck noun, pl ~ ducks [count] informal + humorous : a person or thing that is certain to fail, suffer, or be punished • If they find out what I did, I'm a dead duck!

dead·en /ˈdɛdn/ verb -ens; -ened; -en-ing [+ obj] : to make (something) weaker or less noticeable • All the different perfumes deadened [=dulled] her sense of smell. • He took aspirin to dead the pain. • The new insulation will help to dead the noise from the street outside.

— deadening adj [more ~; most ~] • All the different perfumes had a deadening effect on her sense of smell.

dead end noun, pl ~ ends [count]

1 : a street that ends instead of joining with another street so that there is only one way in and out of it • We came to a dead end and had to turn around.

2 : a situation, plan, or way of doing something that leads to nothing further • My career has hit a dead end. • political dead ends

— dead-end /'ded,ɛnd/ adj, always used before a noun • dead-end streets/roads • He's stuck in a dead-end job. [=a job that does not pay you very much and does not give you a chance to get a better job] • a dead-end relationship dead-head /'ded,hed/ verb -heads; -head-ed; -head-ing [+ obj] : to remove dead flowers from (a plant) • She's out in the garden deadheading the rosebushes.

dead heat noun, pl ~ heats [count] : a contest in which two or more competitors earn the same score or finish at the same time — usually singular • The two horses finished in a dead heat. • The election poll showed a statistical dead heat. [=showed that the two candidates were equally popular]

dead letter noun, pl ~ -ters [count]

1 : a letter that cannot be delivered or returned by the post office because of an incorrect address or other problem

2 : a law or agreement that has lost its force or authority — usually singular • Unfortunately, the treaty is now a dead letter in this country.

dead-line /'ded,lain/ noun, pl -lines : a date or time when something must be finished : the last day, hour, or minute that something will be accepted [count] She worked on her composition right up until the deadline. • We had to hurry to meet/make the deadline. • We missed the deadline. • The project was completed a week past its deadline. • The deadline for submitting college applications is April 19th. • They're working under/with a deadline. [noncount] They're working under deadline.

1 dead-lock /'ded,lɔ:k/ noun, pl -locks [count]

1 : a situation in which an agreement cannot be made : a situation in which ending a disagreement is impossible because neither side will give up something that it wants • The jury was unable to break/end the deadlock. [=unable to agree on a verdict] • City councilors reached a deadlock over the law.

2 US : a situation in which players, teams, etc., have the same score : TIE • His goal broke a 3–3 deadlock.

3 Brit : DEAD BOLT

2 deadlock verb -locks; -locked; -lock-ing

1 [no obj] : to be unable to end a disagreement • The jury deadlocked [=failed to agree on a verdict] after three days of deliberations.

2 US : to have the same number of points, votes, etc., as your opponent [no obj] The two teams deadlocked [=tied] in a scoreless match. [+ obj] Her home run deadlocked [=tied] the game at 3–3.

— deadlocked adj • City councilors are deadlocked over the budget. • a deadlocked jury • a deadlocked game

1 dead-ly /'dedli/ adj dead-li-er; -est [or more ~; most ~]

1 : causing or able to cause death • deadly weapons • the world's most deadly snake • a more deadly form of the disease • They launched a deadly attack. • Officers are allowed to use deadly force if necessary. — compare DEATHLY

2 : extremely accurate and effective • She shoots with deadly accuracy. • a basketball player with deadly aim

3 always used before a noun : extreme or complete • A deadly silence followed his question. • The two gang leaders are deadly enemies. • He spoke with deadly seriousness.

4 informal : very boring • The lecture was pretty deadly.

— dead-li-ness noun [noncount] • the deadliness of the disease synonyms DEADLY, MORTAL, FATAL, and LETHAL mean causing or able to cause death. DEADLY describes something that is very dangerous and likely or able to cause death. • deadly diseases • deadly weapons MORTAL describes a wound or injury that has already caused death or will soon cause death. • She received a mortal wound and died the next day. FATAL describes something that has actually caused a person's death. • The disease is sometimes fatal. • The wounds later proved to be fatal. LETHAL usually describes something like a poison that is used for the purpose of destroying life. • a lethal gas

2 deadly adv deadlier; -est [or more ~; most ~] : extremely or completely • He's deadly [=dead] serious about finding another job. • a deadly boring/dull meeting

deadly night-shade /-'naitʃeɪd/ noun, pl ~ -shades [count] : BELLADONNA deadly sin noun, pl ~ sins [count] : one of seven sins that in the Christian religion are considered to be very serious and are believed to cause other sins ♦ The seven deadly sins are usually considered to be pride, envy, lust, gluttony, greed, anger, and sloth.

dead meat noun [noncount] informal + humorous : a person or thing that is certain to fail, suffer, or be punished • Politically, she's dead meat. [=her political career is ruined] • If they find out what you did, you're dead meat!

dead-on /'ded'ɑ:n/ adj, somewhat informal : exactly correct or accurate • His impersonation of the President was dead-on. • She was dead-on about what was going to happen. • a dead-on analysis

1 dead-pan /'ded,pæn/ adj [more ~; most ~] : showing no feeling or emotion — used to describe humor that is done or said in a serious way • deadpan humor • a deadpan comedian • the deadpan delivery of his jokes

— deadpan adv • "We're not interested," she said deadpan.

2 deadpan noun [noncount] : a way of saying funny things without showing any feeling or emotion • He tells the joke in his best deadpan. • She's a master of deadpan. • the art of deadpan

3 deadpan verb -pans; -pan-ned; -pan-ning [+ obj] : to say (something funny) in a way that shows no feeling or emotion • "I went back to doing push-ups again, and this time I almost completed one," he deadpanned.

dead presidents noun [plural] US slang : U.S. money in the form of paper bills • a briefcase full of dead presidents

dead weight noun, pl ~ weights

1 : something heavy that is being carried [count] The injured child was a dead weight in her arms. [noncount] carrying 150 pounds of dead weight

2 : someone or something that makes success more difficult [count] He was a dead weight on the team this year. [noncount] The company has a lot of dead weight [=deadwood] it needs to get rid of.

dead-wood /'ded,wud/ noun [noncount]

1 : people or things that are not useful or helpful in achieving a goal • She's determined to get the deadwood out of the company. • the government's bureaucratic deadwood

2 : dead wood on a tree • a healthy tree with no deadwood

deaf /'def/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not able to hear • He has been deaf since birth. • a deaf child • She's completely/partially deaf in her right ear. • a disease that caused her to go deaf [=become unable to hear] • He's going a little deaf so you'll have to speak up. • (informal) My grandmother's a sweet old lady, but she's as deaf as a post. [=she's very deaf] — see also TONE-DEAF

2 : not willing to listen to or consider something — usually + to • They were deaf to all of our suggestions. • deaf to reason fall on deaf ears see ¹EAR

the deaf : deaf people : people who are not able to hear • She goes to a school for the deaf.

turn a deaf ear see ¹EAR

— deaf-ness noun [noncount] • The disease can cause blindness and deafness.

deaf-en /'defən/ verb -ens; -ened; -en-ing [+ obj] : to make (someone) unable to hear • We were deafened by the explosion.

deafening adj [more ~; most ~] : extremely loud • The sign fell with a deafening [=earsplitting] crash. • the deafening roar of the planes • The music was deafening. ♦ If there is a deafening silence or the silence is deafening, there is a lack of sound or speech that is very noticeable. • The silence was deafening as they both sat there stubbornly refusing to apologize. • As the controversy rages on, the deafening silence from the White House is drawing increasing criticism.

— deaf-en-ing-ly adv • deafeningly loud music

deaf-mute /'def'mju:t/ noun, pl -mutes [count] old-fashioned + often offensive : a deaf person who cannot speak

1 deal /'di:l/ verb deals; dealt /'delt/; deal-ing

1 : to give cards to the players in a card game [no obj] It's your turn to deal. [+ obj] Each player is dealt five cards. • She was dealt a full house. • dealing out the cards for a game of poker — often used figuratively • She was dealt a bad/cruel/terrible hand in life. [=many bad things happened to her throughout her life] • You have to play the hand you're dealt. [=you must accept and deal with the things that happen to you in your life]

2 [+ obj] : to give (something or an amount of something) to someone • The offending players were dealt harsh penalties. • The team was dealt another loss last night. [=the team lost another game] — usually + out • The teacher dealt [=handed] out three books to each of us. • The author deals [=doles] out advice on all kinds of subjects.

3 : to buy and sell (drugs, art, etc.) as a business [+ obj] She got caught dealing drugs in school. • [no obj] (informal) How long has he been dealing? [=dealing drugs] — see also wheel and deal at ²WHEEL deal a blow ♦ To deal a blow to someone means to hit someone. • (formal) He dealt his enemy a mighty blow. [=he hit his enemy hard] — usually used figuratively • The factory closing will deal a serious/severe/devastating/crushing blow to the town's economy. • Her career as an ice skater was dealt a fatal blow [=her career was ruined] when she broke her leg.

deal in [phrasal verb] 1 deal in (something) a : to buy and sell (something) as a business • He deals in rare books. b : to use or be involved in (something) • tales dealing in myth and mystery • We don't deal in rumor or gossip. 2 deal (someone) in : to include someone in a card game •

"Do you want to play cards with us?" "Sure, deal me in."

deal with [phrasal verb] deal with (someone or something)

1 : to be about (something) : to have (something) as a subject • The book deals with World War II. • Her speech dealt with health care and the nation's economy. • The film deals with some serious issues. 2 : to make business agreements with (someone) • He deals fairly with all his customers. • Their salespeople are very easy to deal with. 3 : to do something about (a person or thing that causes a problem or difficult situation) • The government dealt harshly with the rebels. • I'll deal with you later. • Who's going to deal with this mess? • I dealt with the problem myself. • Can you suggest some ways of dealing with a difficult child? • We weren't able/equipped/prepared to deal with such a large crowd of people. • He needs to learn how to deal with his anger. 4 : to accept or try to accept (something that is true and cannot be changed) : to control your feelings about (something) • She's still trying to deal with his death. • I'm still dealing with the fact that we lost the game. • The weather is bad, but we'll just have to deal with it.

— deal-er noun, pl -ers [count] • a used car dealer • drug dealers

²deal noun, pl deals

1 [singular] : a large number or amount : a lot — used in the phrases a good deal or a great deal • It doesn't cost a great deal of money. [=doesn't cost much money] • I spent a good deal of time [=a lot of time] thinking about it. • It would mean a great deal to us if you would come. • I learned a great deal from my mistakes. • It's a good deal [=much] faster to go by bus. • I felt a great deal better after the surgery. • The town hasn't changed a great deal since we left.

2 [count] : the act of giving cards to each player in a card game — usually singular • It's your deal. [=it's your turn to deal] • I have time for one more deal. [=hand, round]

— compare ³DEAL

³deal noun, pl deals

1 [count] : an agreement between two or more people or groups that helps each in some way • business deals • I'll make you a deal. If you help me fix my flat tire, I'll buy you dinner. • The company made/negotiated a new 10-million-dollar deal with the government. • We were about to close/seal the deal [=make the agreement official] when we realized that there was a mistake in the contract. • The two sides finally struck a deal [=came to an agreement] after weeks of negotiations. • an arms deal [=an agreement to buy or sell weapons] between two countries • The band got/landed/signed a record deal. = The band cut a deal with the record company. • She got a book deal with a major publisher. • We were offered a package deal [=a single price for a set of items or services] that included plane tickets, hotel accommodations, and tickets to shows in the area. • We think it's a fair/square deal. [=a fair agreement] — see also DONE DEAL, SWEETHEART DEAL

2 [singular] : a way of treating someone • He was going to take the promotion here but another company offered him a better deal. [=offered him more money, benefits, prestige, etc.] — see also BIG DEAL, RAW DEAL

3 [count] : a price that is fair or lower than the usual price • We got a (good) deal on a new car. • I think we can get a better deal somewhere else. • Now that's a great deal!

4 the deal informal : basic information about a person, thing, or situation • What's the deal [=story, situation] with that guy? • Here's the deal. You're going to stay here while I go find help. • What's the deal with those shoes you're wearing? [=Why are you wearing those shoes?]

one-shot deal : something that happens only one time • This offer is a one-shot-deal. • We don't want this to be a one-shot deal. We hope to have the festival every year.

the real deal informal : something or someone that is real or genuine : a thing or person that is not a copy or imitation • These diamonds aren't fake. They're the real deal. • That guy looked so much like Elvis, I almost thought he was the real deal. [=I almost thought he was Elvis]

— compare ²DEAL

deal-er-ship /'di:lə,ʃɪp/ noun, pl -ships [count] : a business that sells a specified kind of product • a car dealership

dealing noun, pl -ings

1 deal-ings [plural] : the actions that are a main part of the relationship between people, groups, organizations, etc. : social or business interactions • There were reports of shady dealings between the two sides. — often + with • They were honest in their dealings with other nations. • her financial dealings with the company

2 [noncount] : a way of behaving or of doing business • He has a reputation for fair dealing.

dealt past tense and past participle of ¹DEAL

dean /'di:n/ noun, pl deans [count]

1 : a person who is in charge of one of the parts of a university (such as a college or school) • She's the dean of the university's business school. • the dean of liberal arts

2 : a person whose job is to give advice to the students in a college or high school and to make sure that they obey the school's rules • the dean of students

3 US : a person who has more experience in or knowledge about a particular profession, subject, etc., than anyone or almost anyone • She's considered the dean [=doyen] of American architecture.

4 : a Christian priest who is in charge of several other priests or churches

— dean-ship /'di:n,ʃɪp/ noun, pl -ships [count] • She recently resigned her deanship.

dean's list noun, pl ~ lists [count] US : a list of students at a college or university who have earned high grades — compare HONOR ROLL

¹dear /'diə/ adj dear-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : loved or valued very much • He's a dear [=precious] friend of mine. • my dearest friend • Our neighbor is a dear old lady. — often + to • My grandmother was very dear to me. • The book is dear to the hearts of many young readers.

2 — used in writing to address someone • Dear Sir or Madam • Dear Jane

3 chiefly Brit : having a high price : EXPENSIVE • Peaches are dear this time of year.

for dear life see ¹LIFE

2 dear adv : with love and respect — used in the phrase hold dear • She lost her family, her home—everything that she held dear. [=loved and valued most] • the way of life they hold dear — see also cost you dear at ²COST

³dear noun, pl dears [count]

1 — used to address someone you love • Hello, dear. [=darling, sweetheart] • Yes, my dear? • John, dear, what time will you be home?

2 : a kind and helpful person • Be a dear and take this for me.

4 dear interj — used especially to express surprise, fear, or disappointment • Oh dear! What a mess! • Oh, dear me! • Dear God! What are we going to do?

dear-ly /'diəli/ adv [more ~; most ~]

1 : very much • She loved him dearly. • I would dearly love to see them again. • He dearly wanted to believe that it was true. • her dearly beloved husband [=her husband, whom she loved very much] — see also dearly beloved at BELOVED

2 : in a way that is difficult or severe • The men paid dearly for their crimes. [=they were punished severely] — see also cost you dearly at ²COST dearth /'dæθ/ noun [singular] formal : the state or condition of not having enough of something : LACK — + of • The dearth [=scarcity] of jobs in the city forced many families to leave the area. • a dearth of evidence death /'dεθ/ noun, pl deaths

1 a [noncount] : the end of life : the time when someone or something dies • birth, life, and eventual death • fear of death • She is close to death. [=she will die soon] • death threats • The hostage managed to escape death. [=avoid being killed] • The newspaper did not report the cause of death. • She was convicted of murder and sentenced/condemned to death. [=told that she would be killed as punishment] — see also BRAIN DEATH, death knell at KNELL b [count] : the ending of a particular person's life • People around the world

mourned his death. • She worked at the newspaper until her death at (age) 74. • The accident resulted in two deaths. • The number of deaths from cancer is rising. • He died a violent/tragic death. • There has been a death in the family. • She survived the plane crash and many years later died a natural death. [=from natural causes; because she was old] • The general met his death on the battlefield.

2 [count] : the permanent end of something that is not alive : the ruin or destruction of something • the death of innocence • the death of vaudeville • the death of a marriage

3 Death [noncount] literary : the force that ends life and is often shown in art or literature as a skeleton • Death could be seen lurking in the corner of the painting. • when Death comes to take me away

a matter of life and death see ¹LIFE

at death's door : about to die : very sick and in danger of dying • He is sick, but he's not at death's door.

be the death of : to cause (someone) to die • I worry that his drug addiction will be the death of him. — often used figuratively • Those kids will be the death of me! [=they worry and upset me very much]

catch your death (of cold) see ¹CATCH

like death warmed over (US) or Brit like death warmed up informal : very tired or sick • We worked through the night, and by morning we looked like death warmed over.

put to death ✧ A person or animal that is put to death is killed at a scheduled time by someone who is legally allowed to do so. • a serial killer who was put to death [=executed] for the murder of 28 people • The dog that attacked the children was later put to death.

to death 1 — used to say how someone died or was killed • He was shot/stabbed to death. • They froze/starved to death. • She drank herself to death. [=drank a lot of alcohol until it made her so sick that she died] 2 : very much : to a great degree • We were bored/scared to death. [=extremely bored/scared] • That teacher works her students to death. [=she makes them work too hard] • He's wonderful! I just love him to death! • I'm sick to death of hearing about the scandal. [=I don't want to hear anything more about the scandal; I've heard too much about it] • That song has been done to death. [=many musicians have performed that song] to the death 1 : until someone is dead • The warriors would fight to the death. • a battle to the death 2 : with all of your energy and effort • Some parents do not want the school to be closed, and say they'll fight to the death for it. — see also BLACK DEATH, KISS OF DEATH, SUDDEN DEATH

— death-like /'dɛθ,laɪk/ adj • a deathlike state

death-bed /'dɛθ,bɛd/ noun, pl -beds

on your deathbed : in the bed that you will soon die in • She made a startling confession on her deathbed. [=just before she died] — often used figuratively to say that someone is very close to dying or very sick • She's convinced that the old man is on his deathbed, but he looks healthy enough to me. • I was so sick with the flu—practically on my deathbed.

— deathbed adj, always used before a noun • a deathbed confession [=a confession made just before someone dies]

death benefit noun, pl ~ -fits [count] : money that an insurance company pays to the family of someone who has died because that person had life insurance death blow noun, pl ~ blows [count]

1 : an act that kills a person or animal • The general received his death blow in battle.

2 : an act or event that causes the end of something • Recent declines in the economy have dealt the ailing company its final death blow.

death camp noun, pl ~ camps [count] : a place where large numbers of prisoners are taken to be killed during a war : a concentration camp where many people are killed • Nazi death camps

death certificate noun, pl ~ -cates [count] : an official document that gives information about a person's death (such as when and how the death happened)

death-defying adj : very dangerous • death-defying stunts death duty noun, pl ~ duties [count] Brit : ESTATE TAX

death grip noun [singular] : a very tight hold on something • He drove straight through the storm, never loosening his death grip on the steering wheel. — often used figuratively to suggest that something has a powerful and harmful effect on something else • The group is trying to release the death grip [=hold] that drugs have on their neighborhood.

death-less /'dɛθləs/ adj — used to describe something that will never end or be forgotten • deathless [=immortal] fame — often used in a joking or ironic way to describe writing that is very bad • The band's deathless lyrics still haunt the airwaves. • deathless prose

¹death-ly /'dɛθli/ adj : relating to or seeming like death : causing you to think of death • a deathly fear • A deathly silence filled the room. — compare ¹DEADLY

²deathly adv

1 : in a way that is close to death or dying • He became deathly ill.

2 : in a way that makes you think of death • The room was deathly [=utterly] quiet. • She's deathly afraid of snakes.

death mask noun, pl ~ masks [count] : a mask of a person's face that is created just after the person has died by pressing a substance over the face and leaving it there until it becomes hard death penalty noun

the death penalty : death as a punishment given by a court of law for very serious crimes • If convicted, he could face the death penalty. [=his punishment may be that he will be killed] • She opposes the death penalty. [=capital punishment]

death rate noun, pl ~ rates [count]

1 : a number that shows how many people died in a particular place or during a particular time • There was a decline in the country's death rate after its health care improved. — compare BIRTHRATE

2 : the number of deaths from a specific cause in a particular area during a particular time period • Lung cancer death rates are up. • The death rate from accidents is rising.

death rattle noun, pl ~ rattles [count] : a sound that is sometimes heard coming from a dying person's throat or chest — often used figuratively • the death rattle of a dying industry death ray noun, pl ~ rays [count] in stories : a weapon that sends out a very strong beam of energy that usually looks like light and that is able to destroy almost anything death row noun [noncount] : the part of a prison where prisoners who will be killed as punishment for their crimes live until they are killed • death row inmates — often used after on • He was on death row for 12 years before he was executed.

death sentence noun, pl ~ -tences [count]

1 : the decision by a court of law that the punishment for someone's crime will be death • She received a death sentence for the murders.

2 a : something (such as a disease) that is sure to cause death — usually singular • With the new medicines available, AIDS is no longer an automatic death sentence. b : an act or event that ends something permanently — usually singular • The cut in funding was a death sentence for the school's music program.

death's-head /'dɛθs,hɛd/ noun, pl -heads [count] : a picture of the bones of a human head : a human skull used as a symbol for death • a black shirt with a white death's-head on the back death squad noun, pl ~ squads [count] : a group of people who kill people who oppose a particular ruler or political group death tax noun, pl ~ taxes [count] chiefly US : ESTATE TAX death throes noun [plural] : the violent movements and noises that are sometimes made by a person who is about to die • The opera ends with the hero in his death throes. — often used figuratively • the death throes of a failing industry • a sinking ship in its death throes death toll noun, pl ~ tolls [count] : the number of people who die in an accident, disaster, war, etc. — usually singular • Three people who were injured in the accident have died, pushing the death toll up to 116. • The virus's death toll is expected to rise.

death trap noun, pl ~ traps [count] informal : a building, vehicle, etc., that is very dangerous and could cause someone's death • That old elevator is a death trap. • The factory was a death trap with too few exits for the workers to use in case of a fire.

death warrant noun, pl ~ -rants [count] : an official document ordering a person to be killed as a punishment — often used figuratively • The law suit was the company's death warrant. • If you share needles with other drug users, you're signing your own death warrant. [=you are doing something that will cause your own death]

- death-watch /'dɛθ,wɑ:tʃ/ noun, pl -watch-es [count] : a situation in which people stay with someone who is dying while waiting for death to occur — usually singular • Her family gathered for the deathwatch. — sometimes used figuratively • It looked like his acting career was over, but this new movie suggests that it is time to call off the deathwatch. [=the actor may become successful again]
- death wish noun [singular] : a desire to die • Have you seen the way she drives? She must have a death wish.
- deb /'dɛb/ noun, pl debs [count] informal : DEBUTANTE
- de-ba-cle /di'ba:kəl, Brit der'ba:kəl/ noun, pl de-ba-cles [count] : a great disaster or complete failure • After the debacle of his first novel, he had trouble getting a publisher for his next book. • a military debacle • an economic debacle
- de-bar /di'ba:z/ verb -bars; -barred; -bar-ring [+ obj] formal : to officially prevent (someone) from having or doing something — usually + from • The law debars him from running for reelection. — often used as (be) debarred • She was debarred from receiving the scholarship when her criminal record came to light.
- de-bar-ment /di'ba:zmənt/ noun [noncount]
- de-bark /di'ba:k/ verb -barks; -barked; -bark-ing [no obj] : to leave a ship or plane • The passengers debarked [(more commonly) disembarked] in Miami. — opposite EMBARK
- de-base /di'beɪs/ verb -bas-es; -based; -bas-ing [+ obj] : to lower the value or reputation of (someone or something) : to make (someone or something) less respected • The governor debased himself by lying to the public. • The holiday has been debased by commercialism.
- debased adj [more ~; most ~] • a debased form of entertainment • a debased coin/currency — de-base-ment /di'beɪsmənt/ noun [noncount] • the debasing of women
- debasing adj [more ~; most ~] • Those ads are debasing [=insulting] to women. • a debasing comment
- de-bat-able /di'beɪtəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] — used to say that something may or may not be true or real • The benefit of the tax cuts is highly debatable. • The vaccine is of debatable [=questionable] value—it has been known to make some people quite sick. • Whether the report is entirely accurate is debatable.
- ¹de-bate /di'beɪt/ noun, pl -bates : a discussion between people in which they express different opinions about something ✧ A debate can be an organized event, an informal discussion between two or more people, or a general discussion that involves many people. [count] The candidates participated in several debates before the election was held. • Our polite chat about politics slowly turned into a heated debate. [=argument] • At the center/core/heart of the debate [=controversy] is the question of responsibility. — often + on, about, or over • The university is hosting a debate on gun control. • current debates on/about the value of public schools • The town held a debate over what to do about the recent traffic problems. • The court decision sparked a raging/furious debate over property rights. [noncount] The meaning of the text has been the subject of considerable/intense/lively debate among scholars for many years. • What topics will be under debate? [=debated] — often + on, about, or over • There was much debate on/about/over whether the new program was worth the cost. • There's little debate [=controversy] about the health benefits of moderate exercise. • The book traces centuries of debate over the origins of language. ✧ If something is a matter of debate or open to debate, people have different ideas and opinions about it. • Whether or not the tax cuts benefit the poor is still a matter of debate. [=debatable] • The accuracy of the report is open to debate.
- ²debate verb -bates; -bat-ed; -bat-ing
- ¹ [+ obj] : to discuss (something) with people whose opinions are different from your own • Scholars have been debating the meaning of the text for years. • Whether or not the tax cuts benefit the lower classes is still hotly debated among economists. • The energy bill is currently being debated in Congress.
- ² : to compete against (someone) in a debate : to argue against another person's opinions as part of an organized event [+ obj] The President debated his challenger in front of a live audience on Tuesday. [no obj] The students debated for an hour. • She was on the debating team [=a group that competes against other teams in formal debates] at school.
- ³ [+ obj] : to think about (something) in order to decide what to do • I debated [=considered] moving to the city, but eventually decided against it. — often + whether, what, etc. • I am still debating (with myself) whether to attend the wedding or not. • She is still debating what to do.
- de-bat-er noun, pl -ers [count] • He is one of the best debaters in on our school's team.
- de-bauched /di'ba:ʃt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : behaving in an immoral way that involves drinking too much alcohol, taking drugs, having sex with many people, etc. • a debauched poet • a debauched society
- de-bauch-ery /di'ba:ʃəri/ noun, pl -er-ies formal : bad or immoral behavior that involves sex, drugs, alcohol, etc. [noncount] He later regretted the debauchery of his youth. • drunken debauchery [count] He recalled the evening's debaucheries with regret.
- de-bil-i-tate /di'bɪləteɪt/ verb -tates; -tat-ed; -tat-ing [+ obj] formal + technical : to make (someone or something) weak : to reduce the strength of (someone or something) • The virus debilitates the body's immune system. — usually used as (be) debilitated • His body was debilitated [=weakened] by the disease. • The country's economy has been debilitated by years of civil war.
- debilitating adj [more ~; most ~] • a debilitating condition/disease/illness • The symptoms can be debilitating.
- de-bil-i-ta-tion /di'bɪləteɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • physical debilitation
- de-bil-i-ty /di'bɪləti/ noun, pl -ties formal : physical weakness caused by illness or old age [noncount] The disease leads to debility but rarely kills. [count] the debilities of elderly people
- ¹deb-it /'dɛbət/ noun, pl -its [count] : an amount of money that is taken from an account • I forgot to enter some of the debits in my bank account register. • The account's credits were added and the debits subtracted. • a $30 debit for groceries — opposite CREDIT; see also DIRECT DEBIT
- on the debit side ¹ chiefly Brit : in the section of a financial record where debits are written • Enter these amounts on the debit side. ² — used when mentioning the things that you do not like about something • On the debit side, there have been a number of complaints about noise from the restaurant.
- ²debit verb -its; -it-ed; -it-ing [+ obj] : to take money from (an account) • The bank mistakenly debited my account $200! • Your account will automatically be debited for the amount of your insurance bill every month. — opposite CREDIT
- debit card noun, pl ~ cards [count] : a small plastic card that is used to buy things by having the money to pay for them taken directly from your bank account — compare BANK CARD, CASH CARD, CREDIT CARD
- deb-o-nair /,dɛbə'neə/ adj [more ~; most ~] somewhat old-fashioned, of a man : dressing and acting in an appealing and sophisticated way : fashionable, attractive, and confident • a debonair man in a suit and top hat • His handsome face and debonair [=suave, urbane] manner made him very popular with the ladies.
- de-bone /di'bəʊn/ verb -bones; -boned; -bon-ing [+ obj] : to remove the bones from (something) : BONE • Have the butcher debone the lamb for you. • a deboned chicken breast
- de-brief /di'brɪf/ verb -briefs; -briefed; -brief-ing [+ obj] formal : to officially question (someone) about a job that has been done or about an experience • Police debriefed the hostages upon their return. • The pilot was debriefed after his flight. — compare ³BRIEF
- debriefing noun [count] the debriefings of hostages • a full debriefing [noncount] The crew met for debriefing.
- de-bris /dɛ'brɪ:, Brit 'dɛ,brɪ:/ noun [noncount]
- ¹ : the pieces that are left after something has been destroyed • After the earthquake, rescuers began digging through the debris in search of survivors. • Everything was covered by dust and debris. — sometimes used figuratively • She sifted through the debris of her broken marriage.
- ² : things (such as broken pieces and old objects) that are lying where they fell or that have been left somewhere because they are not wanted • The crew cleaned up cigarette butts and other debris. [=trash, rubbish]
- debt /'det/ noun, pl debts
- ¹ [count] : an amount of money that you owe to a person, bank, company, etc. • He is trying to pay off gambling debts. • The company has run up huge debts. • Their debts are piling up. • She's finally paid off her mortgage debt. [=the money that she owed the bank to pay for her house] • the nation's growing foreign debt [=the amount of money that a country owes other countries] • Most of his debts are consumer

debts [=most of his debts are from buying things at stores] — see also NATIONAL DEBT

2 [noncount] : the state of owing money to someone or something • He is drowning in a sea of debt. [=he owes a very large amount of money] • a mountain of debt • He's been working three jobs in an attempt to get out of debt • The company was in debt but is now turning a profit. • I am deep/heavily in debt. • I'm thousands of dollars in debt. • She went into debt to pay for college. • I'm worried that we will fall into debt. • banks with millions of dollars of bad debt [=banks that have loaned millions of dollars that will not be repaid] • a debt-ridden country [=a country with more debt than it can pay]

3 [count] : the fact that you have been influenced or helped by someone or something — usually singular • The photographer has acknowledged a/his debt to Andy Warhol. [=the photographer has said that his work was influenced by the photographs made by Andy Warhol] debt to society — used in phrases like pay your debt to society to refer to being punished for committing a crime • after 10 years in prison, he has paid his debt to society and is a free man.

in someone's debt ✧ If you are in someone's debt, you are very thankful for something that someone has done for you. • I am in your debt for your help and support.

owe a debt of gratitude/thanks to : to have a good reason to be very grateful to (someone) • The whole town owes a debt of gratitude to the people who organized the parade.

debtor /'detə/ noun, pl -ors [count] : a person, organization, government, etc., that owes money • The debtor agrees to pay the debt over a three-year period. — opposite CREDITOR debug /di'bag/ verb -bugs; -bugged; -bug-ging [+ obj] technical : to remove the mistakes from (something, such as a computer program) • She's been hired to write and debug computer programs.

debunk /di'bʌŋk/ verb -bunks; -bunked; -bunk-ing [+ obj] : to show that something (such as a belief or theory) is not true : to show the falseness of (a story, idea, statement, etc.) • The article debunks the notion that life exists on Mars. • The results of the study debunk his theory.

— debunker noun, pl -ers [count] • debunkers of the myth

1 debut /'dei,bju:/ noun, pl -buts [count] : the first time an actor, musician, athlete, etc., does something in public or for the public • my debut as a pianist • He made his singing debut at a very young age. • She is making her television/film debut. — sometimes used to refer to the first appearance of a product, sport, event, etc. • the debut of a new car • The sport's Olympic debut took place in 1980. — often used before another noun • her debut album/film/novel

2 debut verb de-buts; de-buted; *de-but-*ing

1 [no obj] : to appear in public for the first time : to make a debut • The singer debuted 10 years ago, at the age of 15. • The car debuted 30 years ago. • The computer will soon be debuting in stores across the country.

2 [+ obj] : to show or provide (something, such as a product, television show, etc.) to the public for the first time • The network debuts a new sitcom tonight.

deb-u-tante /'debju,tɑ:nt/ noun, pl -tantes [count] : a young upper-class woman who has begun going to special parties where she will meet and be seen by other people from the upper class

Dec. abbr December • Dec. 1, 2004

de-cade /'de,kæd/ noun, pl -cades [count] : a period of 10 years • The war lasted nearly a decade. • a decade of drought [=a drought that lasted 10 years] • The bridge was built a decade ago.; especially : a 10-year period beginning with a year ending in 0 • The decade of the 1920s runs from January 1, 1920 to December 31, 1929. • the first decade of the 21st century • There have been a lot of changes during/in/over the past two decades.

dec-a-dence /'dekədəns/ noun [noncount] disapproving : behavior that shows low morals and a great love of pleasure, money, fame, etc. • The book condemns the decadence of modern society. • Western decadence

dec-a-dent /'dekədənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 disapproving a : having low morals and a great love of pleasure, money, fame, etc. • The book condemns some of society's wealthiest members as decadent fools. b : attractive to people of low morals who are only interested in pleasure • the city's decadent nightclubs

2 : extremely pleasing • a wealthy and decadent lifestyle • the restaurant's decadent desserts • rich, decadent pastries • a decadent hotel room, complete with a hot tub • We relaxed in decadent luxury.

— dec-a-dent-ly adv • decadently rich pastries

de-caf /'di:kæf/ noun, pl -cafs : coffee that does not contain caffeine : decaffeinated coffee [noncount] Would you like regular coffee or decaf? [count] Can I have a decaf, please? • They ordered two decafs and a regular (coffee).

de-caf-fein-at-ed /di'kæfə,neɪtəd/ adj : not containing caffeine : having the caffeine removed • decaffeinated coffee/tea • decaffeinated cola de-cal /'di:kæl/ noun, pl -cals [count] US : a picture, design, or label that will stick to the surface on which it is placed after the paper on the back of it is removed • She put some new decals [=stickers, (Brit) transfers] on her car window.

de-camp /di'kæmp/ verb -camps; -camped; -camp-ing [no obj] : to leave a place suddenly and secretly • She took the papers and decamped. • He decamped to/for Europe soon after news of the scandal broke.

de-cant /di'kænt/ verb -cants; -cant-ed; -cant-ing [+ obj] formal : to pour (a liquid, especially wine) from one container into another • The bottles were uncorked and the wine was decanted an hour before the meal.

de-cant-er /di'kæntə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a special glass bottle into which wine, whiskey, etc., is poured from its original bottle and from which it is served • The waiter served us wine from an elegant decanter. • a decanter of port de-cap-i-tate /di'kæpə,teɪt/ verb -tates; -tat-ed; -tat-ing [+ obj] : to cut off the head of (a person or animal) • Hundreds were decapitated [=beheaded] by the guillotine. • the monster's decapitated body

— de-cap-i-ta-tion /di'kæpə'teɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [noncount] death by decapitation [count] gruesome decapitations

de-cath-lon /di'kæθlən/ noun, pl -lons [count] : a sports contest for men that consists of 10 different events • the Olympic decathlon

— de-cath-le-te /di'kæθ,li:t/ noun, pl -letes [count]

1 de-cay /di'keɪ/ verb -cays; -cayed; -cay-ing

1 : to be slowly destroyed by natural processes : to be slowly broken down by the natural processes that destroy a dead plant or body [no obj] Tomatoes that fall off the vine will de-cay [=rot] on the ground. • a dead fish decaying [=decomposing] on the beach • the smell of decaying/decayed rubbish [+ obj] dead plants and leaves decayed by bacteria

2 [no obj] : to slowly lose strength, health, etc. • She believes that the moral fiber of our society is decaying. • our decaying public school system • His mind/health is beginning to decay. [=decline]

3 [no obj] of a building, area, etc. : to go slowly from a bad condition to a worse condition : to slowly enter a state of ruin • The city's neighborhoods are decaying.

synonyms DECAY, DECOMPOSE, ROT, PUTREFY, and SPOIL mean to slowly fall apart and become destroyed by natural processes. DECAY is the most general of these terms. It often suggests a slow change from a state of strength or perfection. • a decaying mansion DECOMPOSE stresses that bacteria, worms, insects, etc., are destroying and breaking apart something that is dead. • the animal's decomposing flesh • Eventually the vegetation decomposes and is mixed with dirt and used in the garden. ROT is a close synonym of DECOMPOSE but also suggests a bad smell. • Flies swarmed around the rotting fruit. PUTREFY is very similar to DECOMPOSE and ROT but is used to refer to dead people or animals and not to plants. It suggests that something is extremely unpleasant to see or smell. • corpses putrefying on the battlefield SPOIL is used when talking about food that is no longer safe to eat. • The meat will spoil if it is not kept cold.

2 decay noun [noncount] : the process or result of decaying: such as a : the process or result of being slowly destroyed by natural processes • the decay of dead plants and leaves • tooth decay b : the slow loss of strength, health, etc. • She writes about the moral decay of our society. • We're concerned about the decay [=deterioration] of our public school system. • the patient's physical and mental decay c of a building, area, etc. : the process or result of going slowly from a bad condition to a worse condition • The city's neighborhoods are in slow decay. • She wants to restore an old theater that is falling into decay. [=falling into ruin] de-cease /di'si:s/ noun [noncount] formal : the death of a person • He had many debts at the time of his decease.

deceased adj : no longer living • Both his parents are deceased. [=dead] • his deceased aunt usage Dead and deceased both mean “no longer living,” but deceased is a gentler term, and people often use it when the person who died was close to them or when they are talking to someone who knew the person who died. • My mother is deceased. • Is your grandfather alive or deceased?

the deceased formal : a dead person or dead people • a relative of the deceased • Three of the deceased are being buried today.

de-cent /di'si:dnt/ noun, pl -dents [count] US, law : a dead person • a tax on the estate of the decendent

de-ceit /di'si:t/ noun, pl -ceits : dishonest behavior : behavior that is meant to fool or trick someone [noncount] He achieved his goals through lies and (a web of) deceit. [=deception] • I began to suspect them of deceit. [=deceitfulness] [count] We were angry when we discovered that her excuse was really a deceit. [=lie]

de-ceit-ful /di'si:tfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not honest : making or trying to make someone believe something that is not true • a scheming, deceitful [=dishonest] person • a deceitful answer • deceitful [=deceiving] advertisements

— de-ceit-ful-ly adv • He acted deceitfully. — de-ceit-fulness noun [noncount] • He was surprised by the child's deceitfulness.

de-ceive /di'si:v/ verb -ceives; -ceived; -ceiv-ing : to make (someone) believe something that is not true [+ obj] Her parents punished her for trying to deceive them. • The wall doesn't look real—it wouldn't deceive [=fool] a child. • He was accused of deceiving the customer about the condition of the car. • People who think they can eat whatever they want without harming their health are deceiving themselves. • Unless my eyes deceive me [=unless I am mistaken about what I am seeing], there are no children in the room. • It's no use deceiving ourselves into thinking [=it will not be helpful if we pretend] that everything will be fine. [no obj] Remember that appearances can deceive—just because something looks good doesn't mean it is good.

— de-ceiver noun, pl -ers [count] — de-ceiving adj [more ~; most ~] • Appearances can be very deceiving. [=deceptive] — de-ceiving-ly /di'si:vɪŋli/ adv • The game is deceivingly [=deceptively] easy.

de-cel-er-ate /di'selə'reit/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing

1 : to move slower : to lose speed [no obj] He decelerated [=slowed down] as he neared the exit on the highway. • The car slowly decelerated. [+ obj] decelerate an airplane/automobile — opposite ACCELERATE

2 : to cause (something) to happen more slowly [+ obj] decelerate soil erosion • decelerate economic growth [no obj] Economic growth is decelerating. [=happening more slowly]

— de-cel-er-a-tion /di'selə'reɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the airplane's deceleration • the deceleration of soil erosion

De-cem-ber /di'sembə/ noun, pl -bers : the 12th and last month of the year [noncount] Her birthday is in late December. • The first snow of that winter came in (early/mid-/late) December. • The party is on the 10th of December. = (US) The party is on December 10th. = The party is on December the 10th. [count] This December was not as cold as the past few Decembers have been. — abbr. Dec.

de-cen-cy /'di:nsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 [noncount] : polite, moral, and honest behavior and attitudes that show respect for other people • Decency, not fear of punishment, caused them to do the right thing. • Their behavior goes beyond the bounds of decency. [=it is not decent or acceptable] • Sending aid to the victims was simply a matter of common decency. • If you're going to be late, please have the decency to call and let me know. • Have you no sense of decency?

2 decencies [plural] formal : the behaviors that people in a society consider to be proper or acceptable • He had been taught to observe the ordinary decencies.

de-cent /'di:snt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : polite, moral, and honest • I don't understand how so decent a person could be involved with this kind of crime. • decent, hardworking people • He is a decent guy who would help anyone in need. • You need to do the decent thing and tell her what happened. b somewhat informal : showing kindness : seeming to care about the feelings or problems of other people • It's really decent [=nice, thoughtful] of them to help us like this. • I apologized for the damage to his car, and he was pretty decent [=understanding] about it.

2 : good enough but not the best : adequate or acceptable • She's a decent [=fairly good] tennis player. • They can't afford decent [=adequate] housing. • Are there any decent schools in that area? • They served us a decent (enough) meal. • I've got to get some decent clothes. • He makes a decent living. = He has a job making/earning decent money. • a halfway decent [=pretty good] movie

3 : appropriate or suitable • I know you've got a lot to do, but try to get to bed at a decent hour. [=at a time that is not too late at night] • We were asked to wait a decent interval [=wait for an appropriate amount of time] before making the announcement. — opposite INDECENT

4 : not using language that offends people : not including behavior or ideas that people commonly find offensive • Please keep your jokes decent—there are children in the room. — opposite INDECENT

5 informal : wearing enough clothes : wearing clothes that cover enough of your body so that you are not embarrassed if someone sees you • I can't come to the door right now—I'm not decent. Wait a minute, OK? • Can I come in? Are you decent?

— de-cent-ly adv • He's fair and always treats everyone decently. • The book is selling decently [=fairly well; well enough] but we were expecting it to sell better. • decently dressed de-cen-tral-ize also Brit de-cen-tral-ise /di'sentrəlaɪz/ verb -izes; -ized; -iz-ing : to change (something) by taking control, power, etc., from one person or group and giving it to many people or groups throughout an area [+ obj] The plan is to decentralize the school system and give each district control over its own policies. • a highly decentralized organization [=an organization in which many people have power]. [no obj] The organization has decided to decentralize.

— de-cen-tral-i-za-tion also Brit de-cen-tral-i-sa-tion /di'sentrələ'zeɪʃən, Brit di'sentrəlaɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [singular] a decentralization of power [noncount] government decentralization

de-cep-tion /di'sepʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the act of making someone believe something that is not true : the act of deceiving someone • She accuses the company of willful deception in its advertising. • The article describes the government's use of deception [=deceit] to gain public support for the program. • She practiced deception on her unsuspecting clients. [=she deceived them]

2 [count] : an act or statement intended to make people believe something that is not true • His many deceptions did not become known until years after he died. • It was a misunderstanding on her part, not a deliberate deception on his (part). [=he didn't try to deceive her or lie to her] • a clever deception [=trick] — see also SELF-DECEPTION

de-cep-tive /di'septɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : intended to make someone believe something that is not true • The article accuses the company of deceptive [=misleading] advertising. • The low price is deceptive. [=deceiving, misleading] Many fees are added to it before the purchase is complete.

2 : likely to make someone believe something that is not true • the deceptive simplicity of the lyrics [=the lyrics are not as simple as they seem] • Don't buy the car without driving it first—appearances can be deceptive. [=something can look much better than it actually is]

— de-cep-tive-ly adv • deceptively simple lyrics • deceptively low prices

de-ci-bel /'desə,bel/ noun, pl -bels [count] technical : a unit for measuring how loud a sound is • a rock concert blasting music at 110 decibels • suffered hearing loss from repeated exposure to high decibels [=to loud sounds] — abbr. dB

de-cide /di'saɪd/ verb -cides; -cid-ed; -cid-ing

T a : to make a choice about (something) : to choose (something) after thinking about it [+ obj] He decided that dinner would be at 7 o'clock, and asked guests to arrive at 6. — often followed by to + verb • She decided to go along with us. • They have decided not to leave. — often + what, where, whether, if, etc. • Have you decided what you'd like for breakfast? • He is having trouble deciding which school to go to. • She says she'll decide by January whether (or not) to run for office. • We are deciding if we should stay. [no obj] She is having difficulty deciding about the offer. • I decided in favor of the other candidate. [=I chose the other candidate] • Vot- ers must decide between the two candidates. [=voters must choose one or the other candidate] • You have to decide for yourself. [=you are the only one who can decide] • I decided against telling her. [=I decided not to tell her] b : to choose whether or not to believe (something) after thinking about it : to reach a conclusion about (something) because of evidence [+ obj] They decided that he was right. • I am trying to decide if it's warm enough for swimming. [no obj] "Do you think she is telling the truth?" "I'm not sure. I'm still trying to decide."

2 : to cause (something) to end in a particular way : to determine what the result of (something) will be [+ obj] A few hundred votes could decide the election. • One blow decided the fight. • This battle could very well decide the war. [no obj] Will the business be successful? Let the public decide. — often used as deciding • the deciding game in the series [=the game that determines who wins the series] • The vice president will cast the deciding vote.

3 law : to end (a court case) in a particular way : to make a judgment in a court of law [+ obj] The case will be decided by the Supreme Court. [no obj] The court decided against the defendant. [=the defendant was found guilty] • The court decided in favor of the plaintiff. = (less commonly) The court decided for the plaintiff. [=the plaintiff won the case]

decide on/upon [phrasal verb] decide on/upon (something) : to choose (something) after thinking about the possible choices • He decided on blue rather than green. • We looked at all the cats in the pet store and finally decided on a little black-and-white one. • I am having trouble deciding on a gift for them.

deciding factor 1 : something that causes you to make a particular decision • The deciding factor was cost. [=the decision was based on cost; the least expensive option was chosen] • His lack of experience was the deciding factor in my decision not to hire him. 2 : something that causes something to end a particular way • His home run was the deciding factor in the game. [=his home run won the game] decided adj, always used before a noun : clear and definite : easy to notice • The team has a decided [=clear, obvious] advantage in this competition. • The new paint on the house is a decided [=definite] improvement.

de-cid-ed-ly /di'saɪdədli/ adv

1 : clearly and definitely : in a way that is easy to notice • The phrases have decidedly different meanings. • The movie received decidedly mixed reviews. [=received very good reviews and very bad reviews]

2 chiefly Brit : in a way that shows that you are certain : in a way that shows that you have no doubt • She answered the question decidedly: "No, I will not lie for him."

de-cid-er /di'saɪdər/ noun, pl -ers [count] : the last part of a game or competition that will decide a winner — usually singular • The series is tied 3–3, and the decider [=the last game of the series; the deciding game] will be played tonight.

de-cid-u-ous /di'sɪdʒəwəs/ adj, of a tree, bush, etc. : having leaves that fall off every year • the bare branches of a deciduous tree in winter • the region's deciduous forests [=forests that are made up of deciduous trees] • deciduous and coniferous trees/forests

¹dec-i-mal /'desəməl/ adj, mathematics : based on the number 10 • the decimal system • a number with three decimal places [=a number with three digits that follow the decimal point; a number like 1.234 or .567] • In the number 8.901, the 9 is in the first decimal place.

²decimal noun, pl -mals [count] mathematics : a number that is written with a dot between the part of the number that is equal to 1 or more and the part of the number that is less than 1 • The number 67.398 is a decimal. It is equal to the whole number 67 plus the decimal .398. • Seven-tenths written as a decimal is .7. Seven-tenths written as a fraction is $\frac{7}{10}$. • The decimal .2 is equal to the fraction $\frac{2}{10}$. — called also decimal fraction decimal point noun, pl ~ points [count] mathematics : the dot (as in .678 or 3.678) that separates a whole number from tenths, hundredths, etc.

dec-i-mate /'desə,meɪt/ verb -mates; -mat-ed; -mat-ing [+ obj]

1 : to destroy a large number of (plants, animals, people, etc.) • This kind of moth is responsible for decimating thousands of trees in our town. — usually used as (be) decimated • The bay's lobsters have been decimated by disease. • The village/population was decimated by plague.

2 : to severely damage or destroy a large part of (something)

• Budget cuts have decimated public services in small towns. — usually used as (be) decimated • The landscape is decimated by pollution. • the company's decimated stock prices

— dec-i-ma-tion /,desə'meɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

de-ci-pher /di'saɪfər/ verb -phers; -phered; -pher-ing [+ obj] : to find the meaning of (something that is difficult to read or understand) • decipher [=decode] a secret message • The ancient scrolls were recently deciphered. [=translated] • We spent hours trying to decipher [=figure out] the lyrics to the song. • I couldn't decipher his sloppy handwriting.

— de-ci-pher-able /di'saɪfərəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • barely decipherable handwriting — de-ci-pher-ment /di'saɪfəmənt/ noun [noncount] • the decipherment of the ancient scrolls

de-ci-sion /di'sɪʒən/ noun, pl -sions

¹ [count] : a choice that you make about something after thinking about it : the result of deciding • She announced her decision to go to medical school. • a big/controversial/final decision • Have you made/reached a decision? • After weeks of deliberation, he finally came to a decision. = After weeks of deliberation, he finally arrived at a decision. • He based his decision on facts, not emotions. • She made a conscious decision to leave the painting unfinished. • (Brit) The government has taken a decision to withdraw all troops. [=the government has made an important and official decision to withdraw all troops] • an informed decision [=a decision based on facts or information] • a split-second decision [=a decision that must be made in an instant] ♦ In informal spoken English, someone who says "Decisions, decisions" is having difficulty making a decision, usually about an unimportant matter. • "Decisions, decisions. I can't decide which flavor of ice cream to get."

2 [noncount] formal : the ability to make choices quickly and confidently • a leader of courage and decision [=decisiveness] • We need someone who will act with decision even under pressure. — opposite INDECISION

3 [count] a : the particular end of a legal or official argument : a legal or official judgment • The U.S. Supreme Court's 1954 decision brought an end to racial segregation in public schools. • The Supreme Court handed down a 5–4 decision. [=five members of the court voted one way, and the other four members voted the opposite way, and the side with the five votes won] • The appeals court upheld the decision. [=the appeals court agreed with the decision made earlier by a lower court] • The appeals court overturned the decision. [=the appeals court disagreed with the decision made earlier by a lower court] b : a report explaining why a legal or official judgment was made in a particular way • the court's ten-page decision

4 [noncount] : the act of deciding something • The moment of decision has come. You must decide. • The judge has the power of decision. [=the judge has the power to make the decision] decision-making noun [noncount] : the act or process of deciding something especially with a group of people • The project will require some difficult decision-making. • All members of the organization have a role in decision-making. — often used before another noun • the company's decision-making process

de-ci-sive /di'saɪsɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : able to make choices quickly and confidently • You must be decisive and persistent to succeed in this competitive field. • I stood there wondering what to do, but my sister was more decisive and immediately went to the phone. • a decisive leader • In emergency situations, one must be able to take decisive action. [=to act quickly and with confidence] — opposite INDECISIVE

2 : causing something to end in a particular way : determining what the result of something will be • She cast the decisive [=deciding] vote. • The fight ended with a decisive blow. • the decisive battle of the war • The poverty of his childhood played a decisive role in his adult life. • The meeting is seen as a decisive step toward a peace treaty. ♦ A decisive factor is a reason to make a particular choice or decision. • The decisive factor [=deciding factor] was cost. • His lack of experience was the decisive factor in my decision not to hire him.

3 : very clear and obvious • a decisive victory/win/advantage — de-ci-sive-ly adv • You must be able to act decisively to succeed in this competitive field. • She decisively rejected their proposal. — de-ci-sive-ness noun [noncount] • The job requires decisiveness [=decision] and persistence.

¹deck /'dek/ noun, pl decks

1 : a flat surface that forms the main outside floor of a boat or ship [count] We stood on the deck and watched dolphins swim near the ship. [noncount] A number of passengers had come on deck. ♦ When you are below deck or below decks, you are in the section of a boat or ship that is under the deck. • We went below deck to our cabin. • I stowed my gear below decks. ♦ The phrase all hands on deck is used to call all people on a boat or ship to the deck to do work that must be done. • We heard the captain shout “All hands on deck!” as waves crashed over the boat’s bow.

2 [count] a : one of the levels on a bus, ship, etc. • the lower/middle/upper deck • a seat on the streetcar’s top deck • a cabin on B deck b : one of the seating levels in a sports stadium • We sat in the lower/upper deck.

3 [count] chiefly US : a wood structure that has a floor but no walls or roof, is attached to a house or other building, and is used for sitting and relaxing • We ate out on the deck. • You can see into three different states from the mountaintop restaurant’s observation deck. [=a platform built so that people can see or watch something] — see picture at HOUSE

4 [count] chiefly US : a complete set of playing cards : a group of 52 playing cards • The dealer shuffled the deck (of cards). — called also pack ♦ In informal U.S. English, someone who is not playing with a full deck is not able to think or act in a normal way. • “He seemed a little weird.” “Yeah, he’s not playing with a full deck.”

5 [count] : TAPE DECK

clear the decks also clear the deck : to get ready for action or for something new : to get rid of something to make room for something else • He wants to clear the decks before the election campaign starts. • Firing the CEO will clear the decks for change within the company.

hit the deck see ¹HIT

on deck US 1 baseball : waiting to bat next • Smith is batting and Jones is on deck. 2 informal : next in a series • The band’s new song is on deck [=next] after this commercial break. — see also ¹DECK 1 (above)

²deck verb decks; decked; deck-ing [+ obj]

1 : to decorate (something) • We spent hours decking the chapel with flowers before the wedding. — see also DECKED OUT 2 (below)

2 informal : to knock (someone) down by hitting very hard • He decked him with one punch.

decked out 1 : dressed in a very fancy way • We got all decked out for the occasion. — often + in • She was decked out in furs. • guys decked out in fancy tuxedos • She was all decked out in a new dress. 2 : decorated in a fancy way — often + with • a room decked out with hundreds of little lights deck chair noun, pl ~ chairs [count] : a chair that can be folded up and that is used for sitting outside on the deck of a ship, on a beach, etc.

deck-hand /ˈdɛk,hænd/ noun, pl -hands [count] : a worker on a ship who does work that does not require special training deck-ing /ˈdɛkɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : material that is used to build a deck (sense 3) • wooden decking

deck shoe noun, pl ~ shoes [count] : a flat shoe that is usually made of thick cloth and has a rubber bottom de-claim /drˈkleɪm/ verb -claims; -claimed; -claim-ing formal : to say (something) in usually a loud and formal way [+ obj] The actress declaimed her lines with passion. [no obj] The speakers declaimed on a variety of issues.

— de-cla-ma-tion /ˌdɛkləˈmeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount]

de-clam-a-to-ry /drˈklæməˌtɔːri, Brit drˈklæmətri/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : expressing feelings or opinions in a way that is loud and forceful • declamatory speeches/statements

de-cla-ra-tion /ˌdɛkləˈreɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : the act of making an official statement about something : the act of declaring something • The government has made/issued a declaration of war on/against its enemies. [non-count] We awaited the declaration [=announcement] of the results. • The case was ended by declaration of a mistrial.

2 [count] : something that is stated or made known in an official or public way • a declaration of love • You will need to make a declaration of your income.

3 [count] : a document that contains an official statement : a document that makes a declaration — usually singular • The museum has a copy of the country’s declaration of independence/sovereignty. • the American Declaration of Independence dence • Every 4th of July, we read a copy of the Declaration. [=the U.S. Declaration of Independence]

de-clar-a-tive /drˈklerətɪv/ adj, grammar : having the form of a statement rather than a question or a command • “They went to school” is a declarative sentence. — compare IMPERATIVE, INTERROGATIVE the declarative grammar : the form that a phrase or sentence has when it is stating something • “They went to school” is in the declarative.

de-clare /drˈkleə/ verb -clares; -clared; -clar-ing [+ obj]

1 : to say or state (something) in an official or public way • She publicly declared [=announced] her opposition to the plan. • The government has just declared a state of emergency. • The company was forced to declare bankruptcy. [=to formally say in a legal document that it was bankrupt] • He declared himself the winner. = He declared that he was the winner. = He declared victory.

2 : to say (something) in a strong and confident way • He still declares [=affirms, asserts] his innocence. • She declared [=announced] that she would not attend the party under any circumstances. • He openly declared his love for her. synonyms see ASSERT

3 a : to tell the government about (money you have earned or received) in order to pay taxes • They failed to declare all of their earnings on their tax return. b : to list and show the cost of (something bought in a different country) so that you can pay taxes on it • Large purchases must be declared at customs. • Do you have anything to declare?

declare against [phrasal verb] declare against (someone or something) Brit, formal : to officially say that you oppose (someone or something) • She declared against the government’s policies.

declare for [phrasal verb] 1 declare for (something) US : to officially say that you will take part in (something) • a college basketball player who declared for the NBA draft after his junior year 2 declare for (someone or something) Brit, formal : to officially say that you support (someone or something) • He declared for the plan.

declare war : to officially decide to fight or go to war • Congress has the power to declare war on/against other countries. — often used figuratively • The state has declared war on illiteracy.

— declared adj • His declared [=publicly stated] aim/goal/intention is to improve the city’s downtown area.

de-clas-si-fy /diˈklæsəˌfaɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj] : to allow the public to see or learn about (something that has been a secret) • The government has not yet declassified that information.

— de-clas-si-fi-ca-tion /diˌklæsəfəˈkeɪʃən/ noun [non-count] • the declassification of a secret document

— declassified adj • a declassified document

de-claw /diˈklaʊ/ verb -claws; -clawed; -claw-ing [+ obj] : to permanently remove the claws of (a cat) • We had our cats declawed.

¹de-cline /drˈklaɪn/ verb -clines; -clined; -clin-ing

1 [no obj] : to become lower in amount or less in number • Oil prices continue to decline. [=decrease, fall] • The construction of new houses declined five percent this year. • The animal’s numbers are declining rapidly.

2 [no obj] : to become worse in condition or quality • The patient’s condition has declined. [=worsened, deteriorated] • My grandmother’s health has been declining since she broke her hip. • The civilization began to decline around 1000 B.C.

3 somewhat formal a [+ obj] : to say that you will not or cannot do something • The company declined comment on the scandal. — usually followed by to + verb • The company declined to comment on the scandal. • She declined to run for a second term as governor. b : to say no to something in a polite way [+ obj] Regretfully, we have to decline [=turn down] the invitation to your wedding. • He changed his mind and declined the company’s offer. [no obj] I invited him, but he declined. — opposite ACCEPT

4 [+ obj] grammar : to list the different forms of (a noun, pronoun, or adjective) • We had to decline the Latin adjective “brevis” on our test.

— de-clin-er /drˈklaɪnə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • There were more advancers than decliners [=stocks that decreased in value] in the stock market today. — de-clin-ing /drˈklaɪnɪŋ/ adj • declining health • in her declining years [=in the last years of her life]

²decline noun, pl -clines

1 : the process of becoming worse in condition or quality

[noncount] a period of economic decline • He says that American industry is in a state of decline. • There was a general feeling that the country was in decline. [=was becoming less powerful, wealthy, etc.] • The town fell/went into decline after the factory closed down. [count] — usually singular • He has experienced a decline in health. • the decline and fall of the Roman empire • The company's products suffered a decline in quality. • a gradual physical/mental decline

2 : a change to a lower number or amount [count] The economy experienced a decline of two million jobs. • We saw a sharp/steep decline in sales this month. • Declines led advances at the end of the trading day. [noncount] There was some decline in stock prices at the end of the trading session. on the decline : becoming worse in condition or less in size, amount, number, etc. : declining • His health is on the decline. • Sales are on the decline.

de·code /di'koud/ verb -codes; -cod·ed; -cod·ing [+ obj]
1 : to change (secret messages, documents, etc.) from a set of letters, numbers, symbols, etc., you cannot understand into words you can understand • The government agents finally decoded [=deciphered] the message. — compare CODE, ENCODE

2 : to find or understand the true or hidden meaning of (something) • Readers can easily decode the novel's imagery. • I'm trying to decode the expression on her face.

3 technical : to change signals for a radio, television, etc., to a form that can be heard or seen correctly • The box decodes the digital signal for your CD player.

de·cod·er /di'koudə/ noun, pl -ers [count] technical : an electronic device that changes signals for a radio, television, etc., to a form that can be heard or seen correctly dé·col·le·tage /dei,kɑ:lə'tɑ:ʒ/ noun [noncount] : the top of a woman's dress, blouse, etc., that is cut very low so the top of the woman's breasts can be seen

— dé·col·le·té /dei,kɑ:l'teɪ/ adj • a décolleté dress

de·col·o·ni·za·tion also Brit de·col·o·ni·sa·tion /di,kɑ:lənə'zeɪʃən, Brit di,kɒlə,nai'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : the process of making a colony or a group of colonies independent • the British decolonization of India de·com·mis·sion /,di:kə'mɪʃən/ verb -sions; -sioned; -sion·ing [+ obj] : to officially stop using (a ship, weapon, dam, etc.) : to remove (something) from service • Several military bases are scheduled to be decommissioned. • The government is decommissioning the nuclear power plant.

de·com·pose /,di:kəm'pouz/ verb -pos·es; -posed; -pos·ing

1 : to cause something (such as dead plants and the bodies of dead animals) to be slowly destroyed and broken down by natural processes, chemicals, etc. [+ obj] Bacteria and fungi help decompose organic matter. • partially decomposed bodies [no obj] The wood on our deck is beginning to decompose. [=less formally] rot • the smell of decomposing leaves synonyms see ¹DECAY

2 technical : to cause something (such as a chemical) to be separated into smaller or simpler parts [+ obj] decompose a chemical compound [no obj] The compound will decompose in the presence of light.

— de·com·po·si·tion /di,kɑ:mpə'zɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • The wood is already showing signs of decomposition. • the decomposition of organic matter

de·com·press /,di:kəm'pres/ verb -press·es; -pressed; -press·ing

1 : to release or reduce the physical pressure on something [+ obj] Surgery decompressed the vertebrae. [no obj] Once pressure was released, the vertebrae decompressed.

2 [+ obj] computers : to change (a computer file that has been made smaller) back to its original size by using special software • The file must be decompressed before it can be read.

3 [no obj] US, informal : to rest and relax • After their busy week, they needed some time to decompress. [=unwind]

— de·com·pres·sion /,di:kəm'preʃən/ noun [noncount] • The divers underwent decompression. [=a process in which air pressure is slowly decreased to allow a person who has been deep underwater to adapt safely to the pressure at the surface] • data/file decompression

decompression chamber noun, pl ~ -bers [count] : a small room that allows a person (such as an ocean diver) to slowly experience lower amounts of air pressure until normal air pressure is reached decompression sickness noun [noncount] medical see the bends at ²BEND 3 de·con·ges·tant /,di:kən'dʒestənt/ noun, pl -tants [count, noncount] : a medicine that helps stop thick fluid from building up in your nose, throat, or chest when you have a cold or similar illness de·con·struc·tion /,di:kən'strʌkʃən/ noun [noncount] technical : a theory used in the study of literature or philosophy which says that a piece of writing does not have just one meaning and that the meaning depends on the reader

— de·con·struct /,di:kən'strʌkt/ verb -struc·ts; -struc·ted; -struc·ting [+ obj] • deconstruct a literary passage de·con·tam·i·nate /,di:kən'tæmə,neɪt/ verb -nates; -nat·ed; -nat·ing [+ obj] : to remove dirty or dangerous substances (such as radioactive material) from (a person, thing, place, etc.) • Special workers were called in to decontaminate the area after the oil spill.

— de·con·tam·i·na·tion /,di:kən,tæmə'neɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the decontamination of drinking water de·cor or dé·cor /dei'koʊ, 'dei,kɒ/ noun, pl -cors : the way that a room or the inside of a building is decorated [count] — usually singular • We loved the decor of the restaurant. • It had a very elegant décor. [noncount] The store offers a lot in home decor.

dec·o·rate /'dekə,reit/ verb -rates; -rat·ed; -rat·ing

1 : to make (something) more attractive usually by putting something on it [+ obj] Several expensive paintings decorate [=adorn] the walls. • I always enjoy decorating the Christmas tree. • I decorated my apartment in dark colors. • a beautifully decorated box — often + with • We're going to decorate the room with balloons and flowers for her birthday party. • The gift was beautifully decorated with lace and ribbons. [no obj] I love decorating [=putting up decorations] for the holidays.

2 [+ obj] : to give a medal or award to (someone, such as a soldier) — usually used as (be) decorated • He was decorated for courage during the war. • a decorated war veteran

dec·o·ra·tion /,dekə'reɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : something that is added to something else to make it more attractive [count] The vase has a fancy decoration on one side. • a box of Christmas decorations [=ornaments] [noncount] a plain sweater knit without decoration • The handles are not just for decoration [=are not just decorative], they serve a practical purpose.

2 [noncount] : the act of decorating something (such as a room) • He's a genius at home decoration. • a unique style of decoration • She is certified to do interior decoration. [=interior design]

3 [count] : a medal or award that is given to someone for doing something brave or honorable (such as fighting bravely in a war) • He received a decoration from the President.

dec·o·ra·tive /'dekrətv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : used to make something more attractive : used for decoration • We added some decorative details/elements/touches to the room. • decorative [=ornamental] shrubs • The handles are decorative and practical.

— dec·o·ra·tive·ly adv • Arrange the fruit decoratively in the bowl.

dec·o·ra·tor /'dekə,reitə/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a person who decorates something especially as a job • a cake decorator • They hired a decorator to redesign their dining room. • She became an interior decorator. [=interior designer]

dec·o·rous /'dekərəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : correct and polite in a particular situation • We expect decorous [=proper] behavior/conduct from our students. • a decorous [=civilized, respectable] young woman

— dec·o·rous·ly adv

de·co·rum /di'korəm/ noun [noncount] formal : correct or proper behavior that shows respect and good manners • He has no sense of decorum. • Court decorum [=proper behavior in a courtroom] requires that all parties address the judge as "Your Honor."

de·coy /'di:kɔɪ/ noun, pl -coys [count]

1 : a wooden or plastic bird (such as a duck) that is used by hunters to attract live birds

2 : a person or thing that attracts people's attention so they will not notice someone or something else • He had a decoy distract the guard while he jumped over the fence.

— de·coy /di'kɔɪ/ verb -coys; -coyed; -coy·ing [+ obj] • Hunters decoyed the ducks to the pond.

¹de·crease /di'kri:s/ verb -creas·es; -creased; -creas·ing

1 [no obj] : to become smaller in size, amount, number, etc. • Sales decreased by five percent this year. • The population is decreasing steadily. = The population is steadily decreasing in size.

2 [+ obj] : to make (something) smaller in size, amount, number, etc. • By exercising often, you can decrease [=reduce, lower] your chance of developing heart disease. • The driver decreased her speed as she approached the curve. • These changes will decrease our expenses. — opposite INCREASE

— decreased adj • The patient has a decreased appetite. • a decreased risk of heart disease — decreasingly adv • The medication has been decreasingly effective. [=has gradually been becoming less effective]

2 de-crease /'di:kri:s/ noun, pl -creases

1 : the act of becoming smaller or of making something smaller in size, amount, number, etc. [count] Studies report a recent decrease in traffic accidents. • We've had a decrease [=reduction] in the number of students enrolling in the school. • significant decreases in activity [noncount] Because of the injury, some decrease in mobility is to be expected.

2 [count] : the amount by which something is made smaller • The report showed decreases [=reductions] of between 20 and 30 percent. • a decrease of three dollars — opposite INCREASE on the decrease : becoming less in size, amount, number, etc. : decreasing • The number of college applications is on the decrease. [=on the decline]

1 de-cree /dr'kri:/ noun, pl -crees

1 : an official order given by a person with power or by a government [count] The President issued a decree making the day a national holiday. • The soldiers read the people a royal decree. [=an order given by a king or queen] • a papal decree [=a decree from a Pope] [noncount] He took his position by decree [=because of a decree] of the national government. • by royal decree

2 : an official decision made by a court of law [count] She tried to have the court's decree [=judgment, ruling] reversed. • a divorce decree [noncount] Their marriage was annulled by judicial decree.

2 decree verb -crees; -creed; -cree-ing : to order or decide (something) in an official way [+ obj] The government decreed a national holiday. • The change was decreed by the President. • The City Council has decreed that all dogs must be kept on a leash. [no obj] He was favored to win, but fate decreed otherwise. [=it was not his fate to win; he did not win]

de-crep-it /dr'krepat/ adj [more ~; most ~] : old and in bad condition or poor health • The decrepit [=run-down, dilapidated] building was badly in need of repair. • My decrepit car barely starts. • a decrepit old man de-crep-i-tude /dr'krepatju:d, Brit dr'krepatju:d/ noun [noncount] formal : the state of being old and in bad condition or poor health • The house has fallen into decrepitude.

de-crim-i-nal-ize also Brit de-crim-i-nal-ise /di'krimənəlaiz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] : to make (something that is illegal) legal by changing the law • He believes that the government should decriminalize [=legalize] the use of marijuana.

— de-crim-i-nal-i-za-tion also Brit de-crim-i-nal-i-sa-tion /di,krimənələ'zeɪʃən, Brit di,krimənə,laɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the decriminalization of marijuana de-cry /dr'krai/ verb -cries; -cried; -cry-ing [+ obj] formal : to say publicly and forcefully that you regard (something) as bad, wrong, etc. • In her article, she decries the pollution of the environment by manufacturers. • Parents decried [=condemned] the movie's emphasis on sex. • Violence on television is generally decried as harmful to children.

ded-i-cate /'dedɪ,kert/ verb -cates; -cat-ed; -cat-ing [+ obj] : to officially make (something) a place for honoring or remembering a person, event, etc. • The new park was dedicated today. — often + to • The memorial is dedicated to all the soldiers who died in the war.

dedicate to [phrasal verb] 1 dedicate (something) to (something) : to decide that (something) will be used for (a special purpose) : to use (time, money, energy, attention, etc.) for (something) • She dedicates 10 percent of each paycheck to her savings. • He dedicated [=devoted] his life/time to helping the poor. = He dedicated himself to helping the poor. [=he used his time, energy, etc., to help the poor] • After graduating from college, he dedicated himself to his career. 2 dedicate (something) to (someone) : to say that (a book, song, etc.) was written or is being performed to honor or express affection for (someone) • She dedicated her first novel to her father. • I would like to dedicate this next song to my mother.

dedicated adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : having very strong support for or loyalty to a person, group, cause, etc. • the band's most dedicated [=devoted] fans • They are a group of highly dedicated [=committed, enthusiastic] individuals. • He is a dedicated teacher. = He is dedicated to the teaching profession.

2 always used before a noun, technical : used only for one particular purpose • We have a dedicated phone line for our computer. [=a phone line that we use only for our computer]

ded-i-ca-tion /,dedɪ'keɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : a feeling of very strong support for or loyalty to someone or something : the quality or state of being dedicated to a person, group, cause, etc. • It took a lot of hard work and dedication, but we managed to finish the project on time. — often + to • We admire her dedication to helping the poor. • his tireless/unwavering dedication to the cause

2 [count] : a message at the beginning of a book, song, etc., saying that it was written or is being performed in order to honor or express affection for someone — often + to • His novel includes a brief dedication to his family.

3 [count] : the act of officially saying that something (such as a new building) was created for a particular purpose (such as worship) or to remember or honor a particular person • the dedication of the temple • They celebrated the dedication of the new building with a ribbon-cutting ceremony. — sometimes used before another noun • dedication ceremonies de-duce /dr'du:s, Brit dr'dju:s/ verb -duc-es; -duced; -duc-ing [+ obj] formal : to use logic or reason to form (a conclusion or opinion about something) : to decide (something) after thinking about the known facts • Scientists use several methods to deduce [=determine] the age of ancient objects. • They deduced [=concluded] that he was present at the scene of the crime. — often + from • A word's meaning can often be deduced from its context.

de-duct /dr'dakt/ verb -ducts; -duct-ed; -duct-ing [+ obj] : to take away (something, especially an amount of money) from a total • When paying our taxes, can we deduct [=subtract] the cost of our child's education? • You can deduct up to $500 for money given to charity. — often + from • Deduct the points from the total score. • Payments are directly deducted from [=taken out of] your bank account. — opposite CREDIT

1 de-duct-ible /dr'daktəbəl/ adj : able to be subtracted from an amount of money • The trip was deductible as a business expense. • All donations to charities are deductible. [=taxes do not have to be paid on money given to charities] • tax-deductible expenses/donations

2 deductible noun, pl -ibles [count] US : an amount of money that you have to pay for something (such as having your car fixed after an accident) before an insurance company pays for the remainder of the cost • I have an insurance policy with a $1,000 deductible.

de-duc-tion /dr'dʌkʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 a [noncount] : the act of taking away something (such as an amount of money) from a total • He pays for his insurance by automatic payroll deduction. [=the money for his insurance is automatically taken out of his paycheck] b [count] : something (such as an amount of money) that is or can be subtracted from a total • The government is offering new tax deductions for small businesses. • What is your pay after the deductions have been taken out?

2 a [noncount] : the act or process of using logic or reason to form a conclusion or opinion about something : the act or process of deducing something • His guess was based on intuition rather than deduction. b [count] : a conclusion or opinion that is based on logic or reason • Our deduction was based on the information given to us at the time. • It was a logical deduction.

de-duc-tive /dr'dʌktɪv/ adj : using logic or reason to form a conclusion or opinion about something • a conclusion based on deductive reasoning/logic

1 deed /di:d/ noun, pl deeds

1 : something that is done : an act or action [count] They taught their children to be kind and to do good deeds. • evil/dirty deeds • We are judged by our deeds. [=we are judged by what we do] • News of their heroic deeds spread far and wide. • It's too late now. The deed is done. [noncount] He is honest in word and in deed. [=he says things that are true and does the things he says he will]

2 : a legal document that shows who owns a building or piece of land [noncount] The land was transferred by deed. [count] He gave them the deed to the property. — often plural in British English • The bank holds the deeds to your property.

²deed verb deeds; deed-ed; deed-ing [+ obj] US : to give someone ownership of (a building or piece of land) by means of a deed • She deeded the house to her children.

¹dee-jay /'di:ʤeɪ/ noun, pl -jays [count] informal : DISC JOCKEY

²deejay verb -jays; -jayed; -jay-ing informal : to play popular recorded music on the radio or at a party, nightclub, etc., especially as a job : to work as a disc jockey [no obj] He has deejayed at the radio station for over 20 years. [+ obj] Who is deejaying your wedding?

deem /'di:m/ verb deems; deemed; deem-ing [+ obj] formal : to think of (someone or something) in a particular way • The building was deemed [=considered, judged] unsafe after the fire. • We deemed [=believed, thought] it wise to wait. • Do whatever you deem (to be) necessary. • The principal will take whatever action she deems appropriate in this case.

¹deep /'di:p/ adj deep-er; -est

1 a : having a large distance to the bottom from the surface or highest point • We walked in the deep snow. • a deep well/pool/hole • a deep valley between the mountains • The water is deepest in the middle of the lake. • She's afraid of swimming in deep water. • a plant with deep roots — often used figuratively • The tradition has deep roots in our culture. — opposite SHALLOW b : going far inward from the outside or the front edge of something • The house has lots of deep closets. • deep shelves • She has a small but deep wound on her arm. — opposite SHALLOW c : located far inside something — usually + in or within • The animals live deep in/within the forest/jungle/mountains, far from any people. • His hands were deep in his pockets. • The sound came from deep within his throat. — often used figuratively • The memories were hidden deep in his mind. [=he had not thought about the memories in a long time] • I knew deep in my heart [=I believed very strongly] that we would succeed.

2 not used before a noun : having a specified measurement downward, inward, or backward • This enormous canyon is over a mile deep. • The shelves are 10 inches deep. • We walked through knee-deep snow [=snow as high as our knees] to get to school. • The basement was waist-deep in water. [=the top of the water that filled the basement was as high as a person's waist] • He stepped into an ankle-deep puddle of mud. — see also SKIN-DEEP

3 a : located near the outside edges of an area • (baseball) He hit a fly ball to deep right field. b : hit, thrown, or kicked a long distance • The quarterback threw a deep [=long] pass into the end zone.

4 : done by taking in or breathing out a large amount of air • Take a deep breath and try to relax. • a deep sigh

5 : low in sound or musical pitch • I could hear my father's deep voice from down the street. • a deep bass line — opposite HIGH

6 : having a dark, strong color • She painted white clouds in a deep blue sky. • The walls were a deep red. • deep rich colors — opposite LIGHT, PALE

7 : very intelligent and serious but complex or difficult to understand • She's always been a deep [=profound] thinker. = She's very deep. • This book is far too deep for me. • He has some very deep thoughts on the issue. • a deep discussion on the meaning of life

8 : full of mystery • The main character has a deep, dark secret that is revealed at the end of the movie.

9 a : completely involved in an activity : concentrating and giving all of your attention to something — + in • He was so deep in thought that he didn't hear us come in. • We spent the next few hours deep in conversation. b : affected by something in a very serious way — + in • They found themselves deep in debt. [=they had a lot of debt; they owed a large amount of money]

10 : very bad, serious, or severe • The country's economy fell into a deep depression/recession. • There are still deep divisions within the group. [=people in the group have very different opinions and can't agree] • Many people here live in deep poverty. [=many people are very poor] • The entire family was in deep shock after hearing about the accident. • I got in deep trouble with my parents for staying out too late.

11 : very strongly felt • I offered them my deepest sympathy. • They shared a deep [=profound] concern for the environment. • She felt a deep [=heartfelt] connection with the culture. • a deep sense of happiness and well-being • the deep emotional bond between parent and child • deep feelings of loss • The book made a deep impression on his young mind. 12 : full, complete, or thorough • She has a deep understanding of the company's needs. ✧ If you are in a deep sleep, you are thoroughly asleep and it is hard to wake you up. • He fell into a deep sleep and didn't wake up until the afternoon.

13 US : going down to a very low price, level, etc. • a deep reduction in price • The store offered deep discounts during the grand opening sale.

14 US, sports : having many good players • The team is very deep this year. • The baseball team has a deep bullpen.

in deep water : in a difficult situation : in trouble • I thought I could handle the work, but I soon found myself in deep water.

the deep end informal 1 — used in phrases like throw in (at) the deep end and jump in (at) the deep end to describe starting a new and difficult activity when you are not fully prepared or ready to do it • After graduating, he was not afraid to jump in at the deep end and start his new business alone. • Teachers are thrown in the deep end when they first start teaching. 2 ✧ To go off the deep end is to go crazy, such as by behaving foolishly or by becoming very angry or upset. • Her friends thought she had gone off the deep end when she suddenly decided to quit her job. • After his wife died, he started going off the deep end. • I understand that you're angry, but there's no reason to go off the deep end.

— deep-ness noun [noncount] • the deepness [=depth] of the water

²deep adv deeper; -est

1 a : far into or below the surface of something • The ship now lies deep below/beneath the water's surface. • Our feet sank deeper into the mud. • The treasure was buried deep within the ground. • Their secret offices were located deep underground. — often used figuratively • Her angry words hurt/cut him deep. [=deeply] • He stared deep into her eyes. • The detective dug deeper into the murder case. b : far into or inside something • We walked deep into the forest. • The soldiers are operating deep within enemy territory.

2 not used before a noun : at a specified measurement downward, inward, or backward • I stood three feet deep in the water. • They parked the cars three deep [=three cars in a row], and our car was stuck in the middle. • We walked knee-deep in the snow. [=we walked in snow that was deep enough to reach our knees] • He stepped ankle-deep into a puddle of mud.

3 : to a late time • They danced deep [=late, well, far] into the night. [=they danced until it was very late at night]

4 sports a : near the outside edges of a playing area • The outfielder was playing deep. b : for a long distance • He hit/threw/kicked the ball deep down the field.

5 ✧ If you breathe deep, you take a large amount of air into your lungs. • The doctor told her to breathe deep. [=breathe deeply] deep down (inside) ✧ If you feel or believe something deep down or deep down inside, you feel or believe it completely even if you do not say it or show it to other people. • He knew deep down inside that she was right. • I believed deep down that we were going to win. • Deep down, I think we all felt the same way. • He might look like a mean old man, but deep down inside he is a very kind person.

in (too) deep informal : in a difficult situation that you cannot get out of • He wanted to get out of the deal, but he was in too deep.

run deep : to be felt very strongly • Fear runs deep in this small town. • Her love for her family runs deep. — see also still waters run deep at ²STILL

³deep noun

the deep 1 literary + formal : the ocean • the briny deep • creatures of the deep 2 literary : the middle part of something • He left home in the deep of the night. [=the dead of the night]

the deeps literary + formal : the deep parts of the ocean • the ocean deeps

deep-dish /'di:p,dɪʃ/ adj, always used before a noun, US : baked in a dish that has high sides • deep-dish pizza • a deep-dish apple pie deep-en /'di:pən/ verb -ens; -ened; -en-ing

1 : to become or to cause (something) to become deep or deeper [+ obj] They deepened the river so that larger boats could sail through. • Age had deepened the lines in his face. [no obj] The water deepens toward the center of the river.

2 : to become or to cause (something, such as a feeling or emotion) to become stronger or more powerful [+ obj] The experience deepened [=strengthened] his love for acting. • Her powerful words deepened our commitment to the cause. • The vacation together deepened their relationship with each other. • The mystery was deepened by her silence. [no obj] Their friendship deepened [=grew deeper] with time.

3 [+ obj] : to make (your knowledge, understanding, etc.) fuller or more complete • This class will deepen your understanding of economics. • Living in the country's capital had deepened her knowledge of politics.

4 : to become or to cause (something) to become worse or more severe [+ obj] The government's policies have deepened the country's economic recession. • The situation is deepening the divisions between the two groups. [no obj] These divisions have deepened over the years.

5 : to become or to cause (something, such as a person's voice) to become lower in sound [no obj] His voice has deepened over the years. [+ obj] Time has deepened his voice.

6 [no obj] : to become darker or stronger in color • The sunset deepened from a pale yellow to a bright orange. • Rather than fading, the colors deepened in tone. • The sky deepened to a dark blue.

7 ✦ To deepen your breathing is to take more air into your lungs when you breathe.

— deep-en-ing /'di:pə,nɪŋ/ adj • It confirmed our deepening suspicions that she was planning to leave. • A deepening [=worsening] financial crisis threatened the economy. • the country's deepening poverty • deepening shadows [=shadows that are becoming darker] deep fat noun [noncount] : a deep layer of oil or fat that is heated in a pan or machine and used to fry food • a deep-fat fryer [=a machine used to fry food in deep fat]

deep freeze noun, pl ~ freezes

1 : a state of extreme cold [count] This part of the world experienced a deep freeze for several thousand years. [non-count] a period of deep freeze — sometimes used figuratively • Their relationship went into a deep freeze when she left for school.

2 [count] Brit : FREEZER

deep-fry /'di:p'fraɪ/ verb -fries; -fried; -fry-ing [+ obj] : to cook (food) in a deep layer of oil or fat • Deep-fry the chicken in two inches of oil.

— deep-fried adj • deep-fried chicken/potatoes deep-ly /'di:pli/ adv [more ~; most ~]

1 : in a way that is very complete, extreme, strongly felt, etc. : in a deep way • They fell deeply in love. • The car expenses sent him even more deeply into debt. • He asked us to think deeply [=to think seriously and for a long time] about the issue, because he felt it was very important. • I'm deeply [=very, extremely] sorry. • He came from a deeply religious family. • They're deeply [=sharply] divided on the issues. • I thought the movie was deeply moving/disturbing. = I was deeply moved/disturbed by the movie. • a deeply flawed design • The senator gave a deeply personal speech last night. • We are all deeply committed to peace. • The beliefs are deeply ingrained/embedded/entrenched in American culture. • deeply held beliefs/values • deeply felt emotions • She cares very deeply about/for him. • These traditions are deeply rooted in the past. = They are rooted deeply in the past.

2 : far into or below the surface of something • The designs are carved/cut deeply into the wooden chairs. • deeply buried beneath the snow — often used figuratively • You'll have to dig/delve deeply into the library to find that information.

3 ✦ If you breathe deeply or sigh deeply, you take a large amount of air into your lungs when you breathe or sigh.

4 ✦ If you are sleeping deeply, you are thoroughly asleep and it is hard to wake you up.

deep pockets noun [plural] somewhat informal : large amounts of money that can be used : great financial resources • a company with deep pockets

— deep-pock-et-ed /'di:p'pɑ:kətəd/ adj • deep-pocketed companies deep-root-ed /'di:p'ru:təd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : existing for a long time and very difficult to change : firmly established • The country's economic troubles are deep-rooted. [=deep-seated] • deep-rooted beliefs deep-sea /'di:p'si:/ adj, always used before a noun : living in, relating to, or done in the deep parts of the ocean • deep-sea creatures • We went deep-sea fishing/diving.

deep-seat-ed /'di:p'si:təd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : existing for a long time and very difficult to change : firmly established • She has a deep-seated fear of flying. • The problems are far more deep-seated [=deep-rooted] than we thought.

deep-six /'di:p'sɪks/ verb -six-es; -sixed; -six-ing [+ obj] US, informal : to get rid of (something) : to no longer use or consider (something) • The government plans to deep-six [=eliminate] the program next year. • The committee deep-sixed the plan.

Deep South noun

the Deep South : the states in the most southern and eastern part of the U.S. and especially Georgia, Alabama, South Carolina, Louisiana, and Mississippi deer /'diə/ noun, pl deer [count] : a large wild animal that has four long thin legs, brown fur, and antlers if male deer tick noun, pl ~ ticks [count] US : a very small insect found in the eastern U.S. and in Canada that usually feeds on deer and that can give the person or animal it bites various diseases (such as Lyme disease)

DEET /'di:t/ noun [noncount] chiefly US : a chemical that is used to keep insects away from people and animals

de-face /dɪ'feɪs/ verb -fac-es; -faced; -fac-ing [+ obj] : to ruin the surface of (something) especially with writing or pictures • The building was defaced with graffiti. • He was fined for defacing public property.

— de-face-ment /dɪ'feɪsmənt/ noun [noncount]

de fac-to /dɪ'fæktəv, Brit dɪ'fæktəv/ adj, always used before a noun, formal — used to describe something that exists but that is not officially accepted or recognized • She became the de facto leader of the group. [=she was the unofficial leader] • a de facto state of war • de facto government policies — compare DE JURE

— de facto adv • She became the leader de facto.

def-a-ma-tion /dɛfə'meɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions formal : the act of saying false things in order to make people have a bad opinion of someone or something : the act of defaming someone or something [noncount] He sued the newspaper for defamation (of character). [count] The article was full of lies and defamations.

de-fam-a-to-ry /dɪ'fæmətəri, Brit dɪ'fæmətri/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : meant to hurt the reputation of someone or something • defamatory statements [=statements that defame someone] de·fame /dr'feim/ verb -fames; -famed; -fam·ing [+ obj] formal : to hurt the reputation of (someone or something) especially by saying things that are false or unfair • He says he was defamed by reports that falsely identified him as a former gangster.

¹de·fault /dr'fau:lt/ noun, pl -faults

1 [noncount] — used to describe something that happens or is done when nothing else has been done or can be done; usually used in the phrase by default • No one else wanted the job, so he became the club's president by default. • Their decision was made by default. All of the other options were no longer possible. • We won the game by default when the other team failed to show up. — sometimes used before another noun • the default winner

2 a : a failure to make a payment (such as a payment on a loan) [noncount] She's in default on her loan. [=she missed a payment on her loan] [count] mortgage defaults b [noncount] law : failure to appear in court • The defendant has made no appearance in the case and is in default.

3 [count] computers : a setting, option, etc., that a computer uses if you do not choose a different one • You can enter your own settings or use the defaults. • Which font is the default in that computer program? — often used before another noun • the computer's default settings in default of formal : in the absence of (something) : without (something) • In default of evidence, there can be no trial.

²default verb -faults; -fault·ed; -fault·ing [no obj]

1 : to fail to do something that legally must be done; especially : to fail to make the payments you must make on a loan, mortgage, etc. • He defaulted on his loan (payments). • If the borrower defaults, the bank can take the house.

2 of a computer : to automatically use a particular setting, option, etc., unless you choose a different one • The program defaults to a standard font.

— de·fault·er noun, pl -ers [count] • loan defaulters

¹de·feat /dr'fi:t/ verb -feats; -feat·ed; -feat·ing [+ obj]

1 : to win a victory over (someone or something) in a war, contest, game, etc. • We lost to their team last year, but this year we're going to defeat [=beat] them. • We must be ready to defeat our enemies in battle. • Our candidate defeated him in the last election. • He defeated his opponent.

2 a : to cause (someone or something) to fail • She finally found a solution to a problem that had defeated many other researchers. • The bill was defeated in the state senate. • It would defeat the purpose of having a nice car if you never got to drive it. [=there would be no reason to have a nice car if you did not drive it] b : to control or overcome (something) • Scientists from around the world are working to defeat the disease. — see also DEFEATED

²defeat noun, pl -feats

1 : failure to succeed or to win [noncount] We weren't prepared for defeat. • One small error could make the difference between success and defeat. • After several tries we were forced to accept/admit/concede defeat. • The bill suffered defeat [=the bill was defeated] in the state senate. • Even in defeat [=even when he didn't win], he was a hero to those who loved the sport. [count] — usually singular • The passage of the law represented a defeat for their cause. • Her basketball team suffered a bitter/crushing/devastating defeat. [=loss] • That was his first defeat as a professional boxer. — opposite VICTORY

2 [count] : the act of winning a victory over someone or something • They celebrated their defeat of the enemy. • their 6–3 defeat of their rivals [=their 6–3 victory over their rivals] go down to defeat : to fail or lose : to be defeated • The bill went down to defeat in the House.

defeated adj

1 — used to describe someone or something that has lost a contest, game, etc. • our defeated opponents

2 [more ~; most ~] : feeling unable to succeed or to achieve something • She felt very/utterly defeated when she found out she didn't get the job.

de·feat·ism /di'fi:t,izəm/ noun [noncount] formal : a way of thinking in which a person expects to lose or fail • We must not give in to defeatism. We must be optimistic.

— de·feat·ist /di'fi:tɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] • He was seen as an intellectual defeatist. — defeatist adj [more ~; most ~] • their defeatist attitudes def·e·cate /'dɛfɪ,kert/ verb -cates; -cat·ed; -cat·ing [no obj] formal : to pass solid waste from the body — def·e·ca·tion /,dɛfɪ'keɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, non-

count]

¹de·fect /'di:fekt/ noun, pl -fects [count] : a problem or fault that makes someone or something not perfect: such as a : a physical problem that causes something to be less valuable, effective, healthy, etc. • This small defect [=flaw] greatly reduces the diamond's value. • They examine their products for defects. • a minor/major defect • She was born with a heart defect. • a birth defect [=a physical problem that someone is born with] b : something that causes weakness or failure • We had to point out the defect [=flaw] in their logic. • Vanity and pride were his two worst character defects.

²de·fect /dr'fekt/ verb -fects; -fect·ed; -fect·ing [no obj] formal : to leave a country, political party, organization, etc., and go to a different one that is a competitor or an enemy • The Russian scholar defected in 1979. • She defected from the conservative party. • He defected to the West before the war began. • The reporter defected to another TV network.

— de·fec·tion /dr'fɛkʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount]

— de·fec·tor /dr'fektər/ noun, pl -tors [count] • the party's defectors de·fec·tive /dr'fektɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having a problem or fault that prevents something from working correctly : having a defect or flaw • Our car had defective [=faulty] brakes, so we had them replaced. • This computer is defective. I want my money back. • defective products/merchandise • The disease is caused by a defective gene.

de·fend /dr'fend/ verb -fends; -fend·ed; -fend·ing

1 : to fight in order to keep (someone or something) safe : to not allow a person or thing to hurt, damage, or destroy (someone or something) [+ obj] We are prepared to defend [=protect, guard] our country. — often + from or against • They have every right to defend themselves from those who would hurt them. • The army defended the territory against invaders. • Her body was no longer able to defend itself against disease. [no obj] — usually + against • These new weapons will make us better able to defend against attack. • The body's immune system defends against illness.

2 [+ obj] : to fight or work hard in order to keep (something, such as a right, interest, cause, etc.) from being taken away • The group defends [=protects] the rights of the poor. • The company must defend its own interests.

3 [+ obj] : to speak or write in support of (someone or something that is being challenged or criticized) • As a U.S. senator, it is my responsibility to defend [=uphold] the Constitution. • We believed it was a cause worth defending. • She defended her friend's behavior. • Stop defending him. What he did was wrong.

4 sports : to try to stop opponents from scoring [+ obj] Your job is to defend the goal. • Focus on defending the basket. [no obj] He defended well throughout the game. — often + against • She tried to defend against the jump shot.

5 [+ obj] : to compete in order to try to keep (a title, championship, etc.) • The team is looking to defend its national title. [=to win the national title again] • She successfully defended her championship. [=she won the championship again]

6 [+ obj] : to work as a lawyer for (someone who is being sued or accused of a crime) • They hired a famous lawyer to defend their son. • She defended herself during her trial.

— de·fend·er noun, pl -ers [count] • The player got past two defenders. • She's a staunch/tireless defender of human rights. — see also PUBLIC DEFENDER — defending adj • He lost to the defending champ. [=to the person who won last year] • This year, we are the defending world/national champions.

de·fend·ant /dr'fendənt/ noun, pl -ants [count] : a person who is being sued or accused of a crime in a court of law • The jury believed that the defendant was guilty. — compare PLAINTIFF

de·fense (US) or Brit de·fence /dr'fens/ noun, pl -fens·es

1 : the act of defending someone or something from attack [noncount] weapons of defense = weapons used for defense • They fought in defense of their country. [=they fought to defend their country] • the body's first line of defense [=way of defending itself] against illness [count] They put up a good defense, but the city ultimately fell to the invaders. • They mounted a good defense. — see also SELF-DEFENSE

2 [count] : something that is used to protect yourself, your country, etc. • The best defense is a good offense. [=the best way to defend something is to try to beat the opposite side] • The city's defenses were not strong enough to keep out the invaders. • We need to improve our defenses. • the nation's air and ground defenses — often + against • We have no defense against such powerful weapons. [=we have no way to defend ourselves against such powerful weapons] • the body's natural defenses against disease and infection

3 : the act of speaking or writing in support of someone or something that is being attacked or criticized [noncount] His friends quickly came/jumped to his defense. [=his friends began saying that he was right or good] — often used in the phrase in defense • She spoke out in defense of justice. [=she defended justice] • Let me say, in her defense, that I would have done the same thing that she did. • He spoke up in his own defense. [=he defended himself] [count] — usually singular • She offered no defense [=justification] for her actions. • We listened to a passionate/spirited defense of the governor's decision.

4 [noncount] : the things that are done by a country to protect itself from enemies • In my view, the most important issue facing our country today is national defense. • The candidates accused each other of being soft/weak on defense. • The President wants to increase spending on defense. • He was the Secretary of Defense under the last President. — often used before another noun • He proposed an increase in defense spending. • the defense secretary/minister/department • They signed a billion-dollar defense contract with the company. • cuts in the defense budget

5 a [singular] : the side of a legal case which argues that a person who is being sued or accused of a crime is innocent : the lawyer or lawyers who represent the defendant in a court case • His friends are raising money (to pay) for his defense. • The defense rests, Your Honor. • The defense told the jury that the prosecution had not proved its case. — often used before another noun • defense attorneys/lawyers • a defense witness [=a person who speaks to support the defense's case] • He had three lawyers on his defense team. — compare PROSECUTION b [count] : the method that is used in a court case to prove that someone is innocent • Her lawyers plan to use an insanity defense. [=they will say that she was not sane when she committed the crime] • It's a valid defense, and I think we should be able to win the case.

6 /'di:fens/ a : the group of players on a team who try to stop an opponent from scoring [count] He ran through the defense and scored a touchdown. • Our team has the best defense in the league. • a talented defense [noncount] She began the season on defense [=playing on the part of the team that defends the goal], but her coach later put her on offense. b [noncount] : the way that players on a team try to stop an opponent from scoring • The team needs some work on its defense. • These guys play good/strong/tough defense. — compare OFFENSE 4

de-fense-less (US) or de-fence-less /dɪ'fensləs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not able to defend yourself, your country, etc. • Without weapons of any kind, the people of the town were completely defenseless. • Don't hurt them. They're just poor, defenseless [=helpless] animals. — often + against • The disease leaves the body defenseless against infection.

de-fense-man (US) or de-fence-man /dɪ'fensmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a player in a sport (such as hockey) who tries to stop the other team from scoring defense mechanism (US) or defence mechanism noun, pl ~-nisms [count] technical

1 : a process in the brain that makes you forget or ignore painful or disturbing thoughts, situations, etc. • She is projecting her anger on you as a defense mechanism.

2 : a reaction in your body that protects against disease or danger • the cell's normal defense mechanisms against infection

de-fen-si-ble /dɪ'fensəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal

1 : able to be thought of as good or acceptable • Both candidates hold defensible positions on the issue. • Under those circumstances, her actions were completely defensible. • Slavery is not morally defensible.

2 : able to be defended or protected : able to be kept safe from damage or harm • The city has a defensible location. • a defensible bridge de-fen-sive /dɪ'fensɪv/ adj

1 always used before a noun : defending or protecting someone or something from attack : helping to keep a person or thing safe • The city began building a defensive wall around its borders. • The government decided to join a defensive alliance with several other nations. • Defensive driving classes [=classes that teach you how to be a safe driver] can help you avoid accidents. • We have taken many defensive measures [=we have done things to protect ourselves] against terrorist attacks. • defensive actions — compare ¹OFFENSIVE 4

2 [more ~; most ~] : behaving in a way that shows that you feel people are criticizing you • I was surprised by his defensive reaction to my suggestion. • defensive behaviors/attitudes • There's no need to get so defensive. I was only making a suggestion. • When we asked her about the mistakes, she became defensive. — often + about • He can be a bit defensive about his work as an artist.

3 always used before a noun, sports : of or relating to the way that players try to stop an opponent from scoring in a game or contest • The coach has a strong defensive strategy. • a defensive player/lineman — compare ¹OFFENSIVE 3

— de-fen-sive-ly adv • "It wasn't my fault," she said defensively. • The team needs to improve its game defensively. [=it needs to make its defense better] — de-fen-sive-ness noun [noncount] • There was a bit of defensiveness in his answer.

²defensive noun

on/onto the defensive 1 : in or into a situation in which you are forced to defend or protect someone or something

• We won after keeping the other team on the defensive for most of the game. • Their soldiers appear to be on the defensive. • The company was pushed/forced onto the defensive in the lawsuit. 2 : in or into a position in which you have to argue that something (such as one of your actions or beliefs) is good or correct when others say that it is bad or wrong • The reporter often asks questions that put/place people on the defensive. • He found himself on the defensive when the subject of the environment was discussed. • The company is now on the defensive for its illegal business dealings.

de-fer /dɪ'fə/ verb -fers; -ferred; -fer-ring [+ obj] : to choose to do (something) at a later time • She deferred work on her book. • The accountant advised us not to defer our taxes. [=not to pay our taxes later] • She'll defer her decision. — see also TAX-DEFERRED defer to [phrasal verb] 1 defer to (someone) : to allow (someone else) to decide or choose something • You have more experience with this, so I'm going to defer to you. • deferring to the experts 2 defer to (something) : to agree to follow (someone else's decision, a tradition, etc.) • The court defers to precedent in cases like these. • He deferred to his parents' wishes.

de-fer-ence /'defərəns/ noun [noncount] formal : a way of behaving that shows respect for someone or something • Her relatives treat one another with deference. • He is shown much deference by his colleagues. — often + to • The children were taught to show proper deference to their elders.

in deference to or out of deference to : in order to show respect for the opinions or influence of (someone or something) : out of respect for (someone or something) • He decided not to get a tattoo in deference to his mother. • The police have not yet revealed the victim's name out of deference to his family. • customs used in deference to tradition

— de-fer-en-tial /,defə'renʃəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • The class listened with deferential [=respectful] attention. • deferential to tradition — de-fer-en-tial-ly adv • She bowed deferentially.

de-fer-ment /dɪ'fəmənt/ noun, pl -ments : the act of allowing something to be delayed or deferred: such as a : official permission to pay for something at a later time [count] She requested a six-month deferment on her loan. [noncount] She requested deferment of her loan. b : official permission to do required military service at a later time [count] a draft deferment • He received a college/student deferment. [=permission to finish school before entering the military] [noncount] the policies of military deferment de-fer-ral /dɪ'fərəl/ noun, pl -rals : the act of delaying or deferring something [count] a tax deferral [noncount] He applied for deferral.

de-fi-ance /dɪ'fajəns/ noun [noncount] : a refusal to obey something or someone : the act of defying someone or something • acts of defiance — often + of • He was jailed for his defiance of the law.

in defiance of : against or despite the wishes, rules, or laws of (someone or something) • The group is acting in defiance of a government order. • She married him in defiance of her parents. • The dancers leap in seeming defiance of the laws of gravity.

de-fi-ant /dɪ'fajənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : refusing to obey something or someone : full of defiance • defiant rebels • a defiant act • He's taken a defiant stand/stance on the issue.

— de-fi-ant-ly adv • He's spoken out defiantly against the new law.

de-fi-bril-la-tor /di'fibrə,leɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count] medical : a device that gives an electric shock to a person's heart in order to make it beat normally again especially after a heart attack

de-fi-cien-cy /di'fɪjənsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 : a lack of something that is needed : the state of not having enough of something necessary [count] The disease may be caused by nutritional deficiencies. • The book's major deficiency is its poor plot. • a deficiency of vitamin C [non-count] vitamin deficiency

2 [count] : a problem in the way something is made or formed • There are several deficiencies in his plan. • The accident was caused by deficiencies in the engine.

de-fi-cient /di'fɪjənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not having enough of something that is important or necessary • a nutritionally deficient diet — usually + in • a diet deficient in certain vitamins • a man who is deficient in judgment [=a man whose judgment is poor] • students who are deficient [=lacking] in their knowledge of history

2 : not good enough : not as good as others • mentally deficient • Several bridges in the city are structurally deficient.

def-i-cit /'defəsət/ noun, pl -cits [count]

1 : an amount (such as an amount of money) that is less than the amount that is needed • The government is facing a deficit of $3 billion. • We will reduce the federal budget deficit. • Some economists advocate deficit spending [=spending borrowed money] to boost a slumping economy. — opposite SURPLUS; see also TRADE DEFICIT

2 : the amount by which a person or team is behind in a game or contest • The team overcame a four-point deficit to win the game.

3 chiefly US : a problem that causes a decrease in some ability • She has a slight hearing deficit in her left ear. — see also ATTENTION DEFICIT DISORDER de-file /di'fajəl/ verb -files; -filed; -fil-ing [+ obj] formal

1 : to make (something) dirty • The lake has been defiled by polluters.

2 : to take away or ruin the purity, honor, or goodness of (something or someone important) • She thinks slang defiles the language. • defiling the country's flag • Vandals defiled the holy shrine.

— de-file-ment /di'fajəlmənt/ noun [noncount] • the defilement of the shrine defile noun, pl -files [count] formal : a narrow passage through mountains : GORGE

de-fine /di'faɪn/ verb -fines; -fined; -fin-ing [+ obj]

1 : to explain the meaning of (a word, phrase, etc.) • How would you define (the word) "grotesque"? • a term that is difficult to define

2 : to show or describe (someone or something) clearly and completely • The government study seeks to define urban poverty. • Her book aims to define acceptable social behavior. • He was defined by his passions. [=his passions showed what kind of person he was] • She believes that success should be defined in terms of health and happiness. • Tigers are broadly/loosely defined [=described very generally] as large cats. • He narrowly defines [=describes very specifically] a hero as someone who has earned a medal in battle.

3 : to show the shape, outline, or edge of (something) very clearly • That fence defines the far edge of the property.

— de-fin-able /di'faɪnəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • an easily definable word • definable risk factors — defined adj [more ~; most ~] • a clearly defined neighborhood • Her cheekbones are well-defined. — defining adj, always used before a noun • That was the campaign's defining moment. [=the moment that showed very clearly what kind of campaign it was]

def-i-nite /'defənɪt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : said or done in a such way that others know exactly what you mean • We'll need a definite answer by Tuesday. • The answer is a definite no.

2 : not likely to change : already set or decided • Are her plans definite? • I don't know anything definite yet. • The teacher sets definite standards for her students.

3 not used before a noun : confident or certain about doing something or that something will happen • She seems to be pretty definite about leaving. • I am definite that we will win.

definite article noun, pl ~ articles [count] grammar : the word the used in English to refer to a person or thing that is identified or specified; also : a word that is used in a similar way in another language — compare INDEFINITE ARTICLE

def-i-nite-ly /'defənɪtli/ adv [more ~; most ~] : without doubt : in a way that is certain or clear • The new model is definitely an improvement. • The party will definitely be next week. • The room is definitely not ready. • "Will you come over on Saturday?" "Definitely!" [=yes]

def-i-ni-tion /,defə'nɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] a : an explanation of the meaning of a word, phrase, etc. : a statement that defines a word, phrase, etc. • dictionary definitions b : a statement that describes what something is • What is the legal definition of a corporation? • a definition of happiness

2 [singular] : a clear or perfect example of a person or thing • He was the very definition of a gentleman. [=he was a perfect gentleman] • A week of fishing is my definition of a vacation.

3 [noncount] : the quality that makes it possible to see the shape, outline, and details of something clearly • muscle definition • The picture lacks definition. [=the picture is not sharp/clear] • a monitor with good definition and vibrant colors — see also HIGH-DEFINITION by definition : because of what something or someone is : according to the definition of a word that is being used to describe someone or something • A volunteer by definition is not paid. • A glider is by definition an aircraft with no engine.

de-fin-i-tive /di'fɪnətɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not able to be argued about or changed : final and settled • We need a definitive answer to this question. • The court has issued a definitive ruling.

2 : complete, accurate, and considered to be the best of its kind • a definitive biography • a definitive collection of the band's albums

— de-fin-i-tive-ly adv • a virus definitively linked to some stomach diseases

de-flate /di'fleɪt/ verb -flates; -flat-ed; -flat-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to release air or gas from (something, such as a tire or balloon) and make it smaller • deflate the tires • a deflated football b [no obj] : to lose air or gas from inside • The birthday balloons deflated after a few days. — opposite INFLATE

2 [+ obj] a : to make (someone) lose confidence or pride • The harsh criticism left him utterly deflated. • an insult that would deflate their egos b : to show that (something) is not important or true • deflate [=defuse] an argument • He has worked to deflate popular myths about investing.

3 [+ obj] : to cause (prices, costs, etc.) to decrease : to cause (something, such as money or real estate) to lose value • economic policies that could deflate (the value of) the dollar • Deflated prices mean that farmers are getting less for their products.

de-fla-tion /di'fleɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

1 : a decrease in the amount of available money or credit in an economy that causes prices to go down • Economists worry that deflation will bring the country into recession. — compare INFLATION

2 : the act or process of letting air or gas out of (something) • deflation of a balloon

— de-fla-tion-ary /di'fleɪʃə,neri, Brit di'fleɪʃənri/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a deflationary period in the economy

de-flect /di'flekt/ verb -flects; -flect-ed; -flect-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to cause (something that is moving) to change direction • armor that can deflect bullets • The goalie deflected the ball with his hands. b [no obj] : to hit something and suddenly change direction • The ball deflected off the goalie's shoulder.

2 [+ obj] : to keep (something, such as a question) from affecting or being directed at a person or thing • She's skilled at deflecting [=avoiding] questions/criticism. • They are trying to deflect attention from the troubled economy. • The blame was deflected from the chairman.

— de-flec-tor /di'flektə/ noun, pl -tors [count] • a wind deflector de-flec-tion /di'flekʃən/ noun, pl -tions : the act of changing or causing something to change direction [noncount] measuring the angle of deflection [count] He scored with a deflection off another player's stick.

de-flow-er /di'flawə/ verb -ers; -ered; -er-ing [+ obj] literary : to have sex with (someone who has not had sex before)

de-fog /di'fɑ:g/ verb -fogs; -fogged; -fog-ging [+ obj] US : to remove mist from (a window, mirror, etc.) by using dry heat • defog [= (Brit) demist] the windshield — compare DEFROST, DEICE

— de-fog-ger noun, pl -gers [count] • a window defogger

de-fo-li-ant /di'foulijənt/ noun, pl -ants [count] technical : a chemical that is sprayed on plants to make their leaves fall off de-fo-li-ate /di'fouli,eɪt/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [+ obj] technical : to cause the leaves of (a plant) to fall off • a chemical used to defoliate trees • Insects are defoliating the trees.

— de-fo-li-a-tion /di,fouli'eɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

de-for-es-ta-tion /di,forə'steɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : the act or result of cutting down or burning all the trees in an area • the deforestation of the island • mudslides caused by deforestation — compare REFORESTATION

— de-for-est /di'forəst/ verb -ests; -est-ed; -est-ing [+ obj] — usually used as (be) deforested • regions that have been deforested • deforested areas

de-form /di'fɔənm/ verb -forms; -formed; -form-ing : to change something so that it no longer has its normal or original shape [+ obj] The disease eventually deforms the bones. • a face deformed [=distorted, contorted] by hatred [no obj] The disease eventually causes the bones to deform.

— de-for-ma-tion /di:,fɔə'meɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] skeletal deformations [(more commonly) deformities] [noncount] the deformation of steel deformed adj [more ~; most ~] : not having the normal or expected shape especially because of a problem in the way something has developed or grown • deformed frogs • a deformed [=misshapen] hand de-for-mi-ty /di'fɔəməti/ noun, pl -ties : a condition in which part of the body does not have the normal or expected shape [count] facial deformities [noncount] a disease causing deformity of the spine

de-frag /di'fræg/ verb -frags; -fragged; -frag-ging [+ obj] chiefly US, computers, informal : DEFRAGMENT

de-frag-ment /di'frægmənt/ verb -ments; -ment-ed; -ment-ing [+ obj] chiefly US, computers : to use a special program to move data on (a computer disk) so that related information is stored together • I defragmented my hard drive.

de-fraud /di'fra:d/ verb -frauds; -fraud-ed; -fraud-ing : to trick or cheat someone or something in order to get money : to use fraud in order to get money from a person, an organization, etc. [+ obj] They were accused of trying to defraud the public. • They conspired to defraud the government. [no obj] She was convicted of writing bad checks with intent to defraud.

de-fray /di'freɪ/ verb -frays; -frayed; -fray-ing [+ obj] somewhat formal : to pay for (something) • This will defray the costs/expenses.

de-frock /di'fræk/ verb -frocks; -frocked; -frock-ing [+ obj] : to officially remove (a priest) from his or her job as punishment for doing something wrong — usually used as (be) defrocked • He was defrocked last year. • a defrocked priest de-frost /di'fra:st/ verb -frosts; -frost-ed; -frost-ing

1 : to warm something that is frozen until it is no longer frozen [+ obj] You can defrost the soup in the microwave. [no obj] He took some fish out of the freezer to defrost [=thaw] in the fridge. — sometimes used figuratively • It took a while for her to defrost [=to stop being unfriendly] and open up to us.

2 : to melt ice that has built up on the inside of a freezer or refrigerator [+ obj] defrost the freezer [no obj] Has the refrigerator defrosted yet?

3 [+ obj] : to melt ice on a car's windows by using heat • defrost the windshield — compare DEFOG, DEICE de-frost-er /di'fra:stə/ noun, pl -ers [count] US : a device that uses heat or hot air to melt ice on or remove moisture from a surface • the car's rear defroster • a freezer with a built-in defroster

deft /'deft/ adj deft-er; deft-est [or more ~; most ~]

1 : skillful and clever • a deft politician • The photographer is known for her deft use of lighting.

2 : able to do something quickly and accurately • the trumpeter's deft fingers

— deft-ly adv • a deftly played symphony — deft-ness /'deftnəs/ noun [noncount] • political deftness • the deftness of the surgeon de-funct /di'fʌŋkt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : no longer existing or being used • a defunct steel company • She wrote for the now-defunct newspaper.

de-fuse /di'fju:z/ verb -fus-es; -fused; -fus-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (something) less serious, difficult, or tense •

Skilled negotiators helped defuse the crisis/situation. • Her joke diffused the tension in the room.

2 : to remove the part of (an explosive) that makes it explode : to remove the fuse from (an explosive) • defuse a bomb

de-fy /dr'faɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj]

1 : to refuse to obey (something or someone) • She defied her parents and dropped out of school.

2 : to make (something) very difficult or impossible • The article defies a simple summary. [=the article cannot be explained by a simple summary] • views of nature that defy belief/description [=that are hard to believe/describe]

3 : to resist or fight (something) • The group has continued to defy all efforts to stop them.

4 : to go against (something) • The team defied the odds [=did something that was very unlikely] and won the championship. • an explanation that defies all logic [=an explanation that does not make any sense]

5 : to tell (someone) to do something that you think cannot be done • I defy you to prove that I lied. • I defy anyone to name a better film. [=I do not think that anyone can name a better film; I do not think that there is a better film]

deg. abbr degree

¹de-gen-er-ate /dr'ðʒənə,reit/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [no obj] : to change to a worse state or condition : to become worse, weaker, less useful, etc. • As the disease progresses, the patient's health will degenerate [=deteriorate] rapidly. — often + into • Experts fear that the country is degenerating into chaos. • The meeting degenerated into a shouting match.

— de-gen-er-a-tion /dr,ðʒənə'reɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • muscle tissue degeneration • Experts fear the degeneration of the country into chaos.

²de-gen-er-ate /dr'ðʒənərət/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having low moral standards : not honest, proper, or good • He criticizes what he believes is a degenerate society.

— de-gen-er-a-cy /dr'ðʒənərəsi/ noun [noncount] • moral degeneracy

³de-gen-er-ate /dr'ðʒənərət/ noun, pl -ates [count] disapproving : a person whose behavior is not morally right or socially acceptable • a couple of degenerates on a crime spree

de-gen-er-a-tive /dr'ðʒənərətɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] medical : causing the body or part of the body to become weaker or less able to function as time passes • a degenerative disease/disorder

de-grad-able /dr'greɪdəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] technical : capable of being slowly broken down into simple parts • plastic that is not degradable — compare BIODEGRADABLE deg-ra-da-tion /,degrə'deɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions somewhat formal

1 : the act or process of damaging or ruining something [noncount] degradation of the environment [count] There has been a slight degradation [=decline] in the car's performance.

2 : the act of treating someone or something poorly and without respect [noncount] the degradation of women • He was forced to live a life of degradation. [=a life in which he suffered and was treated very poorly] [count] He was forced to suffer the degradations [=indignities] of poverty and abuse.

de-grade /dr'greɪd/ verb -grades; -grad-ed; -grad-ing

1 [+ obj] : to treat (someone or something) poorly and without respect • The group accuses the company of degrading women in its ads. • I am not going to degrade [=lower] myself by responding to these baseless accusations. • He felt degraded by their remarks.

2 [+ obj] : to make the quality of (something) worse • Scratches on a camera lens will degrade the image. • Pollution has degraded air quality.

3 technical : to cause (something complex) to break down into simple substances or parts [+ obj] enzymes that degrade proteins [no obj] plastics that don't degrade [=decompose] easily — degrading adj [more ~; most ~] • a degrading job • He made a degrading remark about my weight.

de-gree /dr'gri:/ noun, pl -grees

¹ [count] : a unit for measuring temperature • Bake the bread at 350 degrees (Fahrenheit) for 35 minutes. • 20 degrees Fahrenheit/Celsius [=20° F/C] — abbr. deg.

2 [count] : a unit for measuring the size of an angle • There are 360 degrees in a circle. • 47 degrees latitude/longitude • a 15 degree angle [=a 15° angle] — abbr. deg.

3 : an amount or level that can be measured or compared to another amount or level [noncount] These trees will thrive, to a greater or lesser degree, in a number of climates. • To what degree [=how much] is she interested in finance? • We don't yet know the degree to which [=how much] the roof is damaged. [count] — usually + of • a high degree of difficulty/skill • They have had varying degrees of success. • We can now predict the weather with a greater degree of accuracy. [=with more accuracy]

4 [noncount] : a measure of how severe or serious something is • He was accused of murder in the first degree. = He was accused of first-degree murder. [=the most serious kind of murder] • a second-degree burn — see also FIRST-DEGREE, SECOND-DEGREE, THIRD-DEGREE

5 [count] : an official document and title that is given to someone who has successfully completed a series of classes at a college or university • She has a degree in engineering. • a four-year degree [=a degree that is given to someone who has completed four years of study] • a bachelor's/master's degree • She received an honorary degree. [=a degree given by a college or university to someone who is not a student but who has done something important]

by degrees : very slowly : by a series of small changes • The tomatoes changed by degrees from green to red.

to some degree also to a (certain) degree : not completely but partly • To some degree, they're right. • We simplified the process to a certain degree. [=somewhat]

to the nth degree see NTH

de·hu·man·ize also Brit de·hu·man·ise /di'hju:mənaɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] : to treat (someone) as though he or she is not a human being • Inspectors have observed terrible factory conditions that dehumanize workers. • The government's propaganda is meant to dehumanize the enemy. [=to make the enemy seem less human] • the dehumanizing nature of torture

— de·hu·man·iz·a·tion also Brit de·hu·man·is·a·tion /di'hju:mənə'zeɪʃən, Brit di'hju:mənaɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

de·hu·mid·i·fi·er /di'hju'mɪdə'faɪə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a machine that takes moisture out of the air — compare HUMIDIFIER de·hy·drate /di'haɪdreɪt/ verb -drates; -drat-ed; -drat-ing somewhat technical

1 [+ obj] : to remove water or moisture from (something, such as food) • Salt dehydrates the meat and keeps it from spoiling.

2 : to lose too much water [no obj] Athletes drink lots of water so they don't dehydrate. [+ obj] Exercising in this heat will dehydrate you.

— dehydrated adj [more ~; most ~] • dehydrated fruit • dehydrated athletes — de·hy·dra·tion /di'haɪ'dreɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • Athletes drink lots of water to prevent dehydration.

de·ice /di'ais/ verb -ic-es; -iced; -ic-ing [+ obj] : to remove ice from (something) • We watched while they deiced the plane before takeoff. — compare DEFOG, DEFROST de·i·fy /'dɪjə'faɪ, 'deɪə'faɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj] : to treat (someone or something) like a god or goddess • The people deified the emperor. • Our society deifies [=worships] money.

— de·i·fi·ca·tion /di'jəfə'keɪʃən, 'deɪəfə'keɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the deification of celebrities deign /'deɪn/ verb deigns; deigned; deign-ing [no obj] formal + disapproving : to do something that you think you should not have to do because you are too important — usually followed by to + verb • She finally deigned to speak to me. • The actor walked by, not even deigning [=stooping, condescending] to acknowledge his fans.

de·i·ty /'di:ɹəti, 'deɹəti/ noun, pl -ties [count] : a god or goddess • ancient Greek deities • a reference to the Deity [=God]

dé·jà vu /,deɪ'ʒɑ:'vu:/ noun [noncount]

1 : the feeling that you have already experienced something that is actually happening for the first time • I entered the room and immediately felt a sense of déjà vu.

2 chiefly US, informal : something that has happened many times before : something that is very familiar • When the car broke down again, it was déjà vu. • The rise in housing costs is déjà vu all over again.

de·ject·ed /di'dʒektəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : sad because of failure, loss, etc. • The dejected players left the field. • She's been so dejected [=depressed, unhappy] since her sister moved away.

— de·ject·ed·ly adv • The players dejectedly walked off the field.

de·jec·tion /di'dʒekʃən/ noun [noncount] : sadness that is caused by failure, loss, etc. • You could see the dejection [=unhappiness] on her face.

de ju·re /di'dʒuri/ adj, always used before a noun, law : based on or according to the law • the end of de jure segregation • de jure authority — compare DE FACTO — de jure adv • The UN has recognized the country de jure.

Del. abbr, US Delaware

¹de·lay /di'leɪ/ noun, pl -lays

1 : a situation in which something happens later than it should [count] Do you know what's causing the delay? • The nurse apologized for the delay [=wait] and said that the doctor would be in shortly. • a number of flight delays [noncount] After months of delay, construction on the new school began. • The roof must be repaired without delay. [=immediately]

2 [count] : the amount of time that you must wait for something that is late • Airline travelers are experiencing delays of up to three hours.

²delay verb -lays; -layed; -lay-ing

1 : to wait until later to do something : to make something happen later [+ obj] The doctor wants to delay surgery for a few weeks. • They delayed [=put off] having children until their late 30s. • She's planning to delay her retirement. [no obj] He delayed too long, and now it's too late. • "Don't delay! Sale ends Saturday."

2 [+ obj] : to make (something or someone) late : to make (something or someone) take longer than expected or planned • Production problems delayed the introduction of the new model by several months. — often used as (be) delayed • We were delayed by traffic. • Many flights were delayed.

— delayed adj [more ~; most ~] • He had a very delayed reaction to the medication. [=a reaction that did not happen immediately]

delaying tactic noun [count] : something that is done in order to delay a decision, an occurrence, etc. — called also (chiefly US) delay tactic

de·lec·ta·ble /di'lektəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal

1 : very pleasant to taste or smell : DELICIOUS • the restaurant's delectable food • The meals he prepares are always delectable.

2 humorous : very attractive • one of the most delectable men she's ever met

— de·lec·ta·bly /di'lektəbli/ adv • a delectably seasoned steak

de·lec·ta·tion /di'lektə'ʃən/ noun [noncount] formal : pleasure or enjoyment • Here is some chocolate for your delectation.

¹del·e·gate /'delɪgət/ noun, pl -gates [count] : a person who is chosen or elected to vote or act for others : REPRESENTATIVE • the U.N. delegates from African countries • He's been chosen as a delegate to the convention.

²del·e·gate /'delɪ'geɪt/ verb -gates; -gat-ed; -gat-ing

1 : to give (control, responsibility, authority, etc.) to someone : to trust someone with (a job, duty, etc.) [+ obj] A manager should delegate authority to the best employees. • Those chores can be delegated to someone else. [no obj] He doesn't delegate very well.

2 [+ obj] : to choose (someone) to do something — often used as (be) delegated • He was delegated by the town to take care of the monument.

del·e·ga·tion /,delɪ'geɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a group of people who are chosen to vote or act for someone else • a delegation of diplomats • He's been chosen to lead the delegation to the conference. • the state's congressional delegation [=the group of officials elected to the U.S. Congress from a particular state]

2 [noncount] formal : the act of giving control, authority, a job, a duty, etc., to another person — usually + of • the delegation of responsibilities de·lete /di'li:t/ verb -letes; -let-ed; de·let-ing [+ obj] : to remove (something, such as words, pictures, or computer files) from a document, recording, computer, etc. • Delete this name from the list. • When the movie was shown on TV all the swearwords had been deleted. • She accidentally deleted [=erased] the file/e-mail.

— de·le·tion /di'li:ʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] The deletions shouldn't affect the meaning of the letter. [noncount] The deletion of that paragraph makes your letter read better.

del-e-te-ri-ous /ˌdɛləˈtɪrɪəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : damaging or harmful • The chemical is deleterious to the environment. • The drug has no deleterious effects on patients.

deli /ˈdɛli/ noun, pl del-is [count] : a store where you can buy foods (such as meats, cheese, salads, and sandwiches) that are already cooked or prepared • We bought sandwiches and drinks at the deli. — called also delicatessen

¹de-lib-er-ate /dɪˈlɪbərət/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : done or said in a way that is planned or intended : done or said on purpose • I don't think that was a mistake; I think it was deliberate. [=intentional] • a deliberate [=planned] attempt to trick people

2 : done or decided after careful thought • a deliberate choice/decision

3 : slow and careful • She spoke in a clear, deliberate manner/way. • He advocates a slow and deliberate approach to the problem.

²de-lib-er-ate /dɪˈlɪbərɛɪt/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing : to think about or discuss something very carefully in order to make a decision [no obj] The jury deliberated for two days before reaching a verdict. [+ obj] They will deliberate the question. — often + whether, what, etc. • I've been deliberating [=debating] whether or not to accept the job offer.

de-lib-er-ate-ly /dɪˈlɪbərətli/ adv [more ~; most ~]

1 : in a way that is meant, intended, or planned • He deliberately tricked them.

2 : slowly and carefully : in a way that is not hurried • She spoke clearly and deliberately to the audience.

de-lib-er-a-tion /dɪˈlɪbərɛɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : careful thought or discussion done in order to make a decision [noncount] After hours of deliberation, the council came to a decision. [count] Jury deliberations lasted two days.

2 [noncount] : the quality of being slow and careful • She spoke to the audience with clarity and deliberation.

de-lib-er-a-tive /dɪˈlɪbərɛɪtɪv, dɪˈlɪbərətɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : created or done in order to discuss and consider facts and reasons carefully • Congress is a deliberative body. • a deliberative process

del-i-ca-cy /ˈdɛlɪkəsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 [count] : a food that people like to eat because it is special or rare • The restaurant serves delicious sausages and other regional delicacies.

2 [noncount] : the quality of being delicate: such as a : the quality of being easily broken or damaged • the delicacy of the glassware b : the quality of being easily injured, hurt, or made sick • the delicacy [=frailty] of his health c : the attractive quality of something that is formed from many small or fine parts • The curtains were made from fine lace of great delicacy. • a musician known for the delicacy of her compositions • the delicacy of the young boy's features d : the appealing quality of something that is not too strong • the delicacy of the perfume • the delicacy of the wine's flavor

3 [noncount] a : special care or skill that is needed to prevent people from becoming upset or angry • This is a difficult situation that should be handled with delicacy. [=tact]

b : the quality of requiring special care or skill • Because of the delicacy of the situation, we needed to speak privately.

del-i-cate /ˈdɛlɪkət/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : easily broken or damaged • The cup is very delicate [=fragile], so please handle it carefully. • delicate flowers b : easily injured, hurt, or made sick • Her health is very delicate. [=frail] • He has a delicate stomach and often gets sick when traveling.

2 a : attractive and made up of small or fine parts • The fabric has a delicate floral print. • a small boy with delicate (facial) features • She has delicate hands. [=small and attractive hands] b : very carefully and beautifully made • We hung delicate lace curtains in the windows. • The tomb was adorned with delicate carvings.

3 : attractive because of being soft, gentle, light, etc. : pleasant or attractive in a way that is not too strong • the delicate flavor of the wine • a delicate perfume/sauce • a delicate color

4 : easily disturbed or upset • Many people struggle to maintain the delicate balance between work and family. • The violence in the film offended her delicate sensibilities. • The movie is not for delicate [=squeamish] people.

5 : requiring special care or skill : difficult to manage or do well • The doctor performed the delicate operation. • This is a delicate situation that needs to be handled carefully. • The situation calls for a very delicate approach.

— del-i-cate-ly adv • a delicately carved tomb • a delicately flavored ginger sauce • This situation must be handled delicately.

del-i-cates /ˈdɛlɪkəts/ noun [plural] : clothes made of delicate material that must be washed carefully del-i-ca-tes-sen /ˌdɛlɪkəˈtɛsn/ noun, pl -sens [count] : DELI de-li-cious /dɪˈlɪʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : very pleasant to taste • Dinner was delicious. • This is the most delicious ice cream I have ever eaten. b : having a smell that suggests a very pleasant taste • The bread smells delicious. • Delicious aromas were floating from the kitchen.

2 literary : very pleasing or enjoyable • a delicious [=delightful] comedy about parenthood • a delicious bit of gossip

— de-li-cious-ly adv • They served a deliciously fruity dessert. • a deliciously witty writer — de-li-cious-ness noun [noncount]

¹de-light /dɪˈlaɪt/ noun, pl -lights

1 [noncount] : a strong feeling of happiness : great pleasure or satisfaction • His expression when he saw the baby was one of pure delight. [=joy] • We watched the fireworks with delight. • The kids screamed in delight as they chased one another around the park. • To our delight, our guests decided to stay another night. [=we were very happy that our guests decided to stay another night] • To the delight of the children, there were enough cookies for everyone to have two. • She takes delight in [=very much enjoys] her new job. • Some people seem to take great delight in hearing about the misfortunes of others.

2 [count] : something that makes you very happy : something that gives you great pleasure or satisfaction • The trip was a delight. • a garden full of tasty delights • The magazine is a cook's delight. • The stories are a delight to read.

— see also TURKISH DELIGHT

²delight verb -lights; -light-ed; -light-ing [+ obj] : to make (someone) very happy : to give (someone) great pleasure or satisfaction • The toy delighted the children. • The stories will delight readers of all ages.

delight in [phrasal verb] delight in (something) : to be very happy because of (something) : to enjoy (something) very much • I walked slowly, delighting in the crisp autumn air. • He delights in meeting new people.

delighted adj [more ~; most ~] : made very happy : full of great pleasure or satisfaction • I am delighted [=very pleased] to meet you. • the delighted [=joyful] expression on his face • The children were especially delighted that there were enough cookies for each of them to have two. • She's delighted with her new job. [=she likes her new job very much] • We were delighted by the performance. • They are delighted at the prospect of a visit from their grandchildren.

— de-light-ed-ly adv • He laughed delightedly.

de-light-ful /dɪˈlaɪtful/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very pleasant : giving or causing delight • It has been delightful meeting you. • It is delightful [=wonderful, great] to be here. • That was a delightful party. • She's a delightful person.

— de-light-ful-ly adv • a delightfully sunny day

de-lim-it /dɪˈlɪmət/ verb -its; -it-ed; -it-ing [+ obj] formal : to officially set or state the limits of (something) • Strict guidelines delimit his responsibilities.

de-lin-eate /dɪˈlɪni,eɪt/ verb -eates; -eat-ed; -eat-ing [+ obj] formal : to clearly show or describe (something) • The report clearly delineates the steps that must be taken. • The characters in the story were carefully delineated.

— de-lin-ea-tion /dɪˈlɪniˈeɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

de-lin-quen-cy /dɪˈlɪŋkwənsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 : crimes or other morally wrong acts : illegal or immoral behavior especially by young people [noncount] They tried to steer him away from delinquency by giving him a job in their store. • She's been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. [count] a series of minor delinquencies — see also JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

2 US : the condition of someone who owes money and is not making payments at the required or expected time [count] Loan delinquencies are on the rise. [=an increasing number of people are failing to make their loan payments on time] [noncount] a high rate of delinquency • Delinquency rates are soaring.

¹de-lin-quent /dɪˈlɪŋkwənt/ noun, pl -quents [count] : a young person who regularly does illegal or immoral things : JUVENILE DELINQUENT • a group of violent delinquents

²delinquent adj

1 : doing things that are illegal or immoral • a school for delinquent children • His delinquent behavior could lead to more serious problems.

2 US a : not paid at the required or expected time • Her credit card account was delinquent. [=she had not made the payments that were due on her credit card account] • The town is trying to collect delinquent taxes. b : failing to pay an amount of money that is owed • people who are delinquent in their loan payments [=people who have not been paying back their loans when they said they would] • delinquent borrowers de·lir·i·ous /dr'li:ri:əs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not able to think or speak clearly especially because of fever or other illness • As the child's temperature went up, he became delirious and didn't know where he was. • He was delirious with fever.

2 : very excited • a group of delirious fans celebrating the team's victory — often + with • We were delirious with happiness when we heard the news.

— de·lir·i·ous·ly adv • deliriously happy • deliriously in love • He spoke deliriously.

de·lir·i·um /dr'li:ri:jəm/ noun, pl -iums

1 : a mental state in which you are confused and not able to think or speak clearly usually because of fever or some other illness [noncount] In her delirium, nothing she said made any sense. • a period of delirium [count] drug deliriums

2 [noncount] : a state of wild excitement and great happiness • The team's victory sent fans into (a state of) delirium.

delirium tre·mens /-'tri:mənz/ noun [noncount] medical : D.T.'S de·lish /dr'li:f/ adj [more ~; most ~] US, informal : DELICIOUS • The whole meal was delish.

de·list /di'list/ verb -lists; -list·ed; -list·ing [+ obj] formal : to remove (something) from a list • The company has been delisted from the stock exchange. [=the company is no longer one of the companies listed on the stock exchange]

de·liv·er /dr'livə/ verb -ers; -ered; -er·ing

1 : to take (something) to a person or place [+ obj] The package was delivered to the office this morning. • She delivers the mail on my street. • They are having the furniture delivered next week. • The supermarket delivers groceries for free within 30 miles of the store. [no obj] "Does the restaurant deliver?" "No, you have to pick up the food yourself."

2 [+ obj] : to say (something) officially or publicly : to present (a speech, statement, etc.) to a group of people • He will deliver the speech at noon. • The actors delivered their lines with passion. • The jury is expected to deliver a verdict later today. • The judge delivered a warning to the protesters.

3 a [no obj] : to do what you say you will do or what people expect you to do : to produce the promised, wanted, or expected results • We gave her the job because we know she'll deliver. [=come through] • He failed to deliver on his promise. [=he failed to do what he promised to do] b [+ obj] : to provide or produce (something) • The novel delivers an inspiring look into the life and ideas of Gandhi. • The company charges too much for what it delivers. • The car delivers excellent/poor gas mileage. — see also deliver the goods at ²GOOD

4 [+ obj] a : to give birth to (a baby) • She delivered healthy twin girls early this morning. • (technical) The patient was delivered of [=gave birth to] healthy twin girls this morning. b : to help someone give birth to (a baby) • The doctor is delivering a baby right now.

5 [+ obj] : to give control of (someone or something) to another person or group — + to or into • He argues that by letting children watch too much television, we are delivering them into the hands of advertisers. • A group of soldiers were delivered up to [=handed over to] the enemy at the border. • The agreement delivered over [=transferred] the documents into the possession of the museum.

6 [+ obj] : to cause (something, such as a punch, a thrown ball, etc.) to hit or go to a person or place • The boxer delivered a crushing blow to his opponent's head. • He delivered [=threw] a fastball right over the plate. • The country is believed to have the ability to deliver nuclear warheads. [=to attack other countries with nuclear warheads]

7 [+ obj] chiefly US : to get (votes) for a particular person or issue in an election • She is doing her best to deliver the college student vote. [=to convince college students to vote a particular way]

8 [+ obj] formal + literary : to free (someone) from something • all those who long to be delivered from slavery/tyranny • "... deliver [=save] us from evil." —Matthew 6:13 (KJV) deliver yourself of formal : to make, create, or produce (something) • She has finally delivered herself of her long-awaited third novel.

— de·liv·er·able /dr'livərəbəl/ adj • a deliverable product — deliverable noun, pl -ables [count] — usually plural • computer software deliverables [=products that can be delivered to customers] — de·liv·er·er /dr'livərə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • When are the deliverers bringing the sofa?

de·liv·er·ance /dr'livərəns/ noun [noncount] formal : the state of being saved from something dangerous or unpleasant • She prayed for deliverance as the famine got worse. — often + from • He knew that his retirement would bring deliverance from the worries and stresses of his job.

de·liv·ery /dr'livəri/ noun, pl -er·ies

1 a : the act of taking something to a person or place [count] The delivery is scheduled for this morning. • The supermarket makes deliveries [=takes goods to customers] for free within 30 miles of the store. • The restaurant doesn't do deliveries. [=does not take food to customers] [noncount] The company offers free delivery with orders over $100. • She does the mail delivery [=she delivers the mail] on my street. • a delivery truck/service [=a truck/service that delivers something] • Someone has to be home to accept/receive delivery of the package. • Payment is due on delivery of the goods. [=when you receive the goods] • Allow six weeks for delivery. — see also SPECIAL DELIVERY b [count] : something that is taken to a person or place : something that is delivered • The store got a delivery [=shipment] of shirts yesterday.

2 : the act or process of giving birth [noncount] The baby weighed almost seven pounds at the time of delivery. • the delivery room [=a special room in a hospital where women give birth to babies] [count] The doctor expects it to be a routine delivery. • The doctor has had three deliveries today.

3 [singular] : the way someone says something officially or publicly : the way someone delivers a speech, statement, etc., to a group of people • The joke was funny, but his delivery was terrible. • I need to work on my delivery before I give the speech.

4 [count] sports : the way a ball is thrown in baseball or cricket • The pitchers have similar deliveries. • a high delivery take delivery of formal : to receive (something that is being delivered to you) • The city will take delivery of the vehicles tomorrow.

delivery boy noun, pl ~ boys [count] somewhat old-fashioned : a boy or young man who delivers goods to customers from a store or restaurant

de·liv·er·y·man /dr'livərimən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a man who delivers goods to customers dell /'del/ noun, pl dells [count] formal + literary : a small valley with trees and grass growing in it

de·louse /di'laus/ verb -lous·es; -loused; -lous·ing [+ obj] : to remove lice from (someone or something) • delouse clothing

del·ta /'deltə/ noun, pl -tas

1 [count] : the fourth letter of the Greek alphabet — Δ or δ

2 [count] : a piece of land shaped like a triangle that is formed when a river splits into smaller rivers before it flows into an ocean • a river delta • the Ganges/Nile Delta

3 or Delta [singular] US : an area of low land along the Mississippi River that is mainly in the state of Mississippi • the Mississippi Delta • delta blues [=blues music that comes from the Mississippi delta]

del·toid /'delt,toid/ noun, pl -toids [count] : a large muscle of the shoulder • well-developed deltoids • the deltoid muscles

de·lude /dr'lu:d/ verb -ludes; -lud·ed; -lud·ing [+ obj] : to cause (someone) to believe something that is not true • If she thinks I care, she's deluding [=fooling] herself. • He was deluded [=deceived] by their lies. — often + into • They deluded themselves into believing their team would win.

— deluded adj [more ~; most ~] • His deluded family believed everything he said. • a very deluded way of thinking

¹del·uge /'del,ju:ʒ/ noun, pl -ug·es [count]

1 a : a large amount of rain that suddenly falls in an area • The deluge caused severe mudslides. b : a situation in which a large area of land becomes completely covered with water : FLOOD • the biblical deluge

2 : a large amount of things that come at the same time • an advertising deluge [=many advertisements] — often + of • The office receives a deluge of mail every day. • a deluge of phone calls

²deluge verb -uges; -uged; -ug·ing [+ obj]

1 : to give or send (someone) a large amount of things at the same time — usually used as (be) deluged • The family was deluged [=inundated, swamped] with calls about the free puppies. • The office is deluged with mail every day.

2 : to flood (a place) with water • Heavy rains deluged the region.

de-lu-sion /dr'lu:ʒən/ noun, pl -sions [count]

1 : a belief that is not true : a false idea • He has delusions about how much money he can make at that job. • He is living/laboring under the delusion that he is incapable of making mistakes. • She is under the delusion that we will finish on time.

2 : a false idea or belief that is caused by mental illness • As the illness progressed, his delusions took over and he had violent outbursts. ✧ If you have delusions of grandeur, you believe that you are much more important than you really are. • The patient is suffering from hallucinations and delusions of grandeur. • a young actress with delusions of grandeur — de-lu-sion-al /dr'lu:ʒənəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • He showed signs of delusional thinking near the end of his life. • If you think we can afford a new car, you are delusional.

de-luxe /dr'lʌks/ adj [more ~; most ~] : of better quality and usually more expensive than the usual ones of its kind : very luxurious • We stayed at a deluxe [=fancy] hotel. • the deluxe model of the car • The deluxe edition of the book includes many more illustrations.

delve /'dɛlv/ verb delves; delved; delv-ing [no obj]

1 : to search for information about something • He tried to delve inside his memory for clues about what had happened. — usually + into • Before the trip, I delved into the history of the city. • Now is not the time to delve into the past. • He delved deeply/further into his research.

2 chiefly Brit : to reach into a bag, container, etc., in order to find something — usually + in or into • He delved in the drawer for a torch. • She delved into her handbag in search of a pen.

Dem. abbr, US Democrat

dem-a-gogue /'deməgɑ:g/ noun, pl -gogues [count] disapproving : a political leader who tries to get support by making false claims and promises and using arguments based on emotion rather than reason • His opponent called him a bigoted demagogue.

— dem-a-gog-ic /,demə'gɑ:gɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a demagogic politician — dem-a-gogu-ery /'deməgɑ:gəri/ also dem-a-gogy /'deməgɑ:gi/ noun [noncount] • political demagoguery

1 de-mand /dr'mænd, Brit dr'mɑ:nd/ noun, pl -mands

1 [count] : a forceful statement in which you say that something must be done or given to you • The committee is considering her demand that she be given more time to complete the study. • The workers said they would not end the strike until their demands were met/satisfied. — often + for • The store refused to meet the customer's demand for a refund. • Parents made demands for the teacher's resignation.

2 [singular] : a strong need for something • The demand for low-income housing is increasing as the economy gets worse. • We are seeing an increased demand for hospital beds.

3 : the ability and need or desire to buy goods and services [noncount] The company increased production to meet demand. — often + for • Demand for fresh milk has surpassed supply in the region. [=people want to buy more milk than is available] [singular] — often + for • Local farmers say they will increase the number of peach trees they grow in order to meet a rising demand for peaches. [=in order to have as many peaches as customers want to buy] — see also SUPPLY AND DEMAND

4 demands [plural] a : difficult things you have to do because someone requires you to do them or because they are part of a job, activity, etc. — often + of • He wasn't sure he could handle the physical demands of the work. • The demands of the job became too much for him. • New parents are sometimes overwhelmed by the demands of parenthood.

b — used to describe something that requires a large amount of energy, time, etc. • Record high temperatures have placed heavy demands on the nation's energy supplies. [=because of the high temperatures, a lot of the nation's energy is being used] • A full-time job in addition to school puts great demands on her time. [=most of her time is spent working and going to school] • His novels make many demands on the reader. [=his novels are difficult for people to read and understand]

in demand : needed or wanted by many people • Tickets for her concerts are always in great demand. • Good plumbers are in demand in our town.

on demand : when needed or wanted • Help is available 24 hours a day on demand. • The debt is payable on demand. [=it must be paid whenever the person who is owed the money wants it] — see also ON-DEMAND popular demand : a request made by or a desire shared by many people • Because of popular demand, the restaurant has published a cookbook of favorite recipes. • The show will continue for another week due to popular demand. • The circus will be back by popular demand [=because many people want it to come back] later this summer.

2 demand verb -mands; -mand-ed; -mand-ing [+ obj]

1 : to say in a forceful way that something must be done or given to you : to say that you have a right to (something) • The customer demanded a refund. • He demanded an apology. • Parents have demanded that the teacher resign. • The reporter demanded to see the documents. • I demand to know what is going on here!

2 : to say or ask (something) in a very forceful way • “Come here at once!” he demanded. • “Why won't you answer me?” she demanded.

3 : to require (something) • He is very sick and demands constant care. [=he has to be given constant care] • The situation demands immediate action. • A certain standard of dress is demanded by some professions. [=some people have to dress a certain way because of their jobs] • The job demands too much of him. [=the job requires him to do too much] • The group demands [=insists on] total honesty from its members.

demanding adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : requiring much time, attention, or effort • She had a demanding schedule with little free time. • Factory work can be physically demanding. • I have heard it is one of the most demanding courses at the university.

2 : expecting much time, attention, effort, etc., from other people : hard to satisfy • Their boss was really demanding, often expecting them to work long into the night. — opposite UNDEMANDING de-mar-cate /dr'mɑ:keɪt, 'di:mɑ:keɪt/ verb -cates; -cat-ed; -cat-ing [+ obj] formal : to show the limits or edges of (something) • The plot of land is demarcated by a low brick wall. • The bounardy between the countries must be clearly demarcated.

— de-mar-ca-tion /,di:mɑ:keɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [non-count] the demarcation of the boundary • Troops are positioned on either side of the line of demarcation. = Troops are positioned on either side of the demarcation line. [count] The media has blurred the demarcations [=lines, boundaries] between news and entertainment.

de-mean /dr'mi:n/ verb -means; -meaned; -mean-ing [+ obj] : to cause (someone or something) to seem less important or less worthy of respect • He was careful not to demean [=debase, put down] his opponent, choosing instead to show him respect. • Her statement demeans the hard work the group has done. • Their casual reaction demeans the seriousness of the problem. [=fails to treat the problem in an appropriately serious way] • I refuse to demean myself by replying to these unjust accusations.

— demeaning adj [more ~; most ~] • Our petty arguments are demeaning to us both. • His comment is demeaning to women. • He found the work demeaning. [=degrading] • demeaning stereotypes de-mean-or (US) or Brit de-mean-our /dr'mi:nə/ noun, pl -ors [count] : a person's appearance and behavior : the way someone seems to be to other people — usually singular • She has a shy/friendly/warm demeanor. • His quiet demeanor [=manner, bearing] had a calming effect on us. • They maintained a solemn demeanor as they told us the bad news.

de-ment-ed /dr'mentəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not able to think clearly or to understand what is real and what is not real : crazy or insane • Many of the patients there were demented. • In the movie, he plays a demented man trying to survive on the streets of Los Angeles. • Her demented ramblings are a symptom of her illness. • He gave me a demented little smile. • parents who are almost demented with worry

de-men-tia /dr'menfə/ noun, pl -tias medical : a mental illness that causes someone to be unable to think clearly or to understand what is real and what is not real [noncount] This patient suffers from dementia. [count] a new study on age-related dementias — see also SENILE DEMENTIA dem-e-rara sugar /,demə'rɑ:rə-, ,demə'rerə-/ noun [non-count] Brit : a kind of light brown sugar

de-mer-it /dɪ'merət/ noun, pl -its [count]

1 US : a mark that is made on the school record of a student who has done something wrong • Students are given demerits if they arrive late for classes.

2 formal : a bad quality in something or someone : a feature or part of something or someone that is unpleasant — usually plural • The demerits of that job outweigh the benefits. • We considered both the merits and demerits of the plan.

demi- /'demi/ prefix : half or partly • demigod

demi-god /'demi,gɑ:d/ noun, pl -gods [count]

1 : an extremely impressive or important person : a person who seems like a god in some way • the demigods of jazz

2 : a person in mythology who has some of the powers of a god : a being in mythology who is part god and part human • the Greek demigod Triton de-mil-i-ta-rize also Brit de-mil-i-ta-rise /dɪ'mɪlətə,raɪz/ verb -riz-es; -rized; -riz-ing [+ obj] : to remove weapons and military forces from (an area) — usually used as (be) demilitarized • Analysts predict that the area will not be fully demilitarized this year. • the demilitarized zone [=DMZ] between North and South Korea — opposite MILITARIZE

— de-mil-i-ta-ri-za-tion also Brit de-mil-i-ta-ri-sa-tion /dɪ,mɪlətə'reɪzən, Brit dɪ,mɪlətə,raɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [non-count]

de-mise /dɪ'maɪz/ noun [singular] formal

1 : an end of life : DEATH • She had/owned no property at the time of her demise. • The musician met an untimely demise. • There are several theories about what caused the demise [=extinction] of the dinosaurs.

2 : the end of something that is thought of as being like a death • We have not had truly local news coverage since the town newspaper's demise three years ago. • the company's imminent demise • Losing this game will mean/spell the team's demise.

de-mist /dɪ'mɪst/ verb -mists; -mist-ed; -mist-ing [+ obj] Brit : DEFOG

demi-tasse /'demi,tæs/ noun, pl -tass-es [count] chiefly US : a small amount of black coffee that is served in a small cup; also : the cup used to serve it

demo /'demou/ noun, pl dem-os [count]

1 : an example of a product that is not yet ready to be sold • She will be showing a demo of the company's new alarm system. • a demo version of the software

2 : an act of showing someone how something is used or done : DEMONSTRATION • I saw a demo on how to use the computer program. • The salesman gave us a demo of the vacuum cleaner, and it seemed to work very well.

3 : a recording that musicians make in order to show what their music is like • They sent the demo to several record companies. • She cut/made a demo last week.

4 Brit, informal : DEMONSTRATION 2 • an antiwar demo

de-mob /dɪ'mab/ verb -mobs; -mobbed; -mob-bing [+ obj] chiefly Brit : DEMOBILIZE

de-mo-bi-lize also Brit de-mo-bi-lise /dɪ'moubə,laɪz/ verb -liz-es; -lized; -liz-ing [+ obj] : to release (someone or something) from military service • Both leaders agreed to demobilize their armies and sign the peace treaty. • Ships returned to port to be demobilized. [=to be changed so that they were no longer ready for war]

— de-mo-bi-li-za-tion also Brit de-mo-bi-li-sa-tion /dɪ,moubələ'zeɪʃən, Brit dɪ,moubə,laɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [non-count]

de-moc-ra-cy /dɪ'mɑ:kɹəsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 a [noncount] : a form of government in which people choose leaders by voting • The nation has chosen democracy over monarchy. • the principles of democracy b [count] : a country ruled by democracy • In a democracy, every citizen should have the right to vote. • Western democracies

2 : an organization or situation in which everyone is treated equally and has equal rights [count] The company is not a democracy; decisions are made by a board of directors, not the workers. [noncount] There is democracy within the company. — see also SOCIAL DEMOCRACY

dem-o-crat /'demə,kɹæt/ noun, pl -crats [count]

1 : a person who believes in or supports democracy

2 Democrat : a member of the Democratic Party of the U.S. • a lifelong Democrat — compare REPUBLICAN

dem-o-crat-ic /,demə'krætɪk/ adj

1 : based on a form of government in which the people choose leaders by voting : of or relating to democracy • The dictatorship gave way to a democratic (form of) government. • Democratic elections were held there today for the first time. • the country's new democratic constitution • Debates are an important part of the democratic process.

2 Democratic : of or relating to one of the two major political parties in the U.S. • The Democratic candidate for governor won the debate. • Most of these policies appeal to Democratic voters. • an interview with a leader of the Democratic Party — compare REPUBLICAN

3 [more ~; most ~] : relating to the idea that all people should be treated equally • democratic principles • The organization works to promote democratic reforms/changes around the world. • a more democratic society

4 [more ~; most ~] formal : designed for or liked by most people • democratic art • Her article extols the benefits of democratic education.

— dem-o-crat-i-cal-ly /,demə'krætɪkli/ adv • a democratically elected leader • Decisions in the company are made democratically.

de-moc-ra-tize also Brit de-moc-ra-tise /dɪ'mɑ:kɹə,taɪz/ verb -tiz-es; -tized; -tiz-ing

1 : to make (a country or organization) more democratic [+ obj] Community leaders have had some success in democratizing the organization. [no obj] There is internal pressure on the government to democratize.

2 [+ obj] formal : to make (something) available to all people : to make it possible for all people to understand (something) • The magazine's goal is to democratize art. • an effort to democratize politics

— de-moc-ra-ti-za-tion also Brit de-moc-ra-ti-sa-tion /dɪ,mɑ:kɹətə'zeɪʃən, Brit dɪ,mɑ:kɹə,taɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [non-count]

de-mo-graph-ic /,demə'græfɪk/ noun, pl -ics

1 demographics [plural] : the qualities (such as age, sex, and income) of a specific group of people • The town's demographics suggest that the restaurant will do well there. • The newspaper will be making some changes in order to adapt to the region's shifting demographics. • The demographics of the disease are changing, and we are seeing much younger people being affected by it.

2 [count] : a group of people that has a particular set of qualities — usually singular • The magazine is trying to reach a younger/older demographic.

demographic adj : of or relating to the study of changes that occur in large groups of people over a period of time : of or relating to demography • The demographic information shows that the population increased but the average income went down. • demographic trends/changes

de-mog-ra-phy /dɪ'mɑ:grəfi/ noun [noncount] : the study of changes (such as the number of births, deaths, marriages, and illnesses) that occur over a period of time in human populations; also : a set of such changes • the shifting demography of Europe

— de-mog-ra-pher /dɪ'mɑ:grəfə/ noun, pl -phers [count]

de-mol-ish /dɪ'mɑ:lɪʃ/ verb -ish-es; -ished; -ish-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to destroy (a building, bridge, etc.) : to forcefully tear down or take apart (a structure) • The old factory was demolished to make way for a new parking lot. • Tons of explosives were used to demolish the building. • The town hopes to restore the old theater rather than have it demolished. b : to damage (something) so that it cannot be repaired • The car was demolished in the accident. — often used figuratively • His professional reputation was demolished [=ruined] by the scandal. • The research demolished several myths about the disease. • Her study demolished a theory that had gone unquestioned for years.

2 informal : to eat all of (something) quickly • We demolished [=devoured] the pie in only a few minutes.

3 informal : to defeat (a person or team) easily or completely • They demolished the other team 51–7.

de-mo-li-tion /,demə'lɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions : deliberate destruction of a building or other structure [noncount] The old factory is scheduled for demolition next week. [count] The demolitions should be complete by the end of the year. — often used before another noun • He is part of the demolition crew/team. • a demolition project • a demolitions expert — sometimes used figuratively • the demolition of several myths about the disease demolition derby noun, pl ~ -bies [count] chiefly US : a contest in which drivers in old cars crash into each other until only one car is still running

de-mon /'di:mən/ noun, pl -mons [count]

1 : an evil spirit • angels and demons [=devils]

2 informal : a person who has a lot of energy or enthusiasm • She is a demon for work. = She works like a demon [=she works very hard] — see also SPEED DEMON

3 : something that causes a person to have a lot of trouble or unhappiness — usually plural • She spent her whole life battling the demons of drug and alcohol addiction. • He finally was able to face the demons from his unhappy childhood. • his inner demons

demon drink noun

the demon drink Brit, usually humorous : alcoholic drink • slave to the demon drink [=unable to resist drinking alcohol]

de·mo·ni·ac /di'mouni,æk/ also de·mo·ni·a·cal /di:mə'najəkəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : DEMONIC • demoniac possession • demoniac fury/energy de·mon·ic /di'mɑ:nɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] : caused or done by a demon • demonic possession : of, relating to, or like a demon • demonic cruelty/laughter/energy

de·mon·stra·ble /di'mɑ:nstrəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : able to be proven or shown : possible to demonstrate • There is no demonstrable evidence that the treatment is effective. • a clearly demonstrable improvement

— de·mon·stra·bly /di'mɑ:nstrəbli/ adv • The statements are demonstrably untrue/false.

dem·on·strate /'dɛmən,streɪt/ verb -strates; -strat·ed; -strat·ing

1 [+ obj] a : to prove (something) by showing examples of it : to show evidence of (something) • Each student must demonstrate mastery of the subject matter in order to pass the class. • Employees must demonstrate competence in certain skills before they can work independently. • The medication will not be marketed until it is demonstrated to be safe. b : to prove (something) by being an example of it : to be evidence of (something) • The town's crowded classrooms demonstrate [=point to] the need for more schools in the area. • The latest test results clearly demonstrate that the vaccine works. • The group's failed efforts demonstrate how difficult it is to convince people to change their habits.

2 [+ obj] : to show (a quality, feeling, etc.) clearly to other people • They have demonstrated a willingness to negotiate.

3 [+ obj] : to show or explain how something is used or done : to show or explain the function or use of (something) • Several people will be demonstrating traditional farming techniques. • The instructor demonstrated the correct procedure for pruning a tree. • Would you mind demonstrating how the machine works?

4 [no obj] : to take part in an event in which people gather together in order to show that they support or oppose something or someone • A large crowd was demonstrating [=protesting] downtown. • Protesters demonstrated against the war.

dem·on·stra·tion /,dɛmən'streɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : an act of showing someone how something is used or done [count] I went to a sculpture demonstration last weekend. • One of the instructors gave/did a demonstration of how to prune a tree. • Would you mind giving us a demonstration so that we can see how the machine works? [noncount] He brought along a copy of the software for demonstration. — sometimes used before another noun • We saw a demonstration [=demo] version of the new software.

2 : an event in which people gather together in order to show that they support or oppose something or someone [count] Students took part in several nonviolent/peaceful demonstrations against the government. • demonstrations against the war = antiwar demonstrations • demonstrations for women's rights [noncount] Protesters marched in demonstration.

3 : an act of showing or proving something [count] The latest tests are a clear demonstration that the vaccine works. — often + of • a demonstration of their power/loyalty/skill • a demonstration of grief/bravery • They brought some bread to share as a demonstration [=token] of goodwill. [noncount] Many people sent cards and flowers in demonstration of their sympathy.

— dem·on·stra·tion·al /,dɛmən'streɪʃənəl/ adj • a demonstrational video

1 de·mon·stra·tive /di'mɑ:nstrətrɪv/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] formal : freely and openly showing emotion or feelings • She is more demonstrative (about her feelings) than I am. [=she shows her feelings more openly than I do]

2 grammar : showing who or what is being referred to • In the phrase "this is my hat," the word "this" is a demonstra- tive pronoun • In the phrase "give me that book," the word "that" is a demonstrative adjective

2 demonstrative noun, pl -tives [count] : a word (such as "this," "that," "these," or "those") that tells who or what is being referred to dem·on·stra·tor /'dɛmən,streɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

1 : a person who is part of an event in which people gather together in order to show that they support or oppose something or someone : a person who participates in a demonstration • Thousands of demonstrators marched through the streets. • antiwar demonstrators

2 : a person who shows other people how something is used or done • a product demonstrator

de·mor·al·ize also Brit de·mor·al·ise /di'morə,laɪz/ verb -izes; -ized; -iz·ing [+ obj] : to cause (someone) to lose hope, courage, or confidence : to weaken the morale of (a person or group) • They demoralized [=discouraged, disheartened] the other team by scoring three goals in a row.

— de·mor·al·i·za·tion /di,morələ'zeɪʃən, Brit di,morə,laɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] — demoralized adj [more ~; most ~] • The troops were completely demoralized. — demoralizing adj [more ~; most ~] • They suffered a series of demoralizing defeats.

de·mote /di'moʊt/ verb -motes; -mot·ed; -mot·ing [+ obj] : to change the rank or position of (someone) to a lower or less important one • Teachers can choose to demote a student to a lower grade. • The army major was demoted to captain. — opposite PROMOTE

— de·mo·tion /di'moʊʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount]

de·mot·ic /di'mɑ:tɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : popular or common • a more demotic way of speaking • demotic culture

1 de·mur /di'mə/ verb -murs; -murred; -mur·ring [no obj] formal

1 : to disagree politely with another person's statement or suggestion • She suggested that he would win easily, but he demurred, saying he expected the election to be close.

2 : to politely refuse to accept a request or suggestion • A number of people wanted her to run for governor, but she demurred. [=declined]

2 demur noun [count] chiefly Brit, formal : an act of disagreeing about something — usually used in the phrase without demur • She accepted the group's decision without demur. [= (more commonly) without protest]

de·mure /di'mjuə/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : quiet and polite — usually used to describe a woman or girl • a demure young lady

2 : not attracting or demanding a lot of attention : not showy or flashy • She was wearing a demure gray suit. • the demure charm of the cottage • a demure personality

— de·mure·ly adv • a demurely dressed young woman • She smiled demurely. — de·mure·ness noun [noncount] de·mur·ral /di'mərəl/ noun, pl -als [count] formal : an act of disagreeing politely about something : an act of demurring • Suggestions that she run for president have been met with repeated demurrals.

de·mys·ti·fy /di'mɪstə,fai/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy·ing [+ obj] : to make (something) clear and easy to understand : to explain (something) so that it no longer confuses or mystifies someone • The class is intended to demystify the process of using a computer.

— de·mys·ti·fi·ca·tion /di,mɪstəfə'keɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

den /'den/ noun, pl dens [count]

1 : the home of some kinds of wild animals • a fox's den [=lair] • The bears will spend most of the winter in their den. — see also LION'S DEN

2 a US : an informal and comfortable room in a house • The TV is in the den. b chiefly Brit, informal + old-fashioned : a small and quiet room in a house where someone goes to read, work, etc. • He spent most evenings in the den reading and smoking his pipe.

3 : a secret place where people meet especially to do things that are illegal or immoral • a den of thieves • a gambling den • an opium den • the club's reputation as a den of iniquity [=a place where immoral or illegal things are done]

4 Brit : a small often secret structure that children play in • The children had built themselves a den in the woods.

5 US : a group of Cub Scouts — see also DEN MOTHER

de·na·tion·al·ize also de·na·tion·al·ise /di'næʃənə,laɪz/ verb -izes; -ized; -iz·ing [+ obj] Brit : PRIVATIZE de·ni·able /di'najəbəl/ adj : possible to deny • The failure of the policy is no longer deniable. [=it is no longer reasonable to say that the policy is not failing] — opposite UNDENIABLE

de·ni·al /dɪˈnaɪəl/ noun, pl -als

1 [count] : a statement saying that something is not true or real : a statement in which someone denies something • She issued a flat/absolute/outright denial of the charges made against her. • The accusations have met with angry denials from school officials. • The city government has been heavily criticized for its denial of the seriousness of the situation. • her denial of responsibility

2 [noncount] psychology : a condition in which someone will not admit that something sad, painful, etc., is true or real • I think she's still in a state of denial about her husband's death. [=she still has not fully accepted that her husband is dead] — often used in the phrase in denial • He's in denial about his drinking problem. [=he will not admit that he drinks too much alcohol]

3 : the act of not allowing someone to have something [non-count] The hardest part of the punishment was the denial of his right to see his children. • The group is protesting the denial of voting rights to convicted felons. • The lawyers were disappointed by the court's denial of their motion to dismiss the case. [count] — usually singular • Making false statements on a job application will result in a denial of employment. • The court has issued a denial of their motion. — see also SELF-DENIAL den·i·grate /ˈdɛniˌɡreɪt/ verb -grates; -grat-ed; -grat-ing [+ obj] formal

1 : to say very critical and often unfair things about (someone) • Various groups denigrated [=slandered, maligned] both candidates throughout the presidential campaign. • Her story denigrates him as a person and as a teacher.

2 : to make (something) seem less important or valuable • Such behavior denigrates [=belittles] the value of honesty in the workplace. • No one is trying to denigrate the importance of a good education. We all know that it is crucial for success. • denigrating the talents and achievements of women

— den·i·gra·tion /ˌdɛniˈɡreɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

den·im /ˈdɛnəm/ noun, pl -ims

1 [noncount] : a strong usually blue cotton cloth that is used especially to make jeans — often used before another noun • denim jeans • a denim skirt/jacket

2 denims [plural] : pants that are made of denim • He's wearing faded denims and cowboy boots.

den·i·zen /ˈdɛnəzən/ noun, pl -zens [count] : a person, animal, or plant that lives in or often is found in a particular place or region • the city's nightclub denizens [=people who often go to nightclubs] — usually + of • the denizens of the forest • He was well known among the denizens of the city's criminal underworld. • denizens of the deep [=plants and animals that live in the deepest parts of the ocean]

den mother noun, pl ~ -ers [count] US : a woman who is the leader of a group of Cub Scouts

de·nom·i·na·tion /dɪˌnɑːməˈneɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count]

1 : a religious group • People from several different religious denominations participated in the event. • Methodists, Baptists, and other Christian denominations • It's one of the more conservative denominations.

2 a : the value that a particular coin or bill has • coins of different denominations [=pennies, nickels, dimes, etc.] • The kidnappers asked for bills in small denominations. b : an amount of money that something is worth • The gift certificates are available in $5 and $10 denominations.

3 formal : a general name for a group or kind • She spoke with people of many different political denominations.

— de·nom·i·na·tion·al /dɪˌnɑːməˈneɪʃənəl/ adj • denominational differences

de·nom·i·na·tor /dɪˌnɑːməˈneɪtər/ noun, pl -tors [count] mathematics : the number in a fraction that is below the line and that divides the number above the line • In the fraction $\frac{2}{3}$, the numerator is 2 and the denominator is 3. — compare NUMERATOR; see also COMMON DENOMINATOR

de·no·ta·tion /ˌdiːnouˈteɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : the meaning of a word or phrase • The word has one literal denotation but several different connotations. • The definition provides the word's denotation. — compare CONNOTATION de·note /dɪˈnout/ verb -notes; -noted; -not-ing [+ obj] formal

1 of a word : to have (something) as a meaning : to mean (something) • The word “derby” can denote a horse race or a kind of hat. — compare CONNOTE

2 : to show, mark, or be a sign of (something) • The symbol * next to a name denotes [=indicates] a contest finalist. • Her death denoted the end of an era.

de·noue·ment also dé·noue·ment /ˌdeɪˌnuːˈməːn/ noun, pl -ments [count] formal : the final part of something (such as a book, a play, or a series of events) • In the play's denouement, the two lovers kill themselves. • the competition's exciting denouement

de·nounce /dɪˈnaʊns/ verb -nounc-es; -nounced; -nounc-ing [+ obj]

1 : to publicly state that someone or something is bad or wrong : to criticize (someone or something) harshly and publicly • The government called on the group to denounce the use of violence. • denouncing their political enemies • The film was denounced for the way it portrayed its female characters. — often + as • The film was denounced [=condemned] as sexist. • His former followers now denounce him as a traitor. • The plan was denounced as risky and dangerous.

2 : to report (someone) to the police or other authorities for illegal or immoral acts — often + as • She had to flee the country after being denounced as a spy to government authorities.

dense /ˈdens/ adj dens-er; -est [or more ~; most ~]

1 : having parts that are close together • They cut a path through the dense jungle. • dense undergrowth • The book's pages were dense [=packed, filled] with helpful ideas. • the cat's dense [=thick] coat of fur • a dense tangle of wires • heavy, dense bread • a dense cluster of stars

2 : crowded with people • That part of the city has a dense population of immigrants. • A dense mass of spectators filled the courtroom.

3 informal : not smart : not able to understand things easily • I'm sorry to be so dense [=slow-witted, stupid, dumb] this morning. • In the movie, she plays his kind but somewhat dense aunt.

4 : difficult to see through • We drove through dense [=thick] fog/smoke.

5 : difficult to understand; especially : hard to read • The book's technical subject and dense prose will discourage many readers.

6 technical : heavier than most things of the same size • a dense substance like lead or mercury • a disease that causes bones to become less dense [=to become less solid and heavy]

— dense·ly adv • a densely populated area [=an area in which many people live] • densely forested mountains • a densely packed sports arena — dense·ness noun [non-count]

den·si·ty /ˈdensəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the quality or state of being dense: such as a : the quality of having parts that are close together • the jungle's density b : the quality of being difficult to see through • We were surprised by the fog's density. c : the quality of being difficult to understand • the density of her writing style

2 : the amount of something in a particular space or area [count] This part of the country has a high population density. [=many people live in this part of the country] [non-count] There has been an increase in (population) density in this area.

3 technical : the amount of matter in something that is shown by the relationship between its weight and size [count] metals with different densities • These instruments are used for measuring the density of the atmosphere. [non-count] older women who have lost bone density [=whose bones are less solid and heavy]

1 dent /ˈdent/ noun, pl dents [count] : an area on a surface that is lower than the rest of the surface especially because of being hit or pushed in • The accident left/made a small dent in the car's fender. • a few small dents in the wall

make/put a dent ♦ In figurative use, to make a dent (in something) or to put a dent in something is to decrease something slightly or to make it somewhat weaker. • We tried our best to fix the problem, but nothing we did seems to have made a dent. [=nothing we did has had any effect] • It's going to take more than a new law to make a dent in the city's drug crime. [=a new law is not enough to decrease the city's drug crime] • The $10,000 payment hardly makes a dent in the amount the company owes. • a vacation that won't put too big a dent in your wallet [=a vacation that will not cost a lot of money]

2 dent verb dents; dent-ed; dent-ing

1 : to make a dent in (something) [+ obj] I'm afraid I dented the wall pretty badly when I was hammering in that nail. • He dented his (car's) fender in the accident. • Many of the cans were badly dented. [no obj] Some types of metal dent more easily than others.

2 [+ obj] : to decrease (something) : to make (something) weaker • The team's confidence has been dented by a recent series of losses.

den-tal /'dentl/ adj : of or relating to teeth or to the work dentists do • dental decay • your dental records [=the information about your teeth that your dentist has] • She decided to go to dental school. [=a school where you are trained to be a dentist]

dental floss noun [noncount] : a special thread that is used to clean between your teeth — see picture at GROOMING dental hygienist noun, pl ~ -ists [count] : a person who works with a dentist and whose job includes cleaning people's teeth

dente see AL DENTE

den-tist /'dentst/ noun, pl -tists [count]

1 : a person whose job is to care for people's teeth • I have an appointment with my dentist today. = I have a dentist appointment today.

2 the dentist or the dentist's : the place where a dentist works • I saw her at the dentist last week. • He goes to the dentist's for a check-up every six months.

den-tist-ry /'dentstri/ noun [noncount] : the work that a dentist does • a career in dentistry

den-ture /'dentʃə/ noun, pl -tures [count] : a set of artificial teeth — usually plural • She takes out her dentures before going to bed. • a new pair of dentures [=false teeth] • partial dentures [=a partial set of artificial teeth]

de-nude /dɪ'nu:d, Brit dɪ'nju:d/ verb -nudes; -nud-ed; -nud-ing [+ obj] : to remove all the trees from (an area) or all the leaves from (a tree) • Excessive logging has denuded the hillside of trees. — usually used as (be) denuded • a countryside denuded by wildfires • a landscape of denuded trees — sometimes used figuratively • people denuded of hope [=people who have lost all hope]

de-nun-ci-a-tion /dɪ,nansi'eɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions : a public statement that strongly criticizes someone or something as being bad or wrong : a statement that denounces something or someone [count] The attack drew strong denunciations from leaders around the world. • a denunciation of violence [noncount] a letter of denunciation

Den-ver boot /'denvə-/ noun, pl ~ boots [count] US : an object that the police lock onto one of the wheels of a car so that the car cannot be moved ♦ A Denver boot is usually placed on a car in order to force the car's owner to pay money that is owed for parking illegally. — called also (US) boot, (Brit) clamp, (Brit) wheel clamp

de-ny /dɪ'naɪ/ verb -nies; -nied; -ny-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to say that something is not true • He denied the report that he would be quitting his job. • She denies all the charges that have been made against her. • I don't deny that I have made some mistakes. [=I admit that I have made some mistakes] • They are still denying (that) the problem exists. • The police deny that racism is a problem in the department. • Yes, I was there. I don't deny it. • There's no denying [=it is clearly true] that he knows how to run a successful company. b : to refuse to accept or admit (something) • You can't deny her beauty. = You can't deny that she is beautiful. • She denied responsibility [=she said that she was not responsible] for the error.

2 : to refuse to give (something) to someone : to prevent someone from having or receiving (something) • The banks denied [=refused] them credit. • The judge denied their request. • I don't want to deny them this pleasure. = I don't want to deny this pleasure to them. • a government that denies its citizens basic freedoms — see also denied bail at ¹BAIL deny yourself : to not allow yourself to enjoy things or to have the things that you want • On this diet, I don't feel like I'm denying myself. • I'm not denying myself the foods that I love, I'm just eating smaller amounts. • He's always denied himself the simple pleasures in life.

de-odor-ant /di'oudərənt/ noun, pl -ants [count, noncount] : a substance that you put on your body and especially under your arms to prevent, remove, or hide unpleasant smells — see picture at GROOMING; compare ANTIPERSPIRANT — deodorant adj, always used before a noun • deodorant soap de-odor-ize also Brit de-odor-ise /di'oudə,raɪz/ verb -izes; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] : to remove an unpleasant smell from (something) • We had the carpet cleaned and deodorized.

— de-odor-iz-er also Brit de-odor-is-er noun, pl -ers [count] • room deodorizers de-oxy-ri-bo-nu-cle-ic acid /di'ɑ:ksi,raɪbounu'kli:jɪk-/ noun [noncount] technical : DNA dep. abbr depart; departure • flight 348 dep. 8:30 a.m.

de-part /di'pɑ:t/ verb -parts; -part-ed; -part-ing

1 somewhat formal a : to leave a place especially to start a journey [no obj] The group is scheduled to depart tomorrow at 8:00 a.m. • Our flight departs at 6:15 a.m. • The train departed (from the station) on time. [+ obj] (US) • The train departed the station on time. b [no obj] : to leave a job or position • He is departing after 20 years with the company. • She is replacing the departing manager. [=the manager who is leaving that job]

2 [no obj] : to change something or do something in a different way — usually + from • The river departs [=turns, deviates] from its original course a few miles downstream. • The actors were not allowed to depart from the script. [=they were not allowed to say anything that was not in the script] • The company's managers don't want to depart from an approach that has worked well in the past. [=they do not want to change their approach] depart this life formal : to die • My aunt departed this life at the age of 92.

departed adj

1 somewhat formal : no longer living — used as a polite way to say that someone is dead • We have come to say goodbye to our dear departed friend. • his recently departed father

2 literary : existing in the past • These clothes recall the elegance of a departed [=bygone] era.

the departed : people who have died • They left flowers at the graves of the departed. • the spirits of the departed

de-part-ment /dɪ'pɑ:tment/ noun, pl -ments [count]

1 : one of the major parts of a company, organization, government, or school • Your letter has been forwarded to our sales department. • When you get to the hospital, go directly to the X-ray department. • the country's energy department • the Department of Defense = the Defense Department • the county sheriff's department • the university's math and science departments • the department of modern languages • the college's athletic department • She joined the town's police department. — abbr. dept.; see also FIRE DEPARTMENT

2 : an area in a store where a particular kind of product is sold • the toy department • “Which department should we go to first?” “I'd like to start in the men's department.” [=the part of the store that sells clothing for men]

3 informal a : a subject or activity that a person is interested in or responsible for • Taking care of the cat is not my department. [=responsibility] b often humorous — used to say that someone or something has or does not have a particular quality • She's sweet, but she's somewhat lacking in the intelligence department. [=she is not very intelligent] • He does pretty well in the looks department. [=he is attractive] • Both cars do well in the safety department. [=both cars are safe to drive]

— de-part-men-tal /dɪ,pɑ:t'mentl/ adj • departmental responsibilities • the departmental budget

de-part-men-tal-ize also Brit de-part-men-tal-ise /dɪ,pɑ:t'mentə,ləɪz/ verb -izes; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] : to divide (something, such as a company) into departments • The organization is highly departmentalized.

department store noun, pl ~ stores [count] : a large store that has separate areas in which different kinds of products are sold

de-par-ture /dɪ'pɑ:tʃə/ noun, pl -tures

1 : the act of departing: such as a : the act of leaving a place especially to start a journey [noncount] What is your time of departure? • Our departure is scheduled for 5 p.m. = Our departure time is 5 p.m. • They had to postpone (their) departure because of bad weather. • You should plan to arrive at the airport an hour before departure. • the ferry's departure point [count] a schedule of arrivals and departures b [count] : the act of leaving a job, an organization, etc. • The departures of several key employees have caused problems for the company. • her sudden departure from the company • The team has struggled since the departure of its head coach.

2 [count] : a new or different way of doing something • His previous movies have all been comedies, so this dramatic role is a real departure for him. — often + from • These new techniques are major/dramatic/radical departures from standard practices. • a departure from tradition — see also POINT OF DEPARTURE

de·pend /dɪˈpend/ verb -pends; -pend·ed; -pend·ing [no obj] informal — used in speech in phrases like it depends and that depends to say that the answer to a question will be different in different situations • “Are you going to the party?” “I might. It depends.” [=I do not know yet; there may be something that prevents me from being able to go or from wanting to go] • “Do you think you’ll go back to college?” “It all depends. I will if I can afford it.” • “Which team do you think will win?” “That depends. If all of our players are healthy, I think we’ll win.” • (very informal) “How long does it take to get to the airport?” “Depends. If you’re going during rush hour it’ll take at least an hour. If not, you can probably be there in 20 minutes.”

depend on/upon [phrasal verb] depend on/upon (someone or something) 1 : to be determined or decided by (something) • We’re not sure if we’ll have the picnic. It depends on the weather. [=if the weather is good we will have the picnic] • “Will you go back to college?” “I don’t know. It depends on whether or not I can afford it.” • The stamp’s value depends on how rare it is. • Depending upon your child’s weight and height, she or he may have to sit in the back seat of the car. • It’s not clear how many people were at the rally. Reports vary between 10,000 and 20,000, depending on who’s counting. [=some people report that there were 10,000 people at the rally, others report that there were 20,000] — sometimes used informally without on or upon • “Are you happy?” “It depends what you mean by ‘happy.’” — see also life depends on at LIFE 2 : to need (someone or something) for support, help, etc. • He no longer depends on [=relies on] his parents for money. • They depend heavily/largely/solely/entirely on her income to pay the bills. [=without her income they would not be able to pay their bills] 3 : to be sure about (someone or something) : to trust (someone or something) • She’s someone you can always depend on. [=count on] • She will be remembered as a woman upon whom people could depend. • The manufacturer promises quality you can depend on. — sometimes used humorously • You could always depend on him to disagree. [=you could always be sure that he would disagree] • I can always depend on it to rain on days when I forget my umbrella.

de·pend·able /dɪˈpendəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : able to be trusted to do or provide what is needed : able to be depended on • The old well is a dependable source of water. [=there is always water in the old well] • a dependable [=reliable] old car • He’s the team’s most dependable [=consistent] player.

— de·pend·abil·i·ty /dɪˈpendəˈbɪləti/ noun [noncount] • the car’s proven dependability [=reliability] — de·pend·ably /dɪˈpendəbli/ adv • a plant that will bloom dependably [=reliably], year after year

de·pen·dence /dɪˈpendəns/ noun : the state of being dependent: such as a : the state of needing something or someone else for support, help, etc. — + on or upon [noncount] The company was hurt by its dependence on government loans. • Our dependence upon foreign oil makes our economy vulnerable. [singular] a harmful dependence on foreign oil b : the state of being addicted to alcohol or a drug [noncount] drug and alcohol dependence [=addiction, dependency] [singular] — usually + on • She eventually developed a dependence on the painkillers she was taking.

de·pen·den·cy /dɪˈpendənsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 : the quality of being dependent : DEPENDENCE [noncount] the country’s dependency on foreign oil • drug/chemical dependency [=addiction] [singular] a dependency on foreign oil

2 [count] : an area that is controlled by a country but that is not formally a part of it

de·pen·dent /dɪˈpendənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : decided or controlled by something else — + on or upon • The stamp’s value is dependent on how rare it is. • She believes that success is dependent upon hard work. • Whether or not we go is entirely dependent on the weather.

2 : needing someone or something else for support, help, etc. • soldiers with dependent children [=soldiers who have children whose food, clothing, etc., they are responsible for providing] — usually + on or upon • The region’s economy is heavily/highly/largely dependent on tourism. • They’re entirely dependent on her income to pay the bills. • He remained financially dependent on his parents even as an adult.

• children who are emotionally dependent on their mothers • The theater is dependent upon the generosity of its patrons to pay for basic operating expenses.

3 : addicted to alcohol or a drug • He has been alcohol dependent for several years. • chemically dependent patients [=patients who are addicted to a drug] de·pendent also Brit de·pen·dant /dɪˈpendənt/ noun, pl -ents [count] : a person (such as a child) whose food, clothing, etc., you are responsible for providing • The insurance provides coverage for workers and their dependents. • a person’s spouse and dependents • Do you have any dependents?

dependent clause noun, pl ~ clauses [count] grammar : SUBORDINATE CLAUSE

de·pict /dɪˈpɪkt/ verb -picts; -pict·ed; -pict·ing [+ obj]

1 : to show (someone or something) in a picture, painting, photograph, etc. • The wall was painted with a large mural depicting famous scenes from American history. • Several of the architect’s most famous buildings will soon be depicted on postage stamps. • The photograph depicts the two brothers standing in front of a store. • Angels are usually depicted with wings. • In the drawing, the magic cap was depicted as a soft, black hat.

2 : to describe (someone or something) using words, a story, etc. • The movie depicts the life of early settlers. • I like the way she depicts the characters in her novels. • His enemies depict [=portray] him as a cruel and dangerous leader.

— de·pic·tion /dɪˈpɪkʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] an honest depiction of life in the city [noncount] The book is fascinating in its depiction of the country’s early history.

de·pil·a·to·ry /dɪˈpɪləˌtɔːri, Brit dɪˈpɪlətri/ noun, pl -ries [count] : a substance that removes body hair you do not want

— depilatory adj, always used before a noun • a depilatory cream

de·plane /diˈpleɪn/ verb -planes; -planed; -plan·ing [no obj] chiefly US : to get out of an airplane after it arrives at an airport • We were the last passengers to deplane. [=get off the plane]

de·plete /dɪˈpliːt/ verb -pletes; -plet·ed; -plet·ing [+ obj] : to use most or all of (something important) : to greatly reduce the amount of (something) • Activities such as logging and mining deplete our natural resources. • We completely depleted our life savings when we bought our new house. — often used as (be) depleted • The soil has been depleted by years of drought. • lakes and rivers that are depleted of fish • depleted soil • the country’s badly depleted resources

— de·ple·tion /dɪˈpliːʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] a depletion of the water supply [noncount] the depletion of the ozone layer = ozone depletion

de·plor·able /dɪˈplɔːrəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very bad in a way that causes shock, fear, or disgust : deserving to be deplored • The company has shown a deplorable [=appalling, unconscionable] lack of concern for the environment. • children living in deplorable [=horrible, disgusting, terrible] conditions • deplorable ignorance

— de·plor·ably /dɪˈplɔːrəbli/ adv • deplorably cruel de·plore /dɪˈploʊ/ verb -plores; -plored; -plor·ing [+ obj] : to hate or dislike (something) very much : to strongly disapprove of (something) • We deplore the development of nuclear weapons. • Many people deplored the change. • Although deplored by many, her decisions have greatly benefited the company.

de·ploy /dɪˈplɔɪ/ verb -ploys; -ployed; -ploy·ing

1 [+ obj] : to organize and send out (people or things) to be used for a particular purpose • The troops were deployed for battle. • They plan to deploy more American soldiers over the next six months. • Two scientists were deployed to study the problem. • Both campaigns are deploying volunteers to the cities to encourage people to vote. • Equipment and supplies have been deployed across the country. • He deploys several arguments to prove his point.

2 : to open up and spread out the parts of (something, such as a parachute) [+ obj] Wait several seconds before deploying the parachute. • The boat’s sails were not fully deployed. [no obj] The parachute failed to deploy properly.

— de·ploy·ment /dɪˈploɪmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count] additional troop deployments • a monthlong deployment [noncount] the deployment of ground troops

de·po·lit·i·cize also Brit de·po·lit·i·cise /ˌdiːpəˈlɪtəˌsaɪz/ verb -ciz·es; -cized; -ciz·ing [+ obj] : to change (something) so that it is no longer influenced or controlled by politics • She says we need to depoliticize the process by which judges are chosen. • The humanitarian aid groups want to see foreign aid depoliticized. — opposite POLITICIZE

— de-po-lit-i-ci-za-tion also Brit de-po-lit-i-ci-sa-tion /,di:pə,lɪtəsə'zeɪʃən, Brit ,di:pə,lɪtə,sai'zeɪʃən/ noun [non-count]

de-pop-u-late /di'pɑ:pjə,lert/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing [+ obj] : to greatly reduce the number of people living in (a city, region, etc.) • Large areas of the country had been depopulated by disease. • an empty, depopulated landscape

— de-pop-u-la-tion /di,pɑ:pjə'leɪʃən/ noun [noncount] de-port /di'pɔ:t/ verb -ports; -port-ed; -port-ing [+ obj] : to force (a person who is not a citizen) to leave a country • Thousands of immigrants had been illegally deported.

— de-por-ta-tion /,di:,pɔə'teɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [non-count] She is now facing deportation. [=she may be forced to leave the country] • a deportation hearing [count] The government has ordered thousands of deportations. — de-por-tee /di,pɔə'ti:/ noun, pl -tees [count] • thousands of deportees [=people who have been deported]

de-port-ment /di'pɔ:tment/ noun [noncount] formal : the way that a person behaves, stands, and moves especially in a formal situation • The new students were instructed in proper dress and deportment. • His stiff deportment matched his strict demeanor.

de-pose /di'pouz/ verb -pos-es; -posed; -pos-ing [+ obj] : to remove (someone) from a powerful position • The group is plotting to depose [=overthrow] the king. • a deposed military leader

de-pos-it /di'pɑ:zət/ verb -its; -it-ed; -it-ing [+ obj]

1 : to put (money) in a bank account • Your paycheck will be automatically deposited into your account. • I deposited over $3,000 this afternoon.

2 somewhat formal : to put or leave (someone or something) in a particular place • He carefully deposited [(more commonly) put, placed] the tools in the trunk of his car. • Please deposit your things in your room and return to the hotel lobby. • The taxi deposited us at the train station.

3 : to leave an amount of (something, such as sand, snow, or mud) on a surface or area especially over a period of time • layers of mud deposited by flood waters • The storm may deposit [=leave] up to three feet of snow in some areas.

— de-pos-i-tor /di'pɑ:zətə/ noun, pl -tors [count] • bank depositors [=people who put money in a bank account]

deposit noun, pl -its [count]

1 : an amount of money that is put in a bank account • a bank deposit • a deposit of $3,000 • savings deposits [=money put into savings accounts] • I need to make a deposit [=put some money in a bank account] this afternoon. • Our records show that she made a large deposit to her account earlier in the month. — opposite WITHDRAWAL; see also DIRECT DEPOSIT, SAFE-DEPOSIT BOX

2 a : money that you give someone when you agree to buy something (such as a house or car) ♦ A deposit shows that there is an agreement between a buyer and seller. When the sale is made final, the seller keeps the deposit as the first payment. • He just put a deposit on a new house. • The company will refund your deposit since they are unable to do the project for you. b : money that you pay when you buy or rent something and that you can get back if you return the thing or leave it in good condition • If you return that empty soda can, you'll get back the five-cent deposit you paid when you bought the soda. • The rental car company requires a deposit for drivers under the age of 25. — see also SECURITY DEPOSIT

3 a : an amount of something (such as sand, snow, or mud) that has formed or been left on a surface or area over a period of time • a deposit of mud left by the flood • He had surgery to remove calcium deposits from his knee. • the buildup of fat/fatty deposits in the arteries b : an amount of a substance (such as oil or coal) that exists naturally in the ground • Their company has discovered new oil deposits below the ocean floor. • mineral deposits on deposit ♦ Money that has been put in a bank is on deposit. • The company has millions of dollars on deposit with several foreign banks. • money/funds on deposit in/at the bank deposit account noun, pl ~ -counts [count] chiefly Brit : SAVINGS ACCOUNT

de-po-si-tion /,depə'zɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] law : a formal statement that someone who has promised to tell the truth makes so that the statement can be used in court; especially : a formal statement that is made before a trial by a witness who will not be present at the trial • She gave a videotaped deposition about what she saw that night. • His attorneys took depositions from the witnesses.

2 [noncount] technical : the action of depositing something (such as sand, snow, or mud) on a surface or area especially over a period of time • the deposition of sand and gravel on the river bed

3 [count, noncount] formal : the act removing someone from a powerful position : the act of deposing someone • deposition of the king

de-pos-i-to-ry /di'pɑ:zə,tori, Brit di'pɔ:zətri/ noun, pl -ries [count] : a place where something is put so that it can be kept safe • a book/food depository • The bank is used as a depository for government funds.

deposit slip noun, pl ~ slips [count] US : a piece of paper that you give with a bank deposit to show how much money you are putting in an account — called also (Brit) paying-in slip

de-pot /'depou, 'di:pou/ noun, pl depots [count]

1 US : a train or bus station • the train/bus depot

2 : a place where military supplies are kept or where soldiers are trained • supply/weapons depots

3 : a place where goods are stored : STOREHOUSE • a storage depot

de-praved /di'preɪvd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very evil : having or showing an evil and immoral character • a depraved criminal • the work of depraved minds • He acted with depraved indifference to human suffering.

de-prav-i-ty /di'prævəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : a very evil quality or way of behaving • He was sinking into a life of utter depravity. • moral/sexual depravity • People were shocked by the depravity of her actions.

2 [count] : an evil or immoral act • the depravities of war dep-re-cate /'depri,keit/ verb -cates; -cat-ed; -cat-ing [+ obj] formal : to criticize or express disapproval of (someone or something) • I don't mean to deprecate [=belittle, minimize] his accomplishments.

— deprecating adj [more ~; most ~] • Her office issued an apology after she made some deprecating remarks about her opponent. — see also SELF-DEPRECATING — dep-re-ca-tion /,depri'keɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the deprecation of old methods — dep-re-ca-to-ry /'depri,keitəri, 'depri,kə,tori, Brit 'deprikeitri/ adj [more ~; most ~] • She had made some deprecatory remarks about her opponent.

de-pre-ci-ate /di'pri:ʃi,eɪt/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to cause (something) to have a lower price or value • These changes have greatly depreciated the value of the house. b [no obj] : to decrease in value • New cars depreciate rapidly. • The value of the house has depreciated greatly. — opposite APPRECIATE

2 [+ obj] formal : to describe (something) as having little value • He often depreciates [=disparages, belittles] the importance of his work.

de-pre-ci-a-tion /di,pri:ʃi'eɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

1 : a decrease in the value of something • You'll need to estimate the car's depreciation. • currency depreciation — opposite APPRECIATION

2 formal : the act of making a person or a thing seem less valuable • the depreciation of the role of art in our schools

dep-re-da-tion /,depɹə'deɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions formal : a usually violent act in which something is damaged or destroyed or in which a person or animal is killed [count] — usually plural • The town had somehow escaped the depredations of enemy soldiers. [noncount] a brutal act of depredation • trying to prevent livestock depredation by wolves de-press /di'pres/ verb -press-es; -pressed; -press-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (someone) feel sad : to make (someone) depressed • The news seemed to depress him a little. • I don't mean to depress you, but there's no way we can win. • We were all depressed by the loss. • You shouldn't let this kind of problem depress you.

2 : to decrease the activity or strength of (something) • This medicine may depress [=decrease] your appetite. [=it may make you less hungry] • These changes could depress the economy. • Market conditions are likely to depress earnings in the next quarter. • depressing the price of a stock

3 formal : to press (something) down • Slowly depress the car's brake pedal. • Depress the "shift" key on your keyboard. • The doctor will depress your tongue and look at your throat.

de-pres-sant /di'presnt/ noun, pl -sants [count] : a chemical substance (such as a drug) that makes a body's systems less active • alcohol and other depressants — see also ANTI-DEPRESSANT

— depressant adj • the depressant effects of alcohol depressed /dɪˈprest/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : feeling sad • I've been feeling a little depressed [(informally) down, blue] lately. • The rainy weather had her feeling lonely and depressed. • He was depressed about having to return to school. • in a depressed mood b : having a serious medical condition that causes a person to feel very sad, hopeless, and unimportant : suffering from mental depression • The new drug is being tested on a group of severely depressed patients.

2 : having little economic activity and few jobs : suffering from economic depression • living in a depressed area • a depressed economy

3 : less strong, active, high, etc., than usual • The patient has a somewhat depressed appetite. • Prices have remained at a depressed level.

depressing adj [more ~; most ~] : causing someone to feel sad or without hope : causing depression • This rainy weather is depressing. • He paints a depressing picture of modern life. • a very/deeply depressing movie

— depressingly adv • depressingly bad weather • a depressingly familiar situation

de-pres-sion /dɪˈpreʃən/ noun, pl -sions

1 [noncount] a : a state of feeling sad • anger, anxiety, and depression b : a serious medical condition in which a person feels very sad, hopeless, and unimportant and often is unable to live in a normal way • She has been undergoing treatment for severe/deep depression. • Many people suffer from clinical depression for years before being diagnosed. • bouts/periods of depression — see also MANIC DEPRESSION

2 : a period of time in which there is little economic activity and many people do not have jobs [count] After several years of an economic boom, it looks as though we may be heading toward a depression. • He grew up during the (Great) Depression. [=the 1930s, when the U.S. and many other countries were in a very bad depression] [noncount] periods of economic depression

3 [count] : an area on a surface that is lower than other parts : a low spot • The photographs show depressions in the moon's surface.

4 [count] weather : a large area where there is low pressure in the atmosphere with usually clouds and rain • a tropical depression

de-pres-sive /dɪˈpresɪv/ adj, medical : of or relating to the medical condition of depression • a depressive disorder/illness — see also MANIC-DEPRESSIVE

— depressive noun, pl -sives [count] • treatment of depressives [=people who suffer from depression]

dep-ri-va-tion /ˌdeprəˈveɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions : the state of not having something that people need : the state of being deprived of something [noncount] She is studying the effects of sleep deprivation. • social/emotional deprivation [count] She eventually overcame the deprivations of her childhood.

de-prive /dɪˈpraɪv/ verb -prives; -prived; -priv-ing

deprive of [phrasal verb] deprive (someone or something) of (something) : to take something away from someone or something : to not allow (someone or something) to have or keep (something) • The change in her status deprived her of access to classified information. • The new environmental law will deprive some fishermen of their livelihood. • They're depriving him of a chance to succeed. • I don't want to deprive you of this opportunity to meet new people. — often used as (be) deprived of • The children are being deprived of a good education. • The study is examining what happens to people when they are deprived of sleep.

deprived adj [more ~; most ~] : not having the things that are needed for a good or healthy life • emotionally deprived children • The diet allows you to eat small amounts of your favorite foods, so you won't feel deprived. • people who are sleep-deprived [=people who do not get enough sleep]

dept. abbr department

depth /ˈdepθ/ noun, pl depths

1 a : a distance below a surface [count] These fish typically live at depths of 500 feet or more. • Students will test the temperature of the water at different/varying/various depths. • shallow/great depths • The boat sank to a depth of several hundred feet. • measuring the depth of the water/river/sea • the depth of a hole • The pool has a depth of 12 feet. [noncount] The pool is 12 feet in depth. [=12 feet deep] b [count]

: the distance from the front of something to the back — usually singular • Measure the height, width, and depth of the cabinet. • The bench's depth is 22 inches.

2 [count] : an area that exists far below a surface or far inside something : a deep place or area — usually plural • They disappeared into the depths of the forest. • Scientists have begun using the machine to explore the ocean depths. • the black depths of outer space — often used figuratively • The actress must examine her own emotional depths to perform the role successfully. • Around midnight, a loud noise woke us from the depths of sleep. • I knew in the depths of my heart/soul/being [=I believed very strongly] that we would survive. • The memory lies hidden in the depths of her mind. [=she has not thought about the memory in a long time] • in the depths of winter [=in the middle of winter; in the coldest part of winter]

3 [count] a : a very low or bad state or condition — usually plural • After losing his job, he sank into the depths of misery/despair/depression. • The film portrays a family's difficult climb from the depths of poverty. • I can't believe he lied. He's really sunk to new depths. • The team is reaching/plumbing new depths this season. [=the team is playing worse than it ever has before] b : the worst part of something • I began working at the factory during the depth/depths of the Depression.

4 [noncount] : the quality of being deep: such as a : the quality of being strongly felt • We were surprised by the depth of her anger/pain/shame. • He wanted to express the depth of his love for her. • No one doubted the depth of his faith. [=they all knew that his faith was strong] • the depth of her commitment to the project • The dancers expressed great depth of feeling/emotion. b : the quality of being very bad or serious • I was shocked when I realized the depth of the problem. c : the quality of being complete or thorough • We were impressed by the depth [=extent] of her experience/knowledge. • Your essay lacks depth. [=it does not cover its topic in a complete way] d : the quality of being strong in color, taste, etc. • the depth of a color • The wine has great depth of flavor. e : the quality of being low in sound • the depth of his voice f US, sports : the quality of having many good players on a team • The team lacks depth this year.

in depth : in a thorough or complete way • The problem has yet to be examined/explored/studied in depth. [=thoroughly] • These topics need to be discussed in (more/greater) depth. — see also IN-DEPTH out of your depth also beyond your depth 1 : dealing with a situation or subject that is too difficult for you • When the debate turned to physics, I knew that I was out of my depth. [=in over my head] 2 chiefly Brit : in water that is deeper than your height • He is just getting used to swimming in water that is out of his depth. [=over his head]

depth charge noun, pl ~ charges [count] : a bomb that is made to explode under water at a particular depth in order to destroy submarines depth perception noun [noncount] : the ability to see how far away something is or how much space is between things dep-u-ta-tion /ˌdɛpjəˈteɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] formal : a group of people who are sent to a place to represent other people • Many countries will be sending deputations to the peace conference.

de-pute /dɪˈpjʊt/ verb -putes; -put-ed; -put-ing [+ obj] chiefly Brit, formal : to give (someone) a job or responsibility • Several officers were deputed to guard the building. • I've been deputed to meet them at the airport.

dep-u-tize also Brit dep-u-tise /ˈdɛpjəˌtaɪz/ verb -tiz-es; -tized; -tiz-ing

1 [+ obj] chiefly US : to give (someone) the power to do something in place of another person : to make (someone) a deputy — often followed by to + verb • The new system deputizes the nurses to perform some of the doctors' duties.

2 [no obj] Brit : to act in place of another person : to act for someone as a deputy • I deputize for the newspaper's editor on the weekends.

dep-u-ty /ˈdɛpjəti/ noun, pl -ties [count]

1 : an important assistant who helps the person who the leader of a government, organization, etc. • (US) a sheriff's deputy [=an assistant who helps a sheriff enforce the law] — often used before another noun • a deputy sheriff • She's now the department's deputy director. • a deputy mayor

2 : a member of Parliament in some countries

de-rail /dɪˈreɪl/ verb -rails; -railed; -rail-ing

1 [no obj] of a train : to leave its tracks • The train derailed in heavy snow.

2 [+ obj] : to cause (a train) to leave its tracks • The train was derailed by heavy snow. — often used figuratively • His plans for becoming a professional football player were derailed [=ruined] by several injuries in college. • The incident threatened to derail her career.

— de-rail-ment /dɪ'reɪlmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count] train derailments [noncount] the threat of derailment • derailment of the peace process derailleur noun, pl -leurs [count] : a part on a bicycle that is used to change gears by moving the chain from one gear to another one — see picture at BICYCLE

de-ranged /dɪ'reɪndʒd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : unable to think or act in a normal or logical way especially because of severe mental illness : crazy or insane • The actor was being followed by a (mentally) deranged fan. • deranged criminals • a deranged mind

— de-range-ment /dɪ'reɪndʒmənt/ noun [noncount] • mental derangement

der-by /'dɜːbi, Brit 'dɑːbi/ noun, pl -bies [count]

1 : a type of horse race that takes place every year — used especially in proper names • the Kentucky Derby

2 : a race or contest • a fishing derby — see also DEMOLITION DERBY, ROLLER DERBY

3 Brit : a game between local sports teams • a derby between Manchester United and Manchester City

4 US : a hard usually black cloth hat that has a round top and that was worn by men especially in the 1800s — called also (US) derby hat, (chiefly Brit) bowler de-reg-u-late /di'regjəleɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; lat-ing [+ obj] : to give up control of (something, such as an industry) by removing laws : to remove regulations or restrictions from (something) • The government plans to further deregulate the oil industry.

— de-reg-u-la-tion /di'regjə'leɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

¹der-e-lict /'derəlikt/ adj, formal

1 : no longer cared for or used by anyone • a derelict house/ship/place • a slum filled with derelict [=run-down, dilapidated] warehouses

2 [more ~; most ~] US, formal : failing to do what should be done : NEGLIGENT • The officer was charged with being derelict in his duty.

²derelict noun, pl -licts [count] formal + disapproving : a person who has no money, job, home, etc. • a drunken derelict [=vagrant, bum] • It was a run-down neighborhood filled with drugs addicts and derelicts.

der-e-lic-tion /,derə'likʃən/ noun, formal

1 [noncount] a : the act of no longer caring for, using, or doing something : the act of abandoning something • the dereliction of a cause by its leaders b : the condition of being no longer cared for • The building is in a state of dereliction. [=is in poor condition from being abandoned]

2 [singular] law : failure to do your job or duty : failure to do what you should do • The officer was formally charged with dereliction of duty. • a serious dereliction of duty ✧ Dereliction is usually used to refer to the crime that is committed when a military officer or police officer fails to do an important part of his or her job.

de-ride /dɪ'raɪd/ verb -rides; -rid-ed; -rid-ing [+ obj] formal : to talk or write about (someone or something) in a very critical or insulting way : to say that (someone or something) is ridiculous or has no value • politicians attempting to win votes by deriding [=belittling] their opponents — often + as • One critic derides the book as dull and predictable. — often used as (be) derided • For years women were derided as the weaker sex.

de ri-gueur /də,ri'gə/ adj, formal : necessary if you want to be fashionable, popular, socially acceptable, etc. • Dark sunglasses are de rigueur these days. ✧ The phrase de rigueur comes from French.

de-ri-sion /dɪ'riːʒən/ noun [noncount] formal : the feeling that people express when they criticize and laugh at someone or something in an insulting way • yells of derision • The governor's plan was greeted with derision [=ridicule] by most journalists and pundits. • One of the students laughed/snorted in derision at my error. • The team's awful record has made it an object of derision in the league. • “Nerd” is a term of derision.

— de-ri-sive /dɪ'raɪsɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] • derisive [=scornful] laughter • a derisive [=derogatory] term — de-ri-sive-ly adv • laughing derisively [=scornfully]

de-ri-so-ry /dɪ'raɪsəri/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal

1 : of too little value to be considered seriously : ridiculously small • He offered to buy the car for some derisory [=paltry, measly] sum/amount, but I turned him down.

2 : expressing a belief that something or someone is ridiculous or without value : expressing derision • The presentation was so bad that it received only a few derisory [=more commonly derisive] comments.

der-i-va-tion /,derə'veɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 a : the origin of a word [count] It is a word for which several derivations [=etymologies] have been suggested. • He is doing research into the derivation of “Yankee.” [noncount] words of Latin derivation b [noncount] : the act of forming a word from another word • “Childish” was formed by derivation from “child.”

2 a [noncount] : the source or origin of something • foods of Indian derivation [=foods originally from India] b [count] : an act or process by which one thing is formed or created from another • Scientists are debating the possible derivation of birds from dinosaurs.

¹de-riv-a-tive /dɪ'rɪvətɪv/ noun, pl -tives [count]

1 : a word formed from another word • The word “childish” is a derivative of “child.”

2 : something that comes from something else : a substance that is made from another substance • Tofu is one of many soybean derivatives. • Petroleum is a derivative of coal tar.

²derivative /dɪ'rɪvətɪv/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] usually disapproving : made up of parts from something else : not new or original • derivative poetry • A number of critics found the film derivative and predictable. • His style seems too derivative of Hemingway.

2 : formed from another word • a derivative term

de-rive /dɪ'raɪv/ verb -rives; -rived; -riv-ing

1 [+ obj] : to take or get (something) from (something else) • The river derives its name from a Native American tribe. • She derived [=received, took] great satisfaction from their friendship. — often used as (be) derived • Many English words are derived from French. • Petroleum is derived from coal tar and used to make gasoline.

2 [no obj] : to have something as a source : to come from something • Much of the book's appeal derives from the personality of its central character.

— de-riv-a-ble /dɪ'raɪvəbəl/ adj • a substance derivable from coal tar der-ma-ti-tis /,dɜːmə'taɪtəs/ noun [noncount] medical : a disease in which the skin becomes red, swollen, and sore der-ma-tol-o-gy /,dɜːmə'tɔːlədʒi/ noun [noncount] medical : the scientific study of the skin and its diseases • One of the doctors at the clinic specializes in dermatology.

— der-ma-tol-o-gist /,dɜːmə'tɔːlədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count] • The dermatologist said that the baby's rash was nothing to worry about.

der-o-gate /'derəgeɪt/ verb -gates; -gat-ed; -gat-ing [+ obj] formal : to insult (someone or something) : to say or suggest that (something or someone) is not important or worthy of respect • The title of the book derogates the people it is about. • Her parents are constantly derogating her achievements.

derogate from [phrasal verb] derogate from (something or someone) formal : to lessen the importance or value of (something or someone) • These criticisms are not meant to derogate from [=detract from] the excellent work they have done.

— de-rog-a-tion /,derə'geɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount]

de-rog-a-to-ry /dɪ'raːgə'tori, Brit dɪ'rɒgətri/ adj [more ~; most ~] : expressing a low opinion of someone or something : showing a lack of respect for someone or something • He was accused of making derogatory [=insulting, disrespectful] remarks about her. • a derogatory [=disparaging] term/word der-rick /'derɪk/ noun, pl -ricks [count]

1 : a tall machine with a long part like an arm that is used to move or lift heavy things especially on ships

2 : a tall tower that is built over an oil well and used to support and guide the tool that is used to dig the hole and get oil out of the ground

der-ri-ere or der-ri-ère /,deri'eə/ noun, pl -eres or -ères [count] humorous : the part of the body you sit on : BUT-TOCKS • I slipped on the ice and fell on my derriere.

der-ring-do /,derɪŋ'duː/ noun [noncount] old-fashioned + humorous : brave acts : behavior that requires courage • She is known for her spectacular feats of derring-do. [=bravery] ✧

Derring-do suggests the brave acts of characters in movies and stories about adventure.

der·vish /'dævɪʃ/ noun, pl -vish·es [count] : a member of a Muslim religious group that is known for its customs including a fast spinning dance that is done as part of worship ◇ In U.S. English, dervish is most common in figurative uses where it describes someone or something that is spinning or moving very fast. • The actor whirled like a dervish on stage.

de·sa·li·nate /di'sælə,neɪt/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing [+ obj] technical : to remove salt from (something, such as water) • The company is building a plant that will desalinate seawater.

— de·sa·li·na·tion /di,sælə'neɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

de·scale /di'skeɪl/ verb -scales; -scaled; -scal-ing [+ obj] Brit, technical : to remove the hard white substance that forms on the inside of something (such as pipes or a boiler) that heats water

des·cant /'des,kænt/ noun, pl -cants [count] music : a high melody that is sung or played along with the main melody of a song de·scend /di'send/ verb -scends; -scend-ed; -scend-ing formal

1 : to go down : to go or move from a higher to a lower place or level [no obj] Wait for the elevator to descend. • The workers descended into the hole. • The submarine was descending. • They descended from [=got down from] the platform. • A herd of goats descended into the valley. • The airplane will descend to a lower altitude soon. [+ obj] Descending the mountain was even more dangerous than climbing/ascending it. • The children descended the staircase silently. • descend a ladder — opposite ASCEND

2 [no obj] : to slope or lead downward • The path descends to the river. • The stairs descended into the tunnel. — opposite ASCEND

3 [no obj] : to go or change to a worse state or condition — + into • After his wife died, he descended [=sank] into a deep depression. • The classroom descended into chaos after the teacher left.

4 [no obj] : to appear or happen like something that comes down from the sky • As night descended, the campers built a fire. — usually + on or upon • The invaders descended on the village without warning. [=the invaders attacked without warning] • In autumn/fall, thousands of students descend on/upon [=visit] our town. • Silence descended upon the crowd. [=the crowd became silent] descend from [phrasal verb] descend from (something or someone) : to have (something or someone in the past) as an origin or source • Recent evidence supports the theory that birds descended from dinosaurs. • The plants descend from a common ancestor. • The tradition descends from [=comes from] an ancient custom. • They claim to be descended from a noble British family.

descend to [phrasal verb] 1 descend to (someone) formal : to become owned by (someone) when the former owner has died • The estate descended to her from her grandparents. [=she inherited the estate from her grandparents] 2 descend to (something) : to lower yourself by doing (something) • She was desperate for money, but she would not descend to [=more commonly] stoop to] asking her friends for help. — see also descend to someone's level at ¹LEVEL in descending order ◇ If people or things are in descending order, they are arranged in a series that begins with the greatest or largest and ends with the least or smallest. • The states are listed in descending order of population size. • The sale items are arranged in descending order according to price.

de·scen·dant /di'sendənt/ noun, pl -dants [count]

1 : someone who is related to a person or group of people who lived in the past • One of the famous inventor's descendants is also an inventor. • Many people in this area are descendants of German immigrants.

2 : a plant or animal that is related to a particular plant or animal that lived long ago • Recent evidence supports the theory that birds are the modern descendants of dinosaurs.

3 : something that developed from another thing that was made or existed earlier • The Italian language is one of Latin's descendants.

de·scent /di'sent/ noun, pl -scents formal

1 [count] : the act or process of descending: such as a : the act or process of going from a higher to a lower place or level — usually singular • The climbers were faced with a dangerous descent in bad weather. • the submarine's descent • After only an hour of flight, the pilot announced our descent.

— opposite ASCENT b : the act or process of changing to a worse state or condition • The book describes his descent into a deep depression after the death of his wife. • her slow descent to a life of addiction

2 [count] : a way of going down something : a downward slope, path, etc. • The only path that goes down to the river is a rather steep descent, so be careful.

3 [noncount] : the people in your family who lived before you were born : your ancestors • Many people in this area are of German descent. [=ancestry] • They claim to be of royal descent. [=they say that their ancestors were kings, queens, etc.]

de·scribe /di'skraɪb/ verb -scribes; -scribed; -scrib-ing [+ obj]

1 : to tell someone the appearance, sound, smell, events, etc., of (something or someone) : to say what something or someone is like • The witness wasn't able to describe the robber. • He described the house in perfect detail. • The article describes how the experiment was done. • She described watching dolphins play beside the ship. • Please describe what happened next. • Can you describe the lost dog to me? — often + as • He was described by his friends as generous and loyal. • Reporters described the scene as a disaster area.

2 formal : to make a motion or draw a line that shows the shape of (something) • She used a stick to describe a circle on the ground.

— de·scrib·able /di'skraɪbəbəl/ adj • The process is not easily describable.

de·scrip·tion /di'skrɪpʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : a statement that tells you how something or someone looks, sounds, etc. : words that describe something or someone [count] Reporters called the scene "a disaster area," and I think that was an accurate description. • I applied for the position after reading the job description. • We are looking for someone with experience and a sense of humor. Do you know anyone who fits/matches that description? [=anyone who has those qualities] — often + of • a brief/general description of the process • The witness was unable to give/provide a description of the robber. [=was unable to describe the robber] • Someone fitting/answering/matching the witness' description of the burglar has been arrested. [noncount] a writer with a gift of/for description • The landscape is beautiful beyond description. [=is extremely beautiful]

2 [count] : type or kind — used after of • We saw people of every description. [=sort] • The museum features toys of all descriptions. [=kinds] • The store sells hats, gloves, and things of that description. [=nature, ilk]

de·scrip·tive /di'skrɪptɪv/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : giving information about how something or someone looks, sounds, etc. : using words to describe what something or someone is like • She gave a descriptive account of the journey. • a talent for descriptive writing • a poem full of descriptive detail • The black cat was given the descriptive name "Midnight." — often + of • They chose a name descriptive of the company's philosophy.

2 technical : providing facts about how a language is actually used rather than rules that tell people how it should be used • The book is a descriptive grammar. • descriptive dictionaries — opposite PRESCRIPTIVE

— de·scrip·tive·ly adv [more ~; most ~] des·e·crate /'desɪ,kreɪt/ verb -crates; -crat-ed; -crat-ing [+ obj] : to damage (a holy place or object) : to treat (a holy place or object) with disrespect • The vandals were accused of desecrating graves. • a desecrated church

— des·e·cra·tion /,desɪ'kreɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • The law forbids desecration of the flag.

de·seg·re·gate /di'segrə,geɪt/ verb -gates; -gat-ed; -gat-ing : to end a policy that keeps people of different races apart : to end a policy of segregation [+ obj] efforts to desegregate the town's buses — usually used as (be) desegregated • The city's schools were finally desegregated in the 1960s. [no obj] Eventually the city's schools desegregated.

— de·seg·re·ga·tion /di,segrɪ'geɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

de·se·lect /,di:sə'lekt/ verb -lects; -lect-ed; -lect-ing [+ obj]

1 computers : to remove (something) from a list of choices especially by clicking with a computer mouse • If you don't want the computer program to automatically correct your spelling, you will have to deselect that option.

2 Brit, politics : to choose not to have (a current member of Parliament) as a candidate again at the next election

– de-se-lec-tion noun [noncount] de-sen-si-tize also Brit de-sen-si-tise /di'sensə,taɪz/ verb
-tiz-es; -tized; -tiz-ing [+ obj] : to cause (someone or something) to react less to or be less affected by something : to cause (someone or something) to be less sensitive • The shot will help to desensitize the nerve. — usually + to; often used as (be/become) desensitized • People can become desensitized to violence by endless images of war. • Her body has become desensitized to the medication.

– de-sen-si-ti-za-tion also Brit de-sen-si-ti-sa-tion /di,sensətə'zeɪʃən; Brit di,sensə,taɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

¹des-ert /'dezət/ noun, pl -erts
1 : an area of very dry land that is usually covered with sand and is very hot [count] Many settlers died while trying to cross the desert. • the Arabian and African deserts [non-count] The region is mostly desert. — often used before another noun • the shifting desert sands • a study of desert plants • stranded on a desert island [=an island where no people live] — see color picture on page C7

2 [count] : a place or area that does not have something interesting or important • For many years, the city was a cultural desert, but now there are several museums and also a concert hall. — see also DESERTS

Do not confuse desert with dessert.

²de-sert /dɪ'zɜt/ verb -serts; -sert-ed; -sert-ing
1 [+ obj] : to go away from (a place) : to leave (a place) • The inhabitants had deserted the town. • If the nest is disturbed, the bird may desert [=abandon] it.
2 [+ obj] : to leave and stop helping or supporting (someone or something) • She had been married for just over a year when her husband deserted her. • He was deserted by his friends and family. • He vowed that he would never desert [=abandon] a friend in trouble. • He urged people not to desert the cause. [=not to stop supporting the cause]
3 [+ obj] of a useful quality or ability : to no longer be with (someone) in a time of need • The soldiers prayed that their courage would not desert them. [=that they would not lose their courage] • She was a respected academic until late in life when her memory deserted her. [=she lost her ability to remember things]
4 [no obj] of a soldier : to leave the military without permission and without intending to return • Many soldiers deserted during the first weeks of the war.

– deserted adj • The town was deserted. [=there were no people in the town] • We came upon a deserted [=abandoned] old hotel. • a deserted street/road • deserted wives/husbands/children – de-ser-tion /dɪ'zɜʃən/ noun, pl -tions [noncount] the mysterious desertion of the town by its inhabitants • He was guilty of desertion during wartime. [count] The military has reported 350 desertions.

de-sert-er /dɪ'zɜtə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a soldier who leaves without permission : a military person who deserts de-sert-i-fi-ca-tion /dɪ,zətəfə'keɪʃən/ noun [noncount] technical : the process by which an area becomes a desert • The organization was awarded for its efforts to prevent further desertification in Africa.

de-serts /dɪ'zɜts/ noun [plural] : punishment that someone deserves • We all want to see this criminal get/receive his just deserts

de-serve /dɪ'zɜv/ verb -serves; -served; -serv-ing [+ obj]
— used to say that someone or something should or should not have or be given something • She deserves another chance. • He doesn't deserve the award. • Every defendant deserves a fair trial. • The newspaper deserves a lot of credit for calling attention to the problem. • I think the idea deserves [=merits] consideration. • The story deserves telling. [=the story should be told; the story is important enough to tell] • What did I do to deserve this kind of harsh treatment? [=you should not treat me this way] • She believes that people eventually get what they deserve. • He deserves a medal for coming up with a solution so quickly. [=he did something very good and impressive by coming up with a solution so quickly] — often followed by to + verb • Anyone who will not use a map deserves to get lost. • They deserve to be punished. • He deserves to win.
– deserved /dɪ'zɜvd/ adj • a well-deserved vacation/break • a deserved win/victory/reputation • The award/criticism was not deserved. – de-serv-ed-ly /dɪ'zɜvədlɪ/ adv • She was deservedly praised for her generosity. • He has been deservedly accused of being selfish, and deservedly so. [=he deserves to be called selfish; it is reasonable to call him selfish because of his behavior]

deserving adj [more ~; most ~]
1 always used before a noun : having good qualities that deserve praise, support, etc. • He's a very deserving young man. • The church provides aid to deserving families.
2 not used before a noun — used to say that someone or something should have or be given something; + of • She was deserving of praise. [=she deserved praise] • criminals deserving of harsh punishment • an idea that is deserving of attention

des-ic-cat-ed /'desɪ,keɪtəd/ adj
1 technical : having had the water removed • desiccated [= (more commonly) dried, dehydrated] coconut
2 formal : very dry • desiccated land

des-ic-ca-tion /,desɪ'keɪʃən/ noun [noncount] technical : the process by which something becomes completely dry • desiccation of soil

de-sid-er-a-tum /dɪ,sɪdə'rɑ:təm/ noun, pl -ta /-tə/ [count] formal : something that is needed or wanted • a list of political desiderata

¹de-sign /dɪ'zain/ verb -signs; -signed; -sign-ing [+ obj]
1 : to plan and make decisions about (something that is being built or created) : to create the plans, drawings, etc., that show how (something) will be made • A team of engineers designed the new engine. • a badly designed building • She designs clothes. • Who designed the book's cover?
2 : to plan and make (something) for a specific use or purpose • He designed the chair to adjust automatically. — usually used as (be) designed • The course is designed to teach beginners. [=the purpose of the course is to teach beginners] • The book is designed as a college textbook. • The shoes are designed to keep your feet warm and dry. • The book is specially designed for learners. • The new models have been designed for easier use.
3 : to think of (something, such as a plan) : to plan (something) in your mind • They thought they could design the perfect crime. • design a strategy for battle

²design noun, pl -signs
1 : the way something has been made : the way the parts of something (such as a building, machine, book, etc.) are formed and arranged for a particular use, effect, etc. [non-count] There are problems with the design of the airplane's landing gear. • I like the design of the textbook. • I love the sculpture's design. [count] The machine had a flawed design.
2 [noncount] : the process of planning how something will look, happen, be made, etc. : the process of designing something • She is studying furniture/Web design. [=how to design furniture/Web sites] • the design and development of new products • The new model is still in the design stage. [=is still being designed] • Correcting mistakes is part of the design process. • a number of design concepts/ideas — see also INTERIOR DESIGN
3 [count] : a drawing of something that is being planned or created — often + for • We reviewed the preliminary design for the new stadium. • Can I see the designs [=plans] for both bridges?

4 [count] : a decorative pattern that covers something : a repeating picture, shape, etc., on something • The wallpaper in the bedroom has a floral design. • a skirt with a paisley design • fabric sold in a variety of colors and designs

5 : something that you plan to do : INTENTION [count] My design [= (more commonly) purpose] in writing to you is to ask for your support. [noncount] The motor is loud by design. [=because it was intended to be loud] • The meeting happened by accident, not by design. [=on purpose] have designs on 1 : to have a secret desire and plan to get (something) • She had designs on my job. 2 formal + humorous : to want to date or have a sexual relationship with (someone) • You can deny it all you want, but I think it's pretty obvious that you have designs on her.

¹des-ig-nate /'dezɪg,neɪt/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing [+ obj]
1 : to officially choose (someone or something) to do or be something : to officially give (someone or something) a particular role or purpose • It might be difficult to designate [=select] an appropriate place for the event. • We need to designate [=appoint] a new leader. — often used as (be) designated • money designated [=set aside] for the scholarship fund • He was designated team captain. = He was designated as team captain. [=he was made team captain] • The park has been designated as a wildlife refuge. — often followed by to +

verb • He was designated to be team captain.

2 a : to call (something or someone) by a particular name or title • We designated [=named] the first one “alpha.” — often used as (be) designated • The four parts were designated A, B, C, and D in the diagram. b : to be used as a name for (something or someone) • The word eventually came to designate [=refer to] any kind of mistake.

3 : to mark, show, or represent (something) • The wooden stakes designate the edge of the building site. — usually used as (be) designated • Free items are designated by blue stickers. • The state capital is designated [=indicated] by a star.

— designated adj • We all agreed to meet at a designated time. [=a specific time that we agreed on] • 18 years old is the designated age to vote. — see also DESIGNATED DRIVER, DESIGNATED HITTER — des·ig·na·tor /ˈdeɪzɪɡˌneɪtər/ noun, pl -tors [count]

2 designate adj, not used before a noun, formal : chosen for a particular job but not officially doing that job yet • the governor designate [=the governor elect]

designated driver noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a person who agrees not to drink alcohol on a particular occasion so that he or she will be able to safely drive around other people who will be drinking alcohol designated hitter noun, pl ~ -ters [count] baseball : a player who is chosen at the beginning of a game to bat in the place of the pitcher and who does not play a position in the field — called also DH

des·ig·na·tion /ˌdeɪzɪɡˌneɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions formal

1 [noncount] : the act of officially choosing someone or something to do or be something — + as • Everyone supported the park's designation as a wildlife refuge. • The committee favors designation of the house as an historic building.

2 [count] : a name or title that identifies someone or something • Though many people call her a liberal, it is not a designation she uses herself.

des·ig·nee /ˌdeɪzɪɡˌniː/ noun, pl -nees [count] chiefly US, formal : a person who has been officially chosen to do or be something : a person who has been designated • the President's designees for Cabinet positions

1 de·sign·er /dɪˈzaɪnər/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who plans how something new will look and be made : a person who creates and often produces a new product, style, etc. • She is one of the leading designers in the fashion world. • He is a designer and engineer for a car company. • She was the designer of the book's jacket. • a boat/clothing/computer/costume designer • a Web (site) designer — see also INTERIOR DESIGNER

2 designer adj, always used before a noun

1 : created by a famous designer • designer jeans/fashions • designer wallpaper

2 : very fashionable and popular • designer coffee drinks • designer perfumes

3 technical : scientifically changed from the usual or natural form • designer foods • designer estrogen designer drug noun, pl ~ drugs [count]

1 : a drug that is created to be only slightly different from an illegal drug so that it will not be considered illegal

2 : an artificially made drug that is used for pleasure • Ecstasy is a designer drug.

de·sign·ing /dɪˈzaɪnɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] old-fashioned : having plans to get something in a way that is not honest or fair • a plot by a group of wicked and designing [=crafty, scheming] men de·sir·able /dɪˈzaɪrəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having good or pleasing qualities : worth having or getting • The house is in a highly desirable location/neighborhood. • desirable jobs • The new stove has many desirable features/characteristics. • the qualities that make a desirable business partner • The experiment did not achieve a desirable result. • It is desirable [(more commonly) advisable, smart] to talk with a lawyer before signing any contract. — opposite UNDESIRABLE

2 : sexually attractive • a beautiful and desirable woman

— de·sir·abil·i·ty /dɪˈzaɪrəˈbɪləti/ noun [noncount] • Housing prices vary according to the desirability of the location.

— de·sir·ably /dɪˈzaɪrəbli/ adv [more ~; most ~] • a desirably located apartment

1 de·sire /dɪˈzajər/ verb, not used in progressive tenses -sires; -sired; -sir·ing [+ obj]

1 somewhat formal : to want or wish for (something) : to feel desire for (something) • Many people desire wealth. • He desired her approval more than anything. • The apartment has modern amenities, a great location—everything you could desire. • Those desiring [=looking for] a more relaxed atmosphere will prefer the pub in the restaurant's lower level. — sometimes followed by to + verb • I have always desired [=wanted] to go to France.

2 : to want to have sex with (someone) • She knew that men still desired her.

3 formal : to express a wish for (something) • The committee desires [=requests] an immediate answer.

leave much to be desired or leave a lot to be desired or leave a great deal to be desired — used to say that something is not very good at all or is not close to being good enough • Your work leaves much to be desired. • Although her education left much to be desired, she was an extremely intelligent person. • The working conditions here leave a lot to be desired.

— desired adj • an artist mixing paints to get a desired color • a desired effect/result

2 desire noun, pl -sires

1 a [noncount] : the feeling of wanting something • Desire is a common theme in music and literature. • an object of desire [=something that people want to have] b [count] : a strong wish • It is our desire that all of you be treated fairly. [=we want all of you to be treated fairly] • The magazine tries to attend to the needs and desires of its readers. : a wish for something or to do something • Both sides feel a real desire for peace. • His decisions are guided by his desire for land/money/power/change. • They expressed a desire to go with us. • They have a desire to have children. • a strong/burning/aching desire to travel around the world

2 : a feeling of wanting to have sex with someone [count] He had/felt a strong (sexual) desire for her. [noncount] He was overcome with desire for her.

3 [count] : someone or something that you want or wish for — usually singular • He worried that he might never achieve his desire. [=might never do the thing that he wanted to do] • A good education had always been her heart's desire. [=something she wanted very much] • “You are my heart's desire,” he told her.

de·sir·ous /dɪˈzaɪrəs/ adj, not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : wanting or wishing for something very much : feeling desire for something — usually + of • parents desirous of a better way to educate their children [=parents who want a better way to educate their children] • consumers desirous of saving money [=consumers who want to save money]

de·sist /dɪˈsɪst/ verb -sists; -sist·ed; -sist·ing [no obj] formal : to stop doing something • Despite orders from the police, the protesters would not desist. — often + from • They were ordered to desist from using the symbol as a logo. • The court ordered the company to cease and desist from selling the photographs. [=to immediately stop selling the photographs] — see also CEASE AND DESIST ORDER desk /ˈdesk/ noun, pl desks [count]

1 : a piece of furniture that is like a table and often has drawers ✧ People often sit at desks when they are writing or using a computer. • a cluttered desk • a classroom with desks arranged in rows ✧ Often desk refers specifically to the desk a person uses to do his or her job. • I'm sorry I missed your call. I've been away from my desk. — often used before another noun • a desk lamp/calendar/chair • She left her desk job [=the job that she did while sitting at a desk] to become a farmer. — see picture at OFFICE

2 : a place where people can get information or be served at an office, a hotel, etc. • an information desk at an airport • We will ask for directions to the restaurant at the front desk. • We went to the reception desk to check into our room.

3 : the part of a company or organization that deals with a particular subject • the television network's financial/foreign desk [=department] • the newspaper's sports desk • the news desk [=the office where news is gathered to be reported in a newspaper, on television, etc.] — see also CITY DESK desk·bound /ˈdeksˌbaʊnd/ adj : having a job that requires you to be at a desk • deskbound office workers

1 desk·top /ˈdeskˌtɑ:p/ noun, pl -tops [count]

1 : the top surface of a desk • The desktop was covered with books and stacks of papers.

2 a : a computer that is designed to be used on a desk or table : a desktop computer — compare LAPTOP, NOTEBOOK b : an area or window on a computer screen in which small pictures (called icons) are arranged like objects on top of a desk • He created a new folder on his desktop.

²desktop adj, always used before a noun

1 : of a size that is suitable to be used on a desk or table • a desktop computer

2 : done using a personal computer • She is working on a desktop video project. • Do you have any experience in desktop publishing? [=the use of a computer to design and produce magazines, books, etc.]

¹des-o-late /'desələt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : lacking the people, plants, animals, etc., that make people feel welcome in a place • a landscape as desolate [=barren, lifeless] as the moon • We drove for hours along a desolate [=deserted] stretch of road.

2 : very sad and lonely especially because someone you love has died or left • desolate [=grief-stricken] parents grieving over the death of their son • desolate thoughts and memories

²des-o-late /'desə,leɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing [+ obj] formal + literary

1 : to make (someone) feel very sad and lonely for a long time — usually used as (be) desolated • They were desolated [(more commonly) devastated] by the death of their son.

2 : to damage (a place) in such a way that it is no longer suitable for people to live in • The constant bombings had desolated [(more commonly) destroyed, devastated] the town.

— desolated adj • a desolated village

des-o-la-tion /,desə'leɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

1 : extreme sadness caused by loss or loneliness • She sank into a state of desolation and despair.

2 : the condition of a place or thing that has been damaged in such a way that it is no longer suitable for people to live in : the state or condition of being desolate • photos that show the desolation of war • It was a scene of utter desolation. [=ruin, devastation]

¹de-spair /dɪ'speə/ noun [noncount]

1 : the feeling of no longer having any hope • His despair nearly drove him mad. • She let out a cry of despair. [=desperation] • I was overcome by despair at being unable to find them. • She finally gave up in despair. • The people were driven to despair by the horrors of war. • This latest setback has brought/carried/driven her to the depths of despair.

2 : someone or something that causes extreme sadness or worry — + of • He was the despair of his parents.

²despair verb -spairs; -spaired; -spair-ing [no obj] : to no longer have any hope or belief that a situation will improve or change • Things look bad now, but don't despair. — often + of • We had begun to despair of ever finding a house we could afford.

despairing adj [more ~; most ~] : feeling very sad and without hope : showing or feeling despair • He plays the role of a lonely and despairing [=despondent] widower. • a despairing cry/look — despairing-ly adv • They cried out despairingly.

despatch Brit spelling of DISPATCH

des-per-a-do /,despə'ra:dou/ noun, pl -dos or -does [count] old-fashioned : a violent criminal who is not afraid of getting hurt or caught • the notorious desperados of the Wild West des-per-ate /'desprət/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : very sad and upset because of having little or no hope : feeling or showing despair • The collapse of her business had made her desperate. • As the supply of food ran out, people became desperate. • We could hear their desperate cries for help. • a desperate phone call

2 : very bad or difficult to deal with • The building is in desperate [=terrible, awful] shape and may have to be demolished. • desperate [=hopeless] situations • The outlook was desperate.

3 : done with all of your strength or energy and with little hope of succeeding • a desperate struggle to defeat the enemy • He made a desperate bid/attempt to save his job. • They made one last desperate attempt to fight their way out.

4 : having a strong need or desire for something or to do something • He is desperate for money/attention/work. • After traveling all night, they were desperate for sleep. • She was desperate to prove that she was right.

5 : very severe or strong • The animals were in desperate need of food and water when they were found. • a desperate shortage of medical supplies • The situation called for desperate measures.

— des-per-ate-ly /'desprətli/ adv • We are trying desperately to find a solution. • They desperately struggled to defeat the enemy. • They were desperately [=extremely, terribly] unhappy/poor. • desperately ill patients • We were desperately in need of food and water.

des-per-a-tion /,despə'reɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : a strong feeling of sadness, fear, and loss of hope • She felt overcome by desperation. • a life of desperation • the desperation of severe poverty • The robbery was an act of desperation. [=a desperate act] • They hired me out of desperation, because they couldn't get anyone else. • Finally, in desperation, he tried to flee the country.

de-spi-ca-ble /dɪ'spɪkəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : very bad or unpleasant : deserving to be despised • She is a despicable traitor. • It was a despicable [=contemptible] act of racism.

— de-spi-ca-bly /dɪ'spɪkəbli/ adv • He behaved despicably.

de-spise /dɪ'spaɪz/ verb -spis-es; -spised; -spis-ing [+ obj] : to dislike (something or someone) very much • He despises [=hates, loathes] pop music. • Although despised [=scorned, disdained] by critics, the movie attracted a wide audience. • She was despised as a hypocrite.

de-spite /dɪ'spaɪt/ prep : without being prevented by (something) — used to say that something happens or is true even though there is something that might prevent it from happening or being true • Despite [=in spite of] our objections, he insisted on driving. • She ran the race despite an injury. • Despite our best efforts to save him, the patient died during the night. • They are not getting married, despite rumors to the contrary. [=even though there have been rumors saying they are getting married] • Despite its small size, the device is able to store thousands of hours of music. • The law has yet to be passed, despite the fact that most people are in favor of it.

despite yourself : even though you do not want to • She stared at the couple despite herself. • Despite myself, I began to enjoy the movie. • They grew to love each other, almost despite themselves.

de-spoil /dɪ'spɔɪəl/ verb -spoils; -spoiled; -spoil-ing [+ obj] literary

1 : to severely damage or ruin (a place) • The landscape has been despoiled by industrial development.

2 : to forcefully take what is valuable from (a place) • The invaders despoiled [=plundered] the village.

— de-spoil-er noun, pl -ers [count] • He sees human beings as despoilers of nature.

de-spond-ent /dɪ'spɑːndənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : very sad and without hope • I had never seen them looking so despondent. • a group of despondent fans — often + over or about • She is despondent over losing her job. • He grew increasingly despondent about her illness.

— de-spond-en-cy /dɪ'spɑːndənsi/ also de-spon-dence /dɪ'spɑːndəns/ noun [noncount] • He went through a period of deep despondency after his divorce.

des-pot /'despət/ noun, pl -pots [count]

1 : a ruler who has total power and who often uses that power in cruel and unfair ways • medieval despots [=tyrants]

2 formal : a person who has a lot of power over other people • He was a successful basketball coach, but many people regarded him as a petty despot. • The company is run by a benevolent despot.

— des-pot-ic /de'spɑːtɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a despotic government

des-po-tism /'despə,tɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : rule by a despot • The people have had to endure many years of despotism. [(more commonly) tyranny]

des-ert /dɪ'zət/ noun, pl -serts : sweet food eaten after the main part of a meal [count] She doesn't care for rich desserts. • a chocolate dessert [noncount] Coffee and tea will be served with dessert. • We had ice cream and apple pie for dessert. — sometimes used before another noun • They asked to look at the dessert menu. • dessert plates

Do not confuse dessert with desert.

des-sert-spoon /dɪ'zət,spuːn/ noun, pl -spoons [count] Brit

1 : a spoon of medium size that is used to eat desserts and other foods

2 : the amount that a dessertspoon will hold • a dessertspoon of sugar des-sert-spoon-ful /dɪ'zət,spuːn,ful/ noun, pl -fuls [count] Brit : DESSERTSPOON 2

dessert wine noun, pl ~ wines [count, noncount] : a sweet wine that people drink with dessert or after dessert de-sta-bi-lize also Brit de-sta-bi-lise /dɪ'steɪbəlaɪz/ verb -liz-es; -lized; -liz-ing [+ obj] : to cause (something, such as a government) to be unable to continue existing or working in the usual or desired way : to make (something) unstable • The group hoped the assassination of the new President would destabilize the government. • Economists warn that the crisis could destabilize the nation's currency.

– de-sta-bi-li-za-tion also Brit de-sta-bi-li-sa-tion /di,steɪbələ'zeɪʃən, Brit di,steɪbə,lai'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] – destabilizing also Brit destabilising adj • a destabilizing influence/force/factor des-ti-na-tion /,destə'neɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : a place to which a person is going or something is being sent • After stopping for lunch, we continued on toward/to our destination. • The package reached its destination two days later. • He enjoys traveling to remote and exotic destinations. • a popular tourist destination • We traveled through three states before reaching our final destination. • a destination restaurant/resort [=a restaurant/resort that people are willing to travel a long distance to go to] des-tined /'destənd/ adj, not used before a noun

1 a : certain to do or to be something • Without the support of the unions, the plan seems destined to fail. • He is destined to be famous. • She felt that she was destined [=fated, meant] to become a writer. b : certain to achieve or experience something : certain to have a particular job, status, etc. — + for • a nation destined for greatness • They believed that their son was destined for the priesthood. • a technology that is destined for a short life

2 : going or traveling to a particular place — + for • The ship was destined [=headed, heading, bound] for New York. • The shipment is destined for Bombay.

des-ti-ny /'destəni/ noun, pl -nies

1 [count] : what happens in the future : the things that someone or something will experience in the future • They believed it was their destiny to be together. • His parents believed that the priesthood was his destiny. [=that he would or should become a priest because fate or God intended it] • The factory's closing shaped the destiny [=fate] of the entire town. • She believes that people can choose/control their own destinies. [=that people can control what will happen to them]

2 [noncount] : a power that is believed to control what happens in the future • She felt that destiny [=fate] had decided that she would one day be President. • motivated by a sense of destiny — see also MANIFEST DESTINY synonyms DESTINY, FATE, and LOT mean a future that someone or something will have. DESTINY and FATE both suggest that the future has been decided or planned by God or by some godlike power. DESTINY often suggests a future that includes something great and important. • He was a great leader whose destiny was to free the people of his country. FATE often suggests a future that cannot be avoided and that is usually sad or unpleasant. • It was the explorer's fate to die lost and alone. LOT suggests that someone's future has been decided by luck. • It was not their lot in life to have children.

des-ti-tute /'destə,tu:t, Brit 'destə,tju:t/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : extremely poor • His business failures left him destitute.

2 formal + literary : without something that is needed or wanted — + of • a lake destitute of fish • a man destitute of wisdom

the destitute : people who are extremely poor : destitute people • The charity provides food and clothing for the destitute. [=the needy]

– des-ti-tu-tion /,destə'tu:ʃən, Brit ,destə'tju:ʃən/ noun [noncount] • lives of destitution [=poverty]

de-stress /'di:'stres/ verb -stress-es; -stressed; -stress-ing [no obj] : to relax your body or mind : to stop feeling the effects of stress • Taking a hot bath is a good way to de-stress [=unwind] after a busy day.

de-stry /di'stroi/ verb -stroys; -stroyed; -stroy-ing [+obj]

1 : to cause (something) to end or no longer exist : to cause the destruction of (something) • Eventually our problems with money destroyed our marriage. • All the files were deliberately destroyed. • The disease destroys the body's ability to fight off illness. : to damage (something) so badly that it cannot be repaired • The bomb blast destroyed the village. • The scandal destroyed [=ruined] his reputation. • The building was partially destroyed [=demolished] by fire.

2 : to kill (an animal) especially because it is sick, injured, or dangerous • The dog had to be destroyed since its owner could not prevent it from attacking people.

3 informal : to defeat (someone or something) easily or completely • They destroyed [=demolished] the other team 51–7.

de-stry-er /di'strojə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a small and fast military ship that protects bigger ships

2 : something that causes the destruction of something • The pamphlet describes alcohol as a destroyer of families.

de-struc-tion /di'strʌkʃən/ noun [noncount] : the act or process of damaging something so badly that it no longer exists or cannot be repaired : the act or process of destroying something • a scene of destruction • War results in death and widespread destruction. • We are trying to save the building from destruction. • weapons of mass destruction [=weapons that can destroy entire buildings, cities, etc.] • His phenomenal success carried within it the seeds of its own destruction. [=the thing that made him successful eventually caused him to fail] — often + of • the destruction of documents/evidence • The storm caused the destruction of many homes. — see also SELF-DESTRUCTION

de-struc-tive /di'strʌktɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : causing a very large amount of damage : causing destruction or harm • It was one of the most destructive storms in recent memory. • She argued that the law was destructive of personal liberties. • The school is concerned about the destructive behavior of a few students. • These kinds of budget cuts can be destructive to morale. [=can damage morale] • destructive criticism [=harsh criticism that hurts someone] — compare CONSTRUCTIVE; see also SELF-DESTRUCTIVE

– de-struc-tive-ly adv • The dog behaves destructively.

– de-struc-tive-ness noun [noncount] • the destructive-ness of the storm des-ul-to-ry /'desəl,tori, Brit 'desəltri/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal

1 : not having a plan or purpose • desultory [=aimless] conversation.

2 : done without serious effort • He made a desultory [=half-hearted] attempt to study.

– des-ul-to-ri-ly /,desəl'torəli, Brit 'desəltrəli/ adv • Talk drifted desultorily from one topic to another.

de-tach /di'tæʃ/ verb -tach-es; -tached; -tach-ing

1 : to separate (something) from something larger [+obj] Detach the upper part of the form and return it with your payment. • During the accident the trailer was detached from the car. [no obj] The brush detaches from the vacuum cleaner for easy cleaning. — opposite ATTACH

2 [+obj] : to separate (yourself) from someone or something • It can be difficult to detach yourself from the chaos of the situation. • She has been trying to detach herself from an abusive relationship.

– de-tach-able /di'tæʃəbəl/ adj • The stereo is equipped with detachable speakers.

detached adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : not emotional : not influenced by emotions or personal interest • They wanted the opinion of a detached [=impartial, unbiased] observer. • The article takes a detached [=objective] view of the issue. • He watched them work with a detached [=indifferent] amusement.

2 : not joined or connected : separate from another part or thing • The house has a detached garage. • a detached house [=a house that is not connected to any other house or building] — see also SEMIDETACHED

de-tach-ment /di'tæʃmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 [noncount] : lack of emotion or of personal interest • I wish the article had approached the issue with a bit more detachment. • In her films she views the modern world with an air/sense of detachment. [=aloofness] • He was able to discuss their concerns with cool detachment. [=impartiality]

2 [noncount] a : the act or process of separating something from a larger thing • The form is perforated to make detachment of the bottom section easier. b : a condition in which something has become separated from something else • a patient diagnosed with retinal detachment [=a condition in which the retina of the eye is no longer connected to the eye as it should be]

3 [count] : a group of soldiers who have a special job or function • A detachment of soldiers was called to assist the police. • helicopter detachments [=groups of soldiers traveling in helicopters]

de-tail /di'teɪl, 'di:teɪl/ noun, pl -tails

1 [count] a : a small part of something • Every/each detail of the wedding was carefully planned. • They designed every detail of the house. • He planned the party down to the small- est/last/tiniest detail. [=he planned everything about the party] • Don't sweat the details. [=don't worry about minor things] • b [noncount] : the small parts of something • the wooden box's fine carved detail • We admired the detail of the artist's work. • Use a small paintbrush for the detail work. [=decorative work or work done using small pieces] • The job requires attention to detail. ♦ If you have an eye for detail or a fine/good/keen eye for detail, you are good at noticing small but important things that other people might not notice. • It is helpful to have a good eye for detail when you are building a house. • a filmmaker with an eye for detail

2 a [count] : a particular fact or piece of information about something or someone • The article provides further details. • You left out an important detail about their new baby: is it a girl or boy? • The novel is full of historical details. • b [noncount] : information about something or someone that is often specific or precise • The book includes a wealth of detail on living conditions aboard ships at that time. • The novel is full of historical detail. • The book covers the topic of grammar at a level of detail that most people would find boring.

3 [count] : a special job that is given to a soldier or group of soldiers — usually singular • They were assigned to security/maintenance/kitchen detail.

go into detail : to discuss or describe everything about something including the small or unimportant parts • The newspaper reports went into (great) detail about his political background. • I will try to tell the story without going into too much detail.

in detail : including a lot of information about something : without leaving out any important parts • She explained in detail how they met. • We will discuss/examine/explore the plan in detail. • Please describe the scene in as much detail as you can. [=in a way that includes as much information as possible] • We will talk about this issue in more/further/greater detail tomorrow.

2 detail verb -tails; -tailed; -tail-ing [+ obj]

1 : to state particular facts or information about (something) : to describe or discuss the details of (something) • The book details the series of events that led to the tragedy. • She wrote a letter detailing her complaints.

2 US : to thoroughly clean (a car) in an attempt to make it look new • I am going to have the car detailed [= (Brit) valet-ed] before I try to sell it.

3 formal : to choose (a person or group of people) to do a special job • The Army has detailed him to investigate the complaints. — often used as (be) detailed • The infantry officer was detailed to another unit during maneuvers.

detailed adj [more ~; most ~] : including many details : including a lot information • a detailed report/analysis • We need a more detailed comparison of the available options. • a detailed account/description • He gave us very detailed instructions. • detailed maps/pictures

detailing noun [noncount]

1 : small decorative parts : details added to a building, piece of clothing, etc. • the building's fine architectural detailing • a bowl with gold detailing

2 US : the act or process of thoroughly cleaning a car in an attempt to make it look new — called also (Brit) valeting

de-tain /dr'tein/ verb -tains; -tained; -tain-ing [+ obj]

1 : to officially prevent (someone) from leaving a place : to hold or keep (someone) in a prison or some other place • They were detained by the police for questioning. • He claimed he had been illegally detained.

2 formal : to keep or prevent (someone) from leaving or arriving at the expected time • We were detained [=delayed] for 15 minutes by a flat tire. • Unexpected business had detained her.

— de-tain-ment /dr'teɪnmənt/ noun, pl -ments [noncount] He demanded to be released after two hours of detainment. [count] He ordered the detainments of two suspects.

de-tain-ee /dr'teɪni:/ noun, pl -ees [count] : a person who is being kept in a prison especially for political reasons : a person who is being detained de-tect /dr'tekt/ verb -tects; -tect-ed; -tect-ing [+ obj] : to discover or notice the presence of (something that is hidden or hard to see, hear, taste, etc.) • The test is used to detect the presence of alcohol in the blood. • This type of cancer is difficult to detect in its early stages. • He thought he detected [=sensed] a note of irony in her comments.

— de-tect-able /dr'tektəbəl/ adj • a dim star that is only detectable with a powerful telescope • sounds barely detectable by the human ear

de-tec-tion /dr'tekʃən/ noun [noncount] : the act or process of discovering, finding, or noticing something • I don't know how the errors managed to avoid/escape detection for so long. • methods of crime detection — sometimes used before another noun • a detection system/device

1 de-tec-tive /dr'tektɪv/ noun, pl -tives [count]

1 : a police officer whose job is to find information about crimes that have occurred and to catch criminals • She is a detective on the police force. • Detective Sgt. Lee is working on the case. • a homicide detective

2 : a person whose job is to find information about something or someone : PRIVATE INVESTIGATOR • She hired a detective to follow her husband.

2 detective adj, always used before a noun

1 : done in order to find out hidden or unknown information • We had to do some detective work to find out who used to own the property.

2 : of or relating to crimes and detectives • a detective story • He enjoys reading detective novels.

de-tec-tor /dr'tektər/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a device that can tell if a substance or object is present : a device that detects the presence of something • a smoke/radar detector • using metal detectors to improve safety at airports — see also LIE DETECTOR

dé-tente or de-tente /der'tɑːnt/ noun, formal : an ending of unfriendly or hostile relations between countries [noncount] as the countries move toward détente • a period of détente [count] the start of a détente

de-ten-tion /dr'tenʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 a : the act of keeping someone in a prison or similar place [noncount] the detention of suspected terrorists • detention camps/facilities [count] The jail is only used for brief detentions. • b [noncount] : the state of being kept in a prison or similar place • Dozens of protesters were held/kept in detention for six hours. [=were detained for six hours]

2 : a punishment in which a student is required to stay at school after the rest of the students have left [count] They both got/received three detentions this year. [noncount] He got detention for being late to class.

detention center (US) or Brit detention centre noun, pl ~ -ters [count]

1 : a place where people who have entered a country illegally are kept for a period of time

2 : a place where people who have committed crimes are kept as punishment • She spent several months in a detention center for women. • a juvenile detention center

de-ter /dr'tər/ verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ring [+ obj]

1 : to cause (someone) to decide not to do something • Some potential buyers will be deterred by the price. — often + from • They hoped that the new law would deter advertisers from making false claims. • The heavy fines should deter [=discourage] people from dumping garbage here.

2 : to prevent (something) from happening • He played an important role in international efforts to deter [=prevent] nuclear war. • Painting the metal will deter rust.

de-ter-gent /dr'tədʒənt/ noun, pl -gents : a powder or liquid that is used to clean clothes, dishes, etc. : a chemical substance that is like soap [count] We have tried different laundry detergents. [noncount] a box of detergent — see picture at KITCHEN de-te-ri-o-rate /dr'tiriə,reit/ verb -rates; -rat-ed; -rat-ing

1 [no obj] : to become worse as time passes • The weather gradually deteriorated [=worsened] as the day went on. • Her health continues to deteriorate. [=decline] • efforts to save a deteriorating rain forest • The disagreement deteriorated into a fight. [=the disagreement got worse and eventually became a fight]

2 [+ obj] : to make (something) worse • Exposure to rain and sun will gradually deteriorate the paint.

— deteriorated adj • a deteriorated [=run-down, dilapidated] building • a badly deteriorated part of the city de-te-ri-o-ra-tion /dr'tiriə'reɪʃən/ noun [singular] : the act or process of becoming worse • economic deterioration • the gradual deterioration of the weather • a deterioration of academic standards • a deterioration in quality de-ter-min-able /dr'təmənəbəl/ adj, formal : possible to know or calculate : able to be determined • a determinable amount/value • The cause of the accident is not determinable at this time.

de-ter-mi-nant /dr'təmənənt/ noun, pl -nants [count] formal : a thing that controls or influences what happens — often + of • Level of education is often a determinant of income.

de·ter·mi·nate /dɪ'təmənət/ adj, formal : definitely known or decided • a determinate period of time — opposite INDETERMINATE

de·ter·mi·na·tion /dɪ,təmə'neɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : a quality that makes you continue trying to do or achieve something that is difficult • What he lacked in talent he made up for in determination. • dogged/fierce/steely/stubborn determination — often followed by to + verb • We all respected her fierce determination to succeed. — see also SELF-DETERMINATION

2 formal : the act of finding out or calculating something [count] age determinations — often + of • They were unable to make an accurate determination of the ship's position. [noncount] The new instruments allow for more precise determination of the size of the tumor.

3 formal : the act of officially deciding something [noncount] The document will be used for determination of ownership. [count] judicial determinations • The inspectors made the determination that the building was unsafe. [=they determined/decided that the building was unsafe]

de·ter·mine /dɪ'təmən/ verb -mines; -mined; -min·ing [+ obj]

1 a : to officially decide (something) especially because of evidence or facts : to establish (something) exactly or with authority • The town has finally determined ownership of the land. = The town has finally determined who owns the land. • The new policy will be determined by a special committee.

b : to be the cause of or reason for (something) • The demand for a product determines its price. • He believes that one's personality is determined mostly by genetics. ♦ A determining factor is a reason to make a particular choice or decision. • Price was the determining factor in their decision.

2 : to learn or find out (something) by getting information • An autopsy will be performed to determine the cause of death. • They are unable to accurately determine the ship's position at this time. • Scholars have determined that the book was written in the late 16th century. • I am trying to determine what happened and when.

3 formal : to make a decision : DECIDE • They are determining if/whether they should stay. • They determined to leave immediately. • He determined [=resolved] that he would learn a foreign language.

determined adj [more ~; most ~]

1 not used before a noun : having a strong feeling that you are going to do something and that you will not allow anyone or anything to stop you — often followed by to + verb • They are determined to find out the cause of the accident. • Her early failures made her even more determined to succeed. • We are determined not to let it happen again. • We were bound and determined [=very determined] to finish the project on time. — often + that • We are determined that it will never happen again.

2 : not weak or uncertain : having or showing determination to do something • He is a very determined [=resolute] opponent. • We are making a determined effort to correct our mistakes. • a determined smile

— de·ter·mined·ly adv • They fought determinedly for a new trial. • She is a determinedly cheerful hostess.

de·ter·mi·ner /dɪ'təmənər/ noun, pl -ers [count] grammar : a word (such as "a," "the," "some," "any," "my," or "your") that comes before a noun and is used to show which thing is being referred to de·ter·min·ism /dɪ'təmə'nɪzəm/ noun [noncount] philosophy : the belief that all events are caused by things that happened before them and that people have no real ability to make choices or control what happens

— de·ter·min·ist /dɪ'təmənɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] — de·ter·min·is·tic /dɪ,tə'mənɪstɪk/ or determinist adj • a deterministic view of life • determinist philosophers

de·ter·rence /dɪ'tərəns/ noun [noncount] formal

1 : the act of making someone decide not to do something : the act of preventing a particular act or behavior from happening • the deterrence of crime

2 politics : the policy of developing a lot of military power so that other countries will not attack your country • The author argues that deterrence is no longer the best way to prevent war. • nuclear deterrence

de·ter·rent /dɪ'tərənt/ noun, pl -rents [count] : something that makes someone decide not to do something • We would like to go, but cost is a major deterrent. • The security alarm is a theft deterrent. • a crime deterrent — often + to or against • They argued over whether the death penalty is an effective deterrent to murder. • They hope that the new law will be a deterrent against false advertising.

— deterrent /dɪ'tərənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] • They hope that the new law will have a deterrent effect.

de·test /dɪ'test/ verb -tests; -test·ed; -test·ing [+ obj] formal : to dislike (someone or something) very strongly • Those two really seem to detest [=hate, despise] each other. • She detested [=loathed] living in the city.

de·test·able /dɪ'testəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : causing or deserving strong dislike : deserving to be detested • He found her selfish attitude detestable. [=contemptible, despicable] • He is a detestable villain.

— de·test·ably /dɪ'testəbli/ adv • a detestably cruel act de·throne /dɪ'θroun/ verb -thrones; -throned; -thron·ing [+ obj] : to take away the power and authority of (a king or queen) : to remove (a king or queen) from power — now usually used figuratively • Last year's champion was dethroned in the first round of the play-offs.

— de·throne·ment /dɪ'θrounmənt/ noun [noncount] • the dethronement of the queen/champion det·o·nate /'detŋ,eɪt/ verb -nates; -nat·ed; -nat·ing : to explode or to cause (something, such as a bomb) to explode [no obj] They knew that the bomb could detonate [=blow up] at any time. [+ obj] The first atomic bomb was detonated in 1945.

— det·o·na·tion /,detŋ'eɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount]

det·o·na·tor /'detŋ,eɪtər/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a device that is used to make a bomb explode

¹de·tour /'di:tʊər/ noun, pl -tours [count]

1 : the act of going or traveling to a place along a way that is different from the usual or planned way • After a number of unexpected detours, we finally arrived at our destination. • The little restaurant is worth a detour. • We had to make a detour around the heaviest traffic. • We took a detour from the main streets. — often used figuratively • After teaching for many years, he made a brief detour into professional cooking. [=he worked as a cook for a short period of time] • The conversation took a detour onto another topic.

2 US : a road, highway, etc., that you travel on when the the usual way of traveling cannot be used • The road is closed ahead, so traffic will have to follow the detour. • a detour sign/route — called also (Brit) diversion

²detour verb -tours; -toured; -tour·ing US

1 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to go along a way that is different from and usually longer than the usual or planned way • We detoured around the heaviest traffic. — often used figuratively • After teaching for many years, he briefly detoured into professional cooking.

2 [+ obj] a : to make (someone or something) go in a direction that is not planned or expected • A police officer was detouring traffic around the scene of the accident. • Traffic will be detoured to 72nd Street. — often used figuratively • Her athletic career was detoured by a series of injuries. b : to avoid (something) by going around it • Commuters are being advised to detour [=bypass] this section of the road. — often used figuratively • You can detour the whole process by applying online.

de·tox /'di:tə:ks/ noun, pl -tox·es informal : special treatment that helps a person to stop using drugs or alcohol [noncount] He spent one week in detox. • The famous writer recently went into detox. [count] She has been through two detoxes in the past year. — often used before another noun • a detox center/clinic/program

de·tox·i·fy /dɪ'tə:ksə,fai/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy·ing [+ obj]

1 : to remove a poisonous or harmful substance from (something) • a special tea that is supposed to detoxify the body

2 : to cause (someone) to stop using drugs or alcohol by providing special help and treatment • a drug addict who is being detoxified

— de·tox·i·fi·ca·tion /dɪ,tə:ksəfə'keɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the detoxification of drug addicts — often used before another noun • a detoxification [=detox] process/program

de·tract /dɪ'trækt/ verb -tracts; -tract·ed; -tract·ing

detract from [phrasal verb] detract from (something) formal : to reduce the strength, value, or importance of (something) • They worried that the scandal would seriously detract from [=diminish, hurt] her chances for reelection. • The overcooked vegetables detracted somewhat from an otherwise fine meal.

de-trac-tor /di'træktə/ noun, pl -tors [count] formal : a person who criticizes something or someone • Despite his popularity, his many detractors [=critics] still think his work is overrated. • Even her detractors had to admit that she had made the company successful.

de-train /di'trein/ verb -trains; -trained; -train-ing [no obj] : to get off a train • They were the first passengers to de-train.

det-ri-ment /'detrəmənt/ noun, formal

1 [count] : something that will cause damage or injury to something or someone — usually singular; often + to • He saw the new regulations as a detriment to progress.

2 [noncount] : the act of causing damage or injury to something or someone • He puts all his time into his career, to the detriment of [=in a way that is harmful to] his personal life. • relying on bad advice, much to your detriment [=in a way that is harmful to you] — often + to • She was able to work long hours without detriment to her health. [=without harming her health] det-ri-men-tal /,detrə'mentl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : causing damage or injury • The detrimental [=harmful] effects of overeating are well known. — often + to • She argues that watching too much TV is detrimental to a child's intellectual and social development.

— det-ri-men-tal-ly adv

de-tri-tus /di'traitəs/ noun [noncount] formal : the pieces that are left when something breaks, falls apart, is destroyed, etc. • the debris of ancient civilizations • As he packed, he sifted through the debris of a failed relationship.

deuce /'du:s, Brit 'dju:s/ noun, pl deuces

1 [count] chiefly US, informal : a playing card that has the number two on it or two symbols on it • a pair of deuces [=twos]

2 tennis : a situation in which each side has a score of 40 [count] She beat her opponent after eight deuces. [noncount] The score is deuce.

3 [singular] old-fashioned + informal — used to make a question or statement more forceful • Who the deuce [=devil, hell] was that? • We've had a deuce of a time finding a good doctor. [=it has been very difficult to find a good doctor]

de-us ex ma-chi-na /'dejəs,eks'mɑ:kɪnə/ noun [singular] : a character or thing that suddenly enters the story in a novel, play, movie, etc., and solves a problem that had previously seemed impossible to solve deutsche mark or deutsch-mark /'dɔɪʃ,mæək/ noun, pl ~ marks [count] : a basic unit of money that was formerly used in Germany; also : a coin or bill representing one deutsche mark — called also mark, German mark

de-val-ue /di'vælju/ verb -ues; -ued; -u-ing

1 finance : to lower the value of a country's money so that it is worth less when it is traded with another country's money [+ obj] The government has decided to devalue its currency. [no obj] Economic woes forced the government to devalue.

2 [+ obj] : to cause (something or someone) to seem or to be less valuable or important • He argues that placing too many requirements on schools devalues the education they provide. • Domestic work is often devalued. [=undervalued]

— de-val-u-a-tion /di,væljə'weɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [noncount] attempts to avoid devaluation [count] currency devaluations

dev-as-tate /'devəsteɪt/ verb -tates; -tat-ed; -tat-ing [+ obj]

1 : to destroy much or most of (something) : to cause great damage or harm to (something) • The flood devastated the town. • The disease has devastated the area's oak tree population. • The hurricane left the island completely devastated. • The town was devastated [=ruined] when the factory closed.

2 : to cause (someone) to feel extreme emotional pain — usually used as (be) devastated • She was devastated by the breakup of her marriage.

— dev-as-ta-tion /,devə'steɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • economic devastation • the devastation of war [=the damage and destruction caused by war]

devastating adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : causing great damage or harm • It was a devastating flood. • a rare but devastating disease • devastating consequences — often + to • The fall in prices dealt a devastating blow to the company.

2 : causing extreme emotional pain • The news was devastating. • They suffered a devastating loss.

3 : extremely effective or powerful • The movie is a devastat- ing satire of the current political scene. • a writer known for his devastating wit

— dev-as-tat-ing-ly adv • a devastatingly accurate portrayal

de-vel-op /di'veləp/ verb -ops; -oped; -op-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to cause (something) to grow or become bigger or more advanced • She has been exercising regularly to de-velop her back muscles. • The story was later developed into a novel. • The island has developed its economy around tourism. • The course is designed to develop your writing skills.

b [no obj] : to grow or become bigger or more advanced • A blossom develops from a bud. • The doctor says that the child is developing normally. • In this class, we will be learning about how languages develop. — often + into • In a short time, the town developed into a city.

2 [+ obj] : to create (something) over a period of time • Scientists are developing a treatment for the disease. • The company has developed a new method for recycling old tires.

3 [+ obj] : to make (an idea, argument, theory, etc.) easier to understand by giving more information • He develops the concept/theory more fully in his book. • You need to develop your argument more.

4 [no obj] : to gradually begin to exist • A dangerous situation is developing. • Romantic relationships often develop between coworkers. • Towns developed along this trade route hundreds of years ago.

5 [+ obj] : to gradually begin to have (something) • As he grew older he developed [=acquired] a taste for expensive wines. • She developed an interest in music when she was just a child. • He developed a close relationship with her.

6 [+ obj] : to begin to suffer from or be affected by (an illness, problem, etc.) • people who develop cancer late in life • The patient later developed a cough. • At some point the pipe developed a leak.

7 [no obj] chiefly US : to become known or understood • The facts of what had happened slowly developed over the next several days. • It eventually developed [=turned out] that he had forgotten to mail the package.

8 [+ obj] a : to build houses or other buildings on (land) • A builder wants to develop a large piece of land along the river. b : to make (something) available for use • The government plans to develop the natural resources of this region.

9 [+ obj] : to make a photograph from (film) by using special chemicals and a special process • Our vacation pictures should be developed by tomorrow. • Did you get the film developed yet?

— de-vel-op-able /di'veləpəbəl/ adj • developable land developed adj [more ~; most ~]

1 of a country, society, etc. : having many industries and relatively few poor people who are unable to buy the things they need • The disease is almost unheard of in developed countries. — opposite DEVELOPING, UNDERDEVELOPED

2 : larger or more advanced • Many dogs have a highly developed sense of smell. [=a very strong sense of smell] • The younger plant has a less developed root system.

de-vel-op-er /di'veləpə/ noun, pl -ers : a person or thing that develops something: such as a [count] : a person or company that builds and sells houses or other buildings on a piece of land • a real estate developer b [count] : a person or company that creates computer software • a software developer c [noncount] : a chemical that is used to develop photographs developing adj, always used before a noun

1 : having few industries and many poor people who are unable to buy the things they need • international programs to assist developing [=underdeveloped] nations — opposite DEVELOPED

2 : growing larger or more advanced • a developing embryo • the developing crisis

de-vel-op-ment /di'veləpmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 [noncount] : the act or process of growing or causing something to grow or become larger or more advanced • Good nutrition is important for proper muscle development. • efforts to promote economic development [=growth] • experts in child development • The company offers many opportunities for professional/personal/career development. — often + of • the development of the English language • The vitamin may help prevent the development of cancer.

2 [noncount] a : the act or process of creating something over a period of time • The software is still in the early stages of development. — often + of • The company is working on (the) development of a new method for recycling old tires. — see also RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT b : the state of being created or made more advanced • The new system is still under development. [=being developed] • She has a number of projects in development. [=informal] in the works]

3 [count] : something that has happened or has become known • I try to keep up with the latest developments in computer technology. • Have there been any new developments in the case?

4 a [count] : an area of land with buildings that were all built at around the same time • a condominium development • new commercial and industrial developments — see also HOUSING DEVELOPMENT b [noncount] : the process of building a group of houses or other buildings on an area of land • A large piece of land along the river was sold for development.

5 [noncount] : the chemical process by which photographic film is used to make a photograph • chemicals used for the development of film

de·vel·op·men·tal /diˌveləp'mentl/ adj

1 : of or relating to the growth or development of someone or something • A drop in temperature can slow the plant's developmental process. • developmental biology/psychology • a child with developmental abnormalities/defects/disabilities/problems • My theory is still in its developmental stage.

2 : designed to help a child grow or learn • developmental toys

— de·vel·op·men·tal·ly adv • a developmentally disabled child [=a child who is not able to develop in the normal way because of a physical or mental problem]

1 de·vi·ant /'di:vijənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : different from what is considered to be normal or morally correct • a deviant lifestyle • a study of deviant behavior among criminals

— de·vi·ance /'di:vijəns/ also de·vi·an·cy /'di:vijənsi/ noun [noncount] • sexual deviance/deviancy

2 deviant noun, pl -ants [count] : a person who behaves in a way that most people consider to be not normal or morally correct • a sexual deviant

de·vi·ate /'di:vɪˌeɪt/ verb -ates; -at·ed; -at·ing [no obj] : to do something that is different or to be different from what is usual or expected — usually + from • He almost never deviates from his usual routine. • The investigation showed that the airplane had deviated [=strayed] from its scheduled route. • This pattern of behavior deviates slightly from the norm.

de·vi·a·tion /ˌdi:vɪˈeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : an action, behavior, or condition that is different from what is usual or expected [count] There have been slight deviations in the satellite's orbit. • Having juice instead of coffee was a deviation from his usual routine. [noncount] The pattern's deviation from the norm is significant. • The book discusses sexual deviation [=deviance] in serial killers.

2 [count] technical : the difference between the average of a group of numbers and a particular number in that group

de·vice /dɪˈvaɪs/ noun, pl -vic·es [count]

1 : an object, machine, or piece of equipment that has been made for some special purpose • mechanical devices • The store sells TVs, VCRs, and other electronic devices. • a hidden recording device

2 : a weapon that explodes • an explosive device [=a bomb] • agreeing to dismantle all nuclear devices

3 : something that is done in order to achieve a particular effect • a marketing device • a useful mnemonic device for remembering the names of the planets • The company's method of tracking expenses is just a device to make it seem more profitable.

4 : something in a book, play, poem, movie, etc., that is used to achieve a particular effect • He is known for his use of irony and other literary devices. • a contrived plot device • the play's use of traditional comic devices such as slapstick leave you to your own devices ✧ If someone leaves you to your own devices or you are left to your own devices, you are allowed to do what you want or what you are able to do without being controlled or helped by anyone else. • The students were left to their own devices when the teacher failed to appear on time. • Left to its own devices, the school would accept only the most advanced students.

dev·il /'devl/ noun, pl -ils

1 a the Devil : the most powerful spirit of evil in Christianity, Judaism, and Islam who is often represented as the ruler of hell • He went to the Halloween party dressed up as the Devil. [=Satan] b [count] : an evil spirit • an imaginary world haunted by ghosts and devils [=demons]

2 [count] informal a : a person who does bad things or causes trouble usually in a way that is not too serious • She is a tricky devil, so be careful. • Those kids can be little devils

sometimes. b : a person (especially a man) who is lucky, unlucky, etc. • The poor devil [=poor guy] broke his leg on the first day of his skiing vacation. • He's such a lucky devil that he'll probably win the lottery someday.

3 the devil informal — used to make a statement or question more forceful • What the devil are you talking about? • Where the devil have you been?

4 [singular] informal : something that is very difficult or that causes a lot of trouble • The shoes look great, but they're the devil to walk in. [=they are very difficult to walk in] — usually used in the phrase a devil of • The new regulations have created a devil of a problem [=a very difficult problem] for many small businesses. • He had a devil of a time getting another job. [=he found it very difficult to get another job] — see also the devil to pay at ¹PAY be a devil Brit, informal — used to tell someone who is not sure about doing something to go ahead and do it • “I don't know if I should eat anything else.” “Oh, go on, be a devil, order dessert!”

better the devil you know than the devil you don't — used to say that it is better to deal with a difficult person or situation you know than with a new person or situation that could be worse between the devil and the deep blue sea old-fashioned : in a situation that is difficult because you must choose between two unpleasant things • She felt caught between the devil and the deep blue sea. [=in a very bad situation]

go to the devil informal — used to forcefully and rudely tell someone to go away and leave you alone • She angrily told him to go to the devil. [=more commonly] go to hell] like the devil informal 1 : very much • I'm sorry to hear about your injury. It must hurt like the devil. 2 : with a lot of energy and speed • He ran like the devil. [=he ran very fast] speak/talk of the devil informal — used in speech to say that someone you have been talking about has unexpectedly appeared • “Well, speak of the devil! We were just talking about you!”

dev·iled (US) or Brit dev·illed /'devld/ adj, always used before a noun : spicy or highly seasoned • deviled eggs/ham dev·il·ish /'devlɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : evil and cruel • a devilish [=sinister] villain • devilish [=diabolical] tricks

2 : showing a desire to cause trouble but in a way that is not serious • She was attracted by his devilish charm. • There was a devilish look of mischief in her eyes. • a devilish [=mischievous] grin have a devilish time informal + somewhat old-fashioned : to have a difficult time doing something • We had a devilish time finding a parking space.

— dev·il·ish·ly /'devlɪʃli/ adv • a devilishly cruel villain • a devilishly attractive man • a devilishly [=very] hard/difficult problem dev·il·may·care /ˌdevlˌmeɪˈkeə/ adj [more ~; most ~] : relaxed and without worry • He has a devil-may-care attitude about life.

dev·il·ment /'devlmənt/ noun [noncount] chiefly Brit, formal : behavior that causes trouble • engaging in all kinds of devilment [=mischief] : a desire to cause trouble • Ruffians were breaking windows out of sheer devilment.

devil's advocate noun, pl ~ -cates [count] : a person who expresses an opinion that disagrees with others so that there will be an interesting discussion about some issue • Teachers often play devil's advocate to provoke discussion in the classroom.

devil's food cake noun, pl ~ cakes [count, noncount] US : a sweet chocolate cake — compare ANGEL FOOD CAKE

de·vi·ous /'di:vɪəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : willing to lie and trick people in order to get what is wanted • a dishonest and devious politician • The company was accused of using devious [=dishonest, deceptive] methods/ways to get the contract.

2 formal : not straight or direct : having many twists and turns • He took us by a devious route to the center of the city.

— de·vi·ous·ly adv — de·vi·ous·ness noun [noncount] de·vise /dɪˈvaɪz/ verb -vis·es; -vised; -vis·ing [+ obj] : to invent or plan (something that is difficult or complicated) • They have devised a new method for converting sunlight into electricity. • She is accused of devising [=hatching] a plot to overthrow the government.

de·void /dɪˈvɔɪd/ adj

devoid of : not having (something usual or expected) : completely without (something) • He is devoid of (any) ambition. [=he has no ambition] • The landscape seems to be completely devoid of life.

de·vo·lu·tion /ˌdɛvəˈluːʃən/ noun [noncount] : the act or process by which a central government gives power, property, etc., to local groups or governments • devolution of power

de·volve /dɪˈvɔːlv/ verb -volves; -volved; -volv·ing formal

1 [no obj] chiefly US : to gradually go from an advanced state to a less advanced state • She cynically asserts that our species is devolving. • Somehow the debate devolved into a petty competition to see who could get more applause.

— opposite EVOLVE

2 : to pass (responsibility, power, etc.) from one person or group to another person or group at a lower level of authority — + to, on, or upon [+obj] Community leaders hope that the new government will devolve more power to/on/upon the community itself. [no obj] Responsibility has devolved to/upon the individual teachers.

3 [no obj] : to be given to someone after the owner has died — + to, on, or upon • Upon his death, the estate devolved to/on/upon a distant cousin. [=a distant cousin inherited the estate]

de·vote /dɪˈvout/ verb -votes; -vot·ed; -vot·ing devote to [phrasal verb] devote (something) to (something or someone) : to decide that (something) will be used for (a special purpose) : to use (time, money, energy, attention, etc.) for (something) • They devote [=dedicate] an hour every day to worship. • She plans to devote part of her vacation to reading. • Some of the money they raise will be devoted to repairing the church's roof. • Part of the class was devoted to questions from last week's reading. • The magazine will devote an entire issue to this year's winner of the Nobel Peace Prize. • He devoted [=dedicated] his life/time to helping the poor. = He devoted himself to helping the poor. [=he used his time, energy, etc., to help the poor] • She devoted herself to her family.

devoted adj [more ~; most ~] : having strong love or loyalty for something or someone • a rock star's most devoted fans • The author's devoted [=loyal, faithful] readers have been eagerly waiting for the new book. • The TV show has a devoted following. — often + to • He remains devoted to his wife. • Her grandchildren are devoted to her.

— de·vot·ed·ly adv • They worked devotedly [=faithfully] to help him win reelection.

dev·o·tee /dɛˌvouˈtiː/ noun, pl -tees [count]

1 : a person who enjoys or is interested in something very much • The nightclub is popular among jazz devotees. — often + of • She is a devotee of Italian cooking. • a devotee of the arts

2 : a person who has very strong loyalty to a particular religion or religious figure • a group of religious devotees

de·vo·tion /dɪˈvouʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [singular] : a feeling of strong love or loyalty : the quality of being devoted • acts of devotion • She has cared for the poor with selfless devotion. • The devotion they felt for each other was obvious. — often + to • I admire his devotion to his wife. • She has a strong devotion to the cause.

2 [noncount] : the use of time, money, energy, etc., for a particular purpose • The project will require the devotion of a great deal of time and money.

3 devotions [plural] : prayer, worship, or other religious activities that are done in private rather than in a religious service • They spend an hour each morning at their devotions.

de·vo·tion·al /dɪˈvouʃənəl/ adj : relating to or used in religious services • devotional music/literature

de·vour /dɪˈvawə/ verb -vours; -voured; -vour·ing [+obj]

1 : to quickly eat all of (something) especially in a way that shows that you are very hungry • He devoured everything on his plate. • The lions devoured their prey. synonyms see EAT

2 : to enjoy (something) in a way that shows you are excited about it: such as a : to read (something) quickly and with much enthusiasm • She devoured every golf magazine she could find. b : to look at (something) with much enjoyment or enthusiasm • He watched intently, devouring the scene before him with his eyes.

3 : to destroy (something) completely • The forest was devoured [=consumed] by fire.

4 of an emotion : to greatly affect or control (someone) • Jealousy devoured [=consumed] him. — usually used as (be) devoured • She was devoured by guilt/remorse.

de·vout /dɪˈvaut/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : deeply religious : devoted to a particular religion • They are devout Catholics.

2 a : loyal to something : devoted to a particular belief, organization, person, etc. • His parents are devout [=staunch] believers in the value of a good education. b : serious and sincere • It is his devout wish to help people in need.

— de·vout·ly adv • a devoutly religious family • It is a thing devoutly to be wished. [=a thing worth wishing for; a thing you want very much to happen]

dew /ˈduː, Brit ˈdjuː/ noun [noncount] : drops of water that form outside at night on grass, trees, etc. • The grass was wet with the morning dew.

dew·drop /ˈduːˌdra:p, Brit ˈdjuːˌdrop/ noun, pl -drops [count] : a drop of dew dew point noun [count] technical : the temperature at which the moisture in the air forms visible drops of water : the temperature at which dew forms • It's 78° outside and the dew point is 63°.

dewy /ˈduːwi, Brit ˈdjuːwi/ adj : wet with dew or with something like dew • a dewy meadow • dewy eyes

dewy-eyed /ˈduːwiˌaɪd, Brit ˈdjuːwiˌaɪd/ adj, usually disappearing

1 : showing too much emotion • the author's dewy-eyed [=sentimental] nostalgia • He gets annoyed by people who get all dewy-eyed [=teary-eyed] at weddings.

2 : young and innocent • a dewy-eyed adolescent

dex·ter·i·ty /dɛkˈsterəti/ noun [noncount]

1 a : the ability to use your hands skillfully • The job requires manual dexterity. • He has the dexterity needed to deal cards quickly. b : the ability to easily move in a way that is graceful • The amazing dexterity of the acrobat.

2 formal : clever skill : the ability to think and act quickly and cleverly • He's a teacher known for his imagination and verbal dexterity. • political dexterity [=adroitness]

dex·ter·ous also dex·trous /ˈdɛkstrəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : having or showing great skill or cleverness : showing dexterity • They praised her dexterous handling of the crisis. • The movie is a dexterous retelling of a classic love story. • a dexterous maneuver • a dexterous carpenter

— dex·ter·ous·ly also dex·trous·ly adv • The various elements of the book have been dexterously combined.

dex·trose /ˈdɛkˌstrɔːs/ noun [noncount] technical : a kind of sugar found in fruits, plants, etc. : a form of glucose

DH /ˈdiːərʃ/ noun, pl DHs [count] baseball : DESIGNATED HITTER

dhow /ˈdaʊ/ noun, pl dhows [count] : an Arab boat that is low in the front, high in the back, and that usually has one or two sails that are shaped like triangles di- prefix, chemistry : containing two atoms or groups of a specified kind • carbon dioxide di·a·be·tes /ˌdajəˈbiːtiz/ noun [noncount] medical : a serious disease in which the body cannot properly control the amount of sugar in your blood because it does not have enough insulin

¹di·a·bet·ic /ˌdajəˈbetɪk/ adj

1 : affected with diabetes • new drugs for treating diabetic patients • He became diabetic [=he developed diabetes] in his old age.

2 : caused by diabetes • a diabetic coma

3 : suitable for people with diabetes • a diabetic diet

²diabetic noun, pl -ics [count] : a person who has diabetes di·a·bol·i·cal /ˌdajəˈbɔːlɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 also di·a·bol·ic /ˌdajəˈbɔːlɪk/ : extremely evil • a diabolical [=fiendish, devilish] enemy ♦ Diabolical often describes a plot, scheme, etc., that is very clever and that is intended for an evil purpose. • a diabolical plot to overthrow the government

2 Brit, informal : very unpleasant, bad, or annoying • The party was awful: the guests were boring and the food was diabolical. [=awful, terrible]

— di·a·bol·i·cal·ly /ˌdajəˈbɔːlɪkli/ adv • a diabolically clever plan di·a·crit·ic /ˌdajəˈkrɪtɪk/ noun, pl -ics [count] technical : a mark that is placed over, under, or through a letter in some languages to show that the letter should be pronounced in a particular way • Two diacritics appear in the word “déjà vu.”

di·a·dem /ˌdajəˈdɛm/ noun, pl -dems [count] literary : a crown that is worn especially by a king or queen as a symbol of royalty di·ag·nose /ˈdajəɡˌnɔːs/ verb -nos·es; -nosed; -nos·ing [+obj]

1 a : to recognize (a disease, illness, etc.) by examining someone • The test is used to help in diagnosing heart disease. • Thousands of new cases have been diagnosed in the past year. • The doctor was unable to diagnose the skin condition. — often + as • The tumor was diagnosed as benign. • Her illness was incorrectly diagnosed as a bacterial infection.
b : to recognize a disease, illness, etc., in (someone) • a new doctor with little experience diagnosing patients • She was diagnosed as having cancer. = She was diagnosed with cancer.
2 : to find the cause of (a problem) • The mechanic was unable to diagnose the problem. — often + as • The mechanic diagnosed the problem as a faulty spark plug.

di-ag-no-sis /ˌdajəɡˈnəʊsəs/ noun, pl -no-ses /ˌdajəɡˈnəʊsɪz/

1 [noncount] : the act of identifying a disease, illness, or problem by examining someone or something • The unusual combination of symptoms made accurate diagnosis difficult. • She is an expert in the diagnosis and treatment of eye diseases.

2 [count] : a statement or conclusion that describes the reason for a disease, illness, or problem • The diagnosis was a mild concussion. • His doctor made an initial diagnosis of pneumonia. • The committee published its diagnosis of the problems affecting urban schools. — compare PROGNOSIS di-ag-nos-tic /ˌdajəɡˈnɔːstɪk/ adj, technical : of, relating to, or used in diagnosis : used to help identify a disease, illness, or problem • diagnostic tests for cancer • Ultrasound is now widely used as a diagnostic tool. • One important diagnostic feature of this condition is a mild rash.

di-ag-nos-tics /ˌdajəɡˈnɔːstɪks/ noun [plural] technical : the skill or practice of identifying illnesses or problems : methods used for diagnosis • This technology could revolutionize medical diagnostics. • automotive diagnostics

1 di-ag-o-nal /daɪˈæɡənəl/ adj

1 of a straight line : joining two opposite corners of a shape (such as a square or rectangle) especially by crossing the center point of the shape • Draw a diagonal line. — compare HORIZONTAL, VERTICAL

2 : not going straight across or up and down • The blanket is covered with diagonal stripes. • a diagonal pattern

— di-ag-o-nal-ly adv • diagonally striped • The stone wall runs diagonally across the field.

2 diagonal noun, pl -nals [count] : a diagonal line, direction, or pattern • a design with strong diagonals • The stone wall cuts across the field on a diagonal [=diagonally] • Slice the vegetables on the diagonal [=diagonally]

1 di-a-gram /ˈdajəɡræm/ noun, pl -grams [count] : a drawing that explains or shows the parts of something • a diagram of the nervous system • This diagram shows how the clock operates.

— di-a-gram-mat-ic /ˌdajəɡrəˈmætɪk/ adj • a diagrammatic representation of the nervous system — di-a-gram-mat-i-cal-ly /ˌdajəɡrəˈmætɪkli/ adv

2 diagram verb -grams; -grammed or -gramed; -gramming or -gram-ing [+ obj] US : to show or explain (something) in a diagram • The coach diagrammed the new play on the blackboard. • The students were required to diagram a sentence.

1 di-al /ˈdajəl/ noun, pl di-als [count]

1 a : the part of a clock or watch that has the numbers on it • a clock with a shiny silver dial [=face] — see also SUNDIAL
b : the part of a piece of equipment that shows the measurement of something with a moving piece (such as a needle) that points to a number • the dial of a pressure gauge

2 : a round part on a piece of equipment that you turn to operate something: such as a : a round control on a radio or television that you use to select a station or channel or to make the volume louder or quieter • I had to keep adjusting the radio dial to make the station come in clearly. • We'll be back right after this commercial, so don't touch that dial. [=don't change the channel/station] b : a round part of some telephones that you move to select numbers

2 dial verb di-als; US di-aled or Brit di-alled; US di-al-ing or Brit di-al-ling [+ obj]

1 : to select (a series of numbers) on a telephone by turning a dial or pushing buttons • In an emergency you should dial [=call] 911. • I'm sorry. I must have dialed the wrong number.

2 : to make a telephone call to (a person, business, etc.) • She dialed [= (more commonly) called] her office as soon as she got home. • He dialed (up) a friend to say he was in town.

di-a-lect /ˈdajəˌlekt/ noun, pl -lects : a form of a language that is spoken in a particular area and that uses some of its own words, grammar, and pronunciations [count] They speak a southern dialect of French. • peasant/regional/local dialects [noncount] The author uses dialect in his writing. • The play was hard to understand when the characters spoke in dialect

— di-a-lect-tal /ˌdajəˈlektl/ adj • the many dialectal forms of English di-a-lect-tic /ˌdajəˈlektɪk/ also di-a-lect-tics /ˌdajəˈlektɪks/ noun [noncount] philosophy : a method of examining and discussing opposing ideas in order to find the truth

— di-a-lect-ti-cal /ˌdajəˈlektɪkəl/ adj • a dialectical method/philosophy

dialling code noun, pl ~ codes [count] Brit : AREA CODE

dialling tone noun, pl ~ tones [count] Brit : DIAL TONE

dialog box noun, pl ~ boxes [count] computers : a box that appears on a computer screen with a question inside asking the user to make a choice or give information di-a-logue also US di-a-log /ˈdajəˌlɔːɡ/ noun, pl -logues also -logs

1 : the things that are said by the characters in a story, movie, play, etc. [noncount] He is an expert at writing dialogue. • There's very little dialogue in the film. • The best part of the book is the clever dialogue. [count] Students were asked to read dialogues from the play.

2 formal a : a discussion or series of discussions that two groups or countries have in order to end a disagreement [count] The two sides involved in the labor dispute are trying to establish a dialogue. [noncount] The two parties have been in constant dialogue with each other. b [count] : a conversation between two or more people • They had a lengthy dialogue [= (more commonly) talk] about her plans for college.

dial tone noun, pl ~ tones [count] US : the sound that comes from a telephone when it is ready for a call to be made — called also (Brit) dialling tone

dial-up /ˈdajəlˌʌp/ adj, always used before a noun, computers : done using an ordinary telephone line • dial-up Internet access • a dial-up connection di-al-y-sis /daɪˈæləsəs/ noun [noncount] medical : the process of removing some of a person's blood, cleaning it, and then returning it to the person's body • patients undergoing/receiving dialysis • a dialysis machine ♦ People usually receive dialysis when they have damaged kidneys.

di-am-e-ter /daɪˈæmətə/ noun, pl -ters

1 [count] : a straight line from one side of something (such as a circle) to the other side that passes through the center point • The dotted line indicates the diameter of the circle. — see picture at GEOMETRY

2 : the distance through the center of something from one side to the other [count] What is the diameter of the tree trunk? • a pipe with a diameter of two inches = a pipe with a two-inch diameter [noncount] Dig a hole that's two feet deep and three feet in diameter. — compare RADIUS di-a-met-ri-cal-ly /ˌdajəˈmetrɪkli/ adv : completely or entirely • His position on the issue is diametrically opposed to that of his partner. [=his position is the exact opposite of his partner's position] • They grew up in diametrically opposite [=completely different] environments.

1 di-a-mond /ˈdaɪmənd/ noun, pl -monds

1 : a very hard usually colorless stone that is a form of carbon and is used especially in jewelry [count] a necklace studded with diamonds and rubies • Her husband gave her a diamond [=a diamond ring] for her birthday. [noncount] The ruby was surrounded by a ring of diamond. — often used before another noun • a diamond mine/ring — see color picture on page C11

2 [count] : a shape that is formed by four equal straight lines and that has two opposite angles that are smaller than a right angle and two opposite angles that are larger than a right angle • The children cut the fabric into diamonds. — compare SQUARE

3 a [count] : a playing card that is marked with a red diamond shape • one heart, two diamonds, and two clubs — see picture at PLAYING CARD b diamonds [plural] : the suit in a deck of playing cards that is marked by red diamond shapes • He played the queen of diamonds. — compare CLUB, HEART, SPADE

4 [count] a : the part of a baseball field that includes the area within and around the three bases and home plate : IN-

diamond

FIELD • The infielders warmed up by throwing the ball around the diamond. • b : the entire playing field in baseball • It's sad to see the town's old baseball diamond deserted.

²diamond adj., always used before a noun : of or relating to the 60th or 75th anniversary of an important event (such as a marriage) • The couple celebrated their diamond (wedding) anniversary a few months ago. = (Brit) They celebrated their diamond wedding. • the celebration of Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee in 1897 ♦ It is more common for diamond to refer to the 60th anniversary of something. — compare GOLDEN, SILVER

diamond in the rough noun, pl diamonds in the rough [count] US

1 : a person who has talent or other good qualities but who is not polite, educated, socially skilled, etc. — called also (Brit) rough diamond

2 : something that is in poor condition but that is likely to become valuable with appropriate care or attention • The house is a diamond in the rough, and with some hard work it will be really beautiful.

¹di-a-per /'daɪpə/ noun, pl -pers [count] US : a piece of cloth or other material that is placed between a baby's legs and fastened around the waist to hold body waste • disposable diapers • changing a baby's diaper — called also (Brit) nappy

²diaper verb -pers; -pered; -per-ing [+ obj] US : to put a diaper on (someone) • diaper a baby diaper rash noun [noncount] US : sore red spots that sometimes form on the area of a baby's skin that a diaper covers — called also (Brit) nappy rash

di-aph-a-nous /daɪ'æfənəs/ adj., formal — used to describe cloth that is very thin and light • a diaphanous scarf • diaphanous fabrics di-a-phragm /'dajəfræm/ noun, pl -phragms [count]

1 medical : a large flat muscle that separates the lungs from the stomach area and that is used in breathing — see picture at HUMAN

2 technical : a device that controls the amount of light passing through the lens of a camera

3 : a device shaped like a cup that is placed in the vagina to prevent pregnancy — called also (Brit) cap

4 technical : a thin disk that is used in microphones, telephones, speakers, etc., to help reproduce sound or make sounds louder di-a-rist /'dajərɪst/ noun, pl -rists [count] : a person who writes a diary di-ar-rhea (US) or chiefly Brit di-ar-rhoea /,dajə'ri:jə/ noun [noncount] medical : an illness that causes you to pass waste from your body very frequently and in liquid rather than solid form • The symptoms of the disease include fever, nausea, and diarrhea.

di-a-ry /'dajəri/ noun, pl -ries [count]

1 : a book in which you write down your personal experiences and thoughts each day • His diaries [=journals] were published after his death. • She kept a diary [=wrote regularly in her diary] while she was traveling in Europe.

2 Brit : DATEBOOK

di-as-po-ra or Di-as-po-ra /daɪ'æspərə/ noun, pl -ras [count] formal : a group of people who live outside the area in which they had lived for a long time or in which their ancestors lived — usually singular • the art of the African/Chinese diaspora • members of the Diaspora [=Jewish people throughout the world who do not live in Israel]

dia-ton-ic /,dajə'ta:nɪk/ adj., music : of or relating to a musical scale that has five whole steps and two semitones • diatonic harmonies/notes • the diatonic scale — compare CHROMATIC di-a-tribe /'dajətraɪb/ noun, pl -tribes [count] formal : an angry and usually long speech or piece of writing that strongly criticizes someone or something • The article is a diatribe against mainstream media. • a bitter diatribe about/on how unfair the tax system is dibs /'dɪbz/ noun [plural] US, informal : the right to have or choose something — usually + on • We stood in line for hours to get/have dibs on the best seats in the theater. • The farm always gives first dibs on its vegetables to local families. [=the farm sells its vegetables to local families before anyone else] • “Dibs on the front seat!” [=I am claiming the front seat for myself]

¹dice /'daɪs/ noun, pl dice

1 [count] : a small cube that is made of plastic, wood, etc., that has one to six dots on each side, and that is used usually in pairs in various games • a pair of dice • Throw the dice. • In this game, each player rolls the dice to see who plays first. • He was caught using a pair of loaded dice. [=dice used for cheating]

2 [noncount] : a gambling game played with dice • They were shooting dice in one of the bar's back rooms.

3 [count] : a small cube • Chop the onions into ¼-inch dice. • a roll of the dice informal — used to say that something could have either a good result or a bad result • Opening a new restaurant is always a roll of the dice. • It's a roll of the dice whether we succeed or fail.

load the dice informal : to unfairly make one possible result more likely than another • We received information that would load the dice in favor of our arguments. • The dice were loaded against them but they still managed to win.

no dice US, informal — used to say that something hoped for or wanted was not possible to do or to get • We hoped that tickets would still be available, but no dice, they were all sold. • I've proposed several different deals, but their response continues to be no dice. [=their response continues to be no]

roll the dice informal : to do something that may have a good result or a bad result : to take a chance • They decided to roll the dice and start their own business.

²dice verb dic-es; diced; dic-ing [+ obj] : to cut (food) into small cubes • Dice the potatoes and add them to the soup.

slice and dice see ²SLICE

— diced adj • diced carrots — dic-er noun, pl -ers [count]

dic-ey /'daɪsi/ adj dic-i-er; -est informal : involving a chance that something bad or unpleasant could happen : RISKY • Starting a business can be quite a dicey proposition. • The weather looks a little dicey this morning. I hope it doesn't rain.

di-chot-o-my /daɪ'kɑ:təmi/ noun, pl -mies [count] formal : a difference between two opposite things : a division into two opposite groups • Her essay discusses the dichotomy between good and evil in the author's novels.

dick /'dɪk/ noun, pl dicks [count]

1 informal + offensive : PENIS

2 informal + offensive : a mean, stupid, or annoying man

3 US, informal + old-fashioned : DETECTIVE • a private dick — see also CLEVER DICK

dick-ens /'dɪkənz/ noun

the dickens informal + old-fashioned — used to make a statement or question more forceful • What the dickens [=the devil] do you mean? • We'll have to work like the dickens [=very hard] to finish this project. • (US) It scared/frightened the dickens out of people. [=scared people very badly] • (US) She's as cute as the dickens. [=she's very cute]

dick-er /'dɪkə/ verb -ers; -ered; -er-ing [no obj] chiefly US : to talk or argue with someone about the conditions of a purchase, agreement, or contract • I tried to dicker for a discounted price. — often + with or over • I don't have time to dicker with you. • They spent hours dickering [=haggling] over the car's price.

dick-head /'dɪk,hed/ noun, pl -heads [count] informal + offensive : a mean, stupid, or annoying man

dicta plural of DICTUM

Dic-ta-phone /'dɪktəfəʊn/ trademark — used for a machine that records a person's spoken words so that the words can be written down later

¹dic-tate /'dɪk,tet/ verb -tates; -tat-ed; -tat-ing [+ obj]

1 : to speak or read (something) to a person who writes it down or to a machine that records it • She's dictating a letter to her secretary.

2 : to say or state (something) with authority or power • They insisted on being able to dictate the terms of surrender.

3 : to make (something) necessary • Our choice of activities will likely be dictated [=determined, controlled] by the weather. • His health dictates [=requires] that he work at home. • Tradition dictates that the youngest member should go first. • The basket's function dictates its size and shape.

dictate to [phrasal verb] dictate to (someone) : to give orders to (someone) — usually used as (be) dictated to • I resent being dictated to by someone with half my experience.

²dictate noun, pl -tates [count] formal

1 : an order or direction given with authority — usually plural • They don't allow any disagreement with the dictates of the party.

2 : a rule or principle that guides something (such as an activity or a person's behavior) — usually plural • She tried to live her life according to the dictates of her conscience. • We pay no attention to the dictates of fashion. • the dictates of common sense

dice

dic-ta-tion /dɪk'teɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : the act of speaking words that someone writes down or that a machine records : the act of dictating words • He used a tape recorder for dictation. • writing from dictation take dictation : to write down the words that someone says so that they can be used in a letter, report, etc. • Her secretary's very good at taking dictation.

dic-ta-tor /dɪk'teɪtər/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a person who rules a country with total authority and often in a cruel or brutal way • The country was ruled by a military dictator. • fascist dictators

dic-ta-to-ri-al /dɪk'tə'tɔːrɪəl/ adj

1 : of, relating to, or ruled by a dictator • a dictatorial ruler [=a ruler who is a dictator] • He was given dictatorial powers. • a dictatorial government • dictatorial regimes

2 [more ~; most ~] disapproving — used to describe a person who tries to control other people in a forceful and unfair way • a dictatorial boss [=a boss who acts like a dictator] • All his students resented his harsh, dictatorial manner.

— dic-ta-to-ri-al-ly adv • behaving dictatorially

dic-ta-tor-ship /dɪk'teɪtərʃɪp/ noun, pl -ships

1 [noncount] : rule by a dictator : rule, control, or leadership by one person with total power • The country suffered for many years under his dictatorship.

2 [count] : a government or country in which total power is held by a dictator or a small group • His enemies accused him of establishing a dictatorship. • a military dictatorship

dic-tion /dɪkʃən/ noun [noncount]

1 : the clearness of a person's speech • The actor's diction was so poor I could hardly understand what he was saying.

2 : the way in which words are used in speech or writing • The student's essay was full of careless diction.

dic-tio-nary /dɪkʃəˈnəri, Brit 'dɪkʃənri/ noun, pl -nar-ies [count]

1 : a reference book that contains words listed in alphabetical order and that gives information about the words' meanings, forms, pronunciations, etc. • an English dictionary • Look it up in the dictionary.

2 : a reference book that lists in alphabetical order the words of one language and shows their meanings or translations in a different language • an English-French dictionary

3 : a reference book that lists in alphabetical order words that relate to a particular subject along with their definitions and uses • a law dictionary • a dictionary of medicine dic-tum /dɪktəm/ noun, pl dic-ta /dɪktə/ also dic-tums [count] formal : a statement or well-known remark that expresses an important idea or rule • A doctor must follow the dictum of "First, do no harm."

did past tense of DO

di-dac-tic /daɪ'dæktɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal

1 : designed or intended to teach people something • didactic poetry

2 usually disapproving — used to describe someone or something that tries to teach something (such as proper or moral behavior) in a way that is annoying or unwanted • Audiences were turned off by the movie's didactic quality.

— di-dac-ti-cal-ly /daɪ'dæktɪkli/ adv

did-dle /dɪdl/ verb did-dles; did-dled; did-dling informal

1 [no obj] US : to spend time doing something or handling something in an aimless way • He spent hours diddling [=fiddling] with the car's engine.

2 [+ obj] Brit : to steal money from (someone) by cheating • He had tried to diddle his insurance agency. • She felt she had been diddled out of her inheritance.

did-dly /dɪdli/ noun [noncount] US slang : DIDDLY-SQUAT • Her contributions don't amount to diddly. [=anything] • He helped us a lot, but she didn't do diddly.

did-dly-squat /dɪdliˈskwa:t/ noun [noncount] US slang : the least amount : anything at all • You don't know diddly-squat about sports. • He loved his job even though it didn't pay diddly-squat.

didn't /dɪdn̩t/ — used as a contraction of did not • I didn't know you were coming.

¹die /daɪ/ verb dies; died; dy-ing /ˈdaɪɪŋ/

1 a [no obj] : to stop living • She claims she's not afraid to die. • More than a hundred people died [=were killed] in the crash. • He died in 1892 at the age of 37. • His mother died

[=passed away, passed on] on April 15. • People in the town began dying suddenly/unexpectedly. • He died in his sleep. [=he died while he was sleeping] • She died in childbirth. [=she died while giving birth to a baby] b [no obj] : to end life in a specified state or condition — followed by an adjective, noun, or noun phrase • He died happy. • They both died young. • She died a hero. • One day, you're going to die a lonely and bitter old man. c [+ obj] : to have or suffer (a specified kind of death) • He died a violent and painful death. • dying a natural death

2 [no obj] : to wish strongly or desperately for something or to do something — used as (be) dying • I'm dying for a cold drink. • They were dying to leave. • We've been dying to see that movie.

3 [no obj] a : to pass out of existence : to come to an end • Her secret died with her. • He's the last of a dying breed. b : to disappear gradually or become less strong • The wind gradually died. [=died away, died down]

4 [no obj] a : to stop working or running • The motor died. b : to end in failure • The bill died in committee. [=the bill was considered and rejected by a committee] die away [phrasal verb] : to disappear gradually or become less strong • The echo slowly died away.

die back [phrasal verb] of a plant : to die in the parts that are above the ground but to remain alive in the roots • The plant dies back every winter and sends up new shoots each spring.

die down [phrasal verb] : to gradually become less strong • The wind will die down in the evening. • She waited for the noise to die down before she started singing.

die hard : to take a long time to die or end : to continue for a long time • Such rumors die hard. • That kind of determination dies hard. — see also DIE-HARD die in bed or die in your bed : to die of disease or old age • After a long and adventurous life, he ended up dying in his bed.

die laughing informal : to laugh for a long time in an uncontrollable way : to laugh very hard • If the guys hear about this, they're going to die laughing.

die of [phrasal verb] die of (something) : to die because of (something) • My uncle died of cancer. • She died of old age. • They say that he died of a broken heart. • I almost died of embarrassment. [=I was extremely embarrassed] ♦ People often say that they are dying of something that causes a lot of discomfort, distress, etc. • Would you like some water? You must be dying of thirst. [=you must be very thirsty] • We're all dying of the heat. [=we're all very hot and uncomfortable] die off [phrasal verb] : to die one after another so that fewer and fewer are left • The remaining members of her family gradually died off. • The animals died off one by one.

die on the vine informal : to fail at an early stage because of a lack of support or enthusiasm • Her plan to run for public office died on the vine.

die out [phrasal verb] : to disappear gradually • Like most fads, this one eventually died out. • The disease gradually died out over the last two generations. • Many more species are expected to die out completely [=to become extinct] unless we do something to help.

never say die — used to encourage someone to continue something or to remain hopeful • It doesn't look good for the team, but never say die. [=but don't give up hope] They could pull off a miracle.

to die for informal : worth dying for : extremely desirable or appealing • Dinner was nothing special, but the dessert was to die for. • The apartment has a view to die for. [=has a great view]

²die /daɪ/ noun [count]

1 pl dice /ˈdaɪs/ : ¹DICE 1 • Each player throws/rolls one die.

2 pl dies /ˈdaɪz/ : a tool that is used for cutting, shaping, or stamping a material or an object the die is cast — used to say that a process or course of action has been started and that it cannot be stopped or changed • Once we signed the contract, the die was cast, and there was no turning back.

die-hard /ˈdaɪˌhɑːd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very determined or loyal • die-hard fans; especially : very loyal to a set of beliefs and not willing to change those beliefs • a die-hard conservative — see also die hard at ¹DIE

— die-hard noun, pl -hards [count] • a bunch of conservative diehards

diem see PER DIEM

die-sel /ˈdiːzəl/ noun, pl -sels

1 [count] : a vehicle (such as a truck or bus) that has a diesel engine • His truck's a diesel.

2 [noncount] : DIESEL FUEL • Does your car take diesel or gasoline?

diesel engine noun, pl ~ -gines [count] : a type of engine that uses diesel fuel rather than gasoline and that is used especially in large vehicles (such as trucks and buses)

diesel fuel noun [noncount] : a type of fuel that is used in vehicles with diesel engines

¹di-et /'dajət/ noun, pl -ets

1 : the food that a person or animal usually eats [count] Diets that are rich in fruits and vegetables have been shown to help prevent disease. • a balanced diet — often + of • Many birds live on a diet of insects. [noncount] studying the association between diet and disease

2 : the kind and amount of food that a person eats for a certain reason (such as to improve health or to lose weight) [noncount] She lost a lot of weight through diet and exercise. [count] a low-fat diet • a liquid diet • He's on a diet. [=he is eating less food or only particular kinds of food in order to lose weight] • He went on a diet and lost 30 pounds in six months.

3 [singular] : something that is provided or experienced repeatedly — + of • We've been given a steady diet of political scandals in recent months.

²diet verb -ets; -et-ed; -et-ing [no obj] : to eat less food or to eat only particular kinds of food in order to lose weight : to be on a diet • I've been dieting for two months.

³diet adj, always used before a noun

1 : having a smaller number of calories than usual • a diet soda

2 : intended to help people lose weight • diet pills di-e-tary /'dajə,teri, Brit 'dajətri/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to a diet • Many of our patients have special dietary needs. • dietary deficiencies di-et-er /'dajətə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who is trying to lose weight : a person who is dieting • I've been an unsuccessful dieter for years. • chronic dieters — called also (Brit) slimmer

di-eti-tian or di-eti-cian /,dajə'tɪʃən/ noun, pl -tians or -cians [count] : a person whose job is to give people advice about what to eat in order to be healthy dif-fer /'dɪfə/ verb -fers; -fered; -fer-ing [no obj]

1 : to be different • Their styles differ. • The two schools differ in their approach to discipline. — often + from • The new version differs significantly from the old one.

2 : to have opinions that don't agree • We differ [=disagree] on/about/over how best to raise the money. — often + with • They differed with each other on religious matters.

agree to differ see AGREE beg to differ see BEG — differing adj [more ~; most ~] • The students had widely differing [=different] interpretations of the poem. • differing views

dif-fer-ence /'dɪfrəns/ noun, pl -enc-es

1 : the quality that makes one person or thing unlike another [noncount] She knows the difference between right and wrong. • There's no difference between the two houses. They look exactly the same. [singular] There's a striking difference in the sisters' looks. [=they look very different from each other] ♦ To tell the difference between two people or things is to see how they are unlike each other. • It's hard to tell the difference [=distinguish] between one action movie and another. • The new version is supposed to be much better than the old one, but I can't tell the difference (between them).

2 [count] : something that people do not agree about : a disagreement in opinion • They've always had their differences. [=they have always disagreed about some things] • The debate gave them a chance to air their differences. [=to discuss the things that they disagree about] • We need to find a way to resolve/settle our differences. [=to stop disagreeing, arguing, etc.] • There seems to be a difference of opinion [=people disagree] about what we should do next. • They divorced because of irreconcilable differences. [=serious disagreements that they were not able to settle]

3 [count] : the degree or amount by which things differ • There's a big difference in price. • There's a 15-year age difference between her oldest and youngest children. [=her oldest child is fifteen years older than her youngest child]

make a difference 1 : to cause a change : to be important in some way • Cost can make a difference in deciding on a college. • "When would you like to leave?" "It makes no difference (to me)." [=it doesn't matter to me; I don't care]

• The weather didn't make any difference in our plans. [=didn't change our plans] • It would make a lot of difference if you came. • Your help made a big difference. • It makes very little difference. [=it matters very little] • The size of the engine can make all the difference. [=can be very important; can matter most] • It may not matter to you, but it makes all the difference in the world to me. = It makes a world of difference to me. [=it matters very much to me] 2 : to do something that is important : to do something that helps people or makes the world a better place • She says that she got into politics because she wanted to make a difference.

same difference chiefly US, informal — used to say that two things are not really different in any important way • "They lost 100 games last year." "Actually, they only lost 96 games." "Same difference. The point is, they were awful."

split the difference see ¹SPLIT

what's the difference? 1 — used to ask how one thing is different from another • "I like this one a lot more than that one." "Why? What's the difference (between them)?"

2 or what difference does it/that make? — used to ask why something is important or to suggest that something is not important • What's the difference whether I go or not? • What difference does it make [=what does it matter] if I go with you?

dif-fer-ent /'dɪfrənt/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : not of the same kind : partly or totally unlike • The two brothers could not have been more different. • The students come from (very) different backgrounds. • We need to try an entirely different approach. — often + from, than, or to • Our house is different from the others on our street. • (US) The movie was different than I expected. • (Brit) Her dress is different to mine.

usage In both U.S. English and British English, one person or thing is said to be different from another. Different is also often followed by than in U.S. English. Some people believe that different than is incorrect, but it is very common. In British English, different can be followed by to. Different to is not used in U.S. English. • The old house looks different from what I remember. = (Brit) The old house looks different to what I remember. = (US) The old house looks different than I remember.

2 always used before a noun : not the same • They met with each other on several different occasions.

3 [more ~; most ~] : not ordinary or common : UNUSUAL • advertising that tries to be different • That movie certainly was different. • He has a very different style of dressing.

a horse of a different color see ¹HORSE

different drummer see DRUMMER put a different complexion on see COMPLEXION

— dif-fer-ent-ly adv • She sees the situation a little differently. • He dresses differently now that he's out of college.

¹dif-fer-en-tial /,dɪfə'renʃəl/ adj, always used before a noun [more ~; most ~] formal : relating to or based on a difference : treating some people or groups differently from others • The law is intended to prevent differential [=discriminatory] treatment of women in the workplace.

— dif-fer-en-tial-ly adv

²differential noun, pl -tials [count]

1 : a difference between people or things • Although there is a small price differential [=a small difference in price], we believe it's worth buying the computer with a faster processor.

2 technical : a gear or an arrangement of gears in a vehicle that allows one wheel to turn faster than another when the vehicle is going around a curve — called also differential gear; see picture at CAR

dif-fer-en-ti-ate /,dɪfə'renʃi,et/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing

1 [+ obj] : to make (someone or something) different in some way • The only thing that differentiates the twins is the color of their eyes. — often + from • Our excellent customer service differentiates us from our competitors.

2 : to see or state the difference or differences between two or more things [no obj] — often + between • We've been learning how to differentiate between different types of plants. [+ obj] — often + from • It's sometimes hard to differentiate one action movie from all the others.

— dif-fer-en-ti-a-tion /,dɪfə'renʃi'eɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

dif-fi-cult /'dɪfɪkəlt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not easy : requiring much work or skill to do or make •

Our last test was extremely difficult. [=hard, tough] • We were asked lots of difficult questions. • I had to make a very difficult decision/choice. • We'll be hiking over difficult terrain. • It's more difficult than it sounds. — often followed by to + verb • It's difficult to imagine why she would do that. — often + for • It is difficult for me to say this, but you have to leave. • She has a cold, which makes it difficult for her to breathe.

2 : not easy to deal with or manage • He gave a good performance under difficult [=trying] circumstances. • I found myself in a difficult position/situation. • Some difficult days lie ahead of us. • He's been having a difficult time coping [=he has not been dealing well] with his father's death. • These changes will make life/things difficult for everyone involved.

3 : not willing to help others by changing your behavior : stubborn or unreasonable • My parents tell me that I was a difficult child. [=I did not obey my parents] • Why do you have to be so difficult? [=uncooperative]

diff-fi-cul-ty /ˈdɪfɪkəlti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the quality of something that makes it hard to do : the difficult nature of something • He has difficulty [=trouble] reading without his glasses. [=it is difficult for him to read without his glasses] • She underestimated the difficulty of saving so much money. • They had some difficulty (in) explaining their behavior. ✧ If something can be done with difficulty, it is difficult to do. • It was only with (great/considerable) difficulty that we were able to continue. ✧ To do something without difficulty is to do it easily or without problems. • I couldn't breathe without difficulty.

2 [count] : something that is not easy to do or to deal with : a difficult situation — usually plural • He had to overcome many difficulties. [=hardships] • Since the election, the country has been facing serious economic/financial difficulties. • This television station is currently experiencing technical difficulties. [=having technical problems]

3 [count] : a disagreement in opinion — usually plural • The partners have been unable to iron out their difficulties. = They haven't been able to resolve their difficulties.

diff-fi-dent /ˈdɪfɪdənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : lacking confidence : not feeling comfortable around people • He becomes diffident [=shy, timid] around girls.

2 : very careful about acting or speaking • She has a diffident [=reserved] manner. • She was diffident about stating her opinion.

— diff-fi-dence /ˈdɪfədəns/ noun [noncount] — diff-fi-dent-ly adv • He asked diffidently about her family.

diff-fract /dɪˈfrækt/ verb -fracts; -fract-ed; -fract-ing [+ obj] technical : to cause (a beam of light) to bend or spread • Light is diffracted when it passes through a prism.

— diff-frac-tion /dɪˈfrækʃən/ noun [noncount] • a light undergoing diffraction

¹diff-fuse /dɪˈfjuːs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : spread out over a large space : not concentrated in one area • The forest was filled with a soft, diffuse light. • diffuse pain

— diff-fuse-ly adv • The pain spread diffusely through his legs. — diff-fuse-ness noun [noncount]

²diff-fuse /dɪˈfjuːz/ verb -fus-es; -fused; -fus-ing

1 a : to spread out : to move freely throughout a large area [no obj] The heat from the radiator diffuses throughout the room. [+ obj] The heat was diffused throughout the room.

b : to exist or be known throughout an area [no obj] Their culture gradually diffused [=spread] westward. [+ obj] diffusing their ideas

2 [+ obj] : to cause (light) to be soft and spread out • The photographer uses a screen to diffuse the light. • an area of diffused light

— diff-fu-sion /dɪˈfjuːʒən/ noun [noncount]

¹dig /dɪg/ verb digs; dug /ˈdʌg/; dig-ging

1 a [no obj] : to move soil, sand, snow, etc., in order to create a hole • Some animal has been digging in the garden. • They dug into the sand with their hands. • He dug down about 10 feet before he hit water. b [+ obj] : to form (a hole, tunnel, etc.) by removing soil, sand, snow, etc. • Dig a hole three feet deep. • The first step in building a house is to dig the foundation. • The prisoners escaped by digging a tunnel under the fence.

2 [+ obj] : to uncover (something that is underground) by moving earth, soil, sand, etc. • digging potatoes • digging clams on the beach — see also DIG FOR (below)

3 [no obj] : to look for information about something • These detectives won't stop digging until they find out what happened.

4 slang a [+ obj] : to like or admire (someone or something)

• I really dig this music. b : to understand or appreciate (someone or something) [+ obj] You dig me? [no obj] We don't want you here. You dig? c [+ obj] : to pay attention to or look at (someone or something) • Hey, dig that hat. ✧ Senses 4b and 4c have an old-fashioned quality. They are still used, but they are often intended to suggest the language of the 1950s and '60s. Sense 4a is somewhat more common.

5 : to reach for something [no obj] She dug (around) in her purse for her keys. : to put (your hand) into something [+ obj] He dug his hands into his pockets.

dig for [phrasal verb] dig for (something) : to search for (something) by digging • miners digging for coal — often used figuratively • The police have been digging for clues to help solve this murder.

dig in [phrasal verb] 1 dig (something) in or dig in (something) : to mix (something) into the soil in the ground by digging • dig the compost in 2 dig in or dig (yourself) in : to dig a trench and take position inside it • The soldiers dug in and waited for the enemy to approach. • The soldiers dug themselves in. — often used figuratively • We just have to dig in and prepare ourselves for the tough times ahead. 3 informal : to begin eating • Just grab a plate and dig in. 4 dig in your heels or dig your heels in : to behave in a stubborn way : to refuse to change • The salesman dug in his heels and refused to lower the price any further.

dig into [phrasal verb] 1 dig (something) into (something) : to mix (something) into (soil) by digging • dig the compost into the soil 2 dig into (something) a informal : to begin eating (something) • The family was digging into a delicious meal. • They dug into their steaks. b somewhat informal : to try to learn or uncover information by studying (something) • The detectives dug into his past and learned that he had once lived in another country. 3 dig (something) into (something) or dig into (something) : to push against (a body part) in a sharp and painful way • The bed's springs are digging into my back. • Her fingernails dug into my hand. = She dug her fingernails into my hand. • He dug his elbow into my ribs.

dig out [phrasal verb] dig (something) out or dig out (something) 1 : to get (something) by searching • I dug some old books out of the attic. • She dug out some change from her purse. 2 : to get (something) out of soil, sand, snow, etc., by digging • We had to dig the car out of the snow after the storm. • We spent the afternoon digging out [=shoveling snow] after the blizzard.

dig up [phrasal verb] dig up (something) or dig (something) up 1 : to uncover or find (something) by digging • They dug up [=unearthed] buried treasure. • digging up large rocks • I want to move this bush. Will you help me dig it up? 2 informal : to discover (information) • The investigators did a lot of research to dig up the facts.

dig up (the) dirt see DIRT

dig your own grave : to behave in a way that will cause you to lose or fail • The coach dug his own grave when he publicly insulted the team's owner.

²dig noun, pl digs

1 [count] : a push with a body part (such as your elbow) : a poke or thrust • She gave me a dig in the ribs to get my attention.

2 [count] : a criticism or insult that is directed toward a particular person or group • a personal dig — often + at • Her comments have been interpreted as a sly dig at her former husband.

3 [count] : a place where scientists try to find buried objects by digging • archaeological digs; also : the act of digging for buried objects • She participated in a dig last summer.

4 digs [plural] informal a US : the place where someone lives • She's buying furniture for her new digs in the city. b Brit, old-fashioned : a room rented in another person's home • He still lives in digs [=in a rented room] just outside the city.

¹di-gest /daɪˈdʒest/ verb -gests; -gest-ed; -gest-ing

1 : to change (food that you have eaten) by a biological process into simpler forms that can be used by the body [+ obj] He has trouble digesting certain foods. • an easily digested protein [no obj] Soft-boiled eggs digest easily.

2 [+ obj] : to think over and try to understand (news, information, etc.) • It will take me a while to digest this news.

— di-gest-ible /daɪˈdʒestəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • easily digestible foods — di-gest-ibil-i-ty /daɪˈdʒestəˈbɪləti/ noun [noncount]

²di-gest /ˈdaɪˌdʒest/ noun, pl -gests [count] : information or a piece of writing that has been made shorter • a digest of the laws ✧ Digest is often used in the names of magazines, such as "Reader's Digest" and "Architectural Digest."

di-ges-tion /dar'ʤestʃən/ noun [noncount] : the process by which food is changed to a simpler form after it is eaten • an enzyme that aids in the digestion of protein • She began to suffer from poor digestion as she grew older.

di-ges-tive /dar'ʤestrv/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : of or relating to digestion • the digestive system of the body

2 : having the power to cause or help digestion • digestive enzymes dig-ger /'dɪgə/ noun, pl -gers [count] : a large machine that digs and moves dirt, rocks, etc. — see also GOLD DIGGER

dig-it /'dɪʤət/ noun, pl -its [count]

1 : a written symbol for any of the numbers 0 to 9 • a three-digit number like 507 • a five-digit zip code

2 : a finger or toe • She suffered several broken digits.

dig-i-tal /'dɪʤət/ adj

1 : showing the time with numbers instead of with hour and minute hands • a digital watch • digital clocks — compare ANALOG

2 : of or relating to information that is stored in the form of the numbers 0 and 1 • You can transfer digital images/pictures from your camera to your computer. • a digital radio broadcast • a digital recording of a sound

3 : using or characterized by computer technology • laptop computers and other digital [=electronic] devices • In this new digital age, computers and the Internet are part of our everyday lives.

4 : of or relating to the fingers or toes • digital dexterity

— dig-i-tal-ly adv • digitally recorded music digital camera noun, pl ~ -eras [count] : a camera that takes pictures without using film : a camera that records images as digital data digital computer noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a computer that works with numbers that are represented by the digits 0 and 1

dig-i-tize also Brit dig-i-tise /'dɪʤə,təɪz/ verb -tiz-es; -tized; -tiz-ing [+ obj] : to change (information or pictures) to digital form • The record company digitized the songs and made them available on the Internet.

dig-ni-fied /'dɪgnə,fəɪd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : serious and somewhat formal : having or showing dignity • She has a kind but dignified manner. • He looked very dignified in his new suit. • The hotel's lobby is dignified but inviting.

dig-ni-fy /'dɪgnə,fəɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause (something) to have more serious and important quality : to give dignity or importance to (something) • She felt that formal clothing would help dignify the occasion.

2 : to treat (something or someone) with respect or seriousness that is not deserved • He said he wouldn't dignify his opponents' accusations by responding to them.

dig-ni-tary /'dɪgnə,teri, Brit 'dɪgnətri/ noun, pl -tar-ies [count] : a person who has a high rank or an important position • The dinner was attended by many foreign dignitaries. • dignitaries of the church

dig-ni-ty /'dɪgnəti/ noun [noncount]

1 : a way of appearing or behaving that suggests seriousness and self-control • She showed dignity in defeat. • The ceremony was conducted with great dignity.

2 : the quality of being worthy of honor or respect • Theirs is a country that cherishes freedom and human dignity.

beneath your dignity : suitable for someone who is less important than you • He thought washing dishes was beneath his dignity. [=he thought that he was too good or important to wash dishes] di-gress /dar'gres/ verb -gress-es; -gressed; -gress-ing [no obj] : to speak or write about something that is different from the main subject being discussed • He digressed so often that it was hard to follow what he was saying. • If I can digress for a moment, I'd like to briefly mention her earlier films.

— di-gres-sion /dar'greʃən/ noun, pl -sions [count] • The story is filled with humorous digressions.

dike (chiefly US) or chiefly Brit dyke /'daɪk/ noun, pl dikes [count]

1 : a long narrow hole that is dug in the ground to carry water : a ditch or trench

2 : a bank or mound of earth that is built to control water and especially to protect an area from flooding : LEVEE dik-tat /dɪk'taɪt/ noun, pl -tats [count] disapproving : an order that must be followed • The company president issued a diktat that employees may not wear jeans to work.

di-lap-i-dat-ed /də'læpə,deɪtəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : in very bad condition because of age or lack of care • She was living in a dilapidated [=run-down] old apartment building. • a dilapidated neighborhood di-lap-i-da-tion /də,læpə'deɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : a bad condition caused by age or lack of care : a dilapidated condition • The old houses were in various stages of dilapidation.

di-late /'daɪ,leɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing : to become larger or wider [no obj] The drug causes the blood vessels to dilate. • During labor, a woman's cervix will dilate to about 10 centimeters. [+ obj] The drug dilates the blood vessels.

dilate on/upon [phrasal verb] dilate on/upon (something) formal : to talk about (a subject) for a long time • We spent a long evening listening to him dilate on the need for tax relief.

— dilated adj [more ~; most ~] • dilated pupils — di-la-tion /daɪ'leɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • dilation of the arteries

dil-a-to-ry /'dɪlə,təri, Brit 'dɪlətri/ adj, formal

1 : causing a delay • The committee's dilatory [=delaying] actions caused the loss of hundreds of jobs.

2 [more ~; most ~] : tending to be late : slow to do something • She tends to be dilatory [=slow] about answering letters.

— dil-a-to-ri-ness noun [noncount] dil-do /'dɪldoʊ/ noun, pl -dos [count] : an artificial penis that is used to give sexual pleasure di-lem-ma /də'lemə/ noun, pl -mas [count] : a situation in which you have to make a difficult choice • The country's decision to go to war has caused a major dilemma for its allies. • We're facing a terrible dilemma. • I don't know what to do; it's a real dilemma. • a moral dilemma

on the horns of a dilemma see ¹HORN

dil-et-tante /'dɪlə,tɑːnt, Brit 'dɪlə'tænti/ noun, pl -tantes also -tan-ti /,dɪlə'tɑːnti, Brit 'dɪlə'tænti/ [count] : a person whose interest in an art or in an area of knowledge is not very deep or serious • You can always tell a true expert from a dilettante.

— dil-et-tant-ish /'dɪlə,tɑːntɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a dilettantish interest in the arts — dil-et-tan-tism /'dɪlə,tɑːn-tɪzəm, Brit 'dɪlə'tæntɪzəm/ noun [noncount] dil-i-gence /'dɪləʤəns/ noun [noncount] : careful hard work : continued effort • The reporter showed great diligence in tracking down the story. • The company's success reflects the diligence of its employees.

— dil-i-gent /'dɪləʤənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] • Many hours of diligent [=painstaking, careful] research were required. • a diligent worker — dil-i-gent-ly adv

dill /'dɪl/ noun [noncount] : an herb with leaves that are used in cooking and with seeds that are used in flavoring foods such as pickles — called also (US) dill weed; see color picture on page C6

dill pickle noun, pl ~ pickles [count] : a pickle that is flavored with dill dil-ly-dal-ly /'dɪli,dæli/ verb -dal-lies; -dal-lied; -dal-ly-ing [no obj] informal : to move or act too slowly : to waste time • We need to stop dillydallying [=dawdling, fooling around] and get to work.

¹di-lute /dar'luːt/ verb -lutes; -lut-ed; -lut-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (a liquid) thinner or less strong by adding water or another liquid • You can dilute the medicine with water.

2 : to lessen the strength of (something) • The hiring of the new CEO diluted the power of the company's president. • diluting the quality of our products — diluted adj • diluted wine — di-lu-tion /dar'luːʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] lower dilutions of the medicine [non-count] There's been some dilution in the stock's value.

²dilute adj [more ~; most ~] technical : reduced in strength as a result of containing an added liquid • a dilute solution of acid

¹dim /'dɪm/ adj dim-mer; dim-mest

1 : not bright or clear • I found her sitting in a dim [=dark] corner of the restaurant. • a dim [=obscure, faint] light • dim stars : not seen clearly • Just the dim outline of the building could be seen through the fog.

2 : not understood or remembered in a clear way • We had only a dim [=faint, vague] notion of what was going on. • I have a dim memory of your last visit. — see also the dim and distant past at DISTANT

3 : not likely to be good or successful • Prospects for a quick settlement of the strike appear dim. [=unlikely] • (US) The industry faces a dim [=grim] future.

4 : not good or favorable — used in the phrase dim view • The author's dim view [=bad opinion] of politicians is apparent throughout the book. • She takes a dim view of human nature. [=she believes that people are naturally bad] • Many fans take a dim view of [=many fans are unhappy about] recent changes in the team.

5 informal : not intelligent : stupid or dim-witted • She found him pretty dim at times.

— dim-ly adv • The lights were shining dimly. • a dimly lit room • I dimly remember him. — dim-ness noun [noncount] • the gray dimness of dawn

dim verb dims; dimmed; dim-ming

1 : to make (a light) less bright or to become less bright [+ obj] Dim the lights. • The car's headlights were dimmed. [= (Brit) dipped] [no obj] The lights dimmed.

2 : to make (something) less strong or clear or to become less strong or clear [+ obj] The latest setback has dimmed hopes of an early settlement. [no obj] Hopes of an early settlement have dimmed. • Her beauty dimmed rapidly.

dim bulb noun, pl ~ bulbs [count] US, informal : a person who is not very smart • He was considered something of a dim bulb by his coworkers.

dime /'daɪm/ noun, pl dimes [count] : a U.S. or Canadian coin that is worth 10 cents a dime a dozen US, informal : too common to be valuable or interesting • Beautiful actresses are a dime a dozen.

on a dime informal 1 : very quickly • My new car can stop on a dime. 2 : in a very small space • turn on a dime — see also FIVE-AND-DIME, NICKEL-AND-DIME di-men-sion /də'mɛnʃən/ noun, pl -sions [count]

1 : the length, width, height, or depth of something : a measurement in one direction (such as the distance from the ceiling to the floor in a room) • She carefully measured each dimension of the room. • The room's dimensions [=its length, width, and height] were surprisingly small.

2 : the amount or number of things that something affects or influences — usually plural • We underestimated the dimensions [=extent, range] of this problem. • the vast dimensions [=magnitude, scope] of the disaster

3 : a part of something • There are many dimensions [=aspects] to the problem. • The social/political/religious dimensions of the problem must also be taken into account. • The more powerful engine gives this car a (whole) new dimension. [=makes the car very different]

— di-men-sion-al /də'mɛnʃənəl/ adj — usually used in combination • a multi-dimensional problem — see also ONE-DIMENSIONAL, TWO-DIMENSIONAL, THREE-DIMENSIONAL dime store noun, pl ~ stores [count] US, old-fashioned : a store that sells inexpensive goods : FIVE-AND-DIME dime-store /'daɪm,stoʊ/ adj, always used before a noun, informal : poor or inferior in quality • dime-store [=cheap] perfume • They regarded him as just another dime-store [=second-rate] philosopher.

di-min-ish /də'mɪnɪʃ/ verb -ish-es; -ished; -ish-ing

1 : to become or to cause (something) to become less in size, importance, etc. [+ obj] The passing years did nothing to diminish [=decrease, lessen] their friendship. • The strength of the army was greatly diminished by outbreaks of disease. [no obj] My interest in the subject has steadily diminished. [=dwinded] • The drug's side effects should diminish over time.

2 [+ obj] : to lessen the authority or reputation of (someone or something) • Nothing could diminish the importance of his contributions. : to describe (something) as having little value or importance • I don't mean to diminish [=belittle, disparage] her accomplishments.

— di-min-ish-ment /də'mɪnɪʃmənt/ noun [noncount] • the diminishment of her reputation di-min-u-en-do /də'mɪnju'endou/ noun, pl -dos [count] music : a gradual decrease in the loudness of a section of music dim-i-nu-tion /,dɪmə'nuːʃən/ noun, pl -tions formal : the act or process of becoming less [singular] a diminution [= (more commonly) decrease] of power [noncount] the diminution of wealth di-min-u-tive /də'mɪnjətɪv/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : very small • a diminutive actor • a radio with a diminutive set of speakers

2 linguistics : indicating small size • the diminutive suffixes “-ette” and “-ling” • the diminutive noun “duckling” • A diminutive word or suffix is usually used in describing something small, often with the added suggestion that it is appealing or lovable in some way.

— di-min-u-tive-ness noun [noncount]

diminutive noun, pl -tives [count]

1 : a word or suffix that indicates that something is small • the diminutives “-ette” and “kitchenette”

2 : an informal form of a name • Diminutives can be a shortened form of a name (such as “Jen” for “Jennifer” and “Dick” for “Richard”) or a name with a diminutive suffix added to it (such as “Bobby” for “Bob”).

dim-mer /'dɪmə/ noun, pl -mers [count] : a device that allows you to control the brightness of a light • All the lights in the room are on dimmers. [=all the lights can be made brighter or dimmer because they have special switches] • a dimmer switch dim-ple /'dɪmpəl/ noun, pl dim-ples [count]

1 : a small area on a part of a person's body (such as the cheek or chin) that naturally curves in • She noticed his dimples when he smiled.

2 : a small area on a surface that curves in • the dimples on a golf ball dim-pled /'dɪmpəld/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having dimples • her dimpled face/smile • a dimpled chin • the baby's chubby, dimpled hands dim-wit /'dɪm,wɪt/ noun, pl -wits [count] informal : a stupid person • a harmless dimwit dim-wit-ted /'dɪm'wɪtəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal : not intelligent • In the comedy, he plays the part of a bumbling, dim-witted salesman.

din /'dɪn/ noun [singular] : a loud, confusing mixture of noises that lasts for a long time • It was hard to hear anything above/over the din in the restaurant.

dine /'daɪn/ verb dines; dined; din-ing [no obj] somewhat formal : to eat dinner : to have the main meal of the day • We'll be dining at six o'clock. • She likes to dine at/in expensive restaurants. • I will be dining alone tonight. • We hope you have an enjoyable dining experience.

dine in [phrasal verb] : to have dinner at home • I'm tired of dining in. [=eating in] Let's go out to eat tonight.

dine on [phrasal verb] dine on (something) : to eat (something) for dinner • We dined on pasta and fresh vegetables. • They dined on chicken every day for a month. • animals dining on fruits, leaves, and insects dine out [phrasal verb] : to have dinner at a restaurant • We always dine out [=eat out] on Fridays.

wine and dine see ²WINE

din-er /'daɪnə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who is eating dinner in a restaurant • wealthy diners

2 chiefly US : a small, informal, and inexpensive restaurant that looks like a railroad car • a roadside diner

di-nette /daɪ'net/ noun, pl -nettes [count] : a small room or an area near a kitchen that is used for dining • The apartment includes a dinette. • a cheap dinette set [=a small dining table and chairs]

ding-bat /'dɪŋ,bæt/ noun, pl -bats [count] US, informal : a stupid or crazy person • I told you it wouldn't work, you dingbat!

ding-dong /'dɪŋ,dɑːŋ/ noun, pl -dongs [count]

1 : the sound of a bell ringing • We were startled by the ding-dong of the doorbell.

2 Brit, informal : a noisy argument • They were having another ding-dong about money.

din-ghy /'dɪŋi/ noun, pl -ghies [count]

1 : a small boat that is often carried on or towed behind a larger boat

2 : a small rubber boat that is used by people escaping from a sinking boat din-go /'dɪŋɡou/ noun, pl -goes [count] : a wild dog of Australia

din-gy /'dɪŋdʒi/ adj din-gi-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] : dark and dirty : not fresh or clean • He's been staying in a dingy motel. • a dingy room • dingy colors

— din-gi-ness noun [noncount]

dining car noun, pl ~ cars [count] : a railroad car in which meals are served — called also (Brit) buffet car

dingo

dining hall noun, pl ~ halls [count] : a large room where meals are served at a school, college, etc.

dining room noun, pl ~ rooms [count] : a room that is used for eating meals din·ky /ˈdɪŋki/ adj din·ki·er; -est informal

1 US : very small and not appealing • a dinky apartment • I used to drive a dinky little car.

2 Brit : small and appealing • wearing nice shoes and dinky [=cute] accessories

din·ner /ˈdɪnər/ noun, pl -ners

1 : the main meal of the day [count] We had many pleasant dinners together. • a steak/lobster dinner [noncount] What's for dinner? • They had dinner early. • We're planning to ask them to dinner soon. • Dinner is served. [=dinner is ready; it's time to come to the table for dinner] — often used before another noun • dinner guests • dinner rolls • an enjoyable dinner companion • My new boyfriend and I had a dinner date [=a date to eat dinner together] last night. • She hosted a dinner party [=a party at which dinner is served] at her apartment. • the dinner table [=the table where people eat dinner] ♦ To go out to dinner is to have dinner at a restaurant. • We haven't gone out to dinner in weeks. • He took her out to dinner several times.

usage Most Americans have dinner in the evening, although if the main meal of the day is served in the afternoon it is also referred to as dinner. When referring to the evening meal, dinner and supper are basically synonyms in U.S. English. Dinner is a somewhat more formal word than supper and it tends to describe a somewhat more formal meal.

2 [count] : a usually large formal event at which dinner is eaten • Two hundred people attended his retirement dinner. • the club's annual dinner [=banquet] • an awards dinner [=a dinner at which awards are given]

3 [count] : a cooked and packaged meal that usually only needs to be heated before it is eaten • a frozen dinner — see also TV DINNER dinner jacket noun, pl ~ -ets [count] : a jacket that is worn by men on formal occasions : the jacket of a tuxedo dinner suit noun, pl ~ suits [count] Brit : TUXEDO dinner theater noun, pl ~ -aters [count] US : a restaurant in which a play is presented after the meal is over din·ner·time /ˈdɪnər,taim/ noun [noncount] : the usual time for dinner • I hate getting phone calls at dinnertime.

din·ner·ware /ˈdɪnər,weər/ noun [noncount] chiefly US : plates, bowls, glasses, etc., that are used for serving and eating dinner di·no·saur /ˈdaɪnə,sɔər/ noun, pl -saurs [count]

1 : one of many reptiles that lived on Earth millions of years ago

2 : someone or something that is no longer useful or current : an obsolete or out-of-date person or thing • The old factory is now a rusting dinosaur. • The character she plays is a dinosaur—a former beauty queen who is living in the past.

dint /ˈdɪnt/ noun

by dint of formal : because of (something) : by means of (something) • They succeeded by dint of hard work.

di·o·cese /ˈdajəsəs/ noun, pl -ces·es /ˈdajəsəsəz/ [count] : the area that is controlled by a bishop in a Christian church • a Catholic diocese

— di·oc·e·san /daɪˈɑːsən/ adj • diocesan priests di·ode /ˈdaɪ,oud/ noun, pl -odes [count] technical : an electronic device that allows an electric current to flow in one direction only di·ox·ide /daɪˈɑːk,said/ noun, pl -ides [count] chemistry : a molecule that has two atoms of oxygen and one atom of another element (such as carbon) — see also CARBON DIOXIDE, SULFUR DIOXIDE di·ox·in /daɪˈɑːksən/ noun, pl -ins [count] : a poisonous chemical that is sometimes used in farming and industry

¹ dip /ˈdɪp/ verb dips; dipped; dip·ping

1 [+ obj] a : to put (something) into a liquid and pull it out again quickly — usually + in or into • Lightly dip the paintbrush into the paint. • We dipped our toes into the water to see how cold it was. • The shrimp are dipped in batter and then fried. • a dipping sauce [=a sauce that food is dipped into] b : to move (something) into and out of something — + in or into • He dipped his hand into his pocket and pulled out a key.

2 [+ obj] : to lift (liquid) out from a container • Use a ladle to dip some water out of the pot. • dipping water from a well

3 : to move downward [no obj] The sun dipped below the horizon. • The road dips over the hill. • I saw his head dip below the surface of the water. [+ obj] He dipped his head.

4 [no obj] : to decrease somewhat usually for a short time • Gasoline prices have dipped again. • The temperature could dip below freezing tonight.

5 [+ obj] Brit : to reduce the amount of light coming from (headlights) • Dip [= (US) dim] the car's headlights.

6 [+ obj] : to put (an animal) into a liquid containing a chemical that kills insects • dipping sheep

dip into [phrasal verb] dip into (something) 1 a : to take out an amount of money from (something) • They had to dip into their savings to pay for the repairs. • Consumers are dipping into their pocketbooks [=they are spending money] this season. b : to use part of (something) • He dipped into his knowledge of history to reconsider the present political situation. • a company dipping into its pool of job applicants 2 : to read parts of (something) in a casual or brief way • dip into a book of poetry — see also ¹DIP 1 (above)

² dip noun, pl dips

1 [count] : a brief swim • They went for a quick dip in the pool.

2 [count] : a low place in a surface • There's a dip in the road just beyond the curve.

3 [count] : a decrease that continues usually for a short time • There's been a slight dip [=drop] in the unemployment rate. • a dip in prices

4 [count] : an amount of something (such as food) that is taken by dipping into a container • a dip [=scoop] of ice cream

5 : a sauce or soft mixture into which food (such as raw vegetables) may be dipped [noncount] All they had to eat were crackers and cheese dip. • potato chips and onion dip [count] a delicious bean dip

6 [count, noncount] : a liquid into which an animal is dipped in order to kill insects • sheep dip

7 [count] US slang : a stupid person • That guy's a complete dip.

diph·the·ria /dɪfˈθɪrijə/ noun [noncount] medical : a serious disease that makes breathing very difficult diph·thong /ˈdɪf,θɑːŋ/ noun, pl -thongs [count] linguistics : two vowel sounds joined in one syllable to form one speech sound • The sounds of “ou” in “out” and of “oy” in “boy” are diphthongs.

di·plo·ma /dɪˈploumə/ noun, pl -mas [count] : a document which shows that a person has finished a course of study or has graduated from a school • He earned his high school diploma by attending classes at night.

di·plo·ma·cy /dɪˈplouməsi/ noun [noncount]

1 : the work of maintaining good relations between the governments of different countries • She has had a long and distinguished career in diplomacy. • The government avoided a war by successfully resolving the issues through diplomacy. • international diplomacy — see also gunboat diplomacy at GUNBOAT

2 : skill in dealing with others without causing bad feelings • This is a situation that calls for tactful diplomacy.

dip·lo·mat /ˈdɪplə,mæt/ noun, pl -mats [count]

1 : a person who represents his or her country's government in a foreign country : someone whose work is diplomacy • The President will be meeting with foreign diplomats.

2 : a person who has skill in dealing with other people • He's a talented architect but a poor diplomat.

dip·lo·mat·ic /ˈdɪpləˈmætɪk/ adj

1 : involving the work of maintaining good relations between the governments of different countries : of or relating to diplomats or their work • Negotiators are working to restore full diplomatic relations. • diplomatic credentials • a diplomatic career

2 [more ~; most ~] : not causing bad feelings : having or showing an ability to deal with people politely • We need to find a diplomatic [=tactful] way to say no.

— dip·lo·mat·i·cal·ly /ˈdɪpləˈmætɪkli/ adv • The situation was resolved diplomatically. • One critic diplomatically described the show as “interesting.”

diplomatic corps noun, pl diplomatic corps [count] : all of the foreign diplomats in a country • She is an important member of the diplomatic corps.

diplomatic immunity noun [noncount] : an international law that gives foreign diplomats special rights in the country where they are working ♦ Under diplomatic immunity, diplomats cannot be arrested and do not have to pay taxes while working in other countries.

dip·per /'dɪpə/ noun, pl -pers [count] : a large spoon with a long handle that is used for dipping liquids : LADLE — see also BIG DIPPER, LITTLE DIPPER dip·py /'dɪpi/ adj dip·pi·er; -est informal : silly or foolish in usually an appealing way • a dippy comedy • a movie about a slightly dippy young musician

dip·so /'dɪpsə/ noun, pl -sos [count] informal + old-fashioned : DIPSOMANIAC dip·so·ma·ni·ac /,dɪpsə'meɪniæk/ noun, pl -acs [count] : a person who has an extreme and uncontrollable desire for alcohol : ALCOHOLIC dip·stick /'dɪp,stɪk/ noun, pl -sticks [count]

1 : a long thin piece of metal with marks that are used to show how much of a fluid (such as motor oil) is in a container or an engine

2 informal : a stupid person • Some dipstick cut in front of me on the highway.

dip switch noun, pl ~ switches [count] Brit : a switch for dimming or lowering the headlights of an automobile dire /'daɪə/ adj dir·er; dir·est [or more ~; most ~]

1 : very bad : causing great fear or worry • Even the smallest mistake could have dire [=terrible, dreadful] consequences. • a dire emergency • The circumstances are now more dire than ever. • With its best player out of the game, the team found itself in dire straits. [=in a very bad or difficult situation] • The company now finds itself in dire financial straits. [=the company is having bad financial problems]

2 : warning of disaster : showing a very bad future • Some analysts are issuing dire economic forecasts. • a dire prediction/warning

3 a : requiring immediate action : very urgent • The government is in dire [=desperate] need of reform. • dire necessity

b : very serious or extreme • They live in dire poverty.

¹di·rect /də'rekt/ verb -rects; -rect·ed; -rect·ing

1 [+ obj] : to cause (someone or something) to turn, move, or point in a particular way • Lights were directed [=aimed] toward the paintings on the wall. • Be sure that the water nozzle is directed downward. • The sloping ground helps direct water away from the home.

2 [+ obj] a : to cause (someone's attention, thoughts, emotions, etc.) to relate to a particular person, thing, goal, etc. • Let me direct your attention to the book's second chapter. • We were asked to direct our thoughts and prayers to the people who survived the disaster. • The students directed their efforts/energies/talents toward improving their community. • He directed [=aimed] much of his anger at his coworkers. • A lot of the criticism has been directed toward the concert's organizers. b : to say (something) to a particular person or group • I'd like to direct [=address] my opening comments to the younger members of the audience.

3 [+ obj] : to guide, control, or manage (someone or something) • She's been chosen to direct [=handle] the project. • He is responsible for directing the activities of the sales team. • In my current position, I direct a staff of over 200 employees. • We need someone to direct traffic.

4 : to lead a group of people in performing or filming (a movie, play, etc.) [+ obj] They're still looking for someone to direct the show. • She has directed over 20 films in her career. • The play was poorly directed. [no obj] She enjoys both acting and directing. • I think I'd like to direct some day.

5 [+ obj] : to show or tell (someone) how to go to a place : to give (someone) directions • The signs directed [=guided] us to the museum. • Could you please direct me to the office? [=please tell me where the office is]

6 [+ obj] somewhat formal a : to ask or tell (a person or group) to do something • He directed [=instructed, ordered] the workers to stop what they were doing. • The judge directed the jury to disregard several of the attorney's comments. • The resolution directed the commission to prepare proposals. b : to order (something) to be done — + that • His will directed that the money be used to support local schools.

7 [+ obj] : to send (a letter, note, etc.) to a specified person or place • Please direct [=address, send] your letters to my office. • The letter was directed to the company's president.

²direct adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : going the shortest distance from one place to another : going straight without turning or stopping • I found a more direct route to the city. • We'll be taking a direct [=nonstop] flight from New York to Los Angeles. • That way is more direct. — opposite INDIRECT

2 always used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : coming straight from a source • Keep these plants out of direct sunlight. • The coastline was exposed to the direct force of the hurricane. — opposite INDIRECT

3 always used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : coming straight from a cause or reason : connected or related to something in a clear way • These problems are a direct result of poor planning. [=poor planning was the cause of these problems] • The weather had a direct effect/impact on our plans. • There's a direct connection between the two events. • The investigation began in direct response to the newspaper story. — opposite INDIRECT

4 always used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : having no people or things in between that could have an effect • His position gives him direct access to the president. [=he can talk to the president face-to-face] • This is a direct order from the General. • The board of directors has direct control of the company's future. • Her theory was based on direct observation. • There's no direct evidence to support his claims. • direct knowledge/experience — opposite INDIRECT

5 always used before a noun : related in a line from your parent, grandparent, great-grandparent, etc. • She's my direct ancestor. • He claims to be a direct descendant of George Washington.

6 always used before a noun : perfect or exact • The word has no direct translation in English. • The building took a direct hit from an enemy plane.

7 [more ~; most ~] a : said or done in a clear and honest way : sincere and straightforward • We need a direct answer. Are you coming or not? • The candidate made a direct appeal to the voters. b : speaking in a clear and honest way • I wish you would be more direct. • She has a very direct way of dealing with customers. — opposite INDIRECT

8 always used before a noun, grammar : consisting of the exact words of a speaker or writer • She used several direct quotations from the artist in her article. — opposite INDIRECT

³direct adv : in a direct way: such as a : in a straight line without turning or stopping • We flew direct [=straight, nonstop] from Chicago to Paris. b : straight from a source with nothing and nobody in between • The company sells its product direct [=directly] to customers on the streets. • It costs less if you buy it direct from the manufacturer.

direct current noun [noncount] : an electric current that is flowing in one direction only — abbr. DC; compare ALTERNATING CURRENT direct debit noun, pl ~ -its [count, noncount] chiefly Brit : a way of paying bills by allowing people or companies to take money directly from your bank account on a particular day • paying your bills by direct debit direct deposit noun [noncount] US : a way of paying someone so that the money is sent directly into the person's bank account without the use of checks or cash • Our employees are paid by direct deposit.

di·rec·tion /də'rekʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : the course or path on which something is moving or pointing • The army attacked from three different directions. • Down the road, he could see a bus coming from the opposite direction. • The wind changed direction and started blowing in our faces. • I've got a bad sense of direction. [=I become lost frequently; I often don't know which way to go] — often used after in • She and I were walking in the same direction. • You're headed in the wrong direction. • The top of the hill provides a view in all directions. • The car was last seen headed in the direction of [=towards] the stadium. • She started walking in my direction. [=toward me]

2 directions [plural] a : a statement that tells a person what to do and how to do it : an order or instruction • Carefully read the directions before you begin the test. • Directions appear on the package. • You have to learn to follow directions. [=do what you are told or are instructed to do] b : instructions that tell you how to go to a place • We had to stop to ask for directions to the beach. • Excuse me. Could you please give me directions to the movie theater?

3 [noncount] a : control or management of someone or something • He was put in charge and given overall direction of the program. • Twenty-three employees work under her direction. • Several nurses working under the direction of this doctor have made complaints. b : the act or process of directing a play, movie, television show, or musical performance • The play's unusual direction demanded much from the actors.

4 a [count] : the way that something is progressing or developing • These discoveries have given a new direction to their research. • Our business is expanding in all directions. • He hasn't yet decided what direction he should take as a writer. [=hasn't decided exactly what he should try to do as a writer]
b [noncount] : a goal or purpose that guides your actions or decisions • Her life seemed to lack direction after she left school.

– di-rec-tion-less adj • a talented but directionless musician – di-rect-ness /də'rektnəs/ noun [noncount] • the directness of the route/connection • He answered their questions with honesty and directness.

di-rec-tion-al /də'rekʃənəl/ adj
1 : relating to or showing direction • We work with maps to improve the students' directional skills. • directional stability • the directional signal lights on an automobile
2 technical : used for receiving sounds, radio signals, etc., that are coming from a particular direction • a directional microphone • The radio has a directional antenna.

di-rec-tive /də'rektiv/ noun, pl -tives [count] formal : an official order or instruction • They received a written directive instructing them to develop new security measures. • a presidential directive

1 di-rect-ly /də'rektli/ adv
1 [more ~; most ~] : in a direct way • He refused to answer the question directly. • She said that she wanted to speak to you directly. • The package will be sent directly to your home. • The two accidents are directly related. • Thousands of people were directly affected by the disaster. • Antonyms are words that are directly opposite in meaning.
2 : in a straight or direct line from a particular position • We parked directly behind the store. • He sat directly across from me at the dinner table. • Their house is directly ahead. = It's directly in front of us.
3 : without delay • The second game followed directly [=immediately] after the first.
4 somewhat old-fashioned : in a little while • We'll be leaving directly. [=soon, shortly]

2 directly conj, Brit : immediately after : as soon as • I came directly I received your message.

directly proportional adj : related so that one becomes larger or smaller when the other becomes larger or smaller • His earnings are directly proportional to the number of units he sells. — compare INVERSELY PROPORTIONAL direct mail noun [noncount] : papers containing advertisements that are mailed directly to people's homes

direct marketing noun [noncount] : a way of selling things by calling people on the telephone or mailing them advertisements or catalogs direct object noun, pl ~ -jects [count] grammar : a noun, pronoun, or noun phrase which indicates the person or thing that receives the action of a verb • "Me" in "He likes me" is a direct object. • In the sentence "They built a house for her," the direct object is "house" and the indirect object is "her." — compare INDIRECT OBJECT di-rec-tor /də'rektər/ noun, pl -tors [count]

1 : a person who manages an organized group of people or a part of an organization (such as a school or business) • the choir director • The company will hire a new director of marketing. • She's the director of graduate studies at the university. • the school's athletic director — see also FUNERAL DIRECTOR
2 : one of a group of managers who control a company or corporation • executive/deputy/associate directors • She's on the board of directors [=a group of people who make decisions] for a large corporation. — see also MANAGING DIRECTOR
3 : a person who directs a play, movie, etc. • She's considered one of the best young directors in Hollywood. • a movie/film/theater director

di-rec-tor-ate /də'rektərət/ noun, pl -ates [count]
1 : a group of managers who control a company or corporation : a board of directors • the corporation's eight-member directorate
2 : a group of people who are in charge of a program or department • the government's agricultural directorate di-rec-to-ri-al /də'rek'torijəl/ adj : of or relating to a director and especially to the director of a play, movie, etc. • her directorial style ♦ A movie director's first film is often called a directorial debut. • He made his directorial debut with a film that he also wrote and produced.

di-rec-tor-ship /də'rektərʃɪp/ noun, pl -ships

1 [count] : a position as a director of a company or corporation • He holds directorships at several banks.

2 [noncount] : the time when a person holds the position of director • The museum has flourished under her directorship.

di-rec-to-ry /də'rektəri/ noun, pl -ries [count] : a book that contains an alphabetical list of names of people, businesses, etc.; especially : PHONE BOOK directory assistance noun [noncount] US : a service that people can call to get the telephone number for a person or organization : INFORMATION — called also (Brit) directory enquiries

dirge /'dɜːdʒ/ noun, pl dirges [count] : a slow song that expresses sadness or sorrow • a funeral dirge

dirt /'dɜːt/ noun [noncount]
1 : loose earth or soil • Pack dirt loosely around the base of the plant. • mounds/piles of dirt
2 : a substance (such as mud or dust) that makes things unclean • You've got some dirt on your face. • Their shoes were covered with dirt. • No amount of cleaning will get rid of all this dirt.
3 informal : a person or thing that has no value • He treated me like dirt. [=he treated me very badly]
4 informal : information about someone that could harm the person's reputation • She's been spreading dirt [=gossip] about her ex-husband. ♦ To dig up (the) dirt on someone is to find out information that is harmful to that person's reputation. • He's been digging up dirt on his political rivals. ♦ To dish (the) dirt is to spread harmful gossip or information. • He seems to have written his memoirs mainly so that he can dish the dirt on all his former lovers.

hit the dirt see ¹HIT

in the dirt ♦ In baseball, a pitch is in the dirt when it hits the ground near home plate before reaching the catcher. • He swung and missed at a curveball in the dirt.
— see also PAY DIRT dirt-bag /'dɜːt,bæg/ noun, pl -bags [count] chiefly US, informal : a very bad and unpleasant person • a sleazy dirtbag

dirt bike noun, pl ~ bikes [count] : a small motorcycle that is designed to be used on rough surfaces dirt cheap adj, informal : very cheap or inexpensive • The tickets were dirt cheap. • dirt cheap prices – dirt cheap adv • I can get you a stereo system dirt cheap.

dirt farmer noun, pl ~ -ers [count] US, informal : a poor farmer who lives by farming the land usually without the help of paid workers dirt floor noun, pl ~ floors [count] : a floor with a hard dirt surface dirt-poor /'dɜːt'puə/ adj, informal : very poor : suffering extreme poverty • When I was growing up, my family was dirt-poor.

dirt road noun, pl ~ roads [count] : a road with a hard dirt surface : an unpaved road

1 dirty /'dɜːti/ adj dirty-i-er; -est
1 : not clean • All my socks are dirty. • Try not to get your clothes dirty. • dirty dishes • I can't breathe this dirty city air. • The baby has a dirty diaper.

2 a : indecent and offensive • dirty language — see also DIRTY WORD b : relating to sex in an indecent or offensive way • dirty [=pornographic] movies/magazines/pictures • I hate listening to his dirty jokes. • He has a dirty mind. [=he often thinks about sex] — see also DIRTY OLD MAN

3 : not fair or honest • He has a reputation as a dirty player. [=he cheats; he tries to hurt his opponents] • a criminal's dirty money [=money earned in an illegal activity] • That was a dirty trick! [=an unkind thing to do]

4 a : very bad : deserving to be hated or regretted • War is a dirty business. • It's a dirty shame that nobody tried to help him. • That's a dirty lie! • He's a dirty liar! b : likely to cause shame or disgrace • That's the dirty [=shameful] little secret that the industry doesn't want you to know.

5 : difficult or unpleasant • Why do I always get stuck doing the dirty work? • It's a dirty job, but somebody's got to do it. ♦ To get your hands dirty is to do difficult and often unpleasant work. • Our boss isn't afraid to get her hands dirty and help us finish the work on time.

6 : showing dislike or anger • She gave me a dirty look.

7 : not clear or bright in color • a dirty [=dull] red — see also dirty blond at ¹BLOND

– dirt-i-ness noun [noncount] • the dirtiness of the house

2 dirty verb dirt-ies; dirt-ied; dirty-ing [+ obj] : to make (something) dirty • Take off your shoes to keep from dirtying the floor. • Her fingers were dirtied with ink. • The baby just dirtied [=soiled] her diaper. • The river was dirtied [=polluted] with industrial waste.

³dirty adv

1 : in an unfair or dishonest way • Watch out for her. She plays dirty. • He usually wins because he fights dirty.

2 : in an indecent or offensive way • talking dirty

dirty bomb noun, pl ~ bombs [count] : a bomb that is designed to spread a large amount of radioactive material dirty laundry noun [noncount] : private information that causes shame and embarrassment when it is made public • The company is trying to keep its dirty laundry from being aired/washed in public. • Let's not air our dirty laundry [=discuss our problems, make our problems known] in public. — called also dirty linen

dirty old man noun, pl ~ men [count] disapproving : an old man who is too interested in sex dirty tricks noun [plural] : secret and dishonest activities that are done to ruin someone's or something's chance of success • political dirty tricks

dirty word noun, pl ~ words

1 [count] : an offensive word • The movie is just a lot of sex, violence, and dirty words.

2 [singular] : a word, subject, or idea that is disliked by some people • They regard "taxes" as a dirty word. • Politics is a dirty word [=they don't talk about politics] in their home. • The way he acts, you'd think compassion was a dirty word.

dis also diss /'dis/ verb dis-ses; dissed; dis-sing [+ obj] US slang

1 : to treat (someone) with disrespect : to be rude to (someone) • He got dissed [=insulted] by the other guys on the team.

2 : to criticize (something) in a way that shows disrespect • Don't dis my car.

— dis also diss noun, pl disses [count] • It's not a dis. [=not an insult] dis- prefix

1 in verbs : to do the opposite of • disagree • disappear • disapprove

2 in nouns : opposite or absence of • disbelief • discomfort • dishonor

3 in adjectives : not • disagreeable • disconnected • disinterested

dis-abil-i-ty /,disə'biləti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [count] : a condition (such as an illness or an injury) that damages or limits a person's physical or mental abilities • She has learned to keep a positive attitude about her disability. • disabilities such as blindness and deafness • a program for children with disabilities — see also LEARNING DISABILITY

2 [noncount] : the condition of being unable to do things in the normal way : the condition of being disabled • It's a serious disease that can cause disability or death.

3 [noncount] US : a program that provides financial support to a disabled person • After he injured his back he had to quit his job and go on disability.

dis-able /dis'eɪbəl/ verb -ables; -abled; -abling [+ obj]

1 : to cause (something) to be unable to work in the normal way • disable a bomb • disable an alarm • disable a computer program

2 : to make (someone) unable to do something (such as use part of the body) in the usual way — often used as (be) disabled • He was disabled by the accident.

— dis-able-ment /dis'eɪbəlmənt/ noun [noncount]
— disabling adj • He suffered a disabling illness when he was in college. • a disabling injury/condition • The patient was experiencing severe, disabling pain.

disabled adj [more ~; most ~] : having a physical or mental disability : unable to perform one or more natural activities (such as walking or seeing) because of illness, injury, etc. • The organization is working to protect the rights of disabled veterans. • special classes for learning disabled children [=for children who have a learning disability]

the disabled : people who are disabled : people who have a disability • She's always been an effective spokesperson for the disabled.

disabled list noun

the disabled list US, sports : a list of players on a team (such as a baseball team) who are unable to play because of injury or illness • The team has had to place several key players on the disabled list. — abbr. DL dis-abuse /,disə'bjuz/ verb -abus-es; -abused; -abus-ing [+ obj] formal : to show or convince (someone) that a belief is incorrect — + of • He offered to disabuse us of what he called our "cherished myths." • Anyone expecting a romantic story will be quickly disabused of that notion by the opening chapter.

dis-ad-van-tage /,disəd'væntɪdʒ/ noun, pl -tag-es

1 [count] a : something that causes difficulty : something that makes someone or something worse or less likely to succeed than others • This program has the disadvantage [=shortcoming] of being more expensive than the others. • She had the disadvantage of growing up in a poor community. • He felt that his lack of formal education put/placed him at a disadvantage [=made it harder for him to succeed] in the business world. • They argued that the new regulations would place their company at a competitive disadvantage in the marketplace. b : a bad or undesirable quality or feature • There are advantages and disadvantages to the new system.

2 [noncount] : loss, damage, or harm • The deal worked to our disadvantage. [=the deal was harmful to us in some way]

— opposite ADVANTAGE

dis-ad-van-taged /,disəd'væntɪdʒd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : lacking the things (such as money and education) that are considered necessary for an equal position in society • The program provides aid for economically disadvantaged groups/communities. • disadvantaged [=underprivileged] children

the disadvantaged : disadvantaged people • protecting the rights of the disadvantaged

dis-ad-van-ta-geous /dis,æd,væn'teɪdʒəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : making it harder for a person to succeed or to do something : causing someone to have a disadvantage • They might have to resell the property at a disadvantageous time. • Minority groups find themselves in a disadvantageous position. • The current system is disadvantageous to women.

— opposite ADVANTAGEOUS

— dis-ad-van-ta-geous-ly adv [more ~; most ~] dis-af-fected /,disə'fektəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : no longer happy and willing to support a leader, government, etc. • bored and disaffected youth • The troops had become disaffected. • Both political parties are looking for ways to regain the trust of disaffected voters.

— dis-af-fec-tion /,disə'fɛkʃən/ noun [noncount] • There was widespread disaffection among the troops.

dis-agree /,disə'gri:/ verb -agrees; -agreed; -agree-ing [no obj]

1 : to have a different opinion : to fail to agree • I think that I should sell my car, but he disagrees. — often + with • I strongly disagree with that statement. • She disagrees with him on almost every subject. — often + on, about, or over • They disagreed about the price. • We disagree on the best way to raise the money. • We found ourselves disagreeing over the meaning of the poem.

2 : to be different • The two descriptions disagree. [=they do not match] — often + with • Her story disagrees with the facts of the case.

3 : to not be suitable for or pleasing to someone — + with • Fried foods disagree with me. [=make me feel unwell]

agree to disagree see AGREE

dis-agree-able /,disə'gri:jəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not pleasing : unpleasant or offensive • The medicine had a disagreeable taste. • the disagreeable odor of the garbage • Some of her duties are very disagreeable (to her).

2 of a person : difficult to deal with : easily angered or annoyed • His health problems made him surly and disagreeable. [=irritable, querulous] • I've never known her to be so disagreeable. — opposite AGREEABLE

— dis-agree-ably /,disə'gri:jəbli/ adv • a disagreeably bitter taste

dis-agree-ment /,disə'gri:mənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 a [noncount] : failure to agree • There's been a lot of disagreement about/on/over how best to spend the money. • He has expressed disagreement [=he has said that he disagrees] with some aspects of the proposal. b [count] : a difference of opinion : an argument caused by people having different opinions about something • We've had a number of serious disagreements [=disputes, arguments] over the years. • Several disagreements have yet to be resolved.

2 [noncount] : the state of being different or unlike • There's considerable disagreement between the descriptions given by the two witnesses. [=the two descriptions do not agree/match]

dis-al-low /,disə'lau/ verb -lows; -lowed; -low-ing [+ obj] : to refuse to allow (something) : to officially decide that (something) is not acceptable or valid • The court disallowed

[=rejected] their claim. • The touchdown was disallowed because of a penalty.

— dis-al-low-ance /,dɪsə'lawəns/ noun [noncount] • disallowance [=rejection] of the tax deductions dis-ap-pear /,dɪsə'piə/ verb -pears; -peared; -pear-ing [no obj]

1 : to stop being visible : to pass out of sight • The moon disappeared [=vanished] behind a cloud. • The two men disappeared around the corner.

2 a : to stop existing : to die or go away completely • The dinosaurs disappeared millions of years ago. • Their original enthusiasm has all but disappeared. [=vanished] • These problems won't just disappear by themselves. b : to become lost : to go to a place that is not known • My car keys have disappeared again. [=I can't find them] • He disappeared without a trace two years ago. • The speaker suddenly disappeared just before the beginning of the ceremony.

— dis-ap-pear-ance /,dɪsə'piərəns/ noun, pl -ances [noncount] We're witnessing the gradual disappearance of an old way of life. [count] Police are investigating several mysterious disappearances.

dis-ap-point /,dɪsə'point/ verb -points; -point-ed; -point-ing : to make (someone) unhappy by not being as good as expected or by not doing something that was hoped for or expected [+ obj] The team disappointed its fans. • The show may disappoint some viewers. [no obj] The novel disappoints by being predictable and overly long.

— dis-ap-point-ing /,dɪsə'pointɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] • Dinner was disappointing. • The team had a very disappointing season. — dis-ap-point-ing-ly /,dɪsə'pointɪŋli/ adv • a disappointingly poor performance

dis-ap-point-ed /,dɪsə'pointəd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : feeling sad, unhappy, or displeased because something was not as good as expected or because something you hoped for or expected did not happen • We were disappointed that they couldn't go. • Disappointed fans slowly left the ballpark. • I was disappointed to see that my suggestions had been ignored. • They were deeply disappointed by her lack of interest. • Don't be too disappointed if everything doesn't go as planned.

2 : unhappy because someone has behaved badly • Your father and I are very disappointed in/with you.

dis-ap-point-ment /,dɪsə'pointmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 [noncount] : the state or feeling of being disappointed • She couldn't hide her disappointment. • To our disappointment, the game was rained out. [=we were disappointed that the game was rained out]

2 [count] : someone or something that disappoints people : a disappointing person or thing • The play was a (big) disappointment. [=it was very disappointing] • He's a disappointment to his parents.

dis-ap-pro-ba-tion /dɪs,æprə'beɪʃən/ noun [noncount] formal : DISAPPROVAL • the constant disapprobation of critics dis-ap-prov-al /,dɪsə'pru:vəl/ noun [noncount] : lack of approval : the belief that someone or something is bad or wrong • The plan met with disapproval. [=opposition] • I could sense her disapproval. • They made their disapproval of our behavior very clear. — opposite APPROVAL dis-ap-prove /,dɪsə'pru:v/ verb -proves; -proved; -prov-ing

1 : to believe that someone or something is bad or wrong : to not approve of someone or something [no obj] She married him even though her parents disapproved. — often + of • She disapproves of smoking. • Some people may disapprove of the government's actions. • I disapproved of [=I disagreed with] their decision, but I said nothing against it. [+ obj] The word "ain't" is disapproved [=criticized] by most teachers.

2 [+ obj] : to officially refuse to approve or accept (something) • They disapproved [=rejected] the architect's plans. • The treaty was disapproved by the Senate. — opposite APPROVE — dis-ap-prov-ing adj [more ~; most ~] • She gave him a disapproving look. • a disapproving frown • He felt uncomfortable in the presence of his disapproving parents. — dis-ap-prov-ing-ly adv • She shook her head disapprovingly.

dis-arm /dɪs'ɑ:m/ verb -arms; -armed; -arm-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to take weapons from (someone or something) • disarm a prisoner • The government has been unsuccessful at disarming the rebels. b [no obj] : to give up weapons • The terrorists have refused to disarm. — opposite ARM

2 [+ obj] : to make (a bomb, mine, etc.) harmless • It took more than an hour to disarm the bomb. — opposite ARM

3 [+ obj] : to make (someone) friendly or less suspicious • He has a way of disarming [=winning over] his critics by flattering them. • We were disarmed [=charmed, captivated] by her sense of humor.

dis-ar-ma-ment /dɪs'ɑ:məmənt/ noun [noncount] : the process of reducing the number of weapons controlled by a country's military • nuclear disarmament — opposite ARMA-MENT

disarming adj [more ~; most ~] : tending to remove any feelings of unfriendliness or distrust • We were all charmed by his disarming openness and modesty. • a disarming smile — dis-arm-ing-ly adv • Her answers were disarmingly [=surprisingly] honest.

dis-ar-range /,dɪsə'reɪndʒ/ verb -rang-es; -ranged; -rang-ing [+ obj] formal : to make (something) messy or untidy • The wind disarranged my hair. • His bed was disarranged and clothes were strewn on the floor.

dis-ar-ray /,dɪsə'reɪ/ noun [noncount] : a lack of order : a confused or messy condition • The room was in disarray. • The company has fallen into complete/total disarray.

dis-as-sem-ble /,dɪsə'sembəl/ verb -sem-bles; -sembled; -sem-bling

1 [+ obj] : to disconnect the pieces of (something) • disassemble [=take apart] an engine

2 [no obj] : to come apart into smaller pieces • The bookshelf disassembles for easy storage.

— dis-as-sem-bly /,dɪsə'sembli/ noun [noncount]

dis-as-so-ci-ate /,dɪsə'souʃi,et/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [+ obj] : DISSOCIATE

di-sas-ter /dɪ'zæstə, Brit dɪ'zɑ:stə/ noun, pl -ters

1 [count] : something (such as a flood, tornado, fire, plane crash, etc.) that happens suddenly and causes much suffering or loss to many people • The program examined several bridge failures and other engineering disasters. • a nuclear disaster • The earthquake was one of the worst natural disasters [=a disaster caused by natural forces] of this century. • The state is asking for federal disaster relief. [=money to help rebuild an area after a disaster]

2 a : something that has a very bad effect or result [count] The new regulations could be a disaster for smaller businesses. • Opponents say the government's policy is a disaster waiting to happen. [=something that will probably have a very bad or tragic result] [noncount] They're trying to find a way to avoid disaster. • They narrowly escaped disaster. • The new regulations could spell disaster [=result in serious problems] for smaller businesses. • The government's policy is a recipe for disaster. = The government is flirting with disaster by pursuing this policy. • When disaster strikes, [=when something very bad happens] we will be prepared. b [count] : a complete or terrible failure • economic/financial disasters • The dinner party was a complete disaster.

disaster area noun, pl ~ areas [count]

1 : an area where there has been a major disaster (such as a flood, tornado, or earthquake) and where people can receive special help from the government (such as money to rebuild homes or emergency supplies) • After the hurricane, the state was declared a disaster area.

2 informal : a place that is very messy or dirty • His office is a disaster area. How can he find anything in all this clutter?

di-sas-trous /dɪ'zæstrəs, Brit dɪ'zɑ:stɹəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : causing great suffering or loss • Half the city was destroyed by a disastrous fire.

2 : very bad or unfortunate • The bad weather could have a disastrous effect on the area's tourism industry. • His failure to back up the computer files had disastrous consequences. • The strike was economically disastrous.

— di-sas-trous-ly adv • a disastrously bad choice/idea dis-avow /,dɪsə'vaʊ/ verb -avows; -avowed; -avow-ing [+ obj] formal : to say that you are not responsible for (something) : to deny that you know about or are involved in (something) • He disavowed the actions of his subordinates. • She now seems to be trying to disavow her earlier statements.

— dis-avow-al /,dɪsə'vawəl/ noun, pl -als [count, noncount] dis-band /dɪs'bænd/ verb -bands; -band-ed; -band-ing : to end an organization or group (such as a club) [+ obj] They've decided to disband the club. [no obj] The members of the organization have decided to disband.

— dis-band-ment /dɪs'bændmənt/ noun [noncount] dis-bar /dɪs'bɑ:/ verb -bars; -barred; -bar-ring [+ obj] : to take away the right of (a lawyer) to work in the legal profession — often used as (be) disbarred • She was disbarred for unethical practices.

— dis-bar-ment /dɪsˈbɑːmənt/ noun [noncount] • The charges could lead to his disbarment.

dis-be-lief /ˌdɪsbəˈliːf/ noun [noncount] : a feeling that you do not or cannot believe or accept that something is true or real • The initial reports were met with widespread disbelief. [=many people did not believe the reports] • She stared at him in utter disbelief. • If you want to enjoy this story, you have to suspend your disbelief. [=allow yourself to believe things that cannot be true] — compare UNBELIEF dis-be-lieve /ˌdɪsbəˈliːv/ verb -lieves; -lieved; -liev-ing formal : to not believe (someone or something) [+ obj] Several jurors disbelieved the witness's testimony. [no obj] — + in • She disbelieves in the value of exercise.

— disbelieving adj • The announcement was met with shocked and disbelieving silence. — dis-be-liev-er noun, pl -ers [count] dis-burse /dɪsˈbɜːs/ verb -burse; -bursed; -burs-ing [+ obj] formal : to pay out (money) from a fund that has been created for a special purpose • The money will be disbursed on the basis of need. • The government has disbursed millions of dollars in foreign aid.

— dis-burse-ment /dɪsˈbɜːsmənt/ noun, pl -ments [noncount] disbursement of government funds [count] The company has made large disbursements for research.

disc or disk /ˈdɪsk/ noun, pl discs or disks [count]

1 : a flat, thin, round object • a plastic disc • a cracker topped with a thin disk of sausage

2 disk : a flat, thin, round object that is used to store large amounts of information (such as computer data) • Insert the disk into the CD drive. • There isn't much disk space [=room for storage on a computer disk] left. — see also DISK DRIVE, FLOPPY DISK, HARD DISK, OPTICAL DISK

3 disc a : CD • I don't have that recording on vinyl, but I have it on disc. b old-fashioned : ¹RECORD 4 — see also DISC JOCKEY

4 medical : one of the flat, rubbery pieces that separate the bones of the backbone — called also intervertebral disc; see also SLIPPED DISC

¹dis-card /dɪˈskɑːd/ verb -cards; -card-ed; -card-ing [+ obj]

1 : to throw (something) away because it is useless or unwanted • Remove and discard the stems. • a pile of discarded tires — often used figuratively • Many of his original theories have been discarded [=rejected] in recent years.

2 : to remove (a playing card) from your hand in a card game • She discarded the six of hearts.

²dis-card /ˈdɪs,kɑːd/ noun, pl -cards [count] : something (such as a playing card) that has been discarded disc brake noun, pl ~ brakes [count] : a brake that works by two plates pressing against the sides of a disc that is connected to the center of a wheel dis-cern /dɪˈsɜːn/ verb -cerns; -cerned; -cern-ing [+ obj]

1 : to see, hear, or notice (something) with difficulty or effort • We could just discern [=distinguish, make out] the ship through the fog.

2 : to come to know, recognize, or understand (something) • The reasons behind this sudden change are difficult to discern. • The purpose of the study is to discern [=identify] patterns of criminal behavior. • unable to discern [=distinguish] right from wrong

— dis-cern-ible /dɪˈsɜːnəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • There is no discernible difference between the original and the copy. — dis-cern-ibly /dɪˈsɜːnəbli/ adv [more ~; most ~] • The original and copy aren't discernibly different.

discerning adj [more ~; most ~] : able to see and understand people, things, or situations clearly and intelligently • a discerning critic • She has a discerning eye for good art.

— dis-cern-ing-ly adv

dis-cern-ment /dɪˈsɜːnmənt/ noun [noncount] : the ability to see and understand people, things, or situations clearly and intelligently • His lack of discernment led to his disastrous choice of business partners.

¹dis-charge /dɪsˈtʃɑːdʒ/ verb -charg-es; -charged; -charg-ing

1 [+ obj] : to allow (someone) to leave a hospital, prison, etc. • She's due to be discharged from the hospital on Wednesday. • Discharge the prisoners.

2 [+ obj] a : to take away the job of (someone) : to end the employment of (someone) • The company illegally discharged [=fired] several union organizers. • We had to dis- charge several employees last week. b : to end the service of (someone) in a formal or official way • Thousands of soldiers were discharged after the war. : to release (someone) from duty • The judge discharged the jury.

3 : to shoot or fire (a weapon) [+ obj] The ship discharged missiles against enemy targets. • discharging a firearm [no obj] The gun failed to discharge.

4 [+ obj] : to allow (someone) to get out of a vehicle • The bus had stopped to discharge [=let off] passengers.

5 a : to send out (a liquid, gas, or waste material) [+ obj] Smokestacks from the factory discharge [=emit] chemicals into the air. • discharging pollution into a lake • The wound began to discharge pus. [no obj] a river that discharges [=flows] into the ocean b : to send out (electricity) [+ obj] discharge electricity from a battery [no obj] allowing the electricity to discharge safely

6 [+ obj] formal a : to do what is required by (something) • He vowed to faithfully discharge [=fulfill] the duties/responsibilities of his office. • discharging an obligation b : to pay (a debt) • They have failed to discharge their debts.

²dis-charge /ˈdɪs,tʃɑːdʒ/ noun, pl -charg-es

1 : the release of someone from a hospital, prison, etc. [noncount] The doctors approved her discharge from the hospital. [count] early hospital discharges

2 a : the act of firing or dismissing someone from a job [noncount] Several former employees are suing the company for wrongful discharge. [count] a discharge from employment b [count] : the act of ending a person's service to the military • After his discharge from the military, he went to college to become a teacher. ♦ A dishonorable discharge is given to a soldier who has done something wrong and is forced to leave the military. • He was court-martialed for improper conduct and left the navy with a dishonorable discharge. ♦ An honorable discharge is given to a soldier who has not done anything wrong and is not being forced to leave. • He went to college after receiving an honorable discharge from the army.

3 : the act of firing a weapon [noncount] The damage was caused by accidental discharge of a hunting rifle. [count] a rapid discharge from a gun

4 a [count] : a liquid or gas that flows out of something • a clear discharge from the nose and eyes • nasal discharges b [noncount] : the movement of a liquid or gas from something • The factory was charged with the illegal discharge of pollution into a stream. • the discharge of pus from a wound

5 [count] : a flow of electricity • an electrical discharge

6 formal : the act of doing what is required or of paying a debt [noncount] the discharge of debts/obligations [count] a discharge of debt dis-ci-ple /dɪˈsaɪpəl/ noun, pl -ci-ples [count]

1 : someone who accepts and helps to spread the teachings of a famous person • a disciple of Sigmund Freud

2 : one of a group of 12 men who were sent out to spread the teachings of Jesus Christ : APOSTLE

— dis-ci-ple-ship /dɪˈsaɪpəlʃɪp/ noun [noncount]

dis-ci-pli-nar-i-an /ˌdɪsəpləˈneriən/ noun, pl -ans [count]

: a person who is very strict about punishing bad behavior : a person who uses discipline as a way of making sure that rules or orders are obeyed • The school's principal is a strict/rigid disciplinarian.

dis-ci-plin-ary /ˌdɪsəpləˈneri, Brit ˈdɪsəplənri/ adj : intended to correct or punish bad behavior : of or relating to discipline • a disciplinary hearing • taking disciplinary action • The committee is considering disciplinary measures against him.

¹dis-ci-pline /ˈdɪsəplən/ noun, pl -plines

1 [noncount] a : control that is gained by requiring that rules or orders be obeyed and punishing bad behavior • The teacher has a hard time maintaining discipline in the classroom. b : a way of behaving that shows a willingness to obey rules or orders • The troops were praised for their dedication and discipline. c : behavior that is judged by how well it follows a set of rules or orders • poor discipline • maintaining good discipline d : punishment for bad behavior • Some parents feel that the school's principal has been too harsh in meting out discipline.

2 [noncount] : the ability to keep working at something that is difficult • I tried learning the piano, but I lacked the discipline [=self-discipline] to stick with it. • He doesn't have the discipline [=self-control] to stay on his diet.

3 [count] : an activity that is done regularly as a way of training yourself to do something or to improve your behavior • Keeping a journal is a good discipline for a writer.

4 [count] : a field of study : a subject that is taught • She has received training in several academic disciplines.

discipline verb -plines; -plined; -plin-ing [+ obj]
1 : to punish (someone) as a way of making sure that rules or orders are obeyed • She was disciplined for misbehaving in class. • He seems unwilling or unable to discipline his children. • disciplining the troops
2 : to train (yourself) to do something by controlling your behavior • I'm trying to discipline myself to eat less.
– disciplined adj [more ~; most ~] • I'm not disciplined enough to exercise everyday. • We need a more disciplined approach if the program is to be successfully implemented. • an orderly and disciplined mind disc jockey noun, pl ~-eys [count] : a person who plays popular recorded music on the radio or at a party or nightclub — called also DJ, (informal) deejay dis-claim /dis'kleim/ verb -claims; -claimed; -claim-ing [+ obj] formal : to say that you do not have (something, such as knowledge, responsibility, etc.) • The government disclaimed [=disavowed] any knowledge of his activities. • She disclaimed [(less formally) denied] all responsibility for the accident.

dis-claim-er /dis'kleimə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a statement that is meant to prevent an incorrect understanding of something (such as a book, a movie, or an advertisement) • The documentary opens with a disclaimer that many of its scenes are “fictional re-creations” of real events.

dis-close /dis'klouz/ verb -clos-es; -closed; -clos-ing [+ obj] : to make (something) known to the public • He refused to disclose the source of his information. • The company has disclosed that it will be laying off thousands of workers later this year. • The identity of the victim has not yet been disclosed.
– dis-clos-er noun, pl -ers [count]

dis-clo-sure /dis'klouzə/ noun, pl -sures
1 [noncount] : the act of making something known : the act of disclosing something • We demand full disclosure of the facts.
2 [count] : something (such as information) that is made known or revealed : something that is disclosed • This is just the latest in a series of shocking disclosures [=revelations] about his criminal past.

dis-co /'diskou/ noun, pl -cos
1 [count] : a nightclub where people dance to recorded popular music
2 [noncount] : a type of popular dance music

dis-col-or (US) or Brit dis-col-our /dis'kalə/ verb -ors; -ored; -or-ing : to change in color especially in a bad way [no obj] The fabric is guaranteed not to discolor. [+ obj] The wine stain discolored the rug.
– discolored adj [more ~; most ~] • badly discolored teeth dis-col-or-a-tion /dis,kalə'reɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the act of changing color in a bad way • The medicine may cause discoloration [=staining] of the teeth.
2 [count] : a discolored spot or area • His shirt has a small discoloration [=stain] on the sleeve.

dis-com-fit /dis'kamfət/ verb -fits; -fit-ed; -fit-ing [+ obj] formal : to make (someone) confused or upset — often used as (be) discomfited • The governor was clearly discomfited [=disconcerted] by the question.
– discomfitting adj [more ~; most ~] • She bears a discomfitting resemblance to one of my old teachers. — dis-com-fi-ture /dis'kamfəʃə/ noun [noncount] • His discomfiture was obvious.

dis-com-fort /dis'kamfət/ noun, pl -forts
1 : an uncomfortable or painful feeling in the body [non-count] The patient is still experiencing some discomfort. [count] the discomforts of pregnancy
2 [noncount] : a feeling of being somewhat worried, unhappy, etc. • These new developments are being watched with discomfort by many of our allies.

discomfort verb -forts; -fort-ed; -fort-ing [+ obj] formal : to make (someone) uncomfortable, worried, etc. — often used as (be) discomforted • Some audience members were discomforted by the graphic violence.
– discomforting adj [more ~; most ~] • discomforting questions/thoughts dis-con-cert /,diskən'sæt/ verb -certs; -cert-ed; -cer-ting [+ obj] somewhat formal : to make (someone) upset or embarrassed • News of his criminal past has disconcerted even his admirers. — often used as (be) disconcerted • I was disconcerted by her tone of voice.

– disconcerted /,diskən'sætəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] • We were very disconcerted to learn that our flight had been canceled. — disconcerting /,diskən'sætɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] • I found it disconcerting to be left alone in her office. • He has a disconcerting habit of answering a question with another question. — dis-con-cert-ing-ly adv

dis-con-nect /,diskə'nekt/ verb -nects; -nect-ed; -nect-ing [+ obj]

1 : to separate (something) from something else : to break a connection between two or more things • disconnect a hose • The hose and faucet had been disconnected. — often + from • Disconnect the hose from the faucet.

2 a : to stop or end the supply of electricity, water, gas, etc., to (something, such as a piece of electronic equipment) • Disconnect the old printer and connect the new one. • The alarm system had been disconnected. b : to stop or end the supply of (electricity, water, gas, etc.) • Before starting, be sure to disconnect the power supply. • Our landlord threatened to disconnect our electricity.

3 : to end the connection to a system, network, etc., through a telephone, computer, or other device • We were talking on the phone but suddenly we got disconnected. • I got disconnected when I was surfing the Internet. [=I lost my Internet connection] — opposite CONNECT

– dis-con-nec-tion /,diskə'nekʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] telephone disconnections [noncount] disconnection from a power source

disconnected adj
1 : not connected to something (such as a power source) • The phone lines are all disconnected. • a disconnected television set

2 [more ~; most ~] : not having parts joined together in a logical way • Her biography reads like a series of disconnected stories. • a disconnected [=incoherent] speech

– dis-con-nect-ed-ness noun [noncount]

dis-con-so-late /dis'kɑːnsələt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : very unhappy or sad • Campaign workers grew increasingly disconsolate as the results came in.

– dis-con-so-late-ly adv

dis-con-tent /,diskən'tent/ noun [noncount] : a feeling of unhappiness or disapproval : a lack of contentment • The survey indicates public discontent [=dissatisfaction] with the current administration. • There was widespread discontent [(less commonly) discontentment] over the court's ruling. — opposite CONTENTMENT discontent adj [more ~; most ~] : not pleased or satisfied : DISCONTENTED • Polls show that voters are growing increasingly discontent.

– dis-con-tent-ment /,diskən'tentmənt/ noun [noncount] dis-con-tent-ed /,diskən'tentəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not happy with your situation, position, etc. : not content-ed • discontented employees — often + with • She's been feeling discontented with life in general.

– dis-con-tent-ed-ly adv

dis-con-tin-ue /,diskən'tɪnju/ verb -tin-ues; -tin-ued; -tin-u-ing [+ obj]

1 : to end (something) : STOP • He discontinued his visits to the psychiatrist. • She chose to discontinue her studies. — often used as (be) discontinued • The treatment has been discontinued.

2 : to stop making or offering (a product, service, etc.) • The company has announced that the current model will be discontinued next year. • They are planning to discontinue bus service between the two towns.

– discontinued adj • They're having a sale on discontinued models. • a discontinued line of products — dis-con-tin-u-a-tion /,diskən'tɪnju'eɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the discontinuation of services

dis-con-ti-nu-i-ty /dis,kɑːntə'nuːwəti, Brit dis,kɒntə'njuːwəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the quality or state of not being continuous : lack of continuity • There is a sense of discontinuity between the book's chapters.

2 [count] : a change or break in a process • Some patients have experienced delays or discontinuities [=gaps] in their care.

dis-con-tin-u-ous /,diskən'tɪnjəwəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not continuous : having interruptions or gaps • discontinuous sleep • a discontinuous series of events dis-cord /'dis,kɔəd/ noun, pl -cords formal

1 [noncount] : lack of agreement between people, ideas, etc. • marital discord [=conflict] • discord between political parties •

The city has long been known as a scene of racial intolerance and discord.

2 : an unpleasant combination of musical notes [count] The song ends on a discord. [noncount] musical discord dis-cord-ant /dɪs'kɔːdnt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : harsh or unpleasant in sound • discordant music

2 : not agreeing : not in harmony • She has the difficult task of bringing together a number of discordant elements. • discordant opinions ✧ To strike/sound a discordant note means to express an opinion that disagrees with what other people are saying. • Most reviewers loved the show, but one critic struck a discordant note, finding it "trite and predictable."

dis-co-theque /,dɪskə'tek/ noun, pl -theques [count] : DISCO 1

1 dis-count /'dɪs,kaʊnt/ noun, pl -counts [count] : an amount taken off a regular price : a price reduction • The store offers a two percent discount when customers pay in cash. • We were able to buy our tickets at a discount [=for less than the usual price]

2 discount adj, always used before a noun

1 : selling goods or services at reduced prices • a discount store/chain/retailer • discount airlines

2 : offered or sold at a reduced price • discount tickets

3 : cheaper than usual • discount prices/rates

3 discount verb -counts; -count-ed; -count-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to lower the amount of (a bill, price, etc.) • The vacation plan included a discounted price/rate on our hotel room. b : to lower the price of (a product) • Car dealers are heavily discounting last year's unsold models.

2 a : to think of (something) as having little importance or value • You shouldn't discount [=minimize] the importance of studying. b : to believe that (something, such as information, a rumor, etc.) is not worth serious attention • We can't discount [=dismiss, disregard] the possibility that the economy will worsen in the near future. • These threats cannot be entirely discounted.

dis-cour-age /dɪ'skʌrɪdʒ/ verb -ag-es; -aged; -ag-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (someone) less determined, hopeful, or confident • Try not to let losing discourage you. — often used (be/get) discouraged • We were discouraged by their lack of enthusiasm. • Students may get discouraged by activities that are too advanced.

2 a : to make (something) less likely to happen • The area's dry climate discourages agriculture. • He claims the new regulations will discourage investment. b : to try to make people not want to do (something) • The purpose of the law is to discourage [=deter] speeding. • That type of behavior ought to be discouraged. ✧ To discourage (someone) from doing (something) is to tell or advise someone not to do something. • His parents discouraged him from watching too much television. [=told him he should not watch too much television] • They discouraged her from going. [=they told her why she should not go] — opposite ENCOURAGE — discouraged adj [more ~; most ~] • The team's losing streak has left many fans feeling hopeless and discouraged. [=downhearted, disheartened]

dis-cour-age-ment /dɪ'skʌrɪdʒmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 [noncount] : the act of making something less likely to happen or of making people less likely to do something • the discouragement of drug use among teenagers • He joined the army despite discouragement from his parents. [=despite being discouraged from joining by his parents]

2 [noncount] : a feeling of having lost hope or confidence • She expressed discouragement over the difficulty of finding a good job. • The team's losses have left fans with a feeling of discouragement.

3 [count] : something (such as a failure or difficulty) that discourages someone • He says that the tax is a discouragement to doing business in this state. • Despite the discouragements of the past week, we need to continue moving forward.

discouraging adj [more ~; most ~] : causing loss of hope or confidence • The team suffered another discouraging loss. • The latest test results were very discouraging. — opposite ENCOURAGING

— dis-cour-ag-ing-ly adv • discouragingly expensive

1 dis-course /'dɪs,kɔːs/ noun, pl -cours-es formal

1 [noncount] : the use of words to exchange thoughts and ideas • It's a word that doesn't have much use in ordinary discourse. [=conversation] • He likes to engage in lively discourse with his visitors. • public/political discourse

2 [count] : a long talk or piece of writing about a subject •

She delivered an entertaining discourse on the current state of the film industry.

2 dis-course /dɪ'skɔːs/ verb -cours-es; -cours-ed; -cours-ing [no obj] formal : to talk about something especially for a long time • She could discourse for hours on/about almost any subject.

dis-cour-te-ous /dɪs'kɔːtɪəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : rude or impolite : not showing good manners • The waiter was discourteous to me. • It was thoughtless and discourteous to leave us waiting so long. — opposite COURTEOUS

— dis-cour-te-ous-ly adv • They treated us discourteously.

— dis-cour-te-ous-ness noun [noncount]

dis-cour-te-sy /dɪs'kɔːtəsi/ noun, pl -sies formal

1 [noncount] : rude or impolite behavior • They've received many complaints about customers being treated with disrespect and discourtesy. [=rudeness]

2 [count] : a rude act • His tardiness was just another in a series of small discourtesies.

dis-cov-er /dɪ'skʌvə/ verb -ers; -ered; -er-ing [+ obj]

1 : to see, find, or become aware of (something) for the first time • Christopher Columbus discovered the New World in 1492. • Several new species of plants have recently been discovered. • Scientists claim to have discovered [=found] a new way of controlling high blood pressure. • It took her several weeks to discover the solution. • His life was never the same after he discovered sailing. [=after he first went sailing; after he found how much he enjoyed sailing]

2 : to show the presence of (something hidden or difficult to see) : to make (something) known • The autopsy discovered [=revealed, uncovered] traces of poison in the victim's blood. • The tests have discovered problems in the current design.

3 : to learn or find out (something surprising or unexpected) • I was surprised to discover [=realize] that I had lost my keys.

• She soon discovered what had been going on.

4 : to find out about and help (a talented new performer, writer, etc.) • During her career she was responsible for discovering many now famous musicians.

— dis-cov-er-er noun, pl -ers [count] • The species is named for its discoverer.

dis-cov-ery /dɪ'skʌvəri/ noun, pl -er-ies

1 : the act of finding or learning something for the first time : the act of discovering something [count] Scientists announced the discovery of a new species of plant. • Her research led to a number of important discoveries about the disease. • Reporters made the shocking discovery that the governor had been unfaithful to his wife. • the discovery of pollution in the river • the discovery of a talented musician [noncount] voyages of discovery [=voyages that are done to discover and learn about new places, people, etc.] • sailors during the age of discovery

2 [count] : something seen or learned for the first time : something discovered • recent archaeological discoveries • It was one of the most important discoveries in the history of medicine.

1 dis-cred-it /dɪs'kredət/ verb -its; -it-ed; -it-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause (someone or something) to seem dishonest or untrue • The prosecution discredited the witness by showing that she had lied in the past. • Many of his theories have been thoroughly discredited.

2 : to damage the reputation of (someone) • an attempt to discredit the governor

— dis-cred-it-able /dɪs'kredətəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • discreditable conduct — dis-cred-it-ably /dɪs'kredətəbli/ adv

2 discredit noun [noncount] : loss of reputation or respect — often used with bring • His criminal activities brought discredit on/upon/to his family. • This scandal has brought the whole enterprise into lasting discredit. ✧ Something that is to your discredit causes people to have a less favorable opinion of you. • To our discredit, we failed to offer help when it was most needed.

dis-creet /dɪ'skri:t/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 — used to suggest that someone is being careful about not allowing something from being known or noticed by many people • a discreet way to handle the problem • She was always very discreet about her personal life. • He made discreet inquiries about the job. • He maintained a discreet silence. — opposite INDISCREET

2 : not likely to be seen or noticed by many people • A photographer followed the bride and groom at a discreet [=unobtrusive] distance.

Do not confuse discreet with discrete.

— dis-creet-ly adv • a letter discreetly hidden in the pages of an old book dis-crep-an-cy /dɪ'skrepənsɪ/ noun, pl -cies : a difference especially between things that should be the same [count] Discrepancies in the firm's financial statements led to an investigation. • There were discrepancies between their accounts of the accident. [noncount] There is some discrepancy [=disagreement] between the results of the two studies.

dis-crete /dɪ'skri:t/ adj, formal : separate and different from each other • The process can be broken down into a number of discrete [=separate, individual] steps.

Do not confuse discrete with discreet.

— dis-crete-ly adv

dis-cre-tion /dɪ'skreʃən/ noun [noncount]

1 : the right to choose what should be done in a particular situation • Each artist in the gallery has discretion over the price that will be charged for his or her work. • The coach used/exercised his own discretion to let the injured quarterback play. • The amount each person contributes will be left to the discretion of the individual. [=each person will decide how much he or she will contribute] • Because of the violence in the movie, parental discretion is advised. [=parents are advised to think about whether or not they want their children to see the movie] ♦ Something that is done at your discretion is done if, how, when, etc., you choose to do it. • You can cancel the service at your (own) discretion. [=you can cancel the service whenever you choose] • Exactly how much to tip a server is at the discretion of the customer.

2 : the quality of being careful about what you do and say so that people will not be embarrassed or offended : the quality of being discreet • He always uses care and discretion when dealing with others. • She handled the awkward situation with great discretion. • She is the soul of discretion. [=she is very discreet] — opposite INDISCRETION.

discretion is the better part of valor — used to say that it is better to be careful than to do something that is dangerous and unnecessary dis-cre-tion-ary /dɪ'skreʃəneri, Brit dɪ'skreʃənri/ adj

1 : available to be used when and how you decide • She has enough discretionary income [=income that is left after paying for things that are essential, such as food and housing] to pay for a nice vacation each year.

2 : done or used when necessary • the governor's discretionary power

dis-crim-i-nate /dɪ'skrɪməneɪt/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing

1 [no obj] : to unfairly treat a person or group of people differently from other people or groups • The school is not allowed to discriminate. • It is illegal to discriminate on the grounds/basis of race/sex. [=it is illegal to treat someone differently because of his or her race/sex] — often + against • The firm discriminated against him because of his race.

2 somewhat formal : to notice and understand that one thing is different from another thing : to recognize a difference between things [+ obj] He is old enough to discriminate [=distinguish, tell] right from wrong. • I can discriminate [=differentiate] the individual voices in the choir. [no obj] — often + among or between • He could discriminate among the birds by their calls. • She can discriminate between ripe and unripe fruit by smell alone.

discriminating adj [more ~; most ~] approving : liking only things that are of good quality : able to recognize the difference between things that are of good quality and those that are not • a discriminating audience • Those with more discriminating [=discerning] tastes are likely to find the movie dull and clichéd.

dis-crim-i-na-tion /dɪ'skrɪməneɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the practice of unfairly treating a person or group of people differently from other people or groups of people • racial/sexual/religious discrimination = discrimination based on race/sex/religion = discrimination on the basis of race/sex/religion • The law prohibits discrimination in hiring. • He sued the company for age discrimination. • blatant forms of discrimination — often + against • Company policy does not allow discrimination against women.

2 [noncount] formal a : the ability to recognize the difference between things that are of good quality and those that are not • Those with more discrimination [=discernment] are likely to find the movie dull and clichéd. b : the ability to understand that one thing is different from another thing •

the animal's impressive scent/visual discrimination

3 [count] : a difference that is understood or recognized • He was able to make discriminations among/between the birds by their calls. [=able to distinguish the birds by their calls]

dis-crim-i-na-to-ry /dɪ'skrɪmənətori, Brit dɪ'skrɪmənətri/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not fair : unfairly treating a person or group of people differently from other people or groups of people • The law prohibits discriminatory hiring practices. • discriminatory treatment of minorities dis-cur-sive /dɪ'skʌsɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : talking or writing about many different things in a way that is not highly organized • The instructor gave a discursive [=rambling] lecture that wandered from one topic to another. • discursive prose — dis-cur-sive-ly adv • He writes discursively.

dis-cus /'dɪskʌs/ noun, pl -cus-es

1 [count] : a heavy flat round object that people throw as far as they can as a sport • a discus thrower

2 the discus : an athletic event in which people compete by trying to throw a discus farther than everyone else • winner of the discus

dis-cuss /dɪ'skʌs/ verb -cuss-es; -cussed; -cus-sing [+ obj]

1 : to talk about (something) with another person or group • She discussed the plan with several colleagues. • They held a meeting to discuss the future of the company. • We'll discuss where to meet later. • Have you discussed the matter with your family?

2 : to give information, ideas, opinions, etc., about (something) in writing or speech • In the first chapter, the author discusses childcare issues. • The article discusses the theory in depth.

dis-cus-sion /dɪ'skʌʃən/ noun, pl -sions

1 : the act of talking about something with another person or a group of people : a conversation about something [count] The class was involved in a heated discussion about politics. • I hope to have a discussion with them about the matter soon. [noncount] After much discussion of the plan, the idea was rejected entirely. • She usually has an opinion about whatever subject/topic/issue is under discussion. [=being talked about] • During the period under discussion, the town grew in size. • The smoking ban is a major topic of discussion these days. • The proposal is up for discussion [=the proposal will be talked about] at today's meeting.

2 [count] : a speech or piece of writing that gives information, ideas, opinions, etc., about something • The article is an in-depth discussion of his theories. • The first chapter includes a discussion of childcare issues.

dis-dain /dɪ'sdeɪn/ noun [singular] : a feeling of strong dislike or disapproval of someone or something you think does not deserve respect • He glared at the waiter with a look of disdain [=contempt, scorn] on his face. • He regarded their proposal with disdain. • I have a healthy disdain for companies that mistreat their workers.

dis-dain verb -dains; -dained; -dain-ing [+ obj] formal

1 : to strongly dislike or disapprove of (someone or something) • They disdained him for being weak. • teenagers who disdain [=loathe, detest] authority • a critic who disdains [=abhors, hates] all modern art • She disdains gambling.

2 : to refuse to do (something) because of feelings of dislike or disapproval • She disdained to answer their questions.

dis-dain-ful /dɪ'sdeɪnfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : felling strong dislike or disapproval for something or someone you think does not deserve respect : feeling or showing disdain • He looked at the waiter with a disdainful glare. • a disdainful attitude toward authority — often + of • a critic who is disdainful of all modern art — dis-dain-ful-ly adv • He glared disdainfully at the waiter.

dis-ease /dɪ'zi:z/ noun, pl -eas-es

1 : an illness that affects a person, animal, or plant : a condition that prevents the body or mind from working normally [count] infectious/contagious diseases • He suffers from a rare genetic disease. • a deadly/debilitating disease • a disease of the mind/kidneys • diseases of poultry [noncount] Thousands die of heart disease each year. • They are working to stop the spread of disease in rural areas. • gum/liver disease

discus

2 [count] : a problem that a person, group, organization, or society has and cannot stop • The article cites intolerance as one of the most dangerous of society's diseases. • He sees crime as a disease that too often plagues the poor and disadvantaged.

– dis-eased /dɪˈziːzd/ adj [more ~; most ~] • She removed the diseased tree limbs. • diseased cells/lungs/plants • a diseased mind dis-em-bark /ˌdɪsəmˈbɑːk/ verb -barks; -barked; -barking

1 [no obj] : to leave a ship or airplane • The plane's crew members were the last ones to disembark. • Passengers disembarked [=debarked] from the ship. — opposite EMBARK

2 [+ obj] : to remove (something or someone) from a ship or airplane • They disembarked [(more commonly) unloaded] the cargo at the dock.

– dis-em-bar-ka-tion /ˌdɪs,ɛm,bɑːˈkeɪʃən/ noun [non-count]

dis-em-bod-ied /ˌdɪsəmˈbɑːdɪd/ adj

1 : not having a body • disembodied spirits : not attached to a body • a disembodied head

2 : coming from a person who cannot be seen • We heard disembodied voices coming over the speakers.

dis-em-bow-el /ˌdɪsəmˈbawəl/ verb -els; US -eled or Brit

-elled; US -el-ing or Brit -el-ling [+ obj] : to take the stomach, intestines, etc., out of (an animal or person) : to remove the bowels of (an animal or person) • The fierce cat uses its claws to disembowel its prey. — sometimes used figuratively • Critics say that the spending cuts will disembowel the program.

– dis-em-bow-el-ment /ˌdɪsəmˈbawəlment/ noun [non-count]

dis-em-pow-er /ˌdɪsɪmˈpawə/ verb -ers; -ered; -er-ing [+

obj] : to cause (a person or a group of people) to be less likely than others to succeed : to prevent (a person or group) from having power, authority, or influence • They have been disempowered by a society that believes they are intellectually inferior. • disempowered minorities — opposite EMPOWER – dis-em-pow-er-ment /ˌdɪsɪmˈpawəment/ noun [non-count] • the disempowerment of minorities

dis-en-chant-ed /ˌdɪsɪnˈtʃæntəd, Brit ˌdɪsɪnˈtʃɑːntəd/ adj

[more ~; most ~] : no longer happy or satisfied with something • disenchanted voters — often + with • He became more disenchanted [=dissatisfied] with his job every day.

– dis-en-chant-ment /ˌdɪsɪnˈtʃæntmənt, Brit ˌdɪsɪnˈtʃɑːntmənt/ noun [noncount] • voter disenchantment • He talked about his growing disenchantment with his job.

dis-en-fran-chise /ˌdɪsɪnˈfræn,tʃaɪz/ verb -chis-es;

-chised; -chis-ing [+ obj] : to prevent (a person or group of people) from having the right to vote • They disenfranchised poor people by making property ownership a requirement for registering to vote. • disenfranchised minorities — opposite ENFRANCHISE

– dis-en-fran-chise-ment /ˌdɪsɪnˈfræn,tʃaɪzmənt/ noun [noncount] • the disenfranchisement of minorities dis-en-gage /ˌdɪsnˈgeɪdʒ/ verb -gag-es; -gaged; -gag-ing

1 : to separate from someone or something [no obj] The two dancers moved together in a series of quick movements before disengaging and leaping apart. [+ obj] — usually + from • I was trying to disengage [=free] myself from the safety harness.

2 [no obj] : to stop being involved with a person or group : to stop taking part in something — usually + from • He began to disengage [(more commonly) withdraw] from the family when he was 15 or so.

3 : to move (a mechanism or part of a machine) so that it no longer fits into another part [+ obj] Put the car in gear, and then slowly disengage the clutch while pressing on the gas pedal. [no obj] If there is a malfunction, the gears will automatically disengage. — opposite ENGAGE

4 military : to order (a group of soldiers) to stop fighting and move away from an area [+ obj] The government says it will gradually disengage [=withdraw] soldiers from the region. [no obj] Troops in the area have begun to disengage. [=withdraw] – dis-en-gaged /ˌdɪsnˈgeɪdʒd/ adj [more ~; most ~] • She became more and more disengaged [=withdrawn] as her depression worsened. — dis-en-gage-ment /ˌdɪsnˈgeɪdʒmənt/ noun [noncount] • emotional disengagement [=withdrawal] • disengagement of the clutch • the disengagement of troops from the region

dis-en-tan-gle /ˌdɪsɪnˈtæŋɡəl/ verb -tan-gles; -tan-gled; -tan-ling [+ obj]

1 : to separate (things that are twisted together or caught on one another) • I can't disentangle [=untangle] the wires/hangers. — often + from • She was trying to disentangle her hair from her necklace. — often used figuratively • She finally disentangled herself from a bad relationship.

2 : to remove the twists or knots in (something) • disentangle [=untangle] a knotted string/rope

– dis-en-tan-gle-ment /ˌdɪsɪnˈtæŋɡəlmənt/ noun [non-count]

dis-equi-lib-ri-um /ˌdɪs,iːkwəˈlɪbriəm/ noun [singular] formal + technical : a loss or lack of balance • The condition is caused by a disequilibrium in the brain's chemistry. • the disequilibrium of power dis-es-tab-lish /ˌdɪsəˈstæblɪʃ/ verb -lish-es; -lished;

-lish-ing [+ obj] formal : to take away a particular church's status as the official church of a nation or state • efforts to disestablish the Church of England

– dis-es-tab-lish-ment /ˌdɪsəˈstæblɪʃmənt/ noun [non-count]

¹dis-fa-vor (US) or Brit dis-fa-vour /dɪsˈfeɪvə/ noun [non-count] formal

1 : a feeling of disapproval or dislike • He regarded their proposal with disfavor. • They looked with disfavor upon her.

2 : the condition of being disapproved of or disliked • The theory has long been in disfavor. [=the theory has been unpopular for a long time] • The style tell into disfavor [=became unpopular] a decade ago.

²disfavor (US) or Brit disfavour verb -vors; -vored; -vor-ing [+ obj] formal

1 : to disapprove of or dislike (someone or something) • Some bar owners disfavor [(more commonly) are against] the ban on smoking.

2 : to make it more difficult for (a person, organization, etc.) to succeed or achieve something than it is for another person, organization, etc. • The current laws favor large businesses and disfavor smaller businesses.

dis-fig-ure /dɪsˈfɪɡjə, Brit dɪsˈfɪɡə/ verb -ures; -ured; -uring [+ obj] : to spoil or damage the appearance of (something or someone) • His face was disfigured by a scar. • Vandals disfigured [(more commonly) defaced] the wall with graffiti.

– disfigured adj [more ~; most ~] • The fire left her horribly disfigured. — dis-fig-ure-ment /dɪsˈfɪɡjəmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count] His disfigurements were caused by an accident. [noncount] The lifesaving operation will cause some disfigurement. — disfiguring adj • disfiguring surgery dis-gorge /dɪsˈɡɔːdʒ/ verb -gorg-es; -gorged; -gor-ging

1 [+ obj] somewhat formal : to empty whatever is in the stomach through the mouth • The cat coughed and then disgorged [(more commonly) vomited, threw up] a wad of hair.

2 a [+ obj] : to let out or release (something) • We watched the airplane disgorging its passengers at the gate. • The damaged ship disgorged thousands of gallons of oil into the bay. b [no obj] : to flow out • The river disgorges into the ocean just south of the city.

¹dis-grace /dɪˈskreɪs/ verb -grac-es; -graced; -grac-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause (someone) to feel ashamed • Her behavior disgraced [=shamed] the whole family.

2 : to cause (someone or something) to lose or become unworthy of respect or approval • Many feel that the mayor has disgraced the town government by accepting personal favors from local businesspeople. • He felt he had disgraced himself by failing at school. — often used as (be) disgraced • The administration was disgraced by the scandal.

²disgrace noun

1 [noncount] : the condition of feeling ashamed or of losing or becoming unworthy of respect or approval • The secret was protected out of a fear of political disgrace. • The family is enduring the disgrace [=dishonor, shame] of scandal/suicide. • Many feel that the mayor has brought disgrace upon/on the town. • She was forced to leave in disgrace.

2 [singular] : something that you are or should be ashamed of • His table manners are a disgrace. • It is an absolute/utter disgrace [=shame] that the city has ignored the problem for so long. • The health-care system is a national disgrace. • It is no disgrace to be poor. [=you should not feel ashamed because you are poor] — often + to • The politicians responsible for this scandal are a disgrace to their country.

– dis-grace-ful /dɪ'skreɪsfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • her disgraceful behavior • His table manners are disgraceful. • It's disgraceful that the city has ignored the problem for so long. — dis-grace-ful-ly adv • He behaved disgracefully. • disgracefully selfish dis-grun-tled /dɪs'grʌntɪd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : unhappy and annoyed • She has to deal with disgruntled customers all day. • disgruntled employees • He was disgruntled over the lack of recognition he received.

¹dis-guise /də'skɑːrɪz/ verb -guis-es; -guised; -guis-ing [+ obj]

1 : to change the usual appearance, sound, taste, etc., of (someone or something) so that people will not recognize that person or thing • He tried to disguise his voice on the phone but I could tell it was him. • She disguised herself in a wig and glasses. — often + as • The journalist traveled the city disguised as [=dressed like; pretending to be] a beggar. • She disguised herself as a musician to get into the concert hall early.

2 : to hide (something) so that it will not be seen or noticed • I could not disguise [=hide] my surprise. • They disguised [=masked] their true feelings. • We disguised the fact that we were disappointed. • I was aware of her thinly disguised [=poorly hidden] hostility.

²disguise noun, pl -guis-es

1 [count] : clothes or other things that you wear so that people will not recognize you • He wore a disguise of glasses, a fake mustache, and a cap.

2 [noncount] : the act of changing your appearance so that people will not recognize you • The famous thief is known to be a master of disguise.

a blessing in disguise see BLESSING in disguise 1 : wearing a disguise • I've heard that she sometimes travels around the country in disguise. 2 : made to look like something else : presented as another thing • He says that the new fee is really just a tax increase in disguise.

¹dis-gust /dɪ'skʌst/ noun [noncount]

1 : a strong feeling of dislike for something that has a very unpleasant appearance, taste, smell, etc. • He eyed the greasy food with disgust. • As the smell of garbage drifted through the air, she wrinkled her nose in disgust.

2 : annoyance and anger that you feel toward something because it is not good, fair, appropriate, etc. • He talked about his disgust with/at the way the news media focuses on celebrities. • Much to the disgust of some listeners, the speech was interrupted several times by a few people in the audience. • She shook her head in disgust when I described the scene.

²disgust verb -gusts; -gust-ed; -gust-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause (someone) to have a strong feeling of dislike for something especially because it has a very unpleasant appearance, taste, smell, etc. • The greasy food they were serving disgusted [=repulsed] him. • She's a vegetarian because the idea of eating meat totally disgusts her.

2 of something bad, unfair, improper, etc. : to cause (someone) to feel very annoyed and angry • The way the news media focuses on celebrities disgusts [=revolts] me. • The photographs disgust some people.

disgusted adj [more ~; most ~] : very annoyed or angry about something : feeling or showing disgust • He's disgusted by all the attention people give to celebrities. • He had a disgusted expression on his face. • She was disgusted with herself for not knowing the answer.

– dis-gust-ed-ly adv • He turned away disgustedly and walked out the door.

disgusting adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : so unpleasant to see, smell, taste, consider, etc., that you feel slightly sick • The food was disgusting. [= (informally) gross] • She finds the idea of eating meat totally disgusting. [=repulsive] • a disgusting [=repugnant] photograph

2 : so bad, unfair, inappropriate, etc., that you feel annoyed and angry • I think the way the news media focuses on celebrities is disgusting. [=repugnant] • What a disgusting way to treat people.

– dis-gust-ing-ly /dɪ'skʌstɪŋli/ adv • disgustingly greasy food • disgustingly filthy • (informal + humorous) a disgustingly good player [=an extremely good player]

¹dish /dɪʃ/ noun, pl dish-es

1 [count] a : a shallow container that you cook or serve food in • a baking/serving dish [=a container used to bake/

serve food] • a casserole/pie dish [=a container used to bake a casserole/pie]; specifically : a shallow bowl • a candy dish [=a container used to serve candy] • the cat's food/water dish b : the food served in a dish • a dish of strawberries • a small dish of ice cream

2 [count] : food that is prepared in a particular way • Each person made a dish for the potluck supper. • The restaurant serves some of my favorite dishes. • a fish/pasta/potato dish [=food that has fish/pasta/potatoes as a main ingredient] • The main dish [=the biggest dish of a meal] was poached salmon, and it was served with a side dish [=a food that is served at the same time as the main dish] of spinach.

3 dishes [plural] : all the things (such as plates, forks, glasses, pans, cooking utensils, etc.) that are used to prepare, serve, and eat a meal • We piled all the dishes in the sink after dinner. • Will you wash the breakfast dishes, please? • a sink full of dirty dishes • It's your turn to do the dishes. [=wash the dishes]

4 [count] a : a shallow container that holds something other than food • a soap dish b : something that is shaped like a shallow bowl • Do you have cable TV or a dish? [=an antenna shaped like a dish that receives television signals from a satellite] • a dish antenna — see also PETRI DISH, SATELLITE DISH

5 [singular] informal + old-fashioned : a sexually attractive person • I hear your cousin is a dish. [=hottie]

²dish verb dishes; dished; dish-ing [no obj] slang : to talk about the personal life of someone else : GOSSIP • The two of them are always dishing about their coworkers.

dish out [phrasal verb] dish out (something) also dish (something) out informal 1 : to serve (food) • The restaurant dishes out more than 500 meals every night. 2 : to give (something) freely or in large amounts • She dishes out advice to anyone who'll listen. • He's always dishing out money and gifts to his grandchildren. 3 dish it out : to criticize other people • He can dish it out, but he can't take it. [=he likes to criticize other people, but he doesn't like being criticized]

dish (the) dirt see DIRT

dish up [phrasal verb] dish up (something) also dish (something) up informal : to put (food) into a dish or dishes for serving or eating • dish up some soup — sometimes used figuratively • The movie dishes up [=serves up] a wild mix of sex and violence.

dis-har-mo-ny /dɪs'hɑːməni/ noun [noncount] somewhat formal : lack of agreement that often causes unhappiness or trouble • a period of disharmony [=discord] between the two groups • Money problems are often a source of marital disharmony. [=strife]

– dis-har-mo-ni-ous /dɪs'hɑː'mouniəs/ adj • a disharmonious relationship dish-cloth /'dɪʃ,kləθ/ noun, pl -cloths [count] : a cloth that is used for washing dishes — called also (US) dish rag dish detergent noun, pl ~ -gents [count, noncount] US : liquid soap that is used for washing dishes — called also (US) dishwashing detergent, (US) dishwashing liquid, (Brit) washing-up liquid dis-heart-en /dɪs'hɑːtɪn/ verb -ens; -ened; -en-ing [+ obj] : to cause (a person or group of people) to lose hope, enthusiasm, or courage : to discourage (someone) • The conflict between their families disheartened them. — often used as (be) disheartened • I was disheartened by the news.

– disheartened adj [more ~; most ~] • I felt very disheartened. — disheartening adj [more ~; most ~] • a disheartening failure • It was disheartening to hear the news. — dis-heart-en-ing-ly adv

di-shev-eled (US) also Brit di-shev-elled /dɪ'ʃevəld/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not neat or tidy • His wrinkled suit gave him a disheveled appearance. • disheveled hair • They looked dirty and disheveled.

dis-hon-est /dɪs'hɑːnɛst/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not honest: such as a : saying or likely to say things that are untrue • I think he is being dishonest [=untruthful] about what he knows. • a dishonest car dealer b : containing information that is untrue • dishonest advertising • She gave dishonest answers to our questions. c : used to deceive someone • dishonest [=deceitful] business practices – dis-hon-est-ly adv • I think she answered our questions dishonestly. • They have been running their business dishonestly.

dis-hon-es-ty /dɪs'hɑːnɛsti/ noun [noncount] : lack of honesty : the quality of being untruthful or deceitful • dishonesty

in advertising • Are you accusing him of dishonesty? • her dishonesty about what happened

¹dis-hon-or (US) or Brit dis-hon-our /dis'ɑ:nə/ noun [non-count] somewhat formal : loss or lack of honor : damage to your reputation and loss of respect from other people • warriors who choose death before dishonor • She found it difficult to endure the dishonor [=disgrace] of being involved in a scandal. • He is afraid that his confession will bring dishonor on/upon the family. • There's no dishonor in doing manual labor. [=doing manual labor does not make you unworthy of respect]

²dishonor (US) or Brit dishonour verb -ors; -ored; -oring [+ obj] somewhat formal

1 : to cause (someone or something) to lose honor : to cause (someone or something) to no longer be respected • His actions dishonored [=brought dishonor on] the family. • Quitting now would dishonor [=disgrace] the memory of our predecessors.

2 : to fail to do what is required by (a promise, contract, etc.) : to fail to honor (something) • She dishonored her oath of office.

3 of a bank : to refuse to give out the money promised by (a check) • The bank dishonored my check. • a dishonored check dis-hon-or-able (US) or Brit dis-hon-our-able /dis'ɑ:nərəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not deserving honor or respect : not morally or socially acceptable • His dishonorable behavior has shamed the family. • dishonorable [=shameful] conduct • Her military career ended with a dishonorable discharge. [=she was forced to leave the military because of unacceptable behavior] — opposite HONORABLE — dis-hon-or-ably (US) or Brit dis-hon-our-ably /dis'ɑ:nərəbli/ adv • He behaved dishonorably.

dish-pan /'dɪʃ,pæn/ noun, pl -pans [count] US : a large usually plastic container with a flat bottom that holds water to wash dishes in dishpan hands noun [plural] chiefly US : hands that are red, rough, and sore because of washing a lot of dishes dish rack noun, pl ~ racks [count] US : a rack that you place dishes on so they can dry — see picture at KITCHEN dish-rag /'dɪʃ,ræg/ noun, pl -rags [count] US : DISHCLOTH dish towel noun, pl ~ -els [count] US : a cloth that is used for drying dishes — called also (Brit) tea cloth, (chiefly Brit) tea towel; see picture at KITCHEN dish-ware /'dɪʃ,weə/ noun [noncount] chiefly US : plates, bowls, cups, etc., that are usually part of a set dish-wash-er /'dɪʃ,wɑːʃə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person whose job is to wash dishes in a restaurant

2 : a machine that is used to wash dishes — see picture at KITCHEN

— dish-wash-ing /'dɪʃ,wɑːʃɪŋ/ adj • dishwashing soap dishwashing detergent noun, pl ~ -gents [count, non-count] US : DISH DETERGENT

dishwashing liquid noun, pl ~ -quids [count, noncount] US : DISH DETERGENT dish-wa-ter /'dɪʃ,wɑːtə/ noun [noncount] : water in which dishes have been or are going to be washed

(as) dull as dishwater US, informal : very boring or dull • The conversation was as dull as dishwater. [= (Brit) as dull as ditchwater] like dishwater informal : having very little flavor — used to describe soups or drinks • This coffee is like dishwater!

dishy /'dɪʃi/ adj dish-i-er; -est informal

1 : sexually attractive • a dishy actor

2 US : containing gossip or information about a usually famous person's private life • a dishy new biography dis-il-lu-sion /,dɪs'luːʒən/ verb -sions; -sioned; -sion-ing [+ obj] : to cause (someone) to stop believing that something is good, valuable, true, etc. • Working at that store for six months was enough to disillusion me about retail work.

— disillusion noun [noncount] • His disillusion [=disillusionment] with the job was obvious. — disillusioning adj [more ~; most ~] • a very disillusioning experience — dis-il-lu-sion-ment /,dɪs'luːʒənmənt/ noun [noncount] • Disillusionment with the city government grew as conditions worsened.

disillusioned adj [more ~; most ~] : having lost faith or trust in something : disappointed that something is not as good, valuable, true, etc., as it had seemed • a disillusioned journalist — often + with • She became more and more disillusioned with politics.

dis-in-cen-tive /,dɪsɪn'sentrɪv/ noun, pl -tives [count] : something that causes or that could cause a person to decide not to do something • We considered volunteering, but the complicated application process was a disincentive. • The complicated application process was a disincentive to volunteering our time. — opposite INCENTIVE dis-in-cli-na-tion /,dɪsɪn'kleɪnəʃən/ noun [singular] formal : a feeling of not wanting to do something : a tendency to avoid a particular activity — usually followed by to + verb • Her disinclination [=reluctance] to talk about her past made them all the more curious. — sometimes + for • a disinclination for [=dislike of] outdoor work dis-in-clined /,dɪsɪn'klaɪnd/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : not wanting to do something : not inclined to do something — usually followed by to + verb • I'm disinclined [=reluctant] to accept her explanation. • He seemed disinclined [=hesitant] to take part in the discussion.

dis-in-fect /,dɪsɪn'fekt/ verb -fects; -fect-ed; -fect-ing [+ obj]

1 : to clean (something) especially by using a chemical substance that kills all germs and bacteria • Chemicals were added to disinfect the water. • The wound needs to be disinfected. • a clean, disinfected knife

2 computers : to remove a virus from (a computer) by using a special program

— dis-in-fec-tion /,dɪsɪn'fekʃən/ noun [noncount] • methods of water disinfection

dis-in-fect-ant /,dɪsɪn'fektənt/ noun, pl -ants : a chemical substance that is used to kill harmful germs and bacteria : a substance that disinfects something [count] They use a strong disinfectant on the medical equipment. [noncount] a bottle of disinfectant • Clean the area with disinfectant.

dis-in-for-ma-tion /,dɪsɪnfə'meɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : false information that is given to people in order to make them believe something or to hide the truth • The government used disinformation to gain support for the policy. • a campaign of disinformation = a disinformation campaign — compare MISINFORMATION dis-in-gen-u-ous /,dɪsɪn'dʒenjəwəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : not truly honest or sincere : giving the false appearance of being honest or sincere • Her recent expressions of concern are self-serving and disingenuous. • a disingenuous response — compare INGENUOUS

— dis-in-gen-u-ous-ly adv • He claims disingenuously to have supported the plan from the beginning. — dis-in-gen-u-ous-ness noun [noncount] dis-in-her-it /,dɪsɪn'herət/ verb -its; -it-ed; -it-ing [+ obj] : to prevent (someone, such as your daughter or son) from having the legal right to receive your money or property after you die • She threatened to disinherit her son and leave him penniless.

dis-in-te-grate /,dɪsɪntə'greɪt/ verb -grates; -grat-ed; -grat-ing : to break apart into many small parts or pieces [no obj] The old iron hinge rusted and eventually disintegrated [=crumbled] into dust. • The paper will disintegrate if it gets wet. — often used figuratively • Their relationship gradually disintegrated. • With the rise of nationalism, the colonial empires began to disintegrate. [+ obj] The laser can disintegrate most kinds of rock.

— dis-in-te-gra-tion /,dɪsɪntə'greɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

dis-in-ter /,dɪsɪn'tə/ verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ring [+ obj] formal : to take (a body) out of a grave or tomb : to dig up (a body) • The body was disinterred for further study. — sometimes used figuratively • disinter an old manuscript dis-in-ter-est /,dɪsɪn'trəst/ noun [noncount]

1 : lack of interest • His proposal was met with complete disinterest. — often + in • Their disinterest in politics is obvious.

2 : the quality or state of not being influenced by personal feelings, opinions, or concerns • The jurors must look at the facts of the case with complete disinterest. [=objectivity, impartiality]

dis-in-ter-est-ed /,dɪsɪn'trəstəd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not influenced by personal feelings, opinions, or concerns • A disinterested [=unbiased, impartial] third party mediated the dispute. • the disinterested pursuit of truth

2 : having no desire to know about a particular thing : not interested — often + in • They are obviously disinterested [=uninterested] in politics. ♦ This sense is commonly used but some people consider it to be incorrect and say that “uninterested” should be used instead.

— dis-in-ter-est-ed-ly adv • observing disinterestedly

— dis-in-ter-est-ed-ness noun [noncount] • the disinterestedness of judges dis-in-vest /ˌdɪsɪnˈvest/ verb -vests; -vest-ed; -vest-ing [no obj] finance : to take your money out of an area, industry, company, etc., by selling property, shares, or stock • Several companies have disinvested from the country to protest its human rights policies. • disinvesting in real estate

— dis-in-vest-ment /ˌdɪsɪnˈvestmənt/ noun [noncount] • disinvestment in real estate dis-joint-ed /dɪsˈdʒɔɪntəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : lacking order and organization • She could hardly follow their disjointed [=incoherent, disconnected] conversation. • a disjointed narrative/book dis-junc-tion /dɪsˈdʒʌŋkʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] formal : a lack of connection between things that are related or should be connected — often + between • It is difficult to reconcile the disjunction between what he says and what he does.

dis-junc-tive /dɪsˈdʒʌŋktɪv/ adj, grammar : showing choice or opposition • “Or” and “but” are disjunctive conjunctions.

— disjunctive noun, pl -tives [count] • “Or” and “but” are disjunctives.

dis-junc-ture /dɪsˈdʒʌŋktʃə/ noun, pl -tures [count] formal : DISJUNCTION disk variant spelling of DISC disk drive noun, pl ~ drives [count] : a computer part that holds a computer disk or set of disks and that reads data from and copies data to disks dis-kette /ˌdɪˈsket/ noun, pl -kettes [count] computers : FLOPPY DISK

¹dis-like /dɪsˈlaɪk/ verb -likes; -liked; -lik-ing [+ obj] : to not like (something or someone) : to feel dislike for (something or someone) • I dislike basketball, but I enjoy baseball. • She dislikes [=she does not like] the cold weather. • He dislikes being interviewed. • Most people dislike it when they are told what to do.

²dislike noun, pl -likes

¹ [singular] : a feeling of not liking or approving of something or someone — often + of or for • His dislike of cats was obvious. • She developed a general dislike for journalists. ♦ If you take a dislike to someone or something, you begin to not like that person or thing. • They took an instant dislike to the new neighbors.

² [count] : something that you do not like, approve of, or enjoy — usually plural • among his dislikes • He soon knew all of her likes and dislikes.

dis-lo-cate /ˈdɪslouˌkeɪt/ verb -cates; -cat-ed; -cat-ing [+ obj]

¹ medical : to move (a bone) out of its normal location or position in a joint • She fell and dislocated her shoulder.

² chiefly US, formal : to force (someone or something) to move from a place or position • The new hotel will dislocate several businesses. • Thousands of workers have been dislocated by the latest economic crisis.

³ formal : to cause (a business, system, etc.) to change in some major way : to stop (something) from functioning as it used to function • economies dislocated [=disrupted] by war

— dislocated adj • a dislocated shoulder/finger/hip/wrist • (US) thousands of dislocated workers — dis-lo-ca-tion /ˌdɪslouˌkeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] patients with fractures and dislocations • the dislocations of war [noncount]

The brace will prevent recurring hip dislocation. • social and economic dislocation dis-lodge /dɪsˈlɑːdʒ/ verb -lodg-es; -lodged; -lodg-ing [+ obj] : to forcefully remove (something or someone) from a place or position • The earthquake dislodged several boulders from the cliff. • He kicked at the stone to dislodge it. • The army has dislodged enemy forces from their stronghold.

dis-loy-al /dɪsˈlɔɪəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : failing to support or be true to someone or something : not loyal or faithful to your friends, family, country, etc. • It would be disloyal to abandon them. • disloyal employees — often + to • a traitor disloyal to his country — dis-loy-al-ty /dɪsˈlɔɪəlti/ noun [noncount] • His disloyalty to the company led to his dismissal.

dis-mal /ˈdɪzməl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

¹ : showing or causing unhappiness or sad feelings : not warm, cheerful, etc. • a dark, dismal room • dismal [=gloomy, dreary] weather • The barren landscape looks dismal [=bleak, desolate] in winter.

² : very bad or poor • The show was a dismal failure. • a dismal performance • The team's record is dismal.

— dis-mal-ly adv • The show failed dismally.

dis-man-tle /dɪsˈmæntl/ verb -man-tles; -man-tled; -man-ting [+ obj]

¹ : to take (something, such as a machine or structure) apart so that it is in separate pieces • The mechanic dismantled the engine to repair it. • When will they dismantle the old bridge? • a dismantled power plant

² : to destroy (something) in an orderly way : to gradually cause (something) to come to an end • The after-school program was dismantled due to lack of funding. • He accuses them of trying to dismantle the country's legal system.

— dis-man-tle-ment /dɪsˈmæntlmənt/ noun [noncount] • the dismantlement of the power plant — dismantling noun [noncount] • the dismantling of old factories • the dismantling of government programs

¹dis-may /dɪsˈmeɪ/ verb -mays; -mayed; -may-ing [+ obj] : to cause (someone) to feel very worried, disappointed, or upset • Her choice of career dismays her parents. • What especially dismayed [=upset, bothered] me was that no one else protested.

— dismayed adj [more ~; most ~] • She was very dismayed to learn/discover that he was so ill. • I was dismayed by/at his indifference. — dismaying adj [more ~; most ~] • her dismaying indifference — dis-may-ing-ly /dɪsˈmeɪŋli/ adv • dismayingly indifferent

²dismay noun [noncount] : a strong feeling of being worried, disappointed, or upset • His comments were met with cries of dismay. • They watched in dismay as the house burned. • Much to the dismay of her fans, she announced her retirement immediately after the book's release. • To my dismay, I did not get chosen for the job. • We listened with dismay to the news of the accident.

dis-mem-ber /dɪsˈmembə/ verb -bers; -bered; -ber-ing [+ obj]

¹ : to cut or tear (a body) into pieces • The victims' bodies had been dismembered and buried in the basement. • a dismembered corpse

² formal : to separate (something) into smaller parts • dismembering a corporate empire

— dis-mem-ber-ment /dɪsˈmembəmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count, noncount]

dis-miss /dɪsˈmɪs/ verb -miss-es; -miss-ed; -mis-sing [+ obj]

¹ : to decide not to think about or consider (something or someone) • We dismissed his accusations. • We can't completely dismiss [=discount] the possibility that she's right. • I don't think we should dismiss the matter lightly. — often + as • His idea was dismissed as impractical. • For a long time they dismissed her as a silly old woman.

² : to send (someone) away : to cause or allow (someone) to leave • The students were dismissed early because of the snowstorm. • Class is dismissed. [=the class is over and students are free to leave]

³ : to officially make (someone) leave a job : to end the employment or service of (someone) • He was dismissed [=fired] from his job. • Several employees were recently dismissed.

⁴ law : to officially end or stop (something, such as a legal case) • The judge dismissed the case/suit. • All charges were dismissed. [=dropped]

— dis-miss-al /dɪsˈmɪsəl/ noun, pl -als [count] I was surprised by his dismissal of the idea. • A small group is protesting the dismissals of several employees. • the dismissal of the lawsuit [noncount] He still hopes to win his claim for unfair dismissal.

dis-miss-ive /dɪsˈmɪsɪv/ adj

¹ : refusing to think about or consider something or someone — usually + of • He was dismissive of my idea.

² : showing that you do not think something or someone is worth thinking about or considering • a dismissive remark • a dismissive wave of the hand

— dis-miss-ive-ly adv • He spoke dismissively about the accident. • She laughed dismissively [=scornfully] when I expressed admiration for the book.

dis-mount /dɪsˈmaʊnt/ verb -mounts; -mount-ed; -mount-ing [no obj] : to get down from something (such as a horse or bicycle) • The cyclist dismounted and walked her bike across the street. • The gymnast dismounted from the parallel bars. — opposite MOUNT

— dismount noun, pl -mounts [count] • the gymnast's perfect dismount dis-obe-di-ence /ˌdɪsəˈbiːdijəns/ noun [noncount] : refusal or failure to obey rules, laws, etc. : a lack of obedience • The student's disobedience shocked the teacher. • The dog was punished for its disobedience. — see also CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE dis·obe·di·ent /ˌdɪsəˈbiːdijənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not doing what someone or something with authority tells you to do : refusing or failing to obey rules, laws, etc. • The disobedient soldier was given cleanup duty. • The dog was being disobedient. — opposite OBEDIENT

— dis·obe·di·ent·ly adv

dis·obey /ˌdɪsəˈbeɪ/ verb -obeys; -obeyed; -obey-ing : to not do what someone or something with authority tells you to do : to refuse or fail to obey rules, laws, etc. [no obj] If you disobey, you will be severely punished. [+ obj] The soldier disobeyed the general's orders. • He was afraid to disobey his father. • The driver had disobeyed the law.

dis·or·der /dɪsˈɔːdə/ noun, pl -ders

1 [noncount] : a confused or messy state : a lack of order or organization • People who witnessed the tragedy describe a scene of disorder [=chaos] as rescuers tried to find survivors. • The filing system was thrown into disorder [=was disrupted or upset] when the computer program malfunctioned. — often used with in • His finances were in complete disorder. [=his finances were not organized] • The clothes/papers were in (a state of) disorder. — opposite ORDER

2 [noncount] : a state or situation in which there is a lot of noise, crime, violent behavior, etc. • The mayor is concerned that a rally could create/cause public disorder. • problems of crime and social disorder — opposite ORDER

3 medical : a physical or mental condition that is not normal or healthy [count] A dermatologist treats disorders [=diseases] of the skin. • an eating disorder • a disorder of the blood = a blood disorder [noncount] Millions of people suffer from some form of personality/mental disorder.

dis·or·dered /dɪsˈɔːdəd/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : in a confused or messy state : having a lack of order or organization • The project was in a disordered state. • The file was completely disordered. — opposite ORDERED

2 medical : not working in a normal, healthy way • a disordered mind • The child is emotionally disordered. [= (more commonly) disturbed]

dis·or·der·ly /dɪsˈɔːdəli/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : causing a problem especially in a public place by making a lot of noise, behaving violently, etc. • Two disorderly [=unruly] persons were arrested. • She was charged with being drunk and disorderly. • He was found guilty of disorderly conduct.

2 : not neat or orderly • A disorderly [=disordered] pile of papers covered most of her desk.

dis·or·ga·nized also Brit dis·or·ga·nised

/dɪsˈɔːgəˌnaɪzd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not organized: such as a : not arranged or planned in a particular way • The meeting was very disorganized. b : not having parts arranged in a neat and effective way • a disorganized essay • a disorganized desk c : not able to keep things arranged in a neat or effective way • He is very disorganized. • disorganized students

— dis·or·ga·ni·za·tion also Brit dis·or·ga·ni·sa·tion /dɪsˈɔːgənəˈzeɪʃən, Brit dɪsˈɔːgəˌnaɪˈzeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] dis·ori·ent /dɪsˈɔːriənt/ verb -ents; -ent-ed; -ent-ing [+ obj] : to make (someone) lost or confused • Thick fog can disorient even an experienced hiker. — compare ORIENT

— dis·ori·en·ta·tion /dɪsˈɔːriənˈteɪʃən/ noun [noncount] •

The medication may cause drowsiness and disorientation. — disoriented adj [more ~; most ~] • The patient became increasingly disoriented as the illness progressed. • a disoriented hiker — disorienting adj [more ~; most ~] • It's disorienting to wake up in total darkness.

dis·ori·en·tate /dɪsˈɔːriənˈteɪt/ verb -tates; -tat-ed; -tat-ing [+ obj] chiefly Brit : DISORIENT dis·own /dɪsˈoʊn/ verb -owns; -owned; -own-ing [+ obj] : to say or decide that you will no longer be connected with, associated with, or responsible for (someone or something) • Her parents threatened to disown her if she didn't go back to school. • He was disowned for bringing shame to the family.

dis·par·age /dɪˈspærɪdʒ/ verb -ag-es; -aged; -ag-ing [+ obj] formal : to describe (someone or something) as unimportant, weak, bad, etc. • Voters don't like political advertisements in which opponents disparage one another. • It's a mistake to disparage their achievements. • The article disparaged polo as a game for the wealthy.

— dis·par·age·ment /dɪˈspærɪdʒmənt/ noun [noncount] • a term of disparagement • the author's relentless disparagement of politicians — disparaging adj [more ~; most ~] • I heard her making disparaging remarks about her co-workers. — dis·par·ag·ing·ly adv • He referred disparagingly to his car as “an old clunker.”

dis·par·ate /ˈdɪspərət/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : different from each other • The conversation covered topics as disparate [=diverse] as fashion and biology. • disparate cultures • music that combines/blends disparate [=dissimilar] elements dis·par·i·ty /dɪˈspərəti/ noun, pl -ties formal : a noticeable and often unfair difference between people or things [count] problems that exist when there is a disparity of power [=when one person, group, etc., has much more power than another] • There is a great disparity between (the) rich and (the) poor in this country. • The age disparity between the players is obvious. [noncount] the region's increasing income disparity dis·pas·sion·ate /dɪsˈpæʃənət/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not influenced or affected by emotions • Journalists aim to be dispassionate observers. • He spoke in a dispassionate tone about the accident.

— dis·pas·sion·ate·ly adv [more ~; most ~]

¹dis·patch also Brit des·patch /dɪˈspætʃ/ verb -patch-es; -patched; -patch-ing [+ obj]

1 : to send (someone or something) quickly to a particular place for a particular purpose • Rescue workers were immediately dispatched to the area. • The hotel dispatched a limo to pick us up from the airport. • (formal) The message was dispatched to the general.

2 : to defeat (a person or team) in a game, contest, etc. • She easily dispatched [(more commonly) beat] her opponent.

3 old-fashioned : to kill (a person or animal) quickly • He dispatched the guard with one bullet.

²dispatch also Brit despatch noun, pl -patches

1 [count] : an important official message • The general sent a dispatch to headquarters. ♢ In British English, a soldier who is mentioned in dispatches is noted for bravery.

2 [noncount] somewhat formal : the act of sending someone or something to a particular place for a particular purpose • He requested the immediate dispatch of supplies/troops.

3 [count] : a news story that a reporter sends to a newspaper usually from a foreign country • The reporter sent many dispatches from the war zone.

with dispatch formal : in a quick and efficient way • The problem was handled with dispatch.

dispatch box also despatch box noun, pl ~ boxes Brit

1 the Dispatch Box : a box on a table in the House of Commons that important government officials stand behind when speaking

2 [count] : a container for holding important documents

dis·patch·er /dɪˈspætʃə/ noun, pl -ers [count] US

1 : someone whose job is to talk by radio with people in vehicles (such as police cars, ambulances, or taxis) in order to send them to a particular place

2 : someone who is in charge of the departure of trains, airplanes, buses, trucks, etc.

dispatch rider also Brit despatch rider noun, pl ~ -ers

[count] chiefly Brit : someone who delivers messages or packages especially by traveling on a motorcycle dis·pel /dɪˈspel/ verb -pels; -pelled; -pel-ling [+ obj] : to make (something, such as a belief, feeling, or idea) go away or end • This report should dispel any doubts you have about the plan. • She made an official statement to dispel any rumors about her retirement. • The experience dispelled some of our fears about the process.

dis·pens·able /dɪˈspensəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not necessary or required • Computers have made typewriters dispensable. • Do you consider any of the staff to be dispensable? • dispensable luxuries — opposite INDISPENSABLE dis·pen·sa·ry /dɪˈspensəri/ noun, pl -ries [count] : a place where medicine or minor medical treatment is given • a hospital dispensary

dis·pen·sa·tion /ˌdɪspənˈseɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions formal

1 : permission to break a law or an official promise you have made : release from a rule, vow, or oath [noncount] The priest asked for dispensation from his vows. [count] The state gave the town a special dispensation, allowing it to ignore the law in this case.

2 [singular] : an act of providing something to people • The ship's doctor handled the dispensation [=distribution] of medicine. • a speedy dispensation [=administration] of justice dis·pense /dɪˈspens/ verb -pens-es; -pensed; -pens-ing [+ obj]

1 : to give or provide (something) • The ATM only dispenses $20 bills. • A judge's job is to dispense [=administer] justice. • a newspaper columnist who dispenses advice to millions of readers each week dispense with [phrasal verb] dispense with (something) formal : to no longer use or require (something) : to get rid of (something) • Let's dispense with the usual introductions and get down to business. • The new cleaning process will dispense with the need for ventilation.

2 : to prepare and give (medicine) • Pharmacists are certified to dispense medication.

dis·pens·er /dɪˈspensə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a machine or container that lets you take small amounts of something • a paper towel dispenser • a soap/tape dispenser

2 : a person or organization that gives or provides something to people • hospitals and other health-care dispensers — often + of • A teacher should be more than a dispenser of knowledge.

dis·perse /dɪˈspəs/ verb -pers-es; -persed; -pers-ing

: to go or move in different directions : to spread apart [no obj] Police ordered the crowd to disperse. • The clouds dispersed [=broke], revealing blue sky above. • The fog gradually dispersed [=dissipated, vanished] as the day grew warmer. [+ obj] Police dispersed the protesters.

— dis·per·sal /dɪˈspəsəl/ noun [noncount] • The police are trained in crowd dispersal. — dis·per·sion /dɪˈspɜːʒən/ noun [noncount] technical • Laws were established to limit the dispersion of pollutants.

dis·pir·it·ed /dɪˈspɪrətəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : feeling unhappy and without hope or enthusiasm • The loss left the team dispirited. [=disheartened, discouraged] • dispirited supporters — opposite SPIRITED

— dis·pir·it·ed·ly adv • The team sat dispiritedly on the bench.

dis·pir·it·ing /dɪˈspɪrətɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : causing a loss of hope or enthusiasm • It was very dispiriting [=discouraging, disheartening] to lose yet another game. • a dispiriting failure dis·place /dɪˈspleɪs/ verb -plac-es; -placed; -plac-ing [+ obj]

1 : to take the job or position of (someone or something) • Many of the company's workers were displaced [=replaced] by machines. • Some say football has displaced [=replaced, supplanted] baseball as America's national pastime.

2 a : to force (people or animals) to leave the area where they live • The war has displaced thousands of people. • The hurricane displaced most of the town's residents. • animals displaced by wildfire b chiefly US : to remove (someone) from a job or position • The closing of the factory has displaced many workers.

3 : to move (something) so that it is no longer in its original or regular location or position • farming practices that displace large amounts of soil • (technical) The ship displaces 20,000 tons (of water).

— displaced adj • a crisis involving thousands of displaced persons/people [=people who have been forced to leave the area/country where they live]

dis·place·ment /dɪˈspleɪsmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 : the act of displacing something: such as a : the act of forcing people or animals to leave the area where they live [noncount] The war has caused the displacement of thousands of people. [count] population displacements b : the movement of something from its original or regular position [count] displacements in the Earth's crust [noncount] soil displacement caused by farming

2 [count] technical : the amount of water that is moved by an object when it is placed in water — usually singular • The ship has a very large displacement.

dis·play /dɪˈspleɪ/ verb -plays; -played; -play-ing [+ obj]

1 : to put (something) where people can see it • Students displayed their projects at the science fair. • The results are displayed [=shown] on the computer screen. • Toys were displayed in the store window. • Her awards are prominently/displayed on the mantel. • The museum displays relics found during the excavation of the site. — sometimes used figuratively • The tree displays pretty pink flowers in the spring.

2 : to show that you have (an emotion, quality, skill, etc.) • He displayed no emotion when I told him the news. • I was impressed by the care she displayed in making the flower arrangements. • The children displayed [=exhibited] no interest in learning how to play the piano. • The rookie player displayed great skill. • The company has displayed exceptional dedication to this community.

display noun, pl -plays [count]

1 : an arrangement of objects intended to decorate, advertise, entertain, or inform people about something • Each table had a beautiful display of flowers. = Each table had a beautiful flower display. • the bookstore's display of dictionaries = the bookstore's dictionary display • The library's current display features locally made crafts. • There is a display [=exhibit, exhibition] of his early paintings at the museum. • Her trophies are in a display case/cabinet. • a store's window display [=a display of products shown in a store's window]

2 : an event at which something is done or shown to impress or entertain people • The celebration ended with a spectacular fireworks display.

3 : an action, performance, etc., which shows very clearly that you have some ability, feeling, quality, etc. — usually + of • a display of anger • In a remarkable display of generosity, the students gave the money they had raised for the class trip to their sick classmate. • the soccer player's impressive display of footwork • shocking displays of wealth in a country of extreme poverty • He disapproved of their public displays of affection. [=hugging, kissing, etc., in public]

4 : an electronic device (such as a computer monitor) that shows information • The computer comes with a high-resolution color display. • The display showed an error message. • a calculator's display screen

5 biology : a way of behaving that a bird or animal uses to show another bird or animal that it wants to mate, fight, etc. • courtship/threat displays on display : put somewhere for people to see : in a display • Autographed baseballs are on display at the show. • Only a few of the artifacts will be put on display. = Only a few of the artifacts will go on display.

dis·please /dɪsˈpliːz/ verb -pleas-es; -pleased; -pleas- ing [+ obj] : to make (someone) feel unhappy or annoyed • What I said obviously displeased her. = She was obviously displeased by what I said. — opposite PLEASE

— displeased adj [more ~; most ~] • She looked displeased when I told her about it. • We're very displeased with the delays. — displeasing adj [more ~; most ~] • visually displeasing buildings dis·plea·sure /dɪsˈpleɪʒə/ noun [noncount] : a feeling of unhappiness or annoyance • The meeting will give people who object to the policy a chance to voice/express their displeasure. • Fans showed their displeasure at the umpire's call by booing loudly.

dis·pos·able /dɪˈspouzəbəl/ adj

1 : made to be used once or only a few times : made to be thrown away after one use or several uses • disposable diapers/razors

2 somewhat formal : available to be used • disposable resources/assets • I don't have enough disposable income [=income that is left after paying taxes and for things that are essential, such as food and housing] to buy such luxuries.

disposable noun, pl -ables [count] : something that is made to be thrown away after it is used once — usually plural • Do you use cloth diapers or disposables? [=disposable diapers]

dis·pos·al /dɪˈspouzəl/ noun, pl -als

1 [noncount] : the act of disposing of something: such as a : the act of throwing something away • trash disposal • the disposal of nuclear waste b law : the act of giving control or ownership of land, possessions, etc., to someone • the disposal of property

2 [count] US : GARBAGE DISPOSAL

at someone's disposal : available for someone to use • We had plenty of money at our disposal. • I'm at your disposal. [=I'm ready to do whatever you would like me to do] • They are using every legal tool at their disposal to prevent the bridge from being built.

dis·pose /dɪˈspouz/ verb -pos-es; -posed; -pos-ing [+ obj] formal

1 : to cause (someone) to be likely to do or have something — + to or toward • His upbringing disposes him to question authority. • people whose genes dispose them toward a particular disease

2 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to put (someone or something) in a particular position or place • The troops/cottages were disposed [(more commonly) arranged] along either side of the river.

dispose of [phrasal verb] 1 dispose of (something) a : to throw (something) away : to get rid of (something) • The waste was not properly disposed of. • Please dispose of your cigarette butts in one of the ashtrays available. b formal : to deal with and finish (something) • I have some business to dispose of [(less formally) wrap up, take care of] before we meet. c law : to give control or ownership of (land, possessions, etc.) to someone • A will is a legal document that is used to dispose of property. 2 dispose of (someone or something) a : to defeat (a person or team) in a game, contest, etc. • She easily disposed of her opponent. b : to kill (a person or animal) • The article includes a list of the weapons the soldiers used to dispose of their enemies.

disposed adj, not used before a noun, formal

1 : wanting to do something or likely to do something • Join us for dinner if you feel so disposed. [=if you want to] • dogs that are naturally disposed toward fighting — usually followed by to + verb • He disagreed but was not disposed [=inclined] to argue. • Many people seem disposed to distrust salespeople.

2 : feeling or thinking in a specified way about something — usually + to or toward • They were favorably/unfavorably disposed to/toward the idea. [=they liked/disliked the idea] — see also ILL-DISPOSED, WELL-DISPOSED dis-po-si-tion /,dɪspə'zɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : the usual attitude or mood of a person or animal • He always had a cheerful/nervous disposition. [=temperament, personality] • It's nice to work with someone who has such a sunny disposition. [=who is usually cheerful] • a dog with an excellent disposition

2 formal a [singular] : a tendency to act or think in a particular way • Her disposition was to always think negatively. • He has a disposition toward criminal behavior. b [count] : a tendency to develop a disease, condition, etc. • people with a genetic disposition toward a particular disease

3 formal : the act or power of officially or legally giving land, possessions, etc., to someone [count] the philanthropist's charitable dispositions [(less formally) donations] [non-count] A will is a legal document that is used in the disposition of property.

4 [count] formal : the way things are placed or arranged — usually singular; often + of • The map showed the disposition of troops on the border.

dis-pos-sess /,dɪspə'zɛs/ verb -sess-es; -sessed; -sess-ing [+ obj] formal : to take land, possessions, etc., from (someone) • The land was settled by dispossessing the native people who lived here. — often + of • The new regime dispossessed many people of their land.

— dis-pos-ses-sion /,dɪspə'zɛʃən/ noun [noncount]

dispossessed adj, always used before a noun, formal : having had your land, possessions, etc., taken away from you • The organization helps dispossessed people rebuild their lives.

the dispossessed : people whose land, possessions, etc., have been taken away from them • helping the poor and the dispossessed dis-pro-por-tion /,dɪsprə'pɔːʃən/ noun, pl -tions formal : a difference that is not fair, reasonable, or expected [count] The author does not explain the disproportion [(more commonly) disparity] between the value of the stones. [noncount] His salary is in disproportion to what people who have similar jobs earn.

— dis-pro-por-tion-al /,dɪsprə'pɔːʃən/ adj [more ~; most ~] • The punishment was disproportional [(more commonly) disproportionate] to the crime. — dis-pro-por-tion-al-ly adv [more ~; most ~] dis-pro-por-tion-ate /,dɪsprə'pɔːʃənət/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing a difference that is not fair, reasonable, or expected : too large or too small in relation to something • He believes that middle-class people bear a disproportionate share of the tax burden. • A disproportionate number of the students are poor. — often + to • The organization's political influence is disproportionate to its size.

— dis-pro-por-tion-ate-ly adv [more ~; most ~] • A disproportionately high number of the students are poor.

dis-prove /dɪs'pruːv/ verb -proves; -proved or chiefly US -prov-en /dɪs'pruːvən/; -prov-ing [+ obj] : to show that (something) is false or wrong • disprove [=refute] an argument/claim — often used as (be) disproved • The theory has been disproved. — opposite PROVE dis-put-able /dɪ'spjuːtəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not yet proved or shown to be true : likely to be questioned or doubted • The source of the text is disputable. [=debatable] • a disputable claim • The conclusion was based on disputable [=questionable] evidence. — opposite INDISPUTABLE

— dis-put-ably /dɪ'spjuːtəbli/ adv • It's been proved indisputably.

dis-pu-tant /dɪ'spjuːtənt, Brit 'dɪspjətənt/ noun, pl -tants [count] formal : a person who is involved in a dispute and especially in a legal dispute dis-pu-ta-tion /,dɪspjə'teɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions formal : a disagreement or argument [count] legal disputations [non-count] years of debate and disputation

— dis-pu-ta-tious /,dɪspjə'teɪʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a disputatious person [=a person who often disagrees and argues with other people]

1 dis-pu-te /dɪ'spjuːt/ noun, pl -putes : a disagreement or argument [count] They could not settle their dispute. • legal disputes • There is a labor dispute between workers and management. • The two farmers are involved in a land dispute. • a domestic dispute [=an argument between people who live together] — often + over or about • There was a dispute [=disagreement] over/about what to do with the extra money. [noncount] There is dispute [=debate] among scholars as to the source of the text. = The source of the text is a matter/subject of dispute among scholars. • The matter/issue is still in dispute. [=people still disagree about it] • The drug's effectiveness is beyond dispute. [=it is certain that the drug is effective] • How it happened is open to dispute. [=people disagree about how it happened]

2 dispute verb -putes; -put-ed; -put-ing

1 [+ obj] : to say or show that (something) may not be true, correct, or legal • The lawyer disputed [=challenged] the witness's statement. • You can dispute your bill if you believe it is inaccurate. • She disputed the claim. • These estimates are hotly/much disputed by scientists. • No one ever disputed that it was the right decision. • There is no disputing the drug's effectiveness. [=it is certain that the drug is effective]

2 : to argue about (something) [+ obj] The source of the text has been disputed for centuries. • We were disputing [=debating] whether we should call the police or look for the thief ourselves. [no obj] It's no use disputing [(more commonly) arguing] with them.

3 [+ obj] formal : to fight in order to take control of (something) • a part of the city where two drug gangs are disputing territory

— disputed adj • a disputed phone bill • various disputed claims/questions • the disputed territory/area/land

dis-qual-i-fy /dɪs'kwɑːlə'faɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj] : to stop or prevent (someone) from doing, having, or being a part of something • His poor eyesight disqualified him from becoming a pilot. • The judge might disqualify [=bar] her from serving on the jury. — usually used as (be) disqualified • The winner was later disqualified for cheating. • (Brit) He was disqualified from driving for three months. [=he was not allowed to drive for three months]

— dis-qual-i-fi-ca-tion /dɪs'kwɑːləfə'keɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [noncount] A positive drug test is grounds/reason for disqualification. [count] What are the disqualifications for military service?

1 dis-qui-et /dɪs'kwajət/ verb -ets; -eted; -et-ing [+ obj] formal : to make (someone) worried or nervous — usually used as (be) disquieted • We were disquieted by the news.

— disquieting adj [more ~; most ~] • We found the news disquieting. • The letter gave disquieting news of the war.

2 disquiet noun [noncount] formal : a feeling of worry or nervousness • There is increasing public disquiet about/over the number of violent crimes in the city. • The falling stock prices have caused great disquiet [=concern] among shareholders.

dis-qui-si-tion /,dɪskwə'zɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] formal : a long speech or written report on a subject • a lengthy disquisition on foreign policy

1 dis-re-gard /,dɪsrɪ'gɑːd/ verb -gards; -gard-ed; -gard-ing [+ obj] : to ignore (something) or treat (something) as unimportant • Please disregard what I said before. • He disregarded his father's advice and left school. • Some students completely disregard the rules of the school.

2 disregard noun : the act of ignoring something or treating something as unimportant [noncount] They treated the rules with complete/total disregard. — usually + for or of • the government's casual disregard for the rights of its citizens • The terrorists acted in complete/total disregard of human life. • The judge found that the statements were made with reckless disregard for/of the truth. [singular] — usually + for or of • Some students show a complete disregard for the rules of the school. • a disregard of the evidence dis-re-pair /,dɪsriˈpeə/ noun [noncount] : the state of needing to be repaired : bad condition • The lighthouse was in disrepair until the volunteers cleaned it up. • A number of major bridges are in (states of) disrepair. • After years of neglect, the house fell into disrepair.

dis-rep-u-ta-ble /dɪsˈrɛpjətəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : not respected or trusted by most people : having a bad reputation • disreputable people • The company was using disreputable [=dishonest] hiring practices. — opposite REPUTABLE

dis-re-pute /,dɪsriˈpjʊ:t/ noun [noncount] formal : a state of not being respected or trusted by most people : a state of having a bad reputation • The theory has been in disrepute for years. • The star player's drug use will bring the game into disrepute. [=give the game a bad reputation; make people not respect the game] • The technique has fallen into disrepute. [=it is no longer respected or trusted] dis-re-spect /,dɪsriˈspekt/ noun : speech or behavior which shows that you do not think someone or something is valuable, important, etc. : lack of respect [noncount] The student treated the teacher with disrespect. • With no disrespect to the other players [=I do not mean to say that other players are not good], he is clearly the star of the team. • I'm sorry. I meant no disrespect. [singular] He showed a shocking disrespect for authority.

— dis-re-spect-ful /,dɪsriˈspektfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • She was very disrespectful to the teacher. • disrespectful behavior — dis-re-spect-ful-ly adv

disrespect verb -spects; -spect-ed; -spect-ing [+ obj] : to say or do something that shows a lack of respect for (someone or something) • He disrespected [=insulted] the police officer. • He was angry because he felt he had been disrespected. [=treated with disrespect] dis-robe /dɪsˈroub/ verb -robes; -robed; -rob-ing formal 1 [no obj] : to remove your clothes : UNDRESS • She disrobed and stepped into the bathtub.

2 [+ obj] : to remove the clothes of (someone) : UNDRESS • She disrobed herself.

dis-rupt /dɪsˈrʌpt/ verb -rupts; -rupt-ed; -rupt-ing [+ obj] : to cause (something) to be unable to continue in the normal way : to interrupt the normal progress or activity of (something) • Protesters disrupted the conference. • The barking dogs disrupted my sleep. • The weather disrupted our travel plans. • a chemical that disrupts cell function

— dis-rupt-ion /dɪsˈrʌpfən/ noun, pl -tions [count] The construction caused disruptions in bus service. • The chemical causes a disruption of cell function. [noncount] The change will be made with minimal disruption of service.

— dis-rupt-ive /dɪsˈrʌptɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] • disruptive behavior • She has a disruptive influence on the other students. — dis-rupt-ive-ly adv

diss variant spelling of DIS

dis-sat-is-fac-tion /dɪsˌsætəsˈfækfən/ noun, pl -tions : a feeling of unhappiness or disapproval [count] — usually singular • We're aware of a growing dissatisfaction among group members. • She expressed her dissatisfaction with the restaurant's service. [noncount] There was widespread dissatisfaction with the President and his administration. • a source of dissatisfaction — opposite SATISFACTION

dis-sat-is-fied /dɪsˈsætəsˌfaɪd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not happy or pleased • dissatisfied customers — often + with • He was dissatisfied with his job. — opposite SATISFIED; compare UNSATISFIED

dis-sat-is-fy /dɪsˈsætəsˌfaɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj] : to fail to make (someone) happy or pleased • Their final decision dissatisfied [=displeased] everyone. • She was dissatisfied by the poor service. — opposite SATISFY

— dissatisfying adj [more ~; most ~] • a dissatisfying experience • The movie was dissatisfying.

dis-sect /dɑːˈsekt, dɪˈsekt/ verb -sects; -sect-ed; -sect-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cut (a plant or dead animal) into separate parts in order to study it • We dissected a frog in science class.

2 : to study or examine (something) closely and carefully : ANALYZE • She dissected each point of his argument. • We dissected the poem in class.

3 : to divide (something) into parts • Streams dissect the land. • The city is dissected by a network of highways.

— dis-sec-tion /dɑːˈsekfən, dɪˈsekfən/ noun, pl -tions [count] The students performed a dissection. • Her essay includes an excellent dissection of the poem. [noncount] a process of careful dissection

dis-sem-ble /dɪˈsembəl/ verb -sem-bles; -sem-bled; -sem-bling [no obj] formal + literary : to hide your true feelings, opinions, etc. • It's now clear that he dissembled about the risks involved. [=he did not tell the truth about the risks involved]

— dissembling noun [noncount] • Such dissembling from a politician is nothing new.

dis-sem-i-nate /dɪˈseməˌneɪt/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing [+ obj] formal : to cause (something, such as information) to go to many people • The Internet allows us to disseminate information/news/ideas faster. • The findings were widely disseminated.

— dis-sem-i-na-tion /dɪˈseməˌneɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the dissemination of information — dis-sem-i-na-tor /dɪˈseməˌneɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count] • disseminators of information dis-sen-sion /dɪˈsenʃən/ noun [noncount] formal : disagreement that causes the people in a group to argue about something that is important to them • The incident has caused a lot of dissension within/in the police department. • Religious dissension threatened to split the colony.

dis-sent /dɪˈsent/ verb -sents; -sent-ed; -sent-ing [no obj] formal : to publicly disagree with an official opinion, decision, or set of beliefs • The Supreme Court, with two justices dissenting, ruled that the law was constitutional. — often + from • Several scientists dissented from the decision.

— dis-sent-er /dɪˈsentə/ noun, pl -ers [count] — dissenting adj • dissenting opinions/views • There are few dissenting voices within the party.

dissent noun, pl -sents

1 formal : public disagreement with an official opinion, decision, or set of beliefs [noncount] Church leaders permitted no dissent from church teachings. • He did everything in his power to suppress political dissent. [count] These dissents come from prominent scientists and should not be ignored.

2 [count] US, law : a statement by a judge giving reasons why the judge does not agree with the decision made by the other judges in a court case • She argued in her dissent that Congress had exceeded its authority.

dis-ser-ta-tion /dɪsəˈteɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : a long piece of writing about a particular subject that is done to earn an advanced degree at a university • He wrote his dissertation on an obscure 16th-century poet.

dis-ser-vice /dɪsˈsəvɪs/ noun [singular] : something that harms or damages someone or something • Her comments were a disservice to those volunteers. — usually used in the phrase do a disservice • He did a disservice to readers by providing wrong information. • Her behavior has done the sport a great disservice. [=her behavior has hurt the sport] dis-si-dent /ˈdɪsədənt/ noun, pl -dents [count] : someone who strongly and publicly disagrees with and criticizes the government • Many political dissidents were arrested.

— dis-si-dence /ˈdɪsədəns/ noun [noncount] • political/religious dissidence [=dissent] — dissident adj, always used before a noun • dissident scholars/students • the dissident movement dis-sim-i-lar /dɪsˈsɪmələ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not the same : different or unlike • The two movies are very dissimilar. • The writers have dissimilar backgrounds. • A not dissimilar [=similar] situation has occurred overseas. • The question is not dissimilar to one asked earlier. — opposite SIMILAR

— dis-sim-i-lar-i-ty /dɪsˌsɪməˈlerəti/ noun, pl -ties [count] dissimilarities in the writers' backgrounds [noncount] I could see no dissimilarity between the twins.

dis-si-pate /ˈdɪsəˌpeɪt/ verb -pates; -pat-ed; -pat-ing formal

1 a [+ obj] : to cause (something) to spread out and disappear • The morning sun dissipated the fog. b [no obj] : to separate into parts and disappear or go away • The fog should dissipate soon. • By noon the crowd had dissipated. [=more commonly] dispersed] — often used figuratively • Her anger began to dissipate after a while.

2 [+ obj] : to use all or a lot of (something, such as money or time) in a foolish way • He had dissipated [=squandered] his family's fortune in only a few years.

dis-si-pa-tion /ˈdɪsəˌpeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions formal

1 [noncount] : the process of slowly disappearing or becoming less • Insulation helps prevent the dissipation of heat from houses in the winter.

2 [noncount] : the act of using all or a lot of money, time, etc., in a foolish way • a movie about the dissipation of a famous heir's fortune • the dissipation of resources

3 disapproving : behavior that shows you are interested only in pleasure, money, etc. [noncount] He lived a life of dissipation. [count] her gambling and dissipations dis-so-ci-ate /dɪ'souʃi,et/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [+ obj] : to end your relationship with or connection to someone or something : to separate (yourself) from someone or something • She became famous and dissociated [=disassociated] herself from her past. • The director has tried to dissociate himself from his earlier films. • Why is the organization choosing to dissociate itself from its founder?

– dis-so-ci-a-tion /dɪ'souʃi'eɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

dis-so-lute /'dɪsə,lʊ:t/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + disapproving — used to describe someone (such as a person who often gets drunk) whose way of living is considered morally wrong • a dissolute drunk • She has led a dissolute life.

dis-so-lu-tion /,dɪsə'lʊ:ʃən/ noun [noncount] formal

1 : the act of officially ending a marriage, organization, agreement, etc. • the dissolution of the marriage/business/contract

2 : the process of making something slowly end or disappear • the dissolution of old beliefs • The treatment is used for the dissolution of kidney stones.

dis-solve /dɪ'zɑ:lv/ verb -solves; -solved; -solv-ing

1 of something solid : to mix with a liquid and become part of the liquid [no obj] Sugar/salt dissolves in water. [+ obj] Dissolve the tablet in water.

2 [+ obj] formal : to officially end (something, such as a marriage, organization, or agreement) • She dissolved [=terminated] their partnership. — often used as (be) dissolved • The marriage/business/government was dissolved. • The company has been dissolved.

3 somewhat formal : to end or disappear or cause (something) to end or disappear [no obj] His smile dissolved [=disappeared] when I told him the news. • Hopes for peace dissolved in renewed violence. [+ obj] His kind words dissolved her sadness. • The treatment is used to dissolve kidney stones. ✧ If you dissolve in/into tears/laughter, etc., you start to cry, laugh, etc., in an uncontrolled way. • The audience dissolved into tears during the play's final scene. • The children dissolved into laughter/giggles.

– dis-solv-able /dɪ'zɑ:lvəbəl/ adj • The doctor used dissolvable stitches to close the wound.

dis-so-nant /'dɪsənənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 formal : not in agreement with something : DISCORDANT • dissonant views

2 music : not in harmony : DISCORDANT • dissonant chords — opposite CONSONANT

– dis-so-nance /'dɪsənəns/ noun, pl -nanc-es [noncount] The dissonance [=conflict] between the truth and what people want to believe. • When played together, the chords create dissonance. [count] The composer uses dissonances freely.

dis-suade /dɪ'sweɪd/ verb -suades; -suad-ed; -suad-ing [+ obj] : to convince (someone) not to do something • Our warnings did not dissuade them. — often + from • He tried to dissuade them from going. — compare PERSUADE dis-taff /'dɪ,stæf, Brit 'dɪ,stɑ:f/ adj, always used before a noun, formal : of, relating to, or being a woman : FEMALE • the distaff [=maternal] side of the family • distaff executives

¹dis-tance /'dɪstəns/ noun, pl -tanc-es

1 : the amount of space between two places or things [count] What is the distance between the Earth and the Sun? • The gas station is a short distance away. • He spotted the group at a distance of one mile. [=he saw the group when they were one mile away from him] [noncount] Speed is measured in time and distance. • The nearest gas station is some distance away. [=it is not nearby] • Her house is within walking/striking distance of the school. [=she lives very close to the school] — see also LONG DISTANCE, MIDDLE DISTANCE

2 [singular] : a point or place that is far away from another point or place • She kept the children a safe distance from the road. • The sign was hard to read from a distance. • We followed them at a distance. • He saw a light in the distance. [=he saw a light that was far away] — often used figuratively • After observing politics from a distance for years, I've decided to run for office. • (Brit) The book is better than the movie by some distance. [=the book is much better than the movie]

3 : a state in which people are not involved with or friendly toward each other [singular] She feels a distance from her brother that wasn't there before. • He heard the distance [=unfriendliness] in her voice. [noncount] Although they were once good friends, there was now considerable distance between them. • He wants to put distance between himself and his former boss.

go the distance also last the distance : to complete something you have started • Even with an injured elbow, he went/lasted the distance and pitched the rest of the game. • Don't volunteer for the job if you can't go the distance.

keep (someone) at a distance : to be unfriendly toward (someone) • She always kept her coworkers at a distance.

keep your distance 1 : to stay far enough away from someone or something to be safe • Visitors are told to keep their distance from the monkeys. 2 : to avoid getting involved in something or becoming friendly with someone • He tried to keep his distance from the scandal. • After their break-up, she thought it was wise to keep her distance.

²distance verb -tances; -tanced; -tanc-ing [+ obj] : to show that you are not involved with someone or something : to end a connection to or relationship with someone or something — usually + from • She has tried to distance herself from her family. • They all want to distance themselves from the scandal.

distance learning noun [noncount] : a method of study where teachers and students do not meet in a classroom but use the Internet, e-mail, mail, etc., to have classes — called also distance education

dis-tant /'dɪstənt/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : existing or happening far away in space : separated by space • astronomers studying distant galaxies • They visited all sorts of distant [=far-off] places. • He finished the race a distant second. [=he was the second person to finish the race but he was far behind the winner] • The town is about 30 miles distant. [=more commonly] away

2 always used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : far away in time : happening far in the past or far into the future • In the distant past, dinosaurs roamed the earth. • The day I left home is now a distant memory. • the distant future • We're expecting major changes in the not too distant future. [=soon]

3 always used before a noun [more ~; most ~] — used to describe a relative who is not closely related to you • She's a distant cousin of mine. • Some of my more distant relatives still live there. — opposite CLOSE; compare IMMEDIATE

4 : having to do with something that is not related to what is happening where you are or at the present time • His mind drifted to distant thoughts. • I remember when the restaurant's opening was nothing more than a distant possibility. • She has a distant look in her eye. [=the look on her face shows that she is thinking about something that is not related to what is happening now]

5 [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : not friendly or showing emotion • People did not like her distant manner. • He was cold and distant.

6 [more ~; most ~] : not like someone or something else — usually + from • The values of that time seem very distant [=different] from our own.

the dim and distant past chiefly Brit : a time that is so far in the past it is difficult to remember • I remember the dim and distant past when the town was much smaller.

– dis-tant-ly adv • We are distantly related to each other. • She stared distantly out the window.

dis-taste /dɪ'steɪst/ noun, pl -tastes : a strong feeling of not liking someone or something [count] — usually singular • I've developed a real distaste [=dislike] for paperwork. [noncount] "I see you still smoke," she said with distaste.

dis-taste-ful /dɪ'steɪstfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not pleasant or enjoyable • The work was distasteful, but it was the best I could find at the time. • It was a distasteful subject to him.

2 : morally offensive • distasteful jokes/behavior

– dis-taste-ful-ly adv

dis-tem-per /dɪ'stempə/ noun [noncount] medical : a serious disease of animals (such as dogs and cats) that is easily passed to other animals dis-tend /dɪ'stend/ verb -tends; -tend-ed; -tend-ing medical + formal : to become larger and rounder because of pressure from inside [no obj] The illness can cause the stomach to distend. [=swell] [+ obj] an abdomen distended by disease • a distended abdomen/stomach

– dis·ten·sion or US dis·ten·tion /drɪˈstɛnʃən/ noun [noncount] • abdominal distension [=swelling]

dis·till (US) or chiefly Brit dis·til /drɪˈstɪl/ verb -tills; -tilled; -till·ing [+ obj]

1 a : to make (a liquid) pure by heating it until it becomes a gas and then cooling it until it is a liquid again : to purify (a liquid) by distillation • distilled water b : to make (a strong alcoholic drink) by using this process • They distill the whiskey from malted barley.

2 : to take the most important parts of something and put them in a different and usually improved form • He has perfectly distilled the meaning of the holiday into a poem. • Her wisdom is distilled from [=her wisdom comes from] many years of experience.

– dis·til·la·tion /,dɪstəˈleɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [noncount] the distillation of brandy from wine • the distillation of experience [count] The poem is a perfect distillation of the meaning of the holiday.

dis·till·er /drɪˈstɪlə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person or company that produces strong alcoholic drinks (such as whiskey) by distilling them dis·till·ery /drɪˈstɪləri/ noun, pl -er·ies [count] : a place where alcoholic drinks (such as whiskey) are produced dis·tinct /drɪˈstɪŋkt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : different in a way that you can see, hear, smell, feel, etc. : noticeably different • There are three distinct categories/classes/groups/types. • The two plants are quite distinct (from one another). • Each herb has its own distinct flavor. • The phrase has three distinct meanings. • The class focuses on U.S. English, as distinct from British English. [=the class focuses on U.S. English and not on British English]

2 : easy to see, hear, smell, feel, etc. • He speaks with a distinct [=noticeable] Southern accent. • There was the distinct smell of something burning. • The outline became less and less distinct as the light faded.

3 : strong and definite • A flight cancellation is a distinct [=real] possibility. • We had the distinct impression that they were lying.

– dis·tinct·ly adv • Each island has a distinctly different character. • I distinctly told you not to call me. • a distinctly American phenomenon [=something that happens only in America] – dis·tinct·ness noun [noncount] • distinctness of form dis·tinc·tion /drɪˈstɪŋkʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a difference that you can see, hear, smell, feel, etc. : a noticeable difference between things or people • These dogs are different breeds, but this distinction is lost on most people. [=most people do not see a difference between these dogs] • There are no obvious distinctions between the two designs. • distinctions between social classes • She made/drew a distinction between the words “less” and “fewer.”

2 [noncount] : the separation of people or things into different groups • The law should be enforced without distinction as to race, sex, or religion. [=the law should not treat people of different races, sexes, or religions differently]

3 [noncount] : importance, excellence, or achievement • He was raised in a small town of no great distinction. • Her talents gave distinction to the work. • She was a politician of some distinction. [=she was a distinguished politician]

4 : a special honor, recognition, or award [count] She's won many distinctions. • (Brit) She was awarded a distinction for her dissertation. [noncount] They should give him the distinction he deserves. • He graduated with distinction. [=with special awards or recognition]

5 [noncount] : the quality that makes a person or thing special or different — + of • It had the distinction of being the oldest house in the city. • The city bears the dubious distinction of being the most polluted in the nation.

dis·tinc·tive /drɪˈstɪŋktrɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having a quality or characteristic that makes a person or thing different from others : different in a way that is easy to notice • He had a very distinctive walk. • This wine has a more distinctive flavor than that one. • a cooking style that is distinctive [=characteristic] of this region

2 : appealing or interesting because of an unusual quality or characteristic • The store sells only the most distinctive chocolates.

– dis·tinc·tive·ly adv • a distinctively regional cooking style – dis·tinc·tive·ness noun [noncount] • the distinctiveness of the store's chocolates dis·tin·guish /drɪˈstɪŋɡwɪʃ/ verb -guish·es; -guished; -guish·ing

1 : to notice or recognize a difference between people or things [no obj] You're old enough to distinguish between fact and fantasy. • I have trouble distinguishing between the two of them. [+ obj] Their voices are hard to distinguish. [=tell apart] • I have trouble distinguishing the difference between the two of them. • You should be able to distinguish fact from fantasy.

2 not used in progressive tenses [+ obj] : to make (someone or something) different or special in some way • The only thing that distinguishes the dogs is their bark. • The recipe is distinguished by its simplicity. [=the unusual or interesting thing about the recipe is its simplicity] • The singer's voice is what distinguishes the band. — often + from • Our excellent customer service distinguishes us from our competitors. • The law affects private property as distinguished from public property. [=the law affects private property and not public property]

3 not used in progressive tenses [+ obj] : to see or hear (someone or something) clearly • You can't distinguish the detail from this distance.

distinguish yourself : to do something very well or in a way that deserves special recognition • She has distinguished herself as a leader in the community. • He distinguished himself in the war.

– dis·tin·guish·able /drɪˈstɪŋɡwɪʃəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • The plant is distinguishable by its oddly shaped leaves. • There are four distinguishable types. • The copy is clearly/barely distinguishable from the original. – distinguish·ing adj [more ~; most ~] • The plant has several distinguishing characteristics/features.

dis·tin·guished /drɪˈstɪŋɡwɪʃt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : known by many people because of some quality or achievement • a distinguished scientist/career • She is distinguished for her achievements in genetic research.

2 : making someone seem important and worth respect • the professor's distinguished appearance • He's a distinguished-looking gentleman.

dis·tort /drɪˈstoʊt/ verb -torts; -tort·ed; -tort·ing

1 : to change the natural, normal, or original shape, appearance, or sound of (something) in a way that is usually not attractive or pleasing [+ obj] Her face was distorted by pain. • The odd camera angle distorted her figure in the photograph. • The sound of the guitar was distorted. [no obj] Heat caused the plastic to distort.

2 [+ obj] : to change (something) so that it is no longer true or accurate • She felt he was distorting the facts. • The story was distorted by the press. • The loss of both her parents at an early age distorted her outlook on life.

– distorted adj [more ~; most ~] • a distorted face/image • He had a distorted view of the situation. • His voice sounded distorted over the phone. – dis·tor·tion /drɪˈstoʊʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] The statement was an intentional distortion of the facts. • Curved mirrors cause image distortions. [noncount] an image/sound that is free of distortion

dis·tract /drɪˈstrækt/ verb -tracts; -tract·ed; -tract·ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause (someone) to stop thinking about or paying attention to someone or something and to think about or pay attention to someone or something else instead • You sneak into his room while I distract him. • He was distracted from his studies. • The students are easily distracted, especially when they're tired. • I was distracted by a loud noise.

2 : to take (attention) away from someone or something • The local story distracted attention from news of the war overseas.

– distracting adj [more ~; most ~] • The music was very distracting. • a distracting noise distracted /drɪˈstræktəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : unable to think about or pay attention to something : unable to concentrate • If you're feeling distracted, take a break.

– dis·tract·ed·ly adv • “I wonder if it's going to snow,” she said distractedly. [=absentmindedly]

dis·trac·tion /drɪˈstrækʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : something that makes it difficult to think or pay attention [count] It was hard to work with so many distractions. • One of them created a distraction while the other grabbed the money. [noncount] He worked without distraction.

2 [count] : something that amuses or entertains you so that you do not think about problems, work, etc. • He found reading to be a good distraction. [=diversion] • A weekend at the beach was a good distraction from her troubles.

3 [noncount] : a state in which you are very annoyed or upset • Their endless chatter drove her to distraction.

dis·traught /dɪ'straʊt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very upset : so upset that you are not able to think clearly or behave normally • Distraught relatives are waiting for news of the missing children. • She was distraught over the death of her partner.

¹dis·tress /dɪ'stres/ noun [noncount]

1 : unhappiness or pain : suffering that affects the mind or body • Citizens voiced their distress over delays in fixing the problem. • The patient showed no obvious signs of distress. • He suffered severe emotional distress as a result of the accident. • The new drug can cause abdominal/gastric distress. [=stomach pain] • a cry of distress • He was clearly in distress [=very upset] upon hearing the news.

2 : a very difficult situation in which you do not have enough money, food, etc. • She's chosen to devote her life to helping those in distress. [=in trouble, in need] • Donations were given to families in (financial) distress.

3 of a boat, airplane, etc. : a state of danger or desperate need • The ship was in distress. [=the ship was possibly going to sink] • The Coast Guard responded to the ship's distress signal/call. [=signal or call for help]

damsel in distress see DAMSEL

²distress verb -tress-es; -tressed; -tress-ing [+ obj] : to worry or upset (someone) • The news distressed [=disturbed] her. — usually used as (be) distressed • I was distressed to learn that the hospital had closed.

— distressing adj [more ~; most ~] • I heard some distressing news. • It was distressing to learn that the hospital had closed. — dis·tress·ing·ly adv

distressed adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : feeling or showing extreme unhappiness or pain • He was very distressed [=upset] about the accident. • She felt emotionally and physically distressed.

2 [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : not having enough money : experiencing financial trouble • The government provided funds to the economically distressed city. • Donations were given to financially distressed families.

3 — used to describe something (such as a piece of clothing or furniture) that has been made to look old or to look like something that has been used a lot • a distressed pair of jeans • distressed leather • a distressed oak table

dis·trib·ute /dɪ'stribju:t/ verb -utes; -ut-ed; -ut-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to give or deliver (something) to people • She distributes [=hands out] the paychecks every week. — usually + to • He'd been hired to distribute leaflets to people who passed by. • The organization distributes food and clothing to needy families. b : to deliver (something) to a store or business — usually + to • The trucking company distributes goods to stores throughout the state. • One million copies of the CD were distributed to stores.

2 : to divide (something) among the members of a group — usually + between or among; often used as (be/get) distributed • The profits are evenly distributed between them. • The work for the project gets distributed among the editors.

3 : to spread or place (something) over an area • The machine distributes [=scatters] the seeds evenly on the ground. — often used as (be/get) distributed • Make sure the paint is distributed evenly over the surface area. — often used figuratively • The player's 200 pounds are evenly distributed over his six-foot frame. • The plant is widely distributed throughout the world. [=the plant grows throughout the world]

dis·tri·bu·tion /,dɪstrə'bjʊ:ʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] a : the act of giving or delivering something to people • The group collects food and clothing for distribution to needy families. • The distribution of paychecks will happen every other Friday. • The university does not permit distribution of leaflets on campus. b : the act of delivering something to a store or business • She was responsible for product distribution. • The company handles the distribution of goods to stores nationwide. — often used before another noun • The company acquired U.S. distribution rights. • distribution costs • a distribution company/center

2 : the way that something is divided or spread out [count] He complained that the distribution of work was unfair. • He studies the distributions of wildcats in North America. [noncount] The new design provides better weight distribution.

dis·trib·u·tor /dɪ'stribjətə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

1 : a person or company that supplies stores or businesses with goods • a software distributor

2 technical : a device that sends electricity to the spark plugs of an engine — see picture at ENGINE

dis·trict /'dɪstrikt/ noun, pl -tricts [count] : an area or section of a country, city, or town: such as a : an area established by a government for official government business • postal/election districts • Six police officers are in charge of the district. • She represents the eighth congressional district. — see also SCHOOL DISTRICT b : an area or section that has some special characteristic or purpose • a church/sales district • the city's entertainment/shopping district • He was promoted to district manager. [=he was put in charge of that company's activities in a particular district] district attorney noun, pl ~-neys [count] : a lawyer who works for the U.S. government in a state, county, etc., and who is responsible for starting a criminal case against someone — abbr. DA district court noun, pl ~ courts [count] law : a court in the U.S. in which cases in a particular area are brought to trial; especially : one of the trial courts for cases involving federal law

¹dis·trust /dɪs'trʌst/ verb -trusts; -trust-ed; -trust-ing [+ obj] : to have no trust or confidence in (someone or something) : MISTRUST • He generally distrusts doctors. • She's always distrusted their promises.

²distrust noun : lack of trust or confidence : a feeling that someone or something is not honest and cannot be trusted [noncount] He regards doctors with distrust. [=mistrust] [singular] He has a distrust of doctors.

— dis·trust·ful /dɪs'trʌstfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • He is generally distrustful [=mistrustful] of doctors. — dis·trust·ful·ly adv • He looked distrustfully at them.

dis·turb /dɪ'stərb/ verb -turbs; -turbed; -turb-ing [+ obj]

1 : to stop (someone) from working, sleeping, etc. : to interrupt or bother (someone or something) • I'm sorry to disturb you at such a late hour. • She doesn't want to be disturbed while she's working. • Don't disturb the baby when he's sleeping. • The noise disturbed my concentration. • They were arrested for disturbing the peace. [=behaving in a violent or noisy manner in public]

2 : to worry or upset (someone) • The news disturbed [=distressed] him. • His behavior disturbs me. — often used as (be) disturbed • I am disturbed at/by his behavior. • She was disturbed to learn that her son was failing one of his classes.

3 : to change the position, arrangement, or order of (something) • The police ordered that nothing be disturbed in the room. [=that nothing be touched or moved] • His visit disturbed [=disrupted] our morning routine.

— disturbing adj [more ~; most ~] • It was a deeply disturbing sight. • I thought the movie was very disturbing. — dis·turb·ing·ly adv • There was a disturbingly high number of crimes last year. • Disturbingly, the story is true.

dis·turb·ance /dɪ'stəbəns/ noun, pl -anc-es

1 a : something that stops you from working, sleeping, etc. : the act of disturbing someone or something [count] She doesn't want any more disturbances while she is studying. • She suffered from frequent sleep disturbances. [=disruptions] [noncount] He reacts badly to disturbance of his daily routine. b : a change in the position, arrangement, or order of something [count] Fish are able to detect even slight disturbances in the water. [noncount] Disturbance of the river's sediment causes cloudy water.

2 : violent or noisy behavior especially in public [count] Neighbors called the police to report a disturbance. • They were arrested for creating/causing a disturbance. [noncount] He was arrested for disturbance of the peace. [=behaving in a violent or noisy way in public]

3 : an unhealthy physical or mental condition in which something is not normal [count] heart rhythm disturbances • visual/emotional/mental disturbances [noncount] The violence that soldiers experience in war can lead to emotional disturbance in later years.

disturbed adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having or showing evidence of a mental or emotional illness • mentally/emotionally disturbed children

2 : worried and unhappy • He seems very disturbed about his work lately.

3 of sleep : affected by a disturbance • She'd been experiencing disturbed sleep. [=sleep that is interrupted] dis·unit·ed /,dɪsju'nartəd/ adj, chiefly Brit : not able to work or agree with other people within the same group, organization, etc. • The rebels seem to be increasingly disunit-ed. • a disunited political party dis·uni·ty /dis'ju:nəti/ noun [noncount] : the state of not being able to agree about important things : lack of unity • They are concerned about disunity [=dissension, disagreement] within the party.

dis·use /dis'ju:s/ noun [noncount] : the state of not being used : lack of use • The room was dusty from/with disuse. • The word fell into disuse [=people stopped using it] many years ago.

dis·used /dis'ju:zd/ adj, always used before a noun : no longer used • disused buildings/mines • a disused word

¹ditch /'dɪtʃ/ noun, pl ditch·es [count] : a long narrow hole that is dug along a road, field, etc., and used to hold or move water • irrigation ditches • He drove the car into the ditch. — see also LAST-DITCH

²ditch verb ditches; ditched; ditch·ing

1 [+ obj] informal : to stop having or using (something you no longer want or need) : to get rid of (something) • The thief ditched the purse in an alley. • They ditched the car in a vacant lot. • We've ditched [=abandoned] plans to open a café together.

2 [+ obj] informal : to end a relationship with (someone) • His girlfriend ditched him. = He got ditched by his girlfriend. • The team's owner ditched [=fired, dismissed] the head coach.

3 [+ obj] US, informal : to get away from (someone you do not want to be with) without saying that you are leaving • They ditched me at the concert.

4 [+ obj] US, informal : to not go to (something, such as school, work, etc.) • Let's ditch [=skip] school today. • He ditched [=left, quit] school to join the army.

5 : to land an aircraft on water because of an emergency : to crash-land on water [no obj] Engine trouble forced the pilot to ditch. [+ obj] He had to ditch the helicopter.

ditch·wa·ter /'dɪtʃ,wɑ:tə/ noun

(as) dull as ditchwater Brit, informal : very boring • The book is as dull as ditchwater. [= (US) (as) dull as dishwater]

¹dith·er /'dɪðə/ noun [singular] informal : a very nervous, confused, or excited state — usually used in the phrase in a dither • They're in a dither over what to do next. • The news of his arrival had us (all) in a dither.

²dither verb -ers; -ered; -er·ing [no obj] informal : to delay taking action because you are not sure about what to do • We don't have time to dither. • She did not dither about/over what to do next.

— dith·er·er noun, pl -ers [count]

¹dit·to /'dɪtu/ adv, informal

1 — used to say that whatever you have said about one person or thing is also true of another person or thing • Boston is getting a lot of rain. Ditto New York. [=New York is also getting a lot of rain] • He is good at baseball, ditto at golf.

2 — used in speech to show you agree with what someone has just said or have the same opinion • "I don't like spinach." "Ditto." [=I don't like spinach either]

²ditto noun, pl -tos [count] : a pair of marks " used underneath a word to save space and show that the word is repeated where the marks are — called also ditto marks dit·ty /'dɪti/ noun, pl -ties [count] sometimes humorous : a short and simple song • Play us a little ditty.

ditz /'dɪts/ noun, pl ditz·es [count] chiefly US, informal + sometimes disapproving : a silly person who often forgets things • His girlfriend is nice but she's a bit of a ditz. [=his girlfriend is somewhat ditzy] dit·zy or dit·sy /'dɪtsi/ adj ditz·i·er or dits·i·er; -est [or more ~; most ~] chiefly US, informal : silly and tending to forget things : DIZZY — used especially of a woman • a ditzy blonde di·uret·ic /,dajə'retɪk/ noun, pl -ics [count] medical : a substance that increases the amount of urine you pass from your body • The drug is a diuretic.

— diuretic adj • a diuretic drug/effect di·ur·nal /daɪ'ənl/ adj, technical

1 : active mainly during the day • diurnal animals — opposite NOCTURNAL

2 : happening every day • diurnal tides

div. also div abbr division di·va /'di:və/ noun, pl -vas [count]

1 : the main female singer in an opera company

2 : a famous and successful woman who is very attractive and fashionable; especially : an attractive and successful female performer or celebrity • pop divas • a fashion diva

di·van /drɪ'væn/ noun, pl -vans [count]

1 : a long, low seat that has no back or arms or only part of a back and one arm

2 Brit : a bed that has a thick base and usually no footboard

¹dive /'daɪv/ verb dives; dived /'daɪvd/ or chiefly US dove /'dʌv/; div·ing [no obj]

1 : to jump into water with your arms and head going in first • She dove into the swimming pool. • The children like to dive off the boat. • The competitors will be diving from the highest platform.

2 : to swim underwater usually while using special equipment to help you breathe • Many people enjoy diving on the island's coral reefs. • You can't dive in this water without a wet suit. • He dives for pearls. [=he dives in order to find pearls] — see also SCUBA DIVE, SKIN-DIVE

3 : to go underwater or down to a deeper level underwater • The submarine can dive to 3,000 feet. • The whale dove down to deeper water.

4 : to move down through the air at a steep angle • We watched the hawk dive for its prey. • The plane suddenly dove. — see also DIVE-BOMB, NOSE-DIVE, SKYDIVE

5 : to fall suddenly and quickly in amount, value, etc. • The temperature dived [= (more commonly) plunged, dropped] down below zero. • The stock's value dove to an all-time low.

6 : to suddenly jump toward something that is on or near the ground • The goalie dove in front of the goal. — often + for • He dove for the ball. • He dove for cover. [=he suddenly jumped to a place where he would be safe or protected] — sometimes used figuratively • Her books always have me diving for my dictionary. [=I often need a dictionary to understand the words she uses in her books]

7 informal : to start doing something with enthusiasm — usually + into or in • They dove into their work. • I'm just not ready to dive (right) into another romantic relationship. • They sat down at the dinner table and dove (right) in. [=started eating immediately] • We have a lot of things to discuss, so let's dive right in. [=let's get started immediately]

8 informal : to quickly reach into (a bag, pocket, etc.) • She dove into her purse to find some change.

²dive noun, pl dives [count]

1 : a jump into water with your arms and head going in first • She practiced her dives for the competition. • a perfect dive

2 : an act of swimming underwater usually while using special equipment (such as a snorkel or air tank) to help you breathe • This will be my first dive on a coral reef. • She has done dives all around the world.

3 : a usually steep downward movement of a submarine, airplane, bird, etc. • The crew of the submarine prepared for a dive. • The jet rolled into a dive.

4 : a sudden quick fall in amount, value, etc. • Temperatures across the region will take a dive tonight. • The stock market took a dive.

5 informal : a bar, nightclub, etc., that is cheap and dirty • That bar is a real dive.

6 : a sudden jump or movement toward something that is on or near the ground • He made a dive for the ditch/ball/gun. • He made a dive for cover. [=he suddenly jumped to a place where he would be safe or protected]

dive·bomb /'daɪv,bɔ:m/ verb -bombs; -bombed; -bomb·ing [+ obj]

1 : to drop a bomb from an airplane on (something) after approaching it at a sharp or steep angle • The pilots/planes dive-bombed the enemy ships.

2 : to attack (someone or something) from the air at a sharp or steep angle • We were dive-bombed by seagulls at the beach.

div·er /'daɪvə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who dives into water • competitive divers

2 : a person who swims underwater usually while using special equipment to breathe • pearl divers • a deep-sea diver — see also SCUBA DIVER, SKIN DIVER, SKYDIVER di·verge /də'vɜ:dʒ/ verb -verg·es; -verged; -verg·ing [no obj] formal

1 : to split and move out in different directions from a single point • A prism causes rays of light to diverge. • "Two roads diverged in a yellow wood . . ." —Robert Frost, "The Road Not Taken" (1916) — opposite CONVERGE

2 : to be or become different • They were close friends in college, but after graduation, their lives diverged. • When it comes to politics, their opinions/views diverge. [=they have different opinions/views]

— di·ver·gence /də'vɜ:dʒəns/ noun, pl -genc·es [count] divergences between dialects • There is a wide divergence of opinion between the parties. [noncount] He is studying the levels of divergence between the species. — di-ver-gent /də'vɜːdʒənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] • divergent lines/opinions/cultures • Their views are widely divergent.

di-verse /daɪ'vɜːs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : different from each other • The magazine covers topics as diverse [=varied] as chemistry and sculpture. • people with diverse interests

2 : made up of people or things that are different from each other • His message appealed to a diverse audience. • The group of students is very diverse. [=the students are different ages, races, etc.] • a diverse group of subjects

— di-verse-ly adv — di-verse-ness noun [noncount]

di-ver-si-fy /də'vɜːsə'faɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing

1 : to change (something) so that it has more different kinds of people or things [+ obj] The country is diversifying its energy sources. • farmers who want to diversify their crops • You should diversify your investments. = Your investments should be diversified. [=you should invest your money in several different ways instead of investing it all in one thing] [no obj] Investors should diversify.

2 : to produce or sell more kinds of products : to increase the variety of goods or services produced or offered by (someone or something) [+ obj] The new CEO's chief aim is to diversify the company. [no obj] The company needs to diversify. • Many publishing companies have diversified into online services.

— di-ver-si-fi-ca-tion /də'vɜːsəfə'keɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • The company's efforts at diversification have been successful. — di-ver-si-fied adj [more ~; most ~] • a diversified company • a diversified economy [=an economy that has a variety of industries]

di-ver-sion /də'vɜːʒən/ noun, pl -sions

1 formal : the act of changing the direction or use of something : the act of diverting something [count] The bad weather forced the diversion of several flights. [=several flights had to land somewhere else because of bad weather] • small diversions of river water for irrigation [noncount] The officials were charged with illegal diversion of public funds. [=they were charged with using public money illegally for some improper purpose]

2 formal : something that people do because it is enjoyable, entertaining, or pleasant [count] Hiking is one of my favorite diversions. • Our town offers few diversions. • Sports provide him with a welcome diversion from the pressures of his job. [noncount] We're in need of some diversion. [=amusement, entertainment]

3 [count] : something that takes attention away from what is happening • He created a diversion while his partner stole her pocketbook.

4 [count] Brit : 1 DETOUR 2 • The road is closed—please follow the diversion.

di-ver-sion-ary /də'vɜːʒə'neri, Brit də'vɜːʒənri/ adj, formal : tending or intended to take attention away from someone or something important • This is nothing more than a diversionary tactic to distract attention from the issues.

di-ver-si-ty /də'vɜːsəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 : the quality or state of having many different forms, types, ideas, etc. [noncount] The island has more diversity in plant life than other islands nearby. • biological/genetic/linguistic diversity • There was some diversity of opinion about what should be done. [=people had different opinions about what should be done] [count] — usually singular • The area has a great diversity [=variety] of birds. • She has a wide diversity of interests. [=she has many different interests]

2 : the state of having people who are different races or who have different cultures in a group or organization [noncount] The city is known for its cultural/ethnic diversity. • The school aims for diversity in its student population. [count] — usually singular • There is a greater diversity in the city's population now.

di-vert /də'vɜːt/ verb -verts; -vert-ed; -vert-ing [+ obj]

1 : to change the direction or use of (something) • Police diverted traffic to a side street. • The stream was diverted toward the farmland. • They were charged with illegally diverting public funds for private use.

2 a : to take (attention) away from someone or something • He lied to divert attention from the real situation. • They're only proposing the law to divert attention from important issues. b : to take the attention of (someone) away from something or someone • Nothing can divert [=distract] me from my goal.

3 formal : to entertain (someone) • The children diverted

[=(more commonly) amused] themselves with games.

— diverting adj [more ~; most ~] • some fairly/mildly diverting [(more commonly) amusing, entertaining] books/movies/evenings di-vest /daɪ'vest/ verb -vests; -vest-ed; -vest-ing [+ obj] finance : to sell (something valuable, such as property or stocks) • The company is divesting 8 of its 20 stores. • We may have to divest assets to raise capital/money.

divest of [phrasal verb] formal 1 divest (someone or something) of (something) : to take (something) away from (someone or something else) : to cause (someone or something) to lose or give up (something) • The document does not divest her of her right to use the property. — often used as (be) divested • He was divested of his title/power/dignity. 2 divest (yourself) of (something) a : to sell or give away (possessions, money, etc.) • She divested herself of most of her possessions. b old-fashioned : to remove (clothing, equipment, etc.) from your body • He divested himself of his coat.

— di-vest-ment /daɪ'vestmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count] asset divestments [noncount] the divestment of assets di-ves-ti-ture /daɪ'vestə'tʃʊə/ noun, pl -tures finance : the act of selling stock, property, etc., because of a government order [count] Divestitures are used to break up monopolies. [noncount] Before divestiture, the telephone company monopolized the state.

¹di-vide /də'vaɪd/ verb -vides; -vid-ed; -vid-ing

1 a : to separate (something) into two or more parts or pieces [+ obj] He divided [=split] the loaf in half. • The river divides the town. [=parts of the town are on both sides of the river] • She divided the pie into eight pieces. • The equator divides the Earth into two hemispheres. • The teacher divided the class (up) into four groups. = The teacher divided (up) the class into four groups. — often used as (be) divided • The class was divided (up) into four groups. • The book is divided into three sections. [no obj] The cells divide rapidly. • The river divides after the bridge. b [+ obj] : to separate (something) into classes or categories • We divided (up) the beads according to size and color. • The author divides literature into three categories. [=the author says that there are three categories of literature] — often used as (be) divided • Animals can be divided into several major types.

2 [+ obj] a : to give (something) out in usually equal amounts • They divided [=distributed] the profits between/among themselves. • We divided the work (up) equally. • They divided (up) [=shared] the remaining food. b : to use (your time, energy, etc.) for two or more purposes or activities — usually + between • He divides his energy between sports and school. • Her time is divided between home, work, and school.

3 [+ obj] : to cause (something) to be separate or apart from something else • A tall fence divides the two yards. — often + from • Her cubicle is divided from his by a low wall. • A screen divides (off) the dining area from the living room.

4 [+ obj] a : to separate (people) into groups that disagree • The war divided the nation. • The divorce divided the family. — often used as (be) divided • The nation was divided by war. = We were a nation divided by war. b : to cause (opinions, views, etc.) to not agree — usually used as (be) divided • Opinions on the issue are divided. [=people do not agree about the issue]

5 mathematics : to calculate how many times one number contains another number [+ obj] Divide 8 by 2. • Eight divided by two is four. [=8 ÷ 2 = 4; ½ = 4] [no obj] The teacher taught the children how to divide. • Two divides evenly into eight. [=eight can be divided into two an exact number of times with nothing left over] — compare MULTIPLY divide and conquer or divide and rule : to make a group of people disagree and fight with one another so that they will not join together against you • His military strategy is to divide and conquer.

²divide noun, pl -vides [count]

1 chiefly US : a line of hills or mountains from which rivers drain : a ridge between two rivers : WATERSHED

2 : a separation of people into two or more groups that is caused by different opinions or beliefs or by a disagreement — usually singular • The argument created a divide within the group. — usually + among or between • We must bridge the divide among races. • the divide between generations

divided adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : separated by different opinions : in a state of disagreement • Experts are sharply divided on/over the issue. • The issue has created a deeply divided nation.

2 : given to two or more people or things rather than to just one person or thing • She feels like she only gets her mother's divided attention. • He has divided loyalties. [=he is trying to be loyal to opposing groups, ideals, etc.]

divided highway noun, pl ~ -ways [count] US : a major road that has something (such as a guardrail or an area with grass and trees) that separates lanes of traffic moving in opposite directions — called also (Brit) dual carriageway

div-i-dend /'dɪvə,dend/ noun, pl -dends [count]

1 finance : an amount of a company's profits that the company pays to people who own stock in the company • Profits are distributed to shareholders/stockholders as dividends.

2 : an advantage or benefit that you get because of something you have done — usually plural • Eating healthy and exercising yields big dividends. • Our efforts are finally paying dividends. [=we are finally benefiting from our efforts]

3 mathematics : a number that is being divided by another number • In the equation $8 \div 2 = 4$, eight is the dividend. — compare DIVISOR

di-vid-er /də'vaɪdər/ noun, pl -ers

1 [count] a : a thing that keeps two spaces or areas separate • Concrete barriers are used as highway dividers. b : someone or something that causes people to disagree with one another • She has proven to be a divider of people. • He says that he's a uniter, not a divider.

2 dividers [plural] : a tool that consists of two pointed sticks joined at the top and that is used for measuring or marking lines and angles • a pair of dividers dividing line noun, pl ~ lines [count] : a line or object that separates two areas • The dividing lines on the street were newly painted. • A fence marked the dividing line between the two properties. — often used figuratively • the dividing line between right and wrong

div-i-na-tion /,dɪvə'neɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : the practice of using signs (such as an arrangement of tea leaves or cards) or special powers to predict the future • the art of reading tea leaves and other forms of divination

1 di-vine /də'vaɪn/ adj

1 : relating to or coming from God or a god • divine will/law/love/inspiration • They prayed for divine intervention/help. • The pharaohs of ancient Egypt were considered divine. [=were considered to be gods] • a divine ruler [=a ruler who is believed to be a god] • divine beings

2 [more ~; most ~] informal + somewhat old-fashioned : very good • This pie is divine. [=heavenly] • You look divine.

— di-vine-ly adv • a divinely inspired prophet • divinely [=wonderfully] clever

2 divine verb -vines; -vined; -vin-ing [+ obj] formal + literary : to discover or understand (something) without having direct evidence • He divined [(more commonly) sensed] her unhappiness before she said a word. • divine the answer to a question di-vin-er noun, pl -ers [count]

1 formal + literary : a person who uses special powers to predict future events • Diviners foretold of the event.

2 : a person who searches for water under the ground by using a special stick (called a divining rod) • a water diviner

divine right noun [singular]

1 : the right that is supposedly given to a king or queen by God to rule a country • He ruled by divine right.

2 informal : the right to do or have something without having to ask permission • My boss seems to think he has a divine right to order people around.

diving noun [noncount]

1 : a sport or activity in which people dive into water from a diving board or a platform • He won a gold medal in diving.

2 : a sport or activity in which people swim underwater while using special equipment to breathe • He likes deep-sea diving. • We went diving on the coral reef. — often used before another noun • diving equipment • diving lessons — see also SCUBA DIVING

diving bell noun, pl ~ bells [count] : a large container that is open at the bottom, filled with air, and lowered into deep water to provide a dry place for underwater workers diving board noun, pl ~ boards [count] : a board above a swimming pool, lake, etc., that people can jump off of to dive into the water divining rod noun, pl ~ rods [count] : a stick that is usually shaped like a Y and is used by some people to search for an underground source of water — called also dowsing rod

di-vin-i-ty /də'vɪnəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the state of being a god : the state of being divine • Christians believe in the divinity of Jesus Christ.

2 [count] : a god or goddess • Hindu divinities • the divinities of ancient Greece

3 [noncount] : the formal study of religion, religious practices, and religious beliefs • a doctor of divinity • a divinity student • She attends the divinity school. [=a professional school that teaches religious subjects and trains people for religious jobs] di-vis-i-ble /də'vɪzəbəl/ adj, not used before a noun : able to be divided • 9 is divisible by 3 • (formal) The piece of land is divisible into three small lots.

di-vi-sion /də'vɪzən/ noun, pl -sions

1 : the act or process of dividing something into parts : the way that something is divided [noncount] the process of cell division [singular] a division of profits into equal shares • Their society has a clear division of labor between men and women. [=in their society, the men do one kind of work and the women do another kind of work]

2 [count] : something that physically divides or separates something else — often + between • A line of trees served as a division between our property and theirs.

3 [noncount] mathematics : the process of finding out how many times one number is contained in another. • After learning multiplication, the students were taught division. — see also LONG DIVISION

4 [count] : a group of people who do a particular job within a larger organization (such as a government, business, or school) • She was transferred to a different division within the company. • He worked for many years in the news division [=department] of a major television network.

5 [count] : a large military group • The infantry division is made up of five brigades.

6 [count] a : a group of teams that form one section of a sports league • There are five teams in the league's western division. • Both divisions in the league have agreed to the new rules. • teams that are in the first/second division b : a group of people who are similar in age, size, etc., and who compete against each other — usually singular • She finished third in her division at the national championships. • boxers competing in the heavyweight division

7 : a situation in which different groups, countries, etc., have different opinions, beliefs, or ways of life that separate them from each other [count] We're attempting to resolve the divisions [=disagreements] between our two countries. • There were serious divisions within the party on a number of issues. • The book explores the racial and economic divisions in/of our society. [noncount] The issue caused division within the group.

8 [count] : any one of the parts or groups that form something : SECTION • a major division of the earth's surface di-vi-sion-al /də'vɪzənəl/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : of or relating to a large division of a business or a branch of the military • the divisional manager/commander

2 : of or relating to a group of teams that make up one part of a sports league • the divisional champion/play-offs division sign noun, pl ~ signs [count] mathematics : the symbol ÷ that is used to show that two numbers are to be divided into each other — usually singular di-vi-sive /də'vaɪsɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : causing a lot of disagreement between people and causing them to separate into different groups • divisive issues like abortion — di-vi-sive-ness noun [noncount] di-vi-sor /də'vaɪzər/ noun, pl -sors [count] mathematics : the number by which another number is being divided — usually singular • In the equation $8 \div 2 = 4$, two is the divisor. — compare DIVIDEND

1 di-vo-rc-e /də'vɒrəs/ noun, pl -vo-rc-es

1 : the ending of a marriage by a legal process [count] Since getting a divorce, she has been raising her children alone. • They went through a lengthy/messy divorce. [noncount] Their marriage ended in divorce. • They are filing for divorce. [=they are filing a paper with the courts asking that their marriage be legally ended] • Financial problems are a leading cause of divorce. — often used before another noun • a divorce lawyer/court • a high divorce rate • divorce proceedings

2 [count] formal : a complete separation between two things diving board

— usually singular • a divorce between theory and practice

²divorce verb -vorce; -vored; -vorc-ing

1 to legally end your marriage with (your husband or wife) [+ obj] After years of unhappiness, she decided to divorce him. [no obj] They both agreed it was best to divorce.

2 [+ obj] formal : to make or keep (something) separate • Their constitution divorces church and state. — often + from • The organization hasn't yet fully divorced itself from its troubled past.

— divorced adj • They're getting divorced. • He's been divorced since 2003. • a divorced man = a man who is divorced • a theory that is completely divorced from reality [=a wrong theory that shows no connection to reality]

di·vor·cé /dəˈvoʊˈseɪ/ noun, pl -cés [count] chiefly US : a man who is divorced di·vor·cée /dəˈvoʊˈseɪ/ noun, pl -cées [count] : a divorced person; especially : a woman who is divorced div·ot /ˈdrɒt/ noun, pl -ots [count] : a loose piece of grass and dirt that is dug out of the ground when the ground is struck by something (such as a golf club) di·vulge /dəˈvʌldʒ/ verb -vulg-es; -vulged; -vulg-ing [+ obj] formal : to make (information) known : to give (information) to someone • She refused to divulge [=reveal, tell] the name of her informant. • The company will not divulge its sales figures.

div·vy /ˈdɪvi/ verb -vies; -vied; -vy-ing

divvy up [phrasal verb] divvy (something) up or divvy up (something) informal : to divide or share (something) • We divvied up the money.

Dix·ie·land /ˈdɪksiˌlənd/ noun [noncount] : a type of traditional American jazz music that was popular in the 1920s

DIY /ˌdiːˌaɪˈwaɪ/ adj, always used before a noun : DO-IT-YOURSELF • a DIY home improvement project • DIY home repair

diz·zy /ˈdɪzi/ adj diz·zi·er; -est

1 : feeling that you are turning around in circles and are going to fall even though you are standing still • The children were dizzy after spinning in circles. • I'm feeling a bit weak and dizzy. I think I'm having a dizzy spell.

2 : mentally or emotionally upset or confused • Complex math problems make me dizzy. • dizzy with anger/relief

3 always used before a noun : causing you to feel dizzy: such as a : very high • looking down from dizzy heights — sometimes used figuratively • She has reached the dizzy heights of vice president. b : very fast • Prices rose at a dizzy rate. • the dizzy pace of our lives

4 informal : very silly and tending to forget things — used especially of a woman • an actress who is known for playing dizzy [=ditz] blondes

— diz·zi·ly /ˈdɪzəli/ adv • He staggered dizzily toward the couch. — diz·zi·ness /ˈdɪzɪnəs/ noun [noncount] • This medicine may cause dizziness and nausea.

diz·zy·ing /ˈdɪzɪjɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun : causing or likely to cause dizziness • The cars move at dizzying speeds around the track. • a dizzying array of choices • the skyscraper's dizzying heights

DJ /ˈdiːˌdʒeɪ/ noun, pl DJs [count] : DISC JOCKEY

djinn /ˈdʒɪn/ variant spelling of JINNI

DL abbr disabled list • He was put on the DL for the remainder of the season.

DMV abbr, US Department of Motor Vehicles • I'm going to the DMV this afternoon to get my driver's license renewed.

DMZ abbr demilitarized zone • Forces were not allowed in the DMZ.

DNA /ˌdiːˌenˈeɪ/ noun [noncount] : a substance that carries genetic information in the cells of plants and animals — often used before another noun • DNA analysis • DNA testing • a DNA fingerprint [=a sample of a person's DNA that can be used to identify someone, such as a criminal] • DNA fingerprinting ✧ DNA is an abbreviation of “deoxyribonucleic acid.” — compare NUCLEIC ACID, RNA

¹do /ˈduː/ verb does /ˈdʌz/; did /ˈdɪd/; done /ˈdʌn/; do·ing /ˈduːwɪŋ/

1 a : to perform (an action or activity) [+ obj] We should do something special to celebrate your birthday. • This crime was done deliberately. • I have to do some chores this afternoon. • Tell me what to do and I'll do it. • I'm obliged to do my duty. • He does his work without complaining. • I do the ironing on Wednesdays and the cooking on Thursdays. [=I iron on Wednesdays and cook on Thursdays] • I did a favor for him. = I did him a favor. • “What do you do with this lever? = What does this lever do?” “It operates the pump.” • He did a lot for us. • What can I do to help you? = What can I do for you? [=how can/may I help you?] • What have I done to you to make you so angry? • Have you done something to with this room? [=have you changed this room in some way?] It looks different. • My knee is sore. I must have done something to it [=I must have hurt it] when I fell. • Don't just stand there: do something! [=take some sort of action to stop what is happening] • We need to do something about this problem. [=we need to take some action to correct this problem] • All we can do is hope for the best. [=there is no other action we can take except to hope for the best] • I didn't do it! = I didn't do anything! [=I didn't do what you said I did] Are you doing anything right now? [=are you busy right now?] • If you're not doing anything this evening [=if you're not busy this evening], why not come over for dinner? • “What are you doing this weekend?” “I'm just relaxing at home.” • What is the stock market doing now: rising or falling? • What have I done with my keys? [=where did I put my keys?] • My hair is a mess. I can't do anything with it. • There's nothing to do in this town on a Saturday night! [no obj] Do as I say, not as I do. [=do the things that I say you should do, not the things that I do myself] • Shut up and do as you're told! [=do what I tell you to do] b [+ obj] — used with what to ask or talk about a person's job • “What does your husband do?” “He's a writer.” • She's a lawyer. I'm not sure what her husband does. • What does she do for a living? [=what is her job?]

2 [+ obj] : to finish working on (something) • His mother won't let him watch television until he has done his homework. • I've only done three of the walls so far—I'll paint the last one tomorrow. — compare ²DONE 1

3 [no obj] — used to describe the success or progress of someone or something • “How is she doing in school?” “She did badly/poorly at first, but now she's doing much better.” • She does well in math but badly in history. • The company is doing well. • How is the stock market doing these days? • He started out poor, worked hard, did very well (for himself) in business [=was very successful in business], and died rich. ✧ How are you doing? or (very informally) How you doing? is used as a greeting. • “Hi, Dave. How are you doing?” “I'm fine, thanks. How are you?”

4 [+ obj] — used to describe the effect that something has • You've been working too hard. A few days off will do you (some) good. [=a few days off will be good for you] • We didn't mean to do him (any) harm. [=to harm him] • Criticism can do people a lot of harm/damage; praise can do people a lot of good. • The new design doesn't do much for me. [=I don't like the new design very much] • That hat does nothing for you. [=that hat does not look good on you]

5 — used to describe the amount of effort someone makes [+ obj] She did nothing to help us. [=she did not try to help us at all] • I did my best = I did my utmost = I did all that I could. = I did everything I could. [no obj] I did as well as I could.

6 [+ obj] a : to create or produce (something) • a writer who is doing a new biography on Abraham Lincoln • a painter who has done some beautiful landscapes b : to perform in or be the producer or director of (a movie, play, etc.) • an actress who has done several hit movies • a director who is doing a play on Broadway

7 [+ obj] a : to play (a role or character) • an actor who did Hamlet on Broadway b : to pretend to be (someone, such as a famous person) : to copy the speech and appearance of (someone) • a comedian who does a great George Bush [=a comedian who does a very good and entertaining imitation of George Bush] c informal : to behave like (someone) • I wish he'd do a Houdini and disappear. [=I wish he'd go away]

8 [+ obj] a : to wash or clean (something) • It's your turn to do [=wash] the laundry. • The woman we hired to clean our house doesn't do windows. b : to decorate (a place) • They did the bedroom in blue and the living room in green. — see also DO OVER 2 (below) c : to make (someone's face, hair, etc.) more attractive by putting on makeup, etc. • She wanted to do her face before the party. • She had her hair done [=styled] at the beauty parlor. • She was doing her fingernails/nails. d : to put on (makeup) • It took her a few minutes to do her makeup.

9 [+ obj] : to cook or prepare (food) • I like my steak done rare. • I'll do the salad while you do the pasta. — compare ²DONE 2

10 [+ obj] : to make or sell (a product) • This is the company's most popular computer, but they also do a less expensive model.

11 [+ obj] chiefly US, informal : to participate in (an activity) with other people • We should do dinner some time. [=we should have dinner together some time] • do a meeting [=have a meeting] • We should do a movie [=go to a movie] this weekend. — see also do lunch at ¹LUNCH

12 [+ obj] : to go to (a place) when traveling • a group of tourists who are doing [=visiting] 12 countries in 30 days

13 [+ obj] a : to move or travel (a distance) • We did [=traveled] 500 miles yesterday. b : to move at (a speed) • They were doing [=going, driving] 85 on the turnpike. • That plane can do [=go] 1,400 mph!

14 [+ obj] : to be in a place for (a period of time) • He did [=spent] two years in college before he dropped out.; especially : to be in a prison for (a period of time) • He did [=served] five years (in prison) for robbery. • He has been doing time in a federal penitentiary. — sometimes used figuratively • I've done my time at that terrible job, and now it's time to move on.

15 a : to be enough : to be adequate [no obj] I don't need any more cake, thank you. One piece will do. [=one piece is enough] • I'd prefer to use glue, but tape will/would do. [+ obj] (informal) One piece of cake will do me. [=one piece of cake is enough for me] b ⇨ Phrases like that will do (it) and that should do (it) are used in informal speech to tell someone that you do not want or need anything more. • "Would you like anything else?" "No, that'll do it." = "No, that should do it." That will do it and that should do it are also used to say that you have finished doing something or are about to finish doing something. • I just have one more letter to sign and that should do it. [=and then I'll be finished] That will do is also sometimes used to tell someone (such as a child) to stop doing or saying something that is bothering you or making you angry. • That will do [=that's enough], young man: one more word out of you and you're grounded! c ⇨ The phrase that does it is used to say that you have finished doing something. • I just need to sign one more letter... There, that does it. That does it is also used in angry speech to say that you will not accept or allow something anymore. • "They say we'll have to wait another hour." "That does it! We're leaving right now!"

16 [no obj] : to be proper — used in negative statements • It doesn't do for a doctor to become too friendly with his patients. = It won't/wouldn't do for a doctor to become too friendly with his patients. [=a doctor should not become too friendly with his patients] • Such behavior will never do! [=such behavior should not be allowed] • We should leave soon. It won't do to be late. • This is a formal occasion, so jeans simply won't do. [=jeans are not appropriate] ⇨ In U.S. English, this sense of do has a somewhat formal or old-fashioned quality. — compare ²DONE 3

17 [+ obj] informal : to use (illegal drugs) • He says that he doesn't do drugs anymore.

18 [no obj] informal a : to happen • Is there anything doing tomorrow? • There is nothing doing around here. • Let's find out what's doing downtown. b ⇨ People ask what is something/someone doing...? when they are surprised or upset about where someone or something is. • What are all my clothes doing (lying/scattered) on the floor? [=why are all my clothes on the floor?] • What were you doing (standing) outside in the rain? [=why were you outside in the rain?] People ask what is someone doing with (something)? when they are surprised or upset because someone has something. • What are you doing with my notebook? = What do you think you're doing with my notebook? [=why do you have my notebook?]

19 [+ obj] informal + offensive : to have sex with (someone)

be to do with see HAVE TO DO WITH (below)

do a number on see ¹NUMBER

do away with [phrasal verb] 1 do away with (someone) : to kill (someone) • She's accused of hiring a hit man to do away with [=murder, do in] her husband. 2 do away with (something) : to cause the end of (something) : to get rid of (something) • The struggling company had to do away with a number of jobs.

do battle see ¹BATTLE

do by [phrasal verb] do by (someone) : to deal with or treat (someone) well or badly • She feels that they did poorly/badly by her. [=that they treated her poorly/badly] • They did pretty well by me when I retired. [=they treated me pretty well when I retired] — see also hard done by at ²HARD

do down [phrasal verb] do (someone) down Brit, informal : to talk about (someone) in an insulting or critical way • She thinks that if she does everybody else down, people will think more highly of her. • Stop doing yourself down: you've got a lot to offer!

do for [phrasal verb] do for (someone) Brit, informal 1 : to cause the death or ruin of (someone) • All that hard work nearly did for him. [=nearly killed him] — see also done for at ²DONE 2 : to do the cleaning and cooking for (someone) • Mrs. Jones does for the vicar now his wife's passed on.

do good see ²GOOD

do in [phrasal verb] do (someone) in informal 1 a : to kill (someone) • They threatened to do him in if he didn't pay the money he owed them. • He's been so depressed lately that his friends are afraid he might do himself in. [=he might kill himself] : to cause the death of (someone) • He struggled with lung disease for many years, but it was a heart attack that finally did him in. b : to cause the failure of (someone) • His inability to attract Southern voters is what finally did him in as a presidential candidate. [=he failed because he was unable to attract Southern voters] • a businessman who was done in by greed 2 : to make (someone) very tired • Working in the garden all day really did me in. = After working in the garden all day, I was/felt done in. [=exhausted] — see also done in at ²DONE do it informal : to have sex • They've kissed—but have they actually done it?

do justice see JUSTICE

do out of [phrasal verb] do (someone) out of (something) informal : to unfairly prevent (someone) from getting or having (something) • I've been done out of what was rightfully mine! • They did [=cheated] him out of his inheritance.

do over [phrasal verb] 1 do (something) over US : to do (something) again • I made a mistake when I measured the window and I had to do it over (again). • If I had to do it (all) over again, I would have stayed in college. 2 do (something) over or do over (something) : to decorate or change a room, house, etc., so that it looks very different • We're planning to do over the kitchen next year. 3 do (someone) over or do over (someone) Brit, informal : to attack and beat (someone) • He got done over by a gang of teenagers.

do someone proud see PROUD

do the trick see ¹TRICK

do up [phrasal verb] 1 do up (something) or do (something) up a : to decorate (something) • They did up the room in bright colors for the party. = The room was all done up in bright colors for the party. b : to adjust (something, such as your hair) in a particular way • She did up her hair in a ponytail. c chiefly Brit : to wrap (something) • packages done up [=wrapped up] in paper and ribbon d chiefly Brit : to repair (something) • do up [=fix up] old furniture • do up an old house 2 do (someone) up : to dress (someone) up : to put attractive clothes, makeup, etc., on (someone) • She really did herself up for the party. = She was all done up for the party. 3 do up or do (something) up or do up (something) of clothing : to be fastened or to fasten (something) with buttons, a zipper, etc. • a dress that does up at the back = a dress that is done up at the back • She did up her dress. • buttons that do up easily = buttons that you can do up easily [=buttons that can be easily buttoned] do well ⇨ If you would do well to do something, you should do it. • You would do well to avoid him right now. [=you should avoid him right now] If you did well to do something, you were correct to do it. • You did well to avoid him when he was in a bad mood. If you did well to escape, survive, etc., you were lucky to escape, survive, etc. • When the tornado hit, they did well to escape uninjured.

do with [phrasal verb] do with (something) : to be helped by having (something) • I could (really) do with a cup of hot coffee right now! [=I could use a cup of coffee; I would like/appreciate a cup of coffee] • I could do with a little less criticism right now, if you don't mind!

do without [phrasal verb] do without or do without (something or someone) : to not have (something) : to live, work, etc., without having (something) • If you can't afford a new car, you'll just have to do without (one). • I don't know how we ever did without computers. • I'd like to get a new car, but I can do without it for now. ⇨ The phrase can/could do without is often used to say that you do not like or approve of something. • I enjoy traveling, but I can do without having to wait around in crowded airports. [=I don't like having to wait around] • He was late again. That's the kind of selfish behavior I could do without.

do your bit see ¹BIT

easy does it see ²EASY

have to do with ¹ or chiefly Brit be to do with a : to relate to (something) : to be about (something) • The problem has to do with fishing rights. = (chiefly Brit) The problem is to do with fishing rights. • “What does her husband do?” “I think it has something to do with computers.” = “I think it’s got something to do with computers.” [=it involves computers in some way] b : to relate to or involve (someone) • That’s your problem: it has nothing to do with me! = (chiefly Brit) It’s nothing to do with me! [=it doesn’t involve me in any way; it’s not my problem] • You’re wrong. It’s got everything to do with you: you’re legally responsible for what went wrong. 2 : to be involved in or in some way responsible for (something) • He claims that he had nothing to do with the accident. = He claims that he didn’t have anything to do with the accident. [=that he was not involved in the accident] • He claims he wasn’t involved, but I know he had something to do with it. 3 ✧ If you do not want to have anything to do with someone or if you want nothing to do with someone, you do not want to be involved with that person in any way. • She thinks he’s a liar and she refuses to have anything to do with him. [=she refuses to talk to him, to see him, etc.] • After the way he’s treated me, I want nothing (further) to do with him. = I don’t want (to have) anything (further) to do with him.

how do you do? see ¹HOW

make do see ¹MAKE

nothing doing see ¹NOTHING

— compare ²DO

²do verb does; did; doing; negative forms do not or don’t; did not or didn’t; does not or doesn’t [auxiliary verb]

1 a — used before the subject in a question • Do you play the piano? • How well do you play the piano? • What did he say? • What does her husband do for a living? • When does the train leave? b — used to form brief questions (called tag questions) that come at the end of a statement • You play the piano, don’t you? • So you play the piano, do you? • Her husband works with computers, doesn’t he?

2 a — used with not to form negative statements • I do not know. = I don’t know. • I don’t believe anything he says. b — used with not to form commands • Do not lie to me! = (more commonly) Don’t lie to me! • Don’t touch the stove. • Don’t be afraid. Everything will be all right. c somewhat formal — used before the subject in a statement after words like never, seldom, and rarely • Never did he see his native land again. [=he never saw his native land again] • Seldom do we experience such joy! [=we seldom experience such joy]

3 — used to replace another verb or verb phrase • “May I come in?” “Yes, (please) do.” • You work harder than I do. • “Do you play the piano?” “No, I don’t, but my sister does.” • He works hard and I do, too. = He works hard and so do I. • Don’t touch the stove: if you do, you’ll burn yourself! • She asked me to open the window, which I did. = What I did was (to) open the window when she asked me to. • (informal) “Can you finish it by tomorrow?” “Sure, boss, will do!” [=I will finish it by tomorrow] • (informal) “Can you finish it by tomorrow?” “Sorry, boss, no can do!” [=I can’t finish it by tomorrow] • (Brit) “Are you going to the party?” “I might do.” [=I might] • (Brit) He can work hard and I can do too. [=I can too] • (Brit) Would you mind feeding the dog if nobody else already has done? [=if nobody else already has]

4 a — used to make a statement stronger • You really do look lovely today! • “It hurts!” “Well, I did warn you it would sting a little!” • I never did like him much. • Oh, do be quiet! b somewhat formal — used as a polite way to tell or urge someone to do something • Do come in and have a seat. • Do come and see us again soon. • Do be careful.

— compare ¹DO

³do noun, pl dos [count] informal

1 : something that a person should do — usually used in the phrase dos and don’ts • She told her daughter about the dos and don’ts of dating. [=about the things that she should and should not do when dating someone]

2 US : a way of cutting and arranging a person’s hair : HAIR-DO • She was worried that the wind might mess up her do.

3 : a party or social gathering • We threw a big do for her after graduation.

— compare ⁴DO

⁴do /ˈdou/ or chiefly Brit doh noun [noncount] : the first note of a musical scale • do, re, mi, fa, sol, la, ti — compare ³DO

DOA abbr dead on arrival ✧ In U.S. English, people who are dead when brought to a hospital are said to be DOA. • The patient was DOA. — sometimes used figuratively • Because of budget cuts, the proposed park is DOA.

do-able /ˈduːwəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : able to be done • It will be difficult, but it’s still doable.

DOB abbr date of birth

Do-ber-man pin-scher /ˌdɒbəmənˈpɪnʃər/ noun, pl ~-schers [count] : a type of tall, thin, muscular dog with short hair that is usually black and tan — called also Doberman doc /ˈdɑːk/ noun, pl docs [count] informal : DOCTOR • Am I going to be OK, doc?

doc. abbr document

doc-ile /ˈdɑːsəl, Brit ˈdɒːsəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : easily taught, led, or controlled • His students were docile and eager to learn. • a docile, well-behaved pet

— doc-ile-ly adv • The horses behaved docilely. — do-cil-i-ty /ˈdɑːsɪlɪti, Brit dɒːsɪlɪti/ noun [noncount] • This breed is known for its gentleness and docility.

¹dock /ˈdɑːk/ noun, pl docks

1 a : an area of water in a port where ships are loaded, unloaded, or repaired [count] A crowd was waiting at the dock to greet them. [noncount] The ship is in dock for repairs.

— see also DRY DOCK b the docks : the area in a town or city that has rows of docks, offices, and other buildings • We went down to the docks to watch the ships come in.

2 [count] US : a long structure that is built out into water and used as a place to get on, get off, or tie up a boat • Tie the boat to the dock.

3 [count] US : a place for loading materials onto ships, trucks, trains, etc. • a loading dock

4 [count] : the place in a court of law where a person who is accused of a crime stands or sits during a trial in the dock : on trial for committing a crime • He was arrested and is in the dock on charges of assault and battery.

²dock verb docks; docked; dock-ing

1 : to bring a ship or boat into a dock [no obj] We spent two days at sea before docking in Miami, Florida. [+ obj] The captain was forced to dock the ship.

2 : to join together (two spacecraft) while in space [no obj] The shuttle was scheduled to dock with the space station. [+ obj] They docked the spaceship with the satellite.

3 [+ obj] : to connect an electronic device (such as a computer or a digital camera) to another device • You can dock the camera directly to the printer and download the pictures. • The handheld PC can be docked into/with your desktop computer. • a docking station

— compare ³DOCK

³dock verb docks; docked; dock-ing [+ obj]

1 : to take away part of (the money that is paid to someone) • Her boss docked her pay/wages for coming in late.

2 : to cut off the end of (an animal’s tail) • The puppy’s tail was docked.

— compare ²DOCK

dock-er /ˈdɑːkər/ noun, pl -ers [count] Brit : DOCKWORKER

dock-et /ˈdɑːkət/ noun, pl -ets [count] US

1 : a list of the legal cases that will be tried in a court of law • The judge had to postpone some of the cases on the docket.

2 : a list of things to do or discuss • The new library will be the first item on the committee’s docket. [=on the committee’s agenda]

dock-land /ˈdɒkˌlænd/ noun, pl -lands Brit : the part of a port where there are docks [noncount] an area of dockland [count] an old dockland — called also docklands

dock-side /ˈdɑːkˌsaɪd/ noun [singular] : the area along a shore next to a dock • The fish are unloaded at dockside and taken right to the market. — often used before another noun • dockside warehouses/restaurants dock-work-er /ˈdɑːkˌwɜːkər/ noun, pl -ers [count] US : a person who loads and unloads ships at a port : LONGSHORE-MAN

dock-yard /ˈdɑːkˌjɑːd/ noun, pl -yards [count] : a place where ships are built and repaired : SHIPYARD

¹doc-tor /ˈdɑːktər/ noun, pl -tors [count] ✧ The abbreviation Dr. is usually used in writing when doctor is being used as a title for a specific person. • I have an appointment with Dr. Brown.

1 a : a person who is skilled in the science of medicine : a person who is trained and licensed to treat sick and injured people • I think you should see a doctor. [=physician] • He needed medicine but refused to go to a doctor. • a visit to the doctor’s office = a doctor’s visit • She was under doctor’s orders not to return to work. • Most of her money goes to paying doctors’ bills. [=bills for visits to doctors and medical treatment] b the doctor or the doctor's : the place where a doctor works • I saw her at the doctor's last week. • How long will you be at the doctor?

2 US a : a dentist — used chiefly as a title or as a form of address • My dentist is Dr. Smith. b : a person who is trained to treat sick and injured animals : VETERINARIAN • an animal doctor — used chiefly as a title or as a form of address • We took our dog to Dr. Jones.

3 : a person who has the highest degree (such as a PhD) given by a university • Most of the faculty members at this college are doctors in their fields. • a Doctor of Philosophy • Dr. Smith, can you explain the exam requirements again?

just what the doctor ordered informal : exactly what is wanted or needed • A day at the beach was just what the doctor ordered. — see also SPIN DOCTOR, WITCH DOCTOR

2 doctor verb -tors; -tored; -tor-ing [+ obj]

1 : to change (something) especially in order to trick or deceive people • They were accused of doctoring the company's financial records. • a doctored photo of the actress

2 : to add something (such as alcohol or drugs) to (a food or drink) • I think somebody doctored the punch.

3 : to give medical treatment to (an injury, a person, etc.) • He had time to doctor his wounds. • She doctored the sick child until the physician arrived.

doc-tor-al /'dɑ:k'tərəl/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to the highest degree that is given by a university • a doctoral degree • He wrote his doctoral dissertation/thesis on William Shakespeare. • doctoral candidates [=students trying to earn their doctorates] — see also POSTDOCTORAL doc-tor-ate /'dɑ:k'tərət/ noun, pl -ates [count] : the highest degree that is given by a university • She got a job teaching at the university after earning her doctorate. [=PhD]

doc-tri-naire /,dɑ:k'trə'neə/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + disapproving — used to describe a person who has very strong beliefs about what should be done and will not change them or accept other people's opinions • The senator is less doctrinaire than generally believed. • a doctrinaire conservative/socialist

doc-trine /'dɑ:k'trən/ noun, pl -trines

1 : a set of ideas or beliefs that are taught or believed to be true [count] The government was founded on a doctrine of equality for all people. • Many psychologists now question the doctrines of Sigmund Freud. [noncount] teaching religious doctrine to young people

2 [count] US : a statement of government policy especially in international relations • the Truman/Monroe doctrine

— doc-tri-nal /'dɑ:k'trənəl, Brit dɒk'traɪnəl/ adj • The group split into two parties as a result of doctrinal differences.

— doc-tri-nal-ly adv

do-cu-dra-ma /'dɑ:kjə'drɑ:mə/ noun, pl -mas [count] : a movie that is usually made for television and that tells a story about real events that have happened recently • They are making a docudrama about the controversial court case.

1 doc-u-ment /'dɑ:kjə'mənt/ noun, pl -ments [count]

1 : an official paper that gives information about something or that is used as proof of something • It is important to keep all of your financial documents in a safe place. • legal/official/historical documents • An important classified document has been leaked to the media.

2 : a computer file that contains text that you have written • creating a new document on your computer • I lost the document when the hard drive crashed.

2 doc-u-ment /'dɑ:kjə'mənt/ verb -ments; -ment-ed; -ment-ing [+ obj]

1 : to create a record of (something) through writing, film, photography, etc. • Her study was the first to document this type of behavior in gorillas. • He wrote a book documenting their struggle.

2 : to prove (something) by using usually written evidence • Can you document the claims you're making? • The charges are well/fully documented.

— doc-u-ment-able /'dɑ:kjə'mentəbəl/ adj • documentable evidence

1 doc-u-men-ta-ry /,dɑ:kjə'mentri/ noun, pl -ries [count] : a movie or television program that tells the facts about actual people and events • We watched a documentary on the early history of jazz. — often used before another noun • a documentary filmmaker • She has produced several award-winning documentary films.

2 documentary adj, always used before a noun : consisting of documents : written down • You must present documentary proof of your residence. • documentary evidence

doc-u-men-ta-tion /,dɑ:kjə'mən'teɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

1 : the documents, records, etc., that are used to prove something or make something official • You cannot visit the country unless you have the proper documentation. • Keep your receipts as documentation of your purchases. • written documentation • Can you provide documentation of the claims you're making?

2 : written instructions for using a computer or computer program • The program's documentation is poorly written.

DOD abbr, US Department of Defense

dod-der-ing /'dɑ:dərɪŋ/ adj : walking and moving in a slow and unsteady way because of old age • a doddering old man dod-dle /'dɑ:dəl/ noun [singular] Brit, informal : something that is very easy to do • This machine makes cleaning your home a doddle. [=cinch]

1 dodge /'dɑ:dʒ/ verb dodg-es; dodged; dodg-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to move quickly to one side in order to avoid being hit by (someone or something) • He dodged the first punch but was hit by the second. • dodging traffic b always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to move quickly in order to avoid being hit, seen, stopped, etc. • She dodged through the crowds as she hurried home. • He dodged [=ducked] behind the bushes. • We dodged between the cars as we raced across the street.

2 [+ obj] : to get away from or avoid (someone or something) in a skillful or dishonest way • She dodged [=evaded] the question by changing the subject. • They managed to dodge the reporters by leaving through the back exit. • She accused him of dodging his responsibilities as a parent. • Many young men tried to dodge the draft [=to avoid being drafted into the military] by leaving the country.

dodge a/the bullet chiefly US, informal : to barely avoid being hit or affected by something harmful • The island dodged a bullet when the hurricane turned south.

2 dodge noun, pl dodges [count] : a clever or dishonest trick done in order to avoid something • It was just another dodge to get out of working. • a tax dodge dodge-ball /'dɑ:dʒ,bɔ:l/ noun [noncount] : a game in which players try to hit their opponents with an inflated ball in order to get them removed from the game

dodg-em car /'dɑ:dʒəm-/ noun, pl ~ cars [count] Brit : BUMPER CAR

dodg-er /'dɑ:dʒə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who avoids doing something by being dishonest • tax dodgers [=evaders] • a draft dodger [=a person who illegally avoids being drafted into the military] dodgy /'dɑ:dʒi/ adj dodgier; -est [also more ~; most ~] chiefly Brit, informal

1 a : false or dishonest • dodgy business deals • a dodgy insurance claim b : causing a lack of trust or confidence • I heard he has a pretty dodgy [=questionable] reputation.

2 : in bad condition • The car's got a dodgy engine. • my dodgy knees

3 : difficult or risky • They got into a dodgy situation.

do-do /'dɒ,dɒ/ noun, pl -does or -dos [count]

1 : a type of bird that lived in the past and that was large, heavy, and unable to fly

2 US, informal + humorous : a stupid or silly person • That dodo can't do anything right. • I feel like a complete dodo.

(as) dead as a dodo see 1 DEAD

doe /'dɒ/ noun, pl does or doe [count] : a female animal (such as a deer, rabbit, or kangaroo) — compare BUCK; see also JANE DOE, JOHN DOE

doe-eyed /'dɒ,aɪd/ adj : having large eyes that make you look innocent • a doe-eyed little boy do-er /'dɒ:wə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who actively does things instead of just thinking or talking about them • I'm more of a thinker than a doer.

does see DO doesn't /'dʌznt/ — used as a contraction of does not • She doesn't like cake. • This shirt doesn't fit.

doff /'dɒ:f/ verb doffs; doffed; doff-ing [+ obj] old-fashioned : to take off or remove (a hat or a piece of clothing) • He doffed his cap as he introduced himself. • They doffed their coats when they came inside.

1 dog /'dɒ:g/ noun, pl dogs

1 [count] a : a type of animal that is often kept as a pet or trained to work for people by guarding buildings, hunting, etc. • That dog barks all day long. • children playing with the family dog • a guard dog • a hunting dog • wild dogs such as the Australian dingo — often used before another noun • a dog collar • dog food/shows • I'm not really a dog person. [=I don't particularly like dogs] b : a male dog

2 [count] informal a : a person who is regarded as lucky, unlucky, etc. • You lucky dog! — see also TOP DOG b : a person who is lazy or who is not liked • He's a lazy dog. • He's a worthless dog. [=bum] c offensive : an unattractive girl or woman • They say she's a real dog.
3 [count] US, informal : something that is poor in quality • Her latest book turned out to be a real dog. • That was a dog of a movie.
4 [count] US, informal : HOT DOG • Would you like another dog? — see also CHILI DOG, CORN DOG 5 dogs [plural] US, informal + old-fashioned : FEET • My dogs were tired from standing all day.
a dog's breakfast Brit, informal : something that is messy or poorly done • It was a dog's breakfast of a match, and our coach was understandably upset.
a dog's life : a difficult, boring, and unhappy life • Everyone knows it's a dog's life in this business.
(as) sick as a dog informal : very sick • I'm sick as a dog.
dog and pony show US, usually disapproving : a very fancy and elaborate event that is done to sell something, to impress people, etc. • The sales presentation was a real dog and pony show.
every dog has his/its day informal — used to say that every person has a successful moment in life go to the dogs informal : to become ruined : to change to a much worse condition • Our favorite restaurant has gone to the dogs lately. • The economy is going to the dogs.
hair of the dog (that bit you) see HAIR in a dog's age see AGE
let sleeping dogs lie : to ignore a problem because trying to deal with it could cause an even more difficult situation • I thought about bringing up my concerns but decided instead to let sleeping dogs lie.

put on the dog US, informal + old-fashioned : to pretend that you are very stylish or rich • They really put on the dog for their daughter's wedding.
rain cats and dogs see RAIN
the tail wagging the dog see TAIL
you can't teach an old dog new tricks — used to say that a person who is old or is used to doing things in a certain way cannot learn or does not want to learn a new way • I tried to get my mother to start using a computer, but she says you can't teach an old dog new tricks.

2*dog verb dogs; dogged; dog-ging [+ obj]*
1 : to follow (someone) very closely • He dogged her every move.
2 : to ask (someone) about something or for something constantly or frequently • Creditors dogged him until he finally paid his bills. • Reporters kept dogging [=pestering] her for information.
3 : to cause problems for (someone) for a long time — often used as (be) dogged • His career has been dogged [=plagued] by controversy. • an athlete dogged by injuries [=an athlete who has had many injuries]

dog biscuit noun, pl ~ -cuits [count] : a hard, dry cracker for dogs dog-catch-er /'dɑ:g,ketʃə/ noun, pl -ers [count] US : a public official who is responsible for catching dogs that do not have homes — called also (Brit) dog warden dog days noun [plural] : the hottest time of the year • The kids used to go swimming every afternoon during the dog days of summer.

dog-eared /'dɑ:g,iəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having some pages with the top corners folded down • All I had was a few old dog-eared copies of my favorite books. • a dog-eared magazine — sometimes used figuratively • dog-eared jokes [=old jokes that have been told many times] dog-eat-dog /,dɑ:g,i:t'dɑ:g/ adj — used to describe a situ-dog

pug

dachshund

Chihuahua

Yorkshire terrier

poodle

Shetland sheepdog, sheltie

cocker spaniel

beagle

boxer

husky

Labrador retriever, Labrador

Rottweiler

German shepherd, Alsatian (Brit)

golden retriever

ation in which people compete with each other for success in a cruel and selfish way • It's a dog-eat-dog business we're in. • dog-eat-dog competitions dog-fight /'dɔ:g,fart/ noun, pl -fights [count]

1 : a fight between dogs

2 : a fight between fighter planes that are flying close to each other • He was shot down in a dogfight over enemy territory.

3 : a fierce fight or struggle between people or groups • The election has turned into a real dogfight.

dog-ged /'dɔ:gəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing the attitude of a person who wants to do or get something and will not stop trying : stubborn and determined • Her dogged efforts eventually paid off. • a dogged pursuit of power

– dog-ged-ly adv • He worked doggedly to maintain his lead. • The press doggedly pursues him wherever he goes.

– dog-ged-ness noun [noncount]

dog-ger-el /'dɔ:gərəl/ noun [noncount] : poetry that is poorly written and that often is not meant to be taken seriously • a few lines of doggerel

doggie bag also doggy bag noun, pl ~ bags [count] : a bag that is used for carrying home food that is left over from a meal eaten at a restaurant

¹dog-gone /'dɔ:g'gɑ:n/ interj, US, informal + somewhat old-fashioned — used as a more polite form of damn • Doggone! That hurt!

²doggone verb, US, informal + somewhat old-fashioned [+ obj] — used as a more polite form of damn • Doggone it! I forgot my keys! • Listen to me, doggone it! • (I'll be) Doggoned if he didn't leave early. [=I'm surprised that he left early]

³doggone or doggoned /'dɔ:g'gɑ:nd/ adj, US, informal + somewhat old-fashioned — used as a more polite form of damn • Those doggone kids stepped on our flowers! • He didn't do a doggone thing today. • It's a doggone shame that you missed it. • If you believe that, you're a doggoned fool!

– doggone /'dɔ:g'gɑ:n/ or doggoned /'dɔ:g'gɑ:nd/ adv • What's so doggone funny? • She's too doggoned skinny.

dog-gy or dog-gie /'dɔ:gi/ noun, pl -gies [count] informal : a dog • Doggy is used especially by children or when talking to children. • Oh, what a cute little doggy!

– doggy adj [more ~; most ~] • a doggy smell dog-house /'dɔ:g,haus/ noun, pl -hous-es [count] US : an outdoor shelter with a roof for a dog in the doghouse informal : in a bad situation because someone is angry at you : in trouble • He's in the doghouse with his wife [=his wife is angry at him] for being late.

dog-leg /'dɔ:g,leg/ noun, pl -legs [count] : a place where a road, golf course, etc., bends or turns sharply • a sharp dogleg to the left

– dogleg adj, always used before a noun • dogleg fairways

– dogleg verb -legs; -legged; -leg-ging [no obj] • a fairway that doglegs to the left dog-ma /'dɔ:gmə/ noun, pl -mas [count, noncount] formal

1 usually disapproving : a belief or set of beliefs that is accepted by the members of a group without being questioned or doubted • These new findings challenge the current dogma in the field. • political dogma

2 : a belief or set of beliefs that is taught by a religious organization dog-mat-ic /dɔg'mætɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : expressing personal opinions or beliefs as if they are certainly correct and cannot be doubted • She's become so dogmatic lately that arguing with her is pointless. • dogmatic critics • dogmatic statements

– dog-mat-i-cal-ly /dɔg'mætɪkli/ adv [more ~; most ~]

– dog-ma-tism /'dɔ:gmə,tɪzəm/ noun [noncount] • moral/religious/political dogmatism

– dog-ma-tist /'dɔ:g-mætɪst/ noun, pl -tists [count] • a political dogmatist [=a person with dogmatic political opinions] do-good-er /'du:ɡudə/ noun, pl -ers [count] disapproving : someone whose desire and effort to help people (such as poor people) is regarded as wrong, annoying, useless, etc. • He dismisses his critics as a bunch of politically correct do-gooders.

dog-paddle also doggy-paddle verb -pad-dles; -pad-dled; -pad-dling [no obj] : to swim like a dog with your head above water and your arms and legs paddling under the water • When she first learned to swim, all she could do was dog-paddle.

– dog paddle also doggy paddle noun [singular] • doing a/the dog paddle

dog-sled /'dɔ:g,sled/ noun, pl -sleds [count] chiefly US : a type of sled that is pulled by dogs

– dogsled verb -sleds; -sled-ded; -sled-ding [no obj]

He dogsledded across the tundra. [+ obj] They dogsledded supplies to the fort. – dogsledding noun [noncount]

She likes to go dogsledding in the winter.

dog tag noun, pl ~ tags [count] : a small, thin piece of metal that is worn around the neck of an American soldier and that lists the soldier's name, service number, and other information dog-tired adj [more ~; most ~] informal : very tired : EXHAUSTED • I was dog-tired and ready for bed.

dog warden noun, pl ~ -dens [count] Brit : DOGCATCHER dog-wood /'dɔ:g,wud/ noun, pl -woods

1 [count] : a type of bush or small tree with groups of small flowers • We planted two dogwoods. • a dogwood tree

2 [noncount] : the hard wood of a dogwood • The furniture is made of dogwood.

doh chiefly Brit spelling of ⁴DO

DoH abbr, Brit Department of Health

d'oh /'dɔ:/ interj, informal + humorous — used when you realize that you have just said or done something stupid or foolish doi-ly /'dɔ:li/ noun, pl -lies [count] : a usually round cloth or paper that has a decorative pattern made of many small holes • Doilies are typically placed on top of something (such as a piece of furniture) to protect it or for decoration. • She placed a lace doily under the vase.

do-ing /'du:wɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 [noncount] : the act of making something happen through your own action • It's the doing of the good deed that is important, not the thanks you receive. • Informal phrases like take a bit of doing, take some doing, and take a lot of doing are used to say that something is difficult to do and requires a lot of effort or work. • Finishing the work on time may take a bit of doing. • It will take some doing to win the game. • Getting the project done on time will take a lot of doing. • If something is your doing, you did it. • Is this mix-up your doing? [=did you cause the mix-up?] • The surprise party was not all our doing; we had lots of help.

2 doings [plural] : things that someone does • I've been reading about the governor's latest doings. [=activities] : things that happen • There have been some strange doings [=goings-on, occurrences] lately.

do-it-yourself adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to work (such as fixing or building something) that you do yourself instead of hiring someone to do it • a do-it-yourself [=DIY] home improvement project • do-it-yourself home repair • do-it-yourself stores [=stores where you buy materials to fix or build things]

– do-it-your-self-er noun, pl -ers [count] • a how-to guide for do-it-yourselfers do-jo /'dɔ:ʒɔ:/ noun, pl -jos [count] : a school for teaching people karate, judo, etc.

Dol-by /'dɔ:lbi, 'dɔ:lbɪ/ trademark — used for an electronic device that removes unwanted noise from recorded or broadcast sound

dol-drums /'dɔ:ldrəmz/ noun [plural]

1 : a state or period of sadness or depression • We watched movies to fight off the winter doldrums. — often used in the phrase in the doldrums • She has been in the doldrums since her best friend moved away.

2 : a state or period in which there is no activity or improvement • The company is slowly climbing out of its economic doldrums. — often used in the phrase in the doldrums • The market is in the doldrums.

¹dole /'dɔ:li/ noun [noncount] : money that a government (especially the British government) gives to people who do not have jobs or who are very poor • dole money — usually used as the dole • The government is changing the rules for receiving the dole. [= (US) welfare] • They've been on/off the dole for a year. • They're going on/off the dole.

²dole verb doles; doled; dol-ing

dole out [phrasal verb] dole out (something) also dole (something) out : to give (something) to people • She is always doling out advice on relationships. • The organization has doled out millions of dollars in grants. • The nurse doles the pills out carefully. • The agency doles out [=hands out, distributes] food to thousands of needy families each year.

dole-ful /'dɔ:lfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very sad • The girl had a doleful look/expression on her face. • You sounded so doleful about your future that night.

— dole-ful-ly adv

¹doll /'dɑ:l/ noun, pl dolls [count]

1 : a child's toy in the form of a baby or small person • The child was busy playing with her (baby) dolls. • My aunt collects porcelain dolls. — see also RAG DOLL

2 chiefly US, informal : a kind and helpful person — usually singular • Thanks for the help. You're a doll. [=dear]

3 informal + old-fashioned : a woman; especially : an attractive woman ♦ This sense of doll is now often considered offensive especially when it is used as a way to address a woman.

²doll verb dolls; dollled; doll-ing

doll up [phrasal verb] doll (yourself) up informal : to make (yourself) attractive with makeup and fancy or stylish clothes • She dolled herself up for the party. = She got (all) dollled up for the party.

dol-lar /'dɑ:lə/ noun, pl -lars

1 [count] a : a basic unit of money in the U.S., Canada, Australia, and other countries that is equal to 100 cents • The shirt costs 20 dollars. [= $20] • She had to pay hundreds of dollars in auto repairs. • The property is worth a million dollars. = It's a million-dollar property. • Do you have a 20-dollar bill? [=a twenty] • It costs 500 pesos. How much is that in dollars? [=how many dollars equals 500 pesos?] b : a bill or coin that is worth one dollar • I found a dollar on the sidewalk. = I found a dollar bill on the sidewalk. • She put a wrinkled dollar down on the counter. — see also HALF-DOLLAR, TOP DOLLAR

2 the dollar technical : the value of a dollar when it is compared to another unit of money • The dollar dropped sharply against the pound. • the strength/weakness of the dollar • The dollar is worth more in Mexico.

3 [count] : money that is from a specified source or used for a specified purpose • You want to know how the state spends every federal dollar [=money from the federal government] it receives? — usually plural • Should a program like this be paid for with tax/taxpayer dollars? [=with money the government collects through taxes] • tourist/tourism dollars [=money that an economy gets because of the money tourists spend there] • The company needs to invest its advertising dollars wisely.

bet your bottom dollar see ²BET

look/feel like a million dollars see MILLION

— see also SAND DOLLAR

dollar sign noun, pl ~ signs [count] : a symbol $ placed before a number to show that it represents an amount of dollars — often used figuratively • Where other people saw junk, she saw dollar signs. [=she saw a way to earn money] • investors with dollar signs in their eyes [=investors who want very much to earn money]

doll-house /'dɑ:l,haus/ noun, pl -houses [count] US : a small toy house that is used by children for playing with dolls — called also (Brit) doll's house

dol-lop /'dɑ:ləp/ noun, pl -lops [count]

1 : a small amount of soft food • My piece of pie was served with a dollop of whipped cream. • a dollop of ketchup

2 : a usually small amount of something • A dollop of milk was left in the container. • large dollops of wit and humor doll's house noun, pl dolls' houses [count] Brit : DOLL-HOUSE

dol-ly /'dɑ:li/ noun, pl -lies [count]

1 : a child's toy doll ♦ Dolly is usually used by children or by adults speaking to children.

2 : a piece of equipment that has wheels and that is used for moving heavy objects • We'll need a dolly to move the refrigerator.

dol-men /'doulmən, 'dɑ:lmən/ noun, pl -mens [count] technical : an ancient structure made of two or more upright stones and a single stone lying across them ♦ Dolmens are believed to be tombs.

dol-phin /'dɑ:lfən/ noun, pl -phins [count] : a small usually gray whale that has a pointed nose — compare PORPOISE dolt /'doutl/ noun, pl dolts [count] informal : a stupid person • What a dolt I've been!

— dolt-ish /'doutlɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a doltish person • doltish behavior

-dom /dəm/ noun suffix

1 : the state of being (something) • freedom

2 : the rank of • dukedom

3 : the area ruled by • kingdom

4 : the group having a specified job, position, interest, or character • officialdom

do-main /dou'mein/ noun, pl -mains [count]

1 : the land that a ruler or a government controls : TERRITORY • The forest is part of the king's domain. • the British/Ottoman imperial domain — see also EMINENT DOMAIN, PUBLIC DOMAIN

2 : an area of knowledge or activity • My sister is the math expert in the family, but literature is my domain. • Childcare is no longer solely a female domain. — often + of • Federal crimes are outside the domain of city police.

3 computers a : a section of the Internet that is made up of computers or sites that are related in some way (such as by use or source) ♦ An abbreviation of an Internet site's domain (such as .gov, .org, and .com) is included in its address: www.Merriam-Webster.com. b : DOMAIN NAME domain name noun, pl ~ names [count] computers : the characters (such as Merriam-Webster.com or Whitehouse.gov) that form the main part of an Internet address dome /'doum/ noun, pl domes [count]

1 : a large rounded roof or ceiling that is shaped like half of a ball • the dome of the Capitol building • the church's high dome

2 : a structure that looks like the dome of a building • a dome of ice

3 : a stadium that is covered by a roof • The team's new stadium is a dome.

4 informal : a person's head • He wears a hat to protect his bald dome from the summer sun.

domed /'doumd/ adj : shaped like or covered with a dome • The dog's skull is slightly domed. • a domed ceiling/church/stadium

¹do-mes-tic /də'mestik/ adj

1 : of, relating to, or made in your own country • the domestic economy/market • foreign and domestic affairs/policy • international and domestic politics • The company hopes to attract both foreign and domestic investors. • The wine is domestic. • domestic and imported cheeses • The airline only offers domestic flights. [=flights to and from places within the country] — opposite FOREIGN

2 always used before a noun : relating to or involving someone's home or family • domestic happiness • His domestic [=home] life was not very happy. • domestic abuse/violence [=physical harm done to a member of a family or household by another member of the same family or household]

3 a always used before a noun : relating to the work (such as cooking and cleaning) that is done in a person's home • domestic chores/duties/work/services/help • a domestic worker/servant [=a worker/servant who is hired to work in someone's home] b [more ~; most ~] — used to describe a person who enjoys work and activities that are done at home • I'm not a domestic person. • She is not very domestic. c always used before a noun : used in the home • domestic furniture/appliances

4 of an animal : living with people : bred or trained to need and accept the care of human beings : DOMESTICATED • The wolf is related to the domestic dog. • wild and domestic cats • domestic animals/cattle — do-mes-ti-cal-ly /də'mestikli/ adv • It is a domestically produced wine. • Domestically, the economy is not doing well.

²domestic noun, pl -tics [count]

1 old-fashioned : a servant who is hired to work in someone's home : a domestic servant

2 Brit, informal : a fight between members of a family or household • She got in a domestic with her husband.

do-mes-ti-cate /də'mestə,keit/ verb -cates; -cat-ed; -cat-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to breed or train (an animal) to need and accept the care of human beings : to tame (an animal) • Humans have domesticated dogs/cattle/chickens. • Horses and oxen have been domesticated to work on farms. b : to grow (a plant) for human use • Native Americans domesticated corn.

2 humorous : to train (someone) to behave in an appropriate way at home (such as by using good manners, being polite, being helpful, etc.) • She jokes that dogs are easier to domesticate than men.

– domesticated adj [more ~; most ~] • domesticated animals – do-mes-ti-ca-tion /dəˈmɛstəˈkeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the domestication of animals do-mes-tic-i-ty /ˌdouˈmɛstɪsəti/ noun [noncount] formal : life inside a home : the activities of a family or of the people who share a home • We got married and settled into a life of comfortable domesticity.

domestic partner noun, pl ~ -ners [count] US, formal : a person you live with and have a sexual relationship with but are not married to ✧ Domestic partner is usually used in legal situations. • The organization is trying to get tax and insurance benefits for domestic partners.

– domestic partnership noun, pl ~ -ships [count] • People in domestic partnerships qualify for insurance benefits.

domestic science noun [noncount] old-fashioned : HOME ECONOMICS

dom-i-cile /ˈdɑːməˈsajəl/ noun, pl -ciles law : the place where you live : your home [noncount] You will need to report your change of domicile to your insurance company. [count] Students must establish a domicile in the state to be eligible for reduced tuition.

dom-i-ciled adj, not used before a noun, law : living or established in a particular place • The defendant/corporation is domiciled in Texas. • students domiciled outside the state

dom-i-nant /ˈdɑːməˈnənt/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : more important, powerful, or successful than most or all others • The university has/plays a dominant [=major] role in the local economy. • Money is the dominant [=main] force in consumer societies. • The company is now dominant in its market. • What is the dominant [=major, predominant] theme of the play? • It is the dominant culture/tribe in the region. • She has a very dominant [=domineering] personality. • the dominant female/male of the pack

2 : most common • the dominant [=prevailing] language/religion of the country

3 biology : causing or relating to a characteristic or condition that a child will have if one of the child's parents has it • dominant genes • Brown hair is a dominant trait. = Brown hair is dominant. — opposite RECESSIVE

– dom-i-nance /ˈdɑːməˈnəns/ noun [noncount] The companies are competing for dominance in the market. = The companies are competing for market dominance. • military/political dominance [=predominance] • male dominance [=the state of men or male animals having more power than women or female animals] • the French language's dominance in the region = the regional dominance of the French language [singular] The company has established a dominance in the market. • the team's dominance over its rivals • a neighborhood with a dominance [=predominance] of older homes – dom-i-nant-ly adv • The population is dominantly [(more commonly) predominantly] Catholic. • a dominantly inherited disease

dom-i-nate /ˈdɑːməˈneɪt/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing

1 [+ obj] : to have control of or power over (someone or something) • The king dreamed of dominating [=ruling] the world. • One company has dominated the market for years. • Men dominate the field. = It's a male-dominated field. • He dominated her life for many years.

2 [+ obj] : to be the most important part of (something) • His work dominated the art scene last year. • The business dominated her life. [=most of her life/time was devoted to the business] • The topic of her arrest dominated the conversation. [=most of the conversation was about her arrest]

3 : to be much more powerful or successful than others in a game, competition, etc. [no obj] Our team dominated throughout the game. [+ obj] Our team dominated play throughout the game. • She dominated the match.

4 [no obj] : to be most common • Pine trees dominate in the eastern part of the forest. • French dominates throughout the region, but German is also spoken.

5 [+ obj] : to be the largest or most noticeable object in (a place) • The statue dominates the town's square. • The room was dominated by a large table.

– dominating adj [more ~; most ~] • He has had a dominating influence in her life. • a very dominating team

– dom-i-na-tion /ˌdɑːməˈneɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • The king had dreams of world domination. • market domination – dom-i-na-tor /ˈdɑːməˈnɛtər/ noun, pl -tors [count] • The company is a market dominator.

do-mi-na-trix /ˌdɑːmɪˈnɛtrɪks/ noun, pl -tri-ces /-trəˈsiːz/ also -trix-es [count] : a woman who controls and hurts her partner during sexual activity in order to give her partner sexual pleasure

dom-i-neer-ing /ˌdɑːməˈnɪrɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : tending too often to tell people what to do : often trying to control the behavior of others • a domineering [=controlling] parent • Their manager is much too domineering. [(informal) bossy]

Do-min-i-can /dəˈmɪnɪkən/ noun, pl -cans [count] : a member of a Roman Catholic group of friars founded in 1215 by St. Dominic – Dominican adj • the Dominican order • Dominican friars do-min-ion /dəˈmɪnjən/ noun, pl -ions formal

1 [noncount] : the power to rule : control of a country, region, etc. • The U.S. has/holds dominion over the island. • The countries fought for dominion of the territory. synonyms see POWER

2 [count] : the land that a ruler or government controls • The whole island is the king's dominion. [=domain] • the dominions of the empire

3 Dominion [count] : a country that was part of the British Empire but had its own government ✧ Countries that were formerly Dominions are now members of the Commonwealth.

dom-i-no /ˈdɑːməˈnou/ noun, pl -noes or -nos

1 [count] : a small flat rectangular block made of wood or plastic that has one or more dots on one side and that is used in playing games

2 dominoes [noncount] : a game played with dominoes • Dominoes is one of my favorite games.

domino effect noun [singular] : a situation in which one event causes a series of similar events to happen one after another • The delay created a domino effect [=ripple effect], disrupting deliveries around the country.

1 don /ˈdɑːn/ noun, pl dons [count]

1 Brit : a teacher in a college or university; especially : a teacher at Oxford or Cambridge University

2 informal : a powerful Mafia leader

2 don verb dons; donned; don-ning [+ obj] formal + old-fashioned : to put on (a piece of clothing) • He donned his gloves and hat. • She donned her jacket.

do-nate /ˈdouˈneɪt, ˈdouˈneɪt/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing

1 : to give (money, food, clothes, etc.) in order to help a person or organization [+ obj] The computers were donated by local companies. • We donated our old clothes to charity. • people who donate money to political candidates • He donates some of his free time to volunteer work. [no obj] Everyone is encouraged to donate.

2 : to give (blood, a body organ, etc.) to a hospital or other medical organization so that it can be given to someone who needs it [+ obj] People are encouraged to donate blood. • Please sign this form if you would like to donate your organs when you die. [no obj] You can donate at the blood bank every eight weeks.

– do-na-tor /ˈdouˈneɪtər, ˈdouˈneɪtər/ noun, pl -ors [count] • The donators [(more commonly) donors] of the money did not give their names.

do-na-tion /ˈdouˈneɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : something (such as money, food, clothes, etc.) that you give in order to help a person or organization [count] All donations are appreciated. • They thanked her for the generous donation. [=gift] • The organization is funded by private donations. • Would you like to make a donation? [=make a contribution; give money] [noncount] We are grateful for the donation of whatever you can afford to give.

2 : something (such as blood or a body organ) that you give to a hospital or clinic so that it can be given to someone who needs it [count] blood/organ donations [noncount] trying to encourage the donation of blood/organs

1 done past participle of DO

2 done adj, not used before a noun

1 — used to say that an activity, job, etc., has ended • One more question and we're done. • He'll travel many miles before he's done. [=through] • My work is never done. [=finished, completed] • I'm (almost) done reading this book. • Turn out the light when you're done. • Are you done with the scissors? • When will you be done with [=finish, complete] the project? = (Brit) When will you have done with the project? • Just call her and be done with it. [=get it over with] = (Brit) Just call her and have done with it. — compare ¹DO 2

2 : cooked completely or enough • The cake is done. • Check to see if the meat is done. — see also OVERDONE, UNDERDONE, WELL-DONE

3 : socially acceptable or fashionable • Getting a divorce just wasn't done at the time.

consider it done see CONSIDER done for informal 1 : in a very bad situation : certain to fail, lose, be punished, etc. • If she finds out we cheated, we're done for. [=in trouble] • We'll never catch up now. We're done for. 2 : certain to die or be killed • When we saw the explosion, we thought she was done for. — see also do for 1 at ¹DO done in informal : very tired • After working in the garden all day, I was/felt completely done in. [=exhausted] — see also do in 2 at ¹DO

hard done by see ²HARD

no harm done see ¹HARM

over and done with see ¹OVER

when all is said and done see ³ALL

³done interj — used to say that you agree with the conditions of a deal or accept an offer • "I'll offer you $5,000 for the car." "Done."

done deal noun [singular] informal : something that has been done and that cannot be changed • It's a done deal. • The sale is far from a done deal. [=it is very possible that it will not happen]

done-ness /ˈdʌnəs/ noun [noncount] : the state of being cooked completely or enough • Cover the pan and cook to (the) desired doneness.

Don Juan /ˈdʌːnˈwɑːn/ noun, pl ~ Juans [count] : a man who has sexual relationships with many women • She was wined and dined by the local Don Juan. [=Casanova]

don-key /ˈdʌːŋki/ noun, pl -keys [count] : an animal that is like a small horse with large ears donkey work noun [noncount] chiefly Brit, informal : hard work that is not interesting • I had to do the donkey work.

donkey's years noun [plural] chiefly Brit, informal : a very long time • It's been donkey's years [=ages] since I saw her.

don-nish /ˈdʌːnɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] chiefly Brit : like a typical don (sense 1) • a donnish [=bookish] manner • a donnish old professor

don-ny-brook /ˈdʌːniˌbrʊk/ noun, pl -brooks [count]

1 : a public argument • a political donnybrook [=dispute] • A donnybrook has erupted over the court's decision.

2 : an uncontrolled fight • A donnybrook [=brawl, free-for-all] broke out at the end of the game.

do-nor /ˈdoʊnər/ noun, pl -nors [count]

1 : a person or group that gives something (such as money, food, or clothes) in order to help a person or organization • The money was raised from individual donors. • She is one of the charity's/cause's major donors.

2 : a person who gives something (such as blood or a body organ) so that it can be given to someone who needs it • blood/organ donors • a kidney donor • a donor organ • a donor card [=a card that says that you want to donate your organs when you die]

¹do-noth-ing /ˈduːˌnɒθɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : not willing to work, help, etc. : LAZY • a do-nothing husband

2 : failing to achieve or do anything important • a do-nothing policy/government/politician

²do-nothing noun, pl -ings [count] informal : someone who is lazy • He's a no-good do-nothing.

¹don't /ˈdaʊnt/ — used as a contraction of do not • I don't like it. • The shoes don't fit.

usage Don't is also sometimes used as a contraction of "does not." • She don't like it. This use is usually regarded as an error, but it is common in the very informal speech of some people. It is often used in stories in the speech of characters who do not have much education.

²don't noun, pl don'ts [count] informal : something that a person should not do — usually used in the phrase dos and don'ts • We each got a long list of dos and don'ts. [=things we should and should not do]

donut chiefly US spelling of DOUGHNUT doo-bie /ˈduːbi/ noun, pl -bies [count] US slang : a marijuana cigarette • He lit up a doobie. [=joint] doo-dad /ˈduːˌdæd/ noun, pl -dads [count] US, informal

1 : a usually small object that is used as a decoration — usually plural • a shelf cluttered with doodads [=knickknacks]

2 : a small useful device : GADGET — usually plural • The shop sells all kinds of nifty doodads.

doo-dah /ˈduːˌdɑː/ noun, pl -dahs [count] Brit, informal : DOODAD 2 doo-dle /ˈduːdl/ verb doo-dles; doo-dled; doo-dling [no obj] : to draw something without thinking about what you are doing • She doodled in her notebook instead of taking notes.

— doodle noun, pl doodles [count] • Her notebook was full of doodles.

doo-doo /ˈduːˌduː/ noun [noncount] informal : solid waste discharged from the body • I stepped in dog doo-doo. [=poop] in deep doo-doo informal : in a very bad situation • If the car won't start, we're in deep doo-doo. [=in deep trouble] doo-fus /ˈduːfəs/ noun, pl -fus-es [count] US slang : a stupid or foolish person • Don't be such a doofus.

doo-hick-ey /ˈduːˌhɪki/ noun, pl -eys [count] US, informal : an object or device whose name you do not know or have forgotten • I need one of those doohickeys [=thingamajigs, whatchamacallits] with the long handles.

¹doom /ˈduːm/ noun [noncount]

1 : very bad events or situations that cannot be avoided • The sailors had a sense/feeling of (impending) doom as the storm approached. [=they sensed or felt that something very bad was going to happen] • The prophets of doom [=people who predict that bad things will happen] say that the Internet will kill off print newspapers. • The papers are filled with stories of gloom and doom.

2 : death or ruin • the story of a mysterious creature who lures travelers to their doom • Prepare to meet your doom. [=die] • The poor economy spelled doom for many small businesses. [=many small businesses would fail because of the poor economy]

²doom verb dooms; doomed; doom-ing [+ obj] : to make (someone or something) certain to fail, suffer, die, etc. • A criminal record will doom your chances of becoming a politician. — usually used as (be) doomed • The plan was doomed from the start. • The treaty is doomed [=destined] to failure/fail. • If no one rescues us, we are doomed. • a project doomed by the poor/weak economy • The species is doomed to extinction.

— doomed adj • a doomed plan/mission/ship

doom-say-er /ˈduːmˌseɪər/ noun, pl -ers [count] : someone who predicts that bad things will happen • Don't listen to the doomsayers.

dooms-day /ˈduːmzˌdeɪ/ noun [singular] : the day the world ends or is destroyed • a warning that doomsday is near • doomsday predictions • The book explores a doomsday scenario in which an asteroid hits the Earth. • a doomsday machine [=a machine that will destroy the world] • It'll be like that from now until doomsday. [=for a very long time; forever]

doom-ster /ˈduːmstər/ noun, pl -sters [count] Brit, informal : DOOMSAYER door /ˈdɔːr/ noun, pl doors [count]

¹a : a movable piece of wood, glass, or metal that swings or slides open and shut so that people can enter or leave a room, building, vehicle, etc. • open/shut/slam/lock/bolt the door • I heard a knock on/at the door. • the bedroom/bathroom/cellar door • The car has four doors. = It's a four-door car. • Leave the package at the front/back/side door. [=the door at the front/back/side of the house, building, etc.] • Can you answer the door? [=open the door to see who is knocking on the door or ringing the doorbell] • Is somebody at the door? [=knocking on the door or ringing the doorbell] • Let me open the door for you. = (US) Let me get the door for you. • (US) Can you get the door? [=can you open or close the door for me?] My hands are full. • an exterior/outside door [=a door that can be used to enter or leave a building] • an interior door [=a door inside a building; a door that connects rooms] • a garage door [=a large door that covers the opening through which a car enters and leaves a garage] • turn/pull the door handle • a large brass door knocker [=knocker] — see also BACK DOOR, DUTCH DOOR, FRENCH DOOR, REVOLVING DOOR, STORM DOOR, TRAPDOOR b : a part of an object (such as piece of furniture or an appliance) that swings or slides open and shut • the cupboard/closet/refrigerator/oven door

2 : the opening for a door : the entrance to a room or building : DOORWAY • Please don't block the door. • I peeked through the open door. • He stood at/before the door. • He greeted his guests as they came in/through the door. = He greeted his guests at the door. • She walked out the door [=left] without saying goodbye. • standing (just/right) inside/outside the door [=inside/outside the room, building, etc., near the door]

3 : a house, building, apartment, office, etc. — used with an adverb to indicate where something is in relation to something else • She lives in a house two doors down/up from me. [=there is one house between our houses] • The library is a few doors down from the bank. [=there are several buildings between the library and the bank] • We grew up two doors apart. [=with one house/apartment between our houses/apartments] ♦ If you do something (from) door to door, you do it at each of the houses, apartments, or buildings in an area. • Girl Scouts are selling cookies door to door. = Girl Scouts are going door to door selling cookies. • She went (from) door to door looking for her cat. — see also DOOR-TO-DOOR, NEXT DOOR

4 — used especially with open or unlock to describe an opportunity or possibility • The grant will open new doors for our town. [=will give our town new opportunities] • The discovery may unlock the door to a cure for the disease. • The door is open (to you) if you want a better job. • A good education can open/unlock the door of success. [=can make success possible] • The patent on the product has expired, which leaves the door open for [=makes it possible for] other companies to make it. — see also OUT OF DOORS

at death's door see DEATH

behind closed doors see CLOSED

close the door on : to no longer think about, consider, or accept (something) • I'd like to close the door on that chapter in my life. • The former senator says she hasn't closed the door on politics. • Don't close the door on your options. close your doors 1 : to not allow someone to enter • The country has closed its doors to immigrants. 2 of a business or organization : to close permanently : to stop operating • The museum may be forced to close its doors. • The store closed its doors (for the last time) last fall.

darken someone's door/doors see DARKEN get your foot in the door see ¹FOOT

keep the wolf from the door see ¹WOLF

lay the blame for (something) at someone's door : to blame someone for (something) • They laid the blame for the book's failure at my door.

open doors for see ²OPEN

open the door see ²OPEN

open your doors 1 : to allow someone to enter • The country has opened its doors to immigrants. • local churches that open their doors to the homeless in the winter months [=that let homeless people stay there] 2 of a business or organization : to open for business : to begin operating • The new store will be opening its doors next month.

show (someone) the door : to tell or force (someone) to leave • We don't tolerate bad behavior. If you cause trouble, we'll show you the door. • If the coach doesn't win this year, they'll show him the door. [=they'll fire him]

show/see (someone) to the door : to go to the door with (someone who is leaving) • My secretary will show you to the door. [=show you out]

— doorless adj • a doorless cubicle door·bell /'dɔːr,bel/ noun, pl -bells [count] : a bell inside a house or building that is rung usually by pushing a button beside an outside door • We rang the doorbell until someone came to let us in.

do-or-die /'duːwə'daɪ/ adj

1 always used before a noun : very determined • Her do-or-die attitude is inspiring.

2 — used to describe a situation in which you have to do something or you will fail, lose, etc. • With only 10 seconds left, this is a do-or-die situation for the team. If they don't score, the game is over. • It is do-or-die for the team.

door·frame /'dɔːr,freɪm/ noun, pl -frames [count] : a door's frame : the structure around the opening of a door door·jamb /'dɔːr,dʒæmb/ noun, pl -jambs [count] : an upright piece that forms the side of a door's frame door·keep·er /'dɔːr,ki:pə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : someone who guards a door and checks people to see if they are allowed to enter the building door·knob /'dɔːr,nɒ:b/ noun, pl -knobs [count] : a round handle that you turn to open a door — see pictures at DOOR, KNOB door·man /'dɔːr,mæn/ noun, pl -men /-,men/ [count] : a person (especially a man) whose job is to stand next to the main door of a building (such as a hotel or apartment building) and help people by opening the door, calling taxis, etc.

door·mat /'dɔːr,mæt/ noun, pl -mats [count]

1 : a mat that you put on the floor or ground on one side of a door so that people can wipe the bottoms of their shoes on it 2 informal : someone who is treated badly by other people and does not complain • She was tired of being a doormat and decided it was time to stand up for herself.

door·nail /'dɔːr,neɪl/ noun

(as) dead as a doornail see ¹DEAD

door·post /'dɔːr,pəʊst/ noun, pl -posts [count] : DOOR-JAMB door prize noun, pl ~ prizes [count] US : a prize that you get at a social event if you were given the winning ticket when you arrived door·step /'dɔːr,step/ noun, pl -steps [count] : a step or series of steps leading up to one of the doors that is used to enter or leave a building • We sat on the doorstep. • The police were at my doorstep. — often used figuratively • The beach is right at your doorstep. [=the beach is very close] • Bars and restaurants are on the doorstep of the hotel. [=bars and restaurants are very close to the hotel] — see picture at HOUSE door·stop /'dɔːr,stɒp/ noun, pl -stops [count]

1 : an object that is attached to a wall or the floor to prevent a door from hitting and damaging the wall 2 : something (such as a wedge or weight) that is used to hold a door open door-to-door /,dɔːtə'dɔːr/ adj, always used before a noun : going or made by going to each house, apartment, or building in an area • a door-to-door salesman • a door-to-door survey — see also (from) door to door at DOOR

door·way /'dɔːr,weɪ/ noun, pl -ways [count]

1 : the opening where a door is • Please don't block the doorway. • She stepped through the doorway. • the castle's arched doorways — sometimes used figuratively • We hope that these talks will be a doorway to peace. [=will lead to peace] 2 : the space in front of a door • He stood in the doorway, wondering if he should go in. • Homeless people sleep in the doorways of the shops.

door·yard /'dɔːr,jæd/ noun, pl -yards [count] US : a yard next to the door of a house • flowers blooming in the door-yard • dooryard gardens doo·wop /'duː,wɒp/ noun [noncount] : a style of popular music that involves singing nonsense syllables doo·zy or doo·zie /'duː,zi/ noun, pl -zies [count] US, informal : something that is unusually good, bad, big, severe, etc. • They say the snowstorm tonight is going to be a doozy. • Watch out for that first step. It's a doozy. • Some of her comments have been real doozies. • a doozy of a year

¹dope /'dɒp/ noun, pl dopes informal

1 [noncount] : an illegal drug (such as marijuana or heroin) • They were caught smoking dope. • a dope addict/dealer

2 [count] : a stupid or annoying person • What a dope he is.

3 the dope : information about someone or something that is not commonly or immediately known • What's the dope [=skinny, scoop] on the new guy? [=what do you know about him?] • The magazine claims to have the inside dope [=information known only by those involved] on her new romance. • Give me the straight dope on it. [=tell me the truth about it]

²dope verb dopes; doped; dop-ing [+ obj] informal

1 : to give a drug to (a person or animal) especially to cause unconsciousness • They tried to dope him. — often used as (be) doped • She was doped and kidnapped.

2 : to put a drug in (something, such as food or a drink) to make a person or animal unconscious • They doped his food. — often used as (be) doped • She began to feel sleepy and suspected that her drink had been doped.

dope out [phrasal verb] dope out (something) or dope (something) out US : to understand or find (something, such as a reason or a solution) by thinking : to figure out (something) • She's still trying to dope out exactly what happened.

dope up [phrasal verb] dope up (someone) or dope (someone) up : to give (someone) a drug that affects the ability to think or behave normally — usually used as (be) doped up • I was doped up with/on painkillers after my surgery.

³dope adj [more ~; most ~] US slang : great or excellent • That movie was so dope. • Check out this dope new song.

dope-head /'doup,hed/ noun, pl -heads [count] informal : a person who uses a lot of illegal drugs : a drug addict dop-ey /'doup-i/ adj dop-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal

1 a : feeling the effects of a drug • I'm still a little dopey from the painkillers. b : slow because you are tired • After being up all night I was pretty dopey at work.

2 : foolish or stupid • a dopey movie • He's a little dopey.

doping noun [noncount] : the illegal use of a drug (such as a steroid) to improve an athlete's performance • increased efforts to detect doping at the Olympic Games • doping tests/scandals — see also BLOOD DOPING

dop-pel-gäng-er or dop-pel-gang-er /'da:pəl,gæŋgə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : someone who looks like someone else • I saw your dop-pelgänger [(more commonly) double] yesterday.

2 literary : a ghost that looks like a living person • In the story, the character is haunted by a doppelgänger.

Dopp-ler radar /'da:plə-/ noun [noncount] : a radar system that is used especially for predicting the weather do-rag /'du:,ræg/ noun, pl -rags [count] US, informal : a piece of cloth that is worn on the head to cover the hair dork /'doək/ noun, pl dorks [count] informal : a person who behaves awkwardly around other people and usually has unstylish clothes, hair, etc. • Back in high school, all the kids thought he was a dork. [=nerd, loser] • I look like a complete dork in these clothes.

— dorky /'doəki/ adj dork-i-er; -est • He's that tall, dorky [=nerdy] guy with the glasses.

dorm /'doəmə/ noun, pl dorms [count] informal : DORMITORY • We all lived in the same dorm during our sophomore year. • my old dorm room dor-mant /'doəmənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not doing anything at this time : not active but able to become active • a dormant volcano • The seeds will remain/lie dormant until the spring. • Her emotions have lain dormant for many years.

— dor-man-cy /'doəmənsi/ noun [noncount] • The volcano has been in a state of dormancy for many years. • a period of dormancy

dor-mer /'doəmə/ noun, pl -mers [count]

1 : a window that is in a part of a building that sticks out from a slanted roof — called also dormer window; see picture at HOUSE

2 : the part of a building that contains a dormer

— dor-mered /'doəməd/ adj • dormered windows

¹dor-mi-to-ry /'doəmə,tori, Brit 'dɔ:mətri/ noun, pl -ries [count]

1 US : a building on a school campus that has rooms where students can live • a college dormitory [=dorm, residence hall]

2 : a large room with many beds where people can sleep • Guests at the camp can stay in private cabins or for a smaller fee in the dormitories.

²dormitory adj, always used before a noun, Brit : lived in by people who go to another town or city to work • a dormitory town [= (US) bedroom community]

dor-mouse /'doə,maʊs/ noun, pl -mice /-,maɪs/ [count] : a European animal that looks like a small squirrel dor-sal fin /'doəsəl-/ noun, pl ~ fins [count] : a flat thin part on the back of some fish (such as sharks)

do-ry /'dori/ noun, pl -ries [count] : a boat that has a flat bottom and high sides and that is used especially for fishing dos-age /'doʊsɪdʒ/ noun, pl -ag-es [count] : the amount of a medicine, drug, or vitamin that should be taken at one time or regularly during a period of time — usually singular • Each pill/tablet has the dosage necessary to reduce pain and swelling. • Some patients may benefit from a larger dosage of this medication. • Do not exceed the recommended dosage. [=do not take more than doctors recommend]

¹dose /'doʊs/ noun, pl dos-es [count]

1 : the amount of a medicine, drug, or vitamin that is taken at one time • I've been taking the same dose for five years. • a large dose of vitamin C

2 : an amount of a substance • The drug is lethal even in small doses. • a large dose of sugar • a high dose of radiation

3 : an amount of something that a person experiences • Her parents hoped a daily dose of hard work would keep her out of trouble. • He needs a good dose of reality.

a dose of your own medicine see MEDICINE

²dose verb doses; dosed; dos-ing [+ obj]

1 : to give a dose of medicine to (someone or something) • Most patients are dosed at 50 milligrams per day. — often + with • She dosed herself daily with aspirin.

2 : to give an amount of a substance to (someone or something) — usually + with • The victims were dosed with poison.

3 US : to add something to (something) — usually + with • The pasta sauce was heavily dosed with garlic. [=there was a lot of garlic in the pasta sauce]

dosh /'da:ʃ/ noun [noncount] Brit, informal : MONEY • earning lots of dosh

doss /'da:s/ verb doss-es; dosed; doss-ing [no obj] Brit, informal : to sleep in a usually uncomfortable place that does not have a bed — usually + down • We'll have to doss down [=bed down] in the car for the night.

doss-er /'da:sə/ noun, pl -ers [count] Brit, informal : a person who does not have a home to sleep in : a homeless person

doss-house /'da:s,haus/ noun, pl -hous-es [count] chiefly Brit, informal : FLOPHOUSE

dos-sier /'da:s,jeɪ/ noun, pl -siers [count] : a group of papers that contain detailed information about someone or something • the patient's medical dossier [(more commonly) file] — often + on • Investigators began compiling a dossier on him after he was suspected of stealing.

¹dot /'dɔ:t/ noun, pl dots [count]

1 : a small round mark • Put a dot over the i. • The dots on the map represent cities. • She said, "Go to Learners Dictionary dot com [=the Web site www.learnersdictionary.com] for more information." — see also POLKA DOT

2 : a small spot : a small area that is different in color from the main part • You have a dot of ketchup on your shirt. • As we drove away, the house became just a dot on the horizon.

3 : a short signal (such as a sound or a flash of light) that represents a letter or a part of a letter in Morse code • The Morse code for the letter v is three dots and a dash. — compare ²DASH 7

connect the dots see CONNECT on the dot informal : exactly at a particular time • She arrived at 3 o'clock on the dot. = She arrived on the dot of 3. [=she arrived exactly at 3 o'clock]

since the year dot see YEAR

²dot verb dots; dot-ted; dot-ting [+ obj]

1 : to mark (something) with a dot • Don't forget to dot the i. ♦ If you dot the/your i's and cross the/your t's, you make sure that all of the small details in something have been completed. • We need some extra time to dot the i's and cross the t's on the report.

2 : to appear at many different places on the surface of (something) • Quaint cottages dot the countryside. • The fields were dotted with wildflowers.

3 : to put a small amount of something on different parts of (a surface) • Dot the cream all over your face.

dot-age /'doʊtɪdʒ/ noun [noncount] : the period of old age : the time when a person is old and often less able to remember or do things — often used after in or into • He has become friendlier in his dotage. • The actress continued to work well into her dotage.

dot-com /'da:t,kɑ:m/ noun, pl -coms [count] : a company that sells its products or services only on the Internet • a successful dot-com — often used before another noun • She owned thousands of dollars in dot-com stock. • the dot-com boom of the 1990s

dote /ˈdout/ verb dotes; dot-ed; dot-ing

dote on/upon [phrasal verb] dote on/upon (someone or something) : to give a lot of love or attention to (someone or something) • She doted on her new grandchild.

doting adj, always used before a noun : showing a lot of love or attention • the child's doting grandmother
— dot-ing-ly adv • She smiled dotingly at the baby.

dot matrix noun, pl ~ matrices or ~ matrixes [count] : a pattern of dots that form letters, numbers, etc., on a computer screen or on something printed from a computer — often used before another noun • Dot matrix printers have been largely replaced with laser printers.

dotted adj : covered with dots • the plant's dotted green and white leaves [=leaves covered with green and white dots] • He drew a dotted line. [=a line that is made up of a series of dots] ✧ Dotted line is often used to refer to the place at the bottom of a document where a person signs and agrees to the terms in the document. • Just sign on the dotted line and we'll have a deal.

dot-ty /ˈdɑːti/ adj dot-ti-er; -est old-fashioned + informal : somewhat crazy • my dotty old grandparents

¹double /ˈdʌbəl/ adj

1 : made of two parts that are similar or exactly the same • One of the eggs had a double yolk. • The truck crossed the double yellow line and entered the other lane. • My name is "Allison," with a double "l". • The band is releasing a double album [=a set of two records, CDs, etc.] later this year. • Go through those double doors and walk to the end of the hall. • He was convicted of a double murder. [=of killing two people at the same time]

2 : having two very different parts or qualities • He served a double [=dual] role as both king and servant to his people. • His statement has a double meaning. [=it means two different things] • In this film, he does double duty [=performs two roles] as both actor and director. ✧ If you are leading/living a double life, you have something secret that you do as an important part of your life in addition to the regular parts of your life that other people know about. • She was a newspaper reporter who led/lived a double life as a spy.

3 a : of a size that is twice as big as usual : of an amount that is twice as much as usual • I'll have a double espresso, please. • two double martinis • a double dose of medicine • Line the pan with a double thickness [=two layers] of foil. • a double order of fries b : coming from two different places or sources • families with a double income [=two incomes]

4 : two times as great or as many as the number, amount, size, etc., of something else • The college had double [=twice] the number of expected applicants. • Our new car was double the price of our last one. • The CEO's salary is nearly double that of the president.

5 : made for two people to use • We'll need a double room. • a room with a double bed

6 of a flower : having more than the usual number of petals • double flowers/blooms

²double verb dou-bles; dou-bled; dou-bling

1 a [+ obj] : to cause (something) to become two times as great or as many • They doubled their winnings. b [no obj] : to become two times as great or as many • The price of the house had doubled. = The house had doubled in price.

2 [no obj] : to have a second job or use — + as • Our couch often doubles as a bed. [=is often used as a bed] • Their living room doubles as a home office.

3 a [+ obj] : to bend or fold (something, such as a piece of paper) usually in the middle — usually + over or up • I doubled over the paper and put it in my notebook. b : to bend forward at the waist — usually + over or up [no obj] We all doubled over laughing. • He doubled up in pain. [+ obj] The pain doubled him over. = He was doubled over with pain.

4 [no obj] baseball : to hit a double : to hit the ball so that you can reach second base • He doubled to left field.

double back [phrasal verb] : to turn around and return on the same path • I'm going to double back to see if I dropped the ring on the way here.

double up [phrasal verb] : to share a place to live or sleep that is made for one person or one family • Some families have to double up [=live with another family] in crowded apartments. • There was only one bed, so we had to double up. — see also ²DOUBLE 3b (above) double up on [phrasal verb] double up on (something) : to use or do two times as many of (something) • I'm going to have to double up on [=take twice as many] classes this semester if I want to graduate this year.

³double noun, pl doubles

1 [singular] : something that is two times the usual size, strength, or amount • I'll have one more glass of vodka. Make it a double, please.

2 [count] a : someone who looks very much like another person • People often tell me that I'm his double. b : a person who looks like an actor and takes the actor's place in some scenes in a movie or TV show • The actress's double did all of the dangerous scenes. • Can you tell if it's the actor or his double in that shot? — see also BODY DOUBLE, STUNT DOUBLE

3 [count] baseball : a hit in baseball that allows a batter to reach second base • He hit a double in the eighth inning. — compare HOME RUN, SINGLE, TRIPLE

4 doubles [plural] : a game of tennis or a similar sport that is played between two pairs of players • We play doubles with another couple on the weekends. • He's my doubles partner.

5 [count] : a room in a hotel, inn, etc., for two people • We'll need a double for the night. — compare SINGLE double or nothing (US) or Brit double or quits : a gambling bet in which you could win two times as much money as you have already won or you could lose all of the money • I won $20 on the first game but lost it on the second game going double or nothing.

on the double (US) or Brit at the double informal : very quickly : as soon as possible • I need you back here on the double. [=immediately]

⁴double adv

1 : two times as many or as much • The last question on the exam counts double. [=is worth twice as many points] • I was charged/billed double. [=twice the usual amount]

2 : two times — usually used in combination • I was double-charged/billed. [=I was charged/billed twice for the same product or service]

bend double : to fold in the middle. • I held on tight as my fishing rod bent double. • He bent double [=doubled over] in pain. ✧ Bend double is used more frequently in British English than in U.S. English.

see double : to see two things when only one thing is present • As her eyesight got worse, she began seeing double.

that goes double for informal — used to say that something you have just said about one person or thing relates even more strongly to another • You're in trouble, Steven. And that goes double for you, John. [=you, John, are in even more trouble than Steven] double agent noun, pl ~ agents [count] : a spy who pretends to spy for one government while actually spying for another • He was secretly working as a double agent for the Americans during the war.

dou-ble-bar-reled (US) or Brit dou-ble-bar-elled /ˌdʌbəlˈberəld/ adj

1 of a gun : having two tubes (called barrels) that bullets or pellets are shot through • a double-barreled shotgun

2 US : having two parts or purposes • She made a double-barreled announcement that she was both leaving the company and getting married. • a double-barreled question double bass noun, pl ~ basses [count] : a very large musical instrument that is shaped like a violin — called also contrabass; see picture at STRINGED INSTRUMENT double bill noun, pl ~ bills [count] : two movies, plays, concerts, etc., that are seen one after the other — compare DOUBLE FEATURE double bind noun, pl ~ binds [count] : a very difficult situation that has no good solution — usually singular • He finds himself caught in a double bind: By doing his job, he could end up hurting his family.

dou-ble-blind /ˌdʌbəlˈblaɪnd/ adj, technical — used to describe an experiment that is done so that neither the people who are doing the experiment nor the people who are the subjects of the experiments know which of the groups being studied is the control group and which is the test group • a double-blind drug trial double bogey noun, pl ~ -geys [count] golf : a score that is two more than the official standard score for a particular hole : a score of two strokes over par on a hole • He made/scored a double bogey on the fourth hole.

— double bogey verb ~ -geys; ~ -geyed; ~ -geying [+ obj] • He double bogeyed the fourth hole.

double boiler noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a pair of deep cooking pans that fit together so that the contents of the top pan can be cooked or heated by boiling water in the bottom pan • Melt the chocolate in a double boiler. — see picture at KITCHEN double bond noun, pl ~ bonds [count] technical : a chemical bond in which two atoms in a molecule share two pairs of electrons — compare SINGLE BOND, TRIPLE BOND double-book verb -books; -booked; -book-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make plans for (someone or something) to be in two different places at the same time • My husband and I are double-booked for/on Friday night. [=we are scheduled to go to two different places at the same time on Friday night]
2 : to promise a room, seat, table, etc., to two different people or groups at the same time • The airline double-booked my seat. = The airline double-booked me. — compare OVER-BOOK double-breasted /ˌdʌbəlˈbreɪstəd/ adj., of a coat or jacket : having two rows of buttons • He is wearing a tan double-breasted jacket. — compare SINGLE-BREASTED double-check /ˌdʌbəlˈtʃek/ verb -checks; -checked; -check-ing : to check (something) again in order to be certain [+ obj] Be sure to double-check your answers before handing in your test. [no obj] I thought I mailed the letter already, but let me double-check.

— double check noun, pl ~ checks [count] • Did you do a double check of the list?

double chin noun, pl ~ chins [count] : a fold of fat that some people have under their chin and that looks like a second chin double-click verb -clicks; -clicked; -click-ing : to choose something on a computer screen by quickly pressing a button on a computer mouse or other device two times [+ obj] Double-click the icon to start the program. [no obj] — often + on • Double-click on the icon.

— double click noun, pl ~ clicks [count] • A double click with the mouse will start the program.

double cream noun [noncount] Brit : HEAVY CREAM double-cross /ˌdʌbəlˈkrɔːs/ verb -cross-es; -crossed; -cross-ing [+ obj] : to cheat or deceive (someone) especially by doing something that is different from what you said you would do • I thought I could trust her, but she double-crossed me.

— double cross noun, pl ~ crosses [count] • He accused his manager of a dirty double cross. • lies and double crosses

— double-crosser noun, pl ~ -ers [count] • They're a couple of dirty double-crossers.

double date noun, pl ~ dates [count] : an activity (such as going to the movies or going out to eat) that two couples do together • Would you two ladies like to go on a double date with me and my friend?

— double-date verb -dates; -dated; -dat-ing [no obj] • My boyfriend and I often double-date with a couple that we met in college.

double-deal-ing /ˌdʌbəlˈdiːlɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the practice of pretending to do or think one thing while really doing or thinking something different : dishonest or deceptive behavior • His double-dealing [=duplicitous, deceitfulness] has caused many of his former friends to distrust him.

— double-dealer /ˌdʌbəlˈdiːlə/ noun, pl ~ -ers [count]

— double-dealing adj • He could no longer trust his double-dealing friend.

double-deck-er /ˌdʌbəlˈdekə/ noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : something that has two levels or layers • The bus we rode on was a double-decker. — usually used before another noun • We took a tour of London on a double-decker bus. • double-decker trains • a double-decker sandwich — compare SINGLE-DECKER, TRIPLE-DECKER double digits noun [plural] chiefly US : a number or percentage that is 10 or greater • They won the game by double digits. [=by 10 or more] • The state's unemployment rate remains in the double digits. — called also double figures

— double-digit /ˌdʌbəlˈdɪdʒɪt/ adj., always used before a noun • the state's double-digit unemployment rate • double-digit price increases double dribble noun, pl ~ dribbles [count] basketball : an illegal action that happens when a player dribbles the ball with two hands at the same time or starts to dribble again after stopping double Dutch noun [noncount]

1 US : the activity of jumping over two jump ropes that two people are swinging in circles in opposite directions • The girls were playing double Dutch on the sidewalk.

2 chiefly Brit, informal : language that cannot be understood

• It was all double Dutch [=nonsense, gibberish] to me.

double-edged /ˌdʌbəlˈɛdʒd/ adj

1 : having two sharp edges • a double-edged knife

2 : having two different and opposite parts • a double-edged problem/strategy

3 : able to be understood in two different ways • double-edged remarks • a double-edged description double-edged sword noun, pl ~ swords [count]

1 : a sword that has two sharp edges

2 : something that has both good and bad parts or results • Freedom of expression can be a double-edged sword.

double-entendre /ˌdʌbələnˈtɑːndrə/ noun, pl ~ -dres [count] : a word or expression that can be understood in two different ways with one way usually referring to sex • The song's title is a double entendre.

double fault noun, pl ~ faults [count] tennis : two bad serves that result in the loss of a point double feature noun, pl ~ -tures [count] US : two movies that are shown one after the other — compare DOUBLE BILL

double figures noun [plural] : DOUBLE DIGITS double glazing noun [noncount] technical : two layers of glass that are set in a window to keep heat inside and reduce noise

— double-glazed adj • double-glazed windows

double-head-er /ˌdʌbəlˈhedə/ noun, pl ~ -ers [count] chiefly US : two games (especially baseball games) that are played one after the other on the same day • The two teams will meet in a doubleheader this Saturday.

double helix noun, pl ~ helices also ~ helixes [count] technical : the shape formed by two parallel lines that twist around each other ♦ The strands of DNA are arranged in a double helix.

double-hung window noun, pl ~ -dows [count] US : a window that can be opened either by sliding the bottom half up or by sliding the top half down — called also (Brit) sash window; see picture at WINDOW double jeopardy noun [noncount] US, law : the act of causing a person to be put on trial two times for the same crime • constitutional protections against double jeopardy

double-joint-ed /ˌdʌbəlˈdʒɔɪntəd/ adj : having a joint that allows body parts to move in ways that are not typical • His right shoulder is double-jointed. • double-jointed fingers double knit noun, pl ~ knits

1 [noncount] : a type of cloth that is made with two sets of needles and has two connected layers

2 [count] US : a piece of clothing that is made of double knit • 1960s-style double knits

— double-knit adj • a pair of polyester double-knit pants double negative noun, pl ~ -tives [count] grammar : a clause that has two negative words (such as “nothing” and “don’t”) when only one is necessary ♦ Double negatives are usually considered incorrect in English. • “I didn’t do nothing” is a double negative. If you want to be correct, you should say “I didn’t do anything.”

double-park /ˌdʌbəlˈpɑːk/ verb -parks; -parked; -park-ing : to park (a car or other vehicle) beside a row of vehicles that are already parked on the side of the street [+ obj] — usually used as (be) double-parked • My truck is double-parked outside. [no obj] If you double-park, you will get a ticket.

double play noun, pl ~ plays [count] baseball : a play in which the team in the field causes two runners to be put out • The batter hit into a double play. • They turned a double play to end the inning. — compare TRIPLE PLAY double-quick /ˌdʌbəlˈkwɪk/ adj., always used before a noun, chiefly Brit, informal : extra fast or quick • They’ve been working in double-quick time [=they’ve been working very quickly] to finish the project.

— double-quick adv • We have to get this done double-quick.

double-sided adj : having two sides that can be used • Fill out this double-sided form. • double-sided adhesive tape double-space /ˌdʌbəlˈspeɪs/ verb -spac-es; -spaced; -spac-ing : to write or type (a paper, letter, etc.) so that each line of words is followed by a line without words [+ obj] — often used as (be) double-spaced • All essays must be typed and double-spaced. [no obj] Be sure to double-space. It makes reading much easier.

double-speak /ˌdʌbəlˈspiːk/ noun [noncount] disapproving

: language that can be understood in more than one way and that is used to trick or deceive people • political doublespeak double standard noun, pl ~ -dards [count] : a situation in which two people, groups, etc., are treated very differently from each other in a way that is unfair to one of them • She argued that society applies a double standard in dealing with women who commit adultery.

double take noun, pl ~ takes [count] : an act of quickly looking at something that is surprising or unusual a second time after looking at it a moment earlier • His parents did a double take when he came home with a tattoo.

dou·ble-talk /'dʌbəl,tɑ:k/ noun [noncount] disapproving : language that uses many words but has very little meaning • We asked for a clear and honest answer, but all we got was a bunch of meaningless double-talk.

double-team /'dʌbəl,ti:m/ verb -teams; -teamed; -team-ing [+ obj] US, sports : to block or guard (an opponent) with two players at one time • He was double-teamed [=two players guarded him] in the first half of the game.

double time noun [noncount] : payment of a worker at two times the usual rate • She was paid double time [=she was paid twice as much as usual] for working on Thanksgiving.
 — compare TIME AND A HALF

double vision noun [noncount] : a problem with the eyes that causes a person to see two objects when only one is present • He wore special glasses to correct his double vision.

double wham·my /-'wæmi/ noun, pl ~ -mies [count] informal : a situation that is bad in two different ways : a situation in which two bad conditions exist at the same time or two bad things happen one after the other • With the cold weather and the high cost of heating fuel, homeowners were hit with a double whammy this winter.

dou·ble-wide /,dʌbəl'waɪd/ noun, pl -wides [count] US : a mobile home that is made of two units that have been connected together side by side — called also double-wide trailer

dou·bly /'dʌbli/ adv, always used before an adjective

1 : much more than usual or previously : to a much higher degree than usual • We did the test again because we wanted to be doubly [=extra, especially, very] sure the results were accurate. • I had to work doubly [=twice as] hard after my partner left the competition.

2 : in two ways : for two reasons • Her grades and musical talent make her parents doubly proud of her.

1 doubt /'daʊt/ verb doubts; doubt-ed; doubt-ing [+ obj]

1 : to be uncertain about (something) : to believe that (something) may not be true or is unlikely • She began to doubt [=question] everything he said. • I have always doubted the existence of life on other planets. • No one doubts that the mission will be a success. • I seriously doubt my parents will let me go. • “Do you think you can come tonight?” “I doubt it.”

2 : to have no confidence in (someone or something) • I began to doubt [=question] my own judgment. • She doubted his ability to succeed. • He said he could do it, but I couldn't help doubting him.

— doubt-er noun, pl -ters [count] • He did everything he could to reassure the doubters.

2 doubt noun, pl doubts : a feeling of being uncertain or unsure about something [noncount] I still have moments of doubt. • There can be little doubt that smoking is bad for your health. • There is no doubt [=question] in my mind that he is best candidate. • These mistakes cast/throw doubt on her ability. = They cast/throw into doubt her ability. [=they make people question or lose confidence in her ability] • (US) The results of the study have been called into doubt. [=people are expressing doubts about the results] — often + about • She was filled with doubt [=uncertainty] about the future. • The evidence against her leaves little room for doubt about her guilt. [=the evidence shows that she is guilty] [count] I had a nagging doubt in the back of my mind. — often + about • He still has doubts about his chances of success. • I've always had my doubts about him. • Two separate studies have raised doubts about the car's safety.

beyond doubt ♦ If something is beyond doubt, it is definitely true. • The test results proved beyond (all/any) doubt that he was not the child's father. • If she is to be found guilty, the charges against her must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt. • I knew, beyond a shadow of a doubt, that everything was going to be okay.

in doubt : in a state of being uncertain or unsure • The outcome was in doubt [=not known with certainty] until the final seconds of the game. • The future of the company remains very much in doubt. • When/if in doubt, please contact us with your questions.

no doubt : without doubt or with very little doubt — used when you are making a statement that you think is certainly or almost certainly true • She was no doubt [=certainly, doubtless, unquestionably] the smartest person in her class. • No doubt many readers will find the book too long. • By now, you have no doubt heard the news. • “He'll probably blame someone else.” “No doubt.” [=I agree that he'll blame someone else]

no doubt about it — used to stress that something is true • No doubt about it, the fans are disappointed in the team.

the benefit of the doubt see ¹BENEFIT without (a) doubt — used to stress that something is true • They are, without doubt, the nicest people I've ever met.

doubt·ful /'daʊtfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : uncertain or unsure about something • I tried to reassure them, but they remained doubtful. • She gave him a doubtful look. [=a look that shows doubt] — often + about or of • They were doubtful about the benefits of the new system. = They were doubtful of its benefits.

2 : not likely to be true : not probable • He made the doubtful [=dubious] claim that he had never been sick a day in his life. • The truth of the statements was doubtful. — often + that, if, or whether • It's highly doubtful [=unlikely, improbable] that anyone will notice. • It is doubtful if she really meant what she said. • The situation is bad and it's doubtful whether it will get better soon.

3 : likely to be bad : not worthy of trust • The water available in the village is of doubtful [=questionable] quality. • Their decisions were based on data of doubtful accuracy.

4 : not certain : unknown or undecided • The outcome of the election remains doubtful. • The company is facing a doubtful future.

— doubt·ful·ly adv • She looked at him doubtfully.

doubting Thom·as /-'ta:məs/ noun, pl ~ -as-es [count] somewhat old-fashioned : someone who rarely trusts or believes things before having proof : a doubtful or skeptical person • She kept trying, hoping to prove all those doubting Thomases wrong.

doubt·less /'daʊtləs/ adv [more ~; most ~] : without doubt or with very little doubt — used when you are making a statement that you think is certainly or almost certainly true • She was doubtless [=unquestionably, no doubt] the smartest person in her class. • There will doubtless be many more issues to deal with before this is over. • The car accident will doubtless result in a lawsuit.

douche /'du:ʃ/ noun, pl douch-es [count] : a liquid that a woman squirts into her vagina to wash it; also : an object used to squirt such a liquid into the vagina — douche verb douches; douched; douch-ing [no obj] • She advises her patients not to douche because doing so can lead to infections.

dough /'dou/ noun, pl doughs

1 [count, noncount] : a mixture of flour, water, and other ingredients that is baked to make bread, cookies, etc.

2 [noncount] informal : MONEY • I don't have much dough.

dough·nut or chiefly US do·nut /'dou,nʌt/ noun, pl -nuts [count]

1 : a piece of sweet fried dough that is often shaped like a ring • powdered doughnuts • a jelly donut

2 : something that has a round shape like a doughnut • drawing doughnuts in the sand • a foam doughnut

dough·ty /'daʊti/ adj, always used before a noun dough-ti-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] old-fashioned : brave, strong, and determined • a doughty fighter

doughy /'dowi/ adj [more ~; most ~] : resembling dough: such as a : not completely baked • High humidity can make your loaves turn out doughy. b : not hard or firm • a doughy consistency c : pale in color and unhealthy • her doughy [=pasty] white skin

Doug-las fir /,dʌgləs-/ noun, pl ~ firs [count] : a very tall evergreen tree that grows in the western U.S.

dou·la /'du:lə/ noun, pl -las [count] medical : a woman whose job is to give advice and comfort to a woman who is giving birth

dour /'duə, 'dawə/ adj dour-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] formal : serious and unfriendly • a dour politician • a dour manner • She had a dour expression on her face. : silent and gloomy • the dour mood of the crowd

— dour-ly adv [more ~; most ~] — dour-ness noun [non-count]

douse /'daʊs/ verb dous-es; doused; dous-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to cause (a fire) to stop burning by pouring or spraying water on it : to extinguish (a fire) with water • It took firefighters 15 minutes to douse the blaze. • She managed to douse the flames with water. b : to turn off (a light) • Don't forget to douse the lights before coming to bed.

2 : to cover (someone or something) with a liquid — usually + in or with • The books were doused in gasoline and set on fire. • She doused herself with perfume.

1 dove /'dʌv/ noun, pl doves [count]

1 : a small wild bird that is related to pigeons ♦ Doves are often used as a symbol of peace.

2 : a person who does not want war and does want peace • The President sided with the doves and worked to avoid war. — compare HAWK

— dov-ish /'dʌvɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a dovish politician

2 dove past tense and past participle of 1 DIVE dove-cote /'dʌv,kəʊt/ also dove-cot /'dʌv,kɑ:t/ noun, pl -cotes also -cots [count] : a small house or box for pigeons to live in

1 dove-tail /'dʌv,tel/ noun, pl -tails [count] : a type of joint that is used to connect two pieces of wood together — called also dovetail joint

2 dovetail verb -tails; -tailed; -tail-ing

1 [+ obj] : to join (two pieces of wood) with dovetail joints • The carpenter dovetailed (together) the corners (of the boards) for extra strength.

2 [no obj] formal : to fit together in a pleasing or satisfying way • She found that the positions of the party and her own opinions dovetailed [=agreed, corresponded] nicely. — often + with • His research dovetails with other similar studies.

Dow /'daʊ/ noun

the Dow US : DOW JONES INDUSTRIAL AVERAGE

dow-a-ger /'daʊɪdʒə/ noun, pl -gers [count]

1 : a woman who has inherited property or a title from her dead husband — often used before another noun • the dowager Duchess

2 : an old woman who is very formal or serious • The estate is owned by a wealthy dowager.

dowdy /'daʊdi/ adj dowd-i-er; -est [or more ~; most ~] : having a dull or uninteresting appearance : not attractive or stylish • She played a dowdy old woman in the film. • a dowdy [=frumpy, drab] gray dress

dow-el /'daʊəl/ noun, pl -els [count] : a pin or peg that is used for joining together two pieces of wood, metal, plastic, etc. • wooden/steel dowels

Dow Jones Industrial Average /,daʊ,dʒəʊnz-/ noun

the Dow Jones Industrial Average : the daily average of the stock prices of a group of large American companies

1 down /'daʊn/ adv

1 a : from a higher to a lower place or position • The land slopes down to the sea. • Please pull down the window shade. = Please pull the window shade down. • I'll come down [=downstairs] in a minute. • She called down to her friends in the street below. • They set/put the cake down on the table. • Lay down your book for a minute. • We watched the sun go down. b : in a low position or place • Keep your head down. • We keep our wine collection down in the basement. • What's going on down there?

2 : to or toward the ground or floor • He fell down and hurt his knee. • Climb down out of that tree! • He knocked him down with one punch. • Don't look down! • Brightly colored flags hang down from the ceiling.

3 : to a lying or sitting position • Please, sit down. • Lie down and go to sleep.

4 a : to or toward the south • They went down to Florida for two weeks. • We drove down from New York. • The weather's much warmer down south. b informal : to or toward a place that is thought of as below or away from another place • She drove down to our house. • Come on down and see us sometime. c : to or toward a place that is away from the speaker • He is heading down to the store. • Would you mind moving (further) down so that we can sit here, too?

5 : on a piece of paper • Write down everything he says. • Take down this number. • Did you get that down?

6 : at a lower or lesser important position in a list or series • Supporting public education seems to be far down [=low] on the government's agenda. • Cleaning my house ranks pretty far down on my list. [=there are many other things I'd rather do] — opposite UP

7 : to a lower or lesser degree, level, or rate • Slow down. • Could you turn the volume down, please? • We should give them some time to cool down. • We should wait for the winds to calm down before we set sail. • The company's stock went down last week. • The team was 10 points down [=it had 10 fewer points than the other team] in the third quarter. • The price of gasoline is starting to go down again. — opposite UP

8 : to a smaller or weaker state • We have scaled down our plans for the new building. • Some people want to use the budget surplus to pay down the national debt. [=to make payments that will reduce the a national debt] • They have cut/whittled down the number of candidates. — often + to • He finally got his report down to three pages.

9 : to a state of failure or defeat • The school board voted the budget down 55 to 15. [=it voted not to pass the budget]

10 : in a way that causes someone or something to be less able to move • Remember to tie down the load. • They had to strap the patient down to his bed.

11 : in a thorough or complete way • The car needs to be washed down. • Hose the dog down outside.

12 : to the place where a person or thing is or came from • They use dogs to hunt down escaped prisoners. • He chased the ball down and threw it to third base. • Every attempt to pin down the cause of the disease has proved unsuccessful. • I haven't been able to track down that quotation.

13 : from a past time • This vase has been handed down in our family for several generations. • Most of these stories were passed down by word of mouth.

14 : as a first payment : as a down payment • We put 10 percent down [=we made a 10 percent down payment] on the house. • Buy a car now with no money down. [=without making a down payment]

15 : in the stomach • The baby is having trouble keeping food down.

16 Brit : away from a school or university • He was sent down for misconduct and never earned his degree.

down in the mouth see 1 MOUTH

down to 1 : in a way that includes even (the smallest or least important part) • Our work must be accurate down to the last detail. • They knew everything about him down to the cologne he wore. 2 : to the last person or thing that can be used • It looks like it's down to you and me. [=we are the last two people that are available] • I'm down to my last dollar. [=I have only one dollar left] down with — used to say that you do not like something and want it to stop or fail • Down with racism! • Down with the government!

keep your head down see 1 HEAD

let your hair down see HAIR

put your foot down see 1 FOOT

up and down see 1 UP with your pants down see PANTS

2 down adj

1 : in a low place or position • The window shades were down. • The candy is down on the bottom shelf. : on the ground or floor • There was a pile of dirty clothes down on the floor.

2 : going downward • She took the down escalator.

3 : lower in price or value • These changes should help keep prices down. • Stocks are down again today.

4 : less than an earlier or normal level • Attendance has been down lately. • New construction is down sharply this month.

5 : having a lower level of activity • Our business is having a down year. • a down market/economy

6 : having fewer points than an opponent • His team was down by 10 points [=trailed by 10 points] in the third quarter. • We're down two runs.

7 : not operating properly : not able to function • We can't get any work done while the network/system is down.

8 [more ~; most ~] : sad or unhappy • You look pretty down. What's the matter? • She was feeling down.

9 : finished or completed • I've got eight down and only two more to go. [=I've finished eight and have two more to do]

10 : learned in a complete way • Do you all have your lines down? [=memorized] • We have our routine down pat [=we have mastered our routine; we can do it easily]

11 : having something written or recorded in an official way • You are down for two tickets. [=you are signed up to get two tickets]

12 US slang — used to say that you understand or approve of something; usually + with • I told them I wasn't down with lying to people. [=I don't think that lying to people is right] • Yeah, I'm down with that.

13 baseball — used to say how many outs have been made in the inning by the team that is batting • There are now two (men) down in the top of the third inning.

14 American football — used to say that the ball or the player who has the ball is on the ground and the play has ended • The runner was down on the fifty-yard line. • The ball was down.

down for the count see ²COUNT down on informal : having a bad opinion of someone or something • My coach has been down on me lately.

down on your luck see ¹LUCK down with : affected by (an illness) • She has been down with the flu for a week.

when the chips are down see ¹CHIP

³down prep

1 : from a higher to a lower part of (something) • Sweat dripped down her neck. • The children ran down the hill. • She fell down the stairs. • He climbed down the ladder. • He spilled mustard down the front of his shirt. • Her hair hung loosely down her back.

2 : along the course or path of (something) • Go down the road/street and turn left. • We grew up down the block from each other. • There's a bridge three miles down the river. [=three miles in the same direction that the water is going in the river] • ships sailing down the coast [=along the coast usually toward the south] • The bathroom is halfway down the hall on the right. • His pitches were right down the middle of the plate. • I usually part my hair down the center. • He is still pacing up and down [=back and forth in] the room.

⁴down noun, pl downs

1 [count] : a period or state of failure, trouble, etc. — usually plural • The company has had more downs than ups this year. • We have had our ups and downs.

2 American football : one of a series of four chances that a team has to move the ball forward 10 yards in order to keep the ball and begin a new series [noncount] He caught the ball on second/third down. [count] a series of downs — see also FIRST DOWN

— compare ⁵DOWN, DOWNS

⁵down noun [noncount]

1 : small and very soft feathers • goose down • a pillow filled with down — often used before another noun • a down pillow/comforter/jacket

2 : small soft hairs • The young man had just a light trace of down on his cheeks. • the down of a peach

— compare ⁴DOWN, DOWNS

⁶down verb downs; downed; down-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause (something) to fall to the ground • He downed [=shot down] four enemy planes. • The storm downed power lines throughout the city. • a downed bird/plane • a large number of downed power lines

2 informal : to eat or drink (something) especially quickly • She quickly downed [=took, swallowed] the pills I gave her. • They were downing beers and watching the game on TV.

3 American football : to cause (a football) to be out of play • The quarterback downed the ball to stop the clock.

4 informal : DEFEAT • Smith downed Jones in the first round of the tournament. • The Cardinals downed the Braves by a score of 5-2.

down-and-dirty adj [more ~; most ~] chiefly US, informal

1 : involving methods that are regarded as harsh, unfair, etc. • down-and-dirty business practices • down-and-dirty competition

2 : dirty and in poor condition • The story takes place on the down-and-dirty [=seedy, decrepit] streets of the city.

3 : relating to harsh and unpleasant subjects in an honest and often shocking way • I told them the down-and-dirty truth. • a down-and-dirty interview

4 : basic and practical • We have to get down to the down-and-dirty [=nitty-gritty] details.

get down and dirty : to do or say harsh and unpleasant things • Sometimes you have to get down and dirty with your competitors.

down-and-out adj [more ~; most ~] informal : very poor and without hope : having no money, job, etc. • No one would help him when he was down-and-out. • a movie about a down-and-out musician living on the streets

down-at-the-heels (chiefly US) or chiefly Brit down-at-heel adj : looking or seeming cheap or poor and dirty or worn • We got a room at a down-at-the-heels [=dingy, seedy] motel. • a down-at-heel traveler

¹down-beat /'daʊn,bɪt/ noun, pl -beats [count] music

1 : the downward movement that a conductor makes to show which note is played with the greatest stress or force

2 : the first beat of a measure of music

²downbeat adj [more ~; most ~] : sad or depressing : not happy or hopeful • Many will be surprised by the movie's unusually downbeat [=pessimistic, gloomy] ending. — opposite UPBEAT down-cast /'daʊn,kæst, Brit 'daʊn,kɑ:st/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : not happy, confident, or hopeful • I've never seen her looking so downcast. [=depressed, unhappy, sad] • There were a lot of downcast faces in the crowd.

2 of eyes : looking downward • downcast eyes down-court /'daʊn'koʊt/ adv : into or toward the opposite end of a basketball court • He passed the ball downcourt. • running downcourt

down-draft /'daʊn,draɪft, Brit 'daʊn,dra:ft/ noun, pl -drafts [count] technical : a downward flow of air • a strong downdraft from the thunderstorm down-er /'daʊnə/ noun, pl -ers [count] informal

1 : a drug that makes the body relax; especially : BARBITURATE • I took some downers to help me sleep. — compare UPPER

2 : something that is unpleasant or depressing • "His cat just died." "Oh, that's a real downer." • Our conversation about death was a bit of a downer.

down-fall /'daʊn,fa:l/ noun, pl -falls [count]

1 : a sudden loss of power, happiness, success, etc. • She was blamed for the company's downfall. [=decline, ruin] • Their downfall was the result of several bad decisions.

2 : something that causes failure • In the end, gambling proved to be his downfall. [=ruin, undoing] • Bad decision-making was their downfall.

down-field /'daʊn'fi:ld/ adv, sports : into or toward the part of the field toward which a team is headed • He threw/kicked the ball downfield.

— downfield adj • a downfield pass

¹down-grade /'daʊn,greɪd/ verb -grades; -grad-ed; -grad-ing [+ obj]

1 : to give (someone or something) a lower rank or grade • If you confess to the crime, we may be able to downgrade [=reduce] the charge. • The restaurant was downgraded from three to two stars. • a soldier downgraded [=demoted] in rank for misconduct — opposite UPGRADE

2 : to cause (someone or something) to be thought of as less valuable, important, etc. • She didn't intend to downgrade the importance of her colleague's work.

²downgrade noun, pl -grades [count] chiefly US

1 : an area or surface that goes downward : a downward slope • a steep downgrade

2 : an occurrence in which something becomes worse, less valuable, etc. • a downgrade in the company's stock prices • slight downgrades in quality down-heart-ed /'daʊn'ha:təd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not happy, confident, or hopeful • Everyone was downhearted [=sad, depressed] about the decision to close the factory.

¹down-hill /,daʊn'hɪl/ adv

1 : toward the bottom of a hill or mountain • It is easier to ride a bike downhill than uphill.

2 : toward a worse state • Her career/health is heading downhill. • After his divorce, he went downhill fast. • The service has gone downhill under the new owner.

²down-hill /'daʊn,hɪl/ adj

1 : going or sloping down toward the bottom of a hill or mountain • The second half of the hike is mostly downhill. • a downhill path/slope

2 not used before a noun a : not difficult : easy to do, deal with, etc. • The worst part is over. It's all downhill from here.

b : becoming worse or less successful • The first part of the movie was pretty good, but after that it was all downhill. • His career has been all downhill in recent years.

3 always used before a noun : relating to or used in a kind of skiing that is done down a mountain or hill instead of over the countryside • I enjoy downhill skiing. • a downhill skier/competition • downhill skis — compare ¹CROSS-COUNTRY 3

³down-hill /'daʊn,hɪl/ noun, pl -hills [count] : a downhill skiing race — usually singular • He finished first in the downhill.

down-home /'daʊn,həʊm/ adj [more ~; most ~] US : simple and informal in a way that reminds people of life in a small town or in the country especially in the southern U.S. • She's very famous but there is something quiet and down-home about her. • down-home cooking

Downing Street /'daʊnɪŋ-/ noun [singular] : the British Prime Minister or the British government • Downing Street and the White House are currently discussing the issue. ♦ The term Downing Street comes from the address of the official home of the British Prime Minister at Number 10 Downing Street in London.

1 download /'daʊn,ləʊd/ verb -loads; -load-ed; -load-ing computers : to move or copy (a file, program, etc.) from a usually larger computer system to another computer or device [+ obj] He downloaded the files onto his computer. • She downloads songs from/off the Internet. [no obj] The software downloads quickly. • The new program makes downloading faster. — compare UPLOAD
— download-able /'daʊn,ləʊdəbəl/ adj • downloadable files

2 download noun, pl -loads computers

1 : an act of moving or copying a file, program, etc., from a usually larger computer system to another computer or device [count] The modem is capable of high-speed downloads. • The download will take about three minutes. [non-count] The program is available for download at the company's Web site.

2 [count] : a file, program, etc., that is downloaded • The downloads are all in this folder.

down-market /'daʊn,mɑ:kət/ adj [more ~; most ~] chiefly Brit : made for or appealing to people who do not have much money • a down-market [(US) downscale] store/hotel; also : of low quality • down-market tabloids/products — down-market adv • The store is going/moving down-market. [=starting to sell products for people with less money] down payment noun, pl ~ -ments [count] : a first payment that you make when you buy something with an agreement to pay the rest later • She made a 10 percent down payment on the car. • We put/made a down payment on the house.

downpipe noun, pl -pipes [count] Brit : DOWNSPOUT down-play /'daʊn,pleɪ/ verb -plays; -played; -play-ing [+ obj] : to make (something) seem smaller or less important • She downplayed [=played down] her role in the research. • Athletes often downplay their injuries.

down-pour /'daʊn,pəʊ/ noun, pl -pours [count] : a sudden heavy rain — usually singular • We got caught in a torrential downpour.

down-right /'daʊn,raɪt/ adv : to the fullest degree : completely or totally • The movie was downright stupid/bad/scary. • It's very difficult, if not downright impossible. • They were downright overjoyed.

— downright adj, always used before a noun • a downright [=absolute, outright] lie • I was met with downright hostility.

down-riv-er /'daʊn'rivə/ adv : in the direction in which a river flows : DOWNSTREAM • The raft drifted downriver.

downs /'daʊnz/ noun [plural] : a high area of land that has low hills and no trees • Sheep graze on the grassy downs. • the South Downs of Southern England ♦ Downs often appears in the names of racetracks that are used for horseracing. • His horse won the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs.

Down's /'daʊnz/ noun [noncount] medical : DOWN SYNDROME • He has Down's. • (informal) a Down's baby

1 down-scale /'daʊn,skeɪl/ verb -scales; -scaled; -scaling [+ obj] US : to make (something) smaller • The company has downscaled production. [=the company is making fewer products] • The festival will have to be downscaled this year.

2 downscale adj [more ~; most ~] US : relating or appealing to people who do not have much money • an apartment in a downscale neighborhood • The company aims to reach a more downscale market with its new stores; also : of low quality • downscale [(chiefly Brit) down-market] products down-shift /'daʊn,ʃɪft/ verb -shifts; -shift-ed; -shift-ing [no obj]

1 : to put the engine of a vehicle into a lower gear • You can downshift to slow the car down. — opposite UPSHIFT

2 : to begin to work or happen at a level that is slower, easier, or more relaxed • Several employees will be downshifting from full-time to part-time. [=will start working less than the regular number of hours] • Expect the real estate market to downshift in the next few months. [=expect that fewer people will be buying and selling houses, buildings, etc.]

— downshift noun, pl -shifts [count] • a downshift into first gear • downshifts in economic growth down-side /'daʊn,sɑɪd/ noun, pl -sides [count] : a part of something that you do not want or like : a drawback or disadvantage • He could find no downside to the car. • On the downside [=when you consider the disadvantages], the car does not have much trunk space. — often + of • The downside of the camera is that the batteries have to be replaced often. — opposite UPSIDE down-size /'daʊn,sɑɪz/ verb -siz-es; -sized; -siz-ing

1 : to make (something) smaller [+ obj] They have downsized the car's engine in the new model. [no obj] We downsized to a smaller apartment last year. [=we moved to a smaller apartment]

2 : to make a company smaller and more efficient by reducing the number of workers [no obj] The company is planning to downsize next year. [+ obj] The company will be downsized next year. • The company has downsized [=reduced] its staff. • She was downsized [=she was dismissed from her job] after 15 years with the company.

— downsizing noun, pl -ings [count] He lost his job in a recent downsizing at the company. • corporate downsizings [noncount] problems caused by corporate downsizing down-slide /'daʊn,slaɪd/ noun, pl -slides [count] US : a situation in which something decreases or becomes worse — usually singular • an economic downslide [(more commonly) downturn] • Her career has been on a/the downslide.

down-slope /'daʊn,sloʊp/ adv, US : toward the bottom of a hill or mountain : down a slope • We slowly walked down-slope. [(more commonly) downhill] — opposite UPSLOPE

— downslope adj • downslope winds — downslope noun, pl -slopes [count] • We'll stop to rest on the downslope.

down-spout /'daʊn,spaʊt/ noun, pl -spouts [count] US : a pipe that carries rainwater from the roof of a building to the ground — called also drainpipe, (Brit) downpipe; see picture at HOUSE

Down's syndrome noun [noncount] medical : DOWN SYNDROME down-stage /'daʊn,steɪdʒ/ adv : toward the front part of a stage • The actress walked downstage to address the audience.

1 down-stairs /'daʊn,steəz/ adv : on or to a lower floor of a building • He ran downstairs to answer the door. • He lives downstairs from us. • "Where are the kids?" "They're downstairs."

2 down-stairs /'daʊn,steəz/ adj, always used before a noun : located on a lower, main, or first floor of a building • the downstairs bathroom • There are five downstairs rooms.

3 down-stairs /'daʊn,steəz/ noun
the downstairs : the lower and usually main floor of a building • The downstairs needs to be cleaned. • We painted the downstairs.

down-state /'daʊn,steɪt/ noun [noncount] US : the southern part of a state • He is from downstate.

— downstate adj • downstate New York — down-state /'daʊn,steɪt/ adv • She moved downstate last year. • He lives downstate.

down-stream /'daʊn,stri:m/ adv : in the direction in which a stream, river, etc., flows • The next town is six miles downstream. • float downstream

down-swing /'daʊn,swɪŋ/ noun, pl -swings [count]

1 : a situation in which something decreases or becomes worse • The company is experiencing a financial downswing. [(more commonly) downturn] • The company's sales are on a/the downswing. [=are decreasing]

2 golf : a forward and downward movement of a club as a golfer hits a shot Down syndrome /'daʊn-/ noun [noncount] medical : a condition that someone is born with and that causes below average mental abilities and problems in physical development. — called also Down's, Down's syndrome

down-time /'daʊn,tɑɪm/ noun [noncount]

1 US : time when you are not working or busy • After a busy day at work, I look forward to some downtime at home. • The kids napped during their downtime.

2 : time during which a computer or machine is not working • We need to minimize network downtime.

down-to-earth adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : informal and easy to talk to • a down-to-earth person • He's very down-to-earth despite his fame.

2 : practical and sensible • down-to-earth advice • Students liked the teacher's down-to-earth approach.

1 down-town /'daʊn,təʊn/ noun, pl -towns [count] chiefly US : the main or central part of a city or town : the part of a city or town where there are tall buildings, stores, offices, etc. — usually singular • I live close to downtown. • The city's downtown is thriving. — compare UPTOWN

2 downtown /ˈdaʊnˈtaʊn/ adv, chiefly US : to, toward, or in the main or central part of a city or town • Does this bus go downtown? • We went shopping downtown.
— downtown adj, always used before a noun • downtown stores/restaurants • downtown Boston down-trod-den /ˈdaʊnˈtraːdn/ adj, somewhat formal : without hope because of being treated badly by powerful people, governments, etc. • downtrodden people • They were poor and downtrodden.

the downtrodden : downtrodden people • He showed compassion for the downtrodden.

down-turn /ˈdaʊn,tən/ noun, pl -turns [count] : a situation in which something (such as business or economic activity) decreases or becomes worse — usually singular • an economic downturn = a downturn in the economy • There's been a downturn in the housing market.

1 down-ward (chiefly US) /ˈdaʊnwəd/ or chiefly Brit down-wards /ˈdaʊnwədz/ adv
1 : from a higher place or level to a lower place or level • The mountain streams flow downward to the lake. • Heating costs rise as the temperature heads downward. [=as the weather becomes colder]
2 : toward the ground, floor, etc. : not up • The hawk flew downward. • The arrow pointed downward. • Mud covered his pants from the knees downward.
3 : toward people with less power, money, etc. • Everyone in the company, from the president downward, has been involved in these decisions. [=the president and all the employees with less authority, power, etc., have been involved]
4 : to a smaller amount : to a lower number • We received an estimate, but the number has since been revised downward.

2 downward adj, always used before a noun
1 : moving or going from a higher place or level to a lower place or level • a downward slope • Sales continued their downward trend. • Her life was in a downward spiral [=a process of constantly getting worse] as she battled depression and addiction.
2 : moving or going toward the ground, floor, etc. • the hawk's downward flight
3 : changing to a smaller amount or lower number • the downward revision of an estimate down-wind /ˈdaʊnˈwind/ adv : in the direction that the wind is moving • We sailed downwind. — often + of or from • His clothes smelled like smoke after standing downwind of the campfire. • Pollution from the factory affects those who live downwind from it.

— downwind adj • the downwind side of a campfire

downy /ˈdaʊni/ adj down-i-er; -est
1 — used to describe small, soft feathers or something that resembles such feathers • the down feathers of a baby bird • her soft downy hair
2 : covered or filled with small, soft feathers or something like them • downy chicks/leaves/pillows

dow-ry /ˈdaʊri/ noun, pl -ries [count] : money or property that a wife or wife's family gives to her husband when the wife and husband marry in some cultures

dowse /ˈdaʊz/ verb dows-es; dowsed; dows-ing [no obj] : to search for an underground supply of water by using a special stick that leads you to it — usually + for • dowse for water
— dows-er noun, pl -ers [count]

dowsing rod noun, pl ~ rods [count] : DIVINING ROD

doy-en /ˈdɔjən/ noun, pl -ens [count] formal : a person who has a lot of experience in or knowledge about a particular profession, subject, etc. • a fashion doyen • He is considered the doyen of political journalists/journalism.

doy-enne /dɔiˈɛn/ noun, pl -ennes [count] : a woman who has a lot of experience in or knowledge about a particular profession, subject, etc. • the doyenne of the fashion industry

doz. abbr dozen

doze /ˈdoʊz/ verb doz-es; dozed; doz-ing [no obj] : to sleep lightly especially for a short period of time • He was dozing [=napping] on the sofa when I got home.
doze off [phrasal verb] : to fall asleep especially for a short period of time • A few students dozed off [=nodded off, dropped off] during the movie.
— doze noun [singular] • He drifted into a light doze.

doz-en /ˈdɔzn/ noun, pl doz-ens or dozen
1 pl dozen [count] : a group of 12 people or things • a dozen eggs [=12 eggs] • half a dozen eggs = a half-dozen eggs [=six eggs] • two dozen roses [=24 roses] • We'll need a couple doz- en hot dogs for the party. [=we will need about 24 hot dogs] • A few dozen people were at the party. [=about 36 people were at the party] • She has published several dozen [=many, probably more than 36] poems. — see also BAKER'S DOZEN

2 dozens [plural] : large numbers of people or things • People entered the park by/in the dozens. [=large groups of people entered the park] — often + of • Dozens of [=many] people were at the park. • The shop sells dozens and dozens of [=very many] kinds of tea.
a dime a dozen see DIME six of one, half a dozen of the other see SIX dozy /ˈdoʊzi/ adj doz-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal 1 : tired or sleepy • I feel dozy.

2 Brit : stupid or silly • He's a dozy old chap. • He's a little dozy.

dpi abbr dots per inch • an image with 72 dpi [=an image that is made of 72 dots of ink in each inch]

Dr. (US) or Brit Dr abbr 1 doctor • Dr. Jones 2 drive • The reception will be held at 27 Chestnut Dr.

drab /ˈdræb/ adj drab-ber; drab-best [also more ~; most ~] : not bright or colorful : too plain or dull to be interesting • drab buildings/clothes/offices/rooms • He lives a drab life.
— see also OLIVE DRAB
— drab-ly adv • a drably dressed woman — drab-ness noun [noncount] • the drabness of the buildings

drabs /ˈdræbz/ noun
dribs and drabs see DRIBS

dra-co-ni-an /ˈdriːˈkɒniːən/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + disapproving : very severe or cruel • The editorial criticizes the draconian measures being taken to control the spread of the disease. • draconian punishments

1 draft /ˈdræft, Brit ˈdraːft/ noun, pl drafts
1 [count] : a version of something (such as a document) that you make before you make the final version • The published poem differs quite a bit from earlier drafts. • I just completed a rough draft [=a first version that needs a lot of editing and rewriting] of my speech. • The final draft [=the final version] is due tomorrow.
2 US draft or Brit draught [count] : cool air moving in a closed space (such as a room) • You may want to seal the windows with plastic to stop drafts.
3 [count] US a : a system in which young people are required to join the armed forces of a country for a period of service — usually singular • There is debate about whether the country needs a draft. • Congress reinstated the draft — often used before another noun • He burned his draft card. • He's a draft dodger. [=a person who illegally avoids joining the armed forces] b : a system by which professional sports teams choose players from college or high school teams — usually singular • He was chosen in the first round of the draft. — often used before another noun • draft day • He was a first-round draft pick.
4 US draft or Brit draught [count] formal + literary : an act of drinking something; also : the amount swallowed at one time • He took a big draft of beer.
5 US draft or Brit draught [count] : a beer that is stored in and poured from a large container • The bar has 15 different drafts on tap.
6 : an order for the payment of money from a person or bank to another person or bank [count] The bank issued a draft. [noncount] Payment must be made by bank draft

7 US draft or Brit draught technical a : the depth of water that a boat needs in order to be able to float [count] — usually singular • a boat with a deep/shallow draft [noncount] a ship with 45 feet of draft b [noncount] : the depth of the water in a river, channel, etc. • a canal/channel that provides 60 feet of draft

8 draught [count] Brit : ²CHECKER on draft (US) or Brit on draught of beer : stored in and poured from a large container instead of in individual bottles or cans • The bar has beer on draft. [=on tap]

2 draft adj, always used before a noun
1 US draft or Brit draught of an animal : used for pulling heavy loads • draft animals/horses
2 US draft or Brit draught of beer : stored in and poured from a large container • draft beer
3 : not yet in the final form • a draft law/constitution/treaty

3 draft verb drafts; draft-ed; draft-ing [+ obj]
1 : to make a version of (something, such as a document or plan) that will need more work in order to be finished • He drafted a speech. • The two countries are drafting a treaty.

2 a : to choose (someone) for a special purpose • The drama club drafted three teenagers to be in the parade. — often used as (be/get) drafted • A few of us were drafted to help distribute flyers. • He got drafted for the fall play. b US : to officially order (someone) to join the armed forces • The legislature debated drafting more soldiers. — often used as (be/get) drafted • He was drafted for the war. • He got drafted into the army. c US : to choose (someone) to play on a professional sports team • The new rule prohibits teams from drafting players under 18. — often used as (be/get) drafted • He was drafted in the first round. • He got drafted by the Jets.

draft-ee /ˈdræftiː, Brit ˈdraːftiː/ noun, pl -ees [count] US

1 : someone who is officially ordered to join the armed forces

2 : someone who is chosen to play on a professional sports team draft-er /ˈdræftə, Brit ˈdraːftə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : someone who writes an official or legal document (such as a law) based on the ideas that have been officially discussed • the drafters of the amendment/constitution

2 : a person whose job is to make drawings that will be used to make machines, buildings, etc. : DRAFTSMAN

3 : someone who makes a version of something (such as a document or plan) that will need more work in order to be finished • She spoke to the drafter of the report.

drafts-man /ˈdræftsmən, Brit ˈdraːftsmən/ noun, pl draftsmen /ˈdræftsmən, Brit ˈdraːftsmən/ [count]

1 US draftsman or Brit draughtsman : a person whose job is to make drawings that will be used to make machines, buildings, etc.

2 : someone who writes an official or legal document (such as a law) based on the ideas that have been officially discussed • the draftsmen [(more commonly) drafters] of the U.S. Constitution

3 US draftsman or Brit draughtsman : an artist who draws well • Her use of color is not outstanding, but she is a first-rate draftsman.

— drafts-man-ship (US) or Brit draughts-man-ship /ˈdræftsmənˌʃɪp, Brit ˈdraːftsmənˌʃɪp/ noun [noncount] • Her work shows sophisticated draftsmanship.

drafts-per-son (US) or Brit draughts-per-son /ˈdræfts,pəsn, Brit ˈdraːfts,pəːsn/ noun, pl drafts-peo-ple /ˈdræfts,pɪːpəl, Brit ˈdraːfts,pɪːpəl/ [count] : DRAFTSMAN • She was one of the bill's draftspeople.

drafty (US) or Brit draughty /ˈdræfti, Brit ˈdraːfti/ adj drafti-er; -est : having cold air moving through in a way that is unpleasant or uncomfortable • a drafty room • The house is very drafty.

— draft-i-ness (US) or Brit draught-i-ness /ˈdræftɪnəs, Brit ˈdraːftɪnəs/ noun [noncount]

¹drag /ˈdræg/ verb drags; dragged; drag-ging

1 [+ obj] : to pull (someone or something that is heavy or difficult to move) • She dragged one of the other tables over to ours. • Firefighters dragged the man to safety. • One of the parents eventually dragged the screaming toddler out of the store. — often used figuratively • She practically had to drag her husband to the opera. • You drag me all the way out here only to tell me that the store is closed!? • She was dragged kicking and screaming into the family business. [=she was forced to join the family business]

2 a [no obj] : to move along the ground, floor, etc., while being pulled • Your scarf is dragging. • The broken muffler dragged behind the car. • The dog's leash was dragging along the ground. b [+ obj] : to cause (something) to move along the ground, floor, etc., by pulling it • The child is always dragging his blanket. • The puppy ran up to us, dragging her leash behind her.

3 a always followed by an adverb or preposition [+ obj] : to force (yourself) to move or to go to a place when you are tired, busy, etc. • He dragged himself up the stairs and climbed into bed. • Can you drag yourself away from that computer? • I could barely drag myself out of bed. [=I had a hard time waking up] b [no obj] : to go or move more slowly than others • Quit dragging—walk faster. • The nation's economy is dragging [(more commonly) lagging] behind the rest of the world.

4 [+ obj] : to bring (an unpleasant or complicated subject, fact, etc.) into a discussion or argument — + up or into • Do you always have to drag [=dredge] up the past? • They can't seem to avoid dragging religion into politics. [=mentioning religion in a discussion about politics]

5 [no obj] : to go on for a long time in a way that seems slow and boring • The movie was good, but I thought it dragged at the end. • The hours seemed to drag (by) as the day went on.

6 [+ obj] : to pull a net or set of hooks through (a river, lake, pond, etc.) in order to search for or collect something • Searchers used three boats to drag the river. • They dragged [=trawled] the waters for fish.

7 [+ obj] computers : to move (items on a computer screen) by using a computer mouse • Drag the file/picture to this folder.

drag down [phrasal verb] 1 drag (someone) down or drag down (someone) : to force (someone) into a bad situation or condition • We cannot let our enemies drag us down to their level. [=we should not let their bad behavior convince us to behave badly] 2 drag (someone) down : to make (someone) unhappy • You can't let her bad moods drag you down. 3 drag down (something) or drag (something) down : to make (something) lower in amount or quality • High energy costs are dragging down profits.

drag into [phrasal verb] drag (someone) into (something) : to involve (a person, group, etc.) in (a difficult or complicated situation) • I'm sorry for dragging you into this. • Don't drag the children into this. • We will not let the country be dragged into another war. — see also ¹DRAG 4 (above) drag on [phrasal verb] disapproving : to go on for a long time : to progress slowly • The meeting dragged on until almost midnight. • The lawsuit dragged on for years.

drag out [phrasal verb] 1 drag out (something) or drag (something) out : to cause (something) to take more time than necessary • He dragged out the speech much too long. • Stop dragging the story out and get to the point. 2 drag (something) out of (someone) : to force (something, such as a confession) from (someone) : to make (someone) tell you (something) • The teacher eventually dragged a confession out of one of the students. • Doctors sometimes have to drag information out of their patients.

drag someone's name through the mud : to publicly say false or bad things that harm someone's reputation • My opponent has dragged my name through the mud.

drag your feet also drag your heels : to avoid doing something for a long time because you do not want to do it • Quit dragging your feet and make a decision! • After months of dragging its heels, Congress voted on the bill.

like something the cat dragged in see CAT

Look what the cat dragged in! see CAT

²drag noun, pl drags

1 [singular] informal : someone or something that is boring, annoying, or disappointing • My parents can be such a drag. They won't let me do anything. • These meetings are a total drag.

2 [singular] informal : someone or something that makes action or progress slower or more difficult — usually + on • High taxes have been a drag on the economy. • The senator should resign before she becomes a drag on the party. [=before she causes people to vote for candidates in another political party]

3 [count] informal : the act of breathing in smoke from a cigarette, cigar, pipe, etc. • Let me have a drag from your cigarette. • He took a long drag on the cigarette.

4 [noncount] physics : the force of air that pushes against an airplane, a car, etc., as it moves forward • The jet's sleek design reduces drag.

in drag : wearing clothes that are usually worn by the opposite sex • They went to the party (dressed) in drag. • She's in drag. [=dressed as a man]

— see also MAIN DRAG

drag-net /ˈdræg.net/ noun, pl -nets [count]

1 : a series of actions that are done by the police in order to catch criminals • Nine suspects were caught in the police dragnet.

2 : a net that is pulled along the bottom of a river, lake, pond, etc., to search for or collect something drag-on /ˈdrægən/ noun, pl -ons [count] : an imaginary animal that can breathe out fire and looks like a very large lizard with wings, a long tail, and large claws drag-on-fly /ˈdrægənˌflaɪ/ noun, pl -flies [count] : a large insect that has a long thin body and four wings and that is often seen near water — see color picture on page C10 dragon lady noun, pl ~ ladies [count] chiefly US, informal + disapproving : a woman who is often angry or cruel especially when people do not do what she wants • The new boss is a real dragon lady.

¹dra·goon /drə'gu:n/ noun, pl -goons [count] chiefly Brit : a soldier especially in the past who rode a horse and carried a gun

²dragoon verb -goons; -gooned; -goon-ing
dragoon into [phrasal verb] dragoon (someone) into (something) : to force or convince (someone) to do (something) • Somehow I was dragooned into working overtime.

drag queen noun, pl ~ queens [count] informal : a homosexual man who dresses as a woman especially to entertain people drag race noun, pl ~ races [count] : a contest in which people race cars at very high speeds over a short distance — drag racer noun, pl ~ -ers [count] • He is one of the best drag racers in the country. — drag racing noun [noncount] • He likes drag racing.

drag-ster /'drægstə/ noun, pl -sters [count] : a car that is made for drag racing drag strip noun, pl ~ strips [count] : a place where drag races happen

¹drain /'dreɪn/ verb drains; drained; drain-ing
1 a [+ obj] : to remove (liquid) from something by letting it flow away or out • Drain the canned tomatoes before adding them to the pot. • The swamp has been drained. — often + from • Drain the fat/grease from the pan. • We have to drain some water from the pool. b [no obj] of a container : to become empty of a liquid • I was waiting for the bathtub to drain. • The sink won't drain. c [no obj] of a liquid : to flow into, away from, or out of something • The river drains into a lake. • The blood/color drained from her face. [=she got pale]
2 a [+ obj] : to cause (something) to lose something important — + of • Years of civil war have drained the country of its resources. [=have used up the country's resources] • Overuse has drained the phrase of all meaning. b : to slowly be used up or to cause (something) to slowly be used up [+ obj] Years of civil war have drained the country's resources. • The city's emergency fund has been drained. [no obj] — usually + away • She felt her anger drain away.

3 [+ obj] : to make (someone) very physically or mentally tired • The work drained [=exhausted] me. • I feel totally drained of energy this evening. • Her work is very draining. [=tiring]

4 [+ obj] : to drink all of the liquid in (something) • He drained the mug and left.

5 [+ obj] US, sports, informal : to make (a successful shot) in a very skillful and impressive way • (basketball) She took a long jump shot and drained it. • (golf) He drained the putt for a birdie.

drain off [phrasal verb] drain off (something) or drain (something) off a : to cause (a liquid) to flow away from something or to leave the surface of something • When the beans have cooked long enough to be tender, drain off the water and set them aside. b : to take (something important or valuable) from something • An independent candidate could drain off [=siphon off] votes from either party.

²drain noun, pl drains [count]
1 : something (such as a pipe) that is used for removing a liquid from a place or container • He poured the spoiled milk down/into the drain. [= (Brit) plughole] • The drain in the bathtub/sink is blocked/clogged. • (chiefly Brit) They are repairing the drains. [=sewer system]

2 : something that uses a lot of time, money, etc. — usually singular; usually + on • Tuition costs are a drain on the family income. • The war has been a big drain on the country's resources. — see also BRAIN DRAIN down the drain informal 1 — used to describe something that is being wasted or lost • All my hard work went down the drain. • You're pouring your money down the drain. [=you're wasting your money] 2 — used to describe something that is getting much worse • The public schools are going down the drain.

drain-age /'dreɪndʒ/ noun [noncount] : the act or process of draining something : the act or process of removing water or liquid from a place or thing • the drainage of swamps • The soil has good drainage. [=extra water does not stay in the soil] • The holes in the bottom of the flower pot are for drainage. [=are for the extra water to flow out] — often used before another noun • a drainage system/basin/ditch/channel drain-board /'dreɪnbɔ:rd/ noun, pl -boards [count] US : a sloping area near a kitchen sink used for drying dishes — called also (Brit) draining board

drained /'dreɪnd/ adj
1 : with the water or liquid removed • a drained swamp •

Add one cup tomatoes, drained. • well-drained soil
2 not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : very tired : EXHAUSTED • I feel totally drained.

drain-pipe /'dreɪnpaɪp/ noun, pl -pipes [count]
1 : a pipe that carries rainwater from the roof of a building to the ground : DOWNSPOUT
2 US : a pipe that carries liquid waste and water away from buildings — see picture at PLUMBING

drake /'dreɪk/ noun, pl drakes [count] : a male duck dram /'dræm/ noun, pl drams [count] : a small amount of an alcoholic drink • a dram of whiskey

dra·ma /'drɑ:mə/ noun, pl -mas
1 a [count] : a piece of writing that tells a story and is performed on a stage • He is reading an ancient Greek drama. b : a play, movie, television show, or radio show that is about a serious subject and is not meant to make the audience laugh [count] a television/radio drama • a police drama [=a serious show about police work] [noncount] I prefer drama to comedy.

2 [noncount] : the art or activity of performing a role in a play, show, etc. : ACTING • His interest in drama began at a very young age. • She studied drama in college. • drama school • a drama teacher/student

3 : a situation or series of events that is exciting and that affects people's emotions [count] the dramas of teenage life • She watched the drama unfold as they began screaming at each other. [noncount] a competition full of drama • the drama of the courtroom proceedings • a moment of high drama [=a very exciting and dramatic moment]

Dram-a·mine /'dræmə,mi:n/ trademark — used for a drug that people take to prevent nausea drama queen noun, pl ~ queens [count] disapproving : a person (especially a woman) who acts as though things are much worse than they really are dra·mat·ic /drə'mætɪk/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] a : sudden and extreme • His parents noticed a dramatic change/improvement/difference in his behavior. • There was a dramatic increase/decrease/rise/fall in prices. b : greatly affecting people's emotions • the team's dramatic [=exciting] overtime victory • The book tells the dramatic story of her battle with cancer. c : attracting attention : causing people to carefully listen, look, etc. • She made a dramatic entrance wearing a bright red dress. • There was a dramatic pause before his big announcement. • The painter used dramatic colors/accents. d : often showing a lot of emotion : tending to behave and react in an exaggerated way • Oh, you're fine—don't be so dramatic. [=melodramatic]

2 always used before a noun : of or relating to plays and the performance of plays • They are members of the local dramatic society.

— dra·mat·i·cal·ly /drə'mætɪkli/ adv [more ~; most ~] • His behavior has improved dramatically. [=very much] • They called to us from shore, waving their arms dramatically. [=using large motions]

dra·mat·ics /drə'mætɪks/ noun
1 [plural] : behavior that is very emotional in a way that does not seem sincere : exaggerated behavior • a child prone to dramatics

2 [noncount] : the study or practice of acting in or producing plays • She is studying/learning dramatics in school. — see also AMATEUR DRAMATICS dra·ma·tis per·so·nae /,dræmətəspə'souni/ noun [plural] formal : the characters or actors in a play, movie, etc.

dram·a·tist /'dræmətɪst/ noun, pl -tists [count]
1 : someone who writes plays : PLAYWRIGHT • the American dramatist Arthur Miller
2 : someone who writes dramas (sense 1b) • a radio/television dramatist

dram·a·tize also Brit dram·a·tise /'dræmə,taɪz/ verb -tiz-es; -tized; -tiz-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (a book, an event, etc.) into a play, movie, television show, etc. • The movie dramatizes her early life. • The book is dramatized in a new play.

2 : to make a situation seem more important or serious than it really is • I know I tend to dramatize things but it really was awful.

3 : to show (something that might not be noticed) in a clear and effective way • She cited a series of statistics to dramatize the seriousness of the problem. • This tragedy dramatizes the need for improvements in highway safety.

— dra·ma·ti·za·tion also Brit dram·a·ti·sa·tion

/ˌdræmə'taɪzɪʃən, Brit ˌdræmə'taɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] — often + of • a radio dramatization of the novel • The TV show included many dramatizations of actual events. [noncount] The novel is not fit for dramatization.

drank past tense of ¹DRINK

drape /ˈdreɪp/ verb drapes; draped; drap-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to loosely place or hang (something) • We'll drape strings of lights between the trees for the party. — often + over or around • He had one leg draped over the arm of the sofa. • She draped the coat around my shoulders. • He had a scarf draped around his neck. b [no obj] of cloth : to hang in a pleasing way • This silk drapes beautifully.

2 [+ obj] : to cover (someone or something) with a cloth — usually + with or in • The police draped the body with a blanket. • The tables were draped in linen. — sometimes used figuratively • She was draped in gold chains. [=she was wearing many gold chains]

drap-ery /ˈdreɪəri/ noun, pl -er-ies

1 US : long heavy curtains [plural] We bought new draperies [= (more commonly) drapes] for the room. [noncount] (some-what formal) I'd like to replace the drapery in the living room.

2 [noncount] : a decorative cloth that is arranged or hung in loose folds • The painter arranged several items among drap-ery and began to work.

drapes /ˈdreɪps/ noun [plural] chiefly US : long heavy curtains • This room needs new drapes.

dras-tic /ˈdræstɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] : extreme in effect or action : severe or serious • The situation calls for drastic measures/action. • drastic cuts/reductions in spending • Maybe we should try something less drastic first.

— dras-ti-cal-ly /ˈdræstɪkli/ adv • In recent years, the town's population has declined drastically. [= (more commonly) dramatically] • The neighborhood has drastically changed.

drat /ˈdræt/ interj, informal + old-fashioned — used to show that you are annoyed or disappointed • Drat! I forgot the tickets.

drat-ted /ˈdrætəd/ adj, always used before a noun, informal + old-fashioned : annoying or disappointing • That dratted [=darn, darned] dog is back again.

¹draught Brit spelling of DRAFT

²draught /ˈdræft, Brit ˈdra:ft/ noun, pl draughts [count] Brit : ²CHECKER draught-board /ˈdræft,bɔ:rd, Brit ˈdra:ft,bɔ:d/ noun, pl -boards [count] Brit : CHECKERBOARD

draughts /ˈdræfts, Brit ˈdra:fts/ noun [noncount] Brit : CHECKERS

draughtsman, draughtsperson, draughty Brit spellings of DRAFTSMAN, DRAFTSPERSON, DRAFTY

¹draw /ˈdra:/ verb draw; drew /ˈdru:/; drawn /ˈdra:n/; draw-ing

1 : to make (a picture, image, etc.) by making lines on a surface especially with a pencil, pen, marker, chalk, etc., but not usually with paint [+ obj] He drew me a picture of the bike. = He drew a picture of the bike for me. • The computer can draw the graph for you. • Students drew maps of the states and labeled them. [no obj] You draw very well. • She sat down and began to draw. — compare PAINT

2 [+ obj] : to cause (attention) to be given to someone or something • The case has drawn attention to the fact that many athletes never graduate. • I would like to draw your attention to the third line. • He didn't want to draw attention to himself. [=he did not want to cause people to notice him]

3 [+ obj] a : to cause (someone or something) to come : to attract (someone or something) • The band always draws a large crowd. • She felt drawn [=attracted] to the young man. • The college draws students from around the world. • The animals were drawn to the campsite by the smell of food. • We hope the display in the window will draw customers in from the street. • The lure of city life has drawn away many of the town's young people. • My eye was drawn to the painting. [=some characteristic of the painting made me want to look at it] b : to cause (someone) to become involved or interested in something or someone — + in, into, or to • What first drew you to teaching? • A good writer knows how to draw readers in. [=how to make readers interested; how to make people want to read something] — often used as (be/get) drawn • She was drawn in by his friendly manner. [=she wanted to know and talk to him because he was friendly] • She got drawn into the conversation.

4 [+ obj] : to get or receive (something) • a television show that has drawn consistently high ratings • The player drew a foul. : to get (a particular response or reaction) • His speech drew cheers from the crowd. • The movie has drawn much criticism/praise from critics. • He is a talented high school athlete who has drawn the interest of several major colleges. • The principal's remarks have drawn fire [=attracted angry criticism] from both parents and teachers.

5 a always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to move in a specified direction • She drew away from the spider. • He opened the door and drew back in horror/shock/fear. • The car drew (up) alongside us. • The train drew [=pulled] into the station. • She drew her eyebrows together in a frown of concentration. — sometimes used figuratively • He drew away [= (more commonly) withdrew] from his family. b [+ obj] : to move (something) by pulling • a carriage drawn by horses = a horse-drawn carriage • Draw the curtains/blinds/shades. [=open or close the curtains/blinds/shades] • a special fabric that draws moisture away from the skin • She drew the blanket over her head. • Draw up a chair and join us. [=bring a chair to where we are and sit down with us] • She sat down in the chair and drew up her knees/legs [=she bent her legs and moved her knees toward her chest] — sometimes used figuratively • The tragedy drew us closer together. [=made us emotionally closer]

6 [no obj] : to move gradually or steadily in time or space • The lion drew closer to its prey. • The sun is setting and the day is drawing to a close [=ending] • Spring is drawing near/nigh [=approaching] • The car drew to a halt/stop [=the car slowed down and stopped]

7 [+ obj] a : to form (something, such as an idea or conclusion) after thinking carefully about information you have • You can draw your own conclusions. — often + from • a writer who draws ideas from newspaper stories • We can draw lessons from past mistakes. [=we can learn from past mistakes] b : to describe how two or more things are similar or different : to make (a comparison, distinction, etc.) between two or more things • Many people have been drawing comparisons between the two movies. [=have been saying that the movies are similar] • She drew important distinctions between the two methods. [=described important ways that the two methods are different]

8 a [+ obj] : to take (something) out of a container, pocket, etc. • They were arguing, and then one of them drew [=pulled] a gun. • One of the thieves drew a knife on her. [=one of the thieves took a knife out of a pocket, container, etc., and pointed it at her] • She drew water from the well. — see also at daggers drawn at DAGGER b [+ obj] : to cause (something) to come out of a source • He drew [=ran] water for a bath. c [+ obj] : to get (something) from a source • The car also draws power from a battery. • She draws strength/inspiration from her loving family. d : to take (a card) from a group of cards [+ obj] Draw four cards. [no obj] You haven't drawn yet.

9 a [+ obj] : to choose (a thing) from a group without knowing which one you are choosing • She drew the winning number/ticket. • We drew names from a hat to decide who would go on the trip. • (Brit) The U.S. team have been drawn against [=chosen to play against] Greece in the first round. — see also draw lots at LOT b [no obj] : to decide something by choosing something from a group • We'll draw to see who will drive. — see also DRAW STRAWS (below)

10 [+ obj] : to make (something, such as a legal document) in a proper or legal form • We hired a lawyer to draw a will. — often + up • They drew up a contract/proposal/plan/list.

11 a [+ obj] : to take (something, such as air or smoke) into your lungs by breathing • She drew a deep breath before responding. — often + in • He drew the fresh air in. = He drew in the fresh air. b [no obj] : to let air flow through • Make sure the chimney is drawing properly. • The pipe draws well.

12 [+ obj] a : to take (money) from a bank account : WITHDRAW — usually + from or out • He drew $100 from the bank. • She drew out the money. b : to receive (money) regularly from an employer, government, bank, etc. • He draws a salary of about $100,000. • He draws unemployment benefits. • She has started to draw her pension. c : to write (a check) and have money taken from a bank account • You are now authorized to draw checks from the corporate account.

13 Brit : to finish a game, contest, etc., without having a winner : TIE [+ obj] We drew [= (US) tied] the game 3–3. [no obj] The teams drew [= (US) tied] 3–3. [=each team scored three points] — often + against • The teams have drawn against each other.

14 [+ obj] archery : to bend (a bow) by pulling back the string • He drew his bow and aimed at the target.

15 [+ obj] Brit : to cause (someone) to say more about something especially by questioning — often used as (be) drawn; usually + on • She refused to be drawn on whether the company is considering a merger.

16 [+ obj] technical, of a boat : to need (a particular depth of water) in order to float • The ship draws 45 feet of water.

draw a bead on see BEAD

draw a blank see ²BLANK

draw a/the line see ¹LINE

draw blood see BLOOD

draw in your horns see ¹HORN

draw off [phrasal verb] draw off (something) or draw (something) off : to take or remove (something) from a source or supply • They illegally drew off thousands of dollars that had been donated to the charity.

draw on/upon [phrasal verb] 1 draw on literary : to come closer in time • It became colder as night drew on. [=approached] 2 draw on/upon (something) a : to use (something) as a source or supply • The family is drawing on/upon the community for support. b : to use (information, experience, knowledge, etc.) to make something • Her new book draws on her personal experience as a firefighter. • The report draws upon several recent studies. 3 draw on (something) : to breathe in smoke from (a cigarette, cigar, pipe, etc.) • He drew on his cigarette.

draw out [phrasal verb] 1 draw (something) out or draw out (something) : to cause (something) to leave a source or supply • Trees draw water out of the soil. • Salt will draw out moisture from vegetables. 2 draw (something) out or draw out (something) : to cause (something) to last longer than the usual or expected amount of time • Questions drew the meeting out for another hour. • The movie's love scene was drawn out. — see also DRAWN-OUT, LONG-DRAWN-OUT 3 draw (someone) out or draw out (someone) : to cause (someone) to talk freely • She tried to draw the frightened child out by asking him questions about his toys. • The reporter had an ability to draw out people.

draw straws ♦ If you draw straws, you choose a stick from a group of sticks that are different sizes but that are being held in such a way that they look like they are all the same size. Usually, whoever chooses the shortest stick or gets/draws the short straw will have to do a particular thing. • Let's draw straws to see who will drive. • He drew the short straw so he has to drive.

draw the blinds/curtain/shades on : to end (something that has been continuing for a long time) • Let's draw the curtain on this investigation. — see also ¹DRAW 5b (above) draw up [phrasal verb] 1 of a vehicle : to approach and stop at a place • A car drew up [=pulled up] in front of the house. 2 draw (yourself) up : to stand as straight and tall as you can • He drew himself up to (his) full height. — see also ¹DRAW 10 (above)

²draw noun, pl draws [count]

1 : someone or something that causes a lot of people to come to a place : ATTRACTION • Their band is the main draw at the festival. • The festival is always a big draw.

2 : the final result of a game, contest, etc., that does not have a winner : TIE • The game ended in a draw. = The game was a draw. [=both teams/players had the same score] • They played to a 3–3 draw. [=each team/player had 3 points when the game ended]

3 chiefly Brit : DRAWING • Who won the (prize) draw? — often + for • The draw for the raffle will take place in one hour.

4 : an act of breathing in smoke from a cigarette, cigar, pipe, etc. : DRAG — often + on or from • He took a long draw on/from his cigarette.

be quick on the draw : to be quick about removing a gun from where it is kept : to quickly draw a gun and be ready to shoot it — often used figuratively • When the huge crowd suddenly became unruly, security was quick on the draw. [=security reacted very quickly] • Critics may have been a little too quick on the draw.

the luck of the draw see ¹LUCK

draw-back /'draːbæk/ noun, pl -backs [count] : something that causes problems : DISADVANTAGE • The only drawback [=downside] to the plan is that we don't have the time it requires. • The trip sounds great, but cost is a major drawback.

draw-bridge /'draːbrɪdʒ/ noun, pl -bridges [count] : a bridge that can be raised up so that people cannot cross it or so that boats can pass under it • raise/lower the drawbridge

draw-er /'draːə/ noun, pl -ers

1 [count] : a box that slides into and out of a piece of furniture (such as a desk) and that is used to store things • the top/middle/bottom drawer of the desk/dresser • There are some pens in my desk drawer. • a sock/cash drawer [=a drawer for storing socks/cash] — see picture at OFFICE; see also CHEST OF DRAWERS

2 drawers [plural] old-fashioned + humorous : underwear for the lower part of the body • He stood there in only his drawers. — often used informally in the phrase drop your drawers • At least the doctor didn't make me drop my drawers. [=pull down my underpants]

draw-ing /'draːɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 a [count] : a picture, image, etc., that is made by making lines on a surface with a pencil, pen, marker, chalk, etc., but usually not with paint • She made a drawing of my house. • pencil drawings of flowers — see also LINE DRAWING b [noncount] : the act or art of making a picture, image, etc., with a pencil, pen, marker, chalk, etc., but usually not with paint • I've always loved drawing. — see also MECHANICAL DRAWING

2 [count] US : an act of choosing something (such as a winning ticket) from a group without knowing which one you are choosing • Who won the (prize) drawing? — often + for • The drawing for the raffle will take place in one hour. — called also (chiefly Brit) draw

drawing board noun, pl ~ boards

1 [count] : a large flat board that is used for holding paper for drawing; also : DRAWING TABLE

2 [noncount] : the time during which something is being planned : the planning stage of something • Plans for the new stadium are on the drawing board. [=are being created] • The project will never get off the drawing board. [=will never go beyond the planning stage] • The company went back to the drawing board [=started over] to make a better product.

drawing pin noun, pl ~ pins [count] Brit : THUMB TACK

drawing power noun [noncount] : the ability to attract a lot of people to a performance, event, etc. • The team has a lot of drawing power. — called also (chiefly Brit) pulling power

drawing room noun, pl ~ rooms [count] formal + old-fashioned : a formal room that is used for spending time with guests or relaxing drawing table noun, pl ~ -bles [count] : a table that has a surface that can be raised up or down or turned to different angles and that is used for drawing drawl /'draːl/ verb drawls; drawled; drawl-ing : to speak slowly with vowel sounds that are longer than usual [+ obj] "Well, hello there," she drawled. • He drawled his name in a Southern accent. [no obj] a drawling voice

— drawl noun, pl drawls [count] — usually singular • He had a charming Southern drawl. • She spoke with a drawl.

¹drawn past participle of ¹DRAW

²drawn /'draːn/ adj [more ~; most ~] : looking very thin and tired especially from worry, pain, or illness • His illness left him looking very pale and drawn. • She had a drawn face.

drawn-out adj [more ~; most ~] : continuing for or taking a long time • We're trying to avoid a drawn-out process. — compare LONG-DRAWN-OUT draw-string /'draːstrɪŋ/ noun, pl -strings [count] : a string that can be pulled to close or tighten something (such as a bag or a piece of clothing) • a drawstring bag • drawstring pants [=pants that have a drawstring at the waist]

¹dread /'dred/ verb dreads; dreaded; dread-ing [+ obj] : to fear something that will or might happen • He can't swim and dreads going in the water. • She dreaded making speeches in front of large audiences. • I dread the day I will have to leave my friends. • I dread the thought of moving next week. • I dread to think about what they might do next.

— dreaded adj [more ~; most ~] • The dreaded moment had arrived. • a dreaded disease • the dreaded word "cancer"

²dread noun, pl dreads

1 : a strong feeling of fear about something that will or might happen [singular] She has a dread of failure. • He lives with the/a constant dread of rejection. [noncount] She awaited her punishment with dread. • The news about the war fills me with dread. • They live in constant dread of another attack. synonyms see ¹FEAR

2 [count] : a person or thing that causes fear — usually singular • They lived in tight rows of wooden houses, and fire was a constant dread.

3 dreads [plural] informal : DREADLOCKS

³dread adj, always used before a noun, formal : causing great fear • a dread [=dreaded] disease dread·ful /'dredfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very bad or unpleasant • Her performance was absolutely/simply dreadful. • She has a dreadful [=awful, terrible] cold. • Those children have such dreadful manners. • What dreadful weather! • a dreadful mistake/accident • a dreadful storm/scream

– dread·ful·ly /'dredfəli/ adv • a dreadfully bad performance • dreadfully [=extremely] dull • He was dreadfully lonely. • I miss you dreadfully. [=very much]

dread·locks /'dred,lə:ks/ noun [plural] : hair that is twisted together into long pieces that hang down around your shoulders ♦ Dreadlocks are often worn by people who are Rastafarians. — called also dreads; see picture at HAIR

1 dream /'dri:m/ noun, pl dreams

1 [count] : a series of thoughts, visions, or feelings that happen during sleep • He had a dream about climbing a mountain. • You were in my dream last night. • Scary movies always give me bad dreams. [=nightmares] • “Good night, my love. Sweet dreams.” [=I hope you will sleep well and have pleasant dreams] — see also WET DREAM

2 [count] : an idea or vision that is created in your imagination and that is not real • She indulged in dreams [=fantasies] of living in a palace. • I've found the man/woman of my dreams. • They succeeded beyond their wildest dreams. • Never in my wildest dreams did I imagine it would be so much fun. • If you think the work will be easy, you're living in a dream world.

3 a [count] : something that you have wanted very much to do, be, or have for a long time • He has had a lifelong dream of becoming an actor. • It's a dream of mine to own a house in the country. • Tell me your hopes and dreams. • She followed/fulfilled her dreams. • Making it to the Olympics was a dream come true. • Many believe that worldwide peace is an impossible dream. — see also AMERICAN DREAM, PIPE DREAM b [singular] : someone or something that has the qualities that a person wants most • The meal was a garlic lover's dream. • He's every woman's dream. — usually used before another noun • She's still trying to find her dream husband. • Managing a professional baseball team is his dream job. • They just moved into their dream home. — see also DREAM TEAM

4 [singular] informal : something that is beautiful, excellent, or pleasing • It's a dream of a house. • The new car is a dream to drive. = The new car drives like a dream. • My new computer works like a dream. [=works very well]

5 [singular] : a state or condition in which you are not thinking about or aware of the real things that are around you • He was walking around in a dream.

in your dreams informal — used to say that you do not think something that another person wants or expects will ever happen • “Maybe my parents will lend me the car tonight.” “In your dreams.”

2 dream verb dreams; dreamed /'dremt, 'dri:md/ or dreamt /'dremt/; dream·ing

1 : to have visions and thoughts in your sleep : to have a dream while you are sleeping [no obj] — often + of or about • He dreamed of drowning and woke up trembling. • I have trouble remembering the things I dream about. [+ obj] Last night I dreamed (that) you were here talking to me. • Did it really happen or did I just dream it?

2 : to think about something that you wish would happen or something that you want to do or be [no obj] He tends to dream big but he never really does the things he dreams of doing. • She stared out the window dreaming. [=daydreaming] • You're dreaming [=you're completely wrong] if you think being a parent is going to be easy. — often + of • She spent hours reading love stories and dreaming of romance. • They dreamed of success. • He dreamed of becoming a teacher. [+ obj] As a child, I always dreamed (that) I would be an astronaut when I grew up. • I sat on the porch and dreamed away the day. [=I spent the whole day thinking and dreaming] • I never dreamt that it would be so difficult. [=it was much more difficult than I expected it to be] dream on informal — used to say that you do not think something that another person wants or expects will ever happen • “I think my band will be famous one day.” “Dream on.”

dream up [phrasal verb] dream up (something) also dream (something) up : to think of or invent (something) in your mind • He dreams up all sorts of fantastic adventures. • She tries a lot of new recipes that she dreams up herself. • They dreamed up a plan to get the information.

never/not dream of — used to say that you would never do something or think of doing something. • I would never dream of asking for more money. • “Did you ever do anything to hurt her?” “I wouldn't dream of it!”

dream·boat /'dri:m,bəut/ noun, pl -boats [count] informal + old-fashioned : a very attractive person — usually used of a man • an actor who's a real dreamboat

dream·er noun, pl -ers [count]

1 disapproving : a person whose ideas and plans are not practical or based in reality • I am a realist, but my sister is a dreamer.

2 : a person who dreams while sleeping • Some dreamers talk in their sleep to the people in their dreams.

dream·land /'dri:m,lænd/ noun, informal : a pleasant place or situation that exists only in the mind [noncount] Bored with the classroom lecture, she drifted off to dreamland. [=she started daydreaming] • (disapproving) He's in dreamland [=he's dreaming] if he thinks he can get by without a full-time job. [singular] He's living in a dreamland.

dream·less /'dri:mləs/ adj, of sleep : without dreams : deep and peaceful • She fell into a dreamless sleep.

dream·like /'dri:m,lai:k/ adj : seeming to exist in a dream : like a dream • Her photographs have a dreamlike quality.

dreamt past tense and past participle of ²DREAM dream team noun, pl ~ teams [count] : a group of people who work or play a sport together and who are the best at what they do — usually singular • She got a legal dream team to work on the case.

dreamy /'dri:mi/ adj dream·i·er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : tending to dream instead of thinking about what is real or practical • She was a dreamy young woman who never gave much serious thought to her future.

2 : having a quality which shows or suggests that you are not noticing or thinking about what is happening around you • He gazed at me with a dreamy look in his eyes.

3 : pleasant, peaceful, and relaxing • dreamy music

4 informal + old-fashioned : very attractive • Her boyfriend is so dreamy.

– dream·i·ly /'dri:məli/ adv • She spoke dreamily of traveling around the world. • They stared dreamily into each other's eyes. — dream·i·ness /'dri:mi:nəs/ noun [noncount]

drea·ry /'dri:ri/ adj drea·ri·er; -ri·est [or more ~; most ~] : causing unhappiness or sad feelings : not warm, cheerful, etc. • It was a gray, dreary morning. • She longed to leave her dreary [=gloomy, dismal] hometown. • The family struggled through dreary economic times.

– drea·ri·ly /'dri:rəli/ adv [more ~; most ~] • He spoke drearily of his meager job prospects. — drea·ri·ness noun [noncount]

dreck /'drek/ noun [noncount] US, informal : something that is of very bad quality : trash or rubbish • The movie was pure dreck.

1 dredge /'dredʒ/ verb dredg·es; dredged; dredg·ing

1 : to remove mud from the bottom of (a lake, river, etc.) in order to deepen it or to search for something [+ obj] They dredged the river. [no obj] They are dredging for oysters.

2 [+ obj] : to dig (something) out of the bottom of a lake, river, etc. • They dredged sand from the river to add to the eroding beach. • They dredge oysters in the bay. — often + up • They are dredging up silt from the canal bottom.

dredge up [phrasal verb] dredge up (something) or dredge (something) up : to start talking or thinking again about (something unpleasant that happened a long time ago) • Reporters dredged up the fact that the senator avoided the military draft. • She didn't like to dredge up bad memories.

– compare ³DREDGE

2 dredge noun, pl dredges [count] : a machine or boat that removes mud, sand, etc., from the bottom of a lake, river, etc. — called also dredger

3 dredge verb dredges; dredged; dredg·ing [+ obj] : to lightly cover (food) with a dry substance (such as sugar or flour) — often + with or in • Dredge the fish in flour before frying it. • The cookies had been dredged with powdered sugar. — compare ¹DREDGE

dredg·er /'dredʒə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : ²DREDGE

dregs /'dregz/ noun [plural]

1 : solid materials that fall to the bottom of a container full of a liquid • the dregs in a bottle of wine • He discarded the dregs of his coffee.

2 : the worst or most useless part of something • people who were regarded as the dregs of society

drench /'drentʃ/ verb drench·es; drenched; drench·ing [+ obj] : to make (someone or something) completely wet —

often + with or in • She drenched him with a bucket of cold water. — often used as (be) drenched • The players were drenched in sweat after the game. • pancakes drenched in syrup • She was drenched in perfume. [=she was wearing a lot of perfume] — sometimes used figuratively • a beach drenched in sunlight • Her novels are drenched in history. — see also SUN-DRENCHED

1 dress /ˈdres/ verb dress-es; dressed; dress-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to put clothes on (yourself or someone else) • They dressed themselves in a hurry. • He dressed the child in a snowsuit. — opposite UNDESS b [no obj] : to put clothes on yourself • She showered, dressed, and ate breakfast. — opposite UNDESS

2 [no obj] a : to put on or wear a particular type or style of clothes • She dressed warmly for skiing. • He dresses fashionably/well. • She always dresses in black (clothes). b : to put on or wear formal clothes • She is dressing for the opera. • They always dress for dinner.

3 [+ obj] : to clean, put medicine on, and cover (a wound) • The nurse dressed the cut on my knee.

4 [+ obj] : to prepare (food) for cooking or eating • dress the chicken/salad

5 [+ obj] : to decorate (something, especially a window) for display • His job is to dress the store window for the holiday.

6 [+ obj] technical : to prepare (wood, stone, leather, etc.) for use dress down [phrasal verb] 1 : to wear informal clothes • Most of the students dress down for class, usually wearing jeans and T-shirts. • On Fridays everyone in the office dresses down. — see also DRESS-DOWN 2 dress (someone) down or dress down (someone) : to speak angrily to (someone) for doing something wrong • He was/got dressed down for failing to follow orders. — see also DRESSING-DOWN dress up [phrasal verb] 1 a : to put on or wear formal clothes • We dressed up for the awards banquet. • Do I need to dress up for the party? b dress (someone) up or dress up (someone) : to put formal or fancy clothes on (someone) • She dressed up the children for the wedding. 2 a : to put on a costume • We dressed up like/as ghosts for Halloween. b dress (someone) up or dress up (someone) : to put a costume on (someone) • We dressed the baby up as a lion. 3 dress up (something) or dress (something) up : to make (something) more attractive, impressive, or fancy • dress up a plain dessert with a rich chocolate sauce

2 dress noun, pl dresses

1 [count] : a piece of clothing for a woman or a girl that has a top part that covers the upper body and a skirt that hangs down to cover the legs • She wore dresses only on special occasions. • She wore a short/long black dress to the party. • Her wedding dress was decorated with lace. — see color picture on page C15; see also HOUSEDRESS, SUNDRESS

2 [noncount] : a particular type of clothing • The guests were clothed in traditional Indian dress. • It is wise to wear conservative dress to an interview.

3 dress adj, always used before a noun : suitable or required for a formal event • I wore dress pants and a nice sweater. • uncomfortable dress shoes dress-sage /drəˈsɑːʒ, Brit ˈdres,saːʒ/ noun [noncount] : a competition in which horses perform special movements in response to signals from their riders • a dressage horse dress circle noun, pl ~ circles [count] chiefly Brit : the lowest section of seats above the main floor in a theater or opera house • sitting in the dress circle

dress code noun, pl ~ codes [count] : a set of rules about what clothing may and may not be worn at a school, office, restaurant, etc. • The school imposed a new dress code that forbids students from wearing jeans. • a casual dress code

dress-down adj, always used before a noun — used to describe a day during which people are allowed to wear informal clothes at work or school • Friday is dress-down day at the office. • dress-down Friday — see also dress down at ¹DRESS dressed adj : wearing clothes • Don't come in. I'm not dressed yet. • It's time to get out of bed and get dressed. [=put on clothes] : wearing clothes of a particular type • She wasn't dressed for such a fancy restaurant. • He is usually dressed in black. • She was dressed (up) as a ladybug. • a well-dressed young man dressed to kill informal : wearing very fancy or attractive clothes • We attended the party dressed to kill.

dress-er /ˈdresə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who dresses in a particular way • She is a stylish/sloppy dresser.

2 US : a piece of furniture that has drawers for storing clothes : CHEST OF DRAWERS

3 Brit : HUTCH 1

— see also HAIRDRESSER, WINDOW DRESSER

dress-ing /ˈdresɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 [count, noncount] : a usually seasoned mixture of liquids that is added to a salad — called also salad dressing; see also FRENCH DRESSING, ITALIAN DRESSING, RANCH DRESSING, RUSSIAN DRESSING, THOUSAND ISLAND DRESSING

2 US : STUFFING 2 [noncount] We had turkey with dressing and potatoes for dinner. [count] bread dressings

3 [count] : special material that is used to cover a wound • The nurse cleaned the cut and applied a dressing.

4 [noncount] : the act or process of putting on clothes • After breakfast, there will still be enough time for bathing and dressing. — see also CROSS-DRESSING, WINDOW DRESSING dress-ing-down /ˈdresɪŋˈdaʊn/ noun [singular] : the act of speaking angrily to someone about something done wrong • He received a furious dressing-down from his boss in front of his colleagues. — see also dress down at ¹DRESS dressing gown noun, pl ~ gowns [count] : a loose piece of clothing that is worn indoors while relaxing, getting ready for bed, etc. ✧ Dressing gown is more common in British English than in U.S. English. In U.S. English, robe and bathrobe are more commonly used.

dressing room noun, pl ~ rooms [count]

1 : a room where performers, actors, etc., can change their clothes • He waited in his dressing room until it was time for him to appear on stage.

2 US : FITTING ROOM

dressing table noun, pl ~ tables [count] : a table often with drawers and a mirror in front of which you sit while dressing, putting on makeup, etc.

dress-mak-er /ˈdres,meɪkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who makes dresses and other clothes as a job

— dress-mak-ing /ˈdres,meɪkɪŋ/ noun [noncount]

dress rehearsal noun, pl ~ -als [count] : the final practice of a play that is done with all the costumes, scenery, etc., that will be used in the first real performance before an audience — often used figuratively • The local election is a dress rehearsal for the national election that will take place later this year.

dress shirt noun, pl ~ shirts [count]

1 US : a man's shirt that is usually worn with a necktie — see color picture on page C14

2 : a man's formal white shirt that is worn with a bow tie dress uniform noun, pl ~ -forms [count] : a military uniform that is worn at formal events

dressy /ˈdresi/ adj dress-i-er; -est

1 : suitable for formal events • Those shoes are so dressy, I rarely wear them. • She wore an outfit that was much too dressy for the occasion.

2 : requiring fancy or formal clothes • a dressy affair/restaurant

3 : liking to wear fancy or formal clothes • a dressy chap

drew past tense of ¹DRAW

1 drib-ble /ˈdribəl/ verb drib-bles; drib-bled; drib-bling

1 always followed by an adverb or preposition a [no obj] : to fall or flow in small drops • Coffee dribbled [=trickled] down the side of the mug. • Juice dribbled down his chin. b [+ obj] : to let (a liquid) fall in small drops • She accidentally dribbled wine onto the rug. • Dribble olive oil over the warm bread before serving.

2 [no obj] : to let saliva or another liquid drip or trickle from your mouth • The baby dribbled [=drooled] down the back of her dad's shirt.

3 : to move a ball or puck forward by tapping, bouncing, or kicking it [no obj] She dribbled across the basketball court. [+ obj] He skillfully dribbled the soccer ball towards the goal.

2 dribble noun, pl dribbles [count]

1 : a small flow of liquid • He wiped a dribble of juice from the corner of the baby's mouth. • dribbles of blood

2 : an act of moving a ball or puck forward by tapping, bouncing, or kicking it • She gave the ball a dribble before passing it. — see also DOUBLE DRIBBLE

dribs /ˈdribz/ noun

dribs and drabs informal : small amounts that come or happen over a period of time • They received donations in dribs and drabs.

dried adj — used to describe foods and plants that have had all their liquid removed so that they will last for a long time • dried beans/mushrooms/pasta • dried milk/fish • a mixture of nuts and dried fruit • an arrangement of dried flowers • sun-dried tomatoes drier variant spelling of DRYER

¹drift /'drɪft/ noun, pl drifts

1 [singular] : a slow and gradual movement or change from one place, condition, etc., to another • the slow drift of the clouds • As she got older, you could observe a drift in her writing towards more serious subjects. • the government's drift towards a centralization of power • a population drift [=a gradual movement of people that lowers the population in one area and increases it in another] — see also CONTINENTAL DRIFT

2 [count] : a large pile of snow or sand that has been blown by the wind • We sped over the drifts [=snowdrifts] on our skis.

3 [singular] informal : the general or basic meaning of something said or written • I don't get your drift. [=I don't understand what you're saying] • I won't tell you his name, but he's someone you know very well, if you catch my drift. [=if you understand what I'm suggesting]

4 [noncount] : movement of an airplane or a ship in a direction different from the one desired because of air or water currents

²drift verb drifts; drift-ed; drift-ing [no obj]

1 : to move slowly on water, wind, etc. • The boat slowly drifted out to sea. • The clouds drifted across the sky.

2 of snow or sand : to form a pile by being blown by the wind : to form a drift • The snow drifted against the side of the house. • Drifting snow covered most of the car.

3 a : to move smoothly or easily in a way that is not planned or guided • The party guests drifted from room to room, eating and mingling. • Her eyes drifted across the crowd. • The conversation drifted from topic to topic. • My thoughts drifted back to the time when we first met. b : to behave or live in a way that is not guided by a definite purpose or plan • After he left the army he just drifted for a few years. • She drifted from job to job. • He has always drifted through life without a care. — see also DRIFTER

4 : to change slowly from one state or condition to another • The patient drifted in and out of consciousness all day.

drift apart [phrasal verb] : to stop having a close relationship • They used to be great friends, but they've gradually drifted apart over the years.

drift off [phrasal verb] informal : to fall asleep • She drifted off while I was still talking. • He gradually drifted off to sleep.

drift-er /'drɪftə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who moves from one place or job to another without a purpose or plan • He was a drifter who hitchhiked from state to state.

drift net noun, pl ~ nets [count] : a large fishing net that floats in the water or is pulled behind a boat drift-wood /'drɪft,wʊd/ noun [noncount] : wood that is floating in water or carried to the shore by water

¹drill /'drɪl/ noun, pl drills

1 [count] : a tool used for making holes in hard substances • an electric/power drill • the dentist's drill — see picture at CARPENTRY; see also PNEUMATIC DRILL

2 a : an exercise done to practice military skills or procedures [count] During basic training, the recruits spent hours a day doing drills. • a drill sergeant [=a sergeant who trains new soldiers] [noncount] (chiefly Brit) • soldiers doing drill

b : a physical or mental activity that is done repeatedly in order to learn something, become more skillful, etc. [count] The students do vocabulary/multiplication drills every Monday. • The players are doing their drills. [noncount] The students were taught by drill. — see also FIRE DRILL know the drill informal : to know how something is done : to be familiar with a regular process, procedure, etc. • You don't have to tell us what to do. We all know the drill by now.

— compare ³DRILL, ⁵DRILL

²drill verb drills; drilled; drill-ing

1 : to make a hole in something with a drill [+ obj] He drilled a hole in the back of the cabinet. • The dentist drilled the tooth. [no obj] They are planning to drill for oil here.

2 [+ obj] a : to teach or train (someone) by repeating a lesson or exercise again and again • We drilled the children on their multiplication tables. • The players were drilled in practice. b : to train (soldiers) by making them practice military procedures and exercises • The commander drilled the troops.

3 [+ obj] US, sports, informal : to hit (someone or something) very hard • He drilled a single to right field. • The quarterback got drilled.

drill into [phrasal verb] drill (something) into (someone) : to force (something) to be learned very well by (someone) by repeating it again and again • Our teacher drilled the lesson into our heads. • The importance of saying "please" and "thank you" was drilled into us as children.

— compare ⁴DRILL

— drill-er noun, pl -ers [count] • an oil driller

³drill noun, pl drills [count]

1 : a row of seeds planted by a special machine

2 : a special machine that plants seeds in rows

— compare ¹DRILL, ⁵DRILL

⁴drill verb drills; drilled; drilling [+ obj] : to plant (seeds) in a row with a special machine — compare ²DRILL

⁵drill noun [noncount] : a type of strong cotton cloth — compare ¹DRILL, ³DRILL

drily variant spelling of DRYLY

¹drink /'drɪŋk/ verb drinks; drank /'dræŋk/; drunk /'drʌŋk/; drink-ing

1 : to take a liquid into your mouth and swallow it [no obj] The baby still drinks from a bottle. • What would you like to drink? [+ obj] We drank orange juice with breakfast. • I drink lots of water when I'm hiking.

2 a [no obj] : to drink alcohol • She drank too much last night and woke up sick this morning. • I don't drink. [=I never drink alcohol] • It's not safe to drink and drive. ♡ Someone who drinks like a fish regularly drinks too much alcohol. • When he was younger he used to drink like a fish. b [+ obj] : to put (yourself) into a specified state by drinking alcohol • She drank herself into a stupor. • He nearly drank himself to death. — see also drink someone under the table at ¹TABLE drink in [phrasal verb] drink in (something) or drink (something) in : to stop and look at or listen to something in order to enjoy it fully • The view is so beautiful. Let's just take a minute to drink it all in.

drink to [phrasal verb] drink to (someone or something) : to speak words that honor or express good wishes for (someone or something) and then take a drink : to make a toast to (someone) • We drank to their 30th anniversary. = We drank a toast to their 30th anniversary. • We drank to their health. ♡ I'll drink to that! means that you agree completely with something that someone has said. • "It will be the best vacation of our lives." "I'll drink to that!"

drink up [phrasal verb] drink up or drink up (something) or drink (something) up : to drink all of (something) • They drank up (all) the orange juice. • Here's a glass of the vineyard's latest wine. Drink up!

— drinking noun [noncount] • Drinking is not allowed in the park. [=you are not allowed to drink alcohol in the park] • a night of heavy drinking — often used before another noun • a drinking buddy/partner • (US) She has a drinking problem. [= (Brit) drink problem; she regularly drinks too much alcohol] • The drinking age [=the age at which a person can legally buy and drink alcohol] in the U.S. is 21.

²drink noun, pl drinks

1 : a liquid that you can drink : BEVERAGE [count] We serve coffee, tea, and other hot drinks. [noncount] Food and drink will be provided. — see also SOFT DRINK

2 a [count] : an alcoholic beverage • They went to the bar for a few drinks. • Can I get you another drink? • He poured himself a stiff drink. [=a strong alcoholic drink] b [noncount] : the habit or practice of drinking a lot of alcohol • It was during this period that she took to drink. [=began drinking lots of alcohol] • The stress of the job drove him to drink. [=caused him to drink lots of alcohol] • (Brit) She has a drink problem. [= (US) drinking problem; she regularly drinks too much alcohol] — see also DEMON DRINK, MIXED DRINK

3 [singular] : an act of drinking • He took a long drink from his glass.

4 [count] : an amount of liquid for drinking • Give the dog a drink of water.

the drink old-fashioned : an area of water (such as a lake or pond) • The ball rolled down the hill and into the drink.

drink-able /'drɪŋkəbəl/ adj

1 : able to be drunk • They boiled the water to make it drink-able. [=safe for drinking] • This coffee is so hot it's not drink-able.

2 [more ~; most ~] : having a pleasant taste • a very drink-able wine drink-driver noun, pl -ers [count] Brit : DRUNK DRIVER drink-driv-ing /ˈdrɪŋkˈdraɪvɪŋ/ noun [noncount] Brit : DRUNK DRIVING drink-er /ˈdrɪŋkə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who drinks alcohol especially in large amounts • He's a heavy/moderate drinker. • I'm not much of a drinker. • Most of his friends are drinkers.
2 : a person who drinks a particular beverage • She's a big beer/wine/coffee drinker. [=she drinks a lot of beer/wine/coffee]

drinking fountain noun, pl ~-tains [count] : a device in a public place that produces a stream of water for people to drink from — called also (chiefly US) water fountain drinking water noun [noncount] : water that is clean enough for people to drink • Pollution is seeping into our drinking water.

drinks party noun, pl ~ ties [count] Brit : COCKTAIL PARTY

1 drip /ˈdrɪp/ verb drips; dripped; drip-ping
1 [no obj] : to fall in drops • Water dripped from a leak in the ceiling. • Blood dripped down his leg from the cut. • Hot wax dripped onto my fingers.
2 : to let drops of (a liquid) fall [+ obj] The pine trees dripped sap onto the cars. • The kids dripped water all over the house. [no obj] The faucet is dripping. [=water is dripping from the faucet] • a dripping faucet — often + with • His face was dripping with sweat. [=sweat was dripping from his face] • The toast was dripping with butter. ♦ If you are drip-ping wet you are so wet that drops of water are falling off you. • The kids were dripping wet.
3 [no obj] : to have or show a large amount of something — usually + with • Her voice dripped with contempt/charm. • She was dripping with diamonds. [=she was wearing a lot of diamonds]

2 drip noun, pl drips
1 a [count] : a drop of liquid that falls from something • Drips of water fell from a leak in the ceiling. b [singular] : the sound of liquid falling in drops • We heard the drip of the rain. • the steady drip, drip, drip of the faucet c [singular] : the act or action of falling in drops • Water fell from the ceiling in a steady/slow drip.
2 [count] medical : a device used in hospitals to pass fluid slowly through a tube into a patient's blood • The doctor put the patient on a morphine drip to manage the pain.
3 [count] informal + old-fashioned : a dull and often weak person • Don't invite that drip to your party!

1 drip-dry /ˈdrɪpˌdraɪ/ verb -dries; -dried; -dry-ing : to dry wet clothing by hanging it so that water drips from it [no obj] I washed the shirt and hung it on the line to drip-dry. [+ obj] I drip-dried the shirt.

2 drip-dry adj : able to dry with few or no wrinkles when hung up while wet • a drip-dry shirt drip-ping /ˈdrɪpɪŋ/ noun, pl -plings : the fat and juices that come out of meat during cooking [plural] (US) • He cooked a turkey and made gravy from the drippings. [noncount] (Brit) • Pour the dripping from the pan.

1 drive /ˈdraɪv/ verb drives; drove /ˈdroʊv/; driv-en /ˈdrɪvən/; driv-ing
1 a : to direct the movement of (a car, truck, bus, etc.) [+ obj] He drove the car down a bumpy road. • She drives a taxi. [=her job is driving a taxi] [no obj] Do you want to drive or should I? • He is learning to drive. b always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] of a car, truck, etc. : to move in a specified manner or direction • The car stopped and then drove off. • A car drove by us slowly. • The bus slowly drove away. c : to travel in a car [no obj] We drove all night and arrived at dawn. • Are you driving or flying to Canada? [=will you travel to Canada by car or airplane?] • We drove (for) eight hours yesterday. • We drove 160 miles to get here. • I drive on/along this route every day. [+ obj] I drive this route every day. d [+ obj] : to take (someone or something) to a place in a car, truck, etc. • I drove her to the train station this morning. • I had to drive myself to the hospital. • Her mom drove us home. e [+ obj] : to own and use (a vehicle of a specified kind) • He drives a pickup/motorcycle. • She drives a Ford.
2 [+ obj] : to move (people or animals) to or from a place by using force • Cowboys drove the herds across the prairie. • They drove the invaders back across the border. • Thousands of people have been driven from their homes. [=have been forced to leave their homes]
3 [+ obj] : to push (something) with force • drive a nail with a hammer — often + into • He drove a nail into the wall. • She drove the sword into her enemy's side.

4 [+ obj] : to make (a machine or vehicle) work or move : to provide power for (something) • Electricity drives the machinery. • a steam-driven turbine [=a turbine that gets its power from steam] — often used figuratively • What drives the economy? • a market-driven industry
5 [+ obj] a : to cause (someone) to behave in a particular way • They were driven [=motivated] by hunger to steal. • Poverty drove them to a life of crime. • Ambition drove her to succeed. b : to force (someone) to work very hard • The sergeant drove the recruits. • The team was driven hard by the coach. • He's been driving himself too hard. [=he's been working too hard]
6 [+ obj] : to bring (someone) into a particular condition • That noise is driving me insane/crazy. • The new store drove him out of business. [=caused him to go out of business] • Her perfume drives me wild [=gets me sexually excited]
7 [+ obj] : to cause (a price, number, etc.) to increase or decrease — + up or down • The government report drove stock prices up. • An increase in investments is driving down interest rates.
8 [no obj] sports : to move toward or through something with a lot of force or speed • He took a pass and drove to/toward the basket/net. • The running back drove through the line of scrimmage.
9 [+ obj] sports : to hit or kick (a ball or puck) with a lot of force or speed • She drove the (golf) ball down the fairway. • He drove the puck into the net. — see also DRIVING RANGE
10 [no obj] of rain, wind, etc. : to fall or blow with great force • The rain drove against the windows. — see also DRIVING drive a hard bargain see ¹BARGAIN drive at [phrasal verb] drive at (something) : to attempt to say or do (something) — usually used as (be) driving at • I have no idea what he was driving at. • I think I see what you're driving at.
drive away [phrasal verb] drive (someone) away or drive away (someone) : to cause or force (someone) to leave especially by making a situation unpleasant or unattractive • The store's high prices are driving away customers.
drive a wedge between see ¹WEDGE drive in [phrasal verb] drive (someone or something) in or drive in (someone or something) baseball : to cause (a run or runner) to score • He drove in another run. • The hit drove him in for a 5-4 lead.
drive off [phrasal verb] drive (someone or something) off or drive off (someone or something) : to cause or force (someone or something) to leave • They drove off the invaders.
drive out [phrasal verb] drive (someone or something) out or drive out (someone or something) : to cause or force (someone or something) to leave • They drove out the invaders. • The family was driven out of the neighborhood by rising real estate prices.
drive (someone) up a/the wall see ¹WALL drive your point home see ²HOME
2 drive noun, pl drives
1 [count] : a journey in a car • It's a two-hour drive to the beach. • Her house is an hour's drive east of Los Angeles. • We took a pleasant drive in the country. • Would you like to go for a drive? — see also TEST DRIVE
2 [count] : a hard area or small road outside of a house where cars can be parked : DRIVEWAY • A white car was parked in the drive.
3 — used in the name of some public roads • Morningside Drive • They live at 156 Woodland Drive. — abbr. Dr.
4 [count] : an effort made by a group of people to achieve a goal, to collect money, etc. • a fund-raising drive • The school holds a canned food drive every winter. • a membership drive [=an effort to get more people to join a group, club, etc.]
5 : a strong natural need or desire [count] The need for food and water are basic drives for all living things. [noncount] Sex drive [=the desire to have sex] generally decreases as you get older.
6 [noncount] : a strong desire for success • She is an ambitious young woman, full of drive and determination. — see also DRIVEN
7 [count] : a device in a computer that can read information off and copy information onto disks or tape • Insert the disk into the floppy drive. • a CD-ROM drive — see also DISK DRIVE, HARD DRIVE
8 [noncount] a : the way power from an engine controls and directs the movement of a vehicle • The car has front-wheel/rear-wheel drive. — see also FOUR-WHEEL DRIVE b chiefly US : a condition in which the gears of a vehicle are working in a way that allows the vehicle to move forward • He put the car in/into drive and pulled onto the street.

9 [count] a sports : a ball, puck, etc., that is hit very hard • He hit a hard/long drive down the left-field line. — see also LINE DRIVE b golf : a long shot that is hit from a tee • She hit her drive into the rough.

10 [count] : a long or forceful military attack on an enemy • an armored drive into enemy territory

11 [count] American football : a series of plays that move the ball down the field toward the opponent's end zone • They scored a touchdown following a ten-play drive.

12 [count] : an act of leading cattle or sheep over land and keeping them in a group • a cattle drive drive-by /ˈdraɪvˌbaɪ/ adj, always used before a noun : done from a moving vehicle • a drive-by shooting/killing

— drive-by /ˈdraɪvˌbaɪ/ noun, pl -bys [count] • They were both shot in a drive-by. [=a drive-by shooting]

drive-in /ˈdraɪvˌɪn/ noun, pl -ins [count]

1 : a place where people can watch movies outdoors while sitting in their cars — called also drive-in theater

2 : a restaurant at which people are served in their cars — called also drive-in restaurant

1 driv-el /ˈdrɪvəl/ noun [noncount] : foolish writing or speech • I'm not going to waste my time reading this drivel. [=non-sense]

2 drivel verb -els; US -eled or Brit -elled; US -el-ing or Brit -el-ling [no obj] informal : to talk in a very foolish or silly way • What is he driveling about now?

— driveling (US) or Brit drivelling adj • a driveling idiot

1 driven past participle of ¹DRIVE

2 driven adj : very determined to succeed • They are driven, successful people.

driv-er /ˈdraɪvər/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 a : a person who drives a car, truck, etc. • Who was the driver at the time of the accident? • He's a good/careful/fast/bad driver. • The front door on the driver's side [=the side of the car where the driver sits] is scratched. — see also BACK-SEAT DRIVER b : a person whose job is to drive a vehicle (such as a taxi, truck, or bus) • We told the taxi driver to take us to the library. • He likes to sit at the front of the bus, near the driver. • an ambulance/truck driver

2 technical : a piece of computer software that controls a device (such as a mouse or printer) that is attached to the computer • There's a problem with the printer's driver.

3 golf : a club that is used for hitting long shots off a tee in the driver's seat : in a position in which you are able to control what happens • When his boss went on vacation, he suddenly found himself in the driver's seat.

— see also PILE DRIVER

driver's license noun, pl ~ -censes [count] US : an official document or card which shows that you have the legal right to drive a vehicle — called also (Brit) driving licence

drive-shaft /ˈdraɪvˌʃæft, Brit ˈdraɪvˌʃɑːft/ noun, pl -shafts [count] technical : a part of a vehicle that carries power from the gears to the wheels drive-through also drive-thru /ˈdraɪvˌθruː/ noun, pl -throughs also -thrus [count] : a business (such as a bank or restaurant) that is designed so that customers can be served while remaining in their cars; also, US : the window from which people are served • I ordered a salad and fries at the drive-through.

— drive-through also drive-thru /ˈdraɪvˌθruː/ adj, always used before a noun • a drive-through restaurant • (US) the drive-through window

drive time noun [noncount] chiefly US : the time when people are driving to or from work and are listening to the radio in their cars • Her show airs during the morning drive time. • a drive-time radio show drive-up /ˈdraɪvˌʌp/ adj, always used before a noun, US : designed to allow people to remain in their cars while being served • a bank with a drive-up window

drive-way /ˈdraɪvˌweɪ/ noun, pl -ways [count] : a short private road from a street to a house or other building where cars can usually be parked • A long driveway led to the mansion. • We shoveled the driveway [=drive] after the snowstorm. — see picture at HOUSE

1 driving adj, always used before a noun

1 : falling or blowing with great force and speed • a hard driving rain/wind

2 — used in the phrase driving force to describe the person or thing that causes or controls something • He has been the driving force behind these changes. [=he has been the person who has caused these changes to happen] • She believes that greed is the driving force behind our economy.

— see also HARD-DRIVING

2 driving noun [noncount]

1 : the act of operating a vehicle • I enjoy driving in good weather. • She doesn't like night driving. [=driving at night] • (US) He was arrested for driving under the influence. = He was arrested for driving while intoxicated. [=for driving when he was drunk] — often used before another noun • a driving school • He failed his driving test.

2 : the way someone operates a vehicle • I don't trust her driving and would rather take my own car. • He got pulled over for reckless driving. — see also DRUNK DRIVING, driving to endanger at ENDANGER driving licence noun, pl ~ -cences [count] Brit : DRIVER'S LICENSE driving range noun, pl ~ ranges [count] : a place where people can practice hitting golf balls

1 driz-zle /ˈdrɪzəl/ verb driz-zles; driz-zled; driz-zling

1 [no obj] : to rain in very small drops • It was beginning to drizzle, so she pulled on her hood.

2 [+ obj] : to pour a small amount of liquid onto or over something • She drizzled syrup on her pancakes. = She drizzled her pancakes with syrup. • The vegetables were drizzled with olive oil.

2 drizzle noun [singular] : rain that falls lightly in very small drops • Yes, it's raining, but it's only a drizzle.

— driz-zly /ˈdrɪzəli/ adj driz-ly-er; -est • It was a drizzly, gray weekend.

droll /ˈdroʊl/ adj droll-er; -est : having an odd and amusing quality • a droll little man with a peculiar sense of humor • a book of droll stories

drom-e-dary /ˈdraːməˌderi, Brit ˈdrɒməˌdri/ noun, pl -dar-ies [count] : a camel of western Asia and northern Africa that has one hump on its back

1 drone /ˈdroun/ noun, pl drones [count] : a deep continuous sound : HUM — usually singular • the endless drone of washing machines at the laundry • the drone of passing traffic — compare ³DRONE

2 drone verb drones; droned; dron-ing [no obj] : to make a continuous low humming sound • A plane droned overhead. • We could hear wasps droning in the garden.

drone on [phrasal verb] informal : to speak for a long time in a dull voice without saying anything interesting • She had trouble keeping awake as he droned on about himself.

3 drone noun, pl drones [count]

1 : a type of male bee that does not gather honey

2 chiefly US, informal : a person who does work that is boring and not very important • one of many office drones — compare ¹DRONE

1 drool /ˈdruːl/ verb drools; drooled; drool-ing [no obj]

1 : to let saliva flow out from the mouth • a drooling baby

2 : to show admiration or desire for something in an exaggerated way — usually + over • Everyone was drooling over his new car.

2 drool noun [noncount] chiefly US : saliva that drips from the mouth • He wiped the drool from the baby's face.

droop /ˈdruːp/ verb droops; drooped; droop-ing [no obj]

1 : to sink, bend, or hang down • The flowers were drooping in the hot sun. • Her eyelids drooped as she grew tired. • The tree's branches drooped under the weight of the snow.

2 : to become sad or weak • His spirits drooped when he didn't get the job.

— droop noun [singular] • the sad droop of the dog's tail — droopy /ˈdruːpi/ adj droop-i-er; -est • a droopy mustache

1 drop /ˈdraːp/ noun, pl drops

1 [count] : a very small amount of liquid that falls in a rounded shape • He squeezed the bottle until a few drops came out. • She knew rain was coming when she felt a drop [=raindrop] land on her arm. — often + of • Drops of water fell from the leaky faucet. • a drop of blood — see also DEW-DROP, RAINDROP, TEARDROP

2 [count] informal : a small amount of a drink — usually singular • I didn't have a drop of your orange juice. • I'd just like a drop of brandy, please. • He used to have a drinking problem but he hasn't touched a drop [=hasn't drunk any alcohol] in years.

3 [singular] : a small amount of something (such as a quality) • She doesn't have a single drop of selfishness in her. • The poet wrings the last drop of meaning from every word.

4 drops [plural] : liquid medicine that is measured in drops and put into your eyes, ears, or nose • The doctor prescribed daily drops for the child's ears. • eye/ear drops

5 [count] : a usually small, round piece of candy with a particular flavor • We sucked on lemon drops. — see also COUGH DROP, GUMDROP

6 [count] a : the distance from a higher to a lower level — usually singular • It is a 50-foot drop from the cliff to the ground below. b : an area that goes downward suddenly • A steep drop in the river forms a waterfall.

7 [count] : a decrease in amount or quality — usually singular • His income took a sudden drop. — often + in • He had a sudden drop in income. • The patient experienced a sharp drop in blood pressure. • a drop [=decline] in prices/sales • a four percent drop in body weight

8 [count] informal a : the act of taking something (such as something secret or illegal) to a place and leaving it there • He made the drop. b : a place where something is taken to and left to be picked up • I left the package at the drop. — see also AIRDROP, MAIL DROP a drop in the bucket (US) or Brit a drop in the ocean informal : an amount that is so small that it does not make an important difference or have much effect • They need to raise thousands of dollars for this project, so our 20-dollar donation is just a drop in the bucket.

9 [count] American football : a move back from the line of scrimmage — usually singular • The quarterback made a quick three-step drop.

at the drop of a hat : very quickly and immediately • He says he's ready to help us at the drop of a hat. • She loses her temper at the drop of a hat.

2 drop verb drops; dropped; drop-ping

1 a [+ obj] : to let (something) fall • Be careful not to drop the chair on your foot. • She dropped the apple core into the trash can. • They dropped bombs on the city. • He dropped the vase and it shattered into pieces. • The player dropped the ball. • The trees drop their needles in the winter. [=the needles fall off the trees in the winter] b [no obj] : to fall • The pen rolled to the edge of the table and dropped to the floor. • The book dropped from my hand. • The ball dropped between the right and center fielders.

2 [no obj] a : to lie down or fall down suddenly • He dropped (down) to the floor and hid under the bed. b : to lie down or become unconscious because you are sick or exhausted : COLLAPSE • She was so tired she felt she would drop. • He worked until he dropped. • (informal) We're going to the mall to shop till we drop.

3 [no obj] : to go down suddenly and form a steep slope • The road drops into the valley. • The cliff drops almost vertically.

4 a [no obj] : to change to a lower level, amount, position, etc. • The temperature dropped (to 50 degrees). • His voice dropped [=became quieter] as he told us the secret. • Increased competition has caused prices to drop. [=decline, go down] • Production has dropped. [=decreased] • The team has dropped [=fallen] to third place. • He dropped [=fell] behind the other runners when he hurt his ankle. b [+ obj] : to cause (something) to lessen or decrease in level or amount • He dropped [=lowered] his voice. • She dropped [=reduced] her speed when she saw the patrol car.

5 [+ obj] : to send (someone) a letter, note, etc. • I'll drop you an e-mail when I know my schedule. • Drop me a line [=write me a letter] sometime.

6 a [+ obj] : to stop talking or thinking about (something) • You can drop that idea right now. • Let's just drop the subject. • Just drop it. I don't want to talk about it any more. b [no obj] : to stop being talked about • Please let the matter drop. • Once he starts talking about a subject he just won't let it drop.

7 [+ obj] : to stop doing or continuing with (something) • I'm going to drop my calculus class and take a biology course instead. • New evidence was found and the case was dropped. • The prosecutors dropped the charges against her. • I dropped everything [=stopped what I was doing] and ran to the window to see what was going on.

8 [+ obj] : to not include (someone or something) • You should drop [=cut, omit] this sentence from your essay. • The newspaper decided to drop the story. • He was dropped from the team.

9 [+ obj] : to suddenly end a relationship or connection with (someone) • They dated for a while, but then she suddenly dropped him. • She moved away and dropped her old friends.

10 [+ obj] : to take (someone or something) to a place and then leave • She dropped him in front of the library. • He dropped the package at the post office this morning. — often + off • I drop the kids off at school in the morning. • I'll drop off the paperwork as soon as it's all filled out.

11 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to make a brief social visit — usually + by or in or over • His sister dropped by unexpectedly. • They dropped in for a chat. • Drop over sometime! • We were in the neighborhood and thought we would drop in on you. — see also DROP-IN 12 [+ obj] : to say (something) in an informal or casual way • He casually dropped the news that they are getting married. • She's always dropping names. [=saying the names of famous people she knows to try to impress others] • She has been dropping hints that she is looking for another job.

13 [+ obj] informal : to lose (a game) • They dropped the first game but won the next two.

14 [+ obj] informal : to spend (an amount of money) — usually + on • She dropped $300 on a new suit.

15 [+ obj] informal : to lose (an amount of weight) • Through diet and exercise, I managed to drop 20 pounds in a year.

16 : to move down [+ obj] When the teacher became angry at her, she dropped her eyes/head. [=she looked down] [no obj] His gaze dropped to the floor in embarrassment.

17 [+ obj] knitting : to let (a loop of yarn) fall off a knitting needle • Count the stitches on the needle to make sure you didn't drop one. • Be careful you don't drop a stitch.

18 [+ obj] : to not pronounce (a letter) when you speak • When she spoke quickly, she dropped the "g" in "running."

19 [+ obj] informal : to take (a drug) by swallowing it • They dropped acid. [=they took LSD]

drop a brick or drop a clanger Brit, informal : to make a very bad or embarrassing mistake drop back [phrasal verb] American football : to move straight back from the line of scrimmage • The quarterback dropped back and threw a long pass down the field.

drop dead see ¹DEAD

drop in/into/on your lap see ¹LAP

drop off [phrasal verb] 1 : to decrease in amount • After the holidays, business usually drops off. 2 : to fall asleep • The baby tends to drop off after he eats. • She lay down and dropped off to sleep. — see also ²DROP 10 (above)

drop out [phrasal verb] 1 : to stop attending a school or university before you have completed your studies • He dropped out after 10th grade. — often + of • He dropped out of [=quit] college/school and began working full-time. 2 : to stop being part of a group — usually + of • She was the first to drop out of the band. 3 : to stop being involved in regular society because you do not agree with or support its rules, customs, and values • Back in the sixties he dropped out and lived as a hippie for several years. — see also DROPOUT drop out of sight : to stop being seen • The house dropped out of sight as we drove over the hill. • a famous and successful actor who suddenly dropped out of sight

drop the ball see ¹BALL jaw drops see ¹JAW

the bottom drop out see ¹BOTTOM

the penny drops see PENNY

you could hear a pin drop see ¹PIN

drop cloth noun, pl ~ cloths [count] US : a sheet of cloth or plastic that is used to cover the floor and furniture while you are painting a room — compare DUST SHEET drop-dead /'drɑ:p'ded/ adj, informal : very attractive or impressive • a drop-dead evening gown

— drop-dead adv • an actress who is drop-dead gorgeous drop-dead date noun, pl ~ dates [count] US : a date by which something must be done or finished : a deadline that must be met • They were given a drop-dead date of June 30 to accept or reject the contract.

drop-down menu noun, pl ~ menus [count] computers : a list of choices that appears on a computer screen when a person clicks on the menu's title • To print the document, click on "print" in the "file" drop-down menu. — called also drop-down list, pull-down menu

drop goal noun, pl ~ goals [count] rugby : a goal that is made by a dropkick drop-in /'drɑ:p,ɪn/ adj, always used before a noun

1 of a place : able to be visited without an appointment • a drop-in clinic/lab/restaurant • a drop-in medical center

2 of a person : visiting a place without an appointment • drop-in customers/clients drop-kick /'drɑ:p,kɪk/ noun, pl -kicks [count] : a kick that is made by dropping a ball to the ground and kicking it as it begins to bounce back up – drop-kick /ˈdrɑ:p,kɪk/ verb -kicks; -kicked; -kick-ing [+ obj] • He drop-kicked the ball.

drop-let /ˈdrɑ:plət/ noun, pl -lets [count] : a very small drop of liquid • Droplets of water collected on the windows.

drop-off /ˈdrɑ:p,ɑ:f/ noun, pl -offs [count]

1 : a very steep downward slope • The drop-off along the trail is very steep.

2 : a very large decrease in level or amount • There has been a drop-off in attendance this year. — see also drop off at ²DROP

3 : the act of taking someone or something to a place and then leaving : the act of dropping someone or something off • This area is for student drop-offs.

drop-out /ˈdrɑ:p,aut/ noun, pl -outs [count]

1 : a person who stops going to a school, college, etc., before finishing : a person who drops out of school • The program is designed for dropouts who wish to get high school equivalency certificates. • a high school dropout

2 : a person who stops being involved in society because he or she does not believe in its rules, customs, and values — see also drop out at ²DROP

drop pass noun, pl ~ passes [count] ice hockey : a pass in which a player stops the puck and skates past it in order to leave it for another player who is close behind dropped adj, always used before a noun, of clothing : made to be in a lower position on the body than is usual • a dress with a dropped waist • dropped shoulders drop-per /ˈdrɑ:pə/ noun, pl -pers [count] : a glass or plastic tube that is used to measure out liquids by drops • He put drops in his eyes with a dropper. — called also eyedropper, medicine dropper

drop-ping /ˈdrɑ:pɪŋ/ noun, pl -pings [count] : a piece of solid waste from an animal or bird — usually plural • bird droppings

drop shot noun, pl ~ shots [count] : a softly hit shot in tennis or a similar game that falls quickly after passing over the net

dross /ˈdrɑ:s/ noun [noncount]

1 technical : unwanted material that is removed from a mineral (such as gold) to make it better

2 : something of low value or quality • There is quite a lot of dross on TV these days. • His editor has a talent for turning literary dross into gold.

drought /ˈdraʊt/ noun, pl droughts : a long period of time during which there is very little or no rain [count] The drought caused serious damage to crops. [noncount] a period of drought that lasted several years

¹drove /ˈdrouv/ noun, pl droves [count] : a large group of people or animals that move or act together • a drove of cattle — usually plural • droves of students • People came in droves [=many people came] to hear her sing.

²drove past tense of ¹DRIVE

drov-er /ˈdrouvə/ noun, pl -ers [count] chiefly Brit : a person who moves groups of animals (such as cattle or sheep) from one place to another drown /ˈdraʊn/ verb drowns; drowned; drown-ing

1 a [no obj] : to die by being underwater too long and unable to breathe • Four people drowned in the flood. • She fell in the river and drowned. b [obj] : to hold (a person or animal) underwater until death occurs • She claims that he tried to drown her. • He tried to drown himself.

2 [obj] : to cover (something) completely with a liquid • The river overflowed, drowning whole villages. • The food was drowned in sauce.

3 [obj] : to cause (something or someone) not to be heard by making a loud noise • The loud music drowned the sound of their conversation. — usually + out • Noise from the passing airplane drowned out our conversation. • He talked loudly to try to drown her out.

4 : to experience or be affected by too much of something : to be overwhelmed by something — usually + in [no obj] Many young people today are drowning in credit card debt. • She was drowning in sadness. [obj] I'm being drowned in paperwork. [=I'm being overwhelmed by paperwork]

5 [obj] : to forget about (unpleasant feelings or thoughts) by getting drunk • He went to the bar to drown his sorrows. • He was trying to drown his fears. [=to get drunk so that he wouldn't be afraid]

– drowning noun, pl -ings [count, noncount]

drowse /ˈdraʊz/ verb drows-es; drowsed; drows-ing

[no obj] : to sleep lightly or to almost be asleep • She drove while I drowsed [= (more commonly) dozed] in the back seat.

drowsy /ˈdraʊzi/ adj drows-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : tired and ready to fall asleep • I started feeling drowsy [=sleepy] and decided to take a nap.

2 : causing you to feel relaxed and ready to sleep • We spent a drowsy afternoon by the pool.

– drows-i-ly /ˈdraʊzəli/ adv – drows-i-ness noun [noncount] • These medications may cause drowsiness.

drub-bing /ˈdrʌbɪŋ/ noun, pl -bings [count] informal : an occurrence in which one person or team easily beats another person or team • She withdrew after her drubbing [=after she was badly beaten] in the New Hampshire primary. • Our team took a drubbing. = They gave us a drubbing. [=they beat us very easily] drudge /ˈdrʌdʒ/ noun, pl drudge-es [count] : a person who does boring, difficult, or unpleasant work • She was tired of working as an office drudge. — often used before another noun • drudge work • a drudge job drudg-ery /ˈdrʌdʒəri/ noun [noncount] : boring, difficult, or unpleasant work • He hated the drudgery of his job.

¹drug /ˈdrʌg/ noun, pl drugs [count]

1 : a substance that is used as a medicine • a new drug used to treat people with high blood pressure • an experimental drug for the treatment of AIDS • prescription drugs [=drugs that people are allowed to use only if they have a note from a doctor] • a miracle/wonder drug [=a drug that is very effective] — often used before another noun • drug treatment/therapy • drug companies

2 : an illegal and often harmful substance (such as heroin, cocaine, LSD, or marijuana) that people take for pleasure • Have you ever taken/used any illegal drugs? • He got hooked on drugs [=he became addicted to drugs] at an early age. • I don't smoke, drink, or do drugs. • She looks like she's on drugs [=like she uses drugs or is high on a drug] — often used before another noun • intravenous drug users [=people who inject drugs into their veins] • She died of a drug overdose. • drug-treatment programs • drug addiction/addicts/abuse — see also DESIGNER DRUG, GATEWAY DRUG

²drug verb drugs; drugged; drug-ging [obj]

1 : to give a drug to (a person or animal) in order to make that person or animal very sleepy or unconscious • He looks like he's been drugged.

2 : to add a drug to (a food or drink) in order to make someone sleepy or unconscious • Someone could have drugged your drink.

drug dealer noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a person who sells illegal drugs drug-gie /ˈdrʌgi/ noun, pl -gies [count] informal : a person who often uses illegal drugs drugging noun [noncount] chiefly US, informal : use of illegal drugs • His drinking and drugging will kill him one day.

drug-gist /ˈdrʌɡɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count] US, somewhat old-fashioned : a person who prepares and sells medicines : PHARMACIST • Your local druggist can fill the prescription.

drug-store /ˈdrʌɡ,stoə/ noun, pl -stores [count] US : a store that sells medicines and various other products (such as newspapers, candy, soap, etc.)

dru-id or Druid /ˈdru:wid/ noun, pl -ids [count] : a member of a group of priests in an ancient British religion

¹drum /ˈdrʌm/ noun, pl drums

1 [count] : a musical instrument that is made with a thin layer of skin or plastic stretched over the end of a round frame and that is played by hitting the skin or plastic with sticks or with your hands • a child beating on a drum • We heard the rhythmic beating of drums. • She plays the drums. • That was Miles Davis on trumpet and Max Roach on drums. [=playing the drums] — see also KETTLEDRUM, SNARE DRUM, STEEL DRUM

2 [noncount] : the sound that is made when something hits a surface over and over again • He lay listening to the steady drum of the rain on the roof.

3 [count] a : a large usually metal container for liquids • oil drums • a 55-gallon drum b : a machine or part of a machine that is shaped like a cylinder • the drum of a clothes dryer beat/bang the drum for : to say or write things that strongly support (someone or something) • They joined together to beat the drum for their candidate. • banging the drum for human rights

²drum verb drums; drummed; drum-ming

1 [no obj] : to beat or play a drum or set of drums • She drummed while he played the guitar.
2 : to make a sound by hitting a surface over and over again [no obj] Rain drummed [=beat] on the roof. • Her fingers drummed nervously on the table. [+ obj] He was nervously drumming a pencil on the desk. • She was drumming her fingers [=rapidly tapping her fingertips] on the table.
drum into [phrasal verb] drum (something) into (someone) : to force (something) to be learned by (someone) by repeating it over and over again • Our teacher drummed the lesson into our heads. • The importance of saying “please” and “thank you” was drummed into us as children.
drum out of [phrasal verb] drum (someone) out of (something) : to force (someone) to leave (a place or organization) • They drummed her out of the club. • He got drummed out of the military.
drum up [phrasal verb] drum up (something) also drum (something) up : to get or create (support, business, etc.) through hard work and a lot of effort • They sent out flyers to drum up support for their candidate. • Somehow, we need to drum up some new business. • The company is trying to drum up demand for a new product.
drum•beat /'drʌm.bi:t/ noun, pl -beats [count] : the sound made by beating a drum • I could hear the drumbeat of a parade down the street. • hard and fast drumbeats • a rock-and-roll drumbeat — often used figuratively • The constant drumbeat for better working conditions [=the constant effort and complaints from people who demanded better working conditions] finally made a difference. • The drumbeat of opposition has increased in recent months. • We have been subjected to a steady drumbeat [=barrage] of bad news.
drum kit noun, pl ~ kits [count] : a set of drums and cymbals drum machine noun, pl ~ -chines [count] : an electronic device that makes sounds like the sounds of a drum drum major noun, pl ~ -jors [count] : the leader of a marching band drum majorette noun, pl ~ -ettes [count] : MAJORETTE drum•mer /'drʌm.ə/ noun, pl -mers [count] : a person who plays a drum or a set of drums • The band got a new drummer.
different drummer US — used in phrases like march to the beat of a different drummer to describe a person who thinks, lives, or behaves in an unusual way • His strange behavior was no surprise—he had always marched to (the beat of) a different drummer. [=done things differently from other people] • Her friends went to college, but she heard a different drummer and moved to the city to be an actor.
drum roll noun, pl ~ rolls [count] : a continuous sound made by a series of very quick hits on a drum especially in order to introduce an exciting public announcement, act, etc.
drum•stick /'drʌm.stɪk/ noun, pl -sticks [count]
1 : the lower part of the leg of a bird (such as a chicken or turkey) that is eaten as food
2 : a stick used for playing a drum
¹drunk past participle of ¹DRINK
²drunk /'drʌŋk/ adj drunk•er; -est [also more ~; most ~]
1 : having drunk so much alcohol that normal actions (such as talking, thinking, and moving) become difficult to do • I don't like being around drunk people. • She was so drunk that she could barely walk. • I was drunk and couldn't think straight. • We got drunk on wine. • He was blind drunk. = He was roaring drunk. = (chiefly US) He was stinking drunk. [=he was extremely drunk] • (US) He was (as) drunk as a skunk. = (Brit) He was (as) drunk as a lord. [=he was extremely drunk]
2 : behaving in an unusual or improper way because of excitement, anger, etc. — usually + with • He was drunk with power/anger/excitement. — see also PUNCH-DRUNK
³drunk noun, pl drunks [count]
1 disapproving : a person who is drunk or who often gets drunk • the town drunk
2 informal : a period of time when someone drinks too much alcohol • They went on a two-day drunk. [=bender, binge] drunk•ard /'drʌŋk.əd/ noun, pl -ards [count] disapproving : a person who is drunk or who often gets drunk • Her father was a drunkard.
drunk driver noun, pl ~ -ers [count] chiefly US : a person who drives a vehicle while drunk • He was killed by a drunk driver. — called also drunken driver, (Brit) drink-driver drunk driving noun [noncount] chiefly US : the act of driving a vehicle while drunk • He was arrested for drunk driving. — called also drunken driving, (Brit) drink-driving drunk•en /'drʌŋkən/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : drunk or often becoming drunk • The streets were filled with drunken revelers on New Year's Eve. • He lives in an apartment with his drunken mother.
2 : caused by drinking too much alcohol • He fell into a drunken stupor.
3 : involving people who are drunk • A drunken brawl broke out at the bar.
— drunk•en•ly adv • She staggered drunkenly to a chair.
— drunk•en•ness /'drʌŋkənəs/ noun [noncount] drunk tank noun, pl ~ tanks [count] US, informal : a large jail cell where drunk people who have been arrested are kept druth•ers /'drʌðəz/ noun [plural] US, informal : the power or opportunity to choose • If I had my druthers, [=if I could choose what to do] I would travel all the time. • Given her druthers, she would play tennis every day.
¹dry /'draɪ/ adj dri•er; -est [also more ~; most ~]
1 a : having no or very little water or liquid • a dry riverbed • Mix the dry ingredients first, then add the milk and eggs. • a cool, dry place • Wipe the surface dry. [=wipe the surface until it is dry] • The air is usually dry during the winter. [=there is very little moisture in the air] • the dry heat of the desert • We tried to stay/keep dry in the rain by standing under a tree. • The stream is usually (as) dry as a bone [=completely dry] this time of year. • The stream is bone dry. b : no longer wet • Are the clothes dry yet? • The paint should be dry in a few hours.
2 : having no rain or little rain • This has been an unusually dry summer. [=there has been little rain this summer] • a stretch of dry weather • a dry spell/season • a country with a very dry climate • This plant does well in dry conditions.
3 a : not having the usual or desired amount of moisture • My throat is dry. • My lips are dry. • dry, itchy skin • dry hair • The medication can cause dry mouth. [=a condition in which the inside of your mouth become very dry] b : having the moisture removed by cooking or some other process • The chicken was dry and tasteless. • dry [=powdered] milk
4 : not producing a wet substance • a dry cough [=a cough that does not produce any phlegm] • The baby stayed dry all night. [=the baby did not urinate all night] • His eyes were dry. [=there were no tears in his eyes] ♦ If there is not a dry eye in the house/room (etc.), everyone in a place is emotional or is affected deeply by something. • When the hero proclaimed his love for the heroine at the end of the play, there wasn't a dry eye in the house.
5 : no longer producing water, oil, etc. • a dry well • a dry oil well • The well went/ran dry. • (chiefly US) They drilled for oil but the well came up dry. — often used figuratively • The author went through a dry [=unproductive] period and couldn't write anything. • The group stayed together despite several dry [=unsuccessful] years. • They went searching for clues but came up dry. [=came up empty]
6 : served or eaten without butter, jam, etc. • a breakfast of dry toast and coffee
7 of wine, sherry, etc. : not sweet • a very dry red wine • dry sherry
8 : not interesting, exciting, or emotional • The novel included several long, dry [=boring] passages. • His lectures were usually very dry.
9 : funny or clever but expressed in a quiet or serious way • He has a very dry sense of humor. • a dry wit
10 a : not having or offering alcoholic beverages • a dry party b : not allowing alcoholic beverages • The college campus has been dry for 10 years. • a dry state/county [=a state/county where alcoholic beverages cannot be sold] c : not drinking alcoholic beverages • He's been dry [=sober] for several years now.
high and dry see ²HIGH home and dry see ²HOME
keep your powder dry see ¹POWDER
milk/bleed/suck (someone or something) dry informal : to take or use up everything from (someone or something) • He married her for her money and then bled her dry. • She milked the system dry.
— dry•ness noun [noncount]
²dry verb dries; dried; dry•ing
1 a [+ obj] : to remove water or moisture from (something or someone) : to make (something or someone) dry • I'll wash the dishes if you dry them. • Make sure you dry your hands. • He dried himself with the towel. • Stop crying and dry your eyes. b [no obj] : to make plates, dishes, pots, etc., dry by rubbing them with a towel • I'll wash and you dry, okay?

2 [no obj] : to become dry • Your shirt is drying on the clothesline. • The paint dried overnight. — see also AIR-DRY, DRIP-DRY, FREEZE-DRY dry off [phrasal verb] 1 a : to become dry • My umbrella's drying off in the hall. b : to make your body dry • We got out of the pool and dried off. 2 dry off (someone or something) or dry (someone or something) off : to make (someone or something) dry • He dried off the bench and sat down. • Dry yourself off and get dressed.

dry out [phrasal verb] 1 : to become dry • Water the plant every week; don't allow the soil to dry out completely. 2 dry out (something) or dry (something) out : to make (something) dry • The wind dries out my eyes. • Baking at a high temperature will dry the meat out. • We dried out our shoes near the fire. 3 informal : to stop using drugs or alcohol for a period of time especially by going to a special kind of hospital • After years of alcoholism, he went to a clinic to dry out.

dry up [phrasal verb] 1 : to become completely dry • The river/well is drying up. • The stream dries up every summer. 2 dry up (something) or dry (something) up : to make (something) dry • The sun had dried up the roads an hour after it stopped raining. 3 informal : to go away or disappear completely • Interest in the project dried up when he withdrew his support. • After several months, new leads in the murder investigation dried up. 4 dry up (something) or dry (something) up : to cause the supply of (something) to go away or disappear • Closing the factory dried up local job opportunities. 5 informal + impolite — used as a command to tell someone to stop talking • Oh, dry up! [=shut up] I'm sick of hearing what you have to say. • He told her to dry up.

hang (someone or something) out to dry see hang out at ¹HANG

dry cell noun, pl ~ cells [count] : a sealed container that holds chemicals which are used for producing electricity — called also dry battery dry-clean /'draɪ,kli:n/ verb -cleans; -cleaned; -cleaning [+ obj] : to clean (clothing, curtains, etc.) by using special chemicals instead of water • His suit was dry-cleaned.

dry cleaner noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a shop where clothes and other cloth items are dry-cleaned • I take my clothes to a local dry cleaner. • My wool coat is still at the dry cleaner's/cleaners.

dry cleaning noun [noncount]

1 : the process of cleaning cloth with special chemicals instead of water • Dry cleaning is recommended. • a dry-cleaning shop [=a shop that does dry cleaning]

2 : clothing or cloth items that have been dry-cleaned • I can pick up the dry cleaning on my way home.

dry dock noun, pl ~ docks : a dock that can be kept dry and that is used for building or repairing boats or ships [count] The dry dock is full. [noncount] The ship is in dry dock.

dry-er also dri-er /'draɪə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a device that is used for drying something (such as clothes or hair) by using heat or air • He threw his wet clothes in the dryer. • Her hair dryer broke. — see also BLOW-DRYER dry-eyed /'draɪ,aɪd/ adj : not crying • She was dry-eyed during the funeral but cried all the way home afterwards.

dry goods noun [plural]

1 : items (such as tobacco, tea, and coffee) that do not contain liquid

2 US, old-fashioned : items made of cloth (such as fabrics, lace, and ribbon)

dry heaves noun [plural] US : a condition in which someone is vomiting but nothing is coming up from the stomach • He had a case of (the) dry heaves.

dry ice noun [noncount] : solid carbon dioxide that is used mainly to keep food and other things cold and to create the appearance of smoke and fog in plays, movies, etc.

dry land noun [noncount] : land that is not covered with water : land as opposed to the ocean, a lake, etc. • The sea was rough and we couldn't wait to get back to dry land.

dry-ly also dri-ly /'draɪli/ adv [more ~; most ~]

1 : in a funny but quiet or serious way • "I love this store!" "I couldn't tell," she said dryly.

2 : without excitement or emotion • "If that's the way it must be," he remarked dryly, "that's the way it will be."

dry rot noun [noncount] : a condition in which wood is destroyed by a type of fungus • The windowsill was badly damaged by dry rot. • Dry rot had eaten away part of the beam.

dry run noun, pl ~ runs [count] : a practice event that is done to prepare for the actual event that will happen in the future • We did a dry run of the experiment. • After several dry runs, she was ready to give the speech. — called also (Brit) dummy run

dry-stone wall /'draɪ,stoʊn-/ noun, pl ~ walls [count] Brit : a stone wall that is made without mortar to hold the stones together

dry-wall /'draɪ,wɔ:l/ noun [noncount] US : building material that is used for making walls and ceilings and that is made of large sheets of plaster covered with thick paper : PLASTER-BOARD

DSL abbr digital subscriber line • high-speed DSL Internet access ♦ DSL refers to a system that uses telephone lines to allow you to connect to the Internet at high speeds.

DSS abbr Department of Social Services ♦ In the U.S., a state's Department of Social Services is usually responsible for protecting children from harmful treatment, helping people to adopt children, and providing advice and support to families and children who need it.

DTP abbr 1 desktop publishing 2 or DTaP diphtheria, tetanus, and pertussis • You need to have the DTaP vaccine before you can enroll in school.

D.T.'s /,di:'ti:z/ noun [plural] : a condition that is caused by drinking too much alcohol for a very long time and that causes a person to shake and see things that are not real — usually used with the • an alcoholic who has the D.T.'s — called also delirium tremens

du-al /'du:wəl, Brit 'dju:wəl/ adj, always used before a noun 1 : having two different parts, uses, etc. • the dual purpose of the study • The song's lyrics have a dual [(more commonly) double] meaning. • a dual function • She held dual citizenship in France and the United States. [=she was a citizen of both countries]

2 : having two of something • Our car has dual air bags. [=has two air bags] • She pursued dual careers in music and acting. • families with dual incomes — du-al-ly adv • He is dually certified to teach math and science.

dual car-riage-way /-'kerɪdʒ,weɪ/ noun, pl ~ -ways [count] Brit : DIVIDED HIGHWAY du-al-ism /'du:wə,lɪzəm, Brit 'dju:wə,lɪzəm/ noun [noncount]

1 philosophy : the idea or belief that everything has two opposite parts or principles

2 formal : the quality or state of having two different or opposite parts or elements • the dualism of human nature • the dualism of good and evil

— du-al-ist /'du:wəlɪst, Brit 'dju:wəlɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] — du-al-is-tic /,du:wə'lɪstɪk, Brit ,dju:wə'lɪstɪk/ adj • a dualistic view/approach du-al-i-ty /du'æləti, Brit dju'æləti/ noun, pl -ties formal : the quality or state of having two parts [noncount] the duality of human nature [count] They discussed the dualities of the novel's characters.

¹dub /'dʌb/ verb dubs; dubbed; dub-bing [+ obj]

1 : to give (someone or something) a name or title • The actress was dubbed "America's sweetheart." • Critics dubbed him the new king of rock 'n' roll.

2 : to give (someone) the title of a knight • The queen dubbed him Sir Philip.

— compare ²DUB

²dub verb dubs; dubbed; dub-bing [+ obj]

1 : to replace the original recorded speech in a movie or television show with speech recorded in another language • He was hired to dub the dialogue for a foreign film. — often used as (be) dubbed • The film was dubbed in/into French and Spanish.

2 : to add (speech or other sounds) to a movie or television show — usually + in • They dubbed in the music. = They dubbed the music in.

3 : to make a copy of (a movie, piece of music, etc.) that has already been recorded • dub a CD

— compare ¹DUB

du-bi-ous /'du:bɪəs, Brit 'dju:bɪəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 not used before a noun : unsure or uncertain : feeling doubt about something — usually + about • I was dubious [=doubtful] about our chances for success.

2 : causing doubt, uncertainty, or suspicion : likely to be bad or wrong • Her conclusions are pretty dubious, if you ask me. [=her conclusions are probably wrong] • He made the highly dubious claim that Elvis is still alive and living in Hawaii. • She was a dubious choice for the job. [=she was not a good choice for the job] • They got their money through dubious means/methods. [=methods that were probably dishonest or illegal] • a man of dubious character

3 — used ironically in phrases like dubious honor and dubious distinction to describe something bad or undesirable as if it were an honor or achievement • He is the lawyer with the dubious honor of having lost the most cases in the firm. • We had the dubious distinction of losing 12 games in a row.

— du·bi·ous·ly adv • He looked at me dubiously when I explained why I was late. — du·bi·ous·ness noun [non-count]

du·cal /'du:kəl, Brit 'dju:kəl/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to a duke • the ducal palace • a ducal title

duch·ess /'dʌʃəs/ noun, pl -ess·es [count]

1 : the wife or widow of a duke

2 : a woman who has the same rank as a duke duchy /'dʌʃi/ noun, pl duch·ies [count] : an area of land that is controlled by a duke or duchess

¹duck /'dʌk/ noun, pl ducks

1 [count] : any one of many different kinds of birds that swim and have a flat beak, a short neck, a heavy body, short legs, and webbed feet — often used before another noun • duck eggs/feathers • a duck pond • duck hunting — see color picture on page C9

2 [count] : a female duck — compare DRAKE

3 [noncount] : the meat of a duck used as food • crispy roast duck

4 [count] informal : a person who you think is lucky, unusual, etc. • He's an odd duck [=a strange person] • You lucky duck!

5 or ducks Brit, informal — used to address someone you love • How was your day, ducks? [=sweetheart, darling]

like a duck to water informal : very quickly or easily • She took to dancing like a duck (takes) to water. [=she learned to dance very quickly and easily] • He took to her like a duck to water. [=he liked her immediately]

water off a duck's back see ¹WATER

— see also DEAD DUCK, LAME DUCK, SITTING DUCK

²duck verb ducks; ducked; duck·ing

1 a [no obj] : to lower your head or body suddenly to avoid being seen or hit • The ceiling was so low I had to duck. — often + down • Quick, duck down before they see us! b [+ obj] : to lower (your head) suddenly • The ceiling was so low I had to duck my head. • He ducked his head so they wouldn't see him. c [+ obj] : to avoid (something, such as a punch) by lowering your head or body suddenly • He ducked the punch.

2 [+ obj] : to avoid (something or someone you do not want to see or deal with) • We can't afford to duck the issue any longer. • He managed to duck [=evade] the question. • They've been ducking each other for months.

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to move quickly • She ducked into a store when it started to rain. • He ducked around a corner.

4 [+ obj] Brit : to push (someone or something) underwater • DUNK • The children were ducking each other in the pool.

duck out [phrasal verb] informal : to leave suddenly and usually without telling anyone that you are leaving • We ducked out after the first act of the play. — often + on or of • They ducked out on us without even saying goodbye. • I had to duck out of the meeting to take a phone call. — often used figuratively • He wants to duck out of the contract. [=to get out of the contract] • She ducked out on paying the bill for the meal. [=she avoided paying the bill in a sneaky or improper way]

duck-billed platypus noun, pl ~ -puses [count] : PLATYPUS

duck·ling /'dʌklɪŋ/ noun, pl -lings [count]

1 : a young duck — see also UGLY DUCKLING

2 : the meat of a young duck that is used as food • roast duckling

duck sauce noun [noncount] US : a sweet, thick sauce that is used in Chinese cooking duck soup noun [noncount] US, informal + old-fashioned : something that is very easy to do • The trip was duck soup for experienced travelers.

¹ducky /'dʌki/ adj duck·i·er; -est [also more ~; most ~] US, informal + somewhat old-fashioned : very pleasing, delightful, or attractive • Everything is just ducky. [=satisfactory, fine] — often used ironically to describe something that is bad or unpleasant • "Our flight is delayed." "Well, isn't that just ducky!"

²ducky noun, pl duck·ies [count] chiefly US, informal

1 : a duck ✧ Ducky is used especially by children or when talking to children. • Look at the cute little ducky!

2 : a toy duck • a rubber ducky [=a rubber toy that looks like a duck]

duct /'dʌkt/ noun, pl ducts [count]

1 : a pipe or tube for air, water, electric power lines, etc., to pass through • a building's air/heating/ventilation ducts

2 : a tube in the body that carries a particular liquid • tear ducts • the bile duct duc·tile /'dʌktl, 'dʌk,tʰəjəl/ adj, technical, of a metal : capable of being bent or pulled into different shapes • ductile iron duct·ing /'dʌktɪŋ/ noun [noncount] technical

1 : the material used to make ducts • a piece of ducting

2 chiefly Brit : DUCTWORK

duct tape noun [noncount] : a wide, sticky, and usually silver tape that is made of cloth and that is used especially to repair things

duct·work /'dʌkt,wɜ:k/ noun [noncount] chiefly US : a system of ducts

¹dud /'dʌd/ noun, pl duds

1 [count] : something that does not do what it is supposed to do : something that is a complete failure • The movie was a box office dud. [=few people went to see the movie] • The seeds must have been duds because the plants never grew. • The firework was a dud. [=the firework did not explode]

2 duds [plural] informal : clothes • She put on her new duds for the party.

²dud adj, always used before a noun — used to describe something that fails completely or does not work properly • a dud grenade [=a grenade that does not explode] • a dud movie [=a movie that fails] • (Brit) a dud cheque [=a bad check, a check that cannot be cashed]

dude /'du:d, Brit 'dju:d/ noun, pl dudes [count] chiefly US slang : a man — used especially by young people • He's a cool dude. [=guy] • Ask that dude over there. • a surfer dude • Hey, dude, what's up?

dude ranch noun, pl ~ ranches [count] : a large farm especially in the western U.S. where people on vacation can ride horses and do other activities that cowboys typically do

dud·geon /'dʌdʒən/ noun

in high dudgeon formal : feeling and usually showing that you are angry or offended • She walked out of the meeting in high dudgeon.

¹due /'du:, Brit 'dju:/ adj

1 not used before a noun : required or expected to happen : expected to be in a particular place at a particular time • When is the assignment due? [=when are you supposed to give the completed assignment to your teacher?] • Your books are due back to the library (by/on) May 15. [=you must return your books to the library by May 15] • The movie is due out this summer. [=the movie is supposed to be released in theaters this summer] — often followed by to + verb • They are due to arrive any minute now.

2 not used before a noun a : expected to be born • The baby is due [=the baby will probably be born] in three weeks. b : expected to give birth • When is she due? • My wife is due in three weeks.

3 not used before a noun : having reached the date by which payment is required • The bill is due at the end of the month. • The balance is now due. • The amount due is 45 dollars. • The bill is past due. [=it is late; it should have been paid before now]

4 not used before a noun — used to say that someone should be given something or has earned something • He is due a full day's pay. • Teachers are not always accorded the respect due (to) them. = They are not always given the respect they are due. • He finally got the recognition he was due. • I will give credit where credit is due.

5 always used before a noun : appropriate or proper • She accepted the compliment with due modesty. • The issue demands due consideration. • I will answer all of your questions in due time. [=eventually at an appropriate time] • The court agreed that he failed to exercise due care/caution/diligence in trying to prevent the accident. [=he should have done more to prevent the accident from happening] due for : needing, requiring, or expecting something to happen • I'm due for a dentist's appointment. [=I need to go to the dentist soon] • He will be due for another raise in June.

due to : because of (something) • The accident was primarily due to her carelessness. • Due to the bad weather, the game was canceled. • Their success is due to a lot of hard work. = They are successful due to the fact that they work hard. • Traffic was slow due to roadwork. • The pool is closed due to the approaching storm.

in due course see ¹COURSE

with (all) due respect see ¹RESPECT

²due noun, pl dues

1 dues [plural] : a regular payment that you make to be a member of an organization • Membership dues are $45. • Dues are increasing this year. • Workers are required to join the union and pay dues.

2 [noncount] : something that someone should be given : something that a person has earned • He deserves to be given his due. • She has yet to receive her due. = She is still being denied her due. ♦ People use the phrase to give someone his/her due when they are going to say something good about someone they have criticized. • I can't say that I like him, but to give him his due [=to be fair to him], I trust him completely.

pay your dues : to work hard and have difficult experiences in order to become successful • I've paid my dues. It's time that I began reaping some benefits.

³due adv : directly or exactly — followed by north, south, east, or west • The lake is due north of the city. • The road runs due south.

due date noun, pl ~ dates [count] : the day when someone or something is due; such as a : the day by which something must be done, paid, etc. • The due date for the assignment is Friday. • Tomorrow's the due date for our electricity bill. [=the bill must be paid by tomorrow] b : the day when a woman is expected to give birth • She started having contractions two weeks before her due date.

¹du-el /'du:wəl, Brit 'dju:wəl/ noun, pl -els [count]

1 : a fight between two people that includes the use of weapons (such as guns or swords) and that usually happens while other people watch ♦ Duels were used in the past to settle arguments or protect someone's honor. • I challenge you to a duel.

2 : a situation in which two people or groups argue or compete with each other • They engaged in a duel of wits. • The baseball game turned into a duel between the teams' pitchers. = The game turned into a pitching duel.

²duel verb duels; US du-eled or Brit du-elled; US du-el-ing or Brit du-el-ling [no obj] : to fight a duel: such as a : to fight with someone using weapons (such as guns or swords) while other people watch • He accepted the challenge to duel. b : to compete or argue with someone • Legislators dueled over the tax increases. • The two runners dueled for the lead.

due process noun [noncount] US, law : the official and proper way of doing things in a legal case : the rule that a legal case must be done in a way that protects the rights of all the people involved • Due process requires that evidence not be admitted when it is obtained through illegal methods.

du-et /du'et, Brit dju'et/ noun, pl -ets [count] : a piece of music that is performed by two singers or musicians • They sang the duet beautifully. • a piano and flute duet duff /'dʌf/ noun, pl duffs [count] US, informal : the part of the body you sit on : BUTTOCKS • Get off your duff [=butt, rear] and help me!

duf-fel bag or duf-fle bag /'dʌfəl-/ noun, pl ~ bags [count] : a large cloth bag that is held by a strap or handles and is used to carry personal belongings — see picture at BAG

duf-fer /'dʌfə/ noun, pl -fers [count] informal

1 chiefly US : a person who plays golf without much skill • We joined the other duffers at the course. • a weekend duffer
2 Brit : a clumsy or awkward person • He's a lovable old duffer.

dug past tense and past participle of ¹DIG dug-out /'dʌgɔ:t/ noun, pl -outs [count]

1 : a low shelter that faces a baseball field and contains the bench where the players and coaches of a team sit
2 : a shelter that is made by digging a hole in the ground or into the side of a hill
3 : a small boat that is made by cutting out the center of a large tree trunk — called also dugout canoe

duh /'dʌ, usually with a prolonged vowel/ interj, US, informal 1 — used in an angry or annoyed way to show that something just said is already known or is obvious • "It sure is dark out." "Duh, it's the middle of the night." • "You have to turn the key to start the car." "Well, duh." [=I know that]

2 — used to show or pretend that you do not know something • "Why didn't you leave earlier?" "Duh, I don't know."

DUI /di:'ju:'aɪ/ noun, pl DUIs US : the crime of driving a vehicle while drunk [noncount] He was arrested for DUI. [count] She was in jail on a DUI. — often used before another noun • a DUI arrest/conviction; also [count] : a person who is arrested for driving a vehicle while drunk • He is a convicted DUI. — called also DWI ♦ DUI is an abbreviation of "driving under the influence."

du jour /du'ʒɔ:/ adj, not used before a noun

1 : served in a restaurant as a special item on a particular day • Our soup du jour is chicken noodle. • the vegetable/dessert du jour

2 formal : happening or popular at a particular time • Long hair was the style du jour. • the crisis du jour ♦ Du jour is a French phrase that means "of the day."

¹duke /'du:k, Brit 'dju:k/ noun, pl dukes

1 [count] : a man of very high rank in the British nobility

2 [count] : the ruler of an independent area of land especially in some parts of Europe in the past — compare DUCHESS; see also ARCHDUKE

3 dukes [plural] US slang, old-fashioned : fists or hands • Put up your dukes and fight, you coward!

²duke verb dukes; duked; duk-ing

duke it out US, informal : to fight with your fists • A couple of drunks were duking it out. — often used figuratively • Scientists duked it out [=argued] over the causes of global warming. • Airlines are duking it out [=competing] for customers by lowering airfares.

duke-dom /'du:kdəm, Brit 'dju:kdəm/ noun, pl -doms [count]

1 : an area of land that is controlled by a duke or duchess : DUCHY

2 : the rank of a duke

dul-cet /'dʌlsət/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : pleasant to hear • the dulcet [=melodious] sounds of the piano • her dulcet [=sweet] voice • the dulcet tones of her voice

dul-ci-mer /'dʌlsəmə/ noun, pl -mers [count]

1 : a flat musical instrument that has strings stretched across it and is played with two light hammers

2 : an instrument used in American folk music that has three or four strings, is held on the lap, and is played with the fingers, a pick, or a small stick

¹dull /'dʌl/ adj dull-er; -est

1 : not exciting or interesting : BORING • a dull lecture/speaker • There's never a dull moment in our house. [=our house is always very busy or exciting]

2 : having an edge or point that is not sharp • a dull [=blunt] knife • a dull pencil

3 of a sound : not clear and loud • the dull roar of the crowd • He heard a dull [=muffled] thud.

4 of pain : constant but not sharp or severe • She complained of a dull ache/pain in her knee.

5 : not shiny • The paint has a dull finish. • The dog had no appetite and its eyes were dull.

6 : not sunny : having a lot of clouds • a dull winter sky

7 : slightly grayish or dark : not bright • a dull light • The sky was a dull blue.

8 old-fashioned : stupid or slow in understanding something • a dull student

9 : not having a lot of business or financial activity • a dull [=slow, sluggish] market

(as) dull as dishwater see DISHWATER

(as) dull as ditchwater see DITCHWATER

— dull-ness noun [noncount] • I couldn't get past the dull-ness of the book's topic. — dul-ly adv • He sat staring dully into the distance.

²dull verb dulls; dulled; dull-ing : to become dull or to make (something) dull: such as a : to become or cause (something) to become less clear, distinct, bright, or shiny [+ obj] Fog dulled the morning sunlight. • Special earplugs dulled the sound of the chain saw. [no obj] His hair dulled as he aged. • The dog's eyes dulled as he got sick. b [+ obj] : to make (something, such as a feeling) less sharp, strong, or severe • She takes medicine to dull the pain. • Fear dulled his need for adventure. • (formal) Her mind was dulled by the medication. c : to become or cause (something, such as a knife or blade) to become less sharp [+ obj] The knife was dulled from use. [no obj] The blade should be replaced as soon as it dulls.

dull·ard /'dʌlərd/ noun, pl -ards [count] old-fashioned : a stupid and uninteresting person • The company is run by a bunch of dullards.

du·ly /'du:li, Brit 'dju:li/ adv, formal

1 : in the proper or expected way • They were duly impressed by her speech. • The objections were duly noted.

2 : at the correct or expected time • The singer duly appeared back on stage for an encore.

¹dumb /'dʌm/ adj dumb·er; -est

1 informal a : not showing or having good judgment or intelligence : stupid or foolish • I'm not dumb enough to believe that. • It was a dumb idea in the first place. • He just stood there with a dumb grin on his face. • This is one of the dumbest TV shows I've ever seen. • She played/acted dumb [=pretended to know or understand less than she really did] so we would assign her the easier tasks. b : not requiring or resulting from intelligence • It was dumb luck that we found this place at all. • His success is just a matter of dumb luck.

2 a : not able to speak especially after being shocked or surprised • I was struck dumb [=made speechless] by the surprise. — see also DUMBSTRUCK b old-fashioned + often offensive : not having the ability to speak • He was born deaf and dumb.

— dumb·ly adv • He stared dumbly at the test. — dumb·ness noun [noncount] informal • The movie's dumbness [=stupidity] is actually pretty funny.

²dumb verb dumbs; dumber; dumb·ing

dumb down [phrasal verb] dumb down (something) or dumb (something) down usually disapproving 1 : to make (something) easier to understand • She refused to dumb down the language in her report. • The movie was a dumbed down version of the play. 2 : to make (a group of people) less intelligent or educated • Cutting training programs will dumb down the American workforce.

— dumbing down noun [noncount] • She thinks television is contributing to the dumbing down of America.

dumb·bell /'dʌm,bel/ noun, pl -bells [count]

1 : a short bar with weights at the ends that is used to make muscles stronger — see picture at GYM

2 US, informal : a stupid or foolish person • I feel like a dumbbell for making such a stupid mistake.

dumb·found·ed /,dʌm'faʊndəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very shocked or surprised • We were dumbfounded at what we saw. • I was dumbfounded to hear that she resigned.

— dumb·found /,dʌm'faʊnd/ verb -found; -found·ed; -found·ing [+ obj] • It dumbfounded me to hear that she had resigned.

dumb·struck /'dʌm,straɪk/ adj : so shocked or surprised that you cannot speak • The people in the courtroom were dumbstruck by his confession.

dumb·wait·er /'dʌm,weɪtə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a small elevator for carrying food or goods from one floor of a building to another

dum·dum /'dʌm,dʌm/ noun, pl -dums [count] : a bullet that expands or explodes when it hits an object in order to cause greater damage — called also dumdum bullet

¹dum·my /'dʌmi/ noun, pl dum·mies

1 [count] chiefly US, informal : a stupid person • He's no dummy. [=fool] • She loves you, you dummy.

2 [count] : a doll that is shaped like and is as large as a person • a tailor's/dressmaker's dummy • They practiced CPR on a dummy. • a crash test dummy [=a life-size model of a person used in tests to see what happens to people when a car gets in an accident]

3 [count] : a copy of a finished object that is used during practice or training • The bomb was just a dummy.

4 [count] : a large doll with a movable mouth that is used by a performer • a ventriloquist's dummy

5 [noncount] : the set of cards in a game of bridge that are played faceup so everyone can see them

6 [count] Brit : PACIFIER

²dummy adj, always used before a noun : looking real but not functioning or able to be used • They took apart a dummy bomb. • a dummy corporation [=a corporation that is not real] • a dummy pill [=placebo]

dummy run noun, pl ~ runs [count] Brit : DRY RUN

¹dump /'dʌmp/ verb dumps; dumped; dump·ing [+ obj]

1 : to put (something) somewhere in a quick and careless way • You can dump the coats on the bed. • I dumped the coffee down the drain. • The murderer dumped the body in the river. — sometimes used figuratively • The blizzard dumped three feet of snow in one night.

2 : to leave or get rid of (something or someone) quickly or without concern • They dumped [=left] their friends at the party and went home. • The team's coach was dumped [=fired] after a season of losses. • They had to dump [=quickly sell] most of their stock to pay off their debts.

3 informal : to end a romantic relationship with (someone) • My girlfriend dumped me. • I got dumped yesterday.

4 : to get rid of (waste or garbage) especially in a secret and illegal way • The factory has been dumping waste into the river.

5 : to sell (goods) in foreign countries for less than what they would sell for in your own country • The company dumped its unsold parts on the U.S. market.

6 computers : to copy or move (data) from a computer's memory to a disk, another computer, etc. • Dump the file to a disk.

dump in your lap see ¹LAP

dump on [phrasal verb] informal 1 dump on (someone) US : to criticize (someone) severely • I'm tired of getting dumped on every time I make a little mistake. 2 dump (something) on (someone) : to give (something) to (someone else) to do, deal with, or think about because you do not want to • She dumped her chores on her little brother. • I can't stand it when he dumps all his problems on me. • I hate to dump this on you.

²dump noun, pl dumps [count]

1 : a place where waste (such as trash) is taken and left • We bring our trash to the town dump on Saturdays. • (US) a garbage dump • The site has become a toxic (waste) dump. [=a place where dangerous waste is left usually illegally]

2 : a place where military supplies are stored • an ammunition dump

3 informal : a messy, dirty, and unpleasant place • I can't believe you live in this dump. [=pigsty] • What a dump!

4 computers : an act of sending data stored in a computer to another place • a screen dump to the printer down in the dumps informal : feeling very sad • I guess I'm just down in the dumps.

take a dump informal + impolite : to pass solid waste from the body

dump·er /'dʌmpə/ noun, pl -ers chiefly US

1 [count] : a person who leaves waste where it is not supposed to be left • The cops caught the illegal dumpers.

2 the dumper informal : a state of failure • The economy is in the dumper. • His career has gone down the dumper. [=his career has been ruined]

dumper truck noun, pl ~ trucks [count] Brit : DUMP TRUCK

dump·ing /'dʌmpɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the act of getting rid of waste or garbage especially in an illegal way • No dumping allowed. • laws that prohibit the dumping of toxic materials dumping ground noun, pl ~ grounds [count] : a place where people or things that are not wanted are sent — often + for • The class became a dumping ground for students with behavioral problems.

dump·ling /'dʌmplɪŋ/ noun, pl -lings [count]

1 : a small lump of dough that is boiled or steamed • chicken and dumplings

2 : a piece of food that is wrapped in dough and cooked • We had vegetarian/pork dumplings as an appetizer. • an apple dumpling

Dump·ster /'dʌmpstə/ trademark — used for a large trash container dump truck noun, pl ~ trucks [count] US : a large truck usually with a container on the back of it that is used for carrying and unloading loose material — called also (Brit) dumper truck; see picture at TRUCK dummy /'dʌmpi/ adj dummy·er; -est informal

1 : short and fat • a dummy guy in his forties

2 US : dirty and in bad condition • dummy hotel rooms

dunce /'dʌns/ noun, pl dunc·es [count] old-fashioned : someone who is stupid or slow at learning things • Don't be a dunce. • a dunce/dunce's cap [=a tall pointy hat worn in the past by students as a punishment for failing to learn their lessons]

dune /'du:n, Brit 'dju:n/ noun, pl dunes [count] : a hill of sand near an ocean or in a desert that is formed by the wind • We wandered over the dunes. — called also sand dune; see color picture on page C7 dune buggy noun, pl ~ -gies [count] : a small vehicle with very large tires for driving on sand — called also beach buggy dung /'dʌŋ/ noun [noncount] : solid waste from an animal • cow/cattle dung

dun-ga-rees /,dʌŋgə'ri:z/ noun [plural]

1 US, old-fashioned : pants or work clothes made of usually blue denim • a new pair of dungarees [= (more commonly) jeans]

2 Brit : OVERALLS

dun-geon /'dʌndʒən/ noun, pl -geons [count] : a dark underground prison in a castle • The king threw them in/into the dungeon.

dunk /'dʌŋk/ verb dunks; dunked; dunk-ing

1 [+ obj] a : to dip (food) quickly into a liquid (such as coffee or milk) while eating • I like to dunk my doughnut in my coffee. b chiefly US : to push (someone or something) under water or other liquid for a short amount of time • She dunked him while they were swimming. • He dunked the ladle into the soup.

2 basketball : to jump high in the air and push (the ball) down through the basket [+ obj] He dunked the ball. [no obj] He could dunk when he was 16.

dunk noun, pl dunks [count] basketball : a shot that is made by jumping high in the air and pushing the ball down through the basket • The pass led to a dunk. — called also dunk shot, slam dunk dun-no /də'nou/ — used in writing to represent the sound of the phrase don't know or I don't know when it is spoken quickly • “What do you want to do today?” “I dunno.” • “Where did he go?” “Dunno.” ♦ The pronunciation represented by dunno is common in informal speech. The written form should be avoided except when you are trying to represent or record such speech.

duo /'du:wou, Brit 'dju:wəu/ noun, pl du-os [count]

1 : two people who perform together, are usually seen together, or are associated with each other • The comedy duo will perform tonight. • The author-illustrator duo will be signing their books tomorrow. • He and his partner make/form quite a duo.

2 : a piece of music that is performed by two musicians • They sang a duo. [= (more commonly) duet]

du-o-de-num /,du:wə'di:nəm, Brit 'dju:wə'di:nəm/ noun, pl -de-na /-'di:nə/ or -de-nuns [count] medical : the part of the small intestine that is right below your stomach

— du-o-de-nal /,du:wə'di:nəl, Brit 'dju:wə'di:nəl/ adj • duodenal ulcers

dupe /'du:p, Brit 'dju:p/ verb dupes; duped; dup-ing [+ obj] : to deceive or trick (someone) into believing or doing something • They duped her out of $300. — usually used as (be) duped • He was duped into buying a phony watch. • We were duped by the con artist.

dupe noun, pl dupes [count] : a person who is easily deceived or tricked • He was an unwitting dupe in the scheme.

du-plex /'du:,pleks, Brit 'dju:,pleks/ noun, pl -plex-es [count] US

1 : a building that is divided into two separate homes • We live in the brick duplex.

2 : an apartment with two floors • a duplex penthouse du-pli-cate /'du:plɪkət, Brit 'dju:plɪkət/ adj, always used before a noun : exactly the same as something else • I began receiving duplicate copies of the magazine every month. : made as an exact copy of something else • I had a duplicate key made. — compare TRIPLICATE

du-pli-cate /'du:plɪkət, Brit 'dju:plɪkət/ verb -cates; -cat-ed; -cat-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make an exact copy of (something) • She *duplicate*d the video to give to family and friends. • Unfortunately, the results of the first study could not be *duplicate*d.

2 : to produce (something) in another form • They tried to duplicate [=repeat] last year's performance. • If we both do the project, we'll just be *duplicate*ing the work. [=doing the same work twice; doing more work than we need to]

du-pli-cate /'du:plɪkət, Brit 'dju:plɪkət/ noun, pl -cates [count] : something that is exactly the same as something else : an exact copy of something else • In case you lose your keys, keep a set of duplicates somewhere safe. — often + of • He made duplicates of the forms before mailing them. • an exact duplicate of the original in duplicate 1 : two times so that there are two copies • We were required to fill out the paperwork in duplicate. 2 : with an exact copy • Please send the contract in duplicate.

du-pli-ca-tion /,du:plɪ'keɪʃən, Brit 'dju:plɪ'keɪʃən/ noun

1 [noncount] : the act or process of copying something • He sent the manuscript out for duplication.

2 : the state of containing copies of something or being a copy of something [noncount] Please eliminate duplication when combining the lists. [count] It was a needless duplication of work. [=they did the work twice though they did not need to] du-plic-i-ty /du'plɪsəti, Brit dju'plɪsəti/ noun [noncount] formal : dishonest behavior that is meant to trick someone • He exposed the spy's *duplicit*y.

— du-plic-i-tous /du'plɪsətəs, Brit dju'plɪsətəs/ adj • duplicitous [=deceptive] tactics du-ra-ble /'durəbəl, Brit 'djurəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : staying strong and in good condition over a long period of time • durable fabric — often used figuratively • She is one of Hollywood's most durable stars. • a durable athlete • durable myths

— du-ra-bil-i-ty /,durə'bɪləti, Brit 'djurə'bɪləti/ noun [noncount] • cars known for their durability — du-ra-bly /'durəbli, Brit 'djurəbli/ adv • durably built homes durable goods noun [plural] US : products (such as cars and stoves) that that usually last a very long time — called also (Brit) consumer durables du-ra-tion /du'reɪʃən, Brit dju'reɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : the length of time that something exists or lasts • You should gradually increase the duration of your workout.

for the duration : until the end of something • He was living in England when the war began and remained there for the duration. — often + of • The camera remained on the President for the duration of his speech.

du-ress /du'res, Brit dju'res/ noun [noncount] formal : force or threats meant to make someone do something • He gave the information under duress.

dur-ing /'dʊrɪŋ, Brit 'dʒʊrɪŋ/ prep

1 : throughout the entire time of (an event, period, occurrence, etc.) • She swims every day during the summer. • We got along well during the trip. • He worked in the field during most of the day.

2 : at some time in the course of (something) • You can call me during the day. [=at some time in the day] • During the interview, they asked about my previous jobs. • The fire alarm went off during the ceremony.

dusk /'dʌsk/ noun [noncount] : the time when day changes into night and the sky begins to get darker • The park closes at dusk. — compare ¹DAWN

dusky /'dʌski/ adj dusk-i-er; -est : somewhat dark • a dusky brown • in the dusky firelight dust /'dʌst/ noun [noncount]

1 : fine dry powder that builds up inside buildings on surfaces that have not recently been cleaned • The floor was covered with dust. • You can see the dust particles floating through the air. • There is not a speck of dust in that house. ♦ Something that is collecting/gathering dust is not being used. • The book just sat on the shelf gathering dust.

2 : fine powder made up of very small pieces of earth or sand • As the car sped down the dirt road, it left a cloud of dust behind. • The wind kicked up dust [=blew dust into the air]

3 : fine powder made from a particular substance • coal/gold dust • He wiped the chalk dust off his hands. — see also SAW-DUST

bite the dust see ¹BITE

eat dust US, informal : to breathe the dust that has been raised into the air by the vehicle that is moving in front of you • He said, “Eat my dust!” as he jumped in his car and drove away. — often used figuratively • They've left other companies eating their dust. [=they have gone far ahead of other companies] leave (someone) in the dust US, informal : to go far ahead of (someone) : to be much more advanced than (someone) • The company has left its competitors in the dust.

the dust settles — used to talk about what happens when things become clear or calm after a period of change or confusion • I'll call you as soon as the dust settles from the move. [=as soon as I am not busy with moving] • When the dust settled [=when the situation became less confusing] and the votes were recounted, she had won the election. • You should let the dust settle before you make any big decisions.

dust verb dusts; dust-ed; dust-ing

1 : to make (something) clean by brushing or wiping dirt and dust from the surface [+ obj] He dusted the furniture. — often + off or down • She dusted the sand off her leg. • (US) He stood up and dusted himself off. = (Brit) He stood up and dusted himself down. [=he brushed the dirt/dust off his clothes] [no obj] I dust at least once a week.

2 [+ obj] : to cover (something) with a fine powder • Dust the pan with flour. • The police dusted the table for fingerprints. [=they put a fine powder on the table so that any fingerprints could be seen] • The crops will be dusted with pesticide.

dust off [phrasal verb] dust (something) off or dust off (something) : to use (something) again after not using it for a long time • For his comeback tour, the comedian dusted off some of his old jokes. — see also ²DUST 1 (above)

dust-bin /'dʌst,bɪn/ noun, pl -bins [count] Brit : a can for trash or garbage : a garbage can or trash can dust bowl noun, pl ~ bowls [count] : an area of land that was once used for farming but that has become a desert because of a lack of rain • They left the dust bowl and moved west.

dust bunny noun, pl ~ -nies [count] US, informal : a ball of dust that forms in places that are not swept or dusted often • I swept the dust bunnies from under the bed.

dust-cart /'dʌst,kɑ:t/ noun, pl -carts [count] Brit : GARBAGE TRUCK dust cover noun, pl ~ -ers [count]

1 : DUST JACKET

2 : a piece of cloth, plastic, etc., that covers and protects something from dust dust devil noun, pl ~ -ils [count] chiefly US : a small area of rapidly spinning wind that contains sand or dust dust-er /'dʌstə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : something that removes dust • a feather duster [=a tool with feathers at one end used to remove dust]

2 US : a device that is used by farmers to spray chemicals (such as pesticides) over a large area • a crop duster

3 US, somewhat old-fashioned : a long light coat • He wore a tan duster.

dusting noun [singular]

1 : the act of making something clean by brushing or wiping away dirt and dust from the surface • The table needs dusting. • The shelves need a good dusting.

2 : a small amount of something that falls over a surface • There was a light dusting of snow on the ground.

dust jacket noun, pl ~ -ets [count] : a paper cover that protects a book and can be removed • The dust jacket was torn. — called also dust cover, jacket

dust-man /'dʌstmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] Brit : GARBAGEMAN dust mite noun, pl ~ mites [count] : a very small creature that lives in the dust in your house and that can cause an allergic reaction dust-pan /'dʌst,pæn/ noun, pl

-pans [count] : a flat pan that is open on one side and into which dirt from the floor is swept • Here's a broom and dustpan. Go sweep the kitchen.

dust sheet noun, pl ~ sheets

[count] Brit : a large piece of cloth that is used to protect furniture from dust, paint, etc. — compare DROP CLOTH dust storm noun, pl ~ storms

[count] : a very strong wind that carries clouds of dust across a large area dust-up /'dʌstʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count] informal : a fight or loud argument • He had a dustup with a guy in the bar.

dusty /'dʌsti/ adj dust-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : filled or covered with dust • He pulled dusty candlesticks from the shelf. • a dusty basement • a dusty road/town

2 : slightly gray : somewhat dark or dull in color • His new tie is a dusty blue.

¹Dutch /'dʌʃ/ adj : of or relating to the Netherlands • Dutch history • Her family is Dutch. • a Dutch woman

²Dutch noun

1 [noncount] : the language of the Netherlands • He speaks Dutch fluently.

2 the Dutch : the people of the Netherlands • He loves learning about the Dutch.

³Dutch adv

go Dutch : to go to a movie, restaurant, etc., as a group with each person paying for his or her own ticket, food, etc. •

We went Dutch on dinner. • I'll go Dutch with you on the movie if you want.

Dutch courage noun [noncount] chiefly Brit, informal : courage or confidence that a person gets from drinking alcohol

Dutch door noun, pl ~ doors [count] US : a door that is divided into a top and bottom half that open and close separately

Dutch elm disease noun [noncount] : a disease that kills elm trees and that is caused by a fungus

Dutch-man /'dʌʃmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a Dutch man

Dutch oven noun, pl ~ -ens [count] US : a large covered pot

Dutch treat noun [noncount] chiefly US : something (such as a dinner or movie) for which each person pays his or her own share of the cost • It was Dutch treat—we each bought our own ticket. • a Dutch treat luncheon du-ti-ful /'du:tɪfəl, Brit 'dju:tɪfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : doing what is expected of you • a dutiful servant/daughter/father • the dutiful way he took care of his sick mother — du-ti-ful-ly /'du:tɪfli, Brit 'dju:tɪfli/ adv • He dutifully answered my questions.

du-ty /'du:ti, Brit 'dju:ti/ noun, pl -ties

1 : something that is done as part of a job [count] His primary/main duty at the event is to take attendance. • If new employees are unable to carry out their duties, they may be fired. • She has a variety of administrative duties. [noncount] Please report for duty [=show up for work] at 7 a.m. • This year no firefighters/police were killed in the line of duty. [=while they were doing their jobs] • In helping them, he went beyond the call of duty. [=did more than he was required or expected to do] synonyms see ¹TASK

2 : something that you must do because it is morally right or because the law requires it [count] We felt it was our duty to help. • He has a duty to support his family. [noncount] They helped her out of a sense of duty. • I'll be ready when duty calls. • He was selected for jury duty. [=to serve on a jury]

3 [noncount] : active military service • Her brother returned from duty overseas. • a twelve-month tour of duty • Many reserve troops were called into active duty.

4 : a tax on goods that are being brought into a country [count] All goods had a 15 percent (import) duty. • customs duties [noncount] We had to pay duty on our souvenirs.

do duty as 1 : to do the work of (someone or something) • He did (double) duty as the star and director of the film. 2

: to be used as (something) • The backpack she uses at school also does duty as an overnight bag.

off duty : not working at a particular time • I go off duty in two hours.

on duty : working at a particular time • I can't take any personal calls while I'm on duty.

— see also HEAVY DUTY

duty-free /,du:ti'fri:, Brit ,dju:ti'fri:/ adj

1 : not taxed when taken into another country • duty-free goods

2 : selling goods that will not be taxed when taken into another country • I bought chocolate at the duty-free shop at the airport.

— duty-free adv • A certain amount of liquor can be imported duty-free.

du-vet /du'veɪ, 'du:,veɪ/ noun, pl -vets [count] chiefly Brit : COMFORTER

DVD /,di:,vi:'di:/ noun, pl DVDs [count] : a computer disk that contains a large amount of information (such as a movie) • a DVD player • The movie just came out on DVD; also : a movie that is recorded on a DVD • Do you want to pick up a few DVDs for the weekend? ♦ DVD is an abbreviation of “digital video disc” or “digital versatile disc.”

DVR /,di:,vi:'æ:/ noun, pl DVRs [count] : a machine that is used to make and watch recordings of television programs ♦ DVR is an abbreviation of “digital video recorder.”

¹dwarf /'dwoʊf/ noun, pl dwarfs /'dwoʊfs/ also dwarves /'dwoʊvz/ [count]

1 in stories : a creature that looks like a small man and that often lives underground and has magical powers

2 sometimes offensive : a person who is much smaller than most people because of a medical condition

— see also WHITE DWARF

— dwarf-ish /'dwoʊfɪʃ/ adj

²dwarf verb dwarfs; dwarfed; dwarf-ing [+ obj] : to make (something) look very small or unimportant when compared dustpan

with something else — usually used as (be) dwarfed • The bike was dwarfed by the truck next to it. [=the bike looked very small compared to the truck]

³dwarf adj, always used before a noun, of a plant or animal : smaller than normal size • dwarf evergreens • a dwarf porcupine dwarf-ism /'dwoʊˌfɪzəm/ noun [noncount] medical : a condition that causes a person to stop growing before reaching normal adult size dweeb /'dwi:b/ noun, pl dweebs [count] US, informal : a person who behaves awkwardly around other people and usually has unstylish hair, clothes, etc. • She's such a dweeb. — dweeby /'dwi:bi/ adj • I was a dweeby kid.

dwel /'dwel/ verb dwells; dwelled /'dweld, 'dwelt/ or dwelt /'dwelt/; dwelling [no obj] literary + formal : to live in a particular place • a cave where bats dwel • He dwelled [=lived] in the same town for years. • In ancient Greek mythology, Mount Olympus was the dwelling place of the gods. [=the place where the gods lived] dwel on/upon [phrasal verb] dwel on/upon (something) : to think or talk about (something) for a long time • There is no need to dwel on the past. • Don't dwel upon your mistakes.

dwel-er /'dwelə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person or animal that lives in a particular place • a city dweller • cave dwellers dwelling noun, pl -ings [count] formal : a place where a person lives • cave *dwelling*s • Sales of single-family *dwelling*s [=houses] are improving.

DWI /,diːˌdʌbəlˌjuːˈaɪ/ noun, pl DWIs [count, noncount] US : DUI ⇨ DWI is an abbreviation of “driving while intoxicated.”

dwin-dle /'dwɪndl/ verb dwin-dles; dwin-dled; dwin-dling [no obj] : to gradually become smaller • Our energy dwindled as the meeting dragged on. • The town's population is dwindling away. • dwindling resources/numbers

¹dye /'daɪ/ noun, pl dyes [count, noncount] : a substance used for changing the color of something (such as hair or cloth) usually permanently • purple dye • hair dye

²dye verb dyes; dyed; dye-ing [+ obj] : to change the color of (something, such as hair or cloth) by using a dye • She had been dyeing her hair for years. • The fabric is bleached, dyed, and then washed. • dyed hair — see also TIE-DYEING dyed-in-the-wool /,daɪdnðəˈwʊl/ adj, always used before a noun, often disapproving : having very strong beliefs, opinions, etc., that you are not willing to change • He is known as a dyed-in-the-wool conservative.

¹dying present participle of ¹DIE

²dy-ing /'daɪɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun : happening as someone dies : relating to someone's death • It was her dying wish [=her last wish] to see them married. • I will remember his words until my dying day. [=until I die]

¹dyke chiefly Brit spelling of DIKE

²dyke /'daɪk/ noun, pl dykes [count] informal + offensive : LESBIAN

¹dy-nam-ic /daɪˈnæmɪk/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] a : always active or changing • a dynamic city • a dynamic relationship b : having or showing a lot of energy • a dynamic [=enthusiastic] speaker • an exciting and dynamic performance

2 technical : of or relating to energy, motion, or physical force • the dynamic theory of heat • dynamic and potential energy

— dy-nam-i-cal-ly /daɪˈnæmɪkli/ adv • The camera moves dynamically around the actors.

²dynamic noun, pl -ics

1 : the way that two or more people behave with each other because of a particular situation [singular] the dynamic between a doctor and a patient • the teacher-student dynamic [plural] Group dynamics are important to consider. • The dynamics of this class are different from those of other classes.

2 [count] : something that causes change or growth in something else • Disease was a central dynamic in the decrease in population. • a study on famine and population dynamics

3 dynamics [noncount] technical : the science that studies motion and the forces that cause or stop motion • molecular/fluid dynamics

4 dynamics [plural] music : changes in how loudly a piece of music is played or sung • Dynamics greatly affect the impact of the music.

dy-na-mism /'daɪnəˌmɪzəm/ noun [noncount] somewhat formal : energy and a strong desire to make something happen • He has the dynamism of a natural leader.

¹dy-na-mite /'daɪnəˌmaɪt/ noun [noncount]

1 : a powerful explosive that is often used in the form of a stick • a stick of dynamite

2 : someone or something that may cause arguments or trouble • The death penalty is political dynamite.

²dynamite verb -mites; -mit-ed; -mit-ing [+ obj] : to blow up (something) using dynamite • They plan to dynamite the old building.

³dynamite adj, informal : exciting and very impressive or pleasing • Her new album is dynamite! [=terrific, wonderful] • They put on a dynamite performance.

dy-na-mo /'daɪnəˌmoʊ/ noun, pl -mos [count]

1 : a machine that produces electricity : GENERATOR

2 informal : someone who has a lot of energy • He's a dynamo on-screen. • a human dynamo

dy-nas-ty /'daɪnəsti, Brit 'dɪnəsti/ noun, pl -ties [count]

1 : a family of rulers who rule over a country for a long period of time • a dynasty that ruled China for nearly 300 years; also : the period of time when a particular dynasty is in power • There was a civil war during the dynasty.

2 : a family, team, etc., that is very powerful or successful for a long period of time • She was born into a powerful political dynasty. • a baseball dynasty

— dy-nas-tic /daɪˈnæstɪk, Brit dɪˈnæstɪk/ adj, always used before a noun • dynastic succession

dys-en-tery /'dɪsnˌteri, Brit 'dɪsnˌtri/ noun [noncount] medical : a serious disease that causes severe diarrhea and a loss of blood

dys-func-tion /dɪsˈfʌŋkʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the condition of having poor and unhealthy behaviors and attitudes within a group of people • family dysfunction

2 medical : the state of being unable to function in a normal way [noncount] treatment for erectile/sexual dysfunction [count] The disease causes gastrointestinal dysfunctions.

— dys-func-tion-al /dɪsˈfʌŋkʃənəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • He hated spending holidays with his girlfriend's dysfunctional family. • a dysfunctional kidney

dys-lex-ia /dɪsˈleksiə/ noun [noncount] medical : a condition in the brain that makes it hard for a person to read, write, and spell

— dys-lex-ic /dɪsˈleksɪk/ adj • a dyslexic child — dyslexic noun, pl -ics [count] • a dyslexic [=a person with dyslexia] who overcame early problems with reading dys-pep-sia /dɪsˈpepfə, dɪsˈpepsɪə/ noun [noncount] medical : pain in the area of your stomach caused by a difficulty in digesting food : INDIGESTION • He is suffering from dyspepsia.

dys-pep-tic /dɪsˈpeptɪk/ adj

1 : suffering from pain caused by digestive problems • dyspeptic patients

2 formal + old-fashioned : having a bad temper • a dyspeptic old man

dys-to-pia /dɪsˈtɒpiə/ noun, pl -pias [count] : an imaginary place where people are unhappy and usually afraid because they are not treated fairly — compare UTOPIA

— dys-to-pl-an /dɪsˈtɒpijən/ adj • a dystopian society

dystrophy see MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY